We fired blasts of elemental energy and more and then the blasts combined and they hit Hordak and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion completely obliterated him in an instant and he was immediately banished to the Warp for all eternity!

Me: Whoa!

I powered down and my new transformtion was now part of me. The Aurameres went back to the Guardians and it was awesome.

Me: Whoa! What a rush.

Nico: That was intense!

The Masters of Evil came.

Jimbo: Is Hordak gone?

Me: Dead and banished to the Warp forever.

Cantwell: Good riddance.

Jimbo: (to Poromon) I found it funny that you, Manaphy, Poliwag, and Horsea got hyper after eating candy before going berserk on Hordak.

Poromon: Thanks!

Koragg: You should use that tactic more often.

Poliwag: You're right. We should.

Wiggum: It's better then using a cocaine brick. (to Roger) Right, Roger?

American Dad Roger Smith: Yes officer.

Nico: Don't get any ideas Roger.

Adora reverted back.

Adora: Thank you all so much for helping us get rid of Hordak. Now we are free.

Me: It was what we had to do to stop him and make sure he never enforces his reign of terror onto this world again.

Lincoln: Yep. Good riddance.

Adora: (To the viewers) You mess with the wills of Eternia or Etheria and you will regret it from me and Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: You said it Adora.

We then had a celebration and later went back home.

THE END

Another awesome chapter done.

Netflix's She-Ra is a much better and much more awesome version of the one from the 1980's! It was awesome! NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is an awesome adventure into the world of 2004's Incredibles and we're going through the whole adventure and make sure that Syndrome pays for his crimes in Jail. We already killed him once and now he will pay for his crimes in the farthest prison we have.

See you tomorrow.

The Awesome Superhero Family

In the estate, we were waking up.

Yang woke up to see Manaphy starting right at her.

Manaphy: (smiles) Good morning, Yang!

Yang: Oh good morning Manaphy.

Manaphy: It's almost time for breakfast.

Yang: Be right down.

In the Living Room, I was doing research on the Supernoobs enemies.

Me: Hmm. Mr. Wertz. He looks like a great science teacher.

Ed Cowart: On the outside he looks perfectly normal but on the inside he is a deranged lunatic.

I looked over his history.

---

Mr. Wertz seems to be very strict as a teacher, scolding Tyler and Zen for being late for the parent-teacher conference in Parent Teacher Noobs. He seems to suffer from paranoia and megalomania, however, for he believed in the existence of aliens before his encounter with alien forms of Mem and Zen and the Noobs' powers. However, he was dismissed as insane after his attempts to expose them. He is later revealed in "Noob Coloured Glasses" to be a truly evil mad scientist as he invents a brand of goggles that he gives to all of the students in the school, but the goggles allow him to perform mind control on all the students, except for Shope, who was unaffected because she used her own goggles rather than his, which allowed her to stop Mr. Wertz from enslaving all of Cornbury with the goggles. He was later revealed to have a secret laboratory underneath Cornbury Middle School in "Noobs Go Viral" and that he was institutionalized multiple times for his behavior. He is revealed to have known about the virus and has even went as far as modifying it and consuming it himself in belief that he would gain power from it. He was obsessed with exposing the super noobs and has been more obsessed with exposing Mem and Zen as he tried to expose them again by getting the location to their Earth house and having the news network surround it but through intervention by the Noobs, he once again fails, giving him another one way ticket to the mental institution.

---

We gasped!

Me: This guy is fucking crazy! He's a fucked up lunatic.

Ed Cowart: Yeah he sure is. The Royal Defenders hated him too. After they destroyed the Virus and the Creators of the Virus they forcibly disbanded the Benevolent Alliance and got their local bully Jock Jockerson suspended for a month and fined a hefty penny and he was told to do community service. After that they put security cameras in every room to watch the entire school. Except for the bathrooms. They threatened to sue the living hell out of the entire school unless they get everything that happened with Jock and Mr. Wertz to not happen again. The Royal Defenders had Mr. Wertz put in a maximum security insane asylum without any hope for parole or release. He was declared too dangerous around everyone including himself.

Me: Well the other two I can live with. The Benevolent Alliance is important to the Universe. If we face Mr. Wertz and he does something crazy, he will join his fucked up piers in the Saturn Insane Asylum.

Naruto: Good. But that Jock guy looks like he is bad news.

Me: He sure does bro. And if he does stuff like this he will regret it. But what really has me worried is that Virus and its creators. It's unlike anything we've ever seen before.

Shanan: No kidding and this virus is really from another universe.

Me: What do you mean Shanan?

Shanan: I was looking up where the Virus came from and found out that it comes from another universe.

She typed in a code and we saw that there was another white hole located at the very distant edge of the Galaxy that is pushing out planets that infected with The Virus and they are sending out virus pods to Earth at a slow rate.

Me: So that's where the Virus is coming from.

Then King Kai then talked to me telepathically?

King Kai: (Telepathically to me) J.D. can you hear me?

Me: King Kai. Yes I hear you loud and clear.

King Kai: Shanan is right about that Virus, J.D. It comes from Universe 23.

Me: So it's from the same universe where we defeated the Royal Defenders.

King Kai: That's correct. The Virus is part of a hive mind creature that wants to spread its corruption throughout the universe.

King Kai went over its history and more.

---

The Virus Creators are a mysterious malevolent entity with a hive mind of their own that served as the main antagonists of the Teletoon series Supernoobs . So far little is known about them except that they and their kind plan to infect the entire galaxy and are in the middle of a war against Benevolent Alliance.

History

These malevolent entities has been responsible for bio-engineering

Virus, parasitic organisms that has the power to turn ordinary things (organic and inorganic alike) into creatures or monsters. They have tried to create the unstoppable pandemic of Virus for an unspecified amount of time, but their plans were halted by the Benevolent Alliance that waged war against them. Memnock and Zenblok later join the war as their race introduces Battle Balls, weapons that are capable to combat Virus-based monsters.

As the Virus Creators now target Earth, Memnock and Zenblok immediately set out for recruiting humans who are willing to join them as Virus Warriors, only to find that they just have recruited 4 human kids.

We gasped!

Me: That's insane! They are going to destroy all life in the entire universe!

King Kai: Indeed and you guys have to stop them at all costs.

Me: We'll try our hardest King Kai. But it looks like the Supernoobs will need our help in the future and I have a feeling that Poromon just met them.

Poromon: You're right I did J.D. They made me keep it a secret.

Me: I understand Poromon. But don't worry we will help them when they need us.

Poliwag: J.D.!

Poliwag came down and was frantic.

Me: What's wrong Poliwag?

Poliwag: Nico is sick!

Me: What!?

We went up to his room and we saw that he was pale as a ghost and his nose was red and he had snot dripping from his nose and he had red puffy eyes and he was coughing and feverish.

Sheep Man: Sorry, Nico. It looks like you've got a cold.

Nico: (Weakly) Aw man. And I've never been sick a day in my life.

I sat on his bed and saw how sick he looked.

Me: Geez Nico you look horrible.

Nico: Yeah and I'm a Saiyan and I've never been sick even once.

Me: Looks like it came onto you hard.

Vesper Woman: So, this is what humans look like when they're sick?

Me: Yep.

May: I'll take care of you Nico.

Nico: (Sniffs) You will May?

May: I sure will.

May then spun around and she showed that she was in a sexy and snazzy Nurse Outfit and her shirt showed some of her cleavage.

May: It's your sexy and hot Nurse May to the rescue.

Me: Lookin' hot May.

Nico: Wow. Bah bah bah.

May: (Giggles) Thank you guys.

Skullcruncher: I find it ironic that after battling vilains the last few years, getting smacked down, shot at, beaten up, this is how you get put out of commission?

Nico: I know. But it just happened without warning. (Coughing)

Lana: We can help out too.

Lola: Yeah.

Me: Good timing you two. I have a job for you two. In Nico's condition, he won't be able to go out on our next mission so you two are tasked with keeping him here in bed while he is sick.

Lana: (Salutes) You can count on us J.D.!

Lola: (Salutes) Yeah! You can count on us!

Nico: (to Lola and Lana) If you two are guarding me until I'm better, then you two will miss out on the next mission.

Warpath: He's got a point.

Lana: Don't worry Nico.

Lola: We can handle it.

Me: Good luck guys.

Lana & Lola: Thanks J.D.

Lola: And not to worry. We're now immune to all diseases now.

May: Same here.

Me: We'll have to get you immune later down the road Nico.

I left.

I gathered everyone and told them that Nico is sick.

Girl Jordan: Nico is sick!?

Lori: Oh poor guy.

Me: Yeah so Lola, Lana and May are gonna do what they can to get him better. We will have to go on our next mission without them.

Lily: Oh darn.

Laney: Yeah.

Randy Boggs: (Slyly) (to Lori and Lynn) Well, now that Nico's not with us this time, you two are free to be as reckless as you want.

Me: Don't even think about it Boggs.

Lori: Yeah nice try Randy. We may be anger prone but we would literally never try that.

Lynn: Yeah.

Randy Boggs: Darn! I gave it my best shot.

Me: Yeah it was worth it.

Later it was movie time and we were watching one of the awesome Disney movies from 2004: The Incredibles!

"Supers", humans gifted with superpowers, were once seen as heroes, but collateral damage and injuries from their various good deeds led the government to quietly create and initiate a Supers Relocation Program, forcing the Supers to fit in among the civilians and not use their superpowers in exchange for anonymity.

15 years later, Bob and Helen are supers and formerly known to the world as Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl. Mr. Incredible has super strength and Elastigirl is able to stretch such a long distance to reach places nobody else could. Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl get married and raised three children, Violet, Dash, and Jack-Jack, in the suburbs of Metroville. Since Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl have superpowers, Violet and Dash also have innate superpowers; Violet being able to create force fields and turn invisible, and Dash able to run at a very fast speed, but the baby Jack-Jack has not yet to show any. Bob, stuck in a white-collar job at an insurance agency, berated unfairly daily by his boss Mr. Huph, reminisces of his former days as Mr. Incredible, and sneaks out on Wednesday nights with his Superfriend, Lucius Best, aka Frozone (having the ability to freeze the moisture in the air), to fight street crime.

One day, Bob loses his temper with Mr. Huph, who refuses to let him foil a mugging, and hurls him through five walls and into a locker, exposing his super strength and losing his job as a result. Returning home whilst trying to figure out what to tell Helen, he finds a message from a woman named Mirage, who asks for Mr. Incredible's help to stop a rogue robot on a distant island for an incredible reward. Bob, claiming that he is going on a business trip to Helen, takes up Mirage's offer, and travels to the island of Nomanisan in a jet with Mirage. She explains to him that the robot is called an Omnidroid, a top-secret prototype battle robot, able to solve any problem it is confronted with. The only unfortunate problem was its intelligence reached a point where it wondered why it was taking orders, and now it is wreaking havoc in the dense jungle.

Mr. Incredible is then airdropped into Nomanisan, explores around and then encounters the Omnidroid. After a fight, Bob emerges victorious by tricking it into ripping out its own power source. On his return to Metroville, Bob spends his days working out, improving his family relationships with Helen and the kids, and getting back into shape. He takes his super suit, torn in the battle with Omnidroid, to Edna Mode, the fashion designer to the Supers, and asks her to repair it. She does so, and also insists on creating a new, better super suit for him. She refuses his request to add a cape, though, highlighting how the accessory doomed several other Supers in the past by getting caught on a variety of things, such as the fin of a missile and a vortex.

Mirage soon contacts Bob with another job on the island. On arriving, he finds an upgraded Omnidroid who starts to attack him. While trapped by the robot, he meets its creator, the technology-savvy supervillain Syndrome. Bob recognizes him as a young fan, Buddy Pine, an enthusiastic and eccentric young inventor who wanted to be Mr. Incredible's sidekick 15 years prior to the present day, but Mr. Incredible embarrassed him when sending him back to his home. Syndrome vowed revenge for this shunning, and as he brags about how he has won, Mr. Incredible throws a log at him. Syndrome dodges the log and immobilizes Mr. Incredible with his zero-point energy ray. After throwing using the zero-point energy ray to throw Mr. Incredible around in order to show his power over the superhero, Syndrome accidentally throws him over a waterfall and into a river. Syndrome sends a bomb to kill Mr. Incredible and sends a probe to ensure that Mr. Incredible has been killed.

Mr. Incredible manages to avoid the explosion and, discovering the bones of former Super and friend Gazerbeam, fake his death by hiding from the probe behind them. In the process, he discovers that Gazerbeam used his powers to inscribe a dying message into the cave wall: "KRONOS". Determined to discover Syndrome's plans, Mr. Incredible breaks back into his facilities, finds a computer and, using "Kronos" as the password, discovers a plan to systematically eliminate Supers. Each super thus far was pitted against increasingly advanced models of Omnidroid, and if not terminated by one model, they would be terminated by the next or by Syndrome himself. He also discovers that, although Lucius/Frozone's location is known, Helen's is not. As he browses the database further, he discovers that Operation Kronos's final stage is to unleash an Omnidroid on Matroville via rocket deployment.

Meanwhile, Helen has become suspicious of Bob having an affair. After discovering Bob's repaired suit, she talks to Edna and learns she created suits for the entire Parr family, each outfitted with a tracking device. Helen triggers Bob's, identifying the remote island but inadvertently revealing Bob's presence to Syndrome and causing him to be captured. Helen borrows a private jet from an old friend and travels to the island, disappointed to learn that Violet and Dash have stowed away while leaving Jack-Jack at home with a babysitter. As they near the island, Syndrome gives an order to terminate them by hitting the plane with missiles. Elastigirl uses her superpower to save her children from the exploding jet, and they safely make it ashore.

Elastigirl, Violet, and Dash take shelter during that night in a cave and Elastigirl (after giving them masks to protect their identity and making them promise to use their powers if threatened), runs off to Syndrome's lair. She sneaks in and after prowling around (one point being that she found a massive rocket) rescues Mr. Incredible from his cell. Violet and Dash meanwhile then find out that the cave they are in is, in fact, an exhaust tunnel for the rocket launch and have to spend the night in the jungle.

The next morning they encounter a talking bird, which is, in fact, a robotic alarm, this attracts the attention of the guards and they pursue them on high-speed Velocipods. Violet and Dash manage to defeat all of them (combining Violet's powerful force field with Dash's super speed), and they soon reunite with Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl. The family works together to face off against and defeat several guards that had been chasing Dash and Violet. They are soon captured by Syndrome, who immobilizes Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl with one zero-point energy ray and simultaneously immobilizes Violet and Dash with another. Syndrome sees that the family is wearing matching super suits, and is then surprised to find that Mr. Incredible married Elastigirl and had kids with her, remarking that he had hit the jackpot by capturing a whole family of Supers.

Upon imprisoning the whole family in his containment unit in order to keep them from interfering with his plan, Syndrome explains that he has launched the perfected Omnidroid to Metroville, which has sent the city into chaos, upon which he will appear and using a control band, "subdue" the robot and become the city's hero. Then once Syndrome has become an old retiree, he plans to sell his advanced inventions to everybody, making them Super and thereby making the term obsolete. He departs in his aircraft to stop the Omnidroid. After his departure, Violet discovers that her force field can sever her magnetic bonds and frees the rest of the family, and with Mirage's help, they board a second rocket bound for the city.

In Metroville, the Omnidroid has started a path of destruction, and Syndrome enacts his plan, first saving a woman and her baby from a petrol tanker tossed by the Omnidroid, then faking a punch whilst pressing a button to detach one of the robot's arms, much to the people's cheers. However the Omnidroid is still a learning robot: it identifies where the external control source is, observes the control band and fires it off Syndrome's arm, then shoots at Syndrome's in-built rocket boosters, sending the villain flying into a building and knocking him unconscious while the robot continues to wreck the city.

The Incredibles and Frozone, who starts seeing the ensuing attack, work together to destroy it: the robot attempts to flatten Violet and Dash but Mr. Incredible just manages to save them, though he is thrown into a building afterward. He then charges back and tackles the Omnidroid with Frozone helping as well. He then finds Syndrome's wristband, realizing that it controls the robot, and (after being clawed in by the robot but being released upon pressing a random button) throws it to Dash, who races to get it with the Omnidroid firing at him and trapping him amongst burning cars. Elastigirl slingshots a manhole cover and destroys the laser, whilst Frozone rescues Dash. The robot then vaults itself into the air and nearly crushes Frozone and Dash, but he manages to freeze the air around them and cushions their fall. The remote is then knocked away; Mr. Incredible runs to get it only to be trapped in the Omnidroid's fired pincer. Violet then recovers it whilst invisible and after much confusion, Mr. Incredible soon realizes from remembering his battle with the first robot that the only thing that can penetrate it is itself. He directs Elastigirl to use the right controls and releases the powered-up pincer, which surges through and comes out the Omnidroid with its power source. It falls mundanely into the river and explodes, which causes the city welcomes the Incredibles and Frozone as heroes. As they are driven back to their home, Elastigirl anxiously calls the babysitter and learns that Syndrome, having regained consciousness, has abducted Jack-Jack.

Arriving at home, Syndrome immobilizes the Incredibles with his zero-point energy ray, explaining that he plans on kidnapping Jack-Jack and raising him as his sidekick so that Jack-Jack can fight the Incredibles someday. As Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl launch a rescue attempt, Jack-Jack reveals his powers of transformation, forcing Syndrome to drop him into Elastigirl's waiting arms. Bob hurls his sports car at Syndrome, causing him to fall in the aircraft turbine, where his cape gets caught in the engine, killing him. The ruined plane crashes into the Parrs' home, but Violet is able to protect the family from harm. Three months later, the Parrs have re-adjusted to normal life, but when a new villain, the Underminer, appears, the Incredibles, including Jack-Jack, don their masks, ready to battle the new foe.

When it was done, we cheered wildly and it was awesome!

Me: That is always so awesome!

Violet: It sure is. I looked really great on a movie.

Twilight Sparkle: You sure do Violet.

Violet: Thanks Twilight and I love what you did to your hair.

Lincoln: I agree Twilight and you look much better with shorter hair.

Twilight Sparkle cut her hair short.

Twlight Sparkle: (Giggles) Thanks Lincoln.

Me: But what Syndrome did is absolutely despicable.

Riley: I know and I faced him all by myself in a Simulator adventure and he really underestimated me.

Violet: I remember that. He had no idea what he was up against.

Me: But that was just with you Riley. Also we locked up Syndrome in the Mariana Trench Prison and he killed himself in there.

Violet: I remember that.

Dash Parr: Good riddance.

Naruto: But looks like we're going to face him again.

Sunset Shimmer: Wow.

Me: Sora did you ever face Syndrome and help the Incredibles out?

Sora: Yes I did and it was an awesome adventure.

Goofy: That world was epic.

Donald: It sure was.

Me: Cool. Lets head for the World of 2004's The Incredibles.

Everyone: YEAH!

Me: Sorry Nico and May and the Twins can't come with us.

Applejack: (Cowboy Accent) You can't help getting sick. Lets get that monster.

Me: With pleasure.

We went to the Simulator.

---

We went into the Simulator and it activated and we found ourselves in the city of Metroville and it was an amazing city.

Me: Metroville. Just as amazing as it is on TV.

Vince: It sure is.

Lincoln: It's awesome.

We then heard a whoosh sound and we saw Violet's Force Field Blast and Syndrome's blast collide and explode and we saw a portal appear and it sucked in Violet and Dash.

Me: Whoa! So that's how Violet and Dash appeared in our world. They were sucked into our universe through a dimensional rift when Violet and Syndrome's powers collided.

Lisa Loud: That is 100% correct.

Lincoln: Yeah!

Then we saw Mr. Incredible mercilessly smash Syndrome to pulp.

Me: Lets stop him before he kills him!

We flew at them and then I grabbed Mr. Incredible.

Me: Bob stop! Killing him is not worth it.

Vince kicked Syndrome far and sent him flying.

We landed on the ground.

Scream: Are you Mr. Incredible?

Bob: I sure am.

Violet: Dad!

Dash: Dad!

They hugged him!

Bob: Kids! Thank goodness you're okay.

Me: They were with us for a long time.

Dash Parr: It's true dad.

Me: Sorry we should introduce ourselves. I'm J.D. Knudson, leader of Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Dash Parr: Team Loud Phoenix Storm is the team we were with.

Violet: It's true dad. They looked after us the entire time we were with them.

Me: Your kids were with us for 3 years and they are awesome and they were in really good hands.

ElastiGirl: Thank goodness. Thank you all so much for looking out for our kids.

Me: It was our pleasure Helen.

ElastiGirl: How did you know my name?

Me: Well in our world Superhero identities don't matter. We practically know every superhero or supervillain's real name.

Venom: It's true.

Eddie Brock revealed his face.

Eddie Brock: My real name is Eddie Brock but we like to be called Venom. So it pretty much doesn't matter.

ElastiGirl: I see.

Turbo Man: Plus, hated enemies of ours caused Batman's secret identity of Bruce Wayne to be revealed to the public.

Me: Yep. Something we hate talking about.

Bob: Wow.

Lily was holding Jack Jack.

Lily: Oh you are the cutest little one.

Jack Jack cooed and then he fired laser beams from his eyes and they hit a fire hydrant and blew it out of the ground.

Me: Whoa! That was awesome!

Lily: You are a little superpowered boy.

ElastiGirl: My little boy has powers!

Violet: My baby brother has powers. Who would've thought?

Me: We're sorry you all went into hiding because of a law that forbids Superheroes. We're gonna have to have a talk with those world leaders about that. But first here's what your children did with us all.

I showed them everything we did.

Bob: WHOA! You guys are incredible!

ElastiGirl: Metaphorically but yeah! You are true heroes.

Me: We do it to protect everyone with love and justice all in the name of peace.

ElastiGirl: You guys have done it all over the last 4 years.

Me: Not to brag but yeah.

Varie: But let us help you all deal with Syndrome first. Can you tell us all about him first so we can know much about him?

Bob: Right he was a fan of mine that wanted to be like me.

Bob told us all about him. His real name is Buddy Pine A.K.A. SYNDROME! Formerly IncrediBoy.

Buddy Pine (simply known by his first name Buddy ), formerly known as IncrediBoy and better known as Syndrome, is the main antagonist of Pixar's 6th full-length animated feature film The Incredibles, a cameo character in the short film Jack-Jack Attack and a posthumous antagonist in the 2018 sequel Incredibles 2 .

He was the former biggest fan and wanna-be sidekick and now archenemy of Mr. Incredible who, after being turned away by his idol, became a supervillain bent on destroying him and his family, as well as eradicating the very concept of Supers.

He was voiced by Jason Lee, who also played Azrael in Dogma.

Buddy Pine was a superhero fanatic and inventor who sneaks into a youthful Mr. Incredible's car, willing to be his self-appointed sidekick IncrediBoy. Mr. Incredible recognized Buddy from his fan-club and said that he posed for photo and signed every scrap of paper Buddy gave him, but Buddy arrogantly informed Mr. Incredible that he didn't have to worry about training him since he knows everything about him, being his number one fan. However, rather than allowing IncrediBoy to accompany him, Mr. Incredible ejects Buddy from his car and speeds off, with Buddy calling out from the road and telling him to wait.

Later on that night, right when Mr. Incredible saves pedestrian Oliver Sansweet from near-suicide convoluted into a bank robbery hostage to stop Bomb Voyage, Buddy showed up again as IncrediBoy, and told Mr. Incredible that he made new rocket boots and that he finally figured out who he is: his ward, IncrediBoy. However, when Mr.

Incredible tells him that he's now officially carried it too far, Buddy unfairly assumed that it's because he doesn't have powers, despite the fact he didn't have any evidence to back him up, and says that not every superhero has powers and they can be super without them.

After asking Mr. Incredible if he can fly since he can with his rocket boots, he responded (while holding up Bomb Voyage, who tried to escape during his and Buddy's conversation), "Fly home, Buddy. I work alone." Buddy tells Mr. Incredible to just give him one chance and that he will show him by getting the police; but as he was leaving, Bomb Voyage throws a bomb on the end of his cape (which Buddy was unaware of and would echo a later scene in the movie regarding the dangers of wearing a cape by Edna), so Mr. Incredible was forced to let Bomb Voyage escape to save Buddy and dispose of the bomb because of the latter's recklessness. Unfortunately, the rescue ended up opening the floodgate of other lawsuits against supers (because of the two lawsuits that Mr. Incredible faced and lost) and thus, it abolished supers altogether.

Now sick and tired of Buddy, Mr. Incredible handed him over to the police in the back of their police car, telling them to send him back home and tell his mom what he has been doing so she can have a talk with him. When Mr. Incredible told the officers that Bomb Voyage escaped, he also added that "Skippy" made sure of that, only for Buddy to correct him, but Mr. Incredible responded that he is not affiliated with him.

Becoming a Supervillain

After Buddy was sent home and probably even scolded and sent to his room by his mom (which was shown in a flashback with a grown-up Buddy {as Syndrome} telling it to an older Mr. Incredible), he believed that he could not trust anyone, and that he realized that his lifelong dreams had been crushed, which gradually drove him to anger and hatred for Mr. Incredible and the other supers for not giving him the opportunity to become a superhero. Finally, Syndrome decided to let it drive him to revenge, becoming a supervillain to get his revenge on Mr. Incredible for refusing him to be his sidekick, as well as possibly getting him in trouble with his mom. Therefore, he started plotting, not acknowledging that it was his arrogance and reckless actions that caused him to be rejected in the first place.

For the next 15 years, Buddy worked his way into becoming a weapons designer, and became rich selling his weapons (possibly through the black market). His wealth became accumulated, that he was able to buy a remote island called Nomanisan, where he built up his operation base and hired thugs to serve as security guards.

Operating through his agent Mirage, Buddy (now known by his new super-villain name Syndrome) contacted several retired superheroes, tasking them with the defeating of various prototypes of the enormous Omnidroid battle robots, witht he explicit order to not completely destroy them. This was secretly a plan to test the robots against the supers. If the super died, Syndrome would recruit another and repeat the process. If the super survived and disabled the robot, then the data accumulated from the battle would be used to improve the Omnidroid's design, and the victorious super would then be sent to disable the new model; no super ever survived the second encounter. This led to the Omnidroids becoming more difficult to defeat every time, with Syndrome's eventual goal being to make the Omnidroid powerful enough to defeat Mr. Incredible.

Formulating a Plot for Glory

Deciding that his Omnidroid was now good enough to fight Mr. Incredible, Syndrome had Mirage recruit his old idol, who was able to defeat the Omnidroid.

After repairing and improving the machine, Syndrome sent it to fight Mr. Incredible. When the hero was outmatched rather quickly, Syndrome revealed himself (also saying that all he wanted was to help Mr. Incredible, but what made him snap was when he told him to fly home and that he works alone) and he declared that he would be Mr. Incredible's new nemesis. Syndrome cruelly scolds Mr. Incredible for not letting him be his sidekick and ruin everything for him. Mr. Incredible sadly admitted that he didn't mean to treat Syndrome that way and apologized for it. Syndrome assumed that since he now had power over him he was bluffing, and he goes on a monologue with Mr. Incredible. After Mr. Incredible takes advantage of the moment to throw a log at Syndrome (who dodges it), Syndrome immobilizes Mr. Incredible with his zero-point energy ray, which is shot from the pointer finger of Syndrome's glove. Syndrome's zero-point energy ray causes a person (or superhero, in this case) hit by the ray to immediately become immobilized, lose all velocity, and levitate off of the ground, making them unable to speak or move. If their skin is exposed, then their facial movements are reduced to only being able to move their eyeballs, giving Syndrome complete control of their motion in all three dimensions. After using the ray to throw Mr. Incredible around several times to show his power over the superhero, Syndrome accidentally uses his zero-point energy ray to throw Mr. Incredible over a waterfall, much to Syndrome's irritation. Not wanting to take any chances, he then tried to finish him off with an explosive device to ensure his demise.

Mr. Incredible is now scared and sees the explosion in the water, but Syndrome sends his life-detector to see if Mr. Incredible survived the explosion. Mr. Incredible used Gazerbeam's skeletal remains (who had been presumably killed by Syndrome for knowing too much about his schemes) to make Syndrome think that he was killed by the bomb, which works.

Unfortunately, Syndrome was able to capture Mr. Incredible when he tried to infiltrate his base later on (during which Mr. Incredible discovered Syndrome's computer and found out that Syndrome had killed former superheroes before him with his Omnidroids, and had tracked down other retired superheroes as well), also realizing that he used Gazerbeam's remains to trick the probe into thinking that he was dead to being with. He admitted that he was right to idolize Mr. Incredible despite his grudge against him, though he is disappointed that he decided to call for help and that it was lame.

Due to the fact that Elastigirl had activated the tracking device on his supersuit in an attempt to find where Mr. Incredible was, Syndrome and Mirage believed that he had made contact for reinforcements and began to interrogate him. Despite Mr. Incredible's intents that he never knew about the homing device and that he wasn't contacting anyone, he inadvertently recognize Elastigirl's voice on the transmission line as she's flying a government plane (borrowed by her old friend Snug Porter) to the island, making Syndrome believe that he had in fact been lying to him. With this knowledge, Syndrome decide to send a little "greeting" by having missiles to take down Elastigirl's plane.

Mr. Incredible begs Syndrome by telling him to call off the missiles and that he'll do anything, but Syndrome refuses, by saying in revenge that it's "15 years too late". The shock became intensified when Elastgirl announced that there are children on-board (as they stowed away to follow her), much to Mr. Incredible's horror and Mirage's shock, as she starts to question Syndrome's ways. As the last missile finally destroys the plane, Syndrome took great pleasure in killing the occupants (not knowing that they actually evaded the crash alive and are now using the powers to swim to the island), recalling how Mr. Incredible had told him that he worked alone after he offered to be his sidekick. Mr. Incredible then retaliated by threatening to kill Mirage by crushing her; but Syndrome refused to release him and goads him to crush Mirage.

Mr. Incredible decided to let her go, realizing that that wouldn't make things better and Syndrome teased that he knew Mr. Incredible couldn't do it, even when he's got nothing to lose because he says that Mr. Incredible's weak and that he's outgrown him. Mirage (feeling sorry for Mr. Incredible, who is crying over loss of his family) gets mad at Syndrome for being cruel to Mr. Incredible and murdering heroes, especially when hers was threatened by Mr. Incredible, instead of valuing Syndrome attempts to appease Mirage that he just called Mr. Incredible's bluff and that he knew that he wasn't planning to hurt her, but a disgusted Mirage tells her former boss, "Next time you gamble… bet your own life!" and quits.

Mirage later learns that Mr. Incredible's family survived the crash and are on the island. She then frees Mr. Incredible from captivity, informs him of his family's survival, and helps him escape and reunite with his family. However, Syndrome (being unaware of Mirage's recent actions) was able to recapture Mr. Incredible along with his family by immobilizing them with his zero-point energy rays, and finally deduces that Mr. Incredible had married Elastigirl and had two children with her.

Believing that he had hit the jackpot by capturing an entire family of superheroes, Syndrome imprisons the Incredibles in one of his multi-prisoner containment units. He takes the opportunity to brag about how he had beaten them, even without having any superpowers for himself. As such, Syndrome reveals his true plan to the Incredibles: he intends to set the Omnidroid on Metroville to go on a rampage, and then stop it himself, therefore taking the credit and setting himself up as the city's new hero for years until he retires. Syndrome also announces that after his retirement, he will sell his inventions to the world so that others could be super, thus destroying the concept of supers and making the term meaningless.

Believing that he finally beat the best superheroes as well as the Incredibles, Syndrome heads off to Metroville to finalize his plan, putting up a show 'fighting' against the Omnidroid-stopping it from nearly killing a woman and her baby. However, Syndrome realized too late that the Omnidroid's ability to learn allowed it to identify Syndrome as a threat, blasting his remote control wristband from his wrist. Panicking, Syndrome attempted to flee the area, pushing several bystanders out of his way, before the Omnidroid destroyed one of his rocket boots, sending him flying out of control into a building, knocking him out cold.

He remained unconscious during the Incredibles' escape and return back to Metroville, where they teamed up with a fellow superhero Frozone to destroy the Omnidroid by taking out its brainpan, causing it to shut down and explode. As soon as Syndrome regains consciousness, he is angry to see that the Incredibles have foiled his plan.

Death

With Syndrome's plot now exposed to the public, his assets are frozen by the government and a warrant is put out for his arrest (as stated by Rick Dicker), Buddy now must find a way to continue his operations and his revenge. Angry to see what was happening to him, Syndrome made one final attempt at revenge by breaking into the Incredibles' house and abducting Mr. Incredible and Elastigirl's infant son Jack-Jack. He persuaded his current babysitter that he was a replacement, telling her that the S on his shirt stood for Sitter and that he could not run around with a "BS" on his shirt in public. Kari believes him without question, wanting to get away from Jack-Jack as she was having a lot of trouble with the superpowered baby. When the Incredibles arrived to rescue Jack Jack, Syndrome zapped them with his zero-point energy ray with his finger and reassured them that he'll be a good mentor to Jack-Jack, and probably even raised him as his sidekick in time. He then threw the Incredibles out of the home and crashed through the ceiling and up to his jet plane while holding a crying Jack-Jack.

But unfortunately for Syndrome, this plan also failed when Jack-Jack's transforming superpower manifested and allowed him to beat Syndrome up. Elastigirl was then thrown into the air by Mr. Incredible to rescue her baby (who fell out of Syndrome's arms when he hit the wing of his plane) and then she used her body as a parachute to glide back down to safety. Finally realizing that he lost, Syndrome leaned from the side door of his jet plane, vowing revenge on the Incredible family and yells at them that he will get Jack-Jack one day before proceeding to cackle evilly.

Not wanting to let Syndrome get away and finally pushed to his limit, Mr. Incredible started looking around for something to throw at Syndrome, spotting the car that he had bought with the money he had given him earlier. Mr. Incredible threw the car at him, knocking Syndrome off-balance inches away from the plane's air turbine. Syndrome attempted to escape, but was killed for good when his cape snagged him in the turbine (echoing an earlier scene in the movie regarding the dangers of wearing a cape by Edna) causing the aircraft to explode, putting an end to Syndrome's menace and finally avenging Gazerbeam and all those supers he killed.

Incredibles 2

Due to his death, Syndrome obviously doesn't appear in the film in person, but he is briefly indirectly mentioned by Bob when he references that the jet blew up and took his suits and their old house with it, which was caused by Syndrome's death in the jet turbine. Therefore, Buddy's actions left a major impact considering that he ended up indirectly forcing the family to move which serves as a huge source of tension throughout the film.

Syndrome also appears in the end storyboard that shows Gazerbeam being killed by one of the Omnidroids.

Jack-Jack Attack

He appears in the short film Jack-Jack Attack.

LEGO The Incredibles

Syndrome returns in the LEGO The Incredibles video game as an antagonist. While his role in the games story mode is similar to the film in which it is based from, his fate has been noticeably changed. When the Parr family returned home after destroying the Omnidroid, they find the interior of the house covered in scorch marks before Syndrome stumbles into view admitting defeat and tells the family he will go into hiding. He also mentioned that they should tip their babysitter more, implying that Jack-Jack had already gotten the better of him.

Syndrome later reappears as a boss during the final crime wave in Metroville. He has his goons steal various technology to build a new Omnidroid so he can take over the city. He is eventually found in an abandoned warehouse were the boss fight takes place and is sent to prison after his defeat. Syndrome also becomes a playable character after stopping all crime waves in Metroville.

We gasped in shock!

Me: Oh man! So he went from Fan that wanted to be like you to a malevolent supervillain.

Mr. Incredible: This is my fault. If I had just treated Buddy better…

Demolishor: C'mon! How were you supposed to know that this would happen?

Me: Yeah you are not to blame for this Bob. Buddy was your biggest fan and he did help you out. But this was something you didn't see coming. After that happened something snapped inside him.

Lori: That's right.

Laney: But I can sense a spark of good still inside him.

Me: I feel it too. We can separate the good from him and make him officially one of your helpers. He loves you still.

Bob: You're right J.D. But how can you do that?

Violet: Dad, J.D. and his team can literally do anything. They are Gods among Man and they have omnipotent powers.

Dash Parr: Yeah we have seen them do all kinds of awesome things and more and they can do anything.

ElastiGirl: Wow!

Me: I know. But like you all we know the most important rule of being a superhero: With Great Power Comes Great Responsibility.

Ariel: That's right. And we would never abuse our powers like certain people we faced.

Eli: Absolutely. Every living thing in the universe is absolutely precious to all of us and I love everyone as much as I love Nunnally.

Nunnally: (Blushes) Aww Eli.

Me: Yeah. But right now we have to take down Syndrome and throw his big fat butt in prison.

Lincoln: That's right!

Suddenly massive explosions were going off all over the city and we saw an Omnidroid wreaking havoc!

ElastiGirl: Violet, you, Dash, and Jack Jack get somewhere safe.

Ember McLean: Hate to say it. But we might as well bring them along with us. Syndrome's after all of us now.

Me: That's right and now he will kill us too. But not if we have anything to say about it!

Violet: You realize that even if we defeat Syndrome, there's still no way we can ever bring back all the Supers he killed.

Emerald Sustrai: We'll cross that bridge when we get to it.

Me: Violet remember we have the power to bring people back to life.

Violet: Oh yeah that's right! Okay then.

The Omnidroid then was looking at us.

Dreamcatcher: Um… Bob? Any idea on how we can kill that huge Omnidroid staring at us?!

Me: I'll blast it to bits.

Maria: Bob, how did you defeat the Omnidroid the first time?

Bob: Used its arms to rip out its power source.

Me: Clever.

I fired a massive energy blast and it hit the Omnidroid and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The Omnidroid was destroyed and reduced to rubble and it was no more!

Syndrome then came.

Syndrome: NO!

Riley: Been a while Syndrome.

Syndrome: The little emotional Jedi girl came. Been a while.

Riley: I can't believe that this is what you would turn into Buddy. You have given up your love for Mr. Incredible because things didn't go your way.

Lincoln: Yeah you were Mr. Incredible's biggest fan and this is how you show your love for him? By turning into a ruthless monster!?

Laney: Yeah! Your crimes destroyed the lives of many superheroes and now because of you, countless more are now at risk. But it's not too late for you Buddy. You can still do the right thing and turn yourself in and go back to the path of good.

Syndrome laughed.

Syndrome: Oh you would like that wouldn't you!?

Laney: Yes I would.

Laney then fired a powerful beam of light and it hit Syndrome and he screamed in pain as his light self was separated from him and the evil Syndrome was now a separate side!

Mr. Incredible: Buddy!

Buddy was unconscious but he would be all right.

Me: He's gonna be all right. Now it's time for us to take down this monster he turned into!

Twilight Sparkle: And we have an awesome new transformation for you to see J.D.

Me: Really?

The 7 girls glowed in their signature colors and then we saw an incredible transformation! We saw them get awesome new clothes that were sparkling like diamonds and they had jewels and gems in their clothes and hair accessories and more and their energy levels skyrocketed exponentially!

Me: Whoa! Girls you look absolutely incredible!

Lincoln: Wow! So beautiful!

Nicole: This is the coolest transformation ever.

Twilight Sparkle: Thanks Nicole.

Sunset Shimmer: These are our Crystal Guardian transformations.

Vince: Wow! You all look amazing.

Carol: I'll say!

Me: Yeah.

Twilight Sparkle: You and Eli have this kind of power too J.D. It's one of the reasons why we gave you those geodes.

I looked at my geode necklace and I knew that she was right.

Me: Lets give it a try.

Eli: Lets do it!

Me: (Echoing) COURAGE!

Eli: (Echoing) VIRTUE!

I transformed into an awesome new outfit. I had an awesome red, orange and yellow crystal version of Gohan's clothes and I had a crystal sleeveless trench coat and it was dazzling and sparkling and I had amazing bracelets and rings and more and I had awesome Red, Orange and Yellow Crystal fire earrings and my wings were now Crystal Wings and they were dazzling with beauty. Eli had a blue, aqua blue and periwinkle blue version of my outfit and he had a crystal sword and his wings were blue crystal wings.

Me: WHOA! Wow!

Lincoln: Wow! J.D. you look amazing!

Laney: So beautiful!

Me: Wow! We both look incredible.

Eli: This is amazing!

Me: It sure is.

Then Dr. Viktor, Evil Green Ranger, Toyman, Brain Freezer and Ghost appeared.

Me: Dr. Viktor, Evil Green Ranger, Toyman, Brain Freezer and Ghost.

Maria: As promised, we'll teleport the battle to Anur Transyl.

Dr. Viktor: Thank you. But before you do so, we have a new recruit to introduce.

Out of the shadows was their newest recruit, Mercenary Alien Assassin of the planet Duro, CAD BANE!

Cad Bane is a major antagonist in Star Wars: The Clone Wars . He was a male Duros, born on the planet of Duro, who rose to be a bounty hunter during the Clone Wars. Ruthless and deadly, Bane worked for the highest bidder, and earned the reputation as the galaxy's best and most fearsome mercenary - a title that he was able to claim after fellow bounty hunter Jango Fett perished in the opening battle of the war.

Bane was hired to break the Republic captive Ziro Desilijic Tiure out of prison on the galactic capital of Coruscant. The Duros assembled a team of hunters and captured members of the Galactic Senate in their headquarters on Coruscant, forcing Supreme Chancellor Palpatine to free Ziro the Hutt.

He appeared as a minor antagonist in both Seasons 1 and 3 (serving as the main antagonist of "Hostage Crisis" in Season 1, as well as the main antagonist of both "Evil Plans" and "Hunt for Ziro" in Season 3), and as a major antagonist in both Seasons 2 and 4 (serving as the main antagonist of the Holocron Heist arc in Season 2, and as the secondary antagonist of the Bounty Hunter arc in Season 4).

He was voiced by Corey Burton who also voiced Count Dooku.

During the Clone Wars, Bane was hired by Jabba the Hutt to break Ziro the Hutt out of prison as he contained dangerous information to the Hutt council. After tracing Ziro's location, Bane took fellow bounty hunters Shahan Alama and Robonino to raid the Galactic Senate on Coruscant, planning to take senators hostage in order to force Supreme Chancellor Palpatine to release Ziro the Hutt. After Bane, Alama, a sentinel droid, and two droid commandos landed at the Senate Building in an airspeeder, a squad of Senate Commandos - a branch of the guards of the Senate - confronted the approaching Bane. The Duros commented on their hastiness, and before the guards could arrest Bane, one bounty hunter used a sniper rifle to kill most of the guards from a long-range post. Bane personally eliminated the captain of the guards by tackling him and snapping his neck.

The Duros signaled to Robonino, and the other hunters that the coast was clear, and the bounty hunters arrived at the building with several more sentinel droids. Leaving the droid commandos outside to clear the platform and stand guard, the team entered the headquarters of the Senate. After eliminating the Senate Commando posted at the building's power control room, as well as several droids inside, Bane left Robonino to shut off the power before heading for the atrium with the rest of his team. Along the way, the Duros eliminated two patrols of guards by tossing a primed thermal detonator into their barracks when both shifts were assembled there.

Entering the Republic Executive Building, Bane caught the attention of the senators discussing a piece of Senate legislation by firing several blaster shots. The bounty hunters surrounded the senators, and when Senator Philo objected to being taken hostage - walking away while refusing to "listen to insolence" - Bane shot him in the back. The Duros ordered the senators to turn over their communication devices, and contacted Chancellor Palpatine in his office via a holo-transmission. Bane stated that the hostages were to be freed if Ziro the Hutt were to be released from prison.

After Palpatine objected, Robonino shut off the power, trapping Palpatine and Senator Orn Free Taa in the office and sealing all external communications. As the bounty hunters collected the senators' transmission devices, Bane came across Senator Padmé Amidala. While speaking with her, Bane noticed Amidala glance at something behind him, and the bounty hunter turned around and recognized Jedi Knight Anakin Skywalker surveying them from an upper level window. Bane fired at the man, and Skywalker fled, prompting the bounty hunter to order Alama and an IG-86 sentinel droid after the Jedi.

Alama returned without the droid, and reported that while it had been destroyed by Skywalker, an examination of the droid's remains showed that the Jedi Knight did not have his lightsaber. Bane dispatched Aurra Sing with Alama to find and bring the Jedi back to him. The Duros contacted Palpatine once more and told the Chancellor to make a pardon disc and give it to Senator Taa, who would be picked up by Bane's airspeeder and taken to deliver the disc to the prison. Taa reluctantly obeyed, and the sentinel droid 3D took the senator to the Detention Center.

Sing and Alama returned with Robonino and an unconscious, handcuffed Skywalker, and the Duros taunted the knocked-out Jedi Knight before ordering him to be tossed in with the rest of the hostages. Meanwhile, 3D collected the Hutt and returned to the Senate Building, while Taa stayed at the prison in the safety of the Coruscant Guard's clone troopers. Preparing to leave, Bane ordered the rest of his team to set up their "parting gifts" around the senators - a laser web that would activate explosives upon the slightest touch. Wishing the senators and Jedi a "most respectful farewell", Bane left the building with his comrades.

Upon the team's arrival outside on the landing platform, two LAAT/i gunships landed, and clone troopers of the Coruscant Guard piled out and cornered the group of bounty hunters. Palpatine contacted Bane and ordered him to surrender, but the Duros informed the Chancellor of the trapped senators, and Palpatine reluctantly relinquished his attempts to apprehend the bounty hunter. Bane's airspeeder arrived, driven by 3D and hauling Ziro in a rear transport, and with the lives of the senators still at risk, the Coruscant Guard allowed the team of mercenaries to escape. After they were a safe distance away, Bane remotely activated the explosives as payback for the indignities Ziro had suffered in prison. Skywalker, in the meantime, had recovered, and began to cut a hole in the floor around himself and the senators. Just as the explosives went off, the Jedi and the senators dropped into the room below. As Ziro congratulated Bane on a "job well done," Bane demanded his pay from the Hutt, as he did not work for free.

After freeing Ziro, Bane ordered his comrades to go into hiding, but all were captured except Shahan Alama, who was killed during a crash on Florrum and Cad Bane himself. Later, Bane and his droid Todo 360 hunted for Ziro, who had escaped from the Hutts with help from his girlfriend Sy Snootles, unaware that two jedi, Obi-Wan Kenobi and Quinlan Vos had also been hunting for Ziro. But by the time both groups reached Teth, where Ziro's father was buried, Ziro had already been murdered by Snootles, who was used by Jabba to collect a holodiary exposing the Hutt crime families' crimes. Cad Bane stole Vos's lightsaber and fought Kenobi. Bane defeated Kenobi, but was rescued by Vos while Bane escaped with Todo 360.

Later, Bane was hired by Darth Sidious to steal a Jedi holocron which contained all the names of future Jedi children. As part of his plan, Bane murdered the Jedi Ord Enisence and enlisted the help of fellow bounty hunter Cato Parasitti, who would use her shape-shifting abilities to pose as Enisence to infiltrate the Jedi Temple on Coruscant and his droid Todo 360.

After that, Parasitti, in the form of Enisence, infiltrated the Jedi Temple and hacked into the computer systems to aid Bane and Todo as they traversed through the ventilation shaft. Parasitti also used a comlink to keep in touch with Bane and taught him how to bypass the laser tripwire security systems. After Bane and Todo reached the holocron chamber, Bane easily stole the holocron while Todo deactivated the remaining security lasers.

Bane ordered Todo to make his way to the Jedi communication center to divert the Jedi's attention, but he hid the reason for the order, which, unknown to Todo, had an explosive attached to him. Meanwhile, Bane lost contact with Parasitti, who was defeated and captured by Anakin's Padawan, Ahsoka Tano. Bane quickly took the holocron and escaped, leaving Parasitti to be imprisoned and Todo being destroyed by the explosive attached to him.

Anakin: Cad Bane!

Shanan: The Duro Assassin Mercenary is now in the Masters of Evil.

Cad Bane: Indeed and this is gonna be my first fight with all of you.

Me: It sure is.

Lincoln: This is gonna be awesome.

Cad Bane: (to Anakin) I'm surprised you turned to the Dark Side, Skywalker. I honestly thought Jedi couldn't be corrupted.

Me: Well you can blame Palpatine for that. He was responsible for everything that happened to the Jedi. He was the Devil Incarnate.

Cad Bane: I see.

Brain Freezer: Wow! Love your new looks. They look amazing.

Me: Thank you Brain Freezer. They are called the Crystal Guardian transformations.

Rarity: They come with the powers of the Elements of Harmony.

Sunset Shimmer: It's an amazing transoformation.

Dr. Viktor: Indeed.

Toyman: It's most impressive.

Me: Winslow I'm so sorry about your father and I promise we will bring the monster that put him in prison falsely to justice.

Toyman: Thank you J.D. But that's not needed. Bruno Mannheim was already arrested by us and sent to your Uranus Prison.

Me: Oh. Okay then.

Dr. Viktor: Here we go.

He snapped his fingers and we were on an awesome steampunk planet. It was the homeworld of Dr. Viktor: ANUR TRANSYL!

---

Anur Transyl is the steampunk mechanized home planet of the Transylians. It is located in the Anur System, and it has at least one known moon, called Luna Lobo.

Anur Transyl appears to be a planet held together by stitches, much like Transylians themselves, with large gaps in between continents, causing the planet's core to be exposed. The core has pink protrusions that generate a pink energy field. There are also at least three spires.

Anur Transyl is linked with the other planets in the Anur System with what appears to be purple cobwebs. Out of all planets in the Anur System, Anur Transyl is the closest to Earth in both proximity and appearance.

Landscape

At least some of the surface of Anur Transyl is occupied by dark shantytowns inhabited by various species.

---

Me: Whoa! So this is the planet Anur Transyl!

Dr. Viktor: This is my home planet.

Lincoln: Wow! I always wondered what your home planet was like.

Riley: Me too. This is amazing!

Ben: It sure is.

Me: Now we've been to Anur Phaetoes, Anur Khufos, Luna Lobo and now Anur Transyl.

Vince: So we have pretty much been to most of the Anur System planets.

Dr. Viktor: Indeed and there are still more planets to cover.

Me: We can't wait to see them. Shall we dance?

Evil Green Ranger: Lets do it!

?: Not without me you won't.

A figure came out and it was FLUTE ORG from episode 29 of Wild Force!

Flute Org is a powerful Org, who can force anyone dance uncontrollably with his music. He first appeared as the main villain in the episode "The Flute."

Flute Org was created as the result of an Org Spirit acquiring a flute in a store. When he manifested he scared a seller in the store and the man ran away. Flute Org calls himself a music star with style. Then the Flute Org walks on the streets and hears the music of Merrick and Princess Shayla. He calls the melody trash and nothing but trouble and says that he will play "real music".

Flute Org is an Org musician who can make anyone dance uncontrollably with his music. His melodies are considered excellent by his own kind, but terrible by humans. At first he could control only children with his music. The Org plays on his flute and Princess Shayla and Merrick hears it, mistakenly think it was Merrick, Shayla says that the music sounds awful. Mandilok then heard the music of the Flute Org and considered it beautiful. Mandilok quickly realized that it's the Flute Org who plays it and says he can feel it inside. Mandilok ordered Jindrax and Toxica to bring the Flute Org to him. Flute Org used his magic to attack a playground full of children and force them to dance till it hurts them. The kids were in despair, screaming to stop.

The Wild Force Rangers arrived and battled the villain. Cole attacked the Org, while the Rangers evacuated the children and the Org wondered why did the Rangers stop him, as he thought children danced so beautifully under his latest bepop original. Alyssa answers to that Org that he was just a villain and he tortured innocent children, who were exhausted. The Rangers answered the same thing. The Flute Org considers the declaration of the White Rangers nonsense and tries to use his music against the Rangers, but it doesn't work. Merrick recognizes his music as the melody which he heard in the morning. Cole notices that magic of the Org doesn't work on them. The Rangers attack Flute Org and overpower him. The Rangers defeated him the first time and the Org admitted that "Nobody appreciate jazz". The Rangers nearly captured the Org but he was saved by Jindrax and Toxica. Jindrax and Toxica attack the Rangers and tell the Org to go with them.

Flute Org escapes with Jindrax and Toxica. The Duke Orgs brought him to the Nexus to Mandilok. Jindrax and Toxica order Flute Org to kneel before Mandilok. Mandilok recognizes him as the Org flutist with magic abilities. Mandilok asked Flute Org if he could control everyone and the Org answered that he could control only children, but if he would obtain more energy, he would be able to control the adults too. Mandilok agrees to help the Org and decides to take the energy from Jindrax and Toxica. Jindrax and Toxica tried to run, but Mandilok drained the energy from them and gave it to the Flute Org, making him more powerful to the point he could control adults too. Flute Org later attacked the city again and forced all business people to dance, gloating in his powers and saying that he will submit the people forever and no one will stop him, and even made the Rangers dance under his control when they arrived to save the people. But Princess Shayla and Merrick sang their song for the Deer Zord and made him stop. The Deerzord arrived and sprayed his magic dust and neutralized the powers of the Org. The monster tried to battle the Rangers with his magical blasts, but they finally destroyed him with the Jungle Sword.

Toxica resurrected Flute Org and enlarged him and he used his magic to stop them from summoning their Zords but Animus destroyed his flute by using his energy bow so the Rangers summoned their Wildzords and Flute Org was finally destroyed by the Isis Megazord's Antler Crush.

Cole Evans: Flute Org!

Flute Org: Been a while rangers.

Me: I remember you! You play excellent songs and melodies and also they dance uncontrolably because of them.

Laney: Out of all the Wild Force Episodes that one is one of my favorites. Because you play awesome music.

Flute Org: Why thank you so much dear Laney.

Laney: I love Celtic music as well as the serene tranquility of the flute.

Me: Me too. You were sent to attack a playground of children and you turned on Toxica and Jindrax.

Flute Org: Indeed I did. Good memory on you.

Me: Thanks. Never missed an episode.

Flute Org: Let's see how you dance to this!

Flute Org played his flute and Ed danced against his will. But after several seconds, Flute Org noticed that Ed was enjoying it.

Flute Org: (stops playing) Hey! You're not supposed to be enjoying it!

Me: Ed plays the flute himself and he likes it.

Flute Org: I see.

Rolf: Let me play the Accordion to add some fun.

He pulled out his Accordion and Rolf played Drunken Sailor and Flute Org played his flute and Ed danced again.

We danced and had fun.

Bob: Love this song!

We danced.

Me: Me too!

Flute Org was done and we stopped and cheered.

Me: Good song and dancing!

Syndrome: What're you doing here, weirdo? Get lost!

Flute Org became annoyed and played his flute, making Syndrome dance against his will.

William (to Mr. Incredible): Now's your chance to attack Syndrome!

Mr. Incredible punched Syndrome and smashed him into a building.

We powered up and went at them!

Demolishor: I don't blame you.

Reflector: Lightsabers VS Guns is hard.

Cad Bane: Indeed. Here are my Pokemon.

He called out his Pokemon and he had an Alolan Raichu, Lickitung, Weezing and Klinklang.

Jack Landors: An Alolan Raichu, Lickitung, Weezing and a Klinklang. Good choices.

Cad Bane: Thank you. Lets dance.

They went at him and Cad Bane fired his guns and Demolishor fired blasts of lasers and Reflector and Jack fired their lasers and they hit Cad Bane and his Pokemon and knocked them down.

Carter Grayson: Second time facing each other.

Toyman: (to Carter) I brought new toys with me ever since the battle against Chrysalis, Carter. I hope you like them.

Pharaoh Man: Always up for a challenge.

Turbo Man: Absolutely.

Toyman: Good.

Toyman called out his Pokemon. He had a Porygon, Porygon-Z, Porygon2, Plusle and a Minun.

Pharaoh Man: All three Porygon kinds and a Plusle and a Minun. Good choices on you.

Toyman: Thank you. Shall we battle?

Carter Grayson: Lets.

They went at him and Toyman fired blasts of energy from a blaster he made and they dodged the blasts and they blasted him all over with energy lasers and Turbo Man's Scorch Wheel and fire blasts and Pharaoh Man's Pharaoh Shot and the blasts hit him and his Pokemon and knocked them down.

Carter Grayson: Nice battle.

Battle 5: Brain Freezer

Bloom, Chef Pepper Jack, and Dreamcatcher were facing Brain Freezer.

Brain Freezer: How is Aylene doing?

Bloom: She's doing much better. She watched an episode of Primal and it scared her so badly that she wouldn't come out of her room for 3 days.

Brain Freezer: Was it that one with the Zombie Argentinosaurus?

Chef Pepper Jack: That's it.

Brain Freezer: I had a strong feeling. That one was awful and scary.

Dreamcatcher: It sure was.

Brain Freezer: I don't blame her. I would be scared out of my mind too.

Bloom: Yeah. Lets do it.

Brain Freezer: With pleasure.

Brain Freezer called out his Pokemon and they went at him and fired blasts of fire and wind and they hit him and his Pokemon and knocked him down.

Bloom: Good battle.

Battle 6: Ghost

Ariel, Eli, Randy Boggs, and Papillon were facing Ghost.

Ghost: I can tell that you and Eli are really close. I saw how close you two were during our adventure with Sora.

Ariel: Eli is the best little brother I could've ever had and I love him.

Lincoln: Awesome!

Bob: It's like a superhero reunion.

Naruto: It sure is.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah but this was awesome.

Mr. Incredible: (To the viewers) Being a superhero is not all fun and games and it is never an easy job. With great power comes great responsibility.

Me: You said it.

Buddy Pine was put into the infirmary and Metroville was now part of Gotham Royal York. Syndrome was sentenced to spend the rest of his life in the Neptune Prison and he was placed under 24/7 Suicide Watch. Later Buddy would get his IncrediBoy costume back and be placed into the Redemption Squad as well as be the real sidekick of the Incredibles and also we lifted the anti-Super ban.

Myotismon came and checked on Nico and he was doing much better with some chicken soup and TLC.

THE END

---

Another awesome fanfiction done.

The Incredibles from 2004 was an awesome movie! I loved all that movie and it was so awesome! But what Syndrome did was horrible! We also had to wait 14 more years until 2018 for the 2nd movie of The Incredibles to come out. Lets hope that the next Incredibles Movie in the future won't take that long to make. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. It's that time of the year again. Get ready to have your pants scared off of you as we do our annual saga of horror! (EVIL LAUGHTER) (THUNDER AND LIGHTNING CRASHES) For part 1 we're gonna head into the world of Primal and help Spear and Fang take down that scary Zombie Argentinosaurus and burn it into dust as we stop it from infecting other dinosaurs and turning them into disease ridden monsters out for blood!

See you all tomorrow.

Rampage of the Zombie Argentinosaurus

At the estate, I was reading some of Ice's awesome My Little Pony Comic Books and I found out some interesting information. I found out that there is a mirror universe where Twilight and her friends and princess Celestia and Princess are evil and that they are trying to destroy much of the world and make it suffer.

In Canterlot Castle at nighttime, Princess Luna strolls happily through the castle hallways. In the throne room, she sees Princess Celestia disappear into a magical mirror. Unable to follow, Luna calls out for her sister to return. At the same time in Ponyville, Twilight Sparkle and Spike are approached by a gray-coated stallion in a black suit and fedora, who simply tells them "there is more than one of everything" before disappearing.

One week later, Princess Luna summons Twilight and her friends to the castle to inform them of Celestia's disappearance. She leads them to the entrance to Star Swirl the Bearded's personal library, which she believes holds information about the mirror Celestia had gone through. Believing Twilight and her friends capable of navigating the mountain cave systems of Canterlot, Luna entrusts them with finding the library and figuring out where Celestia went. Twilight tells Spike to stay with Luna and to come get them if something happens.

Twilight can barely contain her excitement about walking the very same passageways that Star Swirl the Bearded walked through hundreds of years ago. In a flashback, a slightly younger Celestia speaks with Star Swirl about his discovery of other universes. She mentions a growing worry about her sister Luna and how distant she's becoming, but Star Swirl assures her that they'll help her.

In present day, Twilight and company finally find Star Swirl's athenaeum. Inside, they find several of Star Swirl's original belongings and books, as well as a statue of him and a painting of a young Celestia. As she regards the artwork, Twilight says to her friends that she always thought she'd follow in Star Swirl's footsteps instead of Celestia's and starts to worry about her responsibilities as a princess. Luckily, her friends are near to calm and reassure her.

In Star Swirl's study, Twilight and company find an extensive record of every alternate world he and Celestia visited. In another flashback, Star Swirl shows Celestia his completed mirror. The two spend decades visiting various worlds, the very first of which was inhabited by dinosaurs with cutie marks. One day, Star Swirl discovers that Celestia had been visiting one particular world numerous times. He scolds her for visiting that world too often, and before Celestia's actions put two kingdoms at risk, he closes the mirror permanently.

After this "incident", the research Twilight and the others have found ends. Having found what they were looking for, the ponies make their way back to Princess Luna through a secret passage Pinkie Pie discovers. As Twilight gives the results of their research to the princess, the mirror shines brightly and Celestia-covered in bruises-steps through. As Celestia collapses onto the floor, Twilight and her friends see a silhouetted figure inside the mirror: the figure of King Sombra.

Issue #18

As Celestia is nursed back to health, Twilight and her friends worry over her condition-while Luna demands an explanation on where she's been. She tells them that she was attacked; when Fluttershy asks if it was King Sombra who attacked her, Celestia firmly denies it. She explains that the mirror she came through is a prototype of the Crystal Mirror seen in My Little Pony Equestria Girls and she used it to visit a world both similar to and different from theirs, where King Sombra is a "kind and wonderful ruler" of Equestria.

Celestia further explains that the two worlds are binding too closely together and Sombra's fight against evil in the other world is beginning to encroach on their world. Luna is eager to go into the other world and fight this evil, but Celestia says the two of them cannot be involved because they themselves are the evil-in the other world, Celestia and Luna are the villains. She entrusts Twilight and her friends in bringing the Elements of Harmony to King Sombra and using them to defeat the other Celestia and Luna. As Spike goes to fetch the Elements, Celestia teaches Twilight a spell to use to return home. Their task set, Twilight and the others step through the portal.

The seven emerge from the other side of the portal and arrive in a bleak version of Canterlot. They are spotted by royal guards who, upon recognizing them from a wanted poster, immediately arrest them. A flashback shows a similarly jailed Celestia and Star Swirl; Celestia suggests they simply teleport out, but Star Swirl advises they not cause a ruckus until they straighten things out with the king.

In present day, as the imprisoned Mane Six and Spike wonder how they're going to find King Sombra, Pinkie Pie reminds Twilight of her magic, and Twilight teleports all of them out of the jail cell. The seven friends walk through the castle toward the throne room. Meanwhile, in their home universe, Luna barks at Celestia for not telling her about everything that's happened, and Celestia feels utter shame for her youthful recklessness. Luna consoles her and asks about her adventures with Star Swirl.

Back in the other universe, Twilight and company reach the throne room and meet the other King Sombra, much friendlier than his Crystal Empire counterpart. Sombra expresses his thanks for their arrival and says he's heard much from Celestia about their use of the Elements of Harmony to save their home world. As they talk, the evil Celestia and Luna appear, wondering if Sombra has "reconsidered [their] offer". Sombra is about to refuse this offer when Twilight and her friends step in. Eager to end this quickly, the Mane Six start fighting them, but King Sombra tells them to stop, as "there are rules to this fight". Suddenly, Spike receives a message from the good Celestia and Luna; as soon as Sombra reads it, he forces the two sides to stop fighting with a magic barrier.

Back home, as Celestia and Luna walk through the castle, Celestia suddenly feels pain and collapses. When Luna realizes what's happening, she calls the guards to bring her parchment and a quill.

In the other universe, the evil Celestia and Luna, bored from the fight's forced intermission, take their leave and tell Sombra that he "can't say 'no' forever". Twilight reads the good Luna's message and discovers that whatever they do to the evil princesses will hurt the good princesses as well. As Sombra asks about the good Celestia, Twilight and her friends make a discovery even more shocking:

Princess Celestia and King Sombra are in love.

Issue #19

In the alternate Celestia and Luna's castle, the evil princesses wonder about King Sombra's new companions and their plans to defeat them. Evil Celestia laments over not having more time to coerce answers out of her other self before she escaped. Evil Luna suggests spying on the ponies to see what they know, to which Celestia agrees, and she heads back to Sombra's castle in the form of red smoke.

At Sombra's castle, as Twilight records all of the differences between the two Equestrias for posterity, Rarity and Fluttershy ask Sombra how he first met the good Celestia.

In the flashback to when Princess Celestia and Star Swirl the Bearded were imprisoned, King Sombra releases them and welcomes them to Canterlot; Celestia appears immediately taken by his looks. Over tea, Sombra acquaints the two with his world, including the presence of a villainous Celestia in it. Celestia, initially awkward around Sombra, asks to see more of his kingdom and meets the alternate, friendly Princess Luna. The four of them spend the day taking in the wonders of Canterlot. As Celestia and Star Swirl bid farewell to their new friends, King Sombra invites them-especially Celestia-to visit again soon. Celestia entertains that very notion as she and Star Swirl return to their dimension.

In present day, in Twilight's home universe, Celestia explains to Luna that she accompanied Star Swirl on each of his trips to the other world and eventually started going through the mirror without him. However, Star Swirl noticed small parallel changes between the universes the more they traveled through the mirror, such as books disappearing in their universe whenever Star Swirl borrowed books from Sombra. The two decided to limit their dimensional travels and stopped bringing anything back with them. When Star Swirl found out about Celestia's secret trips through the mirror, he became livid, and their friendship suffered a hefty blow.

In another flashback, Celestia goes to see Sombra. She despairs over breaking her promise to Star Swirl, but Sombra assures her it'll be fine. He takes Celestia to a "wishing garden", where ponies write down wishes and tie them to trees in hopes that they come true. There, Celestia and Sombra make a wish to always be together. When Celestia returns home, Star Swirl discovers what she has been doing and, in his anger, closes the mirror permanently. Celestia deeply laments being unable to say goodbye to Sombra; she goes behind Star Swirl's back once again and attempts to reopen the mirror, which she succeeds in doing.

Back in present day, in the other universe, Sombra explains to Twilight and her friends that the evil princesses' reign has take a high toll on both the land and the population. He tells them that, while the Castle of the Royal Pony Sisters in their world is in ruins, the Castle in his world still stands and is where the evil princesses live. The "offer" that the evil Celestia was trying to make Sombra agree to earlier was a trade: the good Celestia can come and live with him forever and his subjects would be free from further torment, and in exchange, the evil princesses may cross over into the other world and continue their reign of terror. Sombra refused, knowing what he'd be dooming Twilight's world to if he accepted.

As the ponies discuss how to beat the evil princesses without hurting them, Twilight theorizes that what defeated the evil King Sombra will help defeat them as well: use the Elements of Harmony to imprison them in crystal. Sombra considers this a sound plan, and they get ready to invade the princesses' castle. Evil Luna, having spied on their whole conversation, leaves to warn her sister.

A short time later, Twilight visits Sombra in his study while he's changing his armor and asks for some advice about being a leader. The best advice he can give is "whatever kind of pony you are, be a good one". As she leaves, Sombra opens a small box and finds Celestia's written wish, slipping it inside his armor chestplate.

At the evil princesses' castle, Luna arrives to tell Celestia what she's learned.

Issue #20

The issue starts off with a recap about Princess Celestia having "everything she wanted and everything she knew she shouldn't have". In Twilight's home universe, Luna is angry that Celestia replaced her with another Luna after her own banishment; Celestia explains she was going through a tough time in her life and needed somepony to talk to. Celestia notices green clouds gathering in the sky and wonders if the rift between the worlds is getting worse.

On the other side of the mirror, King Sombra also notices the ominous sky and becomes worried. Twilight tells Spike to send a message to Celestia about their plan; Sombra tells Spike to add that, in case they never see each other again, he's thinking of her. On the castle balcony, the evil Celestia and Luna see the Mane Six, Spike, and Sombra approaching. Luna fears their imprisonment is near, but Celestia has a plan that involves bringing her other self to their world and forcing the spell into the other world out of her.

Back home, Celestia reads Twilight's message and cries at the thought of never seeing Sombra again. As Luna consoles her, Celestia wishes she could apologize to Star Swirl for causing all this. In the final flashback, Celestia greets Star Swirl as he returns from a trip and tries to apologize. Star Swirl forgives her, saying "making decisions you don't want to make is part of being a ruler" and apologizes back for making a decision for her. He suggests they forget the whole thing ever happened, but Celestia is wracked with guilt.

Back in present day, the ponies reach the evil princesses' castle, and Celestia gives Sombra one last chance to accept her offer. When Sombra refuses, Celestia tries to sweeten the deal by luring the good Celestia to their world. To do so, she attacks her sister with magic. This causes the good Luna in the other world to be thrown back against the mirror, shattering it to pieces. The rift between the universes finally reaches its breaking point, causing the sky to crack and the worlds to slowly merge.

Wanting to put an end to this, Celestia leaves the injured Luna in Sombra's care and attacks her evil counterpart. Twilight and her friends ready the Elements of Harmony, and Sombra stops the two Celestias' brawl so the Elements can be used. However, as crystal starts to encase the evil Celestia, the good Celestia starts to become encased as well. Good Celestia tells the Mane 6 not to stop and resigns herself to her fate, entrusting Twilight and Luna to lead Equestria from now on. Twilight says she's not ready, but Celestia has faith in her as a leader; echoing the words of Star Swirl the Bearded, she apologizes to Twilight for making a decision for her.

When the Celestias' crystal imprisonment is almost complete, Sombra intervenes with another idea to restore balance. He knocks out Twilight and her friends with his magic and takes the Elements of Harmony from them. With the Elements, Sombra extracts the evil from the alternate Celestia and Luna and absorbs it into himself. The alternate princesses are turned good again, and the alternate Sombra becomes evil just like the original. Before Celestia could say anything to him, he disappears.

The universes begin to repair, and the ponies return to their home universe before the walls between the worlds close forever. As she leaves, Celestia tells the other Luna to take care of Sombra and their Equestria.

Back home, the ponies gather up the shattered remains of the mirror, Celestia noting its destruction is "for the best". Celestia apologizes to Twilight for everything and says she meant it when she said Twilight would make a fine ruler. Twilight says she's fine with being a bookworm for the time being, especially with the master keys to Star Swirl's library. Celestia also asks Twilight's friends to keep this adventure a secret from her subjects (not that anyone would believe them anyway). When Applejack asks what to do with the pieces of the mirror, Celestia tells her to destroy them, but she keeps one shard of the mirror, as well as the wish slip from the alternate universe, for herself to serve as a reminder.

As a sorrowful Celestia says goodbye to Sombra, the Sombra of the other world, now turned evil, says goodbye to Celestia while holding on to the crown that she dropped as he sheds a single tear.

Me: Whoa! This is a strange twist.

Twilight Sparkle: So King Sombra is good and we're the bad guys?

Fluttershy: That's strange. That's like how people see the Royal Defenders.

Laney: Yeah. I can't believe that Mirror Universes work like that.

Me: I know. Looks like Tora's comics have shown us another window into another mirror universe and in the future we're going to have to take down the Mirror Equestria's version of Princess Luna, Celestia and the Mane 6. But we've been to mirror universes before and it is a weird experience. I would hate to encounter a mirror version of me and all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm in a mirror universe. That would spell a cataclysmic disaster of epic proportions if that were to happen.

Apple Bloom: It sure would.

Sweetie Belle: Yeah.

Me: But the cover of this comic book is amazing.

Laney: It sure is. Can you tell what the opposite sides are?

Me: I sure can and it's easy to figure out. One side is the side we all know and live and that's our universe ruled by the friendship and benevolence of Princess Celestia. And the other in the mirror universe shows everything ruled by everything that's the exact opposite of everything we know and the Elements of Disharmony. Applejack is Dishonesty, Rarity is Greed, Fluttershy is Cruelty, Rainbow Dash is Treachery, Pinkie Pie is Misery and Twilight Sparkle is the Dark Magic of Hatred.

Laney: That's horrible!

Scootaloo: No kidding. And it shows that the Princess Celestia and Princess Luna in that universe are malevolent monsters.

Me: Well it's a mirror universe. What did you expect?

Scootaloo: Got it.

Me: Yeah and look here. Queen Chrysalis in this universe is good where the one we faced is pure evil.

Fluttershy: That's a huge switch.

Starlight Glimmer: It sure is.

Me: Wait. It says here in this comic that if we hurt the mirror princesses then they will suffer the same pain as well.

We gasped.

Laney: That's very strange.

Me: So it's like that one episode of Star Trek, The Enemy Within. And like how Master Piccolo and Kami were linked. That one was mega freaky. Captain Kirk fought a mirror version of himself and whatever injury was dealt to him was dealt to the Captain Kirk they knew.

Laney: So it's linked up with our universe.

Me: Exactly. So we have to figure out how to make it a separate world and then take them on without having to worry about hurting ourselves in the process when we do battle with them.

Apple Bloom: Sounds really complex.

Me: It is. But if the Skylanders can do it to the mirror counterparts of Eon and their friends then we can do it too.

Starlight Glimmer: Good.

Fluttershy: That's gonna be interesting.

Then a ladybug started to crawl on Fluttershy's shoulder and Twilight saw it and then she freaked out!

Twilight Sparkle: (PANICS) AAAAHHH!

She jumped and backed away in fear!

Me: Twilight what's wrong!?

Nico: Twilight what's the matter!?

Twilight Sparkle: KEEP THAT THING AWAY FROM ME!

Me: What is it?

I saw the ladybug.

Me: Oh it's a little ladybug.

I picked it up on my finger.

Twilight Sparkle: They terrify me!

Me: Why are you scared of Ladybugs? They wouldn't hurt you even if they wanted to.

Twilight Sparkle: That's right I never told you all this. When I was a filly, a swarm of them got into our house. Shining Armor told me that their spots were extra eyes watching wherever you go. So creepy! (Shudders)

Laney: You have what's called Coccinellidaephobia.

Me: Coke-whati-phobia?

Laney: It means the Fear of Ladybugs. Coccinellidae is the scientific name for ladybugs. I learned the term from Lisa.

Nico: I've never even heard of anyone that's afraid of ladybugs.

Me: Yeah. Ladybugs would never hurt you.

Fluttershy: Yeah they are known protectors of gardens and they protect it from pests.

Me: And the black spots on them are just for show. They are not looking at you. They are just for show. Besides I think your brother was just pulling your leg. You know how big brothers are. They like teasing you but it's their way of looking out for you and how they love you.

Nico: Yeah I'm a big brother myself and I tease my siblings from time to time. It's my way of saying I love them.

Twilight Sparkle: You're probably right.

I held my hand out to her with the ladybug on it.

Me: Let him go onto your hand. He won't hurt you.

Twilight Sparkle: Okay.

She held out her hand and the ladybug went onto her hand and Twilight was cured instantly.

Me: See? They don't hurt.

Nico: Marinette, I hope you're not offended.

Marinette: Not at all.

Twilight Sparkle: Thank you all for helping me conquer my fear of ladybugs.

Me: Anytime Twilight. Also Ladybugs are a big symbol of love over in Japanese Tradition.

Isabelle: It's true. In true Asian tradition, it's believed that if you catch and release a Ladybug she will fly to your true love and whisper your name in his/her ear; your true love will then come running to your side.

Twilight Sparkle: Wow! That's so cool!

Nico: It sure is.

---

We were then over in the Kingdom of Corona and near the tower that Rapunzel once lived in, we were walking around.

Qin: Wow so this is the tower that you lived in Rapunzel?

Rapunzel: It sure is.

Lola: It's hard to imagine that you lived out here in this part of Corona all by yourself.

Tangled Flynn: No kidding.

Then we heard a clatter.

Me: Looks like we are not the only ones here.

I formed an energy ball and shined it like a flashlight and we saw a figure looking through stuff.

Hornet Man: Whoever's there, turn around slowly!

Me: Yeah!

We saw a girl with black hair and green eyes and it was the biological daughter of Mother Gothel and the best friend of Rapunzel: CASSANDRA!

Cassandra is a tritagonist of Disney's Tangled animated franchise.

She initially starts off as the tritagonist of Tangled: The Series, serving as Rapunzel's Lady-in-Waiting and one of her closest friends in season 1 and season 2, but by the near end of season 2, she eventually betrays Rapunzel and Eugene by taking the Moon Stone for herself so she could fulfill her own "destiny" and becomes the main antagonist of the first half of the third season and the secondary antagonist/deuteragonist villain in the second half until her redemption in the series finale. She is also a protagonist in the Tangled The Series comics which feature her before she turns evil.

In the first episode of the third season, after her betrayal, she is revealed to be the daughter of the late Mother Gothel, the main antagonist of the original Tangled film.

She was voiced by Eden Espinosa as a young adult who is best known as Elphaba Thropp for the Broadway, Los Angeles, and San Francisco productions of the musical Wicked, and Cassie Glow and Hudson D'Andrea as a child in "You're Kidding Me!", "Rapunzel's Return", and "Islands Apart".

It was revealed when Cassandra went in the mysterious door inside the House of Yesterday's Tomorrow she sees that Mother Gothel was her mother. She was raised inside a small cottage for around 4 years with her mother, who even to her own daughter, was extremely manipulative and negligent. One day Gothel went out to do something, which we later find out is to kidnap Rapunzel when she lost the golden flower to keep her young.

Gothel came back to the cottage with the baby princess while being chased by the Royal Guard. Then the Royal Guard storms into the house thinking that Gothel went in there, but they later see she is on the other side, but it's too late as Gothel cuts down the bridge abandoning Cassandra. She is then adopted and raised by the Captain of the Guards, in the castle.

Tangled: Before Ever After

See also: Cassandra (Tangled)'s synopsis on the Heroes Wiki

Cassandra is first seen waiting for Rapunzel's return from a ride with Eugene at Corona's village gates. From there, Cassandra takes Rapunzel to attend to the various duties of a princess, specifically in preparation for her upcoming coronation ceremony to officially crown her as heir to the throne. Rapunzel laments her feelings about the stress of the pressures of royalty overwhelming her.

Cassandra believes the princess should take a break regardless of what her father wishes, but Rapunzel refuses to do so. Later at a dinner event, Cassandra sits with Pascal, while Rapunzel sits with her parents, and Eugene sits at the children's table (an arrangement made by Cassandra, who was in charge of seating). Eugene takes the time to propose to Rapunzel, but due to her fears of being bound to live in the castle, Rapunzel rejects and leaves. Seeing the princess upset angers Cassandra, who glares at Eugene.

Season 1

Her first somewhat antagonistic role is in "Challenge of the Brave" where she competes in a competition to find the strongest warrior in the seven kingdoms. Throughout the episode, she competes against Rapunzel and later hides Rapunzel's weapon in order to stop her from winning. She later goes on a speech on how she constantly feels outshined by Rapunzel and that this was her chance to prove herself. Cassandra did eventually get over it and help Rapunzel takedown Wreck Marauder, she does lose but is okay with it. Despite this, these personality traits would later play a big role in her eventual fall.

Season 2 Fall To Darkness

During the second season, she joins Rapunzel on her journey to follow the path of the Black Rocks to the Dark Kingdom, along with Eugene, Lance, Shorty, Hook Foot, Pascal, Owl, Maximus and Fidella, but as the season gradually progresses, their friendship becomes increasingly strained. She calls out Rapunzel for repeatedly doubting her judgment, and in the first turning point, one instance of this causes her right hand to become severely disfigured and disabled by Rapunzel when she was trying to stop Hector.

But the biggest turning point is in the episode "Rapunzeltopia" where the group while trying to find Rapunzel after she went missing, so Cassandra, Eugene, and Lance split up and Cassandra goes alone, but just after that Cassandra enters a room in the House of Yesterday's Tomorrow after hearing a mysterious voice, a spirit guide's her around, where she learns about her backstory and how she is Mother Gothel's daughter and that she abandoned her for Rapunzel. This event causes Cassandra to snap. Always feeling outshined by Rapunzel, this is when Cassandra decides to turn on her.

She's not seen again until Tromus is defeated and the house is destroyed, and then a mysterious door appears and Cassandra comes out of it. Then Rapunzel rushes up to her, she scowls at the Princess and flinches when she hugs her. But Rapunzel realizes that Cassandra is acting suspiciously, but doesn't know why. She brushes it off and they continue on their journey to the Dark Kingdom.

The following episode "Lost and Found" comes after Rapunzel and Eugene get back from their journey in the maze. Eugene and the audience get a hint to Cassandra's coming betrayal when Eugene receives a prophecy from Lord Demanitus saying that one person in their group will betray Rapunzel at the Dark Kingdom. Then, as Eugene is looking at Cassandra, she flashes a sinister smile.

Betrayal

In the Season finale "Destinies Collide" the group has arrived at the Dark Kingdom. Eugene is wondering and nervous the whole time wondering who will betray Rapunzel. There are several hints throughout the episode of Cassandra's betrayal, but at first, it seems that Eugene unwittingly fulfills this prophecy when he abandons Rapunzel to destroy the Moonstone with his newly discovered father.

Everything changes though when the group arrives at the chamber with the Moonstone. Rapunzel mistakenly decides to trust Cassandra and lets her come into the chamber with her. Just as Rapunzel is about to take the Moonstone, Cassandra steals it at the last second. Rapunzel asks what she is doing, which Cassandra responds to by saying that she is fulfilling her destiny. She bonds with its power, which changes her appearance and makes her the Moonstone's human vessel, the opposite of Rapunzel.

Season 3 Increasing Darkness

In the next episode, Cassandra tells Rapunzel what she saw in The House of Yesterday's Tomorrow. Rapunzel tries to reason with her, but Cassandra is so enraged at Rapunzel for her mother leaving her for Rapunzel, she says she feels that for her whole life since she was four she had been pushed away for Rapunzel and that she was having no more, so she refuses. After that Adira attacks Cassandra, but she fails and Cassandra also steals Adira's sword as well and makes it her own. She then runs away. Rapunzel chases after trying to convince her to stop and that it is not too late, but Cassandra keeps refusing and eventually gets away on a bridge, which she brings down with Adira's stolen shadow blade.

She and her pet are last seen looking at her former friends going back to Corona via the Hot Air Balloon.

After she escapes throughout the season, she learns to harness her powers, but first, in "Return of the King" she is trying to use her powers but fails to. Then she hears a mysterious voice which is later revealed to be the same Enchanted Girl from the House of Yesterday's Tomorrow that was guiding her. In "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf?" the Enchanted Girl shows up and tells Cassandra that the Moonstone responds to anger and hatred which after Cassandra hears this and thinks about what Rapunzel did to her she is able to use the powers.

In the episode "Beginnings", Cassandra is walking around the destroyed caravan that they used to go to the Dark Kingdom. Cassandra discovers an old drawing from Rapunzel with both of them together, which causes Cassandra to feel somewhat guilty. The Enchanted Girl senses this and tells her that she was her friend and that it makes sense to feel guilty, but also tells her that Rapunzel may have deserved it and that she already took some of the Moonstone's power. This confuses Cassandra which the Enchanted Girl clarifies by saying the when Rapunzel touched the black rocks it gave her some of its protective power and that it belongs to Cassandra. This causes Cassandra to become enraged and tear the drawing in half, symbolizing the end of Rapunzel and Cassandra's friendship.

In "Be Very Afraid", Cassandra's fear of destroying Rapunzel to reclaim the Moonstone's power causes the black rocks to turn into red rocks, which heads over to Corona and reveals itself to the citizens' which cause them to see their worst fears.

Later on in the episode, Rapunzel touches one of the rocks at the same time as Cassandra and they can sense each other because of that. Rapunzel can sense that Cassandra didn't mean to create these rocks and it happened because she was afraid of the idea of destroying Rapunzel, and by this Rapunzel can tell Cassandra still has some good inside her.

Later on, in the episode, Rapunzel reveals to a reformed Varian her biggest fear is losing Cassandra as a friend, which has already happened, and her destroying Corona and leaving it in ruins. At the end of the episode, she tells Eugene that there is still some good inside her and there is still a chance to save her.

While she doesn't appear until the end of the episode, Cassandra plays a significant role in "Island Apart" as the Captain of the Guards learns about her betrayal and attempts to get a second chance from a wishing well on the Island of the Lorbs. But the wish backfires and ends up summoning an army of Cassandra's ready to kill the heroes but luckily they are able to undo the wish.

She is also seen during a flashback in the episode where that Captain is looking for her in a maze. Cassandra attacks him with her sword, and the two get into a swordfight, Cassandra expresses her anger at the Captain for not telling her about her true parentage. Cassandra is easily able to overpower him and knocks a wall down trapping the captain in and then escapes.

She is seen at the end of the episode at the ruins of the Great Tree looking for the incantation for the Enchanted Girl, but she tells her that they were all destroyed. Then, the Enchanted Girl makes a passing remark that the only other means to mastering the Moonstone was Demanitus' scroll but it was destroyed long ago. Then Cassandra, knowing that it wasn't destroyed and that Rapunzel has it says they are going to Corona while making a sadistic smile.

Cassandra's Revenge

Cassandra is first seen in the episode in a forest on the outskirts of Corona, looking in and getting ready for her plan. Next, she is seen crashing Eugene's birthday party giving Rapunzel an ultimatum: she can either give her the scroll willingly, and will leave Corona in peace and implying if she doesn't she will get it by force and will destroy Corona if necessary, and then she leaves.

Cassandra then secretly follows Rapunzel into Varian's lab where he has the scroll. While Rapunzel does not know that Cassandra is watching, Varian reveals everything about the scroll. Then Cassandra reveals herself and demands Rapunzel to give up the scroll, but when she refuses Cassandra attacks. Then what follows is a battle where Rapunzel constantly tries to convince Cassandra to step down and stop but not trying to hurt her, as well as trying to keep to scroll away to all costs. Later on, Cassandra briefly hesitates, but the Enchanted Girl is quickly able to suppress all the doubt so Cassandra knocks down a structure to destroy the place. Rapunzel is able to hold it up, but because she can no longer guard the scroll Cassandra just casually takes it out of her hands, then she heads over to Varian. He destroys the translation for the scroll with acid but accidentally gives away that he still has it in his mind so Cassandra kidnaps him and then runs away.

Cassandra starts walking away when the Enchanted Girl reminds her that she needs to destroy Rapunzel and get the upper hand, which gives Cassandra the idea to build a stronghold at the ruins of Mother Gothel's tower. When Varian wakes up, Cassandra asks him for the third incantation. Varian refuses, but then Cassandra reveals she has the truth serum, which because of him telling the truth, makes Varian realize Cassandra gave it to him. Cassandra then asks what the incantation is. Varian tries to resist, but he can't and reveals the incantation. Then Cassandra uses the incantation to summon a giant castle that will act as her stronghold.

When Cassandra climbs to the tower the Enchanted Girl tells her she must face her with the full power of the moonstone. When she gets to the top of the tower moments later she tells Varian that this is not his fault and that she won't try and hurt him if he doesn't do anything foolish. Varian tries to convince Cassandra to stop in the song "Nothing Left To Lose" but he fails so Cassandra imprisons him in a special black rock cage. Then Cassandra sits on her black rock throne waiting for Rapunzel to arrive.

Cassandra sits back and watches Rapunzel and her friends trying to get into the tower, but the Enchanted Girl tells her to let them in, force Rapunzel to fight her, break her spirit, and that she has held back long enough, so Cassandra begrudgingly agrees to do so.

Rapunzel and Cassandra soon meet at the top, Rapunzel trying her best to convince Cassandra to stop, but with Cassandra continuously refusing. Rapunzel says she won't fight her so Cassandra responds by trying to kill her first by crushing her, then dropping her to the ground, but Rapunzel survives both times thanks to her hair. Eventually, Cassandra traps Rapunzel between her black rocks. Rapunzel says again that there is nothing she can do to convince her to fight, but Cassandra thinks otherwise. She drags Eugene and Varian back into her room and tries to use her rocks to crush Eugene, Eugene warns Rapunzel to not give in, but Varian tells Rapunzel he has discovered the fourth incantation so he hands it to Rapunzel, thanks to Zhan Tiri.

Using the Incantation, Rapunzel activities her super-powered mode and is easily able to crush Cassandra, but because of this, Zhan Tiri's portal reopens and is sucked into it. Also, because of the fighting, the moonstone gets cracked and Cassandra falls down, because of the collapsing tower but is saved by the black rocks.

She is last seen at the end of the episode looking at The Enchanted Girl/Zhan Tiri coming out of the portal looking surprised and confused.

Pawn of Zhan Tiri

in the episode "Race to the Spire", Cassandra is first seen at the beginning using a cloak to disguise herself as the original Keeper, asking Calliope where the Mind Trap is, which Calliope gives away that she has the key. Now knowing where it is, Cassandra reveals herself planning on taking the key, but Calliope is able to send it away in an enchanted message to Rapunzel before Cassandra can catch up to her.

She is next seen trying to get the chest open with her black rocks but realizing it's not working, the Enchanted Girl, who Cassandra still doesn't know is Zhan Tiri, says that she has a plan. Which is later revealed that Zhan Tiri will disguise herself as Calliope in order to get information.

After Zhan Tiri gets back, Cassandra shows up demanding Rapunzel give her the key, then "Calliope" reveals herself and tells Cassandra the key is in Rapunzel's bag, but then Cassandra checks it and realizes it's not there, but Zhan Tiri knows Rapunzel's weakness so Cassandra threatens to cut the rope holding Calliope and drop her into a bunch of black rocks. Because of that, they are able to get the key to unlock the chest and get access to the Mind Trap. Cassandra then drops Calliope anyway to distract Rapunzel so they can escape, but Rapunzel is able to catch her fast enough. Then Rapunzel and Eugene get into a fight with Cassandra and Zhan Tiri for the Mind Trap. The battle ends with Rapunzel and Eugene getting the Mind-Trap, but Cassandra threatens to trap Calliope in a lamp in limbo for 10,000 years. So because of this Rapunzel reluctantly gives up the Mind Trap, then Cassandra escapes.

She is last seen at the end of the episode using the Mind Trap to mind control the three members of the brotherhood, but it possibly fails on Quirin.

In the next episode "A Tale of Two Sisters" she heads over to her old cottage after hearing rumors that Gothel's ghost is haunting it. Inside the cottage, she encounters Rapunzel and the two have a fight before accidentally falling into a cave. They work together to deal with the cave animals before ending up in Gothel's mirror room where they discover that not only does Gothel have her own version of the scroll, but also a bunch of mirrors that playback past events, most of which are her talking about the compliments she got.

Later on, Cassandra and Rapunzel discover a mirror in Rapunzel's bag that presumably shows a moment where Gothel seemingly showing some affection for Cassandra. Cassandra becomes enraged at Rapunzel thinking she hid it from her, but what neither knows that Zhan Tiri put the mirror there in order to keep their friendship apart, and it works as Cassandra escapes and leaves Rapunzel for dead.

She is last seen going back to her stronghold believing that Zhan Tiri is right and that Gothel did love her, but what she didn't know is that Zhan Tiri took a piece out that shows that Gothel only did what she did to get Cassandra away from her, showing that she never really loved her daughter at all.

In "Once A Handmaiden", Cassandra starts off the episode walking outside before she realizes something shiny on the ground. She then goes to pick it up which ends up being a broken piece. Cassandra realizes it's the broken piece of the mirror from last time she puts it in the mirror and realizes that her mother really didn't care about her. Cassandra angrily realizes that Zhan Tiri has been tricking her to turn against Rapunzel.

She heads inside her Stronghold to confront Zhan Tiri, who just calmly dismisses what she did. Cassandra then asks for the first time who she is and discovers the Enchanted Girl is Zhan Tiri. Cassandra is horrified but Zhan Tiri tells her that they aren't so different and that they were both cheated out of their destinies. Cassandra refuses to believe she has become a bad guy and runs away with Zhan Tiri taunting her. But after she gets away and sees her wanted poster and becomes ashamed of her actions, and after she reunites with Owl, Cassandra decides to sneak into Corona by using the magic cloak to disguise as Rapunzel's new handmaiden Faith to make things right with Rapunzel.

Cassandra starts to do pretty well trying to reconcile with Rapunzel when disguised as Faith, but later Zhan Tiri approaches Cassandra and starts to taunt her, which causes Cassandra to admit she is scared to Rapunzel won't forgive her. Zhan Tiri then tells Cassandra that Rapunzel has just authorized a weapon to destroy her, leaving out the fact she only did as a last resort. Cassandra refuses to believe her, but Zhan Tiri gives her a potion to protect herself.

Cassandra and Rapunzel are next at the festival when Cassandra's cloak comes off, due to Zhan Tiri's hand. Everyone is shocked and angry so the guards immediately start attacking Cassandra. Rapunzel tries to convince Cassandra to step down and surrender, but due to more of Zhan Tiri's meddling, the weapon ends up firing which convinces Cassandra that Zhan Tiri was right and Rapunzel is her enemy. This makes Cassandra go even further into villainy than she already has, using the black rocks to take over all of Corona and leave it in ruins with only a few escaping.

The episode ends with Cassandra sitting her brand new throne.

Plus Est En Vous

After Cassandra takes over Corona, she destroys items that remind her of her life with Rapunzel. As the eclipse comes close, Zhan Tiri tells her that the Sundrop power in Rapunzel is weakening because of the solar eclipse. As they leave the room, Cassandra traps Zhan Tiri as she still doesn't trust her.

Rapunzel faces off with Cassandra and still tries to reason with her but Cassandra doesn't listen after what happened at the festival.

With the eclipse in full effect, Zhan Tiri steals both the sunstone and the moonstone, rendering both Rapunzel and Cassandra powerless and transforming herself back to her true demon form.

While the Coronas battle Zhan Tiri, Rapunzel, and Cassandra make up soon make up after Cassandra admits that she had let her rage cloud her mind and prevented her from seeing what she really needed. And also Inspired by the phrase in Rapunzel's book "Plus Est En Vous", Cassandra takes the broken piece of the moonstone from their earlier fight and gives it to Rapunzel; giving her just enough energy.

They battle Zhan Tiri, but they are badly outmatched. Just as Zhan Tiiri prepares to finish Rapunzel off, Cass knocks her out from behind with a frying pan. They try to merge the unconscious spirit's hands together, but she recovers and breaks free. Cass tosses a gold shard to Rapunzel, who uses it to cut her hair back short and force her to smash the stones together at the cost of Rapunzel cutting her hair short again. Zhan Tiri is finally destroyed as the black rocks disappear and the stone has now become one.

But Rapunzel finds Cass dead in the explosion. Rapunzel by using the Moonstone and Sundrop combined into the ultimate power is able to use the healing incantation, reviving Cassandra as well as everyone else.

After everything has settled down, Cassandra decides to leave Corona to look for her own destiny and bids farewell to Rapunzel.

---

Rapunzel: Cassandra!

Cassandra: Hey Rapunzel. Just looking for more stuff from my so-called mother to destroy. Oh wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's such an honor to meet you.

Me: Same here Cassandra.

Cassandra: You can call me Cass. It's easier.

Me: Sorry.

Ingrid Third: So, you're Gothel's daughter?

Cassandra: I'm not proud of it.

Me: I'm not surprised. Your mother was a ruthless monster. She kidnapped Rapunzel so she could keep the Grim Reaper away from her.

Grim Reaper: (Jamaican Accent) That woman got what she deserved for cheating me mon.

Me: Yep and we killed your mom. Twice.

Maria: Lola killed your mom the first time.

Elyon: And I killed her the second time by aging her to dust.

Shocker: No, I killed her by blasting her out of that window.

Octopunch: How about this? The next time Gothel shows herself, we'll have one of you two kill her.

Elyon and Shocker: Deal.

Me: Good. But that won't be until sometime next year.

Seaspray: You know, Cassandra. Just because your mom was bad doesn't mean YOU have to be.

Cassandra: True. Thank you all.

We grabbed all of Gothel's spell books and more and we decided to use them for good and more.

---

Later we were watching Dinosaur Documentaries and they were on how dinosaurs like sauropods lived. Aylene was watching and she was shaking in fear. Brain Freezer was with us to comfort and support Aylene. He now has the ability to change into Brain Freezer at will because we gave him a special device that changes him into Brain Freezer.

Me: Aylene, are you feeling all right?

Aylene C.: (Shudders) I'm still scared.

Brain Freezer: I know Aylene. You're still shaken up about what happened with the episode of the Zombie Argentinosaurus from 2020's Primal.

Me: That was really dark. I can't believe that all that would happen to such a gentle giant like an Argentinosaurus.

Eli: I know. It's crazy and scary.

Nunnally: Poor dinosaur.

Littlefoot: Aylene was so scared because of that.

Ducky: And I can't believe that one of my kind would cause it.

Me: Yeah that's awful. But I have a feeling that what we saw went down over in the world of the Land Before Time and we better go check it out.

Nico: Good idea.

Lana: This is gonna be nuts.

Brain Freezer: Maybe I should come with you guys. Aylene could use some support.

Elena Validus: That's a good idea.

Me: Agreed. She's still shaken up after seeing what happened.

Cera: Yeah I would be shaken up too if I saw that.

Nico: Agreed.

Applejack: (Cowboy Accent) Lets head out shall we?

Me: Lets.

Aylene C.: Okay. Here we go. Portal Open!

The Portal to the Land Before Time opened and we went through it.

We were now in the world of 112 million years ago.

Me: Here we are in 112 million B.C.

Nico: Wow. Just as beautiful as I remember.

Guts Man: Well, this place ain't so bad.

Me: It's beautiful.

We were in the Great Valley and it was beautiful.

Me: The Great Valley is more beautiful than ever.

Littlefoot: It sure is.

Chomper: Yeah.

Lincoln: Been a while since we were here though.

Lola: I sense trouble brewing over in that area.

Lola pointed to a hidden grove behind a bunch of hills in the valley and we went to it.

Littlefoot: I know this grove. It's home to a huge herd of longnecks that live in peace.

Me: Lets go see.

We went into the grove and then when we got there we were greeted by an extremely horrible and gruesome sight! We saw all the Argentinosaurus brutally and viciously slaughtered! They were ripped apart, disemboweled and mutilated! Blood was splattered everywhere and more.

Me: OH MY GOD!

Nico: What happened here!?

Vince: Looks like a herd of Tyrannosaurus did this.

Me: No this was not the work of a herd of tyrannosaurus. They would've eaten these dinosaurs to the bone completely.

Vince: You're right.

Nico: This is horrible.

Gine: What in the world could've caused all this?

We went into the grove to investigate.

Sissi Delmas: (Scared) I'm not gonna freak out. I'm not gonna freak out.

I put my hand on Sissi's shoulder.

Me: You'll be safe with us Sissi.

We heard a rumble.

Bleez: What was that?

Me: I've got a really bad feeling about this.

Nico: Me too.

We walked around and saw a bunch of nests and most of them had crushed Dinosaur Eggs and some of them survived.

Lincoln: Some of the eggs are okay.

Ducky: That's a relief.

Littlefoot: It sure is.

I wiped some of the blood from one of the dinosaurs with my finger.

Me: Hmm. These killings are still fresh. They probably happened a little over 15 minutes ago.

Laney: Just what I was thinking.

Kitten: (sees the Zombie Parasaurolophus) Oh my God! That's disgusting! (vomits)

We went over and we saw the carcass of a dead zombie parasaurolophus.

Me: What in the world!?

The hadrosaur's appearance looks zombie-like due to being described of having a sickly green colored body, crazed dark orange eyes, and parts of its body melting off from its skin which exposes the bones. All of its features are a result of a deadly virus it has contracted.

---

Red Lantern Ratchet: That's the Zombie Parasaurolophus?!

I wiped my finger on its blood that came out of its mouth.

Me: Hmm. Yeah. This guy died about less than an hour ago.

Lisa took a sample of the blood and its skin and analyzed it.

She looked through a microscope and she saw a virus that was destroying the cellular structure of the skin and the blood.

Lisa: This appears to be a supervirus that is causing all this. It's a zomibification virus that destroys the organs and liquifies them and then it attacks the hosts brain and makes them completely feral and bloodthirsty.

Me: Geez!

Nico: That is horrible!

Lincoln: I think I saw something like this before.

Shaun: Me too.

I looked inside the carcass of the Zombie Parasaurolophus and saw that all the organs were totally gone. It was an empty carcass.

Me: The organs are gone.

Lori then threw up all over the place.

Bobby comforted her.

But then we heard a noise and we then saw a caveman and another tyrannosaurus. It was Spear and Fang.

Spear: Look like we not only ones here.

Lana: Wow. A Caveman and another Tyrannosaurus.

Fang: My name is fang.

Spear: Me Spear.

Me: Pleasure to meet you both. We got word here about this. This is a nightmare.

Spear: You ones who destroyed Sharptooth?

Aylene C.: That's right.

Spear: Pleasure to meet heroes.

Me: Same here Spear.

Syd Chang: This is awesome meeting you!

Adelaide: I love learning so much about dinosaurs as much as animals too.

Becca Chang: This is amazing though.

Spear: Glad you enjoy.

But then we heard another noise behind us and we saw mucus dripping down behind us and we turned and we saw a longneck looking at us all with evil red eyes. It was the ZOMBIE ARGENTINOSAURUS!

The Zombie Argentinosaurus is the main antagonist of "Plague of Madness", the seventh episode of Primal .

Prior to its infection, the Argentinosaurus was a bluish-green color, but upon infection, it became a yellowish-green color and orange crazed eyes. As the virus progressed it's flesh melted off part of its body, revealing bone underneath.

Biography

Once a peaceful herbivore, the sauropod spotted a zombified Parasaurolophus. Not seeing it as a threat the sauropod ignored it but got bitten by the infected hadrosaur. Alarmed, the Argentinosaurus kicked the hadrosaur into a tree where it died for good. But the virus has already passed to the Argentinosaur, making it deadly ill as mucus ran from its mouth and nose.

The now sickly sauropod walked to the watering hole and drank deeply, gazing at its reflection in the water before proceeding to vomit up blood. The herd looked in fear as the sick sauropod flew into a panicked rage, thrashing wildly as the virus completely took over its body. No longer in control of its own actions and rendered as little more than a savage, brutal and rabid beast, the sauropod turned on its own herd, smashing nests filled with eggs and killing any herd member in its way, in spite of members of the herd attempting to stop its rampage. Before long, the entire herd was killed.

As Spear and Fang find the killed herd, the now zombified sauropod starts chasing them through the woods. Soon the sauropod falls down a cliff while running, seemingly killing it, but in reality, simply knocking it unconscious. It reawakens and continues to chase Spear and Fang, who had spent an entire night waiting to see if it was dead.

After being trapped in a narrow ravine, the sauropod relentlessly tried to free itself as Spear and Fang and as it finally frees itself, though tearing off a large chunk of flesh from his body. But its own heavyweight became it's own downfall as the volcanic field's crust cracked open and it fell into the lava and burned up. As it let out its final roars of agony, it burns into ashes as Fang and Spear watched.

RRRRRROOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOAAAAAAAAAAAA

Me: THE ZOMBIE ARGENTINOSAURUS!

Aylene screamed in fear and her hair stood up in fright!

Laney then held the Zombie Argentinosaurus with her plants.

Laney: (Grunts) He's strong!

Me: Keep away from him guys. He has a good reach too.

Lincoln: Right!

But then Technus, Rich Texan, Heat Wave, Dark Laser, Number 7 and Living Laser appeared.

Me: Technus, Rich Texan, Heat Wave, Dark Laser, Number 7 and Living Laser.

Heat Wave: It sure is.

William: Be honest. Are you guys freaked out about this?

Technus: Of course we are!

Rich Texan: Who wouldn't? After all, they're zombies!

Heat Wave: But if you want them incinerated, I can help with that after the usual battles are done.

Me: Okay.

Laney: I'll hold the Zombie Argentinosaurus with my plant powers for as long as I can while we do the battles!

Me: Good idea.

Becky: Nice idea Laney!

?: Let me join in too.

A figure came out and it was FALKAR from episodes 13, 14, 15 and 16 of Lightspeed Rescue!

Diabolico released three most powerful monsters to help him defeat the Lightspeed Rangers. They were known as Troika demons. Then he sent them to the Mariner Bay. Falkar and his comrades took great pleasure in destroying the Power Rangers. Their first plan was to use explosive, harmless looking feathers to destroy the city by luring the children into playing with them. Upon reaching the hill, they created unique feathers from their wings and unleashed them on the city. Soon their presence was revealed by Rangers and the heroes arrived. In the first battle with rangers, Falkar fought Carter and Chad and easily defeated them using his great speed and agility. Then the villains revealed that their feathers were actually explosives that would detonate in dark areas and every feather would destroy the city at sunset. Rangers continued the fight, but still were no match for Diabolico's most powerful minions. As sunset neared, rangers fell back with the villains in pursuit. The Rangers tried to use the Rescue Bird against them, but the monsters reflected the blast at the heroes, heavily injuring them. Soon the rangers were surrounded by explosive feathers and were too damaged to escape, leaving the demons to enjoy their fate. At sunset, the feathers exploded one by one, sending the rangers crashing through the wall of the warehouse. Unable to fight anymore, the Rangers were left at the mercy of the three demons, but Ryan arrived to aid his friends. Though Falkar battled Ryan, he and his comrades were defeated and retreated, promising to return.

Then they returned and again clashed with the Rangers. Diabolico gave their leader Demonite a card capable of creating a clone of himself. In the battle, Demonite used the card to create a clone of himself, connected to him, who fought Ryan, while main team of heroes fought the evil demons. The Demonite clone even redirected the shots of V-Lancers. Falkar and Thunderon witnessed as Carter threatened to destroy Demonite with the V-Lancer and Rescue Bird: Unilaser, if he wouldn't call out his clone. However, as Demonite attacked, Carter pulled the trigger, destroying Demonite and nearly himself. Falkar and Thunderon watched how the revived and gigantic Demonite was defeated by Lightspeed Megazord and Supertrain Megazord before retreating.

Later, Falkar and Thunderon returned and again battled the heroes on a factory. During the fight, Dana and Kelsey used their powers to bury Falkar in rubble. Even without Demonite they were able to easily defeat the rangers. However, they used moment of ceasefire to destroy Thunderon with Spectra Blast. Thunderon was revived by Diabolico and fought Supertrain Megazord. Falkar made his way out of the rubble and cowardly stood and watched how Thunderon fights. He was found by Diabolico, who asked if he'd like to join the battle. Falkar declined stating that he'd like to see how Thunderon does first, but Diabolico stated that he insists and tossed his growth card at Falkar's back, causing him to grow into his giant advanced form where he takes on a draconic appearance. However, they were both eventually defeated by Supertrain Megazord and Ryan's Max Solarzord.

Converted into a crystal form by Diabolico, Falkar is soon combined with his fellow monsters to create the monster amalgamation known as Troika. Diabolico arrived to Mariner Bay and briefly encountered the rangers. Then he activated the crystals and fused the essences of Demonite, Thunderon and Falkar into the new ultimate demon Troika. With all powers of three demons at his disposal, Troika easily defeated the rangers, forcing them to retreat. Then he attacked and ambushed the centre of Mariner Bay, to draw out the Power Rangers. They arrived but again couldn't take down the monster. So without other options, heroes activated their last weapon - the Battle Booster. With the Battle Booster, the Rangers' strength were highly increased and they were able to finally defeat Troika, putting the end to Diabolico's demons.

Dana Mitchell: Falkar!

Falkar: Been a while rangers.

Me: I remember you! You're the second most powerful member of Diabolico's most powerful minions. We already took down Thunderon a while back.

Falkar: So I have heard. Vypra was right about you J.D. You do have an amazing memory.

Me: Yeah.

Dana Mitchell: You're not freaked about the zombie dinosaurs?

Falkar: I'm a demon, Pink Ranger. I've seen stuff a lot worse than zombie dinosaurs.

Me: I agree with you. The Necromorphs are more terrifying than this.

Twilight Sparkle: What are the Necromorphs?

Me: That was a nightmare the likes of which we have never seen or experienced. It was horror on a grand scale.

I went over everything that happened during the events of Terror of The Necromorphs and it was horrifying.

Sunset Shimmer: Whoa! That is a nightmare on steroids!

Applejack: A nightmare times ∞!

Nico: It sure was.

Kate Lloyd: Yeah. It was one that was filled with evil, insanity and death.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Living Laser: Whoa. That's insane. Awful.

Me: Lets get it on shall we?

Rich Texan: Lets do it! YEEHAW!

Applejack: Always respect a fellow member of the Texas Community.

Rich Texan: Much obliged Applejack.

Me: Spear and Fang, you are in for quite a show.

We went at them.

Battle 1: Living Laser

Megan McAllister, Sissi Delma and Pacifica Northwest were facing Living Laser.

Megan McAllister: This is the very same type of dinosaur that scared the living crud out of Aylene and she was scarred because of it.

Living Laser: I remember seeing that episode of Primal. That was awful that a sweet and gentle giant like an Argentinosaurus can turn into a savage zombie monster.

Sissi: I know. Lori and Kitten were hurling their guts out at the sight of all this.

Pacifica: Yeah.

Living Laser: I don't blame them. Lets dance.

Living Laser called out his Pokemon and Megan, Sissi and Pacifica fired blasts of stars, fire and light and the blasts hit them and knocked them down.

Megan: Good fight.

Battle 2: Technus

Cyborg, Generator Rex Circe and Elena Validus were facing Technus.

Technus: This was gross huh?

Cyborg: It sure was. I can't believe that this all happened to a herd of amazing dinosaurs like this.

Circe: Yeah.

Elena V.: It's horrible.

Technus: I know. But lets get it on.

Technus called out his Pokemon and Cyborg, Circe and Elena fired blasts of sonic energy and the blasts hit Technus and his Pokemon and knocked them down.

Cyborg: Boo-yah!

Battle 3: Dark Laser

Sabrina Mason, Kitten and Jinx were facing Dark Laser. Kitten was hurling her guts out all over the place.

Dark Laser: Ew! Kitten I think you should sit this one out.

Jinx: I agree.

Kitten: Good idea. (VOMIT)

Sabrina Mason: Sorry Kitten but you are in no condition to face Dark Laser. I'll face him.

Kitten: (Vomits) Okay.

Jinx: I'll stay with her to keep her company.

Dark Laser: Okay.

(Duel of the Fates Plays)

Dark Laser called out his Pokemon and Sabrina ignited her lightsaber and they went at each other and clashed powerfully and sparks were flying all over the place and they fired blasts of Force

Lightning and the blasts collided and sent Lightning all over the place and more and they were clashing all over and really going at each other. Sabrina fired blasts of lightning and the blasts hit Dark Laser and his Pokemon and knocked them down.

Dark Laser: The Force of Light wins.

Battle 4: Rich Texan

---

Becky, Bleez and Frightwig were facing Rich Texan.

Becky: You get more barrels of oil?

Rich Texan: Yep I sure did little lady.

Bleez: Oil is worth its weight in gold.

Frightwig: They don't call it Texas Tea for nothing.

Rich Texan: Ain't that the truth. Lets do it!

Rich Texan called out his Pokemon and they fired waves of plants, rage energy and Frightwig's hair balls and they smashed into Rich Texan and knocked him and his Pokemon down.

Becky: Good victory.

Battle 5: Number 7

---

Ed/Edzilla, Stone Man and Guts Man were facing Number 7.

Ed: This is gonna be fun. I figure why not face you as regular Ed.

Number 7: Are you sure that's a good idea?

Ed: I can handle it.

Stone Man: Lets do it.

Guts Man: Yeah!

Number 7: All right then.

Number 7 called out her Pokemon and they fired blasts of earth and energy and Guts Man threw a rock and they smashed them all over and knocked them down.

Number 7: Wow. Impressive.

Ed: Thank you. Good battle.

Battle 6: Heat Wave

Taranee Cook, Zilius Zox and Red Lantern Ratchet were facing Heat Wave.

Taranee: Have you ever watched that show from 2020 called Primal?

Heat Wave: I sure have. The scariest episode was the Zombie Argentinosaurus Episode like the one we're facing now.

Zilius Zox: Yeah it was awful. That dinosaurs was turned into a rabid feral zombie because of a virus that destroyed its mind and body.

Red Lantern Ratchet: Awful.

Heat Wave: I know. Lets dance.

Heat Wave called out his Pokemon and they fired blasts of fire and Red Lantern energy and the blasts hit them and knocked them down.

Taranee: Great battle.

Battle 7: Falkar

---

I was facing Falkar.

Me: I remember your feather bombs and they were powerful.

Falkar: Indeed. Want to see them in action?

He threw a bunch of feather bombs and they hit me and exploded all over.

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMM! KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

The explosions were fiery and huge. When the smoke cleared I was totally unscathed.

Me: That tickled. But nice try. My turn.

I fired waves of energy and fire and they hit Falkar all over the place and then he fell down and exploded!

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Me: In the words of Nico, Falkar you have failed this world.

Battle 8: ZOMBIE ARGENTINOSAURUS!

---

We regrouped and we were facing the Zombie Argentinosaurus!

Me: This dinosaur has to be put out of its misery!

Emma: The best thing to do is put this poor dinosaur back to rest.

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Turbo!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Turbo Rangers.

Me: We have to incinerate it. It's the only way we can kill it.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome!

I fired a massive blast of fire and Nico, Bloom, Heat Wave, Taranee, Lea, Lola, Francis, Suzi, Paige, Naruto, Roshi, Sam S.L., Pakura, Emma Gale, Zuko, Nuova Shenron, Azula, Torch Man, Fire Man, Heat Man, Volcana, Ronnie Anne, Zach, Burner Man and Ino fired massive blasts of fire and they hit the Zombie Argentinosaurus and it roared in excruciating pain as it was being burned all over with intense fire and more. Kileron, Kopond, Aimukk, H'earring, and Fassh fired waves of fire and energy and the Megaforce Rangers blasted the Zombie Argentinosaurus all over the place.

Me: Time to use our techniques!

Aylene then saw us fight the monster.

Aylene: I'm through being scared!

Aylene then flew at the Zombie Dinosaur.

Brain Freezer: GO AYLENE!

Eli: Lets do it! EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TYRANNOSAURUS REX!

Eli fired a wave of earth by punching the ground and it formed into the meanest dinosaur that ever lived from 68 million years ago: Tyrannosaurus Rex!

---

Tyrannosaurus is a genus of coelurosaurian theropod dinosaur. The species Tyrannosaurus rex, often called T. rex or colloquially T-Rex, is one of the most well-represented of the large theropods. Tyrannosaurus lived throughout what is now western North America, on what was then an island continent known as Laramidia.

Tyrannosaurus had a much wider range than other tyrannosaurids. Fossils are found in a variety of rock formations dating to the Maastrichtian age of the upper Cretaceous period, 68 to 66 million years ago. It was the last known member of the tyrannosaurids, and among the last non-avian dinosaurs to exist before the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event.

Like other tyrannosaurids, Tyrannosaurus was a bipedal carnivore with a massive skull balanced by a long, heavy tail. Relative to its large and powerful hind limbs, Tyrannosaurus forelimbs were short but unusually powerful for their size and had two clawed digits. The most complete specimen measures up to 12.3 meters (40 feet) in length though T. rex could grow to lengths of over 12.3 m (40 ft), up to 3.66 m (12 ft) tall at the hips, and according to most modern estimates 8.4 metric tons (9.3 short tons) to 14 metric tons (15.4 short tons) in weight. Although other theropods rivaled or exceeded Tyrannosaurus rex in size, it is still among the largest known land predators and is estimated to have exerted the strongest bite force among all terrestrial animals. By far the largest carnivore in its environment, Tyrannosaurus rex was most likely an apex predator, preying upon hadrosaurs, armored herbivores like ceratopsians and ankylosaurs, and possibly sauropods. Some experts have suggested the dinosaur was primarily a scavenger. The question of whether Tyrannosaurus was an apex predator or a pure scavenger was among the longest debates in paleontology. Most paleontologists today accept that Tyrannosaurus was both an active predator and a scavenger.

Hunter: (German Accent) INFERNO STYLE NINJA ART: SPINOSAURUS!

Hunter fired a wave of black fire and it formed into the largest and meanest carnivorous dinosaur that ever lived from 112 million years ago in Egypt: Spinosaurus!

Spinosaurus (meaning "spine lizard") is a genus of spinosaurid dinosaur that lived in what now is North Africa during the upper

Albian to upper Turonian stages of the Cretaceous period, about 112 to 93.5 million years ago. This genus was known first from Egyptian remains discovered in 1912 and described by German paleontologist Ernst Stromer in 1915. The original remains were destroyed in World War II, but additional material has come to light in the early 21st century. It is unclear whether one or two species are represented in the fossils reported in the scientific literature. The best known species is S. aegyptiacus from Egypt, although a potential second species, S. maroccanus, has been recovered from Morocco. The contemporary spinosaurid genus Sigilmassasaurus has also been synonymized by some authors with S. aegyptiacus, though other researchers propose it to be a distinct taxon. Another possible junior synonym is Oxalaia from the Alcântara Formation in Brazil.

Spinosaurus was among the largest of all known carnivorous dinosaurs, nearly as large as or even larger than other theropods such as Tyrannosaurus, Giganotosaurus and Carcharodontosaurus. Estimates published in 2005, 2007, and 2008 suggested that it was between 12.6 to 18 meters (41 to 59 ft) in length and 7 to 20.9 metric tons (7.7 to 23.0 short tons) in weight. New estimates published in 2014 and 2018, based on a more complete specimen, supported the earlier research, finding that Spinosaurus could reach lengths of 15 to 16 meters (49 to 52 ft). The latest estimates suggest a weight of 6.4 to 7.5 metric tons (7.1 to 8.3 short tons). The skull of Spinosaurus was long, low and narrow, similar to that of a modern crocodilian, and bore straight conical teeth with no serrations. It would have had large, robust forelimbs bearing three-fingered hands, with an enlarged claw on the first digit. The distinctive neural spines of Spinosaurus, which were long extensions of the vertebrae (or backbones), grew to at least 1.65 meters (5.4 ft) long and were likely to have had skin connecting them, forming a sail-like structure, although some authors[who?] have suggested that the spines were covered in fat and formed a hump. Spinosaurus's hip bones were reduced, and the legs were very short in proportion to the body. Its long and narrow tail was deepened by tall, thin neural spines and elongated chevrons, forming a flexible fin or paddle-like structure.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: WOOLLY MAMMOTH!

Axel fired a wave of ice and it formed into the famous and widely known ancestral elephants from 800,000 years ago: The Woolly Mammoth.

---

The woolly mammoth (Mammuthus primigenius) is an extinct species of mammoth that lived during the Pleistocene until its extinction in the Holocene epoch. It was one of the last in a line of mammoth species, beginning with Mammuthus subplanifrons in the early Pliocene. The woolly mammoth began to diverge from the steppe mammoth about 800,000 years ago in East Asia. Its closest extant relative is the Asian elephant. The appearance and behaviour of this species are among the best studied of any prehistoric animal because of the discovery of frozen carcasses in Siberia and Alaska, as well as skeletons, teeth, stomach contents, dung, and depiction from life in prehistoric cave paintings. Mammoth remains had long been known in Asia before they became known to Europeans in the 17th century. The origin of these remains was long a matter of debate, and often explained as being remains of legendary creatures. The mammoth was identified as an extinct species of elephant by Georges Cuvier in 1796.

The woolly mammoth was roughly the same size as modern African elephants. Males reached shoulder heights between 2.7 and 3.4 m (8.9 and 11.2 ft) and weighed up to 6 metric tons (6.6 short tons). Females reached 2.6-2.9 m (8.5-9.5 ft) in shoulder heights and weighed up to 4 metric tons (4.4 short tons). A newborn calf weighed about 90 kg (200 lb). The woolly mammoth was well adapted to the cold environment during the last ice age. It was covered in fur, with an outer covering of long guard hairs and a shorter undercoat. The colour of the coat varied from dark to light. The ears and tail were short to minimise frostbite and heat loss. It had long, curved tusks and four molars, which were replaced six times during the lifetime of an individual. Its behaviour was similar to that of modern elephants, and it used its tusks and trunk for manipulating objects, fighting, and foraging. The diet of the woolly mammoth was mainly grasses and sedges. Individuals could probably reach the age of 60. Its habitat was the mammoth steppe, which stretched across northern Eurasia and North America.

The woolly mammoth coexisted with early humans, who used its bones and tusks for making art, tools, and dwellings, and the species was also hunted for food. It disappeared from its mainland range at the end of the Pleistocene 10,000 years ago. Isolated populations survived on St. Paul Island until 5,600 years ago and on Wrangel Island until 4,000 years ago. After its extinction, humans continued using its ivory as a raw material, a tradition that continues today. With a genome project for the mammoth completed in 2015, it has been proposed the species could be revived through various means, but none of the methods proposed are yet feasible.

Dana: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: SABER-TOOTH CAT!

Dana fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ancestral cats of 42 million years ago: The Saber-Toothed Cats!

---

A saber-toothed cat (alternatively spelled sabre-toothed cat) is any member of various extinct groups of predatory mammals that are characterized by long, curved saber-shaped canine teeth which protruded from the mouth even when closed. The saber-toothed cats have been found almost worldwide from the Eocene epoch to the end of the Pleistocene epoch 42 million years ago (mya) - 11,000 years ago (kya). The first saber-toothed cat fossil in Canada was found in Medicine Hat, Alberta.

One of the best-known genera is Smilodon, species of which, especially S. fatalis, are popularly, but incorrectly, referred to as "saber-toothed tigers". However, usage of the word cat is in some cases a misnomer, as many species referred to as saber-toothed "cats" are not closely related to modern cats (Felidae). Instead, many are members are classified into different families of Feliformia, such as Barbourofelidae and Nimravidae; the oxyaenid "creodont" genera Machaeroides and Apataelurus; and two extinct lineages of metatherian mammals, the thylacosmilids of Sparassodonta, and deltatheroideans, which are more closely related to marsupials. In this regard, saber-toothed cats can be viewed as examples of convergent evolution. This convergence is remarkable due not only to the development of elongated canines, but also a suite of other characteristics, such as a wide gape and bulky forelimbs, which is so consistent that it has been termed the "saber-tooth suite."

Of the feliform lineages, the family Nimravidae is the oldest, entering the landscape around 42 mya and becoming extinct by 7.2 mya. Barbourofelidae entered around 16.9 mya and were extinct by 9 mya. These two would have shared some habitats.

Lana: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: WOOLLY RHINOCEROS!

Lana fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Ice Age ancestors of modern day Rhinoceroses from 3.6 Million years ago: The Woolly Rhinoceros!

---

The woolly rhinoceros (Coelodonta antiquitatis) is an extinct species of rhinoceros that was common throughout Europe and northern Asia during the Pleistocene epoch and survived until the end of the last glacial period. The woolly rhinoceros was a member of the Pleistocene megafauna.

The woolly rhinoceros was covered with thick and long hair, which allowed it to survive in the extremely cold, harsh mammoth steppe. It also had a massive hump reaching from its shoulder. It fed mainly on herbaceous plants that grew in the steppe.

Mummified carcasses preserved in permafrost and many bone remains of woolly rhinoceroses have been found. Images of woolly rhinoceroses are found among cave paintings in Europe and Asia.

Killer Frost: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: IRISH ELK!

Killer Frost fired a wave of ice and it formed into the largest deer ever known that lived 2.5 million years ago: The Irish Elk.

---

The Irish elk (Megaloceros giganteus) also called the giant deer or Irish deer, is an extinct species of deer in the genus Megaloceros and is one of the largest deer that ever lived. Its range extended across Eurasia during the Pleistocene, from Ireland to Lake Baikal in Siberia. The most recent remains of the species have been carbon dated to about 7,700 years ago in Siberia.

Although abundant skeletal remains have been found in bogs in Ireland, the animal was not exclusive to Ireland nor closely related to either of the living species currently called elk: Alces alces (the European elk, known in North America as the moose) or Cervus canadensis (the North American elk or wapiti). For this reason, the name "giant deer" is used in some publications, instead of "Irish elk". Although one study suggested that the Irish elk was closely related to the red deer (Cervus elaphus), most other phylogenetic analyses support that their closest living relatives are fallow deer (Dama dama).

Maggie: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: SHORT-FACED BEAR!

Maggie fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Ice Age bear from 1.8 million years ago: The Short-Faced Bear.

---

The short-faced bear (Arctodus sp.) is an extinct bear genus that inhabited North America during the Pleistocene epoch from about 1.8 Mya until 11,000 years ago. It was the most common early North American bear and was most abundant in California. There are two recognized species: the lesser short-faced bear (Arctodus pristinus) and the giant short-faced bear (Arctodus simus), with the latter considered to be one of the largest known terrestrial mammalian carnivores that has ever existed. It has been hypothesized that their extinction coincides with the Younger Dryas period of global cooling commencing around 10,900 BC.

Khalyaka: (India Accent) EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TARBOSAURUS BABAAR!

Khalyaka fired a wave of earth and it formed into the terrible theropod of 70 million years ago: Tarbosaurus!

---

Tarbosaurus (meaning "alarming lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid theropod dinosaur that flourished in Asia about 70 million years ago, at the end of the Late Cretaceous Period, considered to contain a single known species, Tarbosaurus bataar. Fossils have been recovered in Mongolia, with more fragmentary remains found further afield in parts of China.

Although many species have been named, modern paleontologists recognize only one, T. bataar, as valid. Some experts see this species as an Asian representative of the North American genus Tyrannosaurus; this would make the genus Tarbosaurus redundant. Tarbosaurus and Tyrannosaurus, if not synonymous, are considered to be at least closely related genera. Alioramus, also from Mongolia, has previously been thought by some authorities to be the closest relative of Tarbosaurus, though this has since been disproven with the discovery of Qianzhousaurus and the description of the Alioramini.

Like most known tyrannosaurids, Tarbosaurus was a large bipedal predator, weighing up to 5 metric tons (5.5 short tons) and equipped with about sixty large teeth. It had a unique locking mechanism in its lower jaw and the smallest forelimbs relative to body size of all tyrannosaurids, renowned for their disproportionately tiny, two-fingered forelimbs.

Tarbosaurus lived in a humid floodplain criss-crossed by river channels. In this environment, it was an apex predator, probably preying on other large dinosaurs like the hadrosaur Saurolophus or the sauropod Nemegtosaurus. Tarbosaurus is represented by dozens of fossil specimens, including several complete skulls and skeletons. These remains have allowed scientific studies focusing on its phylogeny, skull mechanics, and brain structure.

Lynn: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: APATOSAURUS!

Lynn fired a wave of Earth and it formed into the famous sauropod from 158 million years ago: Apatosaurus!

Apatosaurus is a genus of herbivorous sauropod dinosaur that lived in North America during the Late Jurassic period. Othniel Charles Marsh described and named the first-known species, A. ajax, in 1877, and a second species, A. louisae, was discovered and named by William H. Holland in 1916. Apatosaurus lived about 152 to 151 million years ago (mya), during the late Kimmeridgian to early Tithonian age, and are now known from fossils in the Morrison Formation of modern-day Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Wyoming, and Utah in the United States. Apatosaurus had an average length of 21-22.8 m (69-75 ft), and an average mass of 16.4-22.4 t (16.1-22.0 long tons; 18.1-24.7 short tons). A few specimens indicate a maximum length of 11-30% greater than average and a mass of 32.7-72.6 t (32.2-71.5 long tons; 36.0-80.0 short tons).

The cervical vertebrae of Apatosaurus are less elongated and more heavily constructed than those of Diplodocus, a diplodocid like Apatosaurus, and the bones of the leg are much stockier despite being longer, implying that Apatosaurus was a more robust animal. The tail was held above the ground during normal locomotion. Apatosaurus had a single claw on each forelimb and three on each hindlimb. The Apatosaurus skull, long thought to be similar to Camarasaurus, is much more similar to that of Diplodocus. Apatosaurus was a generalized browser that likely held its head elevated. To lighten its vertebrae, Apatosaurus had air sacs that made the bones internally full of holes. Like that of other diplodocids, its tail may have been used as a whip to create loud noises.

The skull of Apatosaurus was confused with that of Camarasaurus and Brachiosaurus until 1909, when the holotype of A. louisae was found, and a complete skull just a few meters away from the front of the neck. Henry Fairfield Osborn disagreed with this association, and went on to mount a skeleton of Apatosaurus with a Camarasaurus skull cast. Apatosaurus skeletons were mounted with speculative skull casts until 1970, when McIntosh showed that more robust skulls assigned to Diplodocus were more likely from Apatosaurus.

Apatosaurus is a genus in the family Diplodocidae. It is one of the more basal genera, with only Amphicoelias and possibly a new, unnamed genus more primitive. While the subfamily Apatosaurinae was named in 1929, the group was not used validly until an extensive 2015 study. Only Brontosaurus is also in the subfamily, with the other genera being considered synonyms or reclassified as diplodocines. Brontosaurus has long been considered a junior synonym of Apatosaurus; its type species was reclassified as A. excelsus in 1903. A 2015 study concluded that Brontosaurus is a valid genus of sauropod distinct from Apatosaurus, but not all paleontologists agree with this division. As it existed in North America during the late Jurassic, Apatosaurus would have lived alongside dinosaurs such as Allosaurus, Camarasaurus, Diplodocus, and Stegosaurus.

Laney: FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: DIPLODOCUS!

Laney fired a wave of trees and leaves and it formed into the famous sauropod from 154 million years ago: Diplodocus!

Diplodocus is a genus of diplodocid sauropod dinosaurs whose fossils were first discovered in 1877 by S. W. Williston. The generic name, coined by Othniel Charles Marsh in 1878, is a neo-Latin term derived from Greek διπλός (diplos) "double" and δοκός (dokos) "beam", in reference to the double-beamed chevron bones located in the underside of the tail, which were then considered unique.

This genus of dinosaurs lived in what is now mid-western North America at the end of the Jurassic period. It is one of the more common dinosaur fossils found in the middle to upper Morrison Formation, between about 154 and 152 million years ago, during the late Kimmeridgian age. The Morrison Formation records an environment and time dominated by gigantic sauropod dinosaurs, such as Apatosaurus, Barosaurus, Brachiosaurus, Brontosaurus, and Camarasaurus. Its great size may have been a deterrent to the predators Allosaurus and Ceratosaurus: their remains have been found in the same strata, which suggests that they coexisted with Diplodocus.

Diplodocus is among the most easily identifiable dinosaurs, with its typical sauropod shape, long neck and tail, and four sturdy legs. For many years, it was the longest dinosaur known.

May: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: LEAELLYNASAURA!

May fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Australian dinosaur from 118 million years ago: Leaellynasaura!

---

Leaellynasaura is a genus of small herbivorous ornithischian dinosaurs from the Albian stage of the Early Cretaceous (dated to between 118 and 110 million years ago), first discovered in Dinosaur Cove, Australia. The only known species is Leaellynasaura amicagraphica. It was described in 1989, and named after Leaellyn Rich, the daughter of the Australian palaeontologist couple Tom Rich and Patricia Vickers-Rich who discovered it. The specific name, amicagraphica, translates to "friend writing" and honours both the Friends of the Museum of Victoria and the National Geographic Society for their support of Australian paleontology.

Lori: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: ALLOSAURUS!

Lori fired a wave of wind and it formed into the vicious theropod from 155 million years ago: Allosaurus!

Allosaurus is a genus of carnivorous theropod dinosaur that lived

155 to 145 million years ago during the late Jurassic period (Kimmeridgian to late Tithonian). The name "Allosaurus" means "different lizard" alluding to its unique concave vertebrae (at the time of its discovery). It is derived from the Greek ἄλλος (allos) ("different, other") and σαῦρος (sauros) ("lizard / generic reptile"). The first fossil remains that could definitively be ascribed to this genus were described in 1877 by paleontologist Othniel Charles Marsh. As one of the first well-known theropod dinosaurs, it has long attracted attention outside of paleontological circles.

Allosaurus was a large bipedal predator. Its skull was large and equipped with dozens of sharp, serrated teeth. It averaged 9.5 meters (31 ft) in length, though fragmentary remains suggest it could have reached over 12 m (39 ft). Relative to the large and powerful hindlimbs, its three-fingered forelimbs were small, and the body was balanced by a long and heavily muscled tail. It is classified as an allosaurid, a type of carnosaurian theropod dinosaur. The genus has a complicated taxonomy, and includes three valid species, the best known of which is A. fragilis. The bulk of Allosaurus remains have come from North America's Morrison Formation, with material also known from Portugal. It was known for over half of the 20th century as Antrodemus, but a study of the copious remains from the Cleveland-Lloyd Dinosaur Quarry brought the name "Allosaurus" back to prominence and established it as one of the best-known dinosaurs.

As the most abundant large predator in the Morrison Formation, Allosaurus was at the top of the food chain, probably preying on contemporaneous large herbivorous dinosaurs, and perhaps other predators. Potential prey included ornithopods, stegosaurids, and sauropods. Some paleontologists interpret Allosaurus as having had cooperative social behavior, and hunting in packs, while others believe individuals may have been aggressive toward each other, and that congregations of this genus are the result of lone individuals feeding on the same carcasses.

Leni: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: OMEISAURUS!

Leni fired a wave of water and it formed into one of the largest dinosaurs from 173 million years ago: Omeisaurus!

---

Omeisaurus (meaning "Omei lizard") is a genus of sauropod dinosaur from the Middle Jurassic Period (Bathonian-Callovian stage) of what is now China. Its name comes from Mount Emei, where it was discovered in the lower Shaximiao Formation of Sichuan Province.

Like other sauropods, Omeisaurus was herbivorous and large. It measured 20.2 metres (66 ft) long, and weighed 9.8 tonnes.

---

Luna: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: SUCHOMIMUS!

Luna fired a wave of water and it formed into the ferocious spinosaurid dinosaur from 125 million years ago: Suchomimus!

Suchomimus (meaning "crocodile mimic") is a genus of spinosaurid dinosaur that lived between 125 and 112 million years ago in what is now Niger, during the Aptian to early Albian stages of the Early Cretaceous period. The animal was named and described by palaeontologist Paul Sereno and colleagues in 1998, based on a partial skeleton from the Erlhaz Formation. Suchomimus's long and shallow skull, similar to that of a crocodile, earns it its generic name, while the specific name Suchomimus tenerensis alludes to the locality of its first remains, the Ténéré Desert.

Suchomimus was 9.5 to 11 metres (31 to 36 feet) long and weighed between 2.5 to 5.2 tonnes (2.8 to 5.7 short tons), although the holotype specimen may not have been fully grown. Suchomimus's narrow skull was perched on a short neck, and its forelimbs were powerfully built, bearing a giant claw on each thumb. Along the midline of the animal's back ran a low dorsal sail, built from the long neural spines of its vertebrae. Like other spinosaurids, it likely had a diet of fish and small prey animals.

Some palaeontologists consider the animal to be an African species of the European spinosaurid Baryonyx, B. tenerensis. Suchomimus might also be a junior synonym of the contemporaneous spinosaurid Cristatusaurus lapparenti, although the latter taxon is based on much more fragmentary remains. Suchomimus lived in a fluvial environment of vast floodplains alongside many other dinosaurs, in addition to pterosaurs, crocodylomorphs, fish, turtles, and bivalves.

Stella: SCORCH STYLE NINJA ART: OURANOSAURUS!

Stella fired a wave of fire and it formed into the Iguanodont from 100 million years ago: Ouranosaurus.

Ouranosaurus is a genus of herbivorous iguanodont dinosaur that lived during the Aptian stage of the Early Cretaceous of modern-day Niger. Ouranosaurus measured about 7 to 8.3 metres (23 to 27 ft) long. Two rather complete fossils were found in the Elrhaz Formation, Gadoufaoua deposits, Agadez, Niger, in 1965 and 1970. The animal was named in 1976 by French paleontologist Philippe Taquet; the type species being Ouranosaurus nigeriensis. The name is a combination of the Arabic word for "courage" and the country of discovery, although ourane is also the Tuareg name for the desert monitor.

Becca Chang: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: TITANOBOA!

Becca fired a wave of water that formed into the Colombian giant snake from 60 million years ago: Titanoboa!

Titanoboa (/tiˌtɑːnoʊˈboʊə/) is an extinct genus of very large snakes that lived in what is now La Guajira in northeastern Colombia. They could grow up to 12.8 m (42 ft) long and reach a weight of 1,135 kg (2,500 lb).

Fossils of Titanoboa have been found in the Cerrejón Formation, and date to around 58 to 60 million years ago. The giant snake lived during the Middle to Late Paleocene epoch, a 10-million-year period immediately following the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event.

The only known species is Titanoboa cerrejonensis, the largest snake ever discovered, which supplanted the previous record holder, Gigantophis.

Syd: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: OPHTHALMOSAURUS!

Syd fired a wave of water and it formed into the Ichthyosaur from 165 million years ago: Ophthalmosaurus!

---

Ophthalmosaurus (meaning "eye lizard" in Greek) is an ichthyosaur of the Middle Jurassic period (165-160 million years ago), named for its extremely large eyes. It had a graceful 6 m (19.5 ft) long dolphin-shaped body, and its almost toothless jaw was well adapted for catching squid. Major fossil finds of this genus have been recorded in Europe and North and South America.

Girl Jordan: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: ELASMOSAURUS!

Girl Jordan fired a wave of water and it formed into the huge long-necked plesiosaurus from 80.5 million years ago: Elasmosaurus!

---

Elasmosaurus is a genus of plesiosaur that lived in North America during the Campanian stage of the Late Cretaceous period, about 80.5 million years ago. The first specimen was discovered in 1867 near Fort Wallace, Kansas, US, and was sent to the American paleontologist Edward Drinker Cope, who named it E. platyurus in 1868. The generic name means "thin-plate reptile", and the specific name means "flat-tailed". Cope originally reconstructed the skeleton of Elasmosaurus with the skull at the end of the tail, an error which was made light of by the paleontologist Othniel Charles Marsh, and became part of their "Bone Wars" rivalry. Only one incomplete Elasmosaurus skeleton is definitely known, consisting of a fragmentary skull, the spine, and the pectoral and pelvic girdles, and a single species is recognized today; other species are now considered invalid or have been moved to other genera.

Measuring 10.3 meters (34 ft) long, Elasmosaurus would have had a streamlined body with paddle-like limbs, a short tail, a small head, and an extremely long neck. The neck alone was around 7.1 meters (23 ft) long. Along with its relative Albertonectes, it was one of the longest-necked animals to have lived, with the largest number of neck vertebrae known, 72. The skull would have been slender and triangular, with large, fang-like teeth at the front, and smaller teeth towards the back. It had six teeth in each premaxilla of the upper jaw, and may have had 14 teeth in the maxilla and 19 in the dentary of the lower jaw. Most of the neck vertebrae were compressed sideways, and bore a longitudinal crest or keel along the sides.

The family Elasmosauridae was based on the genus Elasmosaurus, the first recognized member of this group of long-necked plesiosaurs. Elasmosaurids were well adapted for aquatic life, and used their flippers for swimming. Contrary to earlier depictions, their necks were not very flexible, and could not be held high above the water surface. It is unknown what their long necks were used for, but they may have had a function in feeding. Elasmosaurids probably ate small fish and marine invertebrates, seizing them with their long teeth, and may have used gastroliths (stomach stones) to help digest their food. Elasmosaurus is known from the Pierre Shale formation, which represents marine deposits from the Western Interior Seaway.

SpongeBob: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: LIOPLEURODON!

SpongeBob fired a wave of water and it formed into the ferocious marine reptile from 166 million years ago: Liopleurodon!

---

Liopleurodon (/ˌlaɪoʊˈplʊərədɒn/; meaning 'smooth-sided teeth') is a genus of large, carnivorous marine reptile belonging to the Pliosauroidea, a clade of short-necked plesiosaurs. The two species of Liopleurodon lived from the Callovian Stage of the Middle Jurassic to the Kimmeridgian stage of the Late Jurassic Period (c. 166 to 155 mya). It was the apex predator of the Middle to Late Jurassic seas that covered Europe. The largest species, L. ferox, is estimated to have grown up to 6.4 metres (21 ft) in length.

The name "Liopleurodon" (meaning "smooth-sided tooth") derives from Ancient Greek words: λεῖος leios, "smooth"; πλευρά pleurá, "side" or "rib"; and ὀδόν odṓn, "tooth".

Salar: (Arabic Accent) FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: GALLIMIMUS!

Salar fired a massive wave of fire and it formed into a herd of the ostrich-like egg-eaters from 70 million years ago: Gallimimus!

---

Gallimimus (/ˌɡælɪˈmaɪməs/ GAL-i-MY-məs) is a genus of theropod dinosaur that lived in what is now Mongolia during the Late Cretaceous period, about seventy million years ago (mya). Several fossils in various stages of growth were discovered by Polish-Mongolian expeditions in the Gobi Desert of Mongolia during the 1960s; a large skeleton discovered in this region was made the holotype specimen of the new genus and species Gallimimus bullatus in 1972. The generic name means "chicken mimic", referring to the similarities between its neck vertebrae and those of the Galliformes. The specific name is derived from bulla, a gold capsule worn by Roman youth, in reference to a bulbous structure at the base of the skull of Gallimimus. At the time it was named, the fossils of Gallimimus represented the most complete and best preserved ornithomimid ("ostrich dinosaur") material yet discovered, and the genus remains one of the best known members of the group.

Gallimimus is the largest known ornithomimid; adults were about 6 metres (20 ft) long, 1.9 metres (6 ft 3 in) tall at the hip and weighed about 440 kilograms (970 lb). As evidenced by its relative Ornithomimus, it would have had feathers. The head was small and light with large eyes that faced to the sides. The snout was long compared to other ornithomimids, although it was broader and more rounded at the tip than in other species. Gallimimus was toothless with a keratinous (horny) beak, and had a delicate lower jaw. Many of the vertebrae had openings that indicate they were pneumatic (air-filled). The neck was proportionally long in relation to the trunk. The hands were proportionally the shortest of any ornithomimosaur and each had three digits with curved claws. The forelimbs were weak while the hindlimbs were proportionally long. The family Ornithomimidae is part of the group Ornithomimosauria. Anserimimus, also from Mongolia, is thought to have been the closest relative of Gallimimus.

As an ornithomimid, Gallimimus would have been a fleet (or cursorial) animal, using its speed to escape predators; its speed has been estimated at 42-56 km/h (29-34 mph). It may have had good vision and intelligence comparable to ratite birds. Gallimimus may have lived in groups, based on the discovery of several specimens preserved in a bone bed. Various theories have been proposed regarding the diet of Gallimimus and other ornithomimids. The highly mobile neck may have helped locate small prey on the ground, but it may also have been an opportunistic omnivore. It has also been suggested that it used small columnar structures in its beak for filter-feeding in water, though these structures may instead have been ridges used for feeding on tough plant material, indicative of a herbivorous diet. Gallimimus is the most commonly found ornithomimosaur in the Nemegt Formation, where it lived alongside its relatives Anserimimus and Deinocheirus. Gallimimus was featured in the movie Jurassic Park, in a scene that was important to the history of special effects, and in shaping the common conception of dinosaurs as bird-like animals.

Andropov: (Russian Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: ELASMOTHERIUM!

Andropov fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ancestral big-horned rhinoceros of the Ice Age from 2.6 million years ago:

Elasmotherium!

Elasmotherium is an extinct genus of large rhinoceros endemic to Eurasia during the Late Pliocene through the Pleistocene, existing from 2.6 Ma to at least as late as 39,000 years ago in the Late Pleistocene. A more recent date of 26,000 BP is considered less reliable. It was the last surviving member of Elasmotheriinae, a distinctive group of rhinoceroses that had separated from the ancestry of living rhinoceroses by at least 35 million years ago according to fossils and estimated around 47.4 million years ago based on molecular clock.

Four species are recognised, which were largely confined to the Pontic-Caspian steppe, the Caucasus and Central Asia. The best known, E. sibiricum, known as the Siberian unicorn, was the size of a mammoth and is thought to have borne a large, thick horn on its forehead. Like all rhinoceroses, elasmotheres were herbivorous. Unlike any other rhinos and any other ungulates aside from some notoungulates, its high-crowned molars were ever-growing. Its legs were longer than those of other rhinos and were adapted for galloping, giving it a horse-like gait.

Golova: (Russian Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: CAVE LION!

Golova fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Ice Age lions of 500,000 years ago: Cave Lions!

---

Panthera spelaea, also known as the "Eurasian cave lion", "European cave lion", or "steppe lion", is an extinct Panthera species that evolved in Europe probably after the third Cromerian interglacial stage, less than 600,000 years ago. Phylogenetic analysis of fossil bone samples revealed that it was highly distinct and genetically isolated from the modern lion (Panthera leo) occurring in Africa and Asia. Analysis of morphological differences and mitochondrial data support the taxonomic recognition of Panthera spelaea as a distinct species that diverged from the lion about 1.9 million years ago. Nuclear genomic evidence suggests a more recent split approximately 500,000 years ago, with no subsequent interbreeding with the ancestors of the modern lion. The oldest known bone fragments were excavated in Yakutia and radiocarbon dated at least 62,400 years old. It became extinct about 13,000 years ago.

Nanuqsaurus (meaning "polar bear lizard") is a genus of carnivorous tyrannosaurid theropod known from the Late Cretaceous (early Late Maastrichtian stage) Prince Creek Formation of the North Slope of Alaska, USA. It contains a single species, Nanuqsaurus hoglundi, known only from a partial skull.

Matthias: (German Accent) FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: LEPTICTIDIUM!

Matthias fired a wave of wood and leaves and it formed into a swarm of the ancestor of the Elephant Shrew that lived 50 million years ago: Leptictidium!

---

Leptictidium (a Latinized diminutive of the name of its close relative Leptictis, which means "graceful weasel" in Ancient Greek) is an extinct genus of small mammals that were likely bipedal. Comprising eight species, they resembled today's elephant shrews. They are especially interesting for their combination of characteristics typical of primitive eutherians with highly specialized adaptations, such as powerful hind legs and a long tail which aided in locomotion. They were omnivorous, their diet a combination of insects, lizards and small mammals. One of the first branches to split from basal eutherians, they appeared in the Lower Eocene, a time of warm temperatures and high humidity, roughly fifty million years ago. Although they were widespread throughout Europe, they became extinct around thirty-five million years ago with no descendants, probably because they were adapted to live in forest ecosystems and were unable to adapt to the open plains of the Oligocene.

Kanaloa: (Hawaiian Accent) BEACH STYLE NINJA ART: EUSTREPTOSPONDYLUS!

Eustreptospondylus (/juːˌstrɛptoʊspɒn'daɪləs/ yoo-STREPT-o-spon-DY-ləs; meaning "true Streptospondylus") is a genus of megalosaurid theropod dinosaur, from the Oxfordian stage of the Late Jurassic period (some time between 163 and 154 million years ago) in southern England, at a time when Europe was a series of scattered islands (due to tectonic movement at the time which raised the sea-bed and flooded the lowland).

Fiona: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: ORNITHOCHEIRUS!

Fiona fired a wave of wind and it formed into the ostrich-like dinosaur from 92.5 million years ago: Ornithocheirus!

Ornithocheirus (from Ancient Greek "ὄρνις", meaning bird, and "χεῖρ", meaning hand) is a pterosaur genus known from fragmentary fossil remains uncovered from sediments in the UK and possibly Morocco.

Several species have been referred to the genus, most of which are now considered as dubious species, or members of different genera, and the genus is now often considered to include only the type species, Ornithocheirus simus. Species have been referred to Ornithocheirus from the mid-Cretaceous period of both Europe and South America, but O. simus is known only from the UK, though a specimen referred to O. cf. simus is also known from Morocco.

Because O. simus was originally named based on poorly preserved fossil material, the genus Ornithocheirus has suffered enduring problems of zoological nomenclature.

Fossil remains of Ornithocheirus have been recovered mainly from the Cambridge Greensand of England, dating to the beginning of the Albian stage of the early Cretaceous period, about 110 million years ago. Additional fossils from the Santana Formation of Brazil are sometimes classified as species of Ornithocheirus, but have also been placed in their own genera, most notably Tropeognathus.

Becky: PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: COELOPHYSIS!

Becky fired a wave of fire and it formed into one of the first ever dinosaurs from 216 million years ago: Coelophysis!

---

Coelophysis (/sɛˈlɒfɪsɪs/ seh-LOF-ih-sis traditionally; /ˌsɛloʊˈfaɪsɪs/ SEL-o-FY-sis or /ˌsiːloʊˈfaɪsɪs/ SEE-lo-FY-sis are heard more commonly in recent decades) is an extinct genus of coelophysid theropod dinosaur that lived approximately 216 to 196 million years ago during the latter part of the Triassic Period in what is now the southwestern United States and also in South Africa and Zimbabwe.

Coelophysis was a small, slenderly-built, ground-dwelling, bipedal carnivore, that could grow up to 3 m (9.8 ft) long. Coelophysis is one of the earliest known dinosaur genera. Scattered material representing similar animals has been found worldwide in some Late Triassic and Early Jurassic formations.

The type species C. bauri, originally given to the genus Coelurus by Edward Drinker Cope in 1887, was described by the latter in 1889. The names Longosaurus and Rioarribasaurus are synonymous with Coelophysis. Another dinosaur genus, Megapnosaurus, has also been considered to be a synonym. This primitive theropod is notable for being one of the most specimen-rich dinosaur genera.

Inostrancevia is an extinct genus of carnivorous therapsids, containing the largest members of the family Gorgonopsidae, predators characterized by long, saber-tooth-like canines. The various species inhabited northern Russia during the Upper Tatarian (Vyatskian), a Russian regional stage equivalent to the Wuchiapingian stage of the Late Permian period, dating from approximately 265 to 252.3 million years ago. It is known from several skulls and two almost-complete skeletons.

Muttaburrasaurus was a genus of herbivorous ornithopod dinosaur, which lived in what is now northeastern Australia sometime between 105 and 103 million years ago during the early Cretaceous Period. It has been recovered in some analyses as a member of the iguanodontian family Rhabdodontidae. After Kunbarrasaurus, it is Australia's most completely known dinosaur from skeletal remains. It was named after Muttaburra, the site in Queensland, Australia, where it was found.

Paige: PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: CRYOLOPHOSAURUS!

Paige fired a wave of fire and it formed into the Antarctic dinosaur from 193 million years ago: Cryolophosaurus!

Cryolophosaurus (/ˌkraɪoʊˌloʊfoʊˈsɔːrəs/ or /kraɪˌɒloʊfoʊˈsɔːrəs/; "CRY-oh-loaf-oh-SAWR-us") is a genus of large theropods known from only a single species Cryolophosaurus ellioti, known from the early Jurassic period of Antarctica. It was about 6.5 metres (21.3 ft) long and 465 kilograms (1,025 lb) in weight, making it one of the largest theropods of its time. Individuals of this species may have grown even larger, because the only known specimen probably represents a sub-adult. Cryolophosaurus is known from a skull, a femur and other material, the skull and femur of which have caused its classification to vary greatly. The femur possesses many primitive characteristics that have classified Cryolophosaurus as a dilophosaurid or a neotheropod outside of Dilophosauridae and Averostra, whereas the skull has many advanced features, leading the genus to be considered a tetanuran, an abelisaurid, a ceratosaur and even an allosaurid. Since its original description, the consensus is that Cryolophosaurus is either a primitive member of the Tetanurae or a close relative of that group.

Cryolophosaurus possessed a distinctive "pompadour" crest that spanned the head from side to side. Based on evidence from related species and studies of bone texture, it is thought that this bizarre crest was used for intra-species recognition. The brain of Cryolophosaurus was also more primitive than those of other theropods.

Cryolophosaurus was first excavated from Antarctica's Early Jurassic, Sinemurian to Pliensbachian aged Hanson Formation, formerly the upper Falla Formation, by paleontologist Dr. William Hammer in 1991. It was the first carnivorous dinosaur to be discovered in Antarctica and the first non-avian dinosaur from the continent to be officially named. The sediments in which its fossils were found have been dated at ~194 to 188 million years ago, representing the Early Jurassic Period.

Lateefa: (Arabic Accent) DESERT STYLE NINJA ART: VELOCIRAPTORS!

Lateefa fired a wave of sand and it formed into the deadly carnivorous dinosaurs from 78 million years ago: Velociraptor!

---

Velociraptor (/vɪˈlɒsɪræptər/; meaning "swift seizer" in Latin) is a genus of dromaeosaurid theropod dinosaur that lived approximately 75 to 71 million years ago during the latter part of the Cretaceous Period. Two species are currently recognized, although others have been assigned in the past. The type species is V. mongoliensis; fossils of this species have been discovered in Mongolia. A second species, V. osmolskae, was named in 2008 for skull material from Inner Mongolia, China.

Smaller than other dromaeosaurids like Deinonychus and Achillobator, Velociraptor nevertheless shared many of the same anatomical features. It was a bipedal, feathered carnivore with a long tail and an enlarged sickle-shaped claw on each hindfoot, which is thought to have been used to tackle and disembowel prey. Velociraptor can be distinguished from other dromaeosaurids by its long and low skull, with an upturned snout.

Velociraptor (commonly shortened to "raptor") is one of the dinosaur genera most familiar to the general public due to its prominent role in the Jurassic Park motion picture series. In real life, however, Velociraptor was roughly the size of a turkey, considerably smaller than the approximately 2 m (6 1⁄2 ft) tall and 80 kg (180 lb) reptiles seen in the films (which were based on members of the related genus Deinonychus). Today, Velociraptor is well known to paleontologists, with over a dozen described fossil skeletons, the most of any dromaeosaurid. One particularly famous specimen preserves a Velociraptor locked in combat with a Protoceratops.

Nataša: (Czech Accent) EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: UTAHRAPTOR!

Nataša fired a wave of earth and it formed into the state dinosaurs of Utah from 139 million years ago: Utahraptor!

---

Utahraptor (meaning Utah's predator) is a genus of large dromaeosaurid dinosaur that lived in North America during the Early Cretaceous period. It was a heavy-built, ground-dwelling, bipedal carnivore. It contains a single species, Utahraptor ostrommaysi, which is the largest-known member of the family Dromaeosauridae.

In 2018, it was proposed that Utahraptor be the Utah state dinosaur, an act that was approved by the Senate. Initially Utahraptor would have replaced another dinosaur, Allosaurus, as the state's official fossil, but it was decided that Utahraptor would be another symbol of the state.

Suwailim: (Egyptian Accent) DESERT STYLE NINJA ART: PROTOCERATOPS!

Suwailim fired a wave of sand and it formed into the Ceratopsian from 75 million years ago: Protoceratops.

---

Protoceratops (/ˌproʊtoʊˈsɛrətɒps/; from Greek proto-/πρωτο- "first", cerat-/κερατ- "horn" and -ops/-ωψ "face", meaning "first horned face") is a genus of sheep-sized (1.8 m long) herbivorous ceratopsian dinosaur, from the Upper Cretaceous Period (Campanian stage) of what is now Mongolia. It was a member of the Protoceratopsidae, a group of early horned dinosaurs. Unlike later ceratopsians, however, it was a much smaller creature that lacked well-developed horns and retained some basal traits not seen in later genera.

Protoceratops had a large neck frill which was likely used as a display site to impress other members of the species. Other hypotheses about its function include protection of the neck and anchoring of jaw muscles, but the fragility of the frill and the poor leverage offered by possible attachment sites here makes these ideas implausible. Described by Walter W. Granger and W.K. Gregory in 1923, Protoceratops was initially believed to be an ancestor of the North American ceratopsians. Researchers currently distinguish two species of Protoceratops (P. andrewsi and P. hellenikorhinus), based in part by their respective sizes.

In the 1920s, Roy Chapman Andrews discovered fossilized eggs in Mongolia that were interpreted as belonging to this dinosaur, but which turned out to be those of Oviraptor. However, it wouldn't be until 2011 that a genuine Protoceratops nest was discovered, with the remains of the neonates inside suggesting parental care in this dinosaur.

Woya: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: PTERANODON!

Woya fired a wave of wind and it formed into the famous pterosaur from 86 million years ago: Pteranodon!

---

Pteranodon (/tɪˈrænədɒn/; from Greek πτερόν (pteron, "wing") and ἀνόδων (anodon, "toothless")) is a genus of pterosaur that included some of the largest known flying reptiles, with wingspans over 7 meters (23 feet). They lived during the late Cretaceous geological period of North America in present-day Kansas, Alabama, Nebraska, Wyoming, and South Dakota. More fossil specimens of Pteranodon have been found than any other pterosaur, with about 1,200 specimens known to science, many of them well preserved with nearly complete skulls and articulated skeletons. It was an important part of the animal community in the Western Interior Seaway.

Pteranodon was a pterosaur, meaning that it is not a dinosaur. By definition, all dinosaurs belong to one of the two groups within Dinosauria, i.e. Saurischia or Ornithischia. As such, this excludes pterosaurs. Nonetheless, Pteranodon is frequently featured in dinosaur media and are strongly associated with dinosaurs by the general public. While not dinosaurs, pterosaurs such as Pteranodon form a clade closely related to dinosaurs as both fall within the clade Avemetatarsalia.

Argentavis magnificens was among the largest flying birds ever to exist, quite possibly surpassed in wingspan only by Pelagornis sandersi, which was described in 2014. Edwayl: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: BASILOSAURUS!

Edwayl fired a wave of water and it formed into the one of the first whales of the Eocene epoch from 41.3 million years ago: Basilosaurus!

Basilosaurus (meaning "king lizard") is a genus of large, predatory, prehistoric archaeocete whale from the late Eocene, approximately 41.3 to 33.9 million years ago (mya). First described in 1834, it was the first archaeocete and prehistoric whale known to science. The first fossils were discovered along the Gulf Coast of the United States, along with a few fossils in the eastern U.S., attributed to the type species B. cetoides. They were originally thought to be of a giant reptile, hence the suffix "-saurus", Ancient Greek for "lizard". The animal was later found to be an early marine mammal, which prompted attempts at renaming the creature, which failed as zoological nomenclature dictates using the original name given. Fossils were later found of the second species, B. isis, in 1904 in North Africa, more specifically the countries of Egypt, Jordan, Tunisia and Morocco. Basilosaurus has a possible record in Seymour Island in Antarctica.

Basilosaurus is considered to have been common in the Tethys sea. It was one of the largest, if not the largest, animals of the Paleogene. It was the top predator of its environment, preying on sharks, large fish and other marine mammals, namely the dolphin-like Dorudon, which seems to have been their predominant food source.

Basilosaurus was at one point a wastebasket taxon, before the genus slowly started getting reevaluated, with many species of different Eocene cetacean being assigned to the genus in the past, however they are invalid or have been reclassified under a new or different genus, leaving only 2 confirmed species. Basilosaurus may have been one of the first fully aquatic cetaceans (sometimes referred to as the pelagiceti). Basilosaurus, unlike modern cetaceans, had various types of teeth-such as canines and molars-in its mouth (heterodonty), and it probably was able to chew its food in contrast to modern cetaceans which swallow their food whole.

Rusty: DESERT STYLE NINJA ART: PARACERATHERIUM!

Rusty fired a wave of sand and it formed into the one of the ancestral rhinoceroses from 34 million years ago: Paraceratherium!

---

Paraceratherium is an extinct genus of hornless rhinoceros. It is one of the largest terrestrial mammals that has existed and lived from the early to late Oligocene epoch (34-23 million years ago). Its remains have been found across Eurasia between China and the Balkans. It is classified as a member of the hyracodont subfamily Indricotheriinae. Paraceratherium means "near the hornless beast", in reference to Aceratherium, the genus in which the type species A. bugtiense was originally placed.

The exact size of Paraceratherium is unknown because of the incompleteness of the fossils. The shoulder height was about 4.8 metres (15.7 feet), and the length about 7.4 metres (24.3 feet). Its weight is estimated to have been about 15 to 20 tonnes (33,000 to 44,000 lb). The long neck supported a skull that was about 1.3 metres (4.3 ft) long. It had large, tusk-like incisors and a nasal incision that suggests it had a prehensile upper lip or proboscis (trunk). The legs were long and pillar-like. The lifestyle of Paraceratherium may have been similar to that of modern large mammals such as the elephants and extant rhinoceroses. Because of its size, it would have had few predators and a slow rate of reproduction. It was a browser, eating mainly leaves, soft plants, and shrubs. It lived in habitats ranging from arid deserts with a few scattered trees to subtropical forests. The reasons for the animal's extinction are unknown, but various factors have been proposed.

The taxonomy of the genus and the species within has a long and complicated history. Other genera of Oligocene indricotheres, such as Baluchitherium, Indricotherium, and Pristinotherium, have been named, but no complete specimens exist, making comparison and classification difficult. Most modern scientists consider these genera to be junior synonyms of Paraceratherium, and it is thought to contain at least three discernible species; P. bugtiense, P. transouralicum, and P. huangheense. The most completely-known species is P. transouralicum, so most reconstructions of the genus are based on it. Differences between P. bugtiense and P. transouralicum may be due to sexual dimorphism, which would make them the same species.

Entelodon (meaning "complete teeth", from Ancient Greek ἐντελής entelēs "complete" and ὀδών odōn "tooth", referring to its "complete" eutherian dentition), is an extinct genus of entelodont artiodactyl endemic to Eurasia. Fossils of species are found in Paleogene strata ranging in age from the Houldjinian (37.2-33.9 mya) until the Rupelian epoch of the early Oligocene (33.9-28.4 mya).

Liam: (Southern Accent) PLAIN STYLE NINJA ART: HYAENODON!

Liam fired a wave of sand and leaves and it formed into the ancestors of the hyena from 42 million years ago: Hyaenodon!

---

Hyaenodon ("hyena-tooth") is the type genus of the Hyaenodontidae, a family of extinct carnivorous fossil mammals from Eurasia, North America, and Africa, with species existing temporally from the Eocene until the middle Miocene, existing for about 26.1 million years.

The various species of Hyaenodon competed with each other and with other hyaenodont genera (including Sinopa, Dissopsalis, and Hyainailurus), and played important roles as predators in ecological communities as late as the Miocene in Africa and Asia and preyed on a variety of prey species such as primitive horses like Mesohippus and early camels. Species of Hyaenodon have been shown to have successfully preyed on other large carnivores of their time, including a nimravid ("false sabertooth cat"), according to analysis of tooth puncture marks on a fossil Dinictis skull found in North Dakota.

Mollie: LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: GIGANOTOSAURUS!

Mollie fired a wave of lightning and it formed into the ferocious theropod from 98 million years ago: Giganotosaurus!

---

Giganotosaurus (/ˌdʒaɪɡəˌnoʊtəˈsɔːrəs/ JY-gə-NOH-tə-SOR-əs) is a genus of theropod dinosaur that lived in what is now Argentina, during the early Cenomanian age of the Late Cretaceous period, approximately 98 to 97 million years ago. The holotype specimen was discovered in the Candeleros Formation of Patagonia in 1993, and is almost 70% complete. The animal was named Giganotosaurus carolinii in 1995; the genus name translates as "giant southern lizard" and the specific name honors the discoverer, Rubén D. Carolini. A dentary bone, a tooth and some tracks, discovered before the holotype, were later assigned to this animal. The genus attracted much interest and became part of a scientific debate about the maximum sizes of theropod dinosaurs.

Giganotosaurus was one of the largest known terrestrial carnivores, but the exact size has been hard to determine due to the incompleteness of the remains found so far. Estimates for the most complete specimen range from a length of 12 to 13 m (39 to 43 ft), a skull 1.53 to 1.80 m (5.0 to 5.9 ft) in length, and a weight of 4.2 to 13.8 t (4.6 to 15.2 short tons). The dentary bone that belonged to a supposedly larger individual has been used to extrapolate a length of 13.2 m (43 ft). Some researchers have found the animal to be larger than Tyrannosaurus, which has historically been considered the largest theropod, while others have found them to be roughly equal in size, and the largest size estimates for Giganotosaurus exaggerated. The skull was low, with rugose (rough and wrinkled) nasal bones and a ridge-like crest on the lacrimal bone in front of the eye. The front of the lower jaw was flattened, and had a downwards projecting process (or "chin") at the tip. The teeth were compressed sideways and had serrations. The neck was strong and the pectoral girdle proportionally small.

Part of the family Carcharodontosauridae, Giganotosaurus is one of the most completely known members of the group, which includes other very large theropods, such as the closely related Mapusaurus and Carcharodontosaurus. Giganotosaurus is thought to have been homeothermic (a type of "warm-bloodedness"), with a metabolism between that of a mammal and a reptile, which would have enabled fast growth. It may have been relatively fast moving, with a calculated maximal running speed of 14 m/s (50 km/h; 31 mph). It would have been capable of closing its jaws quickly, capturing and bringing down prey by delivering powerful bites. The "chin" may have helped in resisting stress when a bite was delivered against prey. Giganotosaurus is thought to have been the apex predator of its ecosystem, and it may have fed on juvenile sauropod dinosaurs.

Luan: JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: GIGANTOPITHECUS!

Luan fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into one of the first apes from 2 million to 300,000 years ago: Gigantopithecus!

---

Gigantopithecus is an extinct genus of ape from the Early to Middle Pleistocene of southern China, represented by one species, G. blacki. Potential identifications have also been made in Thailand, Vietnam, and Indonesia. The first remains of Gigantopithecus, two third molar teeth, were identified in a drugstore by anthropologist Ralph von Koenigswald in 1935, who subsequently described the ape. In 1956, the first mandible and over 1,000 teeth were found in Liucheng, and numerous more remains have since been found in at least 16 sites. Only teeth and 4 mandibles are known currently, and other skeletal elements were likely consumed by porcupines before they could fossilise. Gigantopithecus was once argued to be a hominin, a member of the human line, but it is now thought to be closely allied with orangutans, classified in the subfamily Ponginae.

Gigantopithecus has traditionally been restored as a massive, gorilla-like ape, potentially 200-300 kg (440-660 lb) when alive, but the paucity of remains make total size estimates highly speculative. The species may have been sexually dimorphic, with males much bigger than females. The incisors are reduced and the canines appear to have functioned like cheek teeth (premolars and molars). The premolars are high-crowned, and the fourth premolar is very molar-like. The molars are the largest of any known ape, and have a relatively flat surface. Gigantopithecus had the thickest enamel by absolute measure of any ape, up to 6 mm (a quarter of an inch) in some areas, though was only fairly thick when tooth size is taken into account.

Gigantopithecus appears to have been a generalist herbivore of C3 forest plants, with the jaw adapted to grinding, crushing, and cutting through tough, fibrous plants; and the thick enamel functioning to resist foods with abrasive particles such as stems, roots, and tubers with dirt. Some teeth bear traces of fig family fruits. It primarily lived in subtropical to tropical forest, and went extinct about 300,000 years ago likely due to climate change and the retreat of preferred habitat, and potentially archaic human activity by Homo erectus. Gigantopithecus has become popular in cryptozoology circles as the identity of the Tibetan yeti or the American bigfoot, humanlike monsters in local folklore.

Fletcher: (Scottish Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: DIRE WOLVES!

Fletcher fired a wave of ice and it formed into a pack of the first wolves from 125,000 to 9,500 years ago: the Dire Wolves!

---

The dire wolf (Canis dirus, "fearsome dog") is an extinct species of the genus Canis. It is one of the most famous prehistoric carnivores in North America, along with its extinct competitor, the sabre-toothed cat Smilodon fatalis. The dire wolf lived in the Americas during the Late Pleistocene and Early Holocene epochs (125,000-9,500 years ago). The species was named in 1858, four years after the first specimen had been found. Two subspecies are recognized: Canis dirus guildayi and Canis dirus dirus. The dire wolf probably evolved from Armbruster's wolf (Canis armbrusteri) in North America. The largest collection of its fossils has been obtained from the Rancho La Brea Tar Pits in Los Angeles.

Dire wolf remains have been found across a broad range of habitats including the plains, grasslands, and some forested mountain areas of North America, and in the arid savannah of South America. The sites range in elevation from sea level to 2,255 meters (7,400 ft). Dire wolf fossils have rarely been found north of 42°N latitude; there have been only five unconfirmed reports above this latitude. This range restriction is thought to be due to temperature, prey, or habitat limitations imposed by proximity to the Laurentide and Cordilleran ice sheets that existed at the time.

The dire wolf was about the same size as the largest modern gray wolves (Canis lupus): the Yukon wolf and the northwestern wolf. C. d. guildayi weighed on average 60 kilograms (132 lb) and C. d. dirus was on average 68 kg (150 lb). Its skull and dentition matched those of C. lupus, but its teeth were larger with greater shearing ability, and its bite force at the canine tooth was the strongest of any known Canis species. These characteristics are thought to be adaptations for preying on Late Pleistocene megaherbivores, and in North America its prey are known to have included horses, ground sloths, mastodons, bison, and camels. As with other large Canis hypercarnivores today, the dire wolf is thought to have been a pack hunter. Its extinction occurred during the Quaternary extinction event along with most of the American megafauna of the time, including a number of other carnivores, that occurred soon after the appearance of humans in the New World. Its reliance on megaherbivores has been proposed as the cause of its extinction, along with climate change and competition with other species, but the cause remains controversial. Dire wolves lived as recently as 9,500 years ago, according to dated remains.

Alex T.: (Greek Accent) FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: ARGENTINOSAURUS!

Alex fired a wave of fire and it formed into the largest dinosaur that ever lived from 96.2 million years ago: Argentinosaurus!

---

Argentinosaurus is a genus of giant sauropod dinosaur that lived during the Late Cretaceous period in what is now Argentina. Although it is only known from fragmentary remains, Argentinosaurus is one of the largest-known land animals of all time, if not the largest, with length estimates ranging from 30 to 39.7 metres (98 to 130 ft) and weight estimates from 50 to 100 tonnes (55 to 110 short tons). It was a member of Titanosauria, the dominant group of sauropods during the Cretaceous.

The first Argentinosaurus bone was discovered in 1987 by a farmer on his farm near the city of Plaza Huincul. A scientific excavation of the site led by the Argentine palaeontologist José Bonaparte was conducted in 1989, yielding several back vertebrae and parts of a sacrum-fused vertebrae between the back and tail vertebrae. Additional specimens include a complete femur (thigh bone) and the shaft of another. Argentinosaurus was named by Bonaparte and the Argentine palaeontologist Rodolfo Coria in 1993; it contains a single species, A. huinculensis. The generic name Argentinosaurus means "Argentine lizard", and the specific name huinculensis refers to its place of discovery, Plaza Huincul.

The fragmentary nature of Argentinosaurus remains makes their interpretation difficult. Arguments revolve around the position of the recovered vertebrae within the vertebral column and the presence of accessory articulations between the vertebrae that would have strengthened the spine. A computer model of the skeleton and muscles estimated this dinosaur had a maximum speed of 7 km/h (5 mph) with a pace, a gait where the fore and hind limb of the same side of the body move simultaneously. The fossils of Argentinosaurus were recovered from the Huincul Formation, which was deposited in the middle Cenomanian to early Turonian ages (around 96 to 92 million years ago) and contains a diverse dinosaur fauna including the giant theropod Mapusaurus.

Shamrina: (Assyrian Accent) FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: DAEODON!

Shamrina fired a wave of fire and it formed into one of the ancestral wild boars from 29 million years ago: Daeodon!

Daeodon is an extinct genus of entelodont artiodactyl that inhabited North America between 29 and 19 million years ago during the middle Oligocene and early Miocene epochs. The type species is Daeodon shoshonensis, the last and largest of the entelodonts; known adults of this species possessed skulls about 90 cm (3 ft) in length. It had a broad distribution across the United States, but it was never abundant.

Tshibangu: (Congolese Accent) JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: GIANT GROUND SLOTH!

Tshibangu fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into the ancestor of the sloth from 5 million years ago: Megatherium or Giant Ground Sloth!

Megatherium (/mɛɡə'θɪəriəm/ meg-ə-THEER-ee-əm from the Greek mega [μέγας], meaning "great", and therion [θηρίον], "beast") is an extinct genus of ground sloths endemic to South America that lived from the Early Pliocene through the end of the Pleistocene. It is best known for the elephant-sized type species M. americanum, sometimes called the giant ground sloth, or the megathere, native to the Pampas through southern Bolivia during the Pleistocene. Various other smaller species belonging to the subgenus Pseudomegatherium are known from the Andes. Megatherium is part of the sloth family Megatheriidae, which also includes the similarly elephantine Eremotherium, which was native to tropical South America and southern North America. Only a few other land mammals equaled or exceeded M. americanum in size, such as large proboscideans (e.g., elephants) and the giant rhinoceros Paraceratherium. Megatherium was first discovered in 1788 on the bank of the Luján River in Argentina. The holotype specimen was then shipped to Spain the following year wherein it caught the attention of the esteemed paleontologist Georges Cuvier, who was the first to determine, by means of comparative anatomy, that Megatherium was a sloth. Megatherium became extinct around 12,000 years ago during the Quaternary extinction event, which also claimed most other large mammals in the New World. The extinction coincides with the settlement of the Americas, and a kill site where a M. americanum was slaughtered and butchered is known, suggesting that hunting could have caused its extinction.

Lang Yan: (Chinese Accent) BAMBOO STYLE NINJA ART: DWARF PANDA!

Lang punched the ground and a bunch of bamboo grew in seconds and they formed into the ancestor of the Giant Panda from 2 million years ago - the Dwarf Panda!

---

Ailuropoda microta is the earliest known ancestor of the giant panda. It measured 1 m (3 ft) in length; the modern giant panda grows to a size in excess of 1.5 m (5 ft). Wear patterns on its teeth suggest it lived on a diet of bamboo, the primary food of the giant panda. The first discovered skull of the animal in a south China limestone cave is estimated to be 2 million years old. The skull found is about half the size of a modern-day giant panda, but is anatomically very similar. This research suggests that the giant panda has evolved for more than 3 million years as a completely separate lineage from that of other bears.

Guanlong (冠龍) is a genus of extinct proceratosaurid tyrannosauroid from the Late Jurassic of China. The taxon was first described in 2006 by Xu Xing et al., who found it to represent a new taxon related to Tyrannosaurus. The name is derived from Chinese, translating as "crown dragon". Two individuals are currently known, a partially complete adult and a nearly complete juvenile. These specimens come from the Oxfordian stage of the Chinese Shishugou Formation.

Brock: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DOEDICURUS!

Brock fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ancestral armadillo from 2 million to 7,000 years ago: DOEDICURUS!

Doedicurus, or Dædicurus, is an extinct genus of glyptodont from South America containing one species, D. clavicaudatus. Glyptodonts are a member of the family Chlamyphoridae, which also includes some modern armadillo species, and they are classified in the order Xenarthra alongside sloths and anteaters. Being a glyptodont, it was a rotund animal with heavy armor and a carapace. Averaging at an approximate 1,400 kg (3,100 lb), it was one of the largest glyptodonts to have ever lived. Though glyptodonts were quadrupeds, large ones like Doedicurus may have been able to stand on two legs like other xenarthrans. It notably sported a spiked tail club, which may have weighed 40 or 65 kg (88 or 143 lb) in life, and it may have swung this in defense against predators or in fights with other Doedicurus at speeds of perhaps 11 m/s (40 km/h; 25 mph).

Doedicurus was likely a grazer, but its teeth and mouth, like those of other glyptodonts, seem unable to have chewed grass effectively, which may indicate a slow metabolism. Doedicurus existed during the Pleistocene. Before this, South America had been isolated from the rest of the world, but the formation of the Isthmus of Panama allowed North American fauna to invade South America in the Great American Interchange, including big cats, bears, elephants, camels, and horses. Doedicurus seems to have inhabited the relatively cold and humid Chaco-Pampean plains of northeastern Patagonia. It may have been the latest-surviving glyptodont, with remains suggested to date to 8,000-7,000 years ago during the middle Holocene, though these dates have been questioned. It may have gone extinct due to some combination of human hunting and climate change.

Nora fired a wave of grass and leaves and it formed into the ferocious theropod from 72 million years ago: Carnotaurus!

Carnotaurus /ˌkɑːrnoʊˈtɔːrəs/ is a genus of large theropod dinosaur that lived in South America during the Late Cretaceous period, between about 72 and 69.9 million years ago. The only species is Carnotaurus sastrei. Known from a single well-preserved skeleton, it is one of the best-understood theropods from the Southern Hemisphere. The skeleton, found in 1984, was uncovered in the Chubut Province of Argentina from rocks of the La Colonia Formation. Carnotaurus is a derived member of the Abelisauridae, a group of large theropods that occupied the large predatorial niche in the southern landmasses of Gondwana during the late Cretaceous. The phylogenetic relations of Carnotaurus are uncertain; it might have been closer to either Majungasaurus or Aucasaurus.

Carnotaurus was a lightly built, bipedal predator, measuring 7.5 to 9 m (24.6 to 29.5 ft) in length and weighing at least 1.35 metric tons (1.33 long tons; 1.49 short tons). As a theropod, Carnotaurus was highly specialized and distinctive. It had thick horns above the eyes, a feature unseen in all other carnivorous dinosaurs, and a very deep skull sitting on a muscular neck. Carnotaurus was further characterized by small, vestigial forelimbs and long, slender hindlimbs. The skeleton is preserved with extensive skin impressions, showing a mosaic of small, non-overlapping scales approximately 5 mm in diameter. The mosaic was interrupted by large bumps that lined the sides of the animal, and there are no hints of feathers.

The distinctive horns and the muscular neck may have been used in fighting conspecifics. According to separate studies, rivaling individuals may have combated each other with quick head blows, by slow pushes with the upper sides of their skulls, or by ramming each other head-on, using their horns as shock absorbers. The feeding habits of Carnotaurus remain unclear: some studies suggest the animal was able to hunt down very large prey such as sauropods, while other studies find it preyed mainly on relatively small animals. Carnotaurus was well adapted for running and was possibly one of the fastest large theropods.

Timmy Turner: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DIMETRODON!

Dimetrodon (/daɪˈmiːtrədɒn/ (About this soundlisten) or /daɪˈmɛtrədɒn/, meaning "two measures of teeth") is an extinct genus of non-mammalian synapsid that lived during the Cisuralian (Early Permian), around 295-272 million years ago (Ma). It is a member of the family Sphenacodontidae. The most prominent feature of Dimetrodon is the large neural spine sail on its back formed by elongated spines extending from the vertebrae. It walked on four legs and had a tall, curved skull with large teeth of different sizes set along the jaws. Most fossils have been found in the southwestern United States, the majority coming from a geological deposit called the Red Beds of Texas and Oklahoma. More recently, fossils have been found in Germany. Over a dozen species have been named since the genus was first erected in 1878.

Dimetrodon is often mistaken for a dinosaur or as a contemporary of dinosaurs in popular culture, but it became extinct some 40 million years before the first appearance of dinosaurs. Reptile-like in appearance and physiology, Dimetrodon is nevertheless more closely related to mammals than to modern reptiles, though it is not a direct ancestor of mammals. Dimetrodon is assigned to the "non-mammalian synapsids", a group traditionally called "mammal-like reptiles". This groups Dimetrodon together with mammals in a clade (evolutionary group) called Synapsida, while placing dinosaurs, reptiles and birds in a separate clade, Sauropsida. Single openings in the skull behind each eye, known as temporal fenestrae, and other skull features distinguish Dimetrodon and mammals from most of the earliest sauropsids.

Dimetrodon was probably one of the apex predators of the Cisuralian ecosystems, feeding on fish and tetrapods, including reptiles and amphibians. Smaller Dimetrodon species may have had different ecological roles. The sail of Dimetrodon may have been used to stabilize its spine or to heat and cool its body as a form of thermoregulation. Some recent studies[citation needed] argue that the sail would have been ineffective at removing heat from the body due to large species being discovered with small sails and small species being discovered with large sails, essentially ruling out heat regulation as its main purpose. The sail was most likely used in courtship display with methods such as threatening rivals or showing off to potential mates.

Nantan: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: AUSTRALOPITHECUS AFARENSIS!

Nantan fired a wave of wind and it formed into one of our human ancestors on our evolutionary chain from 3 million years ago: Australopithecus Afarensis!

---

Australopithecus afarensis is an extinct species of australopithecine which lived from about 3.9-2.9 million years ago (mya) in the Pliocene of East Africa. The first fossils were discovered in the 1930s, but major fossil finds would not be discovered until the 1970s. In the 1972-1977 expedition in Hadar, Ethiopia, the International Afar Research Expedition led by anthropologists Maurice Taieb, Donald Johanson, and Yves Coppens unearthed several hundreds of hominin specimens, the most significant being the exceedingly well-preserved skeleton AL 288-1 ("Lucy") and the site AL 333 ("the First Family"). Beginning in 1974, Mary Leakey led an expedition into Laetoli, Tanzania, and recovered notably fossil trackways. In 1978, the species was first described, but this was followed by arguments for splitting the wealth of specimens into different species given the wide range of variation which had been attributed to sexual dimorphism (normal differences between males and females). A. afarensis probably descended from A. anamensis and possibly gave rise to Homo, though the latter hypothesis is not without dissent.

A. afarensis had a tall face, a delicate brow ridge, and prognathism (the jaw jutted outwards). The jawbone was quite robust, similar to that of gorillas. The living size of A. afarensis is debated, with arguments for and against marked size differences between males and females. Lucy measured perhaps 105 cm (3 ft 5 in) in height and 25-37 kg (55-82 lb), but she was rather small for her species. In contrast, a presumed male was estimated at 165 cm (5 ft 5 in) and 45 kg (99 lb). A perceived difference in male and female size may simply be sampling bias. The leg bones as well as the Laetoli fossil trackways suggest A. afarensis was a competent biped, though somewhat less efficient at walking than humans. The arm and shoulder bones have some similar aspects to those of orangutans and gorillas, which has variously been interpreted as either evidence of partial tree-dwelling (arboreality), or basal traits inherited from the human-chimp last common ancestor with no adaptive functionality.

A. afarensis was probably a generalist omnivore of both C3 forest plants and C4 CAM savanna plants-and perhaps creatures which ate such plants-and was able to exploit a variety of different food sources. Similarly, A. afarensis appears to have inhabited a wide range of habitats with no real preference, inhabiting open grasslands or woodlands, shrublands, and lake- or riverside forests. Potential evidence of stone tool use would indicate meat was also a dietary component. Marked sexual dimorphism in primates typically corresponds to a polygynous society and low dimorphism monogamy, but the group dynamics of early hominins is difficult to predict with accuracy. Early hominins may have fallen prey to the large carnivores of the time, such as big cats and hyenas.

Ronnie Anne: JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: BRACHIOSAURUS!

Ronnie Anne fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into the famous sauropod from 154 million years ago: Brachiosaurus!

---

Brachiosaurus (/ˌbrækiəˈsɔːrəs/) is a genus of sauropod dinosaur that lived in North America during the Late Jurassic, about 154-153 million years ago. It was first described by American paleontologist Elmer S. Riggs in 1903 from fossils found in the Colorado River valley in western Colorado, United States. Riggs named the dinosaur Brachiosaurus altithorax; the generic name is Greek for "arm lizard", in reference to its proportionately long arms, and the specific name means "deep chest". Brachiosaurus is estimated to have been between 18 and 21 meters (59 and 69 ft) long; weight estimates range from 28.3 to 58 metric tons (31.2 and 64 short tons). It had a disproportionately long neck, small skull, and large overall size, all of which are typical for sauropods. Atypically, Brachiosaurus had longer forelimbs than hindlimbs, which resulted in a steeply inclined trunk, and a proportionally shorter tail.

Brachiosaurus is the namesake genus of the family Brachiosauridae, which includes a handful of other similar sauropods. Most popular depictions of Brachiosaurus are in fact based on Giraffatitan, a genus of brachiosaurid dinosaur from the Tendaguru Formation of Tanzania. Giraffatitan was originally described by German paleontologist Werner Janensch in 1914 as a species of Brachiosaurus, B. brancai, but moved to its own genus in 2009. Three other species of Brachiosaurus have been named based on fossils found in Africa and Europe; two are no longer considered valid, and a third has become a separate genus, Lusotitan.

The type specimen of B. altithorax is still the most complete specimen, and only a few other specimens are thought to belong to the genus, making it one of the rarer sauropods of the Morrison Formation. It is regarded as a high browser, possibly cropping or nipping vegetation as high as 9 meters (30 ft) off the ground. Unlike other sauropods, it was unsuited for rearing on its hindlimbs. It has been used as an example of a dinosaur that was most likely ectothermic because of its large size and the corresponding need for sufficient forage, but more recent research suggests it was warm-blooded. Among the most iconic and initially thought to be one of the largest dinosaurs, Brachiosaurus has appeared in popular culture, notably in the 1993 film Jurassic Park.

Ryan fired a wave of ice and it formed into one of the first giant penguins and ancestor of the Emperor Penguin from 45 million years ago: Anthropornis!

Anthropornis is a genus of giant penguin that lived 45-33 million years ago, during the Late Eocene and the earliest part of the Oligocene.[1] It reached 1.8 m (5 ft 11 in) in height and 90 kg (200 lb) in weight. Fossils of it have been found in the La Meseta Formation on Seymour Island off the coast of Antarctica and in New Zealand. By comparison, the largest modern penguin species, the emperor penguin, is just 1.2 m (3 ft 11 in) tall.

The type species, Anthropornis nordenskjoldi, had a bent joint in the wing, probably a carryover from flying ancestors.

Eloá: (Brazilian Accent) JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: GASTORNIS!

Eloá fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into the terror bird of 56 million years ago: Gastornis!

---

Gastornis is an extinct genus of large flightless birds that lived during the late Paleocene and Eocene epochs of the Cenozoic era.

The genus is currently thought to contain three or four distinct species, known from incomplete fossil remains, found in western-central Europe (England, Belgium, France and Germany). More complete specimens are known from a fourth, North American species, which had previously been classified in the distinct genus Diatryma. Many scientists now consider Diatryma to be so similar to the other species of Gastornis that it should also be included in that genus. A fifth species, also previously classified in its own genus, is known from China.

Gastornis species were very large birds, and have traditionally been considered to be predators of small mammals. However, several lines of evidence, including the lack of hooked claws in known Gastornis footprints and studies of their beak structure have caused scientists to reinterpret these birds as herbivores that probably fed on tough plant material and seeds.

Haiku: DARK STYLE NINJA ART: TITANIS TERROR BIRD!

Haiku fired a wave of darkness and it formed into the ferocious giant terror bird of 5 million years ago: Titanis!

---

Titanis is an extinct genus of giant flightless terror birds that inhabited North America during the early Pliocene to early Pleistocene epochs. The generic name, Titanis, refers to the titans, Ancient Greek gods that preceded the Twelve Olympians, in allusion to the bird's size. The specific name, T. walleri, honors the holotype's collector, Benjamin I. Waller, an avocational underwater archaeologist. Titanis was thought to be carnivorous and most likely preyed on the many small mammals of the time period. This giant flightless bird was one of the most efficient predators of its time in North America.

Lola: FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: BAJADASAURUS!

Lola fired a wave of fire and it formed into the newly discovered dinosaurs from 140 million years ago: Bajadasaurus!

Bajadasaurus is a genus of sauropod dinosaur from the Early Cretaceous epoch (late Berriasian to Valanginian stages) of northern Patagonia, Argentina. It was first described in 2019 based on a single specimen found in 2010 that includes a largely complete skull and parts of the neck. The only species is Bajadasaurus pronuspinax. The genus is classified as a member of the Dicraeosauridae, a group of comparatively small and short-necked sauropods that lived from the Early or Middle Jurassic to the end of the Early Cretaceous.

Bajadasaurus sported bifurcated, extremely elongated neural spines extending from the neck vertebrae. Similar elongated spines are known from the closely related and more completely known Amargasaurus. Various possible functions have been proposed for these spines in Amargasaurus, with the 2019 description of Bajadasaurus suggesting that they could have served as passive defense against predators in both genera. The skull was gracile and equipped with around 44 teeth that were pencil-shaped and restricted to the front of the jaws. The eye openings of Bajadasaurus were exposed in top view of the skull, possibly allowing the animal to look forwards while feeding. Bajadasaurus was discovered in sedimentary rocks of the Bajada Colorada Formation, and its environment resembled a braided river system. It shared its environment with other dinosaurs including the sauropod Leinkupal and different theropods.

Lily: OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: MOSASAURUS!

Lily fired a wave of water and it formed into the marine reptile from 87 million years ago: Mosasaurus!

---

Mosasaurus (/ˌmoʊzəˈsɔːrəs/; "lizard of the Meuse River") is the type genus of the mosasaurs, an extinct group of aquatic squamate reptiles. The genus lived from about 82 to 66 million years ago during the Campanian and Maastrichtian stages of the Late Cretaceous. The earliest fossils known to science were found as skulls in a chalk quarry near the Dutch city of Maastricht in the late 1700s, which were initially thought to have been the bones of crocodiles or whales. One particular skull discovered at around 1780, and which was seized during the French Revolutionary Wars for its scientific value and transported to Paris, was famously nicknamed the "great animal of Maastricht". In 1808, naturalist Georges Cuvier concluded that it belonged to a giant marine lizard with similarities to monitor lizards but otherwise unlike any animal known today. This concept was revolutionary at the time and helped support the then-developing ideas of extinction. However, Cuvier did not designate a scientific name for the new animal; this task was completed by William Daniel Conybeare in 1822 when he named it Mosasaurus in reference to its origin in fossil deposits near the Meuse River. The relationships between Mosasaurus and modern reptiles are controversial and scientists continue to debate whether its closest living relatives are monitor lizards or snakes.

Traditional interpretations have estimated the maximum length of Mosasaurus to be up to 17.6 meters (58 ft), making it one of the largest mosasaur genera. Its skull, which was either broad or slender depending on the species, was equipped with robust jaws capable of swinging back and forth and strong muscles capable of powerful bites using dozens of large teeth designed for cutting prey. Its tail was long and ended in a paddle-like fluke that bent downwards. Mosasaurus was a predator that had excellent vision to compensate for its poor sense of smell, and a high metabolic rate that suggests it was warm-blooded, an adaptation found in other mosasaurs but no other squamates. The classification of Mosasaurus was historically problematic due to an unclear diagnosis of the type specimen. As a result, over fifty different species have been attributed to the genus in the past. A rediagnosis of the type specimen in 2017 helped resolve the taxonomy issue and confirmed at least five species to be within the genus and another five species still nominally classified within Mosasaurus are planned to be reassessed in a future study. Each species was variable with unique anatomical features differentiating them from the robustly-built M. hoffmannii to the slender and serpentine M. lemonnieri.

Fossil evidence suggests that Mosasaurus inhabited much of the Atlantic Ocean and the seaways adjacent to it. Continents that have recovered Mosasaurus fossils include North America, South America, Europe, Africa, Western Asia, and Antarctica. This distribution encompassed a wide range of oceanic climates including tropical, subtropical, temperate, and subpolar climates. Mosasaurus was a common large predator in these oceans and a dominant genus positioned at the top of the food chain. Scientists believe that its diet would have included virtually anything; it likely preyed on bony fish, sharks, cephalopods, birds, and other marine reptiles including sea turtles and other mosasaurs. It likely preferred to hunt in open water near the surface. From an ecological standpoint, Mosasaurus probably had a profound impact in the structuring of marine ecosystems; its arrival in some locations such as the Western Interior Seaway in North America has been marked with a complete turnover of faunal assemblages and diversity. Mosasaurus faced competition with other large predatory mosasaurs such as Prognathodon and Tylosaurus-which are known to feed on similar prey-though they were able to coexist in the same ecosystems through niche partitioning. There were conflicts among them, as an attack on Mosasaurus by Tylosaurus has been documented. Several discovered fossils illustrated deliberate attacks on Mosasaurus individuals by another of the same species. Infighting likely took place in the form of snout grappling, similarly seen in modern crocodiles today.

Mamenchisaurus (/mɑːˈmɛntʃiˈsɔːrəs/ mah-MUN-chi-SAWR-əs, or spelling pronunciation /məˌmɛntʃiˈsɔːrəs/) is a genus of sauropod dinosaur including several species, known for their remarkably long necks[3] which made up half the total body length. It is known from numerous species which ranged in time from 160 to 145 million years ago, from the Oxfordian age of late Jurassic Period in China. The largest species, which according to Gregory S. Paul was M. sinocanadorum, may have reached 35 m (115 ft) in length and possibly weighed 50-80 tonnes (55-88 short tons).

Rainbow Dash: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: HAAST'S EAGLE!

Rainbow Dash fired a wave of wind and it formed into the one of the ancestral eagles from 1.8 million to 700,000 years ago: The Haast's Eagle!

---

The Haast's eagle (Hieraaetus moorei, synonym Harpagornis moorei) is an extinct species of eagle that once lived in the South Island of New Zealand, commonly accepted to be the pouakai of Maori legend. The species was the largest eagle known to have existed, with an estimated weight of 15 kilograms (33 lb) nearly double that of the Harpy eagle at 9 kilograms (20 lb). Its massive size is explained as an evolutionary response to the size of its prey, the flightless moa, the largest of which could weigh 230 kg (510 lb). Haast's eagle became extinct around 1400, after the moa were hunted to extinction by the first Māori.

Shrek: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: DEINOSUCHUS!

Shrek fired a wave of water and it formed into one of the first crocodiles from 82 million years ago: Deinosuchus!

---

Deinosuchus (/ˌdaɪnəˈsjuːkəs/) is an extinct genus of crocodilian related to the modern alligator that lived 82 to 73 million years ago (Ma), during the late Cretaceous period. The name translates as "terrible crocodile" and is derived from the Greek deinos (δεινός), "terrible", and soukhos (σοῦχος), "crocodile". The first remains were discovered in North Carolina (United States) in the 1850s; the genus was named and described in 1909. Additional fragments were discovered in the 1940s and were later incorporated into an influential, though inaccurate, skull reconstruction at the American Museum of Natural History. Knowledge of Deinosuchus remains incomplete, but better cranial material found in recent years has expanded scientific understanding of this massive predator.

Although Deinosuchus was far larger than any modern crocodile or alligator, with the largest adults measuring 12 meters (39 ft) in total length, its overall appearance was fairly similar to its smaller relatives. It had large, robust teeth built for crushing, and its back was covered with thick hemispherical osteoderms. One study indicated Deinosuchus may have lived for up to 50 years, growing at a rate similar to that of modern crocodilians, but maintaining this growth over a much longer time.

Deinosuchus fossils have been described from 10 U.S. states, including Texas, Montana, and many along the East Coast. Fossils have also been found in northern Mexico. It lived on both sides of the Western Interior Seaway, and was an opportunistic apex predator in the coastal regions of eastern North America. Deinosuchus reached its largest size in its western habitat, but the eastern populations were far more abundant. Opinion remains divided as to whether these two populations represent separate species. Deinosuchus was probably capable of killing and eating large dinosaurs. It may have also fed upon sea turtles, fish, and other aquatic and terrestrial prey.

Lincoln: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: GORGOSAURUS!

Lincoln fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Theropod from 76.6 million years ago: Gorgosaurus!

---

Gorgosaurus (/ˌɡɔːrɡəˈsɔːrəs/ GOR-gə-SOR-əs; meaning "dreadful lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid theropod dinosaur that lived in western North America during the Late Cretaceous Period (Campanian), between about 76.6 and 75.1 million years ago. Fossil remains have been found in the Canadian province of Alberta and possibly the U.S. state of Montana. Paleontologists recognize only the type species, G. libratus, although other species have been erroneously referred to the genus.

Like most known tyrannosaurids, Gorgosaurus was a bipedal predator weighing more than two metric tons as an adult; dozens of large, sharp teeth lined its jaws, while its two-fingered forelimbs were comparatively small. Gorgosaurus was most closely related to Albertosaurus, and more distantly related to the larger Tyrannosaurus. Gorgosaurus and Albertosaurus are extremely similar, distinguished mainly by subtle differences in the teeth and skull bones. Some experts consider G. libratus to be a species of Albertosaurus; this would make Gorgosaurus a junior synonym of that genus.

Gorgosaurus lived in a lush floodplain environment along the edge of an inland sea. It was an apex predator, preying upon abundant ceratopsids and hadrosaurs. In some areas, Gorgosaurus coexisted with another tyrannosaurid, Daspletosaurus. Although these animals were roughly the same size, there is some evidence of niche differentiation between the two. Gorgosaurus is the best-represented tyrannosaurid in the fossil record, known from dozens of specimens. These plentiful remains have allowed scientists to investigate its ontogeny, life history and other aspects of its biology.

Scutosaurus ("Shield lizard") was a genus of parareptiles. It was an armor-covered pareiasaur that lived around 265-254 million years ago in Russia, in the later Permian period. Its genus name refers to large plates of armor scattered across its body. It was a large anapsid reptile that, unlike most reptiles, held its legs underneath its body to support its great weight. Fossils have been found in the Sokolki Assemblage Zone of the Malokinelskaya Formation in European Russia, close to the Ural Mountains.

Bart: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DINOGORGON!

Bart fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Gorgonopsid from 259 million years ago: Dinogorgon!

---

Dinogorgon is a genus of gorgonopsid from the Late Permian of South Africa and Tanzania. The generic name Dinogorgon is derived from Greek, meaning "terrible gorgon", while its species name rubidgei is taken from the surname of renowned Karoo paleontologist, Professor Bruce Rubidge, who has contributed to much of the research conducted on therapsids of the Karoo Basin. The type species of the genus is D. rubidgei.

Dinogorgon is part of the gorgonopsian subfamily Rubidgeinae, a derived group of large-bodied gorgonopsians restricted to the Late Permian (Lopingian). The Rubidgeinae subfamily first appeared in the Tropidostoma Assemblage Zone, and reached their highest diversity in the Cistecephalus and Daptocephalus assemblage zones of the Beaufort Group in South Africa.

Homer: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: EDAPHOSAURUS!

Homer fired a wave of earth and it formed into Dimetrodon-like synapsid from 303.4 million years ago: Edaphosaurus!

Edaphosaurus (/ˌɛdəfoʊˈsɔːrəs/, meaning "pavement lizard" for dense clusters of teeth) is a genus of extinct edaphosaurid synapsids that lived in what is now North America and Europe around 303.4 to 272.5 million years ago, during the late Carboniferous to early Permian periods. American paleontologist Edward Drinker Cope first described Edaphosaurus in 1882, naming it for the "dental pavement" on both the upper and lower jaws, from the Greek edaphos ἐδαφος ("ground"; also "pavement") and σαῦρος (sauros) ("lizard").

Edaphosaurus is important as one of the earliest-known, large, plant-eating (herbivorous), amniote tetrapods (four-legged land-living vertebrates). In addition to the large tooth plates in its jaws, the most characteristic feature of Edaphosaurus is a sail on its back. A number of other synapsids from the same time period also have tall dorsal sails, most famously the large apex predator Dimetrodon. However, the sail on Edaphosaurus is different in shape and morphology. The first fossils of Edaphosaurus came from the Texas Red Beds in North America, with later finds in New Mexico, Oklahoma, West Virginia, and Ohio. Fragmentary fossils attributed to Edaphosaurus have also been found in eastern Germany in Central Europe.

Tabby: FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: DILOPHOSAURUS!

Tabby fired a wave of leaves and water and it formed into the theropod from 193 million years ago: Dilophosaurus!

Dilophosaurus (/daɪˌloʊfəˈsɔːrəs, -foʊ-/ dy-LOHF-o-SOR-əs) is a genus of theropod dinosaurs that lived in what is now North America during the Early Jurassic, about 193 million years ago. Three skeletons were discovered in northern Arizona in 1940, and the two best preserved were collected in 1942. The most complete specimen became the holotype of a new species in the genus Megalosaurus, named M. wetherilli by Samuel P. Welles in 1954. Welles found a larger skeleton belonging to the same species in 1964. Realizing it bore crests on its skull, he assigned the species to the new genus Dilophosaurus in 1970, as Dilophosaurus wetherilli. The genus name means "two-crested lizard", and the species name honors John Wetherill, a Navajo councilor. Further specimens have since been found, including an infant.

Footprints have also been attributed to the animal, including resting traces. Another species, Dilophosaurus sinensis from China, was named in 1993, but was later found to belong to the genus Sinosaurus. It was designated as the state dinosaur of Connecticut based on tracks found there.

At about 7 m (23 ft) in length, with a weight of about 400 kg (880 lb), Dilophosaurus was one of the earliest large predatory dinosaurs and the largest known land-animal in North America at the time. It was slender and lightly built, and the skull was proportionally large, but delicate. The snout was narrow, and the upper jaw had a gap or kink below the nostril. It had a pair of longitudinal, plate-shaped crests on its skull, similar to a cassowary with two crests. The mandible was slender and delicate at the front, but deep at the back. The teeth were long, curved, thin, and compressed sideways. Those in the lower jaw were much smaller than those of the upper jaw. Most of the teeth had serrations at their front and back edges. The neck was long, and its vertebrae were hollow, and very light. The arms were powerful, with a long and slender upper arm bone. The hands had four fingers; the first was short but strong and bore a large claw, the two following fingers were longer and slenderer with smaller claws; the fourth was vestigial. The thigh bone was massive, the feet were stout, and the toes bore large claws.

Dilophosaurus is a member of the family Dilophosauridae along with Dracovenator, a group placed between the Coelophysidae and later theropods. Dilophosaurus would have been active and bipedal, and may have hunted large animals; it could also have fed on smaller animals and fish. Due to the limited range of movement and shortness of the fore limbs, the mouth may instead have made first contact with prey. The function of the crests is unknown; they were too weak for battle, but may have been used in visual display, such as species recognition and sexual selection. It may have grown rapidly, attaining a growth rate of 30 to 35 kg (66 to 77 lb) per year early in life. The holotype specimen had multiple paleopathologies, including healed injuries and signs of a developmental anomaly. Dilophosaurus is known from the Kayenta Formation, and lived alongside dinosaurs such as Megapnosaurus and Sarahsaurus.

Dilophosaurus was featured in the novel Jurassic Park and its movie adaptation, wherein it was given the fictional abilities to spit venom and expand a neck frill, as well as being smaller than the real animal.

Kipo: HORIZON STYLE NINJA ART: AMERICAN LION!

Kipo fired a wave of red and purple energy and it formed into the Ice Age lions from 340,000 to 11,000 years ago: The American Lions!

---

The American lion (Panthera atrox), also known as the "North American lion", or "American cave lion", is an extinct pantherine cat that lived in North America during the Pleistocene epoch and the early Holocene epoch, about 340,000 to 11,000 years ago. Its fossils have been excavated from Alaska to Mexico. Genetic analysis has shown that the American lion and the Late Pleistocene Eurasian cave lion (Panthera spelaea) are sister lineages. It was about 25% larger than the modern lion, making it one of the largest known felids.

Nelson: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: CAMARASAURUS!

Nelson fired a wave of earth and it formed into the sauropod from 155 million years ago: Camerasaurus!

---

Camarasaurus (/ˌkæmərəˈsɔːrəs/ KAM-ər-ə-SAWR-əs) was a genus of quadrupedal, herbivorous dinosaurs. It was the most common of the giant sauropods to be found in North America. Its fossil remains have been found in the Morrison Formation of Colorado and Utah, dating to the Late Jurassic epoch (Kimmeridgian to Tithonian stages), between 155 and 145 million years ago.

Camarasaurus presented a distinctive cranial profile of a blunt snout and an arched skull that was remarkably square. It likely travelled in herds, or at least in family groups.

The name means "chambered lizard", referring to the hollow chambers in its vertebrae (Greek καμαρα (kamara) meaning "vaulted chamber", or anything with an arched cover, and σαυρος (sauros) meaning "lizard").

Hinata: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: PACHYRHINOSAURUS!

Hinata fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ceratopsian from 73.5 million years ago: Pachyrhinosaurus!

---

Pachyrhinosaurus (meaning in Greek "thick-nosed lizard", from Παχυ (pachy), thick; ρινὀ (rinó), nose; and σαυρος (sauros), lizard) is an extinct genus of centrosaurine ceratopsid dinosaur from the Late Cretaceous period of North America. The first examples were discovered by Charles M. Sternberg in Alberta, Canada, in 1946, and named in 1950. Over a dozen partial skulls and a large assortment of other fossils from various species have been found in Alberta and Alaska. A great number were not available for study until the 1980s, resulting in a relatively recent increase of interest in Pachyrhinosaurus.

Three species have been identified. P. lakustai, from the Wapiti Formation, the bonebed horizon of which is roughly equivalent age to the upper Bearpaw and lower Horseshoe Canyon Formations, is known to have existed from about 73.5-72.5 million years ago. P. canadensis is younger, known from the lower Horseshoe Canyon Formation, about 71.5-71 Ma ago and the St. Mary River Formation. Fossils of the youngest species, P. perotorum, have been recovered from the Prince Creek Formation of Alaska, and date to 70-69 Ma ago. The presence of three known species makes this genus the most speciose among the centrosaurines.

Kiba: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: POSTOSUCHUS!

Kiba fired a wave of earth and it formed into the rauisuchid from 221 million years ago: Postosuchus!

---

Postosuchus, meaning "Crocodile from Post", is an extinct genus of rauisuchid reptiles comprising two species, P. kirkpatricki and P. alisonae, that lived in what is now North America during the Late Triassic. Postosuchus is a member of the clade Pseudosuchia, the lineage of archosaurs that includes modern crocodilians (the other main group of archosaurs is Avemetatarsalia, the lineage that includes non-avian dinosaurs and their descendants, birds). Its name refers to Post Quarry, a place in Texas where many fossils of the type species, P. kirkpatricki, were found. It was one of the apex predators of its area during the Triassic, larger than the small dinosaur predators of its time (such as Coelophysis). It was a hunter which probably preyed on large large bulky herbivores like dicynodonts and many other creatures smaller than itself (such as early dinosaurs).

The skeleton of Postosuchus is large and robust with a deep skull and a long tail. The total body length is about 4 to 5 metres (13 to 16 ft). The extreme shortness of the forelimbs relative to the hind limbs, the very small hands, and measurements of the vertebrae suggest that Postosuchus may have been committed to bipedal locomotion.

Rock Lee: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: MOSCHOPS!

Rock Lee fired a wave of earth and it formed into the therapsid from 265 million years ago: Moschops!

---

Moschops (Greek for "calf face") is an extinct genus of therapsids that lived in the Guadalupian epoch, around 265-260 million years ago. They were heavily built plant eaters, and they may have lived partly in water, as hippopotamuses do. They had short, thick heads and might have competed by head-butting each other. Their elbow joints allowed them to walk with a more mammal-like gait rather than crawling. Their remains were found in the Karoo region of South Africa, belonging to the Tapinocephalus Assemblage Zone. Therapsids, such as Moschops, are synapsids, the dominant land animals in the Permian period, which ended 252 million years ago.

Tenten: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: ANKYLOSAURUS!

Tenten fired a wave of earth and it formed into the armored dinosaur from 68 million years ago: Ankylosaurus!

Ankylosaurus is a genus of armored dinosaur. Its fossils have been found in geological formations dating to the very end of the Cretaceous Period, about 68-66 million years ago, in western North America, making it among the last of the non-avian dinosaurs. It was named by Barnum Brown in 1908; the only species in the genus is A. magniventris. The genus name means "fused lizard", and the specific name means "great belly". A handful of specimens have been excavated to date, but a complete skeleton has not been discovered. Though other members of Ankylosauria are represented by more extensive fossil material, Ankylosaurus is often considered the archetypal member of its group, despite having some unusual features.

Possibly the largest-known ankylosaurid, Ankylosaurus is estimated to have been between 6 and 8 meters (20 and 26 ft) long and to have weighed between 4.8 and 8 metric tons (5.3 and 8.8 short tons). It was quadrupedal, with a broad, robust body. It had a wide, low skull, with two horns pointing backward from the back of the head, and two horns below these that pointed backward and down. Unlike other ankylosaurs, its nostrils faced sideways rather than towards the front. The front part of the jaws was covered in a beak, with rows of small, leaf-shaped teeth farther behind it. It was covered in armor plates, or osteoderms, with bony half-rings covering the neck, and had a large club on the end of its tail. Bones in the skull and other parts of the body were fused, increasing their strength, and this feature is the source of the genus name.

Ankylosaurus is a member of the family Ankylosauridae, and its closest relatives appear to be Anodontosaurus and Euoplocephalus. Ankylosaurus is thought to have been a slow-moving animal, able to make quick movements when necessary. Its broad muzzle indicates it was a non-selective browser. Sinuses and nasal chambers in the snout may have been for heat and water balance or may have played a role in vocalization. The tail club is thought to have been used in defense against predators or in intraspecific combat. Ankylosaurus has been found in the Hell Creek, Lance, Scollard, Frenchman, and Ferris formations, but appears to have been rare in its environment. Although it lived alongside a nodosaurid ankylosaur, their ranges and ecological niches do not appear to have overlapped, and Ankylosaurus may have inhabited upland areas. Ankylosaurus also lived alongside dinosaurs such as Tyrannosaurus, Triceratops, and Edmontosaurus.

Ino: FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: MASSOSPONDYLUS!

Ino fired a wave of fire and it formed into the sauropodomorph dinosaur from 200 million years ago: Massospondylus!

---

Massospondylus (/ˌmæsoʊ'spɒndɪləs/ mas-oh-SPON-di-ləs; from Greek, μάσσων (massōn, "longer") and σπόνδυλος (spondylos, "vertebra")) is a genus of sauropodomorph dinosaur from the Early Jurassic Period (Hettangian to Pliensbachian ages, ca. 200-183 million years ago). It was described by Sir Richard Owen in 1854 from remains discovered in South Africa, and is thus one of the first dinosaurs to have been named. Fossils have since been found at other locations in South Africa, Lesotho, and Zimbabwe. Material from Arizona's Kayenta Formation, India, and Argentina has been assigned to this genus at various times, but the Arizonan and Argentinian material are now assigned to other genera.

The type species is M. carinatus; seven other species have been named during the past 150 years, but only M. kaalae among these is still considered valid. Early sauropodomorphs systematics have undergone numerous revisions during the last several years, and many scientists disagree where exactly Massospondylus lies on the dinosaur evolutionary tree. The family name Massospondylidae was once coined for the genus, but because knowledge of early sauropodomorph relationships is in a state of flux, it is unclear which other dinosaurs-if any-belong in a natural grouping of massospondylids; several 2007 papers support the family's validity.

Although Massospondylus was long depicted as quadrupedal, a 2007 study found it to be bipedal. It was probably a plant eater (herbivore), although it is speculated that the early sauropodomorphs may have been omnivorous. This animal, which was 4-6 metres (13-20 ft) long, had a long neck and tail, with a small head and slender body. On each of its forefeet, it bore a sharp thumb claw that was used in defense or feeding. Recent studies indicate that Massospondylus grew steadily throughout its lifespan, possessed air sacs similar to those of birds, and may have cared for its young.

Haku: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: AMERICAN MASTODON!

Haku fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ancestral elephant of the Great Ice Age from 5.3 million to 10,000 years ago: The American Mastodon!

---

A mastodon (Greek: μαστός "breast" and ὀδοὺς, "tooth") is any proboscidean belonging to the extinct genus Mammut (family Mammutidae) that inhabited North and Central America during the late Miocene or late Pliocene up to their extinction at the end of the Pleistocene 10,000 to 11,000 years ago. Mastodons lived in herds and were predominantly forest-dwelling animals that lived on a mixed diet obtained by browsing and grazing, somewhat similar to their distant relatives, modern elephants, but probably with greater emphasis on browsing.

M. americanum, the American mastodon, and M. pacificus, the Pacific mastodon, are the youngest and best-known species of the genus. Mastodons disappeared from North America as part of a mass extinction of most of the Pleistocene megafauna, widely believed to have been caused by overexploitation by Clovis hunters.

Sasuke: LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: COMPSOGNATHUS!

Sasuke fired a wave of lightning and it formed into the fast carnivore from 150.8 million years ago: Compsognathus!

---

Compsognathus (/kɒmp'sɒgnəθəs/; Greek kompsos/κομψός; "elegant", "refined" or "dainty", and gnathos/γνάθος; "jaw") is a genus of small, bipedal, carnivorous theropod dinosaur. Members of its single species Compsognathus longipes could grow to around the size of a turkey. They lived about 150 million years ago, during the Tithonian age of the late Jurassic period, in what is now Europe. Paleontologists have found two well-preserved fossils, one in Germany in the 1850s and the second in France more than a century later. Today, C. longipes is the only recognized species, although the larger specimen discovered in France in the 1970s was once thought to belong to a separate species and named C. corallestris.

Many presentations still describe Compsognathus as "chicken-sized" dinosaurs because of the size of the German specimen, which is now believed to be a juvenile. Compsognathus longipes is one of the few dinosaur species whose diet is known with certainty: the remains of small, agile lizards are preserved in the bellies of both specimens. Teeth discovered in Portugal may be further fossil remains of the genus.

Although not recognized as such at the time of its discovery, Compsognathus is the first theropod dinosaur known from a reasonably complete fossil skeleton. Until the 1990s, it was the smallest-known non-avialan dinosaur, with the preceding centuries incorrectly labelling them as the closest relative of Archaeopteryx.

Fu: ARTHROPOD STYLE NINJA ART: BRONTOSCORPIO!

Fu fired a wave of energy and it formed into the Silurian early scorpions from over 423 million years ago: Brontoscorpio!

---

Brontoscorpio anglicus is a species of fossil scorpion. Its remains were discovered in Upper Silurian-aged sandstone from Trimpley, Worcestershire, and the species was described on the basis of an incomplete single free finger of a pedipalp, almost 10 centimetres (3.9 in) long. The complete animal is estimated to have been at least 90 centimetres (35 in) long.

The remains were found in terrestrial sediments, but it is believed, that due to its size, Brontoscorpio had to enter the water to molt. Possibly it lived a semi or fully aquatic life.

Arthropleura (Greek for jointed ribs) is a genus of extinct millipede arthropods that lived in what is now northeastern North America and Scotland around 345 to 295 million years ago, from the Viséan stage of the lower Carboniferous Period to the Asselian stage of the lower Permian Period. The larger species of the genus are the largest known land invertebrates of all time, and would have had few, if any, predators.

Sarcosuchus (/ˌsɑːrkoʊˈsuːkəs/; meaning "flesh crocodile") is an extinct genus of crocodyliform and distant relative of living crocodylians that lived during the Early Cretaceous, from the late Hauterivian to the early Albian, 133 to 112 million years ago of what is now Africa and South America. It was one of the largest crocodile-line reptiles, reaching an average estimate of 9 m (30 ft) and 3.5 metric tons (3.9 short tons), but estimated to grow up to 9.5 m (31 ft) in body length and weigh up to 4.3 metric tons (4.7 short tons). It is known from two species, S. imperator from the early Albian Elrhaz Formation of Niger and S. hartti from the Late Hauterivian of northeastern Brazil, other material is known from Morocco and Tunisia and possibly Libya and Mali.

The first remains were discovered during several expeditions led by the French paleontologist Albert-Félix de Lapparent, spanning from 1946 to 1959, in the Sahara. These remains were fragments of the skull, vertebrae, teeth, and scutes. In 1964, an almost complete skull was found in Niger by the French CEA, but it was not until 1997 and 2000 that most of its anatomy became known to science, when an expedition led by the American paleontologist Paul Sereno discovered six new specimens, including one with about half the skeleton intact and most of the spine.

Kabuto fired a wave of water and it formed into a herd of beautiful hadrosaurs from 76.5 million years ago: Parasaurolophus!

Parasaurolophus (/ˌpærəsɔːˈrɒləfəs, -ˌsɔːrəˈloʊfəs/; meaning "near crested lizard" in reference to Saurolophus) is a genus of herbivorous ornithopod dinosaur that lived in what is now North America and possibly Asia during the Late Cretaceous Period, about 76.5-73 million years ago. It was an herbivore that walked both as a biped and as a quadruped. Three species are universally recognized: P. walkeri (the type species), P. tubicen, and the short-crested P. cyrtocristatus. Additionally, a fourth species, P. jiayensis, has been proposed, although it is more commonly placed in the separate genus Charonosaurus. Remains are known from Alberta (Canada), New Mexico and Utah (United States), and possibly Heilongjiang, (China). The genus was first described in 1922 by William Parks from a skull and partial skeleton found in Alberta.

Parasaurolophus was a hadrosaurid, part of a diverse family of Cretaceous dinosaurs known for their range of bizarre head adornments. This genus is known for its large, elaborate cranial crest, which at its largest forms a long curved tube projecting upwards and back from the skull. Charonosaurus from China, which may have been its closest relative, had a similar skull and potentially a similar crest. Visual recognition of both species and sex, acoustic resonance, and thermoregulation have been proposed as functional explanations for the crest. It is one of the rarer hadrosaurids, known from only a handful of good specimens.

Finn: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: LAMBEOSAURUS!

Finn fired a wave of water and it formed into a heard of hadrosaurs from 76 million years ago: Lambeosaurus!

Lambeosaurus (/ˌlæmbioʊˈsɔːrəs/ LAM-bee-o-SAWR-əs; meaning "Lambe's lizard") is a genus of hadrosaurid dinosaur that lived about 75 million years ago, in the Late Cretaceous period (Campanian stage) of North America. This bipedal/quadrupedal, herbivorous dinosaur is known for its distinctive hollow cranial crest, which in the best-known species resembled a hatchet. Several possible species have been named, from Canada, the United States, and Mexico, but only the two Canadian species are currently recognized as valid.

Material relevant to the genus was first named by Lawrence Lambe in 1902. Over twenty years later, the modern name was coined in 1923 by William Parks, in honour of Lambe, based on better preserved specimens. The genus has a complicated taxonomic history, in part because small-bodied crested hadrosaurids now recognized as juveniles were once thought to belong to their own genera and species. Currently, the various skulls assigned to the type species L. lambei are interpreted as showing age differences and sexual dimorphism. Lambeosaurus was closely related to the better known Corythosaurus, which is found in slightly older rocks, as well as the less well-known genera Hypacrosaurus and Olorotitan. All had unusual crests, which are now generally assumed to have served social functions like noisemaking and recognition.

Jake the Dog: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: TSINTAOSAURUS!

Jake fired a wave of water and it formed into a herd of hadrosaurs from 70 million years ago: Tsintaosaurus!

Tsintaosaurus (/tʃɪŋdaʊˈsɔːrəs/; meaning "Qingdao lizard", after the old transliteration "Tsingtao") is a genus of hadrosaurid dinosaur from China. It was about 8.3 metres (27 ft) long and weighed 2.5 tonnes. The type species is Tsintaosaurus spinorhinus, first described by Chinese paleontologist C. C. Young in 1958.

A hadrosaur, Tsintaosaurus had a characteristic 'duck bill' snout and a battery of powerful teeth which it used to chew vegetation. It usually walked on all fours, but could rear up on its hind legs to scout for predators and flee when it spotted one. Like other hadrosaurs, Tsintaosaurus probably lived in herds.

Flame Princess: FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: CARCHARODONTOSAURUS!

Flame Princess fired a wave of fire and it formed into theropod from 100 million years ago: Carcharodontosaurus!

---

Carcharodontosaurus /ˌkɑːrkəroʊˌdɒntoʊˈsɔːrəs/ is a genus of carnivorous carcharodontosaurid dinosaurs that existed during the Cenomanian stage of the mid-Cretaceous Period in Northern Africa. It is currently known to include two species: C. saharicus and C. iguidensis, which are among the larger theropods, nearly as large as or even larger than Tyrannosaurus, Giganotosaurus, and Spinosaurus.

The genus Carcharodontosaurus is named after the shark genus Carcharodon, itself composed of the Greek karchar[os] (κάρχαρος, meaning "jagged" or "sharp") and odōn (ὀδών, "teeth"), and the suffix -saurus ("lizard").

Mario fired a wave of water and it formed into the hadrosaur from 77 million years ago: Corythosaurus!

Corythosaurus /ˌkɒrɪθoʊˈsɔːrəs/ is a genus of hadrosaurid "duck-billed" dinosaur from the Upper Cretaceous Period, about 77-75.7 million years ago. It lived in what is now North America. Its name means "helmet lizard", derived from Greek κόρυς. It was named and described in 1914 by Barnum Brown. Corythosaurus is now thought to be a lambeosaurine, related to Nipponosaurus, Velafrons, Hypacrosaurus, and Olorotitan. Corythosaurus has an estimated length of 9 metres (30 ft), and has a skull, including the crest, that is 70.8 centimetres (27.9 in; 2.32 ft) tall.

Corythosaurus is known from many complete specimens, including the nearly complete holotype found by Brown in 1911. The holotype skeleton is only missing the last section of the tail, and part of the forelimbs, but was preserved with impressions of polygonal scales. Corythosaurus is known from many skulls with tall crests. The crests resemble the crests of the cassowary and a Corinthian helmet. The most likely function of the crest is thought to be vocalization. As in a trombone, sound waves would travel through many chambers in the crest, and then get amplified when Corythosaurus exhaled. A Corythosaurus specimen has been preserved with its last meal in its chest cavity. Inside the cavity were remains of conifer needles, seeds, twigs, and fruits: Corythosaurus probably fed on all of these.

The two species of Corythosaurus are both present in slightly different levels of the Dinosaur Park Formation. Both still co-existed with theropods and other ornithischians, like Daspletosaurus, Brachylophosaurus, Parasaurolophus, Scolosaurus, and Chasmosaurus.

Luigi: (Italian Accent) ARTHROPOD STYLE NINJA ART: MEGANEURA!

Luigi fired a wave of energy and it formed into a swarm of the Carboniferous dragonflies from 305 million years ago: Meganeura!

---

Meganeura is a genus of extinct insects from the Carboniferous period (approximately 300 million years ago), which resembled and are related to the present-day dragonflies. With wingspans ranging from 65 cm (25.6 in) to over 70 cm (28 in), M. monyi is one of the largest-known flying insect species. Meganeura were predatory, with their diet mainly consisting of other insects.

Wing venation of Meganeura monyi, redrawn after Brongniart (1893, Pl. XLI)

Fossils were discovered in the French Stephanian Coal Measures of Commentry in 1880. In 1885, French paleontologist Charles Brongniart described and named the fossil "Meganeura" (large-nerved), which refers to the network of veins on the insect's wings. Another fine fossil specimen was found in 1979 at Bolsover in Derbyshire. The holotype is housed in the National Museum of Natural History, in Paris.

Mei Terumi: OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: MEGALODON!

Mei fired a wave of water and it formed into the largest and most meanest shark ever to swim the ocean and the ancestor of the Great White Shark from 23 million years ago.

---

Megalodon (Carcharocles megalodon), meaning "big tooth", is an extinct species of shark that lived approximately 23 to 3.6 million years ago (mya), during the Early Miocene to the Pliocene. It was formerly thought to be a member of the family Lamnidae and a close relative of the great white shark (Carcharodon carcharias). However, it is now classified into the extinct family Otodontidae, which diverged from the great white shark during the Early Cretaceous. Its genus placement is still debated, authors placing it in either Carcharocles, Megaselachus, Otodus, or Procarcharodon. This is because transitional fossils have been found showing that Megalodon is the final chronospecies of a lineage of giant sharks originally of the genus Otodus which evolved during the Paleocene.

While regarded as one of the largest and most powerful predators to have ever lived, megalodon is known from fragmentary remains, and its appearance and maximum size are uncertain. Scientists differ on whether it would have more closely resembled a stockier version of the great white shark, the basking shark (Cetorhinus maximus) or the sand tiger shark (Carcharias taurus). Most estimates of megalodon's size extrapolate from teeth; with maximum length estimates up to 18 meters (59 ft) and average length estimates of 10.5 meters (34 ft). Estimates suggest their large jaws could exert a bite force of up to 110,000 to 180,000 newtons (25,000 to 40,000 lbf).[7] Their teeth were thick and robust, built for grabbing prey and breaking bone.

Megalodon probably had a major impact on the structure of marine communities. The fossil record indicates that it had a cosmopolitan distribution. It probably targeted large prey, such as whales, seals and sea turtles. Juveniles inhabited warm coastal waters and fed on fish and small whales. Unlike the great white, which attacks prey from the soft underside, megalodon probably used its strong jaws to break through the chest cavity and puncture the heart and lungs of its prey.

The animal faced competition from whale-eating cetaceans, such as Livyatan and other macroraptorial sperm whales and possibly smaller ancestral killer whales. As the shark preferred warmer waters, it is thought that oceanic cooling associated with the onset of the ice ages, coupled with the lowering of sea levels and resulting loss of suitable nursery areas, may have also contributed to its decline. A reduction in the diversity of baleen whales and a shift in their distribution toward polar regions may have reduced megalodon's primary food source. A 2019 study reviewed newer evidence suggesting that competition from the modern great white shark may have also contributed to the extinction of megalodon, coupled with range fragmentation resulting in a gradual, asynchronous extinction as a result of cooling oceans around 3.6-4 million years ago, far earlier than previously assumed. The extinction of the shark appeared to affect other animals; for example, the size of baleen whales increased significantly after the shark had disappeared.

Carol: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: STEGOSAURUS!

Carol fired a wave of Earth and it formed into the awesome dinosaur from 155 million years ago: Stegosaurus!

Stegosaurus (/ˌstɛɡəˈsɔːrəs/), from Greek stegos (στέγος), which means roof, and sauros (σαῦρος), which means lizard, is a genus of herbivorous thyreophoran dinosaur. Fossils of this genus date to the Late Jurassic period, where they are found in Kimmeridgian to early Tithonian aged strata, between 155 and 150 million years ago, in the western United States and Portugal. Of the species that have been classified in the upper Morrison Formation of the western US, only three are universally recognized; S. stenops, S. ungulatus and S. sulcatus. The remains of over 80 individual animals of this genus have been found. Stegosaurus would have lived alongside dinosaurs such as Apatosaurus, Diplodocus, Brachiosaurus, Allosaurus, and Ceratosaurus; the latter two may have preyed on it.

These were large, heavily built, herbivorous quadrupeds with rounded backs, short fore limbs, long hind limbs, and tails held high in the air. Due to their distinctive combination of broad, upright plates and tail tipped with spikes, Stegosaurus is one of the most recognizable kinds of dinosaurs. The function of this array of plates and spikes has been the subject of much speculation among scientists. Today, it is generally agreed that their spiked tails were most likely used for defense against predators, while their plates may have been used primarily for display, and secondarily for thermoregulatory functions. Stegosaurus had a relatively low brain-to-body mass ratio. It had a short neck and a small head, meaning it most likely ate low-lying bushes and shrubs. One species, Stegosaurus ungulatus, is the largest known of all the stegosaurians (bigger than related dinosaurs such as Kentrosaurus and Huayangosaurus).

Stegosaurus remains were first identified during the "Bone Wars" by Othniel Charles Marsh at Dinosaur Ridge National Landmark. The first known skeletons were fragmentary and the bones were scattered, and it would be many years before the true appearance of these animals, including their posture and plate arrangement, became well understood. Despite its popularity in books and film, mounted skeletons of Stegosaurus did not become a staple of major natural history museums until the mid-20th century, and many museums have had to assemble composite displays from several different specimens due to a lack of complete skeletons. Stegosaurus is one of the better-known dinosaurs, and has been featured in film, postal stamps, and many other types of media.

Beast Boy: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TRICERATOPS!

Beast Boy fired a wave of earth and it formed into the fierce dinosaur from 68 million years ago: Triceratops!

Triceratops is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsid dinosaur that first appeared during the late Maastrichtian stage of the late Cretaceous period, about 68 million years ago (mya) in what is now North America. It is one of the last known non-avian dinosaur genera, and became extinct in the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event 66 million years ago. The name Triceratops, which literally means "three-horned face", is derived from the Ancient Greek words τρί- (tri-) meaning "three", κέρας (kéras) meaning "horn", and ὤψ (ōps) meaning "face".

Triceratops has been documented by numerous remains collected since the genus was first described in 1889 by Othniel Charles Marsh. Specimens representing life stages from hatchling to adult have been found. As the archetypal ceratopsid, Triceratops is one of the most popular dinosaurs, and has been featured in film, postal stamps, and many other types of media.

Bearing a large bony frill and three horns on the skull, and its large four-legged body possessing similarities with the modern rhinoceros, Triceratops is one of the most recognizable of all dinosaurs and the best-known ceratopsid. It was also one of the largest, up to 9 meters (29.5 ft) long and 12 metric tons (13 short tons) in weight. It shared the landscape with and was probably preyed upon by Tyrannosaurus, though it is less certain that the two did battle in the fanciful manner often depicted in museum displays and popular images. The functions of the frills and three distinctive facial horns on its head have long inspired debate. Traditionally, these have been viewed as defensive weapons against predators. More recent interpretations find it probable that these features were primarily used in species identification, courtship and dominance display, much like the antlers and horns of modern ungulates.

Triceratops was traditionally placed within the "short-frilled" ceratopsids but modern cladistic studies show it to be a member of the Chasmosaurinae which usually have long frills. Two species, T. horridus and T. prorsus, are considered valid today, from the seventeen species that have ever been named. Research published in 2010 concluded that the contemporaneous Torosaurus, a ceratopsid long regarded as a separate genus, represents Triceratops in its mature form. This view was immediately disputed with examination of more fossil evidence needed to settle the debate.

Linka: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TOROSAURUS!

Linka fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 68 million years ago: Torosaurus!

Torosaurus ("perforated lizard", in reference to the large openings in its frill) is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsid dinosaur that lived during the late Maastrichtian stage of the Cretaceous period, between 68 and 66 million years ago, though it is possible that the species range might extend to as far as 69 million years ago. Fossils have been discovered across the Western Interior of North America, from Saskatchewan to southern Texas.

Torosaurus possessed one of the largest skulls of any known land animal. The frilled skull reached up to 2.77 metres (9.1 ft) in length. From head to tail, Torosaurus is thought to have measured about 8 to 9 m (26 to 30 ft) long and weighed four to six tonnes. Torosaurus is distinguished from the contemporary Triceratops by an elongate frill with large openings (fenestrae), long squamosal bones of the frill with a trough on their upper surface, and the presence of five or more pairs of hornlets (epoccipitals) on the back of the frill. Torosaurus also lacked the long nose horn seen in Triceratops prorsus, and instead resembled the earlier and more basal Triceratops horridus in having a short nose horn. Three species have been named, Torosaurus latus, T. gladius and T. utahensis. T. gladius is no longer considered a valid species, however.

In 2010, the validity of Torosaurus was disputed. A study of fossil bone histology combined with an investigation of frill shape concluded that Torosaurus probably represented the mature form of Triceratops, with the bones of typical Triceratops specimens still immature and showing signs of a first development of distinct Torosaurus frill holes. During maturation, the skull frill would have been greatly lengthened and holes would have appeared in it. In 2011, 2012 and 2013 however, studies of external features of known specimens have claimed that morphological differences between the two genera preclude their synonymy. The main problems are a lack of good transitional forms, the apparent existence of authentic Torosaurus subadults, different skull proportions independent of maturation and the assertion that hole formation at an adult stage is not part of a normal ceratopsian maturation sequence.

Paula: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: NASUTOCERATOPS!

Paula fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 75.9 million years ago: Nasutoceratops!

Nasutoceratops is an extinct genus of ceratopsian dinosaur. It is a basal centrosaurine which lived during the Late Cretaceous Period (late Campanian, about 76.0-75.5 Ma). Fossils have been found in southern Utah, United States. Nasutoceratops was a large, ground-dwelling, quadrupedal herbivore with a short snout and unique rounded horns above its eyes that have been likened to those of modern cattle. Extending almost to the tip of its snout, these horns are the longest of all the members of the centrosaurine subfamily. The presence of pneumatic elements in the nasal bones of Nasutoceratops are a unique trait and are unknown in any other ceratopsid. Nasutoceratops, Diabloceratops, and Machairoceratops are the only three centrosaurine dinosaurs from the American southwest.

Centrosaurus (/ˌsɛntroʊˈsɔːrəs/ SEN-tro-SAWR-əs) is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsian dinosaurs from the Late Cretaceous of Canada. Their remains have been found in the Dinosaur Park Formation, dating from 76.5 to 75.5 million years ago.

Hulk: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: STYRACOSAURUS!

Hulk fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 75.5 million years ago: Styracosaurus!

Styracosaurus (/stɪˌrækəˈsɔːrəs/ sti-RAK-ə-SOR-əs; meaning "spiked lizard" from the Ancient Greek styrax/στύραξ "spike at the butt-end of a spear-shaft" and sauros/σαῦρος "lizard") is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsian dinosaur from the Cretaceous Period (Campanian stage), about 75.5 to 75 million years ago. It had four to six long parietal spikes extending from its neck frill, a smaller jugal horn on each of its cheeks, and a single horn protruding from its nose, which may have been up to 60 centimetres (2 feet) long and 15 centimetres (6 inches) wide. The function or functions of the horns and frills have been debated for many years.

Styracosaurus was a relatively large dinosaur, reaching lengths of 5.5 metres (18 feet) and weighing nearly 3 tonnes. It stood about 1.8 meters (5.9 feet) tall. Styracosaurus possessed four short legs and a bulky body. Its tail was rather short. The skull had a beak and shearing cheek teeth arranged in continuous dental batteries, suggesting that the animal sliced up plants. Like other ceratopsians, this dinosaur may have been a herd animal, travelling in large groups, as suggested by bonebeds.

Named by Lawrence Lambe in 1913, Styracosaurus is a member of the Centrosaurinae. One species, S. albertensis, is currently assigned to Styracosaurus. Another species, S. ovatus, named in 1930 by Charles Gilmore was reassigned to a new genus, Rubeosaurus, by Andrew McDonald and Jack Horner in 2010.

She-Hulk fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ramming dinosaur from 70 million years ago: Pachycephalosaurus!

Pachycephalosaurus (/ˌpækɪˌsɛfələ'sɔːrəs/; meaning "thick-headed lizard," from Greek pachys-/παχύς- "thick", kephale/κεφαλή "head" and sauros/σαῦρος "lizard") is a genus of pachycephalosaurid dinosaurs. The type species, P. wyomingensis, is the only known species. It lived during the Late Cretaceous Period (Maastrichtian stage) of what is now North America. Remains have been excavated in Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming and Alberta. It was a herbivorous creature which is primarily known from a single skull and a few extremely thick skull roofs, though more complete fossils have been found in recent years. Pachycephalosaurus was one of the last non-avian dinosaurs before the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event. Another dinosaur, Tylosteus of western North America, has been synonymized with Pachycephalosaurus, as have the genera Stygimoloch and Dracorex in recent studies.

Like other pachycephalosaurids, Pachycephalosaurus was a bipedal herbivore with an extremely thick skull roof. It possessed long hindlimbs and small forelimbs. Pachycephalosaurus is the largest-known pachycephalosaur. The thick skull domes of Pachycephalosaurus and related genera gave rise to the hypothesis that pachycephalosaurs used their skulls in intra-species combat. This hypothesis has been disputed in recent years.

Rarity: CRYSTAL STYLE NINJA ART: PLATEOSAURUS!

Rarity fired a wave of crystal and it formed into the protosauropod from 214 million years ago: Plateosaurus!

---

Plateosaurus (probably meaning "broad lizard", often mistranslated as "flat lizard") is a genus of plateosaurid dinosaur that lived during the Late Triassic period, around 214 to 204 million years ago, in what is now Central and Northern Europe and Greenland, North America. Plateosaurus is a basal (early) sauropodomorph dinosaur, a so-called "prosauropod". As of 2011, two species are recognised: the type species P. engelhardti from the late Norian and Rhaetian, and the slightly earlier P. gracilis from the lower Norian. However, others have been assigned in the past, and there is no broad consensus on the species taxonomy of plateosaurid dinosaurs. Similarly, there are a plethora of synonyms (invalid duplicate names) at the genus level.

Discovered in 1834 by Johann Friedrich Engelhardt and described three years later by Hermann von Meyer, Plateosaurus was the fifth named dinosaur genus that is still considered valid. Although it had been described before Richard Owen formally named Dinosauria in 1842, it was not one of the three genera used by Owen to define the group, because at the time, it was poorly known and difficult to identify as a dinosaur. It is now among the dinosaurs best known to science: over 100 skeletons have been found, some of them nearly complete. The abundance of its fossils in Swabia, Germany, has led to the nickname Schwäbischer Lindwurm (Swabian lindworm).

Plateosaurus was a bipedal herbivore with a small skull on a long, flexible neck, sharp but plump plant-crushing teeth, powerful hind limbs, short but muscular arms and grasping hands with large claws on three fingers, possibly used for defence and feeding. Unusually for a dinosaur, Plateosaurus showed strong developmental plasticity: instead of having a fairly uniform adult size, fully grown individuals were between 4.8 and 10 metres (16 and 33 ft) long and weighed between 600 and 4,000 kilograms (1,300 and 8,800 lb). Commonly, the animals lived for at least 12 to 20 years, but the maximum life span is not known.

Despite the great quantity and excellent quality of the fossil material, Plateosaurus was for a long time one of the most misunderstood dinosaurs. Some researchers proposed theories that were later shown to conflict with geological and palaeontological evidence, but have become the paradigm of public opinion. Since 1980 the taxonomy (relationships), taphonomy (how the animals became embedded and fossilised), biomechanics (how their skeletons worked), and palaeobiology (life circumstances) of Plateosaurus have been re-studied in detail, altering the interpretation of the animal's biology, posture and behaviour.

Kentrosaurus (/ˌkɛntroʊˈsɔːrəs/ KEN-tro-SAWR-əs) is a genus of stegosaurian dinosaur from the Late Jurassic of Tanzania. The type species is K. aethiopicus, named and described by German palaeontologist Edwin Hennig in 1915. Often thought to be a "primitive" member of the Stegosauria, several recent cladistic analyses find it as more derived than many other stegosaurs, and a close relative of Stegosaurus from the North American Morrison Formation within the Stegosauridae.

Fossils of K. aethiopicus have been found only in the Tendaguru

Formation, dated to the late Kimmeridgian and early Tithonian ages, about 152 million years ago. Hundreds of bones were unearthed by German expeditions to German East Africa between 1909 and 1912. Although no complete skeletons are known, the remains provided a nearly complete picture of the build of the animal.

Kentrosaurus generally measured around 4.5 metres (15 ft) in length as an adult, and weighed about one tonne (1.1 tons). It walked on all fours with straight hindlimbs. It had a small, elongated head with a beak used to bite off plant material that would be digested in a large gut. It had a, probably double, row of small plates running down its neck and back. These plates gradually merged into spikes on the hip and tail. The longest spikes were on the tail end and were used to actively defend the animal. There also was a long spike on each shoulder. The thigh bones come in two different types, suggesting that one sex was larger and more stout than the other.

James (Pokemon): EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: LYSTROSAURUS!

James fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Dicynodont from 255 million years ago: Lystrosaurus!

---

Lystrosaurus (/ˌlɪstroʊˈsɔːrəs/; 'shovel lizard'; proper Greek is λίστρον lístron 'tool for leveling or smoothing, shovel, spade, hoe') was a herbivorous genus of dicynodont therapsids from the late Permian and Early Triassic epochs (around 250 million years ago). It lived in what is now Antarctica, India, China, Mongolia, European Russia and South Africa. Four to six species are currently recognized, although from the 1930s to 1970s the number of species was thought to be much higher. They ranged in size from that of a small dog to 2.5 meters long.

Being a dicynodont, Lystrosaurus had only two teeth (a pair of tusk-like canines), and is thought to have had a horny beak that was used for biting off pieces of vegetation. Lystrosaurus was a heavily built, herbivorous animal, approximately the size of a pig. The structure of its shoulders and hip joints suggests that Lystrosaurus moved with a semi-sprawling gait. The forelimbs were even more robust than the hindlimbs, and the animal is thought to have been a powerful digger that nested in burrows.

Lystrosaurus survived the Permian-Triassic extinction, 252 million years ago. In the Early Triassic, they were by far the most common terrestrial vertebrates, accounting for as many as 95% of the total individuals in some fossil beds. Researchers have offered various hypotheses for why Lystrosaurus survived the extinction event and prospered in the early Triassic.

Kitten: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: MACRAUCHENIA!

Kitten fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ancestor of the llama from 7 million years ago: Macrauchenia!

---

Macrauchenia ("long llama", based on the now superseded Latin term for llamas, Auchenia, from Greek "big neck") was a large, long-necked and long-limbed, three-toed native South American mammal in the order Litopterna. The genus gives its name to its family, the Macraucheniidae or "robust litopterns". Like other litopterns, it is not closely related to any living mammal, being most closely related to the group containing horses, rhinos and tapirs (the Perissodactyla), from which litopterns diverged approximately 66 million years ago. The oldest fossils in the genus date to the late Miocene, around seven million years ago, and M. patachonica disappears from the fossil record during the late Pleistocene, around 20,000-10,000 years ago. M. patachonica is one of the last and best known member of the family and is known primarily from the Luján Formation in Argentina, but is known from localities across southern South America. Another genus of macraucheniid Xenorhinotherium was present in northeast Brazil and Venezuela during the Late Pleistocene. The type specimen was discovered by Charles Darwin during the voyage of the Beagle. In life, Macrauchenia may have resembled a humpless camel, though the two taxa are not closely related. It fed on plants in a variety of environments across what is now South America. Among the species described, M. patachonica and M. ullomensis are considered valid; M. boliviensis is considered a nomen dubium; and M. antiqua (or M. antiquus) has been moved to the genus Promacrauchenia.

Tuddrussel: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: ALBERTOSAURUS!

Tuddrussel fired a wave of earth and it formed into the theropod from 71 million years ago: Albertosaurus!

Albertosaurus (/ælˌbɜːrtəˈsɔːrəs/; meaning "Alberta lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid theropod dinosaurs that lived in western North America during the Late Cretaceous Period, about 70 million years ago. The type species, A. sarcophagus, was apparently restricted in range to the modern-day Canadian province of Alberta, after which the genus is named, although an indeterminate species ("cf. Albertosaurus sp.") has been discovered in the Corral de Enmedio and Packard Formations in Mexico.[1] Scientists disagree on the content of the genus, with some recognizing Gorgosaurus libratus as a second species.

As a tyrannosaurid, Albertosaurus was a bipedal predator with tiny, two-fingered hands and a massive head that had dozens of large, sharp teeth. It may have been at the top of the food chain in its local ecosystem. While Albertosaurus was large for a theropod, it was much smaller than its larger and more famous relative Tyrannosaurus rex, growing 9 to 10 m (30 to 33 ft) and possibly weighing 2.5 tonnes (2.8 short tons) or less.

Since the first discovery in 1884, fossils of more than 30 individuals have been recovered, providing scientists with a more detailed knowledge of Albertosaurus anatomy than is available for most other tyrannosaurids. The discovery of 26 individuals at one site provides evidence of pack behaviour and allows studies of ontogeny and population biology, which are impossible with lesser-known dinosaurs.

Larry 3000: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: EDMONTOSAURUS!

Larry fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Iguanodont from 73 million years ago: Edmontosaurus!

---

Edmontosaurus (/ɛdˌmɒntəˈsɔːrəs/ ed-MON-tə-SAWR-əs) (meaning "lizard from Edmonton") is a genus of hadrosaurid (duck-billed) dinosaur. It contains two known species: Edmontosaurus regalis and Edmontosaurus annectens. Fossils of E. regalis have been found in rocks of western North America that date from the late Campanian stage of the Cretaceous Period 73 million years ago, while those of E. annectens were found in the same geographic region but in rocks dated to the end of the Maastrichtian stage of the Cretaceous, 66 million years ago. Edmontosaurus was one of the last non-avian dinosaurs, and lived alongside dinosaurs like Triceratops, Tyrannosaurus, Albertosaurus and Pachycephalosaurus shortly before the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event.

Edmontosaurus included some of the largest hadrosaurid species, measuring up to 12 metres (39 ft) long and weighing around 4.0 metric tons (4.4 short tons). Evidence does exist in the form of two fossilized specimens housed at the Museum of the Rockies for an even greater maximum size of 15 m (49 ft) and weighing 9.07 metric tons (10.00 short tons) for Edmontosaurus annectens. Several well-preserved specimens are known that include not only bones, but in some cases extensive skin impressions and possible gut contents. It is classified as a genus of saurolophine (or hadrosaurine) hadrosaurid, a member of the group of hadrosaurids which lacked large, hollow crests, instead having smaller solid crests or fleshy combs.

The first fossils named Edmontosaurus were discovered in southern Alberta (named after Edmonton, the capital city), in the Horseshoe Canyon Formation (formerly called the lower Edmonton Formation). The type species, E. regalis, was named by Lawrence Lambe in 1917, although several other species that are now classified in Edmontosaurus were named earlier. The best known of these is E. annectens, named by Othniel Charles Marsh in 1892; originally as a species of Claosaurus, known for many years as a species of Trachodon, and later as Anatosaurus annectens. Anatosaurus and Anatotitan are now generally regarded as synonyms of Edmontosaurus.

Edmontosaurus was widely distributed across western North America. The distribution of Edmontosaurus fossils suggests that it preferred coasts and coastal plains. It was a herbivore that could move on both two legs and four. Because it is known from several bone beds, Edmontosaurus is thought to have lived in groups, and may have been migratory as well. The wealth of fossils has allowed researchers to study its paleobiology in detail, including its brain, how it may have fed, and its injuries and pathologies, such as evidence for tyrannosaur attacks on a few edmontosaur specimens.

Skipper: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DICYNODON!

Skipper fired a wave of earth and it formed into the dicynodont therapsid from 253.8 to 251 million years ago: Dicynodon!

---

Dicynodon ("two dog-teeth") is a genus of dicynodont therapsid that flourished during the Upper Permian period. Like all dicynodonts, it was herbivorous. This animal was toothless, except for prominent tusks, hence the name. It probably cropped vegetation with a horny beak, much like a tortoise, while the tusks may have been used for digging up roots and tubers.

Many species of Dicynodon have been named, and the genus is considered a wastebasket taxon. A 2011 study of the genus found most of the species to represent a paraphyletic grouping, with the only valid members of Dicynodon being D. lacerticeps and D. huenei. A 2019 study named a new species D. angielczyki, but simultaneously transferred D. huenei to the genus Daptocephalus.

Diictodon was a genus of pylaecephalid dicynodont. These mammal-like synapsids lived during the Late Permian period, approximately 255 million years ago. Fossils have been found in the Cistecephalus Assemblage Zone of the Madumabisa Mudstone of the Luangwa Basin in Zambia and the Tropidostoma Assemblage Zone of the Teekloof Formation, Tapinocephalus Assemblage Zone of the Abrahamskraal Formation, Dicynodon Assemblage Zone of the Balfour Formation, Cistecephalus Assemblage Zone of the Middleton or Balfour Formation of South Africa and the Guodikeng Formation of China. Roughly half of all Permian vertebrate specimens found in South Africa are those of Diictodon. This small herbivorous animal was one of the most successful synapsids in the Permian period.

Ischigualastia is an extinct genus of dicynodonts (a group of synapsids), that lived during the Carnian age of the Late Triassic Period. The genus was found in and named after the Ischigualasto Formation (Cancha de Bochas Member) of the Ischigualasto-Villa Unión Basin in northwestern Argentina. It has been placed in the family Stahleckeriidae.

Numbuh 1 fired a wave of earth and it formed into one of the first ever known dinosaurs from 231 million years ago: Eoraptor!

Eoraptor (/ˈiːoʊˌræptər/) was one of the earliest-known dinosaurs, living approximately 231 to 228 million years ago, during the Late Triassic in Western Gondwana, in the region that is now northwestern Argentina. It was a small, lightly-built, basal saurischian dinosaur. It is known from several well-preserved skeletons. When first described in 1993, it was considered to be the earliest or one of the earliest known dinosaurs. Eoraptor has heterodont dentition, which suggests that it was omnivorous and that the feeding strategy had evolved early on in dinosaurs.

Liberty: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TORVOSAURUS!

Liberty fired a wave of earth and it formed into the theropod dinosaur from 158 million years ago: Torvosaurus!

---

Torvosaurus (/ˌtɔːrvoʊˈsɔːrəs/) is a genus of carnivorous megalosauroid theropod dinosaur that lived approximately 153 to 148 million years ago during the Late Jurassic Period (Kimmeridgian to Tithonian) in what is now Colorado and Portugal. It contains two currently recognized species, Torvosaurus tanneri and Torvosaurus gurneyi.

In 1979 the type species Torvosaurus tanneri was named: it was a large, heavily built, bipedal carnivore, that could grow to a length of about 10 m (33 ft). T. tanneri was among the largest carnivores of its time, together with Epanterias and Saurophaganax (which could be both synonyms of Allosaurus). Specimens referred to Torvosaurus gurneyi were initially claimed to be up to twelve metres long, but later shown to be smaller. Based on bone morphology Torvosaurus is thought to have had short but very powerful arms.

Lyra: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: THRINAXODON!

Lyra fired a wave of earth and it formed into the cynodont from 251 million years ago: Thrinaxodon!

---

Thrinaxodon is an extinct genus of cynodonts, most commonly regarded by its species T. liorhinus which lived in what are now South Africa and Antarctica during the Early Triassic. Thrinaxodon lived just after the Permian-Triassic mass extinction event, its survival during the extinction may have been due to its burrowing habits.

Similar to other synapsids, Thrinaxodon adopted a semi-sprawling posture, an intermediary form between the sprawling position of pelycosaurs (not unlike current Crocodylia) and the more upright posture present in current mammals. Thrinaxodon is prevalent in the fossil record in part because it was one of the few carnivores of its time, and was of a larger size than similar cynodont carnivores.

Lee: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: CHASMOSAURUS!

Lee fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 76.5 million years ago: Chasmosaurus!

---

Chasmosaurus (/ˌkæzmoʊˈsɔːrəs/ KAZ-mo-SAWR-əs) is a genus of ceratopsid dinosaur from the Upper Cretaceous Period of North America. Its name means 'opening lizard', referring to the large openings (fenestrae) in its frill (Greek chasma meaning 'opening' or 'hollow' or 'gulf' and sauros meaning 'lizard'). With a length of 4.3-4.8 metres (14.1-15.7 ft) and a weight of 1.5-2 tonnes (1.7-2.2 short tons), Chasmosaurus was a ceratopsian of average size. Like all ceratopsians, it was purely herbivorous. It was initially to be called Protorosaurus, but this name had been previously published for another animal. All specimens of Chasmosaurus were collected from the Dinosaur Park Formation of the Dinosaur Provincial Park of Alberta, Canada. C. russelli comes from the lower beds of the formation while C. belli comes from middle and upper beds.

Po: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: PROTEROSUCHUS!

Po fired a wave of water and it formed into the Permian reptile from 252 million years ago: Proterosuchus!

Proterosuchus is an extinct genus of archosauriform reptiles that lived during the Early Triassic. It contains three valid species: the type species P. fergusi and the referred species P. alexanderi and P. goweri. All three species lived in what is now South Africa. The genus was named in 1903 by the South African paleontologist Robert Broom. The well-known genus Chasmatosaurus is a junior synonym of Proterosuchus.

Proterosuchus was a mid-sized quadrupedal reptile with a sprawling stance that could reach a length of up to 3.5 meters (11 ft). It had a large head and distinctively hooked snout. It was a predator, which may have hunted prey such as Lystrosaurus. The lifestyle of Proterosuchus remains debated; it may have been terrestrial or it may have been a semiaquatic ambush predator similar to modern crocodiles.

Proterosuchus is one of the earliest members of the clade Archosauriformes, which also includes crocodilians, pterosaurs, and dinosaurs, including birds. It lived in the aftermath of the Permian-Triassic extinction event, the largest known mass extinction in Earth's history.

Fluttershy: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: EUCHAMBERSIA!

Fluttershy fired a wave of earth and it formed into the therapsid from 256 million years ago: Euchambersia!

Euchambersia is a genus of therocephalian therapsid that lived during the Late Permian, approximately 255 million years ago, in what is now South Africa. The genus contains a single species, Euchambersia mirabilis, named by paleontologist Robert Broom in 1931 from a skull missing the lower jaws; a second skull, belonging to an immature individual, was later described. It is a member of the family Akidnognathidae, which historically has also been referred by as the synonymous Euchambersiidae (named after Euchambersia).

Euchambersia was a small and short-snouted therocephalian, possessing large canines as is typical of the group. However, it is notable among therocephalians for possessing ridges on its canines and a large indentation in the side of the skull. Under the erroneous assumption that the canines are grooved instead of ridged, it has been proposed that these structures supported a venom delivery mechanism. More recently, the internal structure of the skull of Euchambersia has been used as stronger evidence in favour of the hypothesis that it was venomous; other possibilities, such as the indentation supporting some sort of sensory organ, still remain plausible.

Jimmy Neutron: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: RHAMPHORHYNCHUS!

Jimmy fired a wave of wind and it formed into the flying reptiles from 150.8 million years ago: Rhamphorhynchus!

---

Rhamphorhynchus (/ˌræmfəˈrɪŋkəs/, "beak snout") is a genus of long-tailed pterosaurs in the Jurassic period. Less specialized than contemporary, short-tailed pterodactyloid pterosaurs such as Pterodactylus, it had a long tail, stiffened with ligaments, which ended in a characteristic soft-tissue tail vane. The jaws of Rhamphorhynchus housed needle-like teeth, which were angled forward, with a curved, sharp, beak-like tip lacking teeth, indicating a diet mainly of fish; indeed, fish and cephalopod remains are frequently found in Rhamphorhynchus abdominal contents, as well as in their coprolites.

Although fragmentary fossil remains possibly belonging to Rhamphorhynchus have been found in England, Tanzania, and Spain, the best preserved specimens come from the Solnhofen limestone of Bavaria, Germany. Many of these fossils preserve not only the bones but impressions of soft tissues, such as wing membranes. Scattered teeth believed to belong to Rhamphorhynchus have been found in Portugal as well.

Kick Buttowski: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: SEYMOURIA!

Kick fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Permian seymouriamorph from 275 million years ago: Seymouria!

Seymouria is an extinct genus of seymouriamorph from the Early Permian of North America and Europe. Although they were amphibians (in a biological sense), Seymouria were well-adapted to life on land, with many reptilian features-so many, in fact, that Seymouria was first thought to be a primitive reptile. It is primarily known from two species, Seymouria baylorensis and Seymouria sanjuanensis. The type species, S. baylorensis, is more robust and specialized, though its fossils have only been found in Texas. On the other hand, Seymouria sanjuanensis is more abundant and widespread. This smaller species is known from multiple well-preserved fossils, including a block of six skeletons found in the Cutler Formation of New Mexico, and a pair of fully grown skeletons from the Tambach Formation of Germany, which were fossilized lying next to each other.

For the first half of the 20th century, Seymouria was considered one of the oldest and most "primitive" known reptiles. Paleontologists noted how the general body shape resembled that of early reptiles such as captorhinids, and that certain adaptations of the limbs, hip, and skull were also similar to that of early reptiles, rather than any species of modern or extinct amphibians known at the time. The strongly-built limbs and backbone also supported the idea that Seymouria was primarily terrestrial, spending very little time in the water. However, in the 1950s, fossilized tadpoles were discovered in Discosauriscus, which was a close relative of Seymouria in the group Seymouriamorpha. This shows that seymouriamorphs (including Seymouria) had a larval stage which lived in the water, therefore making Seymouria not a true reptile, but rather an amphibian which was closely related to reptiles. Though no longer considered the most primitive reptile, Seymouria is still an important transitional fossil documenting the acquisition of reptile-like skeletal features prior to the evolution of the amniotic egg, which characterizes amniotes (reptiles, mammals, and birds).

Kendall Perkins: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: HYNERPETON!

Kendall fired a wave of water and it formed into the Devonian creature from 365 million years ago: Hynerpeton!

---

Hynerpeton (/haɪˈnɜːrpətɒn/; from Hyner, Pennsylvania and Ancient Greek ἑρπετόν herpetón, "creeping animal," meaning "creeping animal from Hyner") is an extinct genus of early four-limbed vertebrate that lived in the rivers and ponds of Pennsylvania during the Late Devonian period, around 365 to 363 million years ago. The only known species of Hynerpeton is H. bassetti, named after the describer's grandfather, city planner Edward Bassett. Hynerpeton is known for being the first Devonian four-limbed vertebrate discovered in the United States, as well as possibly being one of the first to have lost internal (fish-like) gills.

This genus is known from few remains discovered at the Red Hill fossil site in Hyner, Pennsylvania. The most notable fossil is a large endochondral shoulder girdle consisting of the cleithrum, scapula, and coracoid (but not the interclavicle and clavicles), all connected into one shoulder bone. The inner surface of this shoulder bone possesses an array of depressions believed to have been attachment points for a unique set of powerful muscles around the chest. This may have given Hynerpeton improved mobility and weight-bearing abilities compared to other Devonian limbed vertebrates such as Ichthyostega and Acanthostega. The cleithrum (upper blade of the shoulder) is fused to the scapulocoracoid (lower plate of the shoulder, in front of the shoulder socket), unlike in most tetrapods, but the shoulder girdle is independent of the skull, unlike in most fish.

Early four-limbed vertebrates are sometimes referred to as tetrapods (using a trait-based definition of the term), although animals like Hynerpeton, Ichthyostega, and Acanthostega are placed outside the crown group Tetrapoda by the vast majority of paleontologists. From a cladistic (relations-based) point of view, a more accurate term would be "stem-tetrapod" or "stegocephalian", indicating that they were part of the lineage of animals that would lead to true tetrapods such as modern amphibians (Lissamphibia), reptiles, mammals, and birds.

Hynerpeton hails from the Red Hill fossil site, which, during the Late Devonian, was a warm floodplain inhabited by a diverse ecosystem of aquatic fish and terrestrial invertebrates. Hynerpeton was one of several genera of four-limbed vertebrates known from the site, although it was the first to be discovered. It has been theorized that animals like Hynerpeton were able to use their amphibious lifestyle to find shallow pools where they could spawn, isolated from predatory fish which inhabited the deeper rivers.

Juandissimo fired a wave of water and it formed into the Devonian Sarcopterygian from 375 million years ago: Tiktaalik!

Tiktaalik (/tɪkˈtɑːlɪk/; Inuktitut ᑎᒃᑖᓕᒃ [tiktaːlik]) is a monospecific genus of extinct sarcopterygian (lobe-finned fish) from the Late Devonian Period, about 375 Mya (million years ago), having many features akin to those of tetrapods (four-legged animals).

Unearthed in Arctic Canada, Tiktaalik is technically a fish, complete with scales and gills - but it has the flattened head of a crocodile and unusual fins. Its fins have thin ray bones for paddling like most fish, but they also have sturdy interior bones that would have allowed Tiktaalik to prop itself up in shallow water and use its limbs for support as most four-legged animals do. Those fins and a suite of other characteristics set Tiktaalik apart as something special; it has a combination of features that show the evolutionary transition between swimming fish and their descendants, the four-legged vertebrates - a clade which includes amphibians, reptiles, birds and mammals.

It and similar animals may possibly be the common ancestors of the broad swath of all vertebrate terrestrial fauna: amphibians, reptiles, birds, and mammals.

The first well-preserved Tiktaalik fossils were found in 2004 on Ellesmere Island in Nunavut, Canada.

Patrick: OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: LIVYATAN!

Patrick fired a wave of water and it formed into the first ancestral sperm whale from 9 million years ago: Livyatan!

---

Livyatan is an extinct genus of sperm whale containing one species: L. melvillei. The genus name was inspired by the biblical sea monster Leviathan, and the species name by Herman Melville, the author of the famous book Moby-Dick about a white bull sperm whale. It is mainly known from the Pisco Formation of Peru during the Tortonian stage of the Miocene epoch, about 9.9-8.9 million years ago (mya); however, isolated teeth from other locations such as Chile, Argentina, South Africa, and Australia implies that either it or a close relative survived into the Pliocene, around 5 mya, and was present throughout the Southern Hemisphere. It was a member of a group of hyper-predatory macroraptorial sperm whales (or "raptorial sperm whales") and was likely an apex predator, preying on whales, seals, and so forth. Characteristic of raptorial sperm whales, Livyatan had functional, enamel-coated teeth on the upper and lower jaws, as well as several adaptations for hunting large prey.

Livyatan's total length has been estimated to be about 13.5-17.5 m (44-57 ft), similar to the modern sperm whale (Physeter macrocephalus), making it one of the largest predators to have ever existed. The teeth of Livyatan measured 36.2 cm (1.2 ft), and are the largest biting teeth of any known animal, excluding tusks. It is distinguished from the other raptorial sperm whales by the basin on the skull, and how it spans the entire length of the snout. The spermaceti organ, contained in that basin, is thought to have been used in echolocation and communication, or for ramming prey and other sperm whales. The whale may have interacted with the large extinct shark megalodon (Carcharocles megalodon), competing with it for a similar food source. Its extinction was likely caused by a cooling event at the end of the Miocene which resulted in a drop in food populations. The formation where the whale has been found has also preserved a large assemblage of marine life, such as sharks and marine mammals.

Ornitholestes (meaning "bird robber") is a small theropod dinosaur of the late Jurassic (Brushy Basin Member of the Morrison Formation, middle Kimmeridgian age, about 154 million years ago) of Western Laurasia (the area that was to become North America).

To date, Ornitholestes is known only from a single partial skeleton with a badly crushed skull found at the Bone Cabin Quarry near Medicine Bow, Wyoming, in 1900. It was described by Henry Fairfield Osborn in 1903. An incomplete hand was later attributed to Ornitholestes, although it now appears to belong to Tanycolagreus. The type (and only known) species is O. hermanni. The specific name honors the American Museum of Natural History preparator Adam Hermann.

Fuzzy fired a wave of wood and leaves and it formed into the neornithischian dinosaur from 155 million years ago: Nanosaurus A.K.A. Othnielia!

Nanosaurus ("small or dwarf lizard") is the name given to a genus of neornithischian dinosaur that lived about 155 to 148 million years ago, during the Late Jurassic-age. Its fossils are known from the Morrison Formation of the south-western United States. The type and only species, Nanosaurus agilis, was described and named by Othniel Charles Marsh in 1877. The taxon has a complicated taxonomic history, largely the work of Marsh and Peter M. Galton, involving the genera Laosaurus, Hallopus, Drinker, Othnielia, and Othnielosaurus, the latter three now being considered to be synonyms of Nanosaurus. It had historically been classified as a hypsilophodont or fabrosaur, types of generalized small bipedal herbivore, but more recent research has abandoned these groupings as paraphyletic and Nanosaurus is today considered a basal member of Neornithischia.

Magnolia: FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: DAKOTARAPTOR!

Magnolia fired a wave of wood and leaves and it formed into the theropod dinosaur from 66 million years ago: Dakotaraptor.

---

Dakotaraptor is a potentially chimaeric genus of large dromaeosaurid theropod dinosaur that lived in North America during the Late Cretaceous period. The remains have been found in the Maastrichtian stage of the Hell Creek Formation, dated to the very end of the Mesozoic era, making Dakotaraptor one of the last surviving dromaeosaurids. The remains of D. steini were discovered in a multi-species bonebed. Elements of the holotype and referred specimens were later found to belong to trionychid turtles, and further analysis of potential non-dromaeosaurid affinities of the holotype and referred material have not yet been conducted. Phylogenetic analyses of D. steini place it in a variety of positions in the Dromaeosauridae.

Dromaeosaurus (/ˌdroʊmiəˈsɔːrəs, -mioʊ-/, "swift running lizard") is a genus of theropod dinosaur which lived during the Late Cretaceous period (middle late Campanian), sometime between 80 and 72.8 million years ago, in Alberta, Canada and the western United States. The type species is Dromaeosaurus albertensis, which was described by William Diller Matthew and Barnum Brown in 1922.

Goku: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DEINONYCHUS!

Deinonychus (/daɪˈnɒnɪkəs/ dy-NON-i-kəs; from Greek: δεινός deinós, 'terrible' and ὄνυξ ónux, genitive ὄνυχος ónuchos 'claw') is a genus of dromaeosaurid theropod dinosaur with one described species, Deinonychus antirrhopus. This species, which could grow up to 3.4 meters (11 ft) long, lived during the early Cretaceous Period, about 115-108 million years ago (from the mid-Aptian to early Albian stages). Fossils have been recovered from the U.S. states of Montana, Utah, Wyoming, and Oklahoma, in rocks of the Cloverly Formation, Cedar Mountain Formation and Antlers Formation, though teeth that may belong to Deinonychus have been found much farther east in Maryland.

Paleontologist John Ostrom's study of Deinonychus in the late 1960s revolutionized the way scientists thought about dinosaurs, leading to the "dinosaur renaissance" and igniting the debate on whether dinosaurs were warm-blooded or cold-blooded. Before this, the popular conception of dinosaurs had been one of plodding, reptilian giants. Ostrom noted the small body, sleek, horizontal posture, ratite-like spine, and especially the enlarged raptorial claws on the feet, which suggested an active, agile predator.

"Terrible claw" refers to the unusually large, sickle-shaped talon on the second toe of each hind foot. The fossil YPM 5205 preserves a large, strongly curved ungual. In life, archosaurs have a horny sheath over this bone, which extends the length. Ostrom looked at crocodile and bird claws and reconstructed the claw for YPM 5205 as over 120 millimetres (4.7 in) long. The species name antirrhopus means "counter balance", which refers to Ostrom's idea about the function of the tail. As in other dromaeosaurids, the tail vertebrae have a series of ossified tendons and super-elongated bone processes. These features seemed to make the tail into a stiff counterbalance, but a fossil of the very closely related Velociraptor mongoliensis (IGM 100/986) has an articulated tail skeleton that is curved laterally in a long S-shape. This suggests that, in life, the tail could bend to the sides with a high degree of flexibility. In both the Cloverly and Antlers formations, Deinonychus remains have been found closely associated with those of the ornithopod Tenontosaurus. Teeth discovered associated with Tenontosaurus specimens imply they were hunted, or at least scavenged upon, by Deinonychus.

Daspletosaurus (/dæsˌpliːtəˈsɔːrəs/ das-PLEET-o-SAWR-əs; meaning "frightful lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid dinosaur that lived in western North America between about 77 and 74 million years ago, during the Late Cretaceous Period. The genus Daspletosaurus contains two species. Fossils of the earlier type species, D. torosus, have been found in Alberta, while fossils of the later second species, D. horneri, have been found only in Montana. A possible third species, also from Alberta, awaits formal identification. Daspletosaurus is closely related to the much larger and more recent tyrannosaurid Tyrannosaurus rex. Like most tyrannosaurids, Daspletosaurus was a multi-tonne bipedal predator equipped with dozens of large, sharp teeth. Daspletosaurus had the small forelimbs typical of tyrannosaurids, although they were proportionately longer than in other genera.

As an apex predator, Daspletosaurus was at the top of the food chain, probably preying on large dinosaurs like the ceratopsid Centrosaurus and the hadrosaur Hypacrosaurus. In some areas, Daspletosaurus coexisted with another tyrannosaurid, Gorgosaurus, though there is some evidence of niche differentiation between the two. While Daspletosaurus fossils are rarer than other tyrannosaurids', the available specimens allow some analysis of the biology of these animals, including social behavior, diet and life history.

Xenoceratops (meaning "alien horned face") is a genus of centrosaurine ceratopsid dinosaur known from the Late Cretaceous

Sinoceratops /ˌsaɪnoʊˈsɛrətɒps/ is an extinct genus of ceratopsian dinosaur that lived approximately 73 million years ago during the latter part of the Cretaceous Period in what is now Shandong province in China. It was named in 2010 by Xu Xing et al. for three skulls from Zhucheng, China. The name of its type species Sinoceratops zhuchengensis means "Chinese horned face from Zhucheng", after the location of its discovery.

Sinoceratops was a medium-sized, averagely-built, ground-dwelling, quadrupedal herbivore. It could grow up to an estimated 6 m (19.7 ft) length and 2 metres (6.6 ft) height, and weigh up to 2 tonnes (2.0 long tons; 2.2 short tons). It was the first ceratopsid dinosaur discovered in China, and the only ceratopsid known from Asia. All other centrosaurines, and all chasmosaurines, are known from fossils discovered in North America, except for possibly Turanoceratops. Sinoceratops is also significant because it is one of the largest known centrosaurines, and is much larger than any other known basal members of this group.

Sinoceratops was discovered in the Xingezhuang Formation, which was deposited during the late Cretaceous. It lived alongside leptoceratopsids, saurolophines, and tyrannosaurines. The most common creature in the formation was Shantungosaurus, to which most of the material has been assigned. The animals living alongside Sinoceratops and Shantungosaurus were Zhuchengceratops, Zhuchengtitan, and Zhuchengtyrannus.

Me: WOLF FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: AMPHICOELIAS!

I fired a blast of blue fire and it formed into one of the largest sauropod dinosaurs ever discovered from 150 million years ago: Amphicoelias!

---

Amphicoelias (/ˌæmfɪˈsiːliəs/, meaning "biconcave", from the Greek ἀμφί, amphi: "on both sides", and κοῖλος, koilos: "hollow, concave") is a genus of herbivorous sauropod dinosaur that lived approximately 150 million years ago during the Tithonian (Late Jurassic Period) of what is now Colorado, United States. An herbivore, Amphicoelias was moderately sized at about 25 m (82 ft) long-roughly the same length as Diplodocus, to which it was related. Its hindlimbs were very long and thin, and its forelimbs were proportionally longer than in relatives.

The namesake fossil of the type species Amphicoelias altus, American Museum of Natural History 5764, is uncertain in included material. When described by Edward Drinker Cope shortly after its discovery in 1877, Amphicoelias was noted to include many back vertebrae, a single pubis, and a femur. However, after purchase and cataloging of the material by the AMNH, Henry Fairfield Osborn and Charles Mook described that the specimen had only two vertebrae, a pubis, femur, tooth, scapula, coracoid, ulna and a second femur. The additional material, not mentioned by Cope, was found close in proximity to the holotype and was similar to Diplodocus, a relative of Amphicoelias. Their assignment was questioned by subsequent authors Emanuel Tschopp et al. in an analysis of Diplodocidae.

During the description of Amphicoelias altus in 1877, Cope additionally named A. latus, for a femur and tail vertebrae. Following its description, Osborn and Mook in 1921 reidentified the material as a specimen of Camarasaurus, an assignment followed by other authors who reviewed the material. A year later 1878, Cope named the third species of Amphicoelias, A. fragillimus for a gigantic dorsal vertebra that was subsequently lost. Measuring approximately 2.7 m (8.9 ft) if reconstructed based on Diplodocus, early estimates for the length of the animal in life were between 40 and 60 m (130 and 200 ft) long. Due to the incomplete nature, such lengths-the longest of any known dinosaur and sauropod-were largely ignored. In 2018, Kenneth Carpenter renamed Amphicoelias fragillimus as the new genus Maraapunisaurus, and reclassified it from Diplodocidae to Rebbachisauridae.

Sonic: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: EUDIMORPHODON!

Sonic fired a wave of wind and it formed into the flying reptile from Italy that lived 210 million years ago: Eudimorphodon!

---

Eudimorphodon was a pterosaur that was discovered in 1973 by Mario Pandolfi in the town of Cene, Italy and described the same year by Rocco Zambelli. The nearly complete skeleton was retrieved from shale deposited during the Late Triassic (mid to late Norian stage), making Eudimorphodon one of the oldest pterosaurs known. It had a wingspan of about 100 centimetres (3.3 ft) and at the end of its long bony tail may have been a diamond-shaped flap like in the later Rhamphorhynchus. If so, the flap may have helped it steer while maneuvering in the air. Eudimorphodon is known from several skeletons, including juvenile specimens.

---

Heilongjiangosaurus" (meaning "Heilongjiang lizard") is the informal name given to an as-yet undescribed genus of duckbilled dinosaur from the Late Cretaceous. It possibly was a lambeosaurine, and may in fact be the same animal as Charonosaurus. The fossils were found in Maastrichtian-age rocks in Heilongjiang, China. As a nomen nudum, it is unclear what material it was intended to be based on, but might be connected to the nomen nudum "Mandschurosaurus" jiainensis, informally named in a 1983 publication.

The "type species" is "H. jiayinensis", and it was coined in 2001 in a faunal list by Li and Jin.

Cera: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: OJOCERATOPS!

Cera fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 68 million years ago: Ojoceratops!

Ojoceratops ( meaning "Ojo Alamo horned face") is a genus of ceratopsian dinosaur which lived in what is now New Mexico, United States. Ojoceratops fossils have been recovered from strata of the Ojo Alamo Formation (Naashoibito Member), dating to the late Cretaceous period (probably Maastrichtian age, 68 million years ago). The type species is Ojoceratops fowleri. It is very similar to its close relative Triceratops, though it is from an earlier time period and has a more squared-off frill. Nick Longrich, in 2011, noted that the squared-off frill is also found in some true Triceratops specimens and that Ojoceratops is probably a junior synonym of Triceratops, while Holtz (2010) noted that it is probably ancestral to Triceratops and possibly synonymous with the contemporary Eotriceratops.

Ducky: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: GRYPOSAURUS!

Ducky fired a wave of earth and it formed into the hadrosaur from 80 million years ago: Gryposaurus!

Gryposaurus (meaning "hooked-nosed (Greek grypos) lizard"; sometimes incorrectly translated as "griffin (Latin gryphus) lizard") was a genus of duckbilled dinosaur that lived about 80 to 75 million years ago, in the Late Cretaceous (late Santonian to late Campanian stages) of North America. Named species of Gryposaurus are known from the Dinosaur Park Formation in Alberta, Canada, and two formations in the United States: the Lower Two Medicine Formation in Montana and the Kaiparowits Formation of Utah. A possible additional species may extend the temporal range of the genus to 66 million years ago.

Gryposaurus is similar to Kritosaurus, and for many years the two were thought to be synonyms. It is known from numerous skulls, some skeletons, and even some skin impressions that show it to have had pyramidal scales projecting along the midline of the back. It is most easily distinguished from other duckbills by its narrow arching nasal hump, sometimes described as similar to a "Roman nose," and which may have been used for species or sexual identification, and/or combat with individuals of the same species. A large bipedal/quadrupedal herbivore around 9 meters (30 feet) long, it may have preferred river settings.

Tropeognathus (meaning "keel jaw") is a genus of large pterosaurs from the late Early Cretaceous of South America. This genus is considered to be a member of the Ornithocheiridae, a diverse group of pterosaurs known for their keel-tipped snouts and large size. Tropeognathus is regarded as the largest pterosaur found in the Southern Hemisphere, only rivaled by the huge azhdarchids. The type and only species is Tropeognathus mesembrinus. Fossil remains of Tropeognathus have been recovered from the Romualdo Formation, which is a Lagerstätte located in the Santana Group of the Araripe Basin in northeastern Brazil.

Spike: (Through translator) EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DRAVIDOSAURUS!

Spike fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Dravidanidu dinosaur from 90 million years ago: Dravidosaurus!

Dravidosaurus (meaning "Dravidanadu lizard", Dravidanadu being a region in the southern part of India where the remains were discovered) is a controversial genus of prehistoric reptile. It was first described as the last surviving stegosaurian, the group of "plated" dinosaurs. With an estimated length of three metres (10 ft), it would have also been the smallest member of the group. More recent studies, however, have shown that the bones actually belonged to a plesiosaurian marine reptile, and that none of the remains are demonstrably dinosaurian in origin.

Dravidosaurus lived in the Late Cretaceous period (Coniacian stage) of what is now India. It is only known from disassociated remains that were originally described as comprising a partial skull, a tooth, a sacrum, an ilium, an ischium, a dermal plate, and a spike. The badly weathered remains were discovered in marine deposits near Ariyalur in the state of Tamil Nadu in South India. They were in 1979 named by P.M. Yadagiri and Krishnan Ayyasami as the type species Dravidosaurus blanfordi, the specific name honouring William Thomas Blanford. The holotype partial skull is catalogued as GSI SR Pal 1, while other specimens are catalogued GSI SR Pal 2-7.

In 1991, Sankar Chatterjee visited the site and claimed, without presenting concrete morphological evidence, that Dravidosaurus was based on plesiosaurian pelvic and hindlimb elements, the species being a nomen dubium. However, this claim was rejected by Galton and Upchurch (2004), who noted that the skull, tooth and plate of Dravidosaurus are certainly not plesiosaurian as illustrated. Galton and Ayyasami (2017) reaffirmed the stegosaurian classification of Dravidosaurus, claiming the remains do not look like plesiosaurian pelvic and hindlimb elements. They announced that stegosaurian remains from the Dravidosaurus type locality are under study by one of the original describers of Dravidosaurus.

Linka: It sure is beautiful.

Me: It's an honor to have you with us Svilen.

Svilen: (Bulgarian Accent) It's an honor to be with you all J.D. Hunter told me so much about you all and I am so honored to be working with you.

Hunter: (German Accent) It's great having you with us Svilen.

Svilen: Same here.

Sam Simpson: Hey look up there!

We saw the three legendary Pokemon, Zekrom, Reshiram and Kyurem.

Skull Man: It's a Zekrom, Reshiram, and Kyurem!

Me: Wow! The Legendary Pokemon of the Unova Region.

Iris: What are they doing all the way out here?

Nico: No idea but I sense human energy signals in them.

Me: I do too. I think they might be Gene-Slammed Pokemon.

Lincoln: Who are they this time?

Laney: Looks like we're about to find out because they are coming down.

The 3 legendary Pokemon came down.

Zekrom: (Woman's voice) Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Reshiram: (Woman's Voice) It's an honor to meet you.

Kyurem: (Woman's voice) Same here.

Me: Pleasure to meet you three.

Alex (Totally Spies): I know those three voices.

Clover: Pam? Crimson? Alice? Is that you guys?

Goku: You know these 3?

Sam Simpson: They are the spies that were our predecessors.

Me: Whoa. So you three are spies from W.O.O.H.P.

Alice: That's right.

Sam Simpson: They were the predecessor spies of W.O.O.H.P. before Jerry hired us.

Lincoln: Wow!

Alex (Totally Spies): That's right.

Alice: It's great to see you all again and I see you are now part of Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Sam Simpson: We sure are.

Crimson: We were turned into these legendary Pokemon by scientists from Team Rocket.

Me: Those scientists are all dead and/or now in Prison.

Nico: Can you tell us all about yourselves?

Alice: We sure can.

Alice, Pam and Crimson went over their backgrounds.

Alice, Pam, Crimson are 3 former WOOHP agents from the spy team before Samantha, Clover, and Alexandra. Their only appearance was in the Season 1 episode "Spies vs. Spies".

Seven years prior, they were presumed to be dead when they were captured by a villain and WOOHP was unable to find them. Instead they were under the mind-control of Edison, the villain they were trying to catch, an eco-terrorist who wanted to sell solar power on auction.

The trio appears to save Samantha, Clover, and Alexandra from a robot spider grenade when they become trapped in their submarine while investigating the pipeline that Jerry Lewis sent them to investigate. The girls meet Alice, Pam, and Crimson. Back at WOOHP headquarters Jerry finally reunites his previous spy team much to the girls' jealousy. Sam asks what happened to Edison and Crimson replies that he might be anywhere. Suspicious, Sam then asks them how they got to the pipeline. When the alarm sounds, Jerry reveals that the culprit's next target is the hydro electrical plant. Jerry tells the girls to go on the missions with Pam's team much to their disdain. Pam tells them to check the hydro electrical plant on the lower level as they split girls investigate the lower grounds until they find another robot spider identical to the spider from earlier. When the girls return to WOOHP they are forced to retire by Jerry who decides to go with Pam, Alice, and Crimson's team instead of them.

Even more suspicious of Jerry's old spies, the girls investigate on their own and end up discovering the enemies' underground base. The girls discover that Alice, Pam, and Crimson are working with Edison. The girls are angered to learn that Pam, Alice, and Crimson are traitors to WOOHP and while captured, Edison finally tells them about what happened seven years ago. He reveals that he installed Alice, Crimson, and Pam with mind control patches so that they would work with him to destroy the world's electric plants so then he could sell solar power on auction to make millions. After this, the trio arrogantly tell them that they cannot beat them and leave them to die with another spider bomb. The girls become cocoons but Clover manages to free herself and rescues her friends with the Liquid Nitrogen Breathspray The girls now have to stop Edison and the previous WOOHP spy team before it's too late.

At night Edison finally activates the solar power machine to make the sun come out. The girls arrive to face the trio. The girls fight but are equally matched in terms of hand to hand combat. Edison orders Pam's team to eliminate the spies. While fighting with Pam, Sam knocks her into Edison's machine leaving the solar power machine to reverse back into night. Sam, Clover and Alex are about to be defeated when Sam throws an exploding robot spider on the solar power machine leaving it to explode. Edison's machine is destroyed as his plans are foiled.

Alice, Pam, and Crimson are freed from the mind control by Sam, Clover and Alex. Edison tries to flee but is caught and arrested by Jerry. Jerry then asks the older agents to stay at WOOHP, but they decline deciding to retire from spying entirely. They also want to help rebuild the power plants they destroyed while under Edison's mind control. They leave via WOOHP helicopter and Jerry rehires the girls.

We gasped in shock!

Me: That's nuts! Lets see here.

I pulled up the info of Edison.

---

Edison was the villain in the Season 1 episode "Spies vs. Spies" He was an eco-terroist that Samantha's, Alexandra's, and Clover's predecessors, Alice, Pam, Crimson, were chasing when they disappeared. It turned out the former WOOHP agents had been captured and brainwashed into serving him and his objectives instead. His objective was to destroy all existing power plants, then use a special device to sell solar energy to the highest bidder.

He was seen in a second half of the episode telling the trio Alice, Pam, and Crimson to enjoy themselves while in their mind-control state because of the patches he put on them. The girls heard his motives after been forced to retire by Jerry and fall in his underground base. The trio manage to capture the girls by knocking them down with their Expandable Cable Bungee Belts. He then tells them about what happened to him seven years ago along with the previous WOOHP spy team, which the girls declared as traitors, as well as his motives of destroying the hydro electrical plants. He soon leaves along with the trio as they arrogantly tell the girls that they can't stop them. The girls manage to escape, thanks to Clover's back-up gadget, the Liquid Nitrogen Spray to spray her friends in their cocoon state.

Later at night, Edison activates the solar power machine to make the night sky into day forcing the sun to rise. The trio was then knocked down by the girls and they brawl outside of his machine. He was shocked to see them, and orders the trio to eliminate them. Sam manages to knock Pam as she accidentally activated the solar power machine in a reverse process, making it back to the night sky. When the trio manage to defeat the girls, Sam does not give up and she throws the robot spider grenade that she reintroduced to them and sticks it in his solar power machine. He orders the trio to remove the spider from his machine, but failed, as the solar power machine has been destroying and his plans were foiled by the girls. When Alice, Pam and Crimson are now free from brainwashing after Sam, Clover and Alex remove the mind control patches on the back of their necks. Edison quickly flees while riding a motor boat, only to be caught by Jerry from his WOOHP submarine.

Me: Whoa! This Edison guy is bad news. But if we do face him in the future we will kill him. We all are members of W.O.O.H.P. as well and we help them deal with some of the spies worst ever villains.

Alice: Wow! That's amazing.

Nico: Yeah we already faced Bertha Bombshell and threw her in jail.

Laney: We took down Boogie Gus in a dance off battle and threw him in jail.

Naruto: We killed Violet Vanderfleet who was trying to destroy the entire human race by killing all the men.

Lincoln: We killed Helga Von Guggen.

Me: Inga Bittersweet is now in the Neptune Prison as the chef.

Mary K.: And she made really good cookies.

Me: We killed the Inventor and sent Mandy to jail.

Sam Simpson: Mandy was once our classmate.

Laney: We killed Tim Scam and he provided the key we need to save the world from destruction in 980 years.

Lola: We recruited Timmy here because we heard about his crimes against bullies and all that.

Sidney Poindexter: Yeah he was a vigilante like me and I know how much he feels.

Vince: And then there was Macker who had a robot body which was really cool.

Cyborg: It was. But he made clones of the girls to try and frame them.

Bonnie: And then there was Dr. Vomesa who shrank down to microscopic size and control Jerry from the inside.

Me: And he became the first ever villain I've ever crushed with my bare hands.

Lincoln: Gross.

Me: And lastly we sent Frankie Dude to prison and we got to witness a really rare event.

Pam: Which was?

Me: Lincoln got to surf Humongadunga. It's a really rare wave that's over 300 feet high and comes around once every 20 years.

Lincoln: Yep and I became the youngest ever to surf that wave.

Crimson: Wow!

Alice: That's incredible!

Me: Yeah we've been very busy over the years. And that's all of your enemies we've encountered.

Alice: Wow! You all have been really busy.

Linka: How long have you all been Pokemon?

Crimson: We don't know.

Pam: We've lost track of the time that's passed since we got gene slammed. But I think our human minds are starting to fade!

Armada Cyclonus: How much time do you three think you still have?

Alice: We don't know.

Me: Well I have the power to change you all back. But it's gonna be excruciatingly painful.

John Bolton: Yeah but you'll have the awesome powers of your Pokemon that you were turned into.

Alice: Well as long as we get to be human again.

Me: But what were you doing before you were turned into these awesome Pokemon?

Alice: We were retired and relaxing on the beach.

Lincoln: Whoa man.

Eli: Yeah.

Ariel: This is gonna be rough.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah.

Me: Ready girls?

Alice: Ready.

Me: Okay here we go. Boys cover your eyes.

They did so.

Crimson: Why did you do that?

Me: You're gonna be naked by the time you revert back.

Alice: Oh right. Okay then. We're ready.

Me: Here we go. (Snaps fingers)

I covered my eyes and the three girls as Pokemon were roaring in excruciating pain and then they got shorter and their arms, skin, hair, bodies and legs reverted back. Their roars were transitioning from roars into human female screams as they were reverting back. The three girls got their eyes and blond, black and red hair back and Maria, Leni, Teresa and Rarity went over and put robes and towels on them.

Crimson: (Groan) That really hurt.

Rarity: You guys can look now.

We did so.

Me: You're back to human again.

I formed a mirror.

Crimson: It worked!

Lincoln: Yep.

Powerglide: Now that you girls are human again, would you 3 like to join the Redemption Squad?

Alice: Sure.

Pam: Absolutely

Crimson: Count us in.

?: It'll be the last time you see them!

Cilan: I haven't heard that voice in a while!

We then saw a girl with dark purple hair and had blue eyes and a Pokemon Connoisseur outfit on and it was Cilan's enemy BURGUNDY!

---

Burgundy challenged the Striaton Gym and battled Cilan with her Oshawott. Cilan's Pansage defeated Oshawott and as a result, Burgundy swore to get her revenge. Burgundy then went on to study to become a Connoisseur and went to re-challenge Cilan; however, she discovered that he had already begun traveling with Ash and Iris at this point. Burgundy decided to battle Chili instead and defeated his Pansear and won the Trio Badge.

Pokémon the Series: Black & White

In a lavish newly opened Poké Mart located between Pinwheel Forest and Skyarrow Bridge, Burgundy was offering her services.

She pulled Ash inside her stall after she spotted him standing in a long line waiting to see an S-Class Connoisseur. Burgundy told Ash to show her his Pokémon, but she found something wrong with all of them, prompting them all to attack her out of anger. Furious, she exclaimed that Ash is not compatible with any of his Pokémon and demanded that he replace them immediately. After Cilan and Iris interrupt to see what Ash was doing, Burgundy screamed, as she recognized Cilan. Cilan also recognized Burgundy, who explained what had happened after she lost to him. To prove her point Ash should change his team, as well as the point she was a better Connoisseur, Burgundy challenged Cilan to a two-on-two battle. She used her Dewott against Cilan's Dwebble. Despite the type disadvantage, Dwebble managed to protect itself against Dewott's attacks and endure Dewott's Water Pulse, then defeated it with Shell Smash and X-Scissor combo. Burgundy saw Cilan used a Pokémon with type disadvantage to teach her a lesson and sent a Sawsbuck against Cilan's Pansage. Sawsbuck attempted to attack Pansage, who dodged the attacks and defeated Sawsbuck with Solar Beam. With both of her Pokémon easily defeated by Cilan. Cilan pointed out Burgundy could be a good Connoisseur if she had more training. Burgundy claimed she did not need Cilan's lectures and she ran off, swearing to beat him next time.

Burgundy registered for the Battle Club Tournament in Nimbasa Town. Upon encountering the heroes, she expressed her revenge towards Cilan. During the opening, Burgundy commented her battle would be easy, since she'd face Ash. In their battle, Burgundy sent Stoutland against Ash's Palpitoad, though Burgundy still claimed Ash had to change his team. Stoutland managed to freeze Palpitoad by using Ice Fang, though Palpitoad shattered the ice by using Supersonic. Stoutland attempted to use Fire Fang, but Palpitoad used Mud Shot, causing Stoutland's mouth to be filled with dirt. Using Hydro Pump, Palpitoad attacked Stoutland, who fainted, thus making Burgundy defeated. Despite her loss, Burgundy continued watching the battles, anticipating Cilan's loss. Seeing Cilan won his battle against Trip, Burgundy was even more frustrated. After the heroes had dinner and went to their room, Burgundy visited them, expressing her desire to witness Cilan's loss. This just made the heroes wonder if Burgundy would stop with these speeches.

Burgundy continued to watch the battles. Seeing Cilan fed Ash's Snivy with his homemade Pokémon food, Burgundy commented it was a tragedy Cilan fed other people's Pokémon with "terrible food". Later on, Burgundy was pleased to see Cilan being defeated by Luke. She continued watching and commented negatively, thinking Iris and Ash were lucky enough to win the rounds. For the tournament's finale, Burgundy challenged Cilan for a Connoisseur showdown, by commenting on the battle, with Stephan being the judge. During Ash's battle with Iris, Burgundy claimed they should have the same heat during their showdown; Cilan disagreed, for their emotions may carry themselves too much to make an improper evaluation. Stephan declared Cilan as the winner of this showdown, causing Burgundy to yell at him, but saw Cilan's evaluation was impressive. At the end of the tournament, Burgundy still showed rivalry towards Cilan and left.

Burgundy signed in the Clubsplosion, wanting to battle against Cilan. Cilan asked if Burgundy did become a better Connoisseur. This ashamed Burgundy, who claimed she had an intense training instead. Burgundy was impressed by the vitamin drinks and thought she could have her attention towards those drinks, but Georgia angered her, claiming she couldn't be a worse Connoisseur than she is now. Burgundy learned she'll battle Iris at the first round. Watching Cilan's battle, Burgundy urged Cilan not to lose, else they wouldn't have their battle, but regretted saying those words during Cilan's victory. During her battle, Burgundy sent Dewott against Iris' Excadrill. Cilan anticipated Burgundy's evaluations, annoying Burgundy, as the battle began. Burgundy claimed Iris was just an obstacle in her path to defeat Cilan. Dewott managed to hit Excadrill with Water Pulse, who attempted to use Dig. Burgundy had Dewott use scalchops to block Excadrill's Drill Run, but failed. Instead, Dewott used Revenge, dealing a lot of damage. Excadrill attacked with Focus Blast and hit Dewott, who attempted to block the attack with Ice Beam. With Drill Run, Excadrill defeated Dewott. Burgundy was displeased about her loss, while Cilan, thinking Burgundy fought valiantly, sensed Burgundy required something else as well to win. Burgundy simply replied she will defeat Cilan the next time she met him. Burgundy stayed to watch the following battles with Georgia.

After being humiliated at her defeat, Burgundy wished for everyone to lose, as she continued watching the tournament. Burgundy was pleased Cilan was also defeated by Stephan, but continued to gloat with Georgia. Burgundy watched the semi-finals, seeing Stephan trained his Sawk well to battle Bianca's Emboar. After having a lunch with Georgia, Burgundy watched the finals. In the end, Burgundy reminded Cilan of their rivalry and went off.

Burgundy wanted to get into Mr. Hatterly's mansion so she could help his daughter, Marigold, pick out her first Pokémon. Since she was only a C-class Connoisseuse, she was denied access and was infuriated that Cilan was allowed in. It didn't stop her and she managed to sneak in disguised as an S-class Connoisseur named "Fogundy". Burgundy wanted to prove herself, claiming Lillipup should be Marigold's first Pokémon, because it smelled just like her. Mr. Hatterly pointed out he only bathed Lillipup with Marigold's shampoo, so Cilan and Mr. Hatterly saw this Connoisseur was a fraud. Lillipup managed to snatch Burgundy's badge, proving she was a C-class and was soon sent out of the mansion. Later, she snuck in again to watch the battle between Cilan and Ricard Nouveau but was sent "blasting off" when Crustle's Rock Wrecker strayed and hit her.

Burgundy came to Lacunosa Town to participate in the Junior Cup tournament. There, she encountered Cilan and claimed she will defeat him this time. Burgundy also noticed Dawn, who admitted she was Cilan's friend. Burgundy claimed Dawn's ears will fall off due to Cilan's boring evaluations, making Dawn see Burgundy is a quite annoying person. In the first round, Burgundy faced Trip and his Serperior. Serperior frightened Darmanitan with Leer and then finished it off with Solar Beam. This made Burgundy sad and left Ash shocked that Trip won the battle so easily and quickly. Burgundy continued watching the tournament. Hearing Georgia's wish that Iris won't lose to anyone but Georgia, Burgundy thought Georgia was supporting Iris, but Georgia denied that. Georgia claimed Burgundy would be a better Connoisseur if she looked up to Cilan, which enraged Burgundy. While Cilan was battling Horatio, Georgia was feeling Burgundy wouldn't evaluate the battle because she'd think of Burgundy would scold her. Burgundy brushed her off, proving Georgia's point. Seeing Iris was to battle Dawn, Burgundy wondered why Dragonite just would not dodge the attacks. Burgundy saw Iris had won the battle, but Georgia corrected her, claiming it was Dragonite who won the battle. Watching Cilan being defeated at the hands of Trip, Burgundy was disgusted by the fact Cilan claimed to be an A-Class Connoisseur to be defeated like that.

Watching the semi-finals, Burgundy commented Dragonite controlled Iris, rather than the other way around, thinking they got off to a bad start. With Ash managing to defeat Iris, Burgundy and Georgia scolded Iris for not being able to control Dragonite. After watching Alder's battle against Trip, Burgundy was glad to see Trip lost, since he did defeat her early on. Burgundy was pleased about the battles she watched and departed off, promising she would defeat Cilan one day.

Looking at the battlefield of the Unova League one last time, Ash remembered his adventures that led him to this place, including Cilan's rival, Burgundy.

During his battle with Morana, Cilan remembered battling Burgundy.

Burgundy was seen in the Best Wishes! ending theme. After Bianca spoke to Burgundy through the X-Transceiver, Burgundy yelled at her, since she continued her studies to become a S-Rank Connoisseuse.

---

Cilan: Burgundy!

Ash: Not this one again!

Me: You know her?

Cilan: I sure do. She is a rival in the world of Pokemon Connoisseurs and she hates me with a vengeance.

Iris: She battled him in a match and she became a Pokemon Connoisseur and now she wants to battle with Cilan to get revenge. She is really annoying.

Dawn: She really must hate Cilan.

Burgundy: I HATE HIM MORE THAN LIFE ITSELF!

Cilan then glowed in a powerful green aura!

Cilan: Whoa!

Ash: And she told me to get a complete Pokemon Overhaul and get rid of Pikachu!

Ash's Pikachu: PIKA!

Nico: I think SHE is the one that needs a complete Pokemon Overhaul.

Me: And a reeducation for total lack of brains.

BURN!

Burgundy then had a massive aura of fire around her and she also had glowing red eyes filled with extreme hatred!

Burgundy: I WILL KILL YOU!

Ash: God, at least Barry's not annoying like you!

Nico: Didn't Paul inspire him?

Ash: Yeah. But at least Barry cared for his Pokemon!

Me: Burgundy you're just mad because Cilan beat you.

Lynn: Yeah you're nothing but a sore loser! There is something I thought I would never say.

Lori: You are literally making a dangerous decision Burgundy. Revenge is a double-edge sword and all it will lead you too is a path to your own destruction.

Me: That's right.

Burgundy: I don't care! I will get my revenge whether you like it or not!

Me: (Sigh) Some people just never learn. Then you will learn the hard way.

I called out my legendary Pokemon: Articuno, Zapdos and Moltres.

Burgundy: The Legendary Bird Pokemon!

Me: That's right. Send this whiny little brat flying!

Articuno, Zapdos and Moltres fired blasts of ice, lightning and fire and the blasts hit the ground by her and exploded with incredible power.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion sent Burgundy flying!

Burgundy: YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE LAST OF ME!

She flew off into the distance.

TING!

We later went back to the estate and we got Alice, Pam and Crimson some new clothes. We got them their old clothes their had before. Alice had a purple shirt with grey pants and blue sandals, Pam had a blue shirt with black pants and blue shoes and Crimson had a red shirt and vest and white pants and red shoes.

Later the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix was flying through the endless reaches of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2877.4: The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix is en route to an alternate Earth located in the Pinwheel Galaxy. Our scans picked up that it is a world infested with zombies and we have to rescue any survivors and if possible save the planet from destruction.

Nico: Whoa this is serious.

Laney: First a Zombie Dinosaur and now we're facing Zombies in a zombie apocalypse.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Lana: We faced Zombie Krabby Patties before and we survived those.

Shaun: Thanks to my Zombie Apocalypse survival skills.

Me: Yep.

Lisa Loud: J.D. we have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

We saw that we have arrived at another Earth but instead of being full of life it was now a barren wasteland. All seven continents are now barren and desolate except for Antarctica. It was awful.

Me: My God. What happened here?

Nico: Scans show that this planet Earth was decimated by a massive virus pandemic that turned 6.5 Billion people into zombies and only 1,733,548 are known to have survived.

We gasped.

Me: This planet is teetering on the razors edge of extinction. We got to go down and help the survivors.

Nico: Wait a minute. There's only one world I know that has that many people turned into zombies: Resident Evil.

Shaun: This is the world of Resident Evil.

Me: My God. Then that must mean we're going to help the survivors take down the Umbrella Corporation.

Qin: What's the Umbrella Corporation?

Me: They are the ones that unleashed the virus onto this world and made it an Apocalyptic Nightmare.

I went over what they were.

---

The Umbrella Corporation is one of the most powerful companies on Earth and was a huge organization that acted as the overall main antagonistic faction of Resident Evil games. It is so massive that it was termed as a mega-corporation: having subdivisions in almost every business imaginable and even having its own organized paramilitary force. They are also being the ones behind the outbreaks in the Arklay Mountains and Raccoon City as well as the instigators of numerous other events in the series.

In addition, many of the Resident Evil video game franchise's major antagonists have connections to the Umbrella Corporation, making it arguably the true antagonist of the series (though some would say that title belongs to Albert Wesker).

Umbrella was the most infamous company for being largely responsible for the infection that sweeps across Raccoon City (and other areas of the world) due to the creation of several highly volatile mutagen viruses and parasites - the most famous being the G-Virus, T-Virus and Nemesis Parasite.

Umbrella's true nature was revealed to the public after the events of Raccoon City but was able to stay afloat using several scapegoats. After Chris Redfield and Jill Valentine infiltrated Umbrella's Russian stronghold and destroyed T-A.L.O.S., Albert Wesker used Chris and Jill's distraction to kill Sergei Vladimir and stole Umbrella's data from the Red Queen supercomputer and presented the evidence of Umbrella's actions to the U.S. government. With the evidence being given, the U.S. government ordered an indefinite suspension of Umbrella's practices and soon its stock prices plummeted, and Umbrella was finally finished. Despite this, the company finally achieved redemption due to the efforts of its more benevolent former employees who repurposed it into a PMC (private military company) under the name "Blue Umbrella" to combat biological threats, be it ones they caused during Umbrella's dark days or from other forces, though the tension with the world still remains.

Origin (1968-1998)

Umbrella was founded in 1968 by Oswell E. Spencer, Edward Ashford and James Marcus as Umbrella Pharmaceuticals after the Progenitor virus was discovered the year before. Another starting member (though not referred to as a co-founder) was a student of Marcus', Brandon Bailey, who was with Marcus and Spencer when they first discovered the Stairway of the Sun flower that they used to extract the Progenitor virus.

Ashford died from exposure to the virus, and Bailey was effectively exiled to the Umbrella Africa Laboratory, where he would send virus samples to Dr. Marcus' newly built Umbrella Executive Training Center.

During 1969, Edward's son Alexander began the construction of the Antarctic Base, attached to which was a research center where he began development of his "Code: Veronica" project, under which he began research into the gene that controls intelligence. Using this research, Alfred and Alexia Ashford would be born two years later.

In order to obtain new information on the Progenitor virus, Marcus used the virus on several of his students. They could not survive its effects and died, their dead bodies were dumped into the Water Treatment facility.

Marcus injected several leeches with Progenitor in 1978 and witnessed the creation of a new strain which he named the "t-Virus". Later that year, the Training facility would be closed and Marcus' two prized students: Albert Wesker and William Birkin, would be moved to the nearby Arklay Laboratory under Spencer's mansion.

In 1978, Marcus yet again found evidence of tampering. In his increasing paranoia brought on by his quest for glory and isolation from mankind, he wrote in his diary that Albert and William were the only humans he trusted. His trust in them would be betrayed 10 years later, however, as the two would - under direct orders from Spencer, himself - have him assassinated by a Special forces unit and dumped into the Water Treatment Facility. Credit for "t" would be taken by William Birkin. His trust in Birkin would also render hiding the source of "t" - the Leeches - useless.

However, by this point in time Birkin had little care for "t", having discovered the G-virus in the body of Lisa Trevor, the daughter of George Trevor, still kept in the estate as a guinea pig for their twisted experiments.

Raccoon City Outbreak (1998)

Marcus was completely restored 10 years after his death by the Queen Leech. He would exact his revenge on Spencer and Umbrella by releasing "t-virus" into the Arklay Laboratory's water supply, turning the facility personnel into zombies and leaving the laboratory and mansion in complete chaos, allowing for the team's extremely dangerous research specimens to escape into the surrounding area.

Birkin and Wesker used this as a diversion for their own plans to leave Umbrella, taking their research data with them. Wesker, having formed Raccoon City's elite S.T.A.R.S. unit two years prior, would develop a plan to lure the team to the Mansion and obtain battle data from the conflict that would surely follow. Although the Tyrant was deployed - leading Wesker to falsify his death as a realistic "unforeseen side-effect" of releasing it - both the laboratory and the rampaging Tyrant were destroyed by S.T.A.R.S. Alpha Team, before making their escape back to Raccoon City with a single Bravo Team survivor.

Wesker was forced to go into hiding for a number of months, using his operative Ada Wong to carry out his objectives, including the recovery of Birkin's G-virus. Two months after the Arklay incident, William Birkin finally perfected the viral strain that he had been toiling to achieve since obtaining Marcus' research so many years before. Birkin planned to use the virus to force the Umbrella Corporation into allowing him onto their executive board, but then changed his plans when he found that selling it directly to the U.S. Government would prove far more profitable - though this is based on Umbrella's opinion.

Umbrella deployed its elite U.S.S. Alpha Team (a paramilitary black ops unit created for Umbrella's most clandestine purposes) led by HUNK in a desperate bid to stop Birkin from handing over his ultimate creation. Although Birkin was mortally wounded in the ensuing conflict and the G-virus was successfully recovered by HUNK's team, he was able to inject a remaining sample into his own body and devastate most of the team before they could make their escape.

This event would be indirectly responsible for unleashing the t-virus into Raccoon City. HUNK recovered a sample of the virus, recovered it, and gave it to Umbrella. While the Arklay incident had been relatively isolated and concealed from the public and Umbrella's control over key government and law enforcement personnel had ensured that any record of what had occurred could be safely swept into obscurity, they were now faced with an entire city infected with "t-virus" and a trail leading directly back to the Umbrella Corporation. This would prove exceedingly difficult, even for Umbrella, to make simply disappear.

Umbrella fell from grace on September 24, 1998, when the t-virus turned a large percentage of the population into Zombies. The morning after, the U.S. Government had the city limits bordered off by the military, whilst they began an investigation into the matter.

Umbrella itself was divided on the issue of Raccoon City. Its virologists within the limits spent their time researching a cure, whilst weapons researchers had experimental B.O.W.s sent in to receive combat data on their effectiveness at killing civilians. The Umbrella Biohazard Countermeasure Service ( UBCS ) was sent in to evacuate civilians, whilst "Monitors" installed within the four Delta Platoons gathered the combat data, sacrificing their comrades to save their own lives, where they would receive a very generous sum for their data.

Meanwhile, some employees even turned on each other. Dr. Frost was killed by Monica for being in the way of a "G"-sample, whilst Yoko Suzuki - a t-virus test subject used in an experiment two years before - lost her Umbrella security card to Monica, who would soon walk right into the infected Birkin and become a host for his offspring.

Former Umbrella researcher Greg Mueller had a University professor create a cure - Daylight - before the Outbreak, knowing what would soon happen. He was wanted by Umbrella, not due to "Daylight", but because of an experiment Greg took with him when he left - an experimental Tyrant. "Thanatos" was activated and sent outside to kill UBCS personnel attempting to claim it. Unbeknownst to him or his creation, the supervisor "Nikolai Zinoviev" had infiltrated the building. Whilst discussing his plan with a few survivors, Nikolai shot through the ceiling, through Greg's head, and out of his neck. His death was instantaneous. The University was destroyed by C-4 charges, whilst the Tyrant was killed by "Daylight" nearby. It was a fitting end to the beast, as one of the ingredients of the anti-virus was the creature's very blood.

Elsewhere in Raccoon, an executive had a UBCS team on the lookout for renegade USS member Rodriguez, who had stolen the executive's "package". Rodriguez was waiting for a researcher - Linda - to return from an Umbrella facility as she left something important behind. This was AT1521 - Umbrella's answer to Daylight. After recovering it, another researcher - Carter - released the experimental "Tyrant R" to kill off the Hunter R running amok. Although seemingly taking orders from Carter without question, it had already counted the man as a threat - a bomb had been planted in the monster, and Carter had the detonator. The creature's betrayal led to the destruction of AT1521, leaving Linda to have to remember how to synthesize it again all by herself.

Eventually, Umbrella was unable to delay the President's decision to authorize the Sterilization Operation. With little time left, all paramilitary forces were ordered to clear out. Carlos Oliveira and Jill Valentine were rescued by Barry Burton, whilst Nikolai attempted to escape on his own via helicopter. Rodriguez was forced to abandon Linda and pull out, leading to an attempted shoot down by an Umbrella Executive. The rocket missed, but the helicopter's sudden emergency maneuvers led to the loss of the "package", revealing a horrific creation known as "Nyx". The UBCS team and Tyrant R were defeated by Nyx and absorbed into its body. In the end, Nyx would eventually be killed by a group of survivors, who successfully escaped Raccoon City by HUMVEE with Linda.

Still, this was not the last story to tell of Umbrella's actions in the city. Leader of Umbrella's paramilitary organizations, Sergei Vladimir, stole the U.M.F.-013 storage system - also known as the Umbrella Archives. Ada Wong, who had retrieved the G-virus, was rushing to leave the city, but instead clashed with the revived Tyrant R. In the end she defeated the creature and escaped the city on Sergei Vladimir's helicopter, witnessing the destruction of Raccoon City.

It would take many years, and many more tragedies, to finally gather enough evidence to condemn Umbrella.

Umbrella's Downfall (1998-2002)

Umbrella's fortunes failed to improve in the time shortly after the Raccoon City incident. The U.S. government changed its opinions of the company - while it had initially desired to obtain Umbrella's secrets for its own military projects, it was now in full condemnation over Umbrella's failure to contain the situation (the U.S. government's involvement in Raccoon City was carefully omitted). A "suspension of business decree" was imposed on Umbrella U.S.A., Inc., preventing any further presence in the US stock market. Under threat of financial ruin, Umbrella filed an appeal to overturn the decision.

On Sheena Island, an undercover investigator, Ark Thompson, operating on behalf of Leon S. Kennedy, succeeded in destroying Umbrella's Tyrant production plant after Vincent Goldman, The Umbrella Director of the island, unleashed the t-virus on its citizens. Shortly afterwards, Claire Redfield broke into Umbrella's Paris facilities in search of her brother and was captured and sent to Umbrella's illegal prison camp on Rockfort Island. While there, she witnessed Albert Wesker attack the island in search of the t-Veronica virus, another descendant of Progenitor. Escaping the island, she found herself trapped at the Antarctic Base, where Edward Ashford's granddaughter, Alexia Ashford, awoke from a self-induced coma with the desire to establish a new order.

By 2002, both Umbrella and the US had been forced into potentially damaging positions. Over the years, Umbrella had denied liability for the Raccoon City incident on the grounds of US government involvement, which the US government itself denied, arguing that all of Umbrella's testimonies were entirely fabricated. While the general public opinion was slowly moving in support of Umbrella's testimony, the company itself was still closing on financial ruin without access to Wall Street. The situation had become noticeably grave when US intelligence discovered that a rogue former employee was selling B.O.W.s to a South American drug lord, Javier Hidalgo.

Later in the year, USSTRATCOM and Chinese intelligence were called in to investigate the theft of t-virus and G-virus samples from an Umbrella Europe facility by yet another person - the former R&D executive, Morpheus D. Duvall, who was used as a scapegoat for the May 1998 leak. Duvall took the United States and China hostage, threatening to fire t-virus missiles from an undisclosed silo in the hopes of obtaining a ransom of $5 billion in return for their safety. While USSTRATCOM succeeded in taking out Duvall and preventing a missile attack, the Paraguas Line Company cruiser Spencer Rain was lost, with its entire crew and passenger complement becoming infected and subsequently killed during a viral outbreak.

Aftermath (2003-2004)

The final blow to the company would come in February 2003, when a private anti-biohazard paramilitary force was sent to the Caucasus in the Russian Federation in response to rumors of a new B.O.W. being developed there by Umbrella. Leading the attack were Chris Redfield and Jill Valentine, who eventually reached the Russian facility's underground chamber, where they fought Umbrella's final weapon, T-A.L.O.S., after it was dispatched by Sergei Vladimir. At the same time, Wesker managed to infiltrate the facility a few hours prior to Chris and Jill's arrival, and had one final encounter with Sergei, who then mutated into a new, virus-infected monster. While Chris and Jill destroyed T-A.L.O.S., Wesker managed to extract all data from Umbrella's Red Queen supercomputer, while also erasing any of the memory left within the computer itself, in order to use it against Spencer, thus bringing Umbrella to its knees.

Umbrella was finally found guilty soon after the Umbrella Russia incident, after an anonymous notification by Albert Wesker, using the data he had extracted. The U.S. government suspended Umbrella's market trading license pending further investigation into their business practices. While this investigation must have already provided Umbrella with severe financial problems, a worldwide manhunt for surviving founder Oswell E. Spencer sealed the organization's fate.

Albert Wesker kept the stolen data in his secret hideout. Wesker had always desired power more than anything in the world, seeking to dominate all for his own gain. He saw Umbrella as power incarnate. His computer had every Umbrella asset stored away safely, and he planned to one day remake the company under his leadership. This new Umbrella would lead the human race into a new, improved era, fixing a world Wesker saw as unacceptable. His vision for the future would go beyond that of Spencer, but he would later discover that they both had much in common, as Spencer had made Wesker who he had become.

With its trading completely suspended, Umbrella's shares quickly collapsed, and the company was left bankrupt. With the corporation shut down, a vast amount of the company's biological weapons and virus samples appeared on the black market, birthing an age of bioterrorism. The ultimate irony came to be that the world was safer with Umbrella than without it.

Umbrella's Viral Legacy

In 2005, Umbrella's T-Virus was used in a bio-terrorist attack on Harvardville Airport, resulting in a mass infection of the entire terminal. However this time it was caused by a company known as Wilpharma. One of its key employees, Frederic Downing, had stolen both the t- and G-virus samples from his previous employer Umbrella, and had fled Raccoon City.

Umbrella's other monstrosity, the G-virus was also used in the same outbreak, and was injected into the body of Curtis Miller. Miller wanted the information about the Raccoon City outbreak released, so that everyone who had wronged him and his deceased family would be arrested. Unbeknownst to him, Frederic Downing was using him to collect G-virus combat data for a buyer wanting the "t" and G-viruses. However, the conspiracy was uncovered by the efforts of Leon S. Kennedy, Claire Redfield, and the S.R.T during the deadly outbreak.

Due to Umbrella's use of medicines developed by other pharmaceutical companies, the Global Pharmaceutical Organization worked to prevent further harm from being done to the names of innocent pharmaceutical organizations, and to prevent the further distribution of B., by forming an international organization called the Bioterrorism Security Assessment Alliance, or "BSAA", after Umbrella's collapse in 2003. Among the eleven founding members were none other than Chris Redfield and Jill Valentine.

Redemption

In 2007, Umbrella U.S.A.'s assets were handed over to former employees of the original company as new chief executives and formed into a PMC called "Blue Umbrella". Its stated purpose is to atone for the crimes of the old executives and redeem Umbrella's "dark legacy" by exclusively combating bioweapons through both military ops and the development of cutting-edge anti-B.O.W. weapons, tactics, technology and treatment. The company keeps their original name so the public will always know that the company is cleaning up the mess they started.

Lincoln: WHOA!

Nico: No it's not the Umbrella Corporation that did this. I forget who the main bad guy is but it'll come to me.

Me: Lets find the base of some of the survivors and work with them to learn more.

But then all of the Masters of Evil came.

Villamax: Hey guys.

Me: ALL of you this time.

Vypra: It's actually Villamax, Beetle, Riddler, Man Boy, Roquefort and Atomic Skull's turn. We came to help all of you out.

Me: I see. We're going into the world of Resident Evil.

Ebon: Oh man! I know that Game Series. It was intense.

Rubberband Man: Same with the movies.

Shaun: It's where I learned all my skills in Zombie Apocalypse Survival and it got me ready for this.

Lana: And Shaun taught us how to survive in something like this.

Lily: Yeah he did.

Vypra: I see.

Me: Lets land.

We went down to the planet and we were flying over the city of Los Angeles, California. The whole city was completely destroyed and on fire and countless numbers of zombies were roaming the streets looking for blood.

Me: My god. This is horrible.

Vypra: It's much worse than seeing it on TV.

Ebon: No kidding.

Me: This whole planet went to Hell.

Linka: No kidding.

Lily: This is a true nightmare.

Qin: No kidding.

Hunter: (German Accent) Mein gott. This is awful.

Edwayl: (Breton Accent) No kidding lad.

Lola: This is horrible.

Nico: Horrible.

Vince: We got to find those survivors and then kill whoever did this and get the hell out of here.

Shaun: This planet doesn't have much time left.

Laney: I see some survivors on that building right there.

We saw them on a hotel that was converted into an anti-zombie fortress.

Me: Lets land.

We landed the ship and it was over the city and we engaged the anti-zombie lightning shield dome and it blew many of the zombies away and we went into the hotel. We had guns and weapons and our powers ready.

Me: Hello?

A man came out and we saw that it was the leader of S.T.A.R.S. Chris Redfield.

Chris Redfield: Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

Nico: You must be Chris Redfield.

Chris Redfield: I sure am.

Me: It's a pleasure to meet you Chris.

Chris Redfield: It's an honor to meet you guys. Just wish it was under better circumstances.

Ember McLean: Yeah! No kidding!

Me: Luckily we got here as fast as we could. We came to help you all kill all the zombies and destroy Umbrella once and for all

Chris Redfield: We have a lot to talk about and Umbrella is not our enemy. Come on.

We went into the headquarters of Chris's anti-zombie movement.

Me: So Chris what can you tell us about this world? What happened here that caused this whole planet to go to Hell?

Chris Redfield: I sure can. It was because of the Global T-Virus Pandemic.

Chris went over what it was and what we found out was awful.

The Global T-Virus pandemic was a global-scale outbreak of the T-Virus, triggered by two separate outbreaks in Raccoon City and Tokyo, Japan in 2002. By 2005, almost the entire human population had been either infected or killed, with the biosphere almost entirely destroyed as well. In 2012, the potent anti-virus was released, beginning the resurrection of the Earth and destroying anything infected with the T-Virus.

The T-Virus was created as a treatment for various illnesses . The first sign of any problems came in Cape Town, where a young boy that had received T-Virus treatment choked to death on a cable car ride to Table Mountain, then reanimated as an Undead and killed or infected the other occupants. Umbrella was able to cover-up the incident. Soon after, co-founded Dr. Alexander Isaacs began considering its use as a military weapon, and had killed his fellow partner, Dr. James Marcus, to ensure this path. Some years later, Dr. Isaacs became inspired by the Hebrew deluge myth, and he and Umbrella's High Command planned to intentionally release the virus across the planet and, after several years, destroy the Undead with an airborne anti-virus. An elect few were to be kept in cryogenic preservation for the duration of this apocalyptic event, and be released to a world without the destructive consequences of war and climate change. To ensure the project go ahead as planned, Dr. Isaacs' plan required that key Umbrella personnel be cloned, including himself.

Alicia Marcus, Dr. Marcus' daughter, inherited a 50% share in the company, though the otherwise unanimous approval of High Command was enough to invalidate her opposition. A recording of the meeting was secretly uploaded to the Red Queen's mainframe; though the computer system was unable to kill Umbrella employees, it was able to assist Alicia by programming a clone of Alicia, Alice, to have a strong opposition to Umbrella. Alice was placed in a security role within Raccoon City's Hive complex alongside another man, Spence, who she developed a romantic relationship with. Alice began helping a Lisa Addison, an environmentalist plant within the Hive, to acquire the necessary evidence to destroy Umbrella.

Initial outbreaks

Whether influenced behind the scenes by Umbrella, or an independent agent altogether, Spence also chose to betray Umbrella, and stole a number of T-Virus and Anti-Virus samples with the intent of selling on the black market. When he released T-Virus into the facility during his escape, Red Queen responded by releasing Halon gas into the Hive, killing much of its workforce. However, the T-Virus had successfully spread into the air, and the staff were able to reanimate regardless.

Umbrella sent a commando team in to find out what happened, breaking into the Hive and dragging Spence, Alice and Lisa's brother Matt with them. The Red Queen attempted to stop the team, killing some; however, they refused to listen to her warnings. They shut her down, causing all the infected to be released. Everyone except Alice and Matt died before the Hive could be sealed again. However, Matt was scratched by a Licker, which caused him to mutate. More Umbrella troops arrived, taking both captive for experiments.

Alice was infected with the T-Virus, bonding with it a cellular level and didn't mutate; this was likely thanks to her original's progeria, which the virus couldn't affect long. Umbrella reopened the Hive, allowing the Hive outbreak to evolve into the Raccoon City Incident. Umbrella decided to see if Alice or the mutated Matt, now called Nemesis, would be the better version of successful T-Virus assimilation; both refused to kill the other and turned on Umbrella. Seeing both a lost cause and that the infection would soon become airborne outside Raccoon, as it had been 3 days since the outbreak, Umbrella launched a nuclear missile at Raccoon City Hall, destroying the building and much of the city.

Umbrella recovered Alice's body from the wreckage of a helicopter, deciding to try bringing her back to life. They also squashed the news footage of the outbreak, labeling both Jill Valentine and Carlos Olivera as terrorists trying to blame Umbrella for an "accidental" meltdown at the power plant. Alice was successfully brought back to life, with enhanced physical abilities and psionic powers. She managed to escape with the help of her friends, but Umbrella would be able to track the new Project Alice through satellite feed. With data on Alice, Nemesis, the undead and the mutations from Raccoon City, Umbrella began feverishly working towards the decimation of the world's population.

Initiating the Plan

To better help them understand the nature of the infected, Umbrella had reactivated the Red Queen and charged her with using the Umbrella Prime testing facility to conduct the research. Using simulations in major cities of the world at the facility, Umbrella shows the potential the T-Virus possessed to the world and sold the countries the virus, building a new arms race in the hopes that the virus would be stored poorly and begin the infection. "Patient zeroes" (people infected with the T-Virus) were also released into various countries by Umbrella to ensure the initiation of outbreaks around the world. At least one such outbreak occurred in the Japanese capital of Tokyo, where an infected J-pop girl transformed and attacked a businessman at the Shibuya Scramble, spreading the virus to the rest of the city and then Japan itself.

Since Isaacs and Alicia Marcus would be placed in cryo-stasis with the rest of Umbrella High Command, Albert Wesker was made chairman of the Umbrella Corporation during the outbreak. Having complete control of the organization, Wesker operated from the main facility under Shibuya Square in Japan. To lure survivors into their clutches so they could be experimented on, Umbrella prepared a false safe haven called Arcadia which was a tanker hiding a testing facility within. To pacify the staff that would be forced to hideout in the underground Umbrella facilities, a clone of Dr. Isaacs was created for the purpose of trying to domesticate the undead and make them subservient.

The World goes to Hell

Humanity entered a Dark Age as the world was overrun by the undead; though lacking intelligence, the undead's sheer numbers and unending hunger for flesh made them extremely dangerous nonetheless. As shown in Afterlife, as the number of infected grew, prisoners were released to help fight back out of sheer desperation. Within a few weeks, the T-Virus had completely consumed the United States and only a month later, the rest of the world fell. Any organised resistance or form of governance collapsed, overwhelmed by the undead hordes.

Though the virus was only intended to wipe out the surface population of humans, it mutated and affected the Earth herself. Wildlife infected and mutated, entire swathes of forests died off and bodies of water dried up leaving much of the planet a barren wasteland. Slowly but surely, the Earth began to wither and die, a final massive casualty of Umbrella's orchestrated holocaust.

What few survivors that were left learned to stay on the move and avoid large cities where the infection was at its worst. Speed and constant mobility were their only defense against the unending horde of undead. A convoy led by Claire Redfield and Carlos Olivera was one such example; however, they always ended up too late to help others that radioed for assistance, something that weighed heavily on their consciences.

Occasionally, the humans would be aided by nature, as shown in Resident Evil: Extinction. Swarms of infected crows were known to feed on flesh, indiscriminately. The entire undead population of Las Vegas was purged in this manner. On the other end of the spectrum, there were survivors who remained in their cities, defending themselves vigorously, as shown in Resident Evil: Afterlife.

In Resident Evil: Retribution, the White House itself appears to have become another safe haven during the outbreak; surrounded by large walls and other barricades, which prevents millions of Undead from getting in. It may possibly house some remnants of the Military, and Leon Kennedy's "resistance".

In the decade that the outbreak occurred, things grew progressively worse. The undead began mutating, growing mandibles for catching prey. The Undead also started getting smarter, rather than pointlessly wander or wait outside the strongholds of humanity, they instead began burrowing. Worse, the wild life mutated as well, created giant winged monstrosities that made air superiority void.

Survivors

The spread of the t-Virus was devastating, but it was not absolute. According to the White Queen's satellites scans, out of the planet's pre-outbreak population of 6.5 billion (US numbering system) human inhabitants, there were 1,733,548 people uninfected on the surface. In Resident Evil: Afterlife, survivors are discovered taking refuge in the LA jail and over 2,000 known survivors, including Alice, Claire Redfield, Chris Redfield and K-Mart are aboard the Arcadia, captured by Albert Wesker in an effort to keep his infection in check by feeding on their flesh. A brainwashed Jill attacked Arcardia with Umbrella, killing survivors on whim. Wesker pretended to defect from Umbrella, gathering the remains of the U.S. army together with his troops at the White House, along with Leon Kennedy's group. This was all part of his mission to wipe them out.

Ending the Pandemic

Following the betrayal of humanity by Wesker at the White House, humankind is reduced to just over 4,000 people left, gathered in only a few settlements based around the world. This meant 1,729,548 people died between Extinction and The Final Chapter . One such settlement was in a tower in the ruins of Raccoon City. Led by a clone of Doctor Alexander Isaacs, three massive Undead armies, each led by Umbrella tanks, launch an assault to destroy this settlement and end humanity once and for all while other Undead armies led by Umbrella forces went after the remaining settlements in other parts of the globe. To counter this, the Red Queen, in truth an innocent pawn in Wesker's plot to destroy the majority of the remaining humans in Washington, DC, contacts Alice who alone survived Wesker's betrayal and informs her of a potent anti-virus developed by Umbrella and kept within the Hive. This anti-virus was designed to be airborne and kill anything infected by the T-virus upon contact. By releasing the anti-virus, Alice could end the pandemic and save what is left of humanity.

Alice travels to the ruins of Raccoon City where she helps the survivors repel the assault of Isaacs and the first Undead army. Accompanied by a team of survivors, including Claire Redfield, Alice enters the Hive where she encounters the real Isaacs and Alicia Marcus, daughter of Doctor James Marcus who created the T-virus in the first place and of whom Alice herself is a clone. With the aid of Alicia and the Red Queen, Alice defeats Wesker and chases Isaacs, apparently killing him. Alice takes the anti-virus from Isaacs and attempts to release it upon the surface, only to be stopped by Isaacs who is killed by his clone. Alice releases the anti-virus, killing the thousands of Undead in the vicinity. The Hive is also destroyed by Alice with explosives, killing Wesker, Alicia and the thousands of Umbrella employees and Umbrella High Command held within, effectively destroying the Umbrella Corporation.

While the anti-virus is released into the world and is airborne, it has to travel on the winds and will likely take several years to circle the globe and kill everything infected by the T-virus and ending the pandemic.

We were horrified!

Me: My fucking god! That's horrible!

Vince: This whole planet went to Hell.

Carol: It sure did.

Nico: Now I remember! It was Albert Wesker that was responsible for this whole catastrophe.

Me: Who is Albert Wesker?

Nico: You would hate this guy J.D.

Nico went over who he was.

---

Albert Wesker is the main antagonist of the Resident Evil video game series.

Specifically, he is the main antagonist of Resident Evil, one of two secondary antagonists (alongside William Birkin) of Resident Evil 0, the overarching antagonist of Resident Evil 4, a major antagonist in

Resident Evil: Code Veronica X, the main antagonist of Resident Evil 5, and a posthumous antagonist in Resident Evil 6 . He is also the main protagonist villain of Resident Evil: The Umbrella Chronicles and a minor antagonist in Resident Evil: The Darkside Chronicles .

Wesker was a high-ranking researcher of the Umbrella Corporation who also served as a double agent within S.T.A.R.S., serving as the captain of Alpha Team. Wesker would later betray Umbrella and surface as a member of a mysterious organization looking to profit off of Umbrella's research. Eventually, Wesker would go on to pursue his own megalomaniacal desires for world domination with the Uroboros virus, but he was stopped by Chris Redfield and the BSAA.

Even after his death, Wesker still has posthumous influences in Resident Evil 6, especially on his biological son, Jake Muller, who unknowingly carried his father's enhanced physiology and his dark legacy which would later be used by Carla Radames to produce C-Virus. Therefore, Wesker is arguably the main antagonist of almost the entire Resident Evil game franchise so far. He also has a sister named Alex Wesker, who was raised alongside him as part of Umbrella's Project W. He once had a lover (Jake Muller's mother) but broke up with her.

Albert Wesker had parents who possessed superior genes. He and a number of other children were raised as the "Wesker children", a eugenics project headed by the Umbrella Corporation, which gave Albert his surname. He demonstrated even greater potential than the others - except for Alex Wesker - which caught the attention of Ozwell E. Spencer, Umbrella's president, who saw the boy had what he was looking for.

Albert became one of Umbrella's employees at age 17 and became a promising member of the corporation with Spencer secretly watching over him. Wesker became a researcher at the Management Training Facility working under Dr. James Marcus in 1977. While there, he befriended William Birkin, another trainee who would also be his rival, and the pair acted as accomplices for years afterwards. The two were some of the few people Marcus trusted. When the Training Facility was shut down, the two were transferred to the research facility in the Arklay Mountains where they continued research on the T-Virus for 13 years.

Wesker and Birkin went though 3 stages of the T-Virus during their research, finally culminating in the Tyrant in 1988. The two then received orders to eliminate Dr. James Marcus and steal his research on the T-Virus. Later, when Spencer approved Birkin's research into the G-Virus in 1991, Wesker grew suspicious about the president and requested to be transferred into Umbrella's Intelligence Bureau.

At some point, he met and became acquainted to fellow Wesker, Alex Wesker, whose ideals mirrored his own: living isn't enough, one needs to transcend.

Traitor of the S.T.A.R.S.

Five years later, Wesker joined a newly founded branch of the Raccoon City Police Department (whom he decided to call the "Special Tactics And Rescue Squad". or "S.T.A.R.S for short.) He acted as a double agent, informing Umbrella of any police investigations, so that their illegal actions would not be discovered. In 1998, a series of cannibalistic homicides were springing up in the Arklay Mountains, which were originally thought to be the work of a cult. However Wesker and Umbrella knew that this was really the sign of a T-virus outbreak. Though originally ordered by Umbrella to keep the S.T.A.R.S. team out of the situation, public outcry forced Wesker to send them in.

Then new orders were given, dispatch S.T.A.R.S. to the outbreak area and use them as test subjects against the B.O.W.s Wesker first sent in the Bravo Team and he and Birkin were then ordered to retake control of the Umbrella Training Facility. Realizing this was impossible thanks to the resurrected James Marcus, Wesker decided to destroy the facility and came to the realization that this was the perfect time to leave Umbrella and look into his own interests. He encountered and destroyed the failure experiment, the T-001 Tyrant, before running into Sergei Vladimir, leader of Umbrella's paramilitary organization.

He reminded Wesker that his mission was to reclaim the facility, though Wesker pointed out that the T-Virus outbreak had infected too much of the area and that he was just going to destroy the now useless facility. Sergei reminded Wesker that he couldn't just do what he wanted and ordered his Ivan Tyrant to attack Wesker, who battled the B.O.W. quite happily, seeing it as a chance for some real entertainment. During the fight, the explosions in the facility began to go off, allowing Wesker to take his leave.

The next day, there was no word from the Bravo Team and so Wesker sent in the Alpha Team. No sooner had they arrived then they were attacked by a pack of Cerberus (dogs mutated by the T-Virus) and abandoned by their pilot, Brad Vickers. They were forced to retreat into a nearby mansion, actually the Umbrella facility where Wesker had worked, and Wesker ordering everyone to split up. He then disappeared and left the survivors, Jill Valentine, Chris Redfield, and Barry Burton, to fight off the B.O.W.S. running loose in the mansion. To ensure his success, Wesker got Barry to follow his commands by threatening his family. However Jill found Enrico, who had discovered what was going on, but before he could compromise Wesker's plans, Wesker killed him. Despite this, Chris and Jill eventually managed to learn the truth and destroyed the T-002 Tyrant, along with the facility. But unknown to everyone else, Wesker had injected an experimental virus into himself that he had obtained from William Birkin.

He allowed the tyrant to seemingly kill him and, when everyone was gone, the virus's regenerative abilities revived him, giving him superhuman strength, speed and regeneration, at the cost of Wesker's humanity. Upon his reanimation, he realized his tyrant had been destroyed and attempted to steal the data from the facility. But Wesker found that the data had been transferred to the Umbrella base in Russia and that he had been locked out by the advanced computer program, the Red Queen. Swearing he would pay back both S.T.A.R.S. and the Red Queen, Wesker made his escape from the facility, easily fighting his way through the remaining B.O.W.s and marveling at his new powers. However as he was escaping, Wesker found himself pursued by Lisa Trevor, who seemed determined to destroy the man who had made her so twisted. Noting how she seemed almost invincible due to her instantaneous regeneration, he began pumping every bullet he had into her, Wesker eventually used his new superhuman abilities to shoot down a chandelier onto Lisa, finally ending her and using his enhanced speed to quickly run away from the mansion before it blew up.

Raccoon City Outbreak

Though much of his plot had failed, Wesker still managed to find a high-ranking position in one of Umbrella's mysterious rivals "The Organization". Deciding that he wanted to continue to fool his enemies into thinking he was dead, Wesker operated through spies and the Organization. When the T-Virus outbreak hit Raccoon City, he sent in a spy, Ada Wong, to retrieve a sample of Birkin's G-Virus. She was successful, much to Wesker and the Organization's pleasure.

Rockfort Island/Antarctic Lab Incident

Wesker led an assault by the H.C.F, a heavily armed team of commandos, in an attack on the Rockfort Island Umbrella base, releasing the T-Virus in the process, so as to gain a sample of the T-Veronica Virus, the creation of Alexia Ashford. With the T-Virus contaminating the area and the B.O.W.s released from containment, Wesker was easily able to move throughout the facility and look for his objective. However he and his men found no sign of Alexia herself, who was the only known person to host the virus. Wesker set out to find the Antarctic Facility, which had also suffered a T-Virus outbreak from the employees who fled there from the Rockfort Facility. While there, Wesker ran into Chris Redfield, who had come looking for his sister, Claire, and eventually found Alexia.

After attempting to force her to give him a T-Veronica virus sample, he was driven back by Alexia's powers. Wesker then left Chris to take care of Alexia and succeeded in getting a sample of the virus from the body of Steve Burnside. Once the base started its self-destruct sequence, Wesker captured Claire so as to force Chris to fight him. While he managed to dominate the battle with his superhuman abilities, Chris refused to go down easily. Wesker was about to finally kill him when an explosion sent a flaming pillar between them. He stated that Chris had won on pure luck, which wouldn't be enough to save him next time. Wesker escaped into an Organization Submarine as the base continued to explode.

Business with Javier Hidalgo

Four years later, Wesker was contacted by Javier Hidalgo, the leader of a powerful South American drug cartel, "The Sacred Snakes". Javier's wife, Hilda, had contracted a fatal disease ten years before and a former Umbrella researcher had given him T-Virus to help her. Now his daughter, Manuela, had been infected by the same disease and Javier wanted Wesker's help. Wesker gave Javier T-Veronica virus, as well as specific instructions on how to use it, in exchange for generous financial compensation and a share in Javier's dealings. Wesker later watched Javier's mutated body fall through binoculars after he mutated himself and was killed by Leon S. Kennedy and Jack Krauser.

Russian Facility Incident

One year later, Wesker made his way into the Umbrella Facility in Russia while Chris and Jill were launching an assault on it in order to destroy the new B.O.W., T-A.L.O.S. Wesker fought his way through the sub-levels until he finally confronted Sergei Vladimir again, who ordered his two Ivan Tyrants to kill Wesker. With his new superhuman abilities, he defeated the two Ivans easily and continued into the facility, eventually finding his way to the Red Queen control room. While Jill and Chris fought and destroyed T-A.L.O.S., Wesker took on a mutated Sergei, finally killing him. He then downloaded the files from the Red Queen and deleted the computer's data. Shortly afterwards, Wesker presented strong evidence against Umbrella in court, claiming he was a personal friend of the CEO, ensuring the company was shut down. With all the information he needed at hand, Wesker swore to be the one to bring about a new world.

Joining with Tricell

Wesker later contacted Tricell, another pharmaceutical company, who paid him well for all of Umbrella's information. He began working with them and started iwork on his own plans, which he kept secret from the Organization. One person who caught Wesker's interest was Excella Gionne, a Tricell employee and a descendant of the company's original founders, thanks to her intellect and ambition, very much like his own. After deciding she could be a valuable ally, Wesker helped Excella to climb up Tricell's corporate ladder. She was also romantically attracted in Wesker, but he didn't return these feelings at all, though he didn't let Excella know this so as to keep her on his side.

Stealing Las Plagas

After Umbrella's fall, Wesker began creating a new Umbrella using the data he had retrieved from Umbrella's Caucasus Facility. But to complete it, he was going to need a great deal of resources and wealth, so he began selling samples of Umbrella's viruses to their competitors. He continued to keep his plans secret to his superiors in the Organization, but they had begun to grow suspicious of Wesker.

Tricell had recently become interested in the newly discovered Las Plagas parasite and sought to acquire an advanced Control Plaga, which had been developed by Osmund Saddler. Wesker made a deal with them and sent in his old subordinate, Ada Wong to steal a sample, while he monitored and contacted her with a video feed. Because of the deadline they were on, Wesker sent in his new recruit, Jack Krauser to help her, despite the fact that the two were constantly at odds. Eventually Ada returned successful but double crossed Wesker, giving him a modified Subordinate Plaga while sending the real one to the Organization. However he took a dominant species Plaga from Krauser's body and started performing research on it. Wesker then brought his Plaga samples to Tricell, who began developing more evolved breeds of the parasite. Wesker left the Organization soon afterwards, easily managing to hide from them since he had been doing it for years from Umbrella.

Final Meeting with Spencer

Wesker had everything he needed for his plans, but he still wanted to know why Spencer had created the B.O.W.s and fortunately for him, he caught wind of some information pointing to Spencer's whereabouts. Wesker headed there one Autumn night and slaughtered his former employer's bodyguards, before confronting Spencer himself. He expected this to surprise Umbrella's CEO, but the old man actually expected to see him. It was then that Wesker realized Spencer had arranged for the information leak and had wanted this meeting. In fact he had controlled everything from the very beginning, including Wesker's actions. Spencer revealed that the reason he had created B.O.W.s was to force humanity to evolve through viruses, creating a superior human race with himself as its god. Wesker had been molded from the need for Spencer to find people who would share his ideals.

Spencer explained the Wesker plan and that he'd seen to it each child was given an experimental virus, in Albert's case, it was the virus he got from Birkin. However, he was the only one to survive it. But now that Wesker knew this, he also knew that the only thing that prevented him from becoming a god was a sickly, dying old man. He killed his "creator" by driving his arm through Spencer's chest and noted how arrogant Spencer had been, to think someone like him could become a god. Wesker then stated that only one able to become a god had the right to be one.

He then decided that a pharmaceutical company could not bring him the godly power he desired and set out to succeed in his former master's dream of creating a world of superior humans. Wesker was then confronted by his old enemies, Jill and Chris, who had learned of Spencer's location and hoped he could lead them to their former leader. Wesker took their appearance as a sign that "the weak would always resist the will of the chosen". Wesker began fighting them and easily matched them with his powers. In the fight, he knocked Jill away after she attempted to pull a knife on him and was about to finally finish off his most hated enemy, Chris. However Jill threw herself at Wesker and knocked them both of them out of the window they were in front of, falling off a cliff. Though declared dead, they both survived and Jill was placed in cryogenic sleep by Wesker, who intended to use her against Chris.

Uroboros

Wesker worked with Tricell again and formed a full alliance with Excella, who came to share his vision for the future. With his help, she continued to rise to work her way up the corporate ladder of Tricell, until she was CEO of the Africa Division. They reopened the abandoned Africa Research Center of Umbrella and found the source of the Progenitor virus. With this, Wesker created the most powerful virus of all, the Uroboros virus. At first, the virus proved deadly to any human, but he found a way to counter this through Jill. After becoming briefly infected by the T-Virus, Jill had developed powerful antibodies that Wesker used to perfect Uroboros.

He hired a Tricell tanker within which he placed a specialized stealth bomber. With use of the newly created chemical, P30, Wesker placed a device on Jill's chest that would continuously pump it into her system, making her his willing subordinate and enhancing her abilities, creating a perfect asset for his plans and a form of payback against Chris. Wesker began placing the Uroboros virus into missiles so that he could release it into the planet's atmosphere. He and Excella then placed Las Plagas into the residents of Kijuju, bringing them under their control. Everything seemed perfect for Wesker until Chris, along with another B.S.A.A. agent, Sheva Alomar, showed up to investigate what was going on. After the two took out Ricardo Irving, who sold B.O.W.s on the black market and was presumably Wesker and Excella's supplier of Las Plagas, they pursued a disguised Jill. When she reported Chris and Sheva's arrival in their facility, Excella stated that she "sensed concern" from Wesker, but he simply replied that he was not going to allow failure at this stage of the plan.

While Excella and Jill went to deal with Chris and Sheva, Wesker thanked Spencer for providing him with a great vision for the world and the means of becoming the god that Spencer never could be. He then went to the Monarch room to prepare for his upcoming confrontation with Chris. After sending one of Tricell's advanced Uroboros mutants against their enemies, Excella and Jill joined him. Upon Chris and Sheeva's arrival, they were attacked by and fought against the cloaked person they had been pursuing, only for Wesker to appear. He called this "one big family reunion", saying that Chris should be happier to see them.

Wesker then revealed that the hooded woman was Jill and the four engaged in a two on two fight while Excella went to prepare the tanker. After his spare time was expended, Wesker left Chris and Sheva to Jill, but the two managed to free Jill by pulling the device off her chest. With Excella finally having outlived her usefulness, Wesker infected her with Uroboros, which killed her, and left her on the deck of the ship.

This resulted in an enormous monstrosity after it absorbed dead bodies scattered across the deck. Chris and Sheva managed to destroy it and were then informed by Jill that Wesker needed to inject a special serum into himself so as to keep the virus inside him stable. However this dosage needed to be exact so if there was too much in his system at once, Wesker would weaken. Sheva had managed to get vials of the serum in an earlier encounter with Excella and so she and Chris pursued Wesker into the hold of the tanker, where they realized his plan to use the stealth bomber to release Uroboros into the atmosphere.

They engaged Wesker in a final confrontation, gaining an advantage by turning off the lights around the platform they were fighting on. By working together, Chris and Sheva hit him with an RPG and manage to inject some of the serum into Wesker's neck. Though he was weakened, he was far from out and attempted to flee using his jet, only for Chris and Sheva to board as well just before take off. As the jet gained altitude, Wesker continued to fight them, only to get injected again by Chris, who called him, "another one of Umbrella's leftovers" and opened the bomber's underside hatch.

The lost of pressure caused the jet to crash into an active volcano. By some miracle, they all survived and Wesker stated that he should have finished Chris years ago. Chris replied that his plans were finished, only for Wesker to laugh and say that he was just getting started. He turned to an Uroboros missile and punched into it, absorbing the virus into himself. The tendrils wrapped around several metal shards and gave him a powerful tentacle like appendage to swipe with. Wesker proceeded to attack Chris and Sheva, all the while ranting on about natural selection, social darwinism and his loathing of the human race.

It was clear that the cool and calm Wesker was gone, along with what remained of his sanity. As the fight went on, Wesker's other arm succumbed to the Uroboros, but he managed to keep the rest of himself intact. Finally the fight ended up on the last platform on the lava river and Chris and Sheva managed to stab Wesker from both sides of his one weakpoint, before the ground gave way beneath him, dropping him into the lava.

Chris and Sheva managed to grab onto a ladder from a helicopter piloted by Josh Stone and Jill. However Wesker grabbed the helicopter with his tentacles, determined to take them down with him. But Chris and Sheva fired a pair of RPG's at him that destroyed him completely. Finally the malicious mastermind that had been so hellbent on world domination had been destroyed.

We gasped in shock.

Me: So it's Albert Wesker we have to kill.

Nico: That's right. He plunged this whole planet into hell and we have to destroy him at all costs.

Huntsgirl: Is it okay if the usual battles involve us saving some civilians this time?

Man Boy: We don't mind. I just hope there are still civilians left to save.

Me: I hope so to. But no we have to stay together. It's too dangerous to fight in our usual battles especially in a situation like this. With 6.5 Billion Zombies roaming the planet and killing anything in sight they will just keep coming in superior numbers many at a time like cockroaches. We can still have our usual battles but only if all of us do it. After that we're gonna go to the Umbrella Headquarters to face Wesker which is located right underneath Tokyo, Japan. What's left of Tokyo anyway. This whole planet is doomed.

Nico: That's right. It has no future. The Human Race here is pretty much extinct along with this whole planet being rendered completely uninhabitable.

?: Boy this is a crazy world.

A figure came out and it was AMPHIBITOR from episode 1, 2 and 3 of Turbo!

---

Amphibitor is a red-eyed tree frog-like monster, who served

Divatox. He serves as the secondary antagonist of the third part of the episode "Shift Into Turbo".

Amphibitor was first seen during Divatox's speech, before she went on her revenge mission on Earth.

In the third episode, Amphibitor was summoned by Divatox to Earth. Amphibitor showed discontent to Divatox, for not summoning him for a long time and not giving him a chance to fight. Divatox sent Amphibitor with a mission - not to let Zordon leave Earth. Amphibitor had to place a special device, which would close the space wormhole and block Zordon's pass. Justin went to destroy the device and Amphibitor attacked him. Then other Power Rangers arrived. Amphibitor fought them, he could fire green lightnings from his eyes and wielded knife and fork in battle. Villain managed to hid sun and cause overcast and summon swirl flow from Zordon's dimension, which nearly sweeped Angel Grove. Then he left. However rangers prepared and were winning in the second fight with monster. Then Divatox enlarged Amphibitor and rangers used Turbozords for the first time, since they didn't have Zeozords anymore. Heroes formed Turbo Megazord and battled the monster. Amphibitor was finally defeated by Turbo Megazord.

Tommy Oliver: Amphibitor!

Amphibitor: Been a while rangers.

Me: I remember you! You were sent by Divatox to not let Zordon leave Earth and close the Space Wormhole that blocked Zordon's pass route.

Amphibitor: That's right.

Vypra: Didn't I tell you he has a great memory?

Amphibitor: You sure did.

Nico: But you caught us all at a bad time here.

Amphibitor: Man, this is messed up. Usually, you Rangers fight monsters like me in less dark environments.

T.J. Johnson: I know.

Me: But this planets entire future has been completely destroyed because of Wesker and the crimes of the Umbrella Corporation.

Then we heard a thump and we heard roaring coming from a room with a big metal reinforced door.

Me: What's in that room?

Chris Redfield: We keep some of those that are infected in that room.

Teen Titans Lightning: You have an entire room full of infected?!

Chris Redfield: Some of them are kids.

Atomic Skull: None of them are kids. They're a virus.

Roquefort: And it would be unwise to allow this disease to exist in the same building as us.

Chris Redfield: If you're suggesting-

Maria: Look, you're obviously uncomfortable for what needs to be in done in there. So, we'll take care of it for you. Horsea, you and Manaphy go lead Chris to somewhere else while we take care of business in that room.

Chris Redfield: I just wish there was another way.

Horsea: Come on, Chris. Maria and the others have work to do.

Me: You don't want to hear this dude.

Horsea and Manaphy blasted the Infected with Hyper Beam and Bubble Beam blasts and they obliterated the Infected in an instant.

Me: Good riddance.

Horsea: Yep.

Me: Now I have a plan that can have us be lead to Umbrella so we can finish Wesker for good.

I put my plan into action and it was to use all the Royal Defenders as bait so we can draw out Wesker and have them lead us to Wesker and Umbrella so we can kill him. We put our plan into action and lowered the shields and the zombies came in and the Royal Defenders saw the Zombies. But then a Zombie DARK ACE appeared and we saw him!

Me: Dark Ace! I thought you were back at the Masters of Evil Headquarters.

Dark Ace: (chuckles) You've all just made a big mistake using us as bait.

Bright Man: And why's that?

RD Lincoln: Because when we get out of this, the first thing we're gonna do is kill Manaphy, Poliwag, Horsea, and Poromon right in front of you guys!

Me: Not if you die first you white haired buck-toothed brat! (To Lincoln) No offense.

Lincoln: None taken.

Me: And besides you can't even walk remember and you don't have powers remember?

RD Lincoln: FUCK!

A zombie then just bit me, turning me into another zombie.

Drakkon: (I growl at him) I'm sorry, J.D. (impales me through the chest)

Me: (returns to normal) OW! SHIT!

Drakkon: Ok, I don't think the undead can say "Ow" or "Shit".

Me: They don't. Can you please take the sword out of me, please?

Drakkon: Sorry. (pulls sword out of me) I actually thought you became a zombie.

My wounds instantly healed.

Leanbow: It's J.D.'s powers. They must purging the virus out of his body.

Me: No worries. It'll take more than zombies to get me to become one. And I guess the virus that created the zombies doesn't work on us.

Then Wesker himself appeared!

Wesker: (to the Royal Defenders) You all show promise. Join me. And together, we can become the gods of this world.

RD Luna: What about Dark Ace?

Wesker: He's already infected. So he's useless to us.

Me: Just like you will be!

I fired a massive energy blast and it hit Wesker and sent him flying and he crashed into a building!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

The Royal Defenders ran like cowards.

Cynder: Wesker was bad enough. But now, we have the Royal Defenders' version of the Loud Kids on the loose again.

Nico: We're responsible for this. We let out anger towards the Royal Defenders lead Wesker into recruiting them. And now, it's up to us to stop all of them before it's too late!

Me: (Smirks) My plan is working so far.

Nico: What plan?

Me: I planted a tracking chip inside RD Lincoln's neck and he'll lead us to the hideout of Wesker and Umbrella HQ.

Nico: You sneaky dog.

Lana: Nice job!

We heard roaring and then the Zombies came at us by the millions!

Orion: Time to take down some zombies!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Mighty Morphin!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Mighty Morphin Rangers!

Nico: Time to take these zombies down!

Me: Lets get them! But first. (Holds hand out at Zombie Dark Ace) HAKAI!

I banished Dark Ace to the Warp.

We went at the Zombies!

Me: COME ON YOU MINDLESS MOTHERFUCKERS!

Eli: CHARGE!

We went at them roaring at the top of our lungs and it was a savage onslaught. When we collided with them a massive fiery explosion went off.

THOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Pyrhithion, Wrenges, and Viqtarr were blasting and smashing the many armies of zombies as well as the animal abominations.

I fired a massive plethora of techniques at the zombies and really let them have it!

We fired all of said techniques at the zombies and they slammed into all the Zombies and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

When the smoke cleared most of the zombies were all completely obliterated into nothing!

Me: A bunch down and over 2 billion to go.

More zombies were coming.

Eli: Lets do it! EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TYRANNOSAURUS REX!

Eli fired a wave of earth by punching the ground and it formed into the meanest dinosaur that ever lived from 68 million years ago: Tyrannosaurus Rex!

---

Tyrannosaurus is a genus of coelurosaurian theropod dinosaur. The species Tyrannosaurus rex, often called T. rex or colloquially T-Rex, is one of the most well-represented of the large theropods. Tyrannosaurus lived throughout what is now western North America, on what was then an island continent known as Laramidia. Tyrannosaurus had a much wider range than other tyrannosaurids. Fossils are found in a variety of rock formations dating to the Maastrichtian age of the upper Cretaceous period, 68 to 66 million years ago. It was the last known member of the tyrannosaurids, and among the last non-avian dinosaurs to exist before the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event.

Like other tyrannosaurids, Tyrannosaurus was a bipedal carnivore with a massive skull balanced by a long, heavy tail. Relative to its large and powerful hind limbs, Tyrannosaurus forelimbs were short but unusually powerful for their size and had two clawed digits. The most complete specimen measures up to 12.3 meters (40 feet) in length though T. rex could grow to lengths of over 12.3 m (40 ft), up to 3.66 m (12 ft) tall at the hips, and according to most modern estimates 8.4 metric tons (9.3 short tons) to 14 metric tons (15.4 short tons) in weight. Although other theropods rivaled or exceeded Tyrannosaurus rex in size, it is still among the largest known land predators and is estimated to have exerted the strongest bite force among all terrestrial animals. By far the largest carnivore in its environment, Tyrannosaurus rex was most likely an apex predator, preying upon hadrosaurs, armored herbivores like ceratopsians and ankylosaurs, and possibly sauropods. Some experts have suggested the dinosaur was primarily a scavenger. The question of whether Tyrannosaurus was an apex predator or a pure scavenger was among the longest debates in paleontology. Most paleontologists today accept that Tyrannosaurus was both an active predator and a scavenger.

Hunter: (German Accent) INFERNO STYLE NINJA ART: SPINOSAURUS!

Hunter fired a wave of black fire and it formed into the largest and meanest carnivorous dinosaur that ever lived from 112 million years ago in Egypt: Spinosaurus!

---

Spinosaurus (meaning "spine lizard") is a genus of spinosaurid dinosaur that lived in what now is North Africa during the upper Albian to upper Turonian stages of the Cretaceous period, about 112 to 93.5 million years ago. This genus was known first from Egyptian remains discovered in 1912 and described by German paleontologist Ernst Stromer in 1915. The original remains were destroyed in World War II, but additional material has come to light in the early 21st century. It is unclear whether one or two species are represented in the fossils reported in the scientific literature. The best known species is S. aegyptiacus from Egypt, although a potential second species, S. maroccanus, has been recovered from Morocco. The contemporary spinosaurid genus Sigilmassasaurus has also been synonymized by some authors with S. aegyptiacus, though other researchers propose it to be a distinct taxon. Another possible junior synonym is Oxalaia from the Alcântara Formation in Brazil.

Spinosaurus was among the largest of all known carnivorous dinosaurs, nearly as large as or even larger than other theropods such as Tyrannosaurus, Giganotosaurus and Carcharodontosaurus. Estimates published in 2005, 2007, and 2008 suggested that it was between 12.6 to 18 meters (41 to 59 ft) in length and 7 to 20.9 metric tons (7.7 to 23.0 short tons) in weight. New estimates published in 2014 and 2018, based on a more complete specimen, supported the earlier research, finding that Spinosaurus could reach lengths of 15 to 16 meters (49 to 52 ft). The latest estimates suggest a weight of 6.4 to 7.5 metric tons (7.1 to 8.3 short tons). The skull of Spinosaurus was long, low and narrow, similar to that of a modern crocodilian, and bore straight conical teeth with no serrations. It would have had large, robust forelimbs bearing three-fingered hands, with an enlarged claw on the first digit. The distinctive neural spines of Spinosaurus, which were long extensions of the vertebrae (or backbones), grew to at least 1.65 meters (5.4 ft) long and were likely to have had skin connecting them, forming a sail-like structure, although some authors[who?] have suggested that the spines were covered in fat and formed a hump. Spinosaurus's hip bones were reduced, and the legs were very short in proportion to the body. Its long and narrow tail was deepened by tall, thin neural spines and elongated chevrons, forming a flexible fin or paddle-like structure.

Axel Adell: (Swedish Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: WOOLLY MAMMOTH!

Axel fired a wave of ice and it formed into the famous and widely known ancestral elephants from 800,000 years ago: The Woolly Mammoth.

---

The woolly mammoth (Mammuthus primigenius) is an extinct species of mammoth that lived during the Pleistocene until its extinction in the Holocene epoch. It was one of the last in a line of mammoth species, beginning with Mammuthus subplanifrons in the early Pliocene. The woolly mammoth began to diverge from the steppe mammoth about 800,000 years ago in East Asia. Its closest extant relative is the Asian elephant. The appearance and behaviour of this species are among the best studied of any prehistoric animal because of the discovery of frozen carcasses in Siberia and Alaska, as well as skeletons, teeth, stomach contents, dung, and depiction from life in prehistoric cave paintings. Mammoth remains had long been known in Asia before they became known to Europeans in the 17th century. The origin of these remains was long a matter of debate, and often explained as being remains of legendary creatures. The mammoth was identified as an extinct species of elephant by Georges Cuvier in 1796.

The woolly mammoth was roughly the same size as modern African elephants. Males reached shoulder heights between 2.7 and 3.4 m (8.9 and 11.2 ft) and weighed up to 6 metric tons (6.6 short tons). Females reached 2.6-2.9 m (8.5-9.5 ft) in shoulder heights and weighed up to 4 metric tons (4.4 short tons). A newborn calf weighed about 90 kg (200 lb). The woolly mammoth was well adapted to the cold environment during the last ice age. It was covered in fur, with an outer covering of long guard hairs and a shorter undercoat. The colour of the coat varied from dark to light. The ears and tail were short to minimise frostbite and heat loss. It had long, curved tusks and four molars, which were replaced six times during the lifetime of an individual. Its behaviour was similar to that of modern elephants, and it used its tusks and trunk for manipulating objects, fighting, and foraging. The diet of the woolly mammoth was mainly grasses and sedges. Individuals could probably reach the age of 60. Its habitat was the mammoth steppe, which stretched across northern Eurasia and North America.

The woolly mammoth coexisted with early humans, who used its bones and tusks for making art, tools, and dwellings, and the species was also hunted for food. It disappeared from its mainland range at the end of the Pleistocene 10,000 years ago. Isolated populations survived on St. Paul Island until 5,600 years ago and on Wrangel Island until 4,000 years ago. After its extinction, humans continued using its ivory as a raw material, a tradition that continues today. With a genome project for the mammoth completed in 2015, it has been proposed the species could be revived through various means, but none of the methods proposed are yet feasible.

Dana: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: SABER-TOOTH CAT!

Dana fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ancestral cats of 42 million years ago: The Saber-Toothed Cats!

---

A saber-toothed cat (alternatively spelled sabre-toothed cat) is any member of various extinct groups of predatory mammals that are characterized by long, curved saber-shaped canine teeth which protruded from the mouth even when closed. The saber-toothed cats have been found almost worldwide from the Eocene epoch to the end of the Pleistocene epoch 42 million years ago (mya) - 11,000 years ago (kya). The first saber-toothed cat fossil in Canada was found in Medicine Hat, Alberta.

One of the best-known genera is Smilodon, species of which, especially S. fatalis, are popularly, but incorrectly, referred to as "saber-toothed tigers". However, usage of the word cat is in some cases a misnomer, as many species referred to as saber-toothed "cats" are not closely related to modern cats (Felidae). Instead, many are members are classified into different families of Feliformia, such as Barbourofelidae and Nimravidae; the oxyaenid "creodont" genera Machaeroides and Apataelurus; and two extinct lineages of metatherian mammals, the thylacosmilids of Sparassodonta, and deltatheroideans, which are more closely related to marsupials. In this regard, saber-toothed cats can be viewed as examples of convergent evolution. This convergence is remarkable due not only to the development of elongated canines, but also a suite of other characteristics, such as a wide gape and bulky forelimbs, which is so consistent that it has been termed the "saber-tooth suite."

Of the feliform lineages, the family Nimravidae is the oldest, entering the landscape around 42 mya and becoming extinct by 7.2 mya. Barbourofelidae entered around 16.9 mya and were extinct by 9 mya. These two would have shared some habitats.

Lana: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: WOOLLY RHINOCEROS!

Lana fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Ice Age ancestors of modern day Rhinoceroses from 3.6 Million years ago: The Woolly Rhinoceros!

---

The woolly rhinoceros (Coelodonta antiquitatis) is an extinct species of rhinoceros that was common throughout Europe and northern Asia during the Pleistocene epoch and survived until the end of the last glacial period. The woolly rhinoceros was a member of the Pleistocene megafauna.

The woolly rhinoceros was covered with thick and long hair, which allowed it to survive in the extremely cold, harsh mammoth steppe. It also had a massive hump reaching from its shoulder. It fed mainly on herbaceous plants that grew in the steppe.

Mummified carcasses preserved in permafrost and many bone remains of woolly rhinoceroses have been found. Images of woolly rhinoceroses are found among cave paintings in Europe and Asia.

Killer Frost: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: IRISH ELK!

Killer Frost fired a wave of ice and it formed into the largest deer ever known that lived 2.5 million years ago: The Irish Elk.

---

The Irish elk (Megaloceros giganteus) also called the giant deer or Irish deer, is an extinct species of deer in the genus Megaloceros and is one of the largest deer that ever lived. Its range extended across Eurasia during the Pleistocene, from Ireland to Lake Baikal in Siberia. The most recent remains of the species have been carbon dated to about 7,700 years ago in Siberia.

Although abundant skeletal remains have been found in bogs in Ireland, the animal was not exclusive to Ireland nor closely related to either of the living species currently called elk: Alces alces (the European elk, known in North America as the moose) or Cervus canadensis (the North American elk or wapiti). For this reason, the name "giant deer" is used in some publications, instead of "Irish elk". Although one study suggested that the Irish elk was closely related to the red deer (Cervus elaphus), most other phylogenetic analyses support that their closest living relatives are fallow deer (Dama dama).

Maggie: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: SHORT-FACED BEAR!

Maggie fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Ice Age bear from 1.8 million years ago: The Short-Faced Bear.

---

The short-faced bear (Arctodus sp.) is an extinct bear genus that inhabited North America during the Pleistocene epoch from about 1.8 Mya until 11,000 years ago. It was the most common early North American bear and was most abundant in California. There are two recognized species: the lesser short-faced bear (Arctodus pristinus) and the giant short-faced bear (Arctodus simus), with the latter considered to be one of the largest known terrestrial mammalian carnivores that has ever existed. It has been hypothesized that their extinction coincides with the Younger Dryas period of global cooling commencing around 10,900 BC.

Khalyaka: (India Accent) EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TARBOSAURUS BABAAR!

Khalyaka fired a wave of earth and it formed into the terrible theropod of 70 million years ago: Tarbosaurus!

---

Tarbosaurus (meaning "alarming lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid theropod dinosaur that flourished in Asia about 70 million years ago, at the end of the Late Cretaceous Period, considered to contain a single known species, Tarbosaurus bataar. Fossils have been recovered in Mongolia, with more fragmentary remains found further afield in parts of China.

Although many species have been named, modern paleontologists recognize only one, T. bataar, as valid. Some experts see this species as an Asian representative of the North American genus Tyrannosaurus; this would make the genus Tarbosaurus redundant. Tarbosaurus and Tyrannosaurus, if not synonymous, are considered to be at least closely related genera. Alioramus, also from Mongolia, has previously been thought by some authorities to be the closest relative of Tarbosaurus, though this has since been disproven with the discovery of Qianzhousaurus and the description of the Alioramini.

Like most known tyrannosaurids, Tarbosaurus was a large bipedal predator, weighing up to 5 metric tons (5.5 short tons) and equipped with about sixty large teeth. It had a unique locking mechanism in its lower jaw and the smallest forelimbs relative to body size of all tyrannosaurids, renowned for their disproportionately tiny, two-fingered forelimbs.

Tarbosaurus lived in a humid floodplain criss-crossed by river channels. In this environment, it was an apex predator, probably preying on other large dinosaurs like the hadrosaur Saurolophus or the sauropod Nemegtosaurus. Tarbosaurus is represented by dozens of fossil specimens, including several complete skulls and skeletons. These remains have allowed scientific studies focusing on its phylogeny, skull mechanics, and brain structure.

Lynn: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: APATOSAURUS!

Lynn fired a wave of Earth and it formed into the famous sauropod from 158 million years ago: Apatosaurus!

Apatosaurus is a genus of herbivorous sauropod dinosaur that lived in North America during the Late Jurassic period. Othniel Charles Marsh described and named the first-known species, A. ajax, in 1877, and a second species, A. louisae, was discovered and named by William H. Holland in 1916. Apatosaurus lived about 152 to 151 million years ago (mya), during the late Kimmeridgian to early Tithonian age, and are now known from fossils in the Morrison Formation of modern-day Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Wyoming, and Utah in the United States. Apatosaurus had an average length of 21-22.8 m (69-75 ft), and an average mass of 16.4-22.4 t (16.1-22.0 long tons; 18.1-24.7 short tons). A few specimens indicate a maximum length of 11-30% greater than average and a mass of 32.7-72.6 t (32.2-71.5 long tons; 36.0-80.0 short tons).

The cervical vertebrae of Apatosaurus are less elongated and more heavily constructed than those of Diplodocus, a diplodocid like Apatosaurus, and the bones of the leg are much stockier despite being longer, implying that Apatosaurus was a more robust animal. The tail was held above the ground during normal locomotion. Apatosaurus had a single claw on each forelimb and three on each hindlimb. The Apatosaurus skull, long thought to be similar to Camarasaurus, is much more similar to that of Diplodocus. Apatosaurus was a generalized browser that likely held its head elevated. To lighten its vertebrae, Apatosaurus had air sacs that made the bones internally full of holes. Like that of other diplodocids, its tail may have been used as a whip to create loud noises.

The skull of Apatosaurus was confused with that of Camarasaurus and Brachiosaurus until 1909, when the holotype of A. louisae was found, and a complete skull just a few meters away from the front of the neck. Henry Fairfield Osborn disagreed with this association, and went on to mount a skeleton of Apatosaurus with a Camarasaurus skull cast. Apatosaurus skeletons were mounted with speculative skull casts until 1970, when McIntosh showed that more robust skulls assigned to Diplodocus were more likely from Apatosaurus.

Apatosaurus is a genus in the family Diplodocidae. It is one of the more basal genera, with only Amphicoelias and possibly a new, unnamed genus more primitive. While the subfamily Apatosaurinae was named in 1929, the group was not used validly until an extensive 2015 study. Only Brontosaurus is also in the subfamily, with the other genera being considered synonyms or reclassified as diplodocines. Brontosaurus has long been considered a junior synonym of Apatosaurus; its type species was reclassified as A.

excelsus in 1903. A 2015 study concluded that Brontosaurus is a valid genus of sauropod distinct from Apatosaurus, but not all paleontologists agree with this division. As it existed in North America during the late Jurassic, Apatosaurus would have lived alongside dinosaurs such as Allosaurus, Camarasaurus, Diplodocus, and Stegosaurus.

Laney: FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: DIPLODOCUS!

Laney fired a wave of trees and leaves and it formed into the famous sauropod from 154 million years ago: Diplodocus!

---

Diplodocus is a genus of diplodocid sauropod dinosaurs whose fossils were first discovered in 1877 by S. W. Williston. The generic name, coined by Othniel Charles Marsh in 1878, is a neo-Latin term derived from Greek διπλός (diplos) "double" and δοκός (dokos) "beam", in reference to the double-beamed chevron bones located in the underside of the tail, which were then considered unique.

This genus of dinosaurs lived in what is now mid-western North America at the end of the Jurassic period. It is one of the more common dinosaur fossils found in the middle to upper Morrison Formation, between about 154 and 152 million years ago, during the late Kimmeridgian age. The Morrison Formation records an environment and time dominated by gigantic sauropod dinosaurs, such as Apatosaurus, Barosaurus, Brachiosaurus, Brontosaurus, and Camarasaurus. Its great size may have been a deterrent to the predators Allosaurus and Ceratosaurus: their remains have been found in the same strata, which suggests that they coexisted with Diplodocus.

Diplodocus is among the most easily identifiable dinosaurs, with its typical sauropod shape, long neck and tail, and four sturdy legs. For many years, it was the longest dinosaur known.

May: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: LEAELLYNASAURA!

May fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Australian dinosaur from 118 million years ago: Leaellynasaura!

---

Leaellynasaura is a genus of small herbivorous ornithischian dinosaurs from the Albian stage of the Early Cretaceous (dated to between 118 and 110 million years ago), first discovered in Dinosaur Cove, Australia. The only known species is Leaellynasaura amicagraphica. It was described in 1989, and named after Leaellyn Rich, the daughter of the Australian palaeontologist couple Tom Rich and Patricia Vickers-Rich who discovered it. The specific name, amicagraphica, translates to "friend writing" and honours both the Friends of the Museum of Victoria and the National Geographic Society for their support of Australian paleontology.

Lori: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: ALLOSAURUS!

Lori fired a wave of wind and it formed into the vicious theropod from 155 million years ago: Allosaurus!

Allosaurus is a genus of carnivorous theropod dinosaur that lived 155 to 145 million years ago during the late Jurassic period (Kimmeridgian to late Tithonian). The name "Allosaurus" means "different lizard" alluding to its unique concave vertebrae (at the time of its discovery). It is derived from the Greek ἄλλος (allos) ("different, other") and σαῦρος (sauros) ("lizard / generic reptile"). The first fossil remains that could definitively be ascribed to this genus were described in 1877 by paleontologist Othniel Charles Marsh. As one of the first well-known theropod dinosaurs, it has long attracted attention outside of paleontological circles.

Allosaurus was a large bipedal predator. Its skull was large and equipped with dozens of sharp, serrated teeth. It averaged 9.5 meters (31 ft) in length, though fragmentary remains suggest it could have reached over 12 m (39 ft). Relative to the large and powerful hindlimbs, its three-fingered forelimbs were small, and the body was balanced by a long and heavily muscled tail. It is classified as an allosaurid, a type of carnosaurian theropod dinosaur. The genus has a complicated taxonomy, and includes three valid species, the best known of which is A. fragilis. The bulk of Allosaurus remains have come from North America's Morrison Formation, with material also known from Portugal. It was known for over half of the 20th century as Antrodemus, but a study of the copious remains from the Cleveland-Lloyd Dinosaur Quarry brought the name "Allosaurus" back to prominence and established it as one of the best-known dinosaurs.

As the most abundant large predator in the Morrison Formation, Allosaurus was at the top of the food chain, probably preying on contemporaneous large herbivorous dinosaurs, and perhaps other predators. Potential prey included ornithopods, stegosaurids, and sauropods. Some paleontologists interpret Allosaurus as having had cooperative social behavior, and hunting in packs, while others believe individuals may have been aggressive toward each other, and that congregations of this genus are the result of lone individuals feeding on the same carcasses.

Leni: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: OMEISAURUS!

Leni fired a wave of water and it formed into one of the largest dinosaurs from 173 million years ago: Omeisaurus!

---

Omeisaurus (meaning "Omei lizard") is a genus of sauropod dinosaur from the Middle Jurassic Period (Bathonian-Callovian stage) of what is now China. Its name comes from Mount Emei, where it was discovered in the lower Shaximiao Formation of Sichuan Province.

Like other sauropods, Omeisaurus was herbivorous and large. It measured 20.2 metres (66 ft) long, and weighed 9.8 tonnes.

Luna: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: SUCHOMIMUS!

Luna fired a wave of water and it formed into the ferocious spinosaurid dinosaur from 125 million years ago: Suchomimus!

Suchomimus (meaning "crocodile mimic") is a genus of spinosaurid dinosaur that lived between 125 and 112 million years ago in what is now Niger, during the Aptian to early Albian stages of the Early Cretaceous period. The animal was named and described by palaeontologist Paul Sereno and colleagues in 1998, based on a partial skeleton from the Erlhaz Formation. Suchomimus's long and shallow skull, similar to that of a crocodile, earns it its generic name, while the specific name Suchomimus tenerensis alludes to the locality of its first remains, the Ténéré Desert.

Suchomimus was 9.5 to 11 metres (31 to 36 feet) long and weighed between 2.5 to 5.2 tonnes (2.8 to 5.7 short tons), although the holotype specimen may not have been fully grown. Suchomimus's narrow skull was perched on a short neck, and its forelimbs were powerfully built, bearing a giant claw on each thumb. Along the midline of the animal's back ran a low dorsal sail, built from the long neural spines of its vertebrae. Like other spinosaurids, it likely had a diet of fish and small prey animals.

Some palaeontologists consider the animal to be an African species of the European spinosaurid Baryonyx, B. tenerensis. Suchomimus might also be a junior synonym of the contemporaneous spinosaurid Cristatusaurus lapparenti, although the latter taxon is based on much more fragmentary remains. Suchomimus lived in a fluvial environment of vast floodplains alongside many other dinosaurs, in addition to pterosaurs, crocodylomorphs, fish, turtles, and bivalves.

Stella: SCORCH STYLE NINJA ART: OURANOSAURUS!

Stella fired a wave of fire and it formed into the Iguanodont from 100 million years ago: Ouranosaurus.

---

Ouranosaurus is a genus of herbivorous iguanodont dinosaur that lived during the Aptian stage of the Early Cretaceous of modern-day Niger. Ouranosaurus measured about 7 to 8.3 metres (23 to 27 ft) long. Two rather complete fossils were found in the Elrhaz Formation, Gadoufaoua deposits, Agadez, Niger, in 1965 and 1970. The animal was named in 1976 by French paleontologist Philippe Taquet; the type species being Ouranosaurus nigeriensis. The name is a combination of the Arabic word for "courage" and the country of discovery, although ourane is also the Tuareg name for the desert monitor.

Becca Chang: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: TITANOBOA!

Becca fired a wave of water that formed into the Colombian giant snake from 60 million years ago: Titanoboa!

---

Titanoboa (/tiˌtɑːnoʊˈboʊə/) is an extinct genus of very large snakes that lived in what is now La Guajira in northeastern Colombia. They could grow up to 12.8 m (42 ft) long and reach a weight of 1,135 kg (2,500 lb).

Fossils of Titanoboa have been found in the Cerrejón Formation, and date to around 58 to 60 million years ago. The giant snake lived during the Middle to Late Paleocene epoch, a 10-million-year period immediately following the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event.

The only known species is Titanoboa cerrejonensis, the largest snake ever discovered, which supplanted the previous record holder, Gigantophis.

Syd: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: OPHTHALMOSAURUS!

Syd fired a wave of water and it formed into the Ichthyosaur from 165 million years ago: Ophthalmosaurus!

---

Ophthalmosaurus (meaning "eye lizard" in Greek) is an ichthyosaur of the Middle Jurassic period (165-160 million years ago), named for its extremely large eyes. It had a graceful 6 m (19.5 ft) long dolphin-shaped body, and its almost toothless jaw was well adapted for catching squid. Major fossil finds of this genus have been recorded in Europe and North and South America.

Girl Jordan: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: ELASMOSAURUS!

Girl Jordan fired a wave of water and it formed into the huge long-necked plesiosaurus from 80.5 million years ago: Elasmosaurus!

---

Elasmosaurus is a genus of plesiosaur that lived in North America during the Campanian stage of the Late Cretaceous period, about 80.5 million years ago. The first specimen was discovered in 1867 near Fort Wallace, Kansas, US, and was sent to the American paleontologist Edward Drinker Cope, who named it E. platyurus in 1868. The generic name means "thin-plate reptile", and the specific name means "flat-tailed". Cope originally reconstructed the skeleton of Elasmosaurus with the skull at the end of the tail, an error which was made light of by the paleontologist Othniel Charles Marsh, and became part of their "Bone Wars" rivalry. Only one incomplete Elasmosaurus skeleton is definitely known, consisting of a fragmentary skull, the spine, and the pectoral and pelvic girdles, and a single species is recognized today; other species are now considered invalid or have been moved to other genera.

Measuring 10.3 meters (34 ft) long, Elasmosaurus would have had a streamlined body with paddle-like limbs, a short tail, a small head, and an extremely long neck. The neck alone was around 7.1 meters (23 ft) long. Along with its relative Albertonectes, it was one of the longest-necked animals to have lived, with the largest number of neck vertebrae known, 72. The skull would have been slender and triangular, with large, fang-like teeth at the front, and smaller teeth towards the back. It had six teeth in each premaxilla of the upper jaw, and may have had 14 teeth in the maxilla and 19 in the dentary of the lower jaw. Most of the neck vertebrae were compressed sideways, and bore a longitudinal crest or keel along the sides.

The family Elasmosauridae was based on the genus Elasmosaurus, the first recognized member of this group of long-necked plesiosaurs. Elasmosaurids were well adapted for aquatic life, and used their flippers for swimming. Contrary to earlier depictions, their necks were not very flexible, and could not be held high above the water surface. It is unknown what their long necks were used for, but they may have had a function in feeding. Elasmosaurids probably ate small fish and marine invertebrates, seizing them with their long teeth, and may have used gastroliths (stomach stones) to help digest their food. Elasmosaurus is known from the Pierre Shale formation, which represents marine deposits from the Western Interior Seaway.

SpongeBob: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: LIOPLEURODON!

SpongeBob fired a wave of water and it formed into the ferocious marine reptile from 166 million years ago: Liopleurodon!

---

Liopleurodon (/ˌlaɪoʊ'plʊərədɒn/; meaning 'smooth-sided teeth') is a genus of large, carnivorous marine reptile belonging to the Pliosauroidea, a clade of short-necked plesiosaurs. The two species of Liopleurodon lived from the Callovian Stage of the Middle Jurassic to the Kimmeridgian stage of the Late Jurassic Period (c. 166 to 155 mya). It was the apex predator of the Middle to Late Jurassic seas that covered Europe. The largest species, L. ferox, is estimated to have grown up to 6.4 metres (21 ft) in length.

The name "Liopleurodon" (meaning "smooth-sided tooth") derives from Ancient Greek words: λεῖος leios, "smooth"; πλευρά pleurá, "side" or "rib"; and ὀδόν odṓn, "tooth".

Salar: (Arabic Accent) FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: GALLIMIMUS!

Salar fired a massive wave of fire and it formed into a herd of the ostrich-like egg-eaters from 70 million years ago: Gallimimus!

---

Gallimimus (/ˌɡælɪˈmaɪməs/ GAL-i-MY-məs) is a genus of theropod dinosaur that lived in what is now Mongolia during the Late Cretaceous period, about seventy million years ago (mya). Several fossils in various stages of growth were discovered by Polish-Mongolian expeditions in the Gobi Desert of Mongolia during the 1960s; a large skeleton discovered in this region was made the holotype specimen of the new genus and species Gallimimus bullatus in 1972. The generic name means "chicken mimic", referring to the similarities between its neck vertebrae and those of the Galliformes. The specific name is derived from bulla, a gold capsule worn by Roman youth, in reference to a bulbous structure at the base of the skull of Gallimimus. At the time it was named, the fossils of Gallimimus represented the most complete and best preserved ornithomimid ("ostrich dinosaur") material yet discovered, and the genus remains one of the best known members of the group.

Gallimimus is the largest known ornithomimid; adults were about 6 metres (20 ft) long, 1.9 metres (6 ft 3 in) tall at the hip and weighed about 440 kilograms (970 lb). As evidenced by its relative Ornithomimus, it would have had feathers. The head was small and light with large eyes that faced to the sides. The snout was long compared to other ornithomimids, although it was broader and more rounded at the tip than in other species. Gallimimus was toothless with a keratinous (horny) beak, and had a delicate lower jaw. Many of the vertebrae had openings that indicate they were pneumatic (air-filled). The neck was proportionally long in relation to the trunk. The hands were proportionally the shortest of any ornithomimosaur and each had three digits with curved claws. The forelimbs were weak while the hindlimbs were proportionally long. The family Ornithomimidae is part of the group Ornithomimosauria. Anserimimus, also from Mongolia, is thought to have been the closest relative of Gallimimus.

As an ornithomimid, Gallimimus would have been a fleet (or cursorial) animal, using its speed to escape predators; its speed has been estimated at 42-56 km/h (29-34 mph). It may have had good vision and intelligence comparable to ratite birds. Gallimimus may have lived in groups, based on the discovery of several specimens preserved in a bone bed. Various theories have been proposed regarding the diet of Gallimimus and other ornithomimids. The highly mobile neck may have helped locate small prey on the ground, but it may also have been an opportunistic omnivore. It has also been suggested that it used small columnar structures in its beak for filter-feeding in water, though these structures may instead have been ridges used for feeding on tough plant material, indicative of a herbivorous diet. Gallimimus is the most commonly found ornithomimosaur in the Nemegt Formation, where it lived alongside its relatives Anserimimus and Deinocheirus. Gallimimus was featured in the movie Jurassic Park, in a scene that was important to the history of special effects, and in shaping the common conception of dinosaurs as bird-like animals.

Andropov: (Russian Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: ELASMOTHERIUM!

Andropov fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ancestral big-horned rhinoceros of the Ice Age from 2.6 million years ago: Elasmotherium!

Elasmotherium is an extinct genus of large rhinoceros endemic to Eurasia during the Late Pliocene through the Pleistocene, existing from 2.6 Ma to at least as late as 39,000 years ago in the Late Pleistocene. A more recent date of 26,000 BP is considered less reliable. It was the last surviving member of Elasmotheriinae, a distinctive group of rhinoceroses that had separated from the ancestry of living rhinoceroses by at least 35 million years ago according to fossils and estimated around 47.4 million years ago based on molecular clock.

Four species are recognised, which were largely confined to the Pontic-Caspian steppe, the Caucasus and Central Asia. The best known, E. sibiricum, known as the Siberian unicorn, was the size of a mammoth and is thought to have borne a large, thick horn on its forehead. Like all rhinoceroses, elasmotheres were herbivorous. Unlike any other rhinos and any other ungulates aside from some notoungulates, its high-crowned molars were ever-growing. Its legs were longer than those of other rhinos and were adapted for galloping, giving it a horse-like gait.

Golova: (Russian Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: CAVE LION!

Golova fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Ice Age lions of 500,000 years ago: Cave Lions!

---

Panthera spelaea, also known as the "Eurasian cave lion", "European cave lion", or "steppe lion", is an extinct Panthera species that evolved in Europe probably after the third Cromerian interglacial stage, less than 600,000 years ago. Phylogenetic analysis of fossil bone samples revealed that it was highly distinct and genetically isolated from the modern lion (Panthera leo) occurring in Africa and Asia. Analysis of morphological differences and mitochondrial data support the taxonomic recognition of Panthera spelaea as a distinct species that diverged from the lion about 1.9 million years ago. Nuclear genomic evidence suggests a more recent split approximately 500,000 years ago, with no subsequent interbreeding with the ancestors of the modern lion. The oldest known bone fragments were excavated in Yakutia and radiocarbon dated at least 62,400 years old. It became extinct about 13,000 years ago.

Matthias: (German Accent) FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: LEPTICTIDIUM!

Matthias fired a wave of wood and leaves and it formed into a swarm of the ancestor of the Elephant Shrew that lived 50 million years ago: Leptictidium!

Leptictidium (a Latinized diminutive of the name of its close relative Leptictis, which means "graceful weasel" in Ancient Greek) is an extinct genus of small mammals that were likely bipedal. Comprising eight species, they resembled today's elephant shrews. They are especially interesting for their combination of characteristics typical of primitive eutherians with highly specialized adaptations, such as powerful hind legs and a long tail which aided in locomotion. They were omnivorous, their diet a combination of insects, lizards and small mammals. One of the first branches to split from basal eutherians, they appeared in the Lower Eocene, a time of warm temperatures and high humidity, roughly fifty million years ago. Although they were widespread throughout Europe, they became extinct around thirty-five million years ago with no descendants, probably because they were adapted to live in forest ecosystems and were unable to adapt to the open plains of the Oligocene.

Eustreptospondylus (/juːˌstrɛptoʊspɒn'daɪləs/ yoo-STREPT-o-spon-DY-ləs; meaning "true Streptospondylus") is a genus of megalosaurid theropod dinosaur, from the Oxfordian stage of the Late Jurassic period (some time between 163 and 154 million years ago) in southern England, at a time when Europe was a series of scattered islands (due to tectonic movement at the time which raised the sea-bed and flooded the lowland).

Fiona: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: ORNITHOCHEIRUS!

Fiona fired a wave of wind and it formed into the ostrich-like dinosaur from 92.5 million years ago: Ornithocheirus!

Ornithocheirus (from Ancient Greek "ὄρνις", meaning bird, and "χεῖρ", meaning hand) is a pterosaur genus known from fragmentary fossil remains uncovered from sediments in the UK and possibly Morocco.

Several species have been referred to the genus, most of which are now considered as dubious species, or members of different genera, and the genus is now often considered to include only the type species, Ornithocheirus simus. Species have been referred to Ornithocheirus from the mid-Cretaceous period of both Europe and South America, but O. simus is known only from the UK, though a specimen referred to O. cf. simus is also known from Morocco.

Because O. simus was originally named based on poorly preserved fossil material, the genus Ornithocheirus has suffered enduring problems of zoological nomenclature.

Fossil remains of Ornithocheirus have been recovered mainly from the Cambridge Greensand of England, dating to the beginning of the Albian stage of the early Cretaceous period, about 110 million years ago. Additional fossils from the Santana Formation of Brazil are sometimes classified as species of Ornithocheirus, but have also been placed in their own genera, most notably Tropeognathus.

Becky: PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: COELOPHYSIS!

Becky fired a wave of fire and it formed into one of the first ever dinosaurs from 216 million years ago: Coelophysis!

---

Coelophysis (/sɛˈlɒfɪsɪs/ seh-LOF-ih-sis traditionally; /ˌsɛloʊˈfaɪsɪs/ SEL-o-FY-sis or /ˌsiːloʊˈfaɪsɪs/ SEE-lo-FY-sis are heard more commonly in recent decades) is an extinct genus of coelophysid theropod dinosaur that lived approximately 216 to 196 million years ago during the latter part of the Triassic Period in what is now the southwestern United States and also in South Africa and Zimbabwe.

Coelophysis was a small, slenderly-built, ground-dwelling, bipedal carnivore, that could grow up to 3 m (9.8 ft) long. Coelophysis is one of the earliest known dinosaur genera. Scattered material representing similar animals has been found worldwide in some Late Triassic and Early Jurassic formations.

The type species C. bauri, originally given to the genus Coelurus by Edward Drinker Cope in 1887, was described by the latter in 1889. The names Longosaurus and Rioarribasaurus are synonymous with Coelophysis. Another dinosaur genus, Megapnosaurus, has also been considered to be a synonym. This primitive theropod is notable for being one of the most specimen-rich dinosaur genera.

Inostrancevia is an extinct genus of carnivorous therapsids, containing the largest members of the family Gorgonopsidae, predators characterized by long, saber-tooth-like canines. The various species inhabited northern Russia during the Upper Tatarian (Vyatskian), a Russian regional stage equivalent to the Muttaburrasaurus was a genus of herbivorous ornithopod dinosaur, which lived in what is now northeastern Australia sometime between 105 and 103 million years ago during the early Cretaceous Period. It has been recovered in some analyses as a member of the iguanodontian family Rhabdodontidae. After Kunbarrasaurus, it is Australia's most completely known dinosaur from skeletal remains. It was named after Muttaburra, the site in Queensland, Australia, where it was found.

Paige: PHOENIX STYLE NINJA ART: CRYOLOPHOSAURUS!

Paige fired a wave of fire and it formed into the Antarctic dinosaur from 193 million years ago: Cryolophosaurus!

---

Cryolophosaurus (/ˌkraɪoʊˌloʊfoʊˈsɔːrəs/ or /kraɪˌɒloʊfoʊˈsɔːrəs/; "CRY-oh-loaf-oh-SAWR-us") is a genus of large theropods known from only a single species Cryolophosaurus ellioti, known from the early Jurassic period of Antarctica. It was about 6.5 metres (21.3 ft) long and 465 kilograms (1,025 lb) in weight, making it one of the largest theropods of its time. Individuals of this species may have grown even larger, because the only known specimen probably represents a sub-adult. Cryolophosaurus is known from a skull, a femur and other material, the skull and femur of which have caused its classification to vary greatly. The femur possesses many primitive characteristics that have classified Cryolophosaurus as a dilophosaurid or a neotheropod outside of Dilophosauridae and Averostra, whereas the skull has many advanced features, leading the genus to be considered a tetanuran, an abelisaurid, a ceratosaur and even an allosaurid. Since its original description, the consensus is that Cryolophosaurus is either a primitive member of the Tetanurae or a close relative of that group.

Cryolophosaurus possessed a distinctive "pompadour" crest that spanned the head from side to side. Based on evidence from related species and studies of bone texture, it is thought that this bizarre crest was used for intra-species recognition. The brain of Cryolophosaurus was also more primitive than those of other theropods.

Cryolophosaurus was first excavated from Antarctica's Early Jurassic, Sinemurian to Pliensbachian aged Hanson Formation, formerly the upper Falla Formation, by paleontologist Dr. William Hammer in 1991. It was the first carnivorous dinosaur to be discovered in Antarctica and the first non-avian dinosaur from the continent to be officially named. The sediments in which its fossils were found have been dated at ~194 to 188 million years ago, representing the Early Jurassic Period.

Lateefa: (Arabic Accent) DESERT STYLE NINJA ART: VELOCIRAPTORS!

Lateefa fired a wave of sand and it formed into the deadly carnivorous dinosaurs from 78 million years ago: Velociraptor!

---

Velociraptor (/vɪˈlɒsɪræptər/; meaning "swift seizer" in Latin) is a genus of dromaeosaurid theropod dinosaur that lived approximately 75 to 71 million years ago during the latter part of the Cretaceous Period. Two species are currently recognized, although others have been assigned in the past. The type species is V. mongoliensis; fossils of this species have been discovered in Mongolia. A second species, V. osmolskae, was named in 2008 for skull material from Inner Mongolia, China.

Smaller than other dromaeosaurids like Deinonychus and Achillobator, Velociraptor nevertheless shared many of the same anatomical features. It was a bipedal, feathered carnivore with a long tail and an enlarged sickle-shaped claw on each hindfoot, which is thought to have been used to tackle and disembowel prey. Velociraptor can be distinguished from other dromaeosaurids by its long and low skull, with an upturned snout.

Velociraptor (commonly shortened to "raptor") is one of the dinosaur genera most familiar to the general public due to its prominent role in the Jurassic Park motion picture series. In real life, however, Velociraptor was roughly the size of a turkey, considerably smaller than the approximately 2 m (6 1⁄2 ft) tall and 80 kg (180 lb) reptiles seen in the films (which were based on members of the related genus Deinonychus). Today, Velociraptor is well known to paleontologists, with over a dozen described fossil skeletons, the most of any dromaeosaurid. One particularly famous specimen preserves a Velociraptor locked in combat with a Protoceratops.

Nataša: (Czech Accent) EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: UTAHRAPTOR!

Nataša fired a wave of earth and it formed into the state dinosaurs of Utah from 139 million years ago: Utahraptor!

Utahraptor (meaning Utah's predator) is a genus of large dromaeosaurid dinosaur that lived in North America during the Early Cretaceous period. It was a heavy-built, ground-dwelling, bipedal carnivore. It contains a single species, Utahraptor ostrommaysi, which is the largest-known member of the family Dromaeosauridae.

In 2018, it was proposed that Utahraptor be the Utah state dinosaur, an act that was approved by the Senate. Initially Utahraptor would have replaced another dinosaur, Allosaurus, as the state's official fossil, but it was decided that Utahraptor would be another symbol of the state.

Suwailim: (Egyptian Accent) DESERT STYLE NINJA ART: PROTOCERATOPS!

Suwailim fired a wave of sand and it formed into the Ceratopsian from 75 million years ago: Protoceratops.

Protoceratops (/ˌproʊtoʊ'sɛrətɒps/; from Greek proto-/πρωτο- "first", cerat-/κερατ- "horn" and -ops/-ωψ "face", meaning "first horned face") is a genus of sheep-sized (1.8 m long) herbivorous ceratopsian dinosaur, from the Upper Cretaceous Period (Campanian stage) of what is now Mongolia. It was a member of the Protoceratopsidae, a group of early horned dinosaurs. Unlike later ceratopsians, however, it was a much smaller creature that lacked well-developed horns and retained some basal traits not seen in later genera.

Protoceratops had a large neck frill which was likely used as a display site to impress other members of the species. Other hypotheses about its function include protection of the neck and anchoring of jaw muscles, but the fragility of the frill and the poor leverage offered by possible attachment sites here makes these ideas implausible. Described by Walter W. Granger and W.K. Gregory in 1923, Protoceratops was initially believed to be an ancestor of the North American ceratopsians. Researchers currently distinguish two species of Protoceratops (P. andrewsi and P. hellenikorhinus), based in part by their respective sizes.

In the 1920s, Roy Chapman Andrews discovered fossilized eggs in Mongolia that were interpreted as belonging to this dinosaur, but which turned out to be those of Oviraptor. However, it wouldn't be until 2011 that a genuine Protoceratops nest was discovered, with the remains of the neonates inside suggesting parental care in this dinosaur.

Woya: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: PTERANODON!

Woya fired a wave of wind and it formed into the famous pterosaur from 86 million years ago: Pteranodon!

---

Pteranodon (/tɪˈrænədɒn/; from Greek πτερόν (pteron, "wing") and ἀνόδων (anodon, "toothless")) is a genus of pterosaur that included some of the largest known flying reptiles, with wingspans over 7 meters (23 feet). They lived during the late Cretaceous geological period of North America in present-day Kansas, Alabama, Nebraska, Wyoming, and South Dakota. More fossil specimens of Pteranodon have been found than any other pterosaur, with about 1,200 specimens known to science, many of them well preserved with nearly complete skulls and articulated skeletons. It was an important part of the animal community in the Western Interior Seaway.

Pteranodon was a pterosaur, meaning that it is not a dinosaur. By definition, all dinosaurs belong to one of the two groups within Dinosauria, i.e. Saurischia or Ornithischia. As such, this excludes pterosaurs. Nonetheless, Pteranodon is frequently featured in dinosaur media and are strongly associated with dinosaurs by the general public. While not dinosaurs, pterosaurs such as Pteranodon form a clade closely related to dinosaurs as both fall within the clade Avemetatarsalia.

Argentavis magnificens was among the largest flying birds ever to exist, quite possibly surpassed in wingspan only by Pelagornis sandersi, which was described in 2014. Edwayl: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: BASILOSAURUS!

Edwayl fired a wave of water and it formed into the one of the first whales of the Eocene epoch from 41.3 million years ago: Basilosaurus!

Basilosaurus (meaning "king lizard") is a genus of large, predatory, prehistoric archaeocete whale from the late Eocene, approximately 41.3 to 33.9 million years ago (mya). First described in 1834, it was the first archaeocete and prehistoric whale known to science. The first fossils were discovered along the Gulf Coast of the United States, along with a few fossils in the eastern U.S., attributed to the type species B. cetoides. They were originally thought to be of a giant reptile, hence the suffix "-saurus", Ancient Greek for "lizard". The animal was later found to be an early marine mammal, which prompted attempts at renaming the creature, which failed as zoological nomenclature dictates using the original name given. Fossils were later found of the second species, B. isis, in 1904 in North Africa, more specifically the countries of Egypt, Jordan, Tunisia and Morocco. Basilosaurus has a possible record in Seymour Island in Antarctica.

Basilosaurus is considered to have been common in the Tethys sea. It was one of the largest, if not the largest, animals of the Paleogene. It was the top predator of its environment, preying on sharks, large fish and other marine mammals, namely the dolphin-like Dorudon, which seems to have been their predominant food source.

Basilosaurus was at one point a wastebasket taxon, before the genus slowly started getting reevaluated, with many species of different Eocene cetacean being assigned to the genus in the past, however they are invalid or have been reclassified under a new or different genus, leaving only 2 confirmed species. Basilosaurus may have been one of the first fully aquatic cetaceans (sometimes referred to as the pelagiceti). Basilosaurus, unlike modern cetaceans, had various types of teeth-such as canines and molars-in its mouth (heterodonty), and it probably was able to chew its food in contrast to modern cetaceans which swallow their food whole.

Rusty: DESERT STYLE NINJA ART: PARACERATHERIUM!

Rusty fired a wave of sand and it formed into the one of the ancestral rhinoceroses from 34 million years ago: Paraceratherium!

Paraceratherium is an extinct genus of hornless rhinoceros. It is one of the largest terrestrial mammals that has existed and lived from the early to late Oligocene epoch (34-23 million years ago). Its remains have been found across Eurasia between China and the Balkans. It is classified as a member of the hyracodont subfamily Indricotheriinae. Paraceratherium means "near the hornless beast", in reference to Aceratherium, the genus in which the type species A. bugtiense was originally placed.

The exact size of Paraceratherium is unknown because of the incompleteness of the fossils. The shoulder height was about 4.8 metres (15.7 feet), and the length about 7.4 metres (24.3 feet). Its weight is estimated to have been about 15 to 20 tonnes (33,000 to 44,000 lb). The long neck supported a skull that was about 1.3 metres (4.3 ft) long. It had large, tusk-like incisors and a nasal incision that suggests it had a prehensile upper lip or proboscis (trunk). The legs were long and pillar-like. The lifestyle of Paraceratherium may have been similar to that of modern large mammals such as the elephants and extant rhinoceroses. Because of its size, it would have had few predators and a slow rate of reproduction. It was a browser, eating mainly leaves, soft plants, and shrubs. It lived in habitats ranging from arid deserts with a few scattered trees to subtropical forests. The reasons for the animal's extinction are unknown, but various factors have been proposed.

The taxonomy of the genus and the species within has a long and complicated history. Other genera of Oligocene indricotheres, such as Baluchitherium, Indricotherium, and Pristinotherium, have been named, but no complete specimens exist, making comparison and classification difficult. Most modern scientists consider these genera to be junior synonyms of Paraceratherium, and it is thought to contain at least three discernible species; P. bugtiense, P. transouralicum, and P. huangheense. The most completely-known species is P. transouralicum, so most reconstructions of the genus are based on it. Differences between P. bugtiense and P. transouralicum may be due to sexual dimorphism, which would make them the same species.

Entelodon (meaning "complete teeth", from Ancient Greek ἐντελής entelēs "complete" and ὀδών odōn "tooth", referring to its "complete" eutherian dentition), is an extinct genus of entelodont artiodactyl endemic to Eurasia. Fossils of species are found in Paleogene strata ranging in age from the Houldjinian (37.2-33.9 mya) until the Rupelian epoch of the early Oligocene (33.9-28.4 mya).

Liam: (Southern Accent) PLAIN STYLE NINJA ART: HYAENODON!

Liam fired a wave of sand and leaves and it formed into the ancestors of the hyena from 42 million years ago: Hyaenodon!

Hyaenodon ("hyena-tooth") is the type genus of the Hyaenodontidae, a family of extinct carnivorous fossil mammals from Eurasia, North America, and Africa, with species existing temporally from the Eocene until the middle Miocene, existing for about 26.1 million years.

The various species of Hyaenodon competed with each other and with other hyaenodont genera (including Sinopa, Dissopsalis, and Hyainailurus), and played important roles as predators in ecological communities as late as the Miocene in Africa and Asia and preyed on a variety of prey species such as primitive horses like Mesohippus and early camels. Species of Hyaenodon have been shown to have successfully preyed on other large carnivores of their time, including a nimravid ("false sabertooth cat"), according to analysis of tooth puncture marks on a fossil Dinictis skull found in North Dakota.

Mollie: LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: GIGANOTOSAURUS!

Mollie fired a wave of lightning and it formed into the ferocious theropod from 98 million years ago: Giganotosaurus!

---

Giganotosaurus (/ˌdʒaɪɡəˌnoʊtəˈsɔːrəs/ JY-gə-NOH-tə-SOR-əs) is a genus of theropod dinosaur that lived in what is now Argentina, during the early Cenomanian age of the Late Cretaceous period, approximately 98 to 97 million years ago. The holotype specimen was discovered in the Candeleros Formation of Patagonia in 1993, and is almost 70% complete. The animal was named Giganotosaurus carolinii in 1995; the genus name translates as

"giant southern lizard" and the specific name honors the discoverer, Rubén D. Carolini. A dentary bone, a tooth and some tracks, discovered before the holotype, were later assigned to this animal. The genus attracted much interest and became part of a scientific debate about the maximum sizes of theropod dinosaurs.

Giganotosaurus was one of the largest known terrestrial carnivores, but the exact size has been hard to determine due to the incompleteness of the remains found so far. Estimates for the most complete specimen range from a length of 12 to 13 m (39 to 43 ft), a skull 1.53 to 1.80 m (5.0 to 5.9 ft) in length, and a weight of 4.2 to 13.8 t (4.6 to 15.2 short tons). The dentary bone that belonged to a supposedly larger individual has been used to extrapolate a length of 13.2 m (43 ft). Some researchers have found the animal to be larger than Tyrannosaurus, which has historically been considered the largest theropod, while others have found them to be roughly equal in size, and the largest size estimates for Giganotosaurus exaggerated. The skull was low, with rugose (rough and wrinkled) nasal bones and a ridge-like crest on the lacrimal bone in front of the eye. The front of the lower jaw was flattened, and had a downwards projecting process (or "chin") at the tip. The teeth were compressed sideways and had serrations. The neck was strong and the pectoral girdle proportionally small.

Part of the family Carcharodontosauridae, Giganotosaurus is one of the most completely known members of the group, which includes other very large theropods, such as the closely related Mapusaurus and Carcharodontosaurus. Giganotosaurus is thought to have been homeothermic (a type of "warm-bloodedness"), with a metabolism between that of a mammal and a reptile, which would have enabled fast growth. It may have been relatively fast moving, with a calculated maximal running speed of 14 m/s (50 km/h; 31 mph). It would have been capable of closing its jaws quickly, capturing and bringing down prey by delivering powerful bites. The "chin" may have helped in resisting stress when a bite was delivered against prey. Giganotosaurus is thought to have been the apex predator of its ecosystem, and it may have fed on juvenile sauropod dinosaurs.

Luan: JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: GIGANTOPITHECUS!

Luan fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into one of the first apes from 2 million to 300,000 years ago: Gigantopithecus!

---

Gigantopithecus is an extinct genus of ape from the Early to Middle Pleistocene of southern China, represented by one species, G. blacki. Potential identifications have also been made in Thailand, Vietnam, and Indonesia. The first remains of Gigantopithecus, two third molar teeth, were identified in a drugstore by anthropologist Ralph von Koenigswald in 1935, who subsequently described the ape. In 1956, the first mandible and over 1,000 teeth were found in Liucheng, and numerous more remains have since been found in at least 16 sites. Only teeth and 4 mandibles are known currently, and other skeletal elements were likely consumed by porcupines before they could fossilise. Gigantopithecus was once argued to be a hominin, a member of the human line, but it is now thought to be closely allied with orangutans, classified in the subfamily Ponginae.

Gigantopithecus has traditionally been restored as a massive, gorilla-like ape, potentially 200-300 kg (440-660 lb) when alive, but the paucity of remains make total size estimates highly speculative. The species may have been sexually dimorphic, with males much bigger than females. The incisors are reduced and the canines appear to have functioned like cheek teeth (premolars and molars). The premolars are high-crowned, and the fourth premolar is very molar-like. The molars are the largest of any known ape, and have a relatively flat surface. Gigantopithecus had the thickest enamel by absolute measure of any ape, up to 6 mm (a quarter of an inch) in some areas, though was only fairly thick when tooth size is taken into account.

Gigantopithecus appears to have been a generalist herbivore of C3 forest plants, with the jaw adapted to grinding, crushing, and cutting through tough, fibrous plants; and the thick enamel functioning to resist foods with abrasive particles such as stems, roots, and tubers with dirt. Some teeth bear traces of fig family fruits. It primarily lived in subtropical to tropical forest, and went extinct about 300,000 years ago likely due to climate change and the retreat of preferred habitat, and potentially archaic human activity by Homo erectus. Gigantopithecus has become popular in cryptozoology circles as the identity of the Tibetan yeti or the American bigfoot, humanlike monsters in local folklore.

Fletcher: (Scottish Accent) ICE STYLE NINJA ART: DIRE WOLVES!

Fletcher fired a wave of ice and it formed into a pack of the first wolves from 125,000 to 9,500 years ago: the Dire Wolves!

---

The dire wolf (Canis dirus, "fearsome dog") is an extinct species of the genus Canis. It is one of the most famous prehistoric carnivores in North America, along with its extinct competitor, the sabre-toothed cat Smilodon fatalis. The dire wolf lived in the Americas during the Late Pleistocene and Early Holocene epochs (125,000-9,500 years ago). The species was named in 1858, four years after the first specimen had been found. Two subspecies are recognized: Canis dirus guildayi and Canis dirus dirus. The dire wolf probably evolved from Armbruster's wolf (Canis armbrusteri) in North America. The largest collection of its fossils has been obtained from the Rancho La Brea Tar Pits in Los Angeles.

Dire wolf remains have been found across a broad range of habitats including the plains, grasslands, and some forested mountain areas of North America, and in the arid savannah of South America. The sites range in elevation from sea level to 2,255 meters (7,400 ft). Dire wolf fossils have rarely been found north of 42°N latitude; there have been only five unconfirmed reports above this latitude. This range restriction is thought to be due to temperature, prey, or habitat limitations imposed by proximity to the Laurentide and Cordilleran ice sheets that existed at the time.

The dire wolf was about the same size as the largest modern gray wolves (Canis lupus): the Yukon wolf and the northwestern wolf. C. d. guildayi weighed on average 60 kilograms (132 lb) and C. d. dirus was on average 68 kg (150 lb). Its skull and dentition matched those of C. lupus, but its teeth were larger with greater shearing ability, and its bite force at the canine tooth was the strongest of any known Canis species. These characteristics are thought to be adaptations for preying on Late Pleistocene megaherbivores, and in North America its prey are known to have included horses, ground sloths, mastodons, bison, and camels. As with other large Canis hypercarnivores today, the dire wolf is thought to have been a pack hunter. Its extinction occurred during the Quaternary extinction event along with most of the American megafauna of the time, including a number of other carnivores, that occurred soon after the appearance of humans in the New World. Its reliance on megaherbivores has been proposed as the cause of its extinction, along with climate change and competition with other species, but the cause remains controversial. Dire wolves lived as recently as 9,500 years ago, according to dated remains.

Alex fired a wave of fire and it formed into the largest dinosaur that ever lived from 96.2 million years ago: Argentinosaurus!

Argentinosaurus is a genus of giant sauropod dinosaur that lived during the Late Cretaceous period in what is now Argentina. Although it is only known from fragmentary remains, Argentinosaurus is one of the largest-known land animals of all time, if not the largest, with length estimates ranging from 30 to 39.7 metres (98 to 130 ft) and weight estimates from 50 to 100 tonnes (55 to 110 short tons). It was a member of Titanosauria, the dominant group of sauropods during the Cretaceous.

The first Argentinosaurus bone was discovered in 1987 by a farmer on his farm near the city of Plaza Huincul. A scientific excavation of the site led by the Argentine palaeontologist José Bonaparte was conducted in 1989, yielding several back vertebrae and parts of a sacrum-fused vertebrae between the back and tail vertebrae. Additional specimens include a complete femur (thigh bone) and the shaft of another. Argentinosaurus was named by Bonaparte and the Argentine palaeontologist Rodolfo Coria in 1993; it contains a single species, A. huinculensis. The generic name Argentinosaurus means "Argentine lizard", and the specific name huinculensis refers to its place of discovery, Plaza Huincul.

The fragmentary nature of Argentinosaurus remains makes their interpretation difficult. Arguments revolve around the position of the recovered vertebrae within the vertebral column and the presence of accessory articulations between the vertebrae that would have strengthened the spine. A computer model of the skeleton and muscles estimated this dinosaur had a maximum speed of 7 km/h (5 mph) with a pace, a gait where the fore and hind limb of the same side of the body move simultaneously. The fossils of Argentinosaurus were recovered from the Huincul Formation, which was deposited in the middle Cenomanian to early Turonian ages (around 96 to 92 million years ago) and contains a diverse dinosaur fauna including the giant theropod Mapusaurus.

Daeodon is an extinct genus of entelodont artiodactyl that inhabited

North America between 29 and 19 million years ago during the middle Oligocene and early Miocene epochs. The type species is Daeodon shoshonensis, the last and largest of the entelodonts; known adults of this species possessed skulls about 90 cm (3 ft) in length. It had a broad distribution across the United States, but it was never abundant.

Tshibangu: (Congolese Accent) JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: GIANT GROUND SLOTH!

Tshibangu fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into the ancestor of the sloth from 5 million years ago: Megatherium or Giant Ground Sloth!

Megatherium (/mɛɡəˈθɪəriəm/ meg-ə-THEER-ee-əm from the Greek mega [μέγας], meaning "great", and therion [θηρίον], "beast") is an extinct genus of ground sloths endemic to South America that lived from the Early Pliocene through the end of the Pleistocene. It is best known for the elephant-sized type species M. americanum, sometimes called the giant ground sloth, or the megathere, native to the Pampas through southern Bolivia during the Pleistocene. Various other smaller species belonging to the subgenus Pseudomegatherium are known from the Andes. Megatherium is part of the sloth family Megatheriidae, which also includes the similarly elephantine Eremotherium, which was native to tropical South America and southern North America. Only a few other land mammals equaled or exceeded M. americanum in size, such as large proboscideans (e.g., elephants) and the giant rhinoceros Paraceratherium. Megatherium was first discovered in 1788 on the bank of the Luján River in Argentina. The holotype specimen was then shipped to Spain the following year wherein it caught the attention of the esteemed paleontologist Georges Cuvier, who was the first to determine, by means of comparative anatomy, that Megatherium was a sloth. Megatherium became extinct around 12,000 years ago during the Quaternary extinction event, which also claimed most other large mammals in the New World. The extinction coincides with the settlement of the Americas, and a kill site where a

M. americanum was slaughtered and butchered is known, suggesting that hunting could have caused its extinction.

Lang punched the ground and a bunch of bamboo grew in seconds and they formed into the ancestor of the Giant Panda from 2 million years ago - the Dwarf Panda!

Ailuropoda microta is the earliest known ancestor of the giant panda. It measured 1 m (3 ft) in length; the modern giant panda grows to a size in excess of 1.5 m (5 ft). Wear patterns on its teeth suggest it lived on a diet of bamboo, the primary food of the giant panda. The first discovered skull of the animal in a south China limestone cave is estimated to be 2 million years old. The skull found is about half the size of a modern-day giant panda, but is anatomically very similar. This research suggests that the giant panda has evolved for more than 3 million years as a completely separate lineage from that of other bears.

Guanlong (冠龍) is a genus of extinct proceratosaurid tyrannosauroid from the Late Jurassic of China. The taxon was first described in 2006 by Xu Xing et al., who found it to represent a new taxon related to Tyrannosaurus. The name is derived from Chinese, translating as "crown dragon". Two individuals are currently known, a partially complete adult and a nearly complete juvenile. These specimens come from the Oxfordian stage of the Chinese Shishugou Formation.

Brock: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DOEDICURUS!

Brock fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ancestral armadillo from 2 million to 7,000 years ago: DOEDICURUS!

Doedicurus, or Dædicurus, is an extinct genus of glyptodont from South America containing one species, D. clavicaudatus. Glyptodonts are a member of the family Chlamyphoridae, which also includes some modern armadillo species, and they are classified in the order Xenarthra alongside sloths and anteaters. Being a glyptodont, it was a rotund animal with heavy armor and a carapace. Averaging at an approximate 1,400 kg (3,100 lb), it was one of the largest glyptodonts to have ever lived. Though glyptodonts were quadrupeds, large ones like Doedicurus may have been able to stand on two legs like other xenarthrans. It notably sported a spiked tail club, which may have weighed 40 or 65 kg (88 or 143 lb) in life, and it may have swung this in defense against predators or in fights with other Doedicurus at speeds of perhaps 11 m/s (40 km/h; 25 mph).

Doedicurus was likely a grazer, but its teeth and mouth, like those of other glyptodonts, seem unable to have chewed grass effectively, which may indicate a slow metabolism. Doedicurus existed during the Pleistocene. Before this, South America had been isolated from the rest of the world, but the formation of the Isthmus of Panama allowed North American fauna to invade South America in the Great American Interchange, including big cats, bears, elephants, camels, and horses. Doedicurus seems to have inhabited the relatively cold and humid Chaco-Pampean plains of northeastern Patagonia. It may have been the latest-surviving glyptodont, with remains suggested to date to 8,000-7,000 years ago during the middle Holocene, though these dates have been questioned. It may have gone extinct due to some combination of human hunting and climate change.

Nora fired a wave of grass and leaves and it formed into the ferocious theropod from 72 million years ago: Carnotaurus!

Carnotaurus /ˌkɑːrnoʊˈtɔːrəs/ is a genus of large theropod dinosaur that lived in South America during the Late Cretaceous period, between about 72 and 69.9 million years ago. The only species is Carnotaurus sastrei. Known from a single well-preserved skeleton, it is one of the best-understood theropods from the Southern Hemisphere. The skeleton, found in 1984, was uncovered in the Chubut Province of Argentina from rocks of the La Colonia Formation. Carnotaurus is a derived member of the Abelisauridae, a group of large theropods that occupied the large predatorial niche in the southern landmasses of Gondwana during the late Cretaceous. The phylogenetic relations of Carnotaurus are uncertain; it might have been closer to either Majungasaurus or Aucasaurus.

Carnotaurus was a lightly built, bipedal predator, measuring 7.5 to 9 m (24.6 to 29.5 ft) in length and weighing at least 1.35 metric tons (1.33 long tons; 1.49 short tons). As a theropod, Carnotaurus was highly specialized and distinctive. It had thick horns above the eyes, a feature unseen in all other carnivorous dinosaurs, and a very deep skull sitting on a muscular neck. Carnotaurus was further characterized by small, vestigial forelimbs and long, slender hindlimbs. The skeleton is preserved with extensive skin impressions, showing a mosaic of small, non-overlapping scales approximately 5 mm in diameter. The mosaic was interrupted by large bumps that lined the sides of the animal, and there are no hints of feathers.

The distinctive horns and the muscular neck may have been used in fighting conspecifics. According to separate studies, rivaling individuals may have combated each other with quick head blows, by slow pushes with the upper sides of their skulls, or by ramming each other head-on, using their horns as shock absorbers. The feeding habits of Carnotaurus remain unclear: some studies suggest the animal was able to hunt down very large prey such as sauropods, while other studies find it preyed mainly on relatively small animals. Carnotaurus was well adapted for running and was possibly one of the fastest large theropods.

Timmy Turner: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DIMETRODON!

Dimetrodon (/daɪˈmiːtrədɒn/ (About this soundlisten) or /daɪˈmɛtrədɒn/, meaning "two measures of teeth") is an extinct genus of non-mammalian synapsid that lived during the Cisuralian (Early Permian), around 295-272 million years ago (Ma). It is a member of the family Sphenacodontidae. The most prominent feature of Dimetrodon is the large neural spine sail on its back formed by elongated spines extending from the vertebrae. It walked on four legs and had a tall, curved skull with large teeth of different sizes set along the jaws. Most fossils have been found in the southwestern United States, the majority coming from a geological deposit called the Red Beds of Texas and Oklahoma. More recently, fossils have been found in Germany. Over a dozen species have been named since the genus was first erected in 1878.

Dimetrodon is often mistaken for a dinosaur or as a contemporary of dinosaurs in popular culture, but it became extinct some 40 million years before the first appearance of dinosaurs. Reptile-like in appearance and physiology, Dimetrodon is nevertheless more closely related to mammals than to modern reptiles, though it is not a direct ancestor of mammals. Dimetrodon is assigned to the "non-mammalian synapsids", a group traditionally called "mammal-like reptiles". This groups Dimetrodon together with mammals in a clade (evolutionary group) called Synapsida, while placing dinosaurs, reptiles and birds in a separate clade, Sauropsida. Single openings in the skull behind each eye, known as temporal fenestrae, and other skull features distinguish Dimetrodon and mammals from most of the earliest sauropsids.

Dimetrodon was probably one of the apex predators of the Cisuralian ecosystems, feeding on fish and tetrapods, including reptiles and amphibians. Smaller Dimetrodon species may have had different ecological roles. The sail of Dimetrodon may have been used to stabilize its spine or to heat and cool its body as a form of thermoregulation. Some recent studies[citation needed] argue that the sail would have been ineffective at removing heat from the body due to large species being discovered with small sails and small species being discovered with large sails, essentially ruling out heat regulation as its main purpose. The sail was most likely used in courtship display with methods such as threatening rivals or showing off to potential mates.

Nantan: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: AUSTRALOPITHECUS AFARENSIS!

Nantan fired a wave of wind and it formed into one of our human ancestors on our evolutionary chain from 3 million years ago: Australopithecus Afarensis!

---

Australopithecus afarensis is an extinct species of australopithecine which lived from about 3.9-2.9 million years ago (mya) in the Pliocene of East Africa. The first fossils were discovered in the 1930s, but major fossil finds would not be discovered until the 1970s. In the 1972-1977 expedition in Hadar, Ethiopia, the International Afar Research Expedition led by anthropologists Maurice Taieb, Donald Johanson, and Yves Coppens unearthed several hundreds of hominin specimens, the most significant being the exceedingly well-preserved skeleton AL 288-1 ("Lucy") and the site AL 333 ("the First Family"). Beginning in 1974, Mary Leakey led an expedition into Laetoli, Tanzania, and recovered notably fossil trackways. In 1978, the species was first described, but this was followed by arguments for splitting the wealth of specimens into different species given the wide range of variation which had been attributed to sexual dimorphism (normal differences between males and females). A. afarensis probably descended from A. anamensis and possibly gave rise to Homo, though the latter hypothesis is not without dissent.

A. afarensis had a tall face, a delicate brow ridge, and prognathism (the jaw jutted outwards). The jawbone was quite robust, similar to that of gorillas. The living size of A. afarensis is debated, with arguments for and against marked size differences between males and females. Lucy measured perhaps 105 cm (3 ft 5 in) in height and 25-37 kg (55-82 lb), but she was rather small for her species. In contrast, a presumed male was estimated at 165 cm (5 ft 5 in) and 45 kg (99 lb). A perceived difference in male and female size may simply be sampling bias. The leg bones as well as the Laetoli fossil trackways suggest A. afarensis was a competent biped, though somewhat less efficient at walking than humans. The arm and shoulder bones have some similar aspects to those of orangutans and gorillas, which has variously been interpreted as either evidence of partial tree-dwelling (arboreality), or basal traits inherited from the human-chimp last common ancestor with no adaptive functionality.

A. afarensis was probably a generalist omnivore of both C3 forest plants and C4 CAM savanna plants-and perhaps creatures which ate such plants-and was able to exploit a variety of different food sources. Similarly, A. afarensis appears to have inhabited a wide range of habitats with no real preference, inhabiting open grasslands or woodlands, shrublands, and lake- or riverside forests. Potential evidence of stone tool use would indicate meat was also a dietary component. Marked sexual dimorphism in primates typically corresponds to a polygynous society and low dimorphism monogamy, but the group dynamics of early hominins is difficult to predict with accuracy. Early hominins may have fallen prey to the large carnivores of the time, such as big cats and hyenas.

Ronnie Anne: JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: BRACHIOSAURUS!

Ronnie Anne fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into the famous sauropod from 154 million years ago: Brachiosaurus!

---

Brachiosaurus (/ˌbrækiəˈsɔːrəs/) is a genus of sauropod dinosaur that lived in North America during the Late Jurassic, about 154-153 million years ago. It was first described by American paleontologist Elmer S. Riggs in 1903 from fossils found in the Colorado River valley in western Colorado, United States. Riggs named the dinosaur Brachiosaurus altithorax; the generic name is Greek for "arm lizard", in reference to its proportionately long arms, and the specific name means "deep chest". Brachiosaurus is estimated to have been between 18 and 21 meters (59 and 69 ft) long; weight estimates range from 28.3 to 58 metric tons (31.2 and 64 short tons). It had a disproportionately long neck, small skull, and large overall size, all of which are typical for sauropods. Atypically, Brachiosaurus had longer forelimbs than hindlimbs, which resulted in a steeply inclined trunk, and a proportionally shorter tail.

Brachiosaurus is the namesake genus of the family Brachiosauridae, which includes a handful of other similar sauropods. Most popular depictions of Brachiosaurus are in fact based on Giraffatitan, a genus of brachiosaurid dinosaur from the Tendaguru Formation of Tanzania. Giraffatitan was originally described by German paleontologist Werner Janensch in 1914 as a species of Brachiosaurus, B. brancai, but moved to its own genus in 2009. Three other species of Brachiosaurus have been named based on fossils found in Africa and Europe; two are no longer considered valid, and a third has become a separate genus, Lusotitan.

The type specimen of B. altithorax is still the most complete specimen, and only a few other specimens are thought to belong to the genus, making it one of the rarer sauropods of the Morrison Formation. It is regarded as a high browser, possibly cropping or nipping vegetation as high as 9 meters (30 ft) off the ground. Unlike other sauropods, it was unsuited for rearing on its hindlimbs. It has been used as an example of a dinosaur that was most likely ectothermic because of its large size and the corresponding need for sufficient forage, but more recent research suggests it was warm-blooded. Among the most iconic and initially thought to be one of the largest dinosaurs, Brachiosaurus has appeared in popular culture, notably in the 1993 film Jurassic Park.

Anthropornis is a genus of giant penguin that lived 45-33 million years ago, during the Late Eocene and the earliest part of the Oligocene.[1] It reached 1.8 m (5 ft 11 in) in height and 90 kg (200 lb) in weight. Fossils of it have been found in the La Meseta Formation on Seymour Island off the coast of Antarctica and in New Zealand. By comparison, the largest modern penguin species, the emperor penguin, is just 1.2 m (3 ft 11 in) tall.

The type species, Anthropornis nordenskjoldi, had a bent joint in the wing, probably a carryover from flying ancestors.

Eloá: (Brazilian Accent) JUNGLE STYLE NINJA ART: GASTORNIS!

Eloá fired a wave of leaves and grass and it formed into the terror bird of 56 million years ago: Gastornis!

---

Gastornis is an extinct genus of large flightless birds that lived during the late Paleocene and Eocene epochs of the Cenozoic era. The genus is currently thought to contain three or four distinct species, known from incomplete fossil remains, found in western-central Europe (England, Belgium, France and Germany). More complete specimens are known from a fourth, North American species, which had previously been classified in the distinct genus Diatryma. Many scientists now consider Diatryma to be so similar to the other species of Gastornis that it should also be included in that genus. A fifth species, also previously classified in its own genus, is known from China.

Gastornis species were very large birds, and have traditionally been considered to be predators of small mammals. However, several lines of evidence, including the lack of hooked claws in known Gastornis footprints and studies of their beak structure have caused scientists to reinterpret these birds as herbivores that probably fed on tough plant material and seeds.

Titanis is an extinct genus of giant flightless terror birds that inhabited North America during the early Pliocene to early Pleistocene epochs. The generic name, Titanis, refers to the titans, Ancient Greek gods that preceded the Twelve Olympians, in allusion to the bird's size. The specific name, T. walleri, honors the holotype's collector, Benjamin I. Waller, an avocational underwater archaeologist. Titanis was thought to be carnivorous and most likely preyed on the many small mammals of the time period. This giant flightless bird was one of the most efficient predators of its time in North America.

Lola: FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: BAJADASAURUS!

Lola fired a wave of fire and it formed into the newly discovered dinosaurs from 140 million years ago: Bajadasaurus!

Bajadasaurus is a genus of sauropod dinosaur from the Early Cretaceous epoch (late Berriasian to Valanginian stages) of northern Patagonia, Argentina. It was first described in 2019 based on a single specimen found in 2010 that includes a largely complete skull and parts of the neck. The only species is Bajadasaurus pronuspinax. The genus is classified as a member of the Dicraeosauridae, a group of comparatively small and short-necked sauropods that lived from the Early or Middle Jurassic to the end of the Early Cretaceous.

Bajadasaurus sported bifurcated, extremely elongated neural spines extending from the neck vertebrae. Similar elongated spines are known from the closely related and more completely known Amargasaurus. Various possible functions have been proposed for these spines in Amargasaurus, with the 2019 description of Bajadasaurus suggesting that they could have served as passive defense against predators in both genera. The skull was gracile and equipped with around 44 teeth that were pencil-shaped and restricted to the front of the jaws. The eye openings of Bajadasaurus were exposed in top view of the skull, possibly allowing the animal to look forwards while feeding. Bajadasaurus was discovered in sedimentary rocks of the Bajada Colorada Formation, and its environment resembled a braided river system. It shared its environment with other dinosaurs including the sauropod Leinkupal and different theropods.

Lily: OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: MOSASAURUS!

Lily fired a wave of water and it formed into the marine reptile from 87 million years ago: Mosasaurus!

---

Mosasaurus (/ˌmoʊzəˈsɔːrəs/; "lizard of the Meuse River") is the type genus of the mosasaurs, an extinct group of aquatic squamate reptiles. The genus lived from about 82 to 66 million years ago during the Campanian and Maastrichtian stages of the Late Cretaceous. The earliest fossils known to science were found as skulls in a chalk quarry near the Dutch city of Maastricht in the late 1700s, which were initially thought to have been the bones of crocodiles or whales. One particular skull discovered at around 1780, and which was seized during the French Revolutionary Wars for its scientific value and transported to Paris, was famously nicknamed the "great animal of Maastricht". In 1808, naturalist Georges Cuvier concluded that it belonged to a giant marine lizard with similarities to monitor lizards but otherwise unlike any animal known today. This concept was revolutionary at the time and helped support the then-developing ideas of extinction. However, Cuvier did not designate a scientific name for the new animal; this task was completed by William Daniel Conybeare in 1822 when he named it Mosasaurus in reference to its origin in fossil deposits near the Meuse River. The relationships between Mosasaurus and modern reptiles are controversial and scientists continue to debate whether its closest living relatives are monitor lizards or snakes.

Traditional interpretations have estimated the maximum length of Mosasaurus to be up to 17.6 meters (58 ft), making it one of the largest mosasaur genera. Its skull, which was either broad or slender depending on the species, was equipped with robust jaws capable of swinging back and forth and strong muscles capable of powerful bites using dozens of large teeth designed for cutting prey. Its tail was long and ended in a paddle-like fluke that bent downwards. Mosasaurus was a predator that had excellent vision to compensate for its poor sense of smell, and a high metabolic rate that suggests it was warm-blooded, an adaptation found in other mosasaurs but no other squamates. The classification of Mosasaurus was historically problematic due to an unclear diagnosis of the type specimen. As a result, over fifty different species have been attributed to the genus in the past. A rediagnosis of the type specimen in 2017 helped resolve the taxonomy issue and confirmed at least five species to be within the genus and another five species still nominally classified within Mosasaurus are planned to be reassessed in a future study. Each species was variable with unique anatomical features differentiating them from the robustly-built M. hoffmannii to the slender and serpentine M. lemonnieri.

Fossil evidence suggests that Mosasaurus inhabited much of the Atlantic Ocean and the seaways adjacent to it. Continents that have recovered Mosasaurus fossils include North America, South America, Europe, Africa, Western Asia, and Antarctica. This distribution encompassed a wide range of oceanic climates including tropical, subtropical, temperate, and subpolar climates. Mosasaurus was a common large predator in these oceans and a dominant genus positioned at the top of the food chain. Scientists believe that its diet would have included virtually anything; it likely preyed on bony fish, sharks, cephalopods, birds, and other marine reptiles including sea turtles and other mosasaurs. It likely preferred to hunt in open water near the surface. From an ecological standpoint, Mosasaurus probably had a profound impact in the structuring of marine ecosystems; its arrival in some locations such as the Western Interior Seaway in North America has been marked with a complete turnover of faunal assemblages and diversity. Mosasaurus faced competition with other large predatory mosasaurs such as Prognathodon and Tylosaurus-which are known to feed on similar prey-though they were able to coexist in the same ecosystems through niche partitioning. There were conflicts among them, as an attack on Mosasaurus by Tylosaurus has been documented. Several discovered fossils illustrated deliberate attacks on Mosasaurus individuals by another of the same species. Infighting likely took place in the form of snout grappling, similarly seen in modern crocodiles today.

The Haast's eagle (Hieraaetus moorei, synonym Harpagornis moorei) is an extinct species of eagle that once lived in the South Island of New Zealand, commonly accepted to be the pouakai of Maori legend. The species was the largest eagle known to have existed, with an estimated weight of 15 kilograms (33 lb) nearly double that of the Harpy eagle at 9 kilograms (20 lb). Its massive size is explained as an evolutionary response to the size of its prey, the flightless moa, the largest of which could weigh 230 kg (510 lb). Haast's eagle became extinct around 1400, after the moa were hunted to extinction by the first Māori.

Shrek: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: DEINOSUCHUS!

Deinosuchus (/ˌdaɪnəˈsjuːkəs/) is an extinct genus of crocodilian related to the modern alligator that lived 82 to 73 million years ago (Ma), during the late Cretaceous period. The name translates as

"terrible crocodile" and is derived from the Greek deinos (δεινός), "terrible", and soukhos (σοῦχος), "crocodile". The first remains were discovered in North Carolina (United States) in the 1850s; the genus was named and described in 1909. Additional fragments were discovered in the 1940s and were later incorporated into an influential, though inaccurate, skull reconstruction at the American Museum of Natural History. Knowledge of Deinosuchus remains incomplete, but better cranial material found in recent years has expanded scientific understanding of this massive predator.

Although Deinosuchus was far larger than any modern crocodile or alligator, with the largest adults measuring 12 meters (39 ft) in total length, its overall appearance was fairly similar to its smaller relatives. It had large, robust teeth built for crushing, and its back was covered with thick hemispherical osteoderms. One study indicated Deinosuchus may have lived for up to 50 years, growing at a rate similar to that of modern crocodilians, but maintaining this growth over a much longer time.

Deinosuchus fossils have been described from 10 U.S. states, including Texas, Montana, and many along the East Coast. Fossils have also been found in northern Mexico. It lived on both sides of the Western Interior Seaway, and was an opportunistic apex predator in the coastal regions of eastern North America. Deinosuchus reached its largest size in its western habitat, but the eastern populations were far more abundant. Opinion remains divided as to whether these two populations represent separate species. Deinosuchus was probably capable of killing and eating large dinosaurs. It may have also fed upon sea turtles, fish, and other aquatic and terrestrial prey.

Lincoln: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: GORGOSAURUS!

Lincoln fired a wave of ice and it formed into the Theropod from 76.6 million years ago: Gorgosaurus!

---

Gorgosaurus (/ˌɡɔːrɡəˈsɔːrəs/ GOR-gə-SOR-əs; meaning "dreadful lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid theropod dinosaur that lived in western North America during the Late Cretaceous Period (Campanian), between about 76.6 and 75.1 million years ago. Fossil remains have been found in the Canadian province of Alberta and possibly the U.S. state of Montana. Paleontologists recognize only the type species, G. libratus, although other species have been erroneously referred to the genus.

Like most known tyrannosaurids, Gorgosaurus was a bipedal predator weighing more than two metric tons as an adult; dozens of large, sharp teeth lined its jaws, while its two-fingered forelimbs were comparatively small. Gorgosaurus was most closely related to Albertosaurus, and more distantly related to the larger Tyrannosaurus. Gorgosaurus and Albertosaurus are extremely similar, distinguished mainly by subtle differences in the teeth and skull bones. Some experts consider G. libratus to be a species of Albertosaurus; this would make Gorgosaurus a junior synonym of that genus.

Gorgosaurus lived in a lush floodplain environment along the edge of an inland sea. It was an apex predator, preying upon abundant ceratopsids and hadrosaurs. In some areas, Gorgosaurus coexisted with another tyrannosaurid, Daspletosaurus. Although these animals were roughly the same size, there is some evidence of niche differentiation between the two. Gorgosaurus is the best-represented tyrannosaurid in the fossil record, known from dozens of specimens. These plentiful remains have allowed scientists to investigate its ontogeny, life history and other aspects of its biology.

Warren: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: SCUTOSAURUS!

---

Scutosaurus ("Shield lizard") was a genus of parareptiles. It was an armor-covered pareiasaur that lived around 265-254 million years ago in Russia, in the later Permian period. Its genus name refers to large plates of armor scattered across its body. It was a large anapsid reptile that, unlike most reptiles, held its legs underneath its body to support its great weight. Fossils have been found in the Sokolki Assemblage Zone of the Malokinelskaya Formation in European Russia, close to the Ural Mountains.

Bart: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DINOGORGON!

Bart fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Gorgonopsid from 259 million years ago: Dinogorgon!

---

Dinogorgon is a genus of gorgonopsid from the Late Permian of South Africa and Tanzania. The generic name Dinogorgon is derived from Greek, meaning "terrible gorgon", while its species name rubidgei is taken from the surname of renowned Karoo paleontologist, Professor Bruce Rubidge, who has contributed to much of the research conducted on therapsids of the Karoo Basin. The type species of the genus is D. rubidgei.

Dinogorgon is part of the gorgonopsian subfamily Rubidgeinae, a derived group of large-bodied gorgonopsians restricted to the Late Permian (Lopingian). The Rubidgeinae subfamily first appeared in the Tropidostoma Assemblage Zone, and reached their highest diversity in the Cistecephalus and Daptocephalus assemblage zones of the Beaufort Group in South Africa.

Homer: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: EDAPHOSAURUS!

Homer fired a wave of earth and it formed into Dimetrodon-like synapsid from 303.4 million years ago: Edaphosaurus!

Edaphosaurus (/ˌɛdəfoʊˈsɔːrəs/, meaning "pavement lizard" for dense clusters of teeth) is a genus of extinct edaphosaurid synapsids that lived in what is now North America and Europe around 303.4 to 272.5 million years ago, during the late Carboniferous to early Permian periods. American paleontologist Edward Drinker Cope first described Edaphosaurus in 1882, naming it for the "dental pavement" on both the upper and lower jaws, from the Greek edaphos ἐδαφος ("ground"; also "pavement") and σαῦρος (sauros) ("lizard").

Edaphosaurus is important as one of the earliest-known, large, plant-eating (herbivorous), amniote tetrapods (four-legged land-living vertebrates). In addition to the large tooth plates in its jaws, the most characteristic feature of Edaphosaurus is a sail on its back. A number of other synapsids from the same time period also have tall dorsal sails, most famously the large apex predator Dimetrodon.

However, the sail on Edaphosaurus is different in shape and morphology. The first fossils of Edaphosaurus came from the Texas Red Beds in North America, with later finds in New Mexico, Oklahoma, West Virginia, and Ohio. Fragmentary fossils attributed to Edaphosaurus have also been found in eastern Germany in Central Europe.

Tabby: FOREST STYLE NINJA ART: DILOPHOSAURUS!

Tabby fired a wave of leaves and water and it formed into the theropod from 193 million years ago: Dilophosaurus!

Dilophosaurus (/daɪˌloʊfəˈsɔːrəs, -foʊ-/ dy-LOHF-o-SOR-əs) is a genus of theropod dinosaurs that lived in what is now North America during the Early Jurassic, about 193 million years ago. Three skeletons were discovered in northern Arizona in 1940, and the two best preserved were collected in 1942. The most complete specimen became the holotype of a new species in the genus Megalosaurus, named M. wetherilli by Samuel P. Welles in 1954. Welles found a larger skeleton belonging to the same species in 1964. Realizing it bore crests on its skull, he assigned the species to the new genus Dilophosaurus in 1970, as Dilophosaurus wetherilli. The genus name means "two-crested lizard", and the species name honors John Wetherill, a Navajo councilor. Further specimens have since been found, including an infant.

Footprints have also been attributed to the animal, including resting traces. Another species, Dilophosaurus sinensis from China, was named in 1993, but was later found to belong to the genus Sinosaurus. It was designated as the state dinosaur of Connecticut based on tracks found there.

At about 7 m (23 ft) in length, with a weight of about 400 kg (880 lb), Dilophosaurus was one of the earliest large predatory dinosaurs and the largest known land-animal in North America at the time. It was slender and lightly built, and the skull was proportionally large, but delicate. The snout was narrow, and the upper jaw had a gap or kink below the nostril. It had a pair of longitudinal, plate-shaped crests on its skull, similar to a cassowary with two crests. The mandible was slender and delicate at the front, but deep at the back. The teeth were long, curved, thin, and compressed sideways. Those in the lower jaw were much smaller than those of the upper jaw. Most of the teeth had serrations at their front and back edges. The neck was long, and its vertebrae were hollow, and very light. The arms were powerful, with a long and slender upper arm bone. The hands had four fingers; the first was short but strong and bore a large claw, the two following fingers were longer and slenderer with smaller claws; the fourth was vestigial. The thigh bone was massive, the feet were stout, and the toes bore large claws.

Dilophosaurus is a member of the family Dilophosauridae along with Dracovenator, a group placed between the Coelophysidae and later theropods. Dilophosaurus would have been active and bipedal, and may have hunted large animals; it could also have fed on smaller animals and fish. Due to the limited range of movement and shortness of the fore limbs, the mouth may instead have made first contact with prey. The function of the crests is unknown; they were too weak for battle, but may have been used in visual display, such as species recognition and sexual selection. It may have grown rapidly, attaining a growth rate of 30 to 35 kg (66 to 77 lb) per year early in life. The holotype specimen had multiple paleopathologies, including healed injuries and signs of a developmental anomaly. Dilophosaurus is known from the Kayenta Formation, and lived alongside dinosaurs such as Megapnosaurus and Sarahsaurus.

Dilophosaurus was featured in the novel Jurassic Park and its movie adaptation, wherein it was given the fictional abilities to spit venom and expand a neck frill, as well as being smaller than the real animal.

The American lion (Panthera atrox), also known as the "North American lion", or "American cave lion", is an extinct pantherine cat that lived in North America during the Pleistocene epoch and the early Holocene epoch, about 340,000 to 11,000 years ago. Its fossils have been excavated from Alaska to Mexico. Genetic analysis has shown that the American lion and the Late Pleistocene Eurasian cave lion (Panthera spelaea) are sister lineages. It was about 25% larger than the modern lion, making it one of the largest known felids.

Nelson: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: CAMARASAURUS!

Nelson fired a wave of earth and it formed into the sauropod from 155 million years ago: Camerasaurus!

---

Camarasaurus (/ˌkæmərəˈsɔːrəs/ KAM-ər-ə-SAWR-əs) was a genus of quadrupedal, herbivorous dinosaurs. It was the most common of the giant sauropods to be found in North America. Its fossil remains have been found in the Morrison Formation of Colorado and Utah, dating to the Late Jurassic epoch (Kimmeridgian to Tithonian stages), between 155 and 145 million years ago.

Camarasaurus presented a distinctive cranial profile of a blunt snout and an arched skull that was remarkably square. It likely travelled in herds, or at least in family groups.

The name means "chambered lizard", referring to the hollow chambers in its vertebrae (Greek καμαρα (kamara) meaning "vaulted chamber", or anything with an arched cover, and σαυρος (sauros) meaning "lizard").

Hinata: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: PACHYRHINOSAURUS!

Hinata fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ceratopsian from 73.5 million years ago: Pachyrhinosaurus!

---

Pachyrhinosaurus (meaning in Greek "thick-nosed lizard", from Παχυ (pachy), thick; ρινὸ (rinó), nose; and σαυρος (sauros), lizard) is an extinct genus of centrosaurine ceratopsid dinosaur from the Late Cretaceous period of North America. The first examples were discovered by Charles M. Sternberg in Alberta, Canada, in 1946, and named in 1950. Over a dozen partial skulls and a large assortment of other fossils from various species have been found in Alberta and Alaska. A great number were not available for study until the 1980s, resulting in a relatively recent increase of interest in Pachyrhinosaurus.

Three species have been identified. P. lakustai, from the Wapiti Formation, the bonebed horizon of which is roughly equivalent age to the upper Bearpaw and lower Horseshoe Canyon Formations, is known to have existed from about 73.5-72.5 million years ago. P. canadensis is younger, known from the lower Horseshoe Canyon Formation, about 71.5-71 Ma ago and the St. Mary River Formation. Fossils of the youngest species, P. perotorum, have been recovered from the Prince Creek Formation of Alaska, and date to 70-69 Ma ago. The presence of three known species makes this genus the most speciose among the centrosaurines.

Kiba: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: POSTOSUCHUS!

Kiba fired a wave of earth and it formed into the rauisuchid from 221 million years ago: Postosuchus!

Postosuchus, meaning "Crocodile from Post", is an extinct genus of rauisuchid reptiles comprising two species, P. kirkpatricki and P. alisonae, that lived in what is now North America during the Late Triassic. Postosuchus is a member of the clade Pseudosuchia, the lineage of archosaurs that includes modern crocodilians (the other main group of archosaurs is Avemetatarsalia, the lineage that includes non-avian dinosaurs and their descendants, birds). Its name refers to Post Quarry, a place in Texas where many fossils of the type species, P. kirkpatricki, were found. It was one of the apex predators of its area during the Triassic, larger than the small dinosaur predators of its time (such as Coelophysis). It was a hunter which probably preyed on large large bulky herbivores like dicynodonts and many other creatures smaller than itself (such as early dinosaurs).

The skeleton of Postosuchus is large and robust with a deep skull and a long tail. The total body length is about 4 to 5 metres (13 to 16 ft). The extreme shortness of the forelimbs relative to the hind limbs, the very small hands, and measurements of the vertebrae suggest that Postosuchus may have been committed to bipedal locomotion.

Rock Lee: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: MOSCHOPS!

Rock Lee fired a wave of earth and it formed into the therapsid from 265 million years ago: Moschops!

---

Moschops (Greek for "calf face") is an extinct genus of therapsids that lived in the Guadalupian epoch, around 265-260 million years ago. They were heavily built plant eaters, and they may have lived partly in water, as hippopotamuses do. They had short, thick heads and might have competed by head-butting each other. Their elbow joints allowed them to walk with a more mammal-like gait rather than crawling. Their remains were found in the Karoo region of South Africa, belonging to the Tapinocephalus Assemblage Zone. Therapsids, such as Moschops, are synapsids, the dominant land animals in the Permian period, which ended 252 million years ago.

Tenten: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: ANKYLOSAURUS!

Tenten fired a wave of earth and it formed into the armored dinosaur from 68 million years ago: Ankylosaurus!

Ankylosaurus is a genus of armored dinosaur. Its fossils have been found in geological formations dating to the very end of the Cretaceous Period, about 68-66 million years ago, in western North America, making it among the last of the non-avian dinosaurs. It was named by Barnum Brown in 1908; the only species in the genus is A. magniventris. The genus name means "fused lizard", and the specific name means "great belly". A handful of specimens have been excavated to date, but a complete skeleton has not been discovered. Though other members of Ankylosauria are represented by more extensive fossil material, Ankylosaurus is often considered the archetypal member of its group, despite having some unusual features.

strength, and this feature is the source of the genus name.

Ankylosaurus is a member of the family Ankylosauridae, and its closest relatives appear to be Anodontosaurus and Euoplocephalus. Ankylosaurus is thought to have been a slow-moving animal, able to make quick movements when necessary. Its broad muzzle indicates it was a non-selective browser. Sinuses and nasal chambers in the snout may have been for heat and water balance or may have played a role in vocalization. The tail club is thought to have been used in defense against predators or in intraspecific combat. Ankylosaurus has been found in the Hell Creek, Lance, Scollard, Frenchman, and Ferris formations, but appears to have been rare in its environment. Although it lived alongside a nodosaurid ankylosaur, their ranges and ecological niches do not appear to have overlapped, and Ankylosaurus may have inhabited upland areas. Ankylosaurus also lived alongside dinosaurs such as Tyrannosaurus, Triceratops, and Edmontosaurus.

Ino: FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: MASSOSPONDYLUS!

Ino fired a wave of fire and it formed into the sauropodomorph dinosaur from 200 million years ago: Massospondylus!

---

Massospondylus (/ˌmæsoʊˈspɒndɪləs/ mas-oh-SPON-di-ləs; from Greek, μάσσων (massōn, "longer") and σπόνδυλος (spondylos, "vertebra")) is a genus of sauropodomorph dinosaur from the Early Jurassic Period (Hettangian to Pliensbachian ages, ca. 200-183 million years ago). It was described by Sir Richard Owen in 1854 from remains discovered in South Africa, and is thus one of the first dinosaurs to have been named. Fossils have since been found at other locations in South Africa, Lesotho, and Zimbabwe. Material from Arizona's Kayenta Formation, India, and Argentina has been assigned to this genus at various times, but the Arizonan and Argentinian material are now assigned to other genera.

The type species is M. carinatus; seven other species have been named during the past 150 years, but only M. kaalae among these is still considered valid. Early sauropodomorphs systematics have undergone numerous revisions during the last several years, and many scientists disagree where exactly Massospondylus lies on the dinosaur evolutionary tree. The family name Massospondylidae was once coined for the genus, but because knowledge of early sauropodomorph relationships is in a state of flux, it is unclear which other dinosaurs-if any-belong in a natural grouping of massospondylids; several 2007 papers support the family's validity.

Although Massospondylus was long depicted as quadrupedal, a 2007 study found it to be bipedal. It was probably a plant eater (herbivore), although it is speculated that the early sauropodomorphs may have been omnivorous. This animal, which was 4-6 metres (13-20 ft) long, had a long neck and tail, with a small head and slender body. On each of its forefeet, it bore a sharp thumb claw that was used in defense or feeding. Recent studies indicate that Massospondylus grew steadily throughout its lifespan, possessed air sacs similar to those of birds, and may have cared for its young.

Haku: ICE STYLE NINJA ART: AMERICAN MASTODON!

Haku fired a wave of ice and it formed into the ancestral elephant of the Great Ice Age from 5.3 million to 10,000 years ago: The American Mastodon!

---

A mastodon (Greek: μαστός "breast" and ὀδούς, "tooth") is any proboscidean belonging to the extinct genus Mammut (family Mammutidae) that inhabited North and Central America during the late Miocene or late Pliocene up to their extinction at the end of the Pleistocene 10,000 to 11,000 years ago. Mastodons lived in herds and were predominantly forest-dwelling animals that lived on a mixed diet obtained by browsing and grazing, somewhat similar to their distant relatives, modern elephants, but probably with greater emphasis on browsing.

M. americanum, the American mastodon, and M. pacificus, the Pacific mastodon, are the youngest and best-known species of the genus. Mastodons disappeared from North America as part of a mass extinction of most of the Pleistocene megafauna, widely believed to have been caused by overexploitation by Clovis hunters.

Sasuke: LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: COMPSOGNATHUS!

Sasuke fired a wave of lightning and it formed into the fast carnivore from 150.8 million years ago: Compsognathus!

---

Compsognathus (/kɒmp'sɒgnəθəs/; Greek kompsos/κομψός; "elegant", "refined" or "dainty", and gnathos/γνάθος; "jaw") is a genus of small, bipedal, carnivorous theropod dinosaur. Members of its single species Compsognathus longipes could grow to around the size of a turkey. They lived about 150 million years ago, during the Tithonian age of the late Jurassic period, in what is now Europe. Paleontologists have found two well-preserved fossils, one in Germany in the 1850s and the second in France more than a century later. Today, C. longipes is the only recognized species, although the larger specimen discovered in France in the 1970s was once thought to belong to a separate species and named C. corallestris.

Many presentations still describe Compsognathus as "chicken-sized" dinosaurs because of the size of the German specimen, which is now believed to be a juvenile. Compsognathus longipes is one of the few dinosaur species whose diet is known with certainty: the remains of small, agile lizards are preserved in the bellies of both specimens. Teeth discovered in Portugal may be further fossil remains of the genus.

Although not recognized as such at the time of its discovery, Compsognathus is the first theropod dinosaur known from a reasonably complete fossil skeleton. Until the 1990s, it was the smallest-known non-avialan dinosaur, with the preceding centuries incorrectly labelling them as the closest relative of Archaeopteryx.

Fu: ARTHROPOD STYLE NINJA ART: BRONTOSCORPIO!

Fu fired a wave of energy and it formed into the Silurian early scorpions from over 423 million years ago: Brontoscorpio!

---

Brontoscorpio anglicus is a species of fossil scorpion. Its remains were discovered in Upper Silurian-aged sandstone from Trimpley, Worcestershire, and the species was described on the basis of an incomplete single free finger of a pedipalp, almost 10 centimetres (3.9 in) long. The complete animal is estimated to have been at least 90 centimetres (35 in) long.

The remains were found in terrestrial sediments, but it is believed, that due to its size, Brontoscorpio had to enter the water to molt. Possibly it lived a semi or fully aquatic life.

Shino: ARTHROPOD STYLE NINJA ART: ARTHROPLEURA!

Shino fired a wave of energy and it formed into the Carboniferous Trilobite from 345 million years ago: Arthropleura!

Arthropleura (Greek for jointed ribs) is a genus of extinct millipede arthropods that lived in what is now northeastern North America and Scotland around 345 to 295 million years ago, from the Viséan stage of the lower Carboniferous Period to the Asselian stage of the lower Permian Period. The larger species of the genus are the largest known land invertebrates of all time, and would have had few, if any, predators.

Zabuza: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: SARCOSUCHUS!

Zabuza fired a wave of water and it formed into the largest crocodilian dinosaur ever known from 133 million years ago: Sarcosuchus!

Sarcosuchus (/ˌsɑːrkoʊˈsuːkəs/; meaning "flesh crocodile") is an extinct genus of crocodyliform and distant relative of living crocodylians that lived during the Early Cretaceous, from the late Hauterivian to the early Albian, 133 to 112 million years ago of what is now Africa and South America. It was one of the largest crocodile-line reptiles, reaching an average estimate of 9 m (30 ft) and 3.5 metric tons (3.9 short tons), but estimated to grow up to 9.5 m (31 ft) in body length and weigh up to 4.3 metric tons (4.7 short tons). It is known from two species, S. imperator from the early Albian Elrhaz Formation of Niger and S. hartti from the Late Hauterivian of northeastern Brazil, other material is known from Morocco and Tunisia and possibly Libya and Mali.

The first remains were discovered during several expeditions led by the French paleontologist Albert-Félix de Lapparent, spanning from 1946 to 1959, in the Sahara. These remains were fragments of the skull, vertebrae, teeth, and scutes. In 1964, an almost complete skull was found in Niger by the French CEA, but it was not until 1997 and 2000 that most of its anatomy became known to science, when an expedition led by the American paleontologist Paul Sereno discovered six new specimens, including one with about half the skeleton intact and most of the spine.

Kabuto: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: PARASAUROLOPHUS!

Parasaurolophus (/ˌpærəsɔːˈrɒləfəs, -ˌsɔːrəˈloʊfəs/; meaning "near crested lizard" in reference to Saurolophus) is a genus of herbivorous ornithopod dinosaur that lived in what is now North America and possibly Asia during the Late Cretaceous Period, about 76.5-73 million years ago. It was an herbivore that walked both as a biped and as a quadruped. Three species are universally recognized: P. walkeri (the type species), P. tubicen, and the short-crested P. cyrtocristatus. Additionally, a fourth species, P. jiayensis, has been proposed, although it is more commonly placed in the separate genus Charonosaurus. Remains are known from Alberta (Canada), New Mexico and Utah (United States), and possibly Heilongjiang, (China). The genus was first described in 1922 by William Parks from a skull and partial skeleton found in Alberta.

Parasaurolophus was a hadrosaurid, part of a diverse family of Cretaceous dinosaurs known for their range of bizarre head adornments. This genus is known for its large, elaborate cranial crest, which at its largest forms a long curved tube projecting upwards and back from the skull. Charonosaurus from China, which may have been its closest relative, had a similar skull and potentially a similar crest. Visual recognition of both species and sex, acoustic resonance, and thermoregulation have been proposed as functional explanations for the crest. It is one of the rarer hadrosaurids, known from only a handful of good specimens.

Finn: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: LAMBEOSAURUS!

Finn fired a wave of water and it formed into a heard of hadrosaurs from 76 million years ago: Lambeosaurus!

Lambeosaurus (/ˌlæmbioʊˈsɔːrəs/ LAM-bee-o-SAWR-əs; meaning "Lambe's lizard") is a genus of hadrosaurid dinosaur that lived about 75 million years ago, in the Late Cretaceous period (Campanian stage) of North America. This bipedal/quadrupedal, herbivorous dinosaur is known for its distinctive hollow cranial crest, which in the best-known species resembled a hatchet. Several possible species have been named, from Canada, the United States, and Mexico, but only the two Canadian species are currently recognized as valid.

Material relevant to the genus was first named by Lawrence Lambe in 1902. Over twenty years later, the modern name was coined in 1923 by William Parks, in honour of Lambe, based on better preserved specimens. The genus has a complicated taxonomic history, in part because small-bodied crested hadrosaurids now recognized as juveniles were once thought to belong to their own genera and species. Currently, the various skulls assigned to the type species L. lambei are interpreted as showing age differences and sexual dimorphism. Lambeosaurus was closely related to the better known Corythosaurus, which is found in slightly older rocks, as well as the less well-known genera Hypacrosaurus and Olorotitan. All had unusual crests, which are now generally assumed to have served social functions like noisemaking and recognition.

Jake the Dog: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: TSINTAOSAURUS!

Jake fired a wave of water and it formed into a herd of hadrosaurs from 70 million years ago: Tsintaosaurus!

Tsintaosaurus (/tʃɪŋdaʊ'sɔːrəs/; meaning "Qingdao lizard", after the old transliteration "Tsingtao") is a genus of hadrosaurid dinosaur from China. It was about 8.3 metres (27 ft) long and weighed 2.5 tonnes. The type species is Tsintaosaurus spinorhinus, first described by Chinese paleontologist C. C. Young in 1958.

A hadrosaur, Tsintaosaurus had a characteristic 'duck bill' snout and a battery of powerful teeth which it used to chew vegetation. It usually walked on all fours, but could rear up on its hind legs to scout for predators and flee when it spotted one. Like other hadrosaurs, Tsintaosaurus probably lived in herds.

Flame Princess fired a wave of fire and it formed into theropod from 100 million years ago: Carcharodontosaurus!

Carcharodontosaurus /ˌkɑːrkəroʊˌdɒntoʊ'sɔːrəs/ is a genus of carnivorous carcharodontosaurid dinosaurs that existed during the Cenomanian stage of the mid-Cretaceous Period in Northern Africa. It is currently known to include two species: C. saharicus and C. iguidensis, which are among the larger theropods, nearly as large as or even larger than Tyrannosaurus, Giganotosaurus, and Spinosaurus.

The genus Carcharodontosaurus is named after the shark genus Carcharodon, itself composed of the Greek karchar[os] (κάρχαρος, meaning "jagged" or "sharp") and odōn (ὀδών, "teeth"), and the suffix -saurus ("lizard").

Corythosaurus /ˌkɒrɪθoʊˈsɔːrəs/ is a genus of hadrosaurid "duck-billed" dinosaur from the Upper Cretaceous Period, about 77-75.7 million years ago. It lived in what is now North America. Its name means "helmet lizard", derived from Greek κόρυς. It was named and described in 1914 by Barnum Brown. Corythosaurus is now thought to be a lambeosaurine, related to Nipponosaurus, Velafrons, Hypacrosaurus, and Olorotitan. Corythosaurus has an estimated length of 9 metres (30 ft), and has a skull, including the crest, that is 70.8 centimetres (27.9 in; 2.32 ft) tall.

Corythosaurus is known from many complete specimens, including the nearly complete holotype found by Brown in 1911. The holotype skeleton is only missing the last section of the tail, and part of the forelimbs, but was preserved with impressions of polygonal scales. Corythosaurus is known from many skulls with tall crests. The crests resemble the crests of the cassowary and a Corinthian helmet. The most likely function of the crest is thought to be vocalization. As in a trombone, sound waves would travel through many chambers in the crest, and then get amplified when Corythosaurus exhaled. A Corythosaurus specimen has been preserved with its last meal in its chest cavity. Inside the cavity were remains of conifer needles, seeds, twigs, and fruits: Corythosaurus probably fed on all of these.

The two species of Corythosaurus are both present in slightly different levels of the Dinosaur Park Formation. Both still co-existed with theropods and other ornithischians, like Daspletosaurus, Brachylophosaurus, Parasaurolophus, Scolosaurus, and Chasmosaurus.

Luigi: (Italian Accent) ARTHROPOD STYLE NINJA ART: MEGANEURA!

Luigi fired a wave of energy and it formed into a swarm of the Carboniferous dragonflies from 305 million years ago: Meganeura!

---

Meganeura is a genus of extinct insects from the Carboniferous period (approximately 300 million years ago), which resembled and are related to the present-day dragonflies. With wingspans ranging from 65 cm (25.6 in) to over 70 cm (28 in), M. monyi is one of the largest-known flying insect species. Meganeura were predatory, with their diet mainly consisting of other insects.

Wing venation of Meganeura monyi, redrawn after Brongniart (1893, Pl. XLI)

Fossils were discovered in the French Stephanian Coal Measures of Commentry in 1880. In 1885, French paleontologist Charles Brongniart described and named the fossil "Meganeura" (large-nerved), which refers to the network of veins on the insect's wings. Another fine fossil specimen was found in 1979 at Bolsover in Derbyshire. The holotype is housed in the National Museum of Natural History, in Paris.

Mei Terumi: OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: MEGALODON!

Mei fired a wave of water and it formed into the largest and most meanest shark ever to swim the ocean and the ancestor of the Great White Shark from 23 million years ago.

---

Megalodon (Carcharocles megalodon), meaning "big tooth", is an extinct species of shark that lived approximately 23 to 3.6 million years ago (mya), during the Early Miocene to the Pliocene. It was formerly thought to be a member of the family Lamnidae and a close relative of the great white shark (Carcharodon carcharias). However, it is now classified into the extinct family Otodontidae, which diverged from the great white shark during the Early Cretaceous. Its genus placement is still debated, authors placing it in either

Carcharocles, Megaselachus, Otodus, or Procarcharodon. This is because transitional fossils have been found showing that Megalodon is the final chronospecies of a lineage of giant sharks originally of the genus Otodus which evolved during the Paleocene.

While regarded as one of the largest and most powerful predators to have ever lived, megalodon is known from fragmentary remains, and its appearance and maximum size are uncertain. Scientists differ on whether it would have more closely resembled a stockier version of the great white shark, the basking shark (Cetorhinus maximus) or the sand tiger shark (Carcharias taurus). Most estimates of megalodon's size extrapolate from teeth; with maximum length estimates up to 18 meters (59 ft) and average length estimates of 10.5 meters (34 ft). Estimates suggest their large jaws could exert a bite force of up to 110,000 to 180,000 newtons (25,000 to 40,000 lbf). Their teeth were thick and robust, built for grabbing prey and breaking bone.

Megalodon probably had a major impact on the structure of marine communities. The fossil record indicates that it had a cosmopolitan distribution. It probably targeted large prey, such as whales, seals and sea turtles. Juveniles inhabited warm coastal waters and fed on fish and small whales. Unlike the great white, which attacks prey from the soft underside, megalodon probably used its strong jaws to break through the chest cavity and puncture the heart and lungs of its prey.

The animal faced competition from whale-eating cetaceans, such as Livyatan and other macroraptorial sperm whales and possibly smaller ancestral killer whales. As the shark preferred warmer waters, it is thought that oceanic cooling associated with the onset of the ice ages, coupled with the lowering of sea levels and resulting loss of suitable nursery areas, may have also contributed to its decline. A reduction in the diversity of baleen whales and a shift in their distribution toward polar regions may have reduced megalodon's primary food source. A 2019 study reviewed newer evidence suggesting that competition from the modern great white shark may have also contributed to the extinction of megalodon, coupled with range fragmentation resulting in a gradual, asynchronous extinction as a result of cooling oceans around 3.6-4 million years ago, far earlier than previously assumed. The extinction of the shark appeared to affect other animals; for example, the size of baleen whales increased significantly after the shark had disappeared.

Carol: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: STEGOSAURUS!

Carol fired a wave of Earth and it formed into the awesome dinosaur from 155 million years ago: Stegosaurus!

Stegosaurus (/ˌstɛɡəˈsɔːrəs/), from Greek stegos (στέγος), which means roof, and sauros (σαῦρος), which means lizard, is a genus of herbivorous thyreophoran dinosaur. Fossils of this genus date to the Late Jurassic period, where they are found in Kimmeridgian to early Tithonian aged strata, between 155 and 150 million years ago, in the western United States and Portugal. Of the species that have been classified in the upper Morrison Formation of the western US, only three are universally recognized; S. stenops, S. ungulatus and S. sulcatus. The remains of over 80 individual animals of this genus have been found. Stegosaurus would have lived alongside dinosaurs such as Apatosaurus, Diplodocus, Brachiosaurus, Allosaurus, and Ceratosaurus; the latter two may have preyed on it.

These were large, heavily built, herbivorous quadrupeds with rounded backs, short fore limbs, long hind limbs, and tails held high in the air. Due to their distinctive combination of broad, upright plates and tail tipped with spikes, Stegosaurus is one of the most recognizable kinds of dinosaurs. The function of this array of plates and spikes has been the subject of much speculation among scientists. Today, it is generally agreed that their spiked tails were most likely used for defense against predators, while their plates may have been used primarily for display, and secondarily for thermoregulatory functions. Stegosaurus had a relatively low brain-to-body mass ratio. It had a short neck and a small head, meaning it most likely ate low-lying bushes and shrubs. One species, Stegosaurus ungulatus, is the largest known of all the stegosaurians (bigger than related dinosaurs such as Kentrosaurus and Huayangosaurus).

Stegosaurus remains were first identified during the "Bone Wars" by Othniel Charles Marsh at Dinosaur Ridge National Landmark. The first known skeletons were fragmentary and the bones were scattered, and it would be many years before the true appearance of these animals, including their posture and plate arrangement, became well understood. Despite its popularity in books and film, mounted skeletons of Stegosaurus did not become a staple of major natural history museums until the mid-20th century, and many museums have had to assemble composite displays from several different specimens due to a lack of complete skeletons. Stegosaurus is one of the better-known dinosaurs, and has been featured in film, postal stamps, and many other types of media.

Beast Boy: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TRICERATOPS!

Beast Boy fired a wave of earth and it formed into the fierce dinosaur from 68 million years ago: Triceratops!

Triceratops is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsid dinosaur that first appeared during the late Maastrichtian stage of the late Cretaceous period, about 68 million years ago (mya) in what is now North America. It is one of the last known non-avian dinosaur genera, and became extinct in the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event 66 million years ago. The name Triceratops, which literally means "three-horned face", is derived from the Ancient Greek words τρί- (tri-) meaning "three", κέρας (kéras) meaning "horn", and ὤψ (ōps) meaning "face".

Triceratops has been documented by numerous remains collected since the genus was first described in 1889 by Othniel Charles Marsh. Specimens representing life stages from hatchling to adult have been found. As the archetypal ceratopsid, Triceratops is one of the most popular dinosaurs, and has been featured in film, postal stamps, and many other types of media.

Bearing a large bony frill and three horns on the skull, and its large four-legged body possessing similarities with the modern rhinoceros, Triceratops is one of the most recognizable of all dinosaurs and the best-known ceratopsid. It was also one of the largest, up to 9 meters (29.5 ft) long and 12 metric tons (13 short tons) in weight. It shared the landscape with and was probably preyed upon by Tyrannosaurus, though it is less certain that the two did battle in the fanciful manner often depicted in museum displays and popular images. The functions of the frills and three distinctive facial horns on its head have long inspired debate. Traditionally, these have been viewed as defensive weapons against predators. More recent interpretations find it probable that these features were primarily used in species identification, courtship and dominance display, much like the antlers and horns of modern ungulates.

Triceratops was traditionally placed within the "short-frilled" ceratopsids but modern cladistic studies show it to be a member of the Chasmosaurinae which usually have long frills. Two species, T. horridus and T. prorsus, are considered valid today, from the seventeen species that have ever been named. Research published in 2010 concluded that the contemporaneous Torosaurus, a ceratopsid long regarded as a separate genus, represents Triceratops in its mature form. This view was immediately disputed with examination of more fossil evidence needed to settle the debate.

Linka: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TOROSAURUS!

Linka fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 68 million years ago: Torosaurus!

---

Torosaurus ("perforated lizard", in reference to the large openings in its frill) is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsid dinosaur that lived during the late Maastrichtian stage of the Cretaceous period, between 68 and 66 million years ago, though it is possible that the species range might extend to as far as 69 million years ago. Fossils have been discovered across the Western Interior of North America, from Saskatchewan to southern Texas.

Torosaurus possessed one of the largest skulls of any known land animal. The frilled skull reached up to 2.77 metres (9.1 ft) in length. From head to tail, Torosaurus is thought to have measured about 8 to 9 m (26 to 30 ft) long and weighed four to six tonnes. Torosaurus is distinguished from the contemporary Triceratops by an elongate frill with large openings (fenestrae), long squamosal bones of the frill with a trough on their upper surface, and the presence of five or more pairs of hornlets (epoccipitals) on the back of the frill. Torosaurus also lacked the long nose horn seen in Triceratops prorsus, and instead resembled the earlier and more basal Triceratops horridus in having a short nose horn. Three species have been named, Torosaurus latus, T. gladius and T. utahensis. T. gladius is no longer considered a valid species, however.

In 2010, the validity of Torosaurus was disputed. A study of fossil bone histology combined with an investigation of frill shape concluded that Torosaurus probably represented the mature form of Triceratops, with the bones of typical Triceratops specimens still immature and showing signs of a first development of distinct Torosaurus frill holes. During maturation, the skull frill would have been greatly lengthened and holes would have appeared in it. In 2011, 2012 and 2013 however, studies of external features of known specimens have claimed that morphological differences between the two genera preclude their synonymy. The main problems are a lack of good transitional forms, the apparent existence of authentic Torosaurus subadults, different skull proportions independent of maturation and the assertion that hole formation at an adult stage is not part of a normal ceratopsian maturation sequence.

Paula: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: NASUTOCERATOPS!

Paula fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 75.9 million years ago: Nasutoceratops!

Nasutoceratops is an extinct genus of ceratopsian dinosaur. It is a basal centrosaurine which lived during the Late Cretaceous Period (late Campanian, about 76.0-75.5 Ma). Fossils have been found in southern Utah, United States. Nasutoceratops was a large, ground-dwelling, quadrupedal herbivore with a short snout and unique rounded horns above its eyes that have been likened to those of modern cattle. Extending almost to the tip of its snout, these horns are the longest of all the members of the centrosaurine subfamily. The presence of pneumatic elements in the nasal bones of Nasutoceratops are a unique trait and are unknown in any other ceratopsid. Nasutoceratops, Diabloceratops, and Machairoceratops are the only three centrosaurine dinosaurs from the American southwest.

Styracosaurus (/stɪˌrækə'sɔːrəs/ sti-RAK-ə-SOR-əs; meaning "spiked lizard" from the Ancient Greek styrax/στύραξ "spike at the butt-end of a spear-shaft" and sauros/σαῦρος "lizard") is a genus of herbivorous ceratopsian dinosaur from the Cretaceous Period (Campanian stage), about 75.5 to 75 million years ago. It had four to six long parietal spikes extending from its neck frill, a smaller jugal horn on each of its cheeks, and a single horn protruding from its nose, which may have been up to 60 centimetres (2 feet) long and 15 centimetres (6 inches) wide. The function or functions of the horns and frills have been debated for many years.

Styracosaurus was a relatively large dinosaur, reaching lengths of 5.5 metres (18 feet) and weighing nearly 3 tonnes. It stood about 1.8 meters (5.9 feet) tall. Styracosaurus possessed four short legs and a bulky body. Its tail was rather short. The skull had a beak and shearing cheek teeth arranged in continuous dental batteries, suggesting that the animal sliced up plants. Like other ceratopsians, this dinosaur may have been a herd animal, travelling in large groups, as suggested by bonebeds.

Named by Lawrence Lambe in 1913, Styracosaurus is a member of the Centrosaurinae. One species, S. albertensis, is currently assigned to Styracosaurus. Another species, S. ovatus, named in 1930 by Charles Gilmore was reassigned to a new genus, Rubeosaurus, by Andrew McDonald and Jack Horner in 2010.

Pachycephalosaurus (/ˌpækɪˌsɛfələˈsɔːrəs/; meaning "thick-headed lizard," from Greek pachys-/παχύς- "thick", kephale/κεφαλή "head" and sauros/σαῦρος "lizard") is a genus of pachycephalosaurid dinosaurs. The type species, P. wyomingensis, is the only known species. It lived during the Late Cretaceous Period (Maastrichtian stage) of what is now North America. Remains have been excavated in Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming and Alberta. It was a herbivorous creature which is primarily known from a single skull and a few extremely thick skull roofs, though more complete fossils have been found in recent years. Pachycephalosaurus was one of the last non-avian dinosaurs before the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event. Another dinosaur, Tylosteus of western North America, has been synonymized with Pachycephalosaurus, as have the genera Stygimoloch and Dracorex in recent studies.

Like other pachycephalosaurids, Pachycephalosaurus was a bipedal herbivore with an extremely thick skull roof. It possessed long hindlimbs and small forelimbs. Pachycephalosaurus is the largest-known pachycephalosaur. The thick skull domes of Pachycephalosaurus and related genera gave rise to the hypothesis that pachycephalosaurs used their skulls in intra-species combat. This hypothesis has been disputed in recent years.

Rarity: CRYSTAL STYLE NINJA ART: PLATEOSAURUS!

Rarity fired a wave of crystal and it formed into the protosauropod from 214 million years ago: Plateosaurus!

---

Plateosaurus (probably meaning "broad lizard", often mistranslated as "flat lizard") is a genus of plateosaurid dinosaur that lived during the Late Triassic period, around 214 to 204 million years ago, in what is now Central and Northern Europe and Greenland, North America. Plateosaurus is a basal (early) sauropodomorph dinosaur, a so-called "prosauropod". As of 2011, two species are recognised: the type species P. engelhardti from the late Norian and Rhaetian, and the slightly earlier P. gracilis from the lower Norian. However, others have been assigned in the past, and there is no broad consensus on the species taxonomy of plateosaurid dinosaurs. Similarly, there are a plethora of synonyms (invalid duplicate names) at the genus level.

Discovered in 1834 by Johann Friedrich Engelhardt and described three years later by Hermann von Meyer, Plateosaurus was the fifth named dinosaur genus that is still considered valid. Although it had been described before Richard Owen formally named Dinosauria in 1842, it was not one of the three genera used by Owen to define the group, because at the time, it was poorly known and difficult to identify as a dinosaur. It is now among the dinosaurs best known to science: over 100 skeletons have been found, some of them nearly complete. The abundance of its fossils in Swabia, Germany, has led to the nickname Schwäbischer Lindwurm (Swabian lindworm).

Plateosaurus was a bipedal herbivore with a small skull on a long, flexible neck, sharp but plump plant-crushing teeth, powerful hind limbs, short but muscular arms and grasping hands with large claws on three fingers, possibly used for defence and feeding. Unusually for a dinosaur, Plateosaurus showed strong developmental plasticity: instead of having a fairly uniform adult size, fully grown individuals were between 4.8 and 10 metres (16 and 33 ft) long and weighed between 600 and 4,000 kilograms (1,300 and 8,800 lb). Commonly, the animals lived for at least 12 to 20 years, but the maximum life span is not known.

Despite the great quantity and excellent quality of the fossil material, Plateosaurus was for a long time one of the most misunderstood dinosaurs. Some researchers proposed theories that were later shown to conflict with geological and palaeontological evidence, but have become the paradigm of public opinion. Since 1980 the taxonomy (relationships), taphonomy (how the animals became embedded and fossilised), biomechanics (how their skeletons worked), and palaeobiology (life circumstances) of Plateosaurus have been re-studied in detail, altering the interpretation of the animal's biology, posture and behaviour.

Kentrosaurus (/ˌkɛntroʊˈsɔːrəs/ KEN-tro-SAWR-əs) is a genus of stegosaurian dinosaur from the Late Jurassic of Tanzania. The type species is K. aethiopicus, named and described by German palaeontologist Edwin Hennig in 1915. Often thought to be a "primitive" member of the Stegosauria, several recent cladistic analyses find it as more derived than many other stegosaurs, and a close relative of Stegosaurus from the North American Morrison Formation within the Stegosauridae.

Fossils of K. aethiopicus have been found only in the Tendaguru Formation, dated to the late Kimmeridgian and early Tithonian ages, about 152 million years ago. Hundreds of bones were unearthed by German expeditions to German East Africa between 1909 and 1912. Although no complete skeletons are known, the remains provided a nearly complete picture of the build of the animal.

Kentrosaurus generally measured around 4.5 metres (15 ft) in length as an adult, and weighed about one tonne (1.1 tons). It walked on all fours with straight hindlimbs. It had a small, elongated head with a beak used to bite off plant material that would be digested in a large gut. It had a, probably double, row of small plates running down its neck and back. These plates gradually merged into spikes on the hip and tail. The longest spikes were on the tail end and were used to actively defend the animal. There also was a long spike on each shoulder. The thigh bones come in two different types, suggesting that one sex was larger and more stout than the other.

Lystrosaurus (/ˌlɪstroʊˈsɔːrəs/; 'shovel lizard'; proper Greek is λίστρον lístron 'tool for leveling or smoothing, shovel, spade, hoe') was a herbivorous genus of dicynodont therapsids from the late Permian and Early Triassic epochs (around 250 million years ago). It lived in what is now Antarctica, India, China, Mongolia, European Russia and South Africa. Four to six species are currently recognized, although from the 1930s to 1970s the number of species was thought to be much higher. They ranged in size from that of a small dog to 2.5 meters long.

Being a dicynodont, Lystrosaurus had only two teeth (a pair of tusk-like canines), and is thought to have had a horny beak that was used for biting off pieces of vegetation. Lystrosaurus was a heavily built, herbivorous animal, approximately the size of a pig. The structure of its shoulders and hip joints suggests that Lystrosaurus moved with a semi-sprawling gait. The forelimbs were even more robust than the hindlimbs, and the animal is thought to have been a powerful digger that nested in burrows.

Lystrosaurus survived the Permian-Triassic extinction, 252 million years ago. In the Early Triassic, they were by far the most common terrestrial vertebrates, accounting for as many as 95% of the total individuals in some fossil beds. Researchers have offered various hypotheses for why Lystrosaurus survived the extinction event and prospered in the early Triassic.

Kitten: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: MACRAUCHENIA!

Kitten fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ancestor of the llama from 7 million years ago: Macrauchenia!

Macrauchenia ("long llama", based on the now superseded Latin term for llamas, Auchenia, from Greek "big neck") was a large, long-necked and long-limbed, three-toed native South American mammal in the order Litopterna. The genus gives its name to its family, the Macraucheniidae or "robust litopterns". Like other litopterns, it is not closely related to any living mammal, being most closely related to the group containing horses, rhinos and tapirs (the Perissodactyla), from which litopterns diverged approximately 66 million years ago. The oldest fossils in the genus date to the late Miocene, around seven million years ago, and M. patachonica disappears from the fossil record during the late Pleistocene, around 20,000-10,000 years ago. M. patachonica is one of the last and best known member of the family and is known primarily from the Luján Formation in Argentina, but is known from localities across southern South America. Another genus of macraucheniid Xenorhinotherium was present in northeast Brazil and Venezuela during the Late Pleistocene. The type specimen was discovered by Charles Darwin during the voyage of the Beagle. In life, Macrauchenia may have resembled a humpless camel, though the two taxa are not closely related. It fed on plants in a variety of environments across what is now South America. Among the species described, M. patachonica and M. ullomensis are considered valid; M. boliviensis is considered a nomen dubium; and M. antiqua (or M. antiquus) has been moved to the genus Promacrauchenia.

Tuddrussel: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: ALBERTOSAURUS!

Tuddrussel fired a wave of earth and it formed into the theropod from 71 million years ago: Albertosaurus!

Albertosaurus (/ælˌbɜːrtəˈsɔːrəs/; meaning "Alberta lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid theropod dinosaurs that lived in western North America during the Late Cretaceous Period, about 70 million years ago. The type species, A. sarcophagus, was apparently restricted in range to the modern-day Canadian province of Alberta, after which the genus is named, although an indeterminate species ("cf. Albertosaurus sp.") has been discovered in the Corral de Enmedio and Packard Formations in Mexico. Scientists disagree on the content of the genus, with some recognizing Gorgosaurus libratus as a second species.

As a tyrannosaurid, Albertosaurus was a bipedal predator with tiny, two-fingered hands and a massive head that had dozens of large, sharp teeth. It may have been at the top of the food chain in its local ecosystem. While Albertosaurus was large for a theropod, it was much smaller than its larger and more famous relative Tyrannosaurus rex, growing 9 to 10 m (30 to 33 ft) and possibly weighing 2.5 tonnes (2.8 short tons) or less.

Since the first discovery in 1884, fossils of more than 30 individuals have been recovered, providing scientists with a more detailed knowledge of Albertosaurus anatomy than is available for most other tyrannosaurids. The discovery of 26 individuals at one site provides evidence of pack behaviour and allows studies of ontogeny and population biology, which are impossible with lesser-known dinosaurs.

Edmontosaurus (/ɛdˌmɒntəˈsɔːrəs/ ed-MON-tə-SAWR-əs) (meaning "lizard from Edmonton") is a genus of hadrosaurid (duck-billed) dinosaur. It contains two known species: Edmontosaurus regalis and Edmontosaurus annectens. Fossils of E. regalis have been found in rocks of western North America that date from the late Campanian stage of the Cretaceous Period 73 million years ago, while those of E. annectens were found in the same geographic region but in rocks dated to the end of the Maastrichtian stage of the Cretaceous, 66 million years ago. Edmontosaurus was one of the last non-avian dinosaurs, and lived alongside dinosaurs like Triceratops, Tyrannosaurus, Albertosaurus and Pachycephalosaurus shortly before the Cretaceous-Paleogene extinction event.

Edmontosaurus included some of the largest hadrosaurid species, measuring up to 12 metres (39 ft) long and weighing around 4.0 metric tons (4.4 short tons). Evidence does exist in the form of two fossilized specimens housed at the Museum of the Rockies for an even greater maximum size of 15 m (49 ft) and weighing 9.07 metric tons (10.00 short tons) for Edmontosaurus annectens. Several well-preserved specimens are known that include not only bones, but in some cases extensive skin impressions and possible gut contents. It is classified as a genus of saurolophine (or hadrosaurine) hadrosaurid, a member of the group of hadrosaurids which lacked large, hollow crests, instead having smaller solid crests or fleshy combs.

The first fossils named Edmontosaurus were discovered in southern Alberta (named after Edmonton, the capital city), in the Horseshoe Canyon Formation (formerly called the lower Edmonton Formation). The type species, E. regalis, was named by Lawrence Lambe in 1917, although several other species that are now classified in Edmontosaurus were named earlier. The best known of these is E. annectens, named by Othniel Charles Marsh in 1892; originally as a species of Claosaurus, known for many years as a species of Trachodon, and later as Anatosaurus annectens. Anatosaurus and Anatotitan are now generally regarded as synonyms of Edmontosaurus.

Edmontosaurus was widely distributed across western North America. The distribution of Edmontosaurus fossils suggests that it preferred coasts and coastal plains. It was a herbivore that could move on both two legs and four. Because it is known from several bone beds, Edmontosaurus is thought to have lived in groups, and may have been migratory as well. The wealth of fossils has allowed researchers to study its paleobiology in detail, including its brain, how it may have fed, and its injuries and pathologies, such as evidence for tyrannosaur attacks on a few edmontosaur specimens.

Skipper: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DICYNODON!

Skipper fired a wave of earth and it formed into the dicynodont therapsid from 253.8 to 251 million years ago: Dicynodon!

---

Dicynodon ("two dog-teeth") is a genus of dicynodont therapsid that flourished during the Upper Permian period. Like all dicynodonts, it was herbivorous. This animal was toothless, except for prominent tusks, hence the name. It probably cropped vegetation with a horny beak, much like a tortoise, while the tusks may have been used for digging up roots and tubers.

Many species of Dicynodon have been named, and the genus is considered a wastebasket taxon. A 2011 study of the genus found most of the species to represent a paraphyletic grouping, with the only valid members of Dicynodon being D. lacerticeps and D. huenei. A 2019 study named a new species D. angielczyki, but simultaneously transferred D. huenei to the genus Daptocephalus.

Placerias (meaning 'broad body') is an extinct genus of dicynodonts that lived during the late Carnian age of the Triassic Period (221-216 million years ago). Placerias belongs to a group of dicynodonts called Kannemeyeriiformes, which was the last known group of dicynodonts before dicynodonts became extinct at the end of the Triassic.

Dinodontosaurus (meaning "terrible-toothed lizard") is a genus of dicynodont therapsid. It was one of the largest herbivores of the Triassic (about 2.4 metres (7.9 ft) long and weighing a few hundred pounds) and had a beak corneum. It lived in the Middle Triassic but disappeared in the Upper Triassic.

Private: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DIICTODON!

Private fired a wave of earth and it formed into the dicynodont from 259.8 million years ago: Diictodon!

Diictodon was a genus of pylaecephalid dicynodont. These mammal-like synapsids lived during the Late Permian period, approximately 255 million years ago. Fossils have been found in the Cistecephalus Assemblage Zone of the Madumabisa Mudstone of the Luangwa Basin in Zambia and the Tropidostoma Assemblage Zone of the Teekloof Formation, Tapinocephalus Assemblage Zone of the Abrahamskraal Formation, Dicynodon Assemblage Zone of the Balfour Formation, Cistecephalus Assemblage Zone of the Middleton or Balfour Formation of South Africa and the Guodikeng Formation of China. Roughly half of all Permian vertebrate specimens found in South Africa are those of Diictodon. This small herbivorous animal was one of the most successful synapsids in the Permian period.

Ischigualastia is an extinct genus of dicynodonts (a group of synapsids), that lived during the Carnian age of the Late Triassic Period. The genus was found in and named after the Ischigualasto Formation (Cancha de Bochas Member) of the Ischigualasto-Villa Unión Basin in northwestern Argentina. ---

Eoraptor (/ˈiːoʊˌræptər/) was one of the earliest-known dinosaurs, living approximately 231 to 228 million years ago, during the Late Triassic in Western Gondwana, in the region that is now northwestern Argentina. It was a small, lightly-built, basal saurischian dinosaur. It is known from several well-preserved skeletons. When first described in 1993, it was considered to be the earliest or one of the earliest known dinosaurs. Eoraptor has heterodont dentition, which suggests that it was omnivorous and that the feeding strategy had evolved early on in dinosaurs.

Liberty: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: TORVOSAURUS!

Liberty fired a wave of earth and it formed into the theropod dinosaur from 158 million years ago: Torvosaurus!

---

Torvosaurus (/ˌtɔːrvoʊˈsɔːrəs/) is a genus of carnivorous megalosauroid theropod dinosaur that lived approximately 153 to 148 million years ago during the Late Jurassic Period (Kimmeridgian to Tithonian) in what is now Colorado and Portugal. It contains two currently recognized species, Torvosaurus tanneri and Torvosaurus gurneyi.

In 1979 the type species Torvosaurus tanneri was named: it was a large, heavily built, bipedal carnivore, that could grow to a length of about 10 m (33 ft). T. tanneri was among the largest carnivores of its time, together with Epanterias and Saurophaganax (which could be both synonyms of Allosaurus). Specimens referred to Torvosaurus gurneyi were initially claimed to be up to twelve metres long, but later shown to be smaller. Based on bone morphology Torvosaurus is thought to have had short but very powerful arms.

Lyra: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: THRINAXODON!

Lyra fired a wave of earth and it formed into the cynodont from 251 million years ago: Thrinaxodon!

---

Thrinaxodon is an extinct genus of cynodonts, most commonly regarded by its species T. liorhinus which lived in what are now South Africa and Antarctica during the Early Triassic. Thrinaxodon lived just after the Permian-Triassic mass extinction event, its survival during the extinction may have been due to its burrowing habits.

Similar to other synapsids, Thrinaxodon adopted a semi-sprawling posture, an intermediary form between the sprawling position of pelycosaurs (not unlike current Crocodylia) and the more upright posture present in current mammals. Thrinaxodon is prevalent in the fossil record in part because it was one of the few carnivores of its time, and was of a larger size than similar cynodont carnivores.

Lee: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: CHASMOSAURUS!

Lee fired a wave of earth and it formed into the ceratopsian from 76.5 million years ago: Chasmosaurus!

---

Chasmosaurus (/ˌkæzmoʊˈsɔːrəs/ KAZ-mo-SAWR-əs) is a genus of ceratopsid dinosaur from the Upper Cretaceous Period of North America. Its name means 'opening lizard', referring to the large openings (fenestrae) in its frill (Greek chasma meaning 'opening' or 'hollow' or 'gulf' and sauros meaning 'lizard'). With a length of 4.3-4.8 metres (14.1-15.7 ft) and a weight of 1.5-2 tonnes (1.7-2.2 short tons), Chasmosaurus was a ceratopsian of average size. Like all ceratopsians, it was purely herbivorous. It was initially to be called Protorosaurus, but this name had been previously published for another animal. All specimens of Chasmosaurus were collected from the Dinosaur Park Formation of the Dinosaur Provincial Park of Alberta, Canada. C. russelli comes from the lower beds of the formation while C. belli comes from middle and upper beds.

Po: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: PROTEROSUCHUS!

Po fired a wave of water and it formed into the Permian reptile from 252 million years ago: Proterosuchus!

---

Proterosuchus is an extinct genus of archosauriform reptiles that lived during the Early Triassic. It contains three valid species: the type species P. fergusi and the referred species P. alexanderi and P. goweri. All three species lived in what is now South Africa. The genus was named in 1903 by the South African paleontologist Robert Broom. The well-known genus Chasmatosaurus is a junior synonym of Proterosuchus.

Proterosuchus was a mid-sized quadrupedal reptile with a sprawling stance that could reach a length of up to 3.5 meters (11 ft). It had a large head and distinctively hooked snout. It was a predator, which may have hunted prey such as Lystrosaurus. The lifestyle of Proterosuchus remains debated; it may have been terrestrial or it may have been a semiaquatic ambush predator similar to modern crocodiles.

Proterosuchus is one of the earliest members of the clade Archosauriformes, which also includes crocodilians, pterosaurs, and dinosaurs, including birds. It lived in the aftermath of the Permian-Triassic extinction event, the largest known mass extinction in Earth's history.

Fluttershy: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: EUCHAMBERSIA!

Fluttershy fired a wave of earth and it formed into the therapsid from 256 million years ago: Euchambersia!

---

Euchambersia is a genus of therocephalian therapsid that lived during the Late Permian, approximately 255 million years ago, in what is now South Africa. The genus contains a single species, Euchambersia mirabilis, named by paleontologist Robert Broom in 1931 from a skull missing the lower jaws; a second skull, belonging to an immature individual, was later described. It is a member of the family Akidnognathidae, which historically has also been referred by as the synonymous Euchambersiidae (named after Euchambersia).

Euchambersia was a small and short-snouted therocephalian, possessing large canines as is typical of the group. However, it is notable among therocephalians for possessing ridges on its canines and a large indentation in the side of the skull. Under the erroneous assumption that the canines are grooved instead of ridged, it has been proposed that these structures supported a venom delivery mechanism. More recently, the internal structure of the skull of Euchambersia has been used as stronger evidence in favour of the hypothesis that it was venomous; other possibilities, such as the indentation supporting some sort of sensory organ, still remain plausible.

Jimmy Neutron: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: RHAMPHORHYNCHUS!

Jimmy fired a wave of wind and it formed into the flying reptiles from 150.8 million years ago: Rhamphorhynchus!

---

Rhamphorhynchus (/ˌræmfəˈrɪŋkəs/, "beak snout") is a genus of long-tailed pterosaurs in the Jurassic period. Less specialized than contemporary, short-tailed pterodactyloid pterosaurs such as Pterodactylus, it had a long tail, stiffened with ligaments, which ended in a characteristic soft-tissue tail vane. The jaws of Rhamphorhynchus housed needle-like teeth, which were angled forward, with a curved, sharp, beak-like tip lacking teeth, indicating a diet mainly of fish; indeed, fish and cephalopod remains are frequently found in Rhamphorhynchus abdominal contents, as well as in their coprolites.

Although fragmentary fossil remains possibly belonging to Rhamphorhynchus have been found in England, Tanzania, and Spain, the best preserved specimens come from the Solnhofen limestone of Bavaria, Germany. Many of these fossils preserve not only the bones but impressions of soft tissues, such as wing membranes. Scattered teeth believed to belong to Rhamphorhynchus have been found in Portugal as well.

Kick Buttowski: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: SEYMOURIA!

Kick fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Permian seymouriamorph from 275 million years ago: Seymouria!

Seymouria is an extinct genus of seymouriamorph from the Early Permian of North America and Europe. Although they were amphibians (in a biological sense), Seymouria were well-adapted to life on land, with many reptilian features-so many, in fact, that Seymouria was first thought to be a primitive reptile. It is primarily known from two species, Seymouria baylorensis and Seymouria sanjuanensis. The type species, S. baylorensis, is more robust and specialized, though its fossils have only been found in Texas. On the other hand, Seymouria sanjuanensis is more abundant and widespread. This smaller species is known from multiple well-preserved fossils, including a block of six skeletons found in the Cutler Formation of New Mexico, and a pair of fully grown skeletons from the Tambach Formation of Germany, which were fossilized lying next to each other.

For the first half of the 20th century, Seymouria was considered one of the oldest and most "primitive" known reptiles. Paleontologists noted how the general body shape resembled that of early reptiles such as captorhinids, and that certain adaptations of the limbs, hip, and skull were also similar to that of early reptiles, rather than any species of modern or extinct amphibians known at the time. The strongly-built limbs and backbone also supported the idea that Seymouria was primarily terrestrial, spending very little time in the water. However, in the 1950s, fossilized tadpoles were discovered in Discosauriscus, which was a close relative of Seymouria in the group Seymouriamorpha. This shows that seymouriamorphs (including Seymouria) had a larval stage which lived in the water, therefore making Seymouria not a true reptile, but rather an amphibian which was closely related to reptiles. Though no longer considered the most primitive reptile, Seymouria is still an important transitional fossil documenting the acquisition of reptile-like skeletal features prior to the evolution of the amniotic egg, which characterizes amniotes (reptiles, mammals, and birds).

Kendall Perkins: WATER STYLE NINJA ART: HYNERPETON!

Kendall fired a wave of water and it formed into the Devonian creature from 365 million years ago: Hynerpeton!

---

Hynerpeton (/haɪˈnɜːrpətɒn/; from Hyner, Pennsylvania and Ancient Greek ἑρπετόν herpetón, "creeping animal," meaning "creeping animal from Hyner") is an extinct genus of early four-limbed vertebrate that lived in the rivers and ponds of Pennsylvania during the Late Devonian period, around 365 to 363 million years ago. The only known species of Hynerpeton is H. bassetti, named after the describer's grandfather, city planner Edward Bassett. Hynerpeton is known for being the first Devonian four-limbed vertebrate discovered in the United States, as well as possibly being one of the first to have lost internal (fish-like) gills.

This genus is known from few remains discovered at the Red Hill fossil site in Hyner, Pennsylvania. The most notable fossil is a large endochondral shoulder girdle consisting of the cleithrum, scapula, and coracoid (but not the interclavicle and clavicles), all connected into one shoulder bone. The inner surface of this shoulder bone possesses an array of depressions believed to have been attachment points for a unique set of powerful muscles around the chest. This may have given Hynerpeton improved mobility and weight-bearing abilities compared to other Devonian limbed vertebrates such as Ichthyostega and Acanthostega. The cleithrum (upper blade of the shoulder) is fused to the scapulocoracoid (lower plate of the shoulder, in front of the shoulder socket), unlike in most tetrapods, but the shoulder girdle is independent of the skull, unlike in most fish.

Early four-limbed vertebrates are sometimes referred to as tetrapods (using a trait-based definition of the term), although animals like Hynerpeton, Ichthyostega, and Acanthostega are placed outside the crown group Tetrapoda by the vast majority of paleontologists. From a cladistic (relations-based) point of view, a more accurate term would be "stem-tetrapod" or "stegocephalian", indicating that they were part of the lineage of animals that would lead to true tetrapods such as modern amphibians (Lissamphibia), reptiles, mammals, and birds.

Hynerpeton hails from the Red Hill fossil site, which, during the Late Devonian, was a warm floodplain inhabited by a diverse ecosystem of aquatic fish and terrestrial invertebrates. Hynerpeton was one of several genera of four-limbed vertebrates known from the site, although it was the first to be discovered. It has been theorized that animals like Hynerpeton were able to use their amphibious lifestyle to find shallow pools where they could spawn, isolated from predatory fish which inhabited the deeper rivers.

Juandissimo fired a wave of water and it formed into the Devonian Sarcopterygian from 375 million years ago: Tiktaalik!

Tiktaalik (/tɪkˈtɑːlɪk/; Inuktitut ᑎᒃᑖᓕᒃ [tiktaːlik]) is a monospecific genus of extinct sarcopterygian (lobe-finned fish) from the Late Devonian Period, about 375 Mya (million years ago), having many features akin to those of tetrapods (four-legged animals).

Unearthed in Arctic Canada, Tiktaalik is technically a fish, complete with scales and gills - but it has the flattened head of a crocodile and unusual fins. Its fins have thin ray bones for paddling like most fish, but they also have sturdy interior bones that would have allowed Tiktaalik to prop itself up in shallow water and use its limbs for support as most four-legged animals do. Those fins and a suite of other characteristics set Tiktaalik apart as something special; it has a combination of features that show the evolutionary transition between swimming fish and their descendants, the four-legged vertebrates - a clade which includes amphibians, reptiles, birds and mammals.

It and similar animals may possibly be the common ancestors of the broad swath of all vertebrate terrestrial fauna: amphibians, reptiles, birds, and mammals.

The first well-preserved Tiktaalik fossils were found in 2004 on Ellesmere Island in Nunavut, Canada.

Littlefoot fired a wave of water and it formed into the Jurassic Shark from 260 to 66 million years ago: Hybodus!

Hybodus ("humped tooth") is an extinct genus of Chondrichthyans. First appearing towards the end of the Permian period, and disappearing during the Late Cretaceous, during the Triassic, Jurassic, and Cretaceous periods the hybodonts were especially successful and could be found in shallow seas across the world. For reasons that are not fully understood, the hybodonts became extinct near the end of the Late Cretaceous period.

Patrick: OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: LIVYATAN!

Patrick fired a wave of water and it formed into the first ancestral sperm whale from 9 million years ago: Livyatan!

Livyatan is an extinct genus of sperm whale containing one species: L. melvillei. The genus name was inspired by the biblical sea monster Leviathan, and the species name by Herman Melville, the author of the famous book Moby-Dick about a white bull sperm whale. It is mainly known from the Pisco Formation of Peru during the Tortonian stage of the Miocene epoch, about 9.9-8.9 million years ago (mya); however, isolated teeth from other locations such as Chile, Argentina, South Africa, and Australia implies that either it or a close relative survived into the Pliocene, around 5 mya, and was present throughout the Southern Hemisphere. It was a member of a group of hyper-predatory macroraptorial sperm whales (or "raptorial sperm whales") and was likely an apex predator, preying on whales, seals, and so forth. Characteristic of raptorial sperm whales, Livyatan had functional, enamel-coated teeth on the upper and lower jaws, as well as several adaptations for hunting large prey.

Livyatan's total length has been estimated to be about 13.5-17.5 m (44-57 ft), similar to the modern sperm whale (Physeter macrocephalus), making it one of the largest predators to have ever existed. The teeth of Livyatan measured 36.2 cm (1.2 ft), and are the largest biting teeth of any known animal, excluding tusks. It is distinguished from the other raptorial sperm whales by the basin on the skull, and how it spans the entire length of the snout. The spermaceti organ, contained in that basin, is thought to have been used in echolocation and communication, or for ramming prey and other sperm whales. The whale may have interacted with the large extinct shark megalodon (Carcharocles megalodon), competing with it for a similar food source. Its extinction was likely caused by a cooling event at the end of the Miocene which resulted in a drop in food populations. The formation where the whale has been found has also preserved a large assemblage of marine life, such as sharks and marine mammals.

Ornitholestes (meaning "bird robber") is a small theropod dinosaur of the late Jurassic (Brushy Basin Member of the Morrison Formation, middle Kimmeridgian age, about 154 million years ago) of Western Laurasia (the area that was to become North America).

To date, Ornitholestes is known only from a single partial skeleton with a badly crushed skull found at the Bone Cabin Quarry near Medicine Bow, Wyoming, in 1900. It was described by Henry Fairfield Osborn in 1903. An incomplete hand was later attributed to Ornitholestes, although it now appears to belong to Tanycolagreus. The type (and only known) species is O. hermanni. The specific name honors the American Museum of Natural History preparator Adam Hermann.

Fuzzy fired a wave of wood and leaves and it formed into the neornithischian dinosaur from 155 million years ago: Nanosaurus A.K.A. Othnielia!

Nanosaurus ("small or dwarf lizard") is the name given to a genus of neornithischian dinosaur that lived about 155 to 148 million years ago, during the Late Jurassic-age. Its fossils are known from the Morrison Formation of the south-western United States. The type and only species, Nanosaurus agilis, was described and named by Othniel Charles Marsh in 1877. The taxon has a complicated taxonomic history, largely the work of Marsh and Peter M. Galton, involving the genera Laosaurus, Hallopus, Drinker, Othnielia, and Othnielosaurus, the latter three now being considered to be synonyms of Nanosaurus. It had historically been classified as a hypsilophodont or fabrosaur, types of generalized small bipedal herbivore, but more recent research has abandoned these groupings as paraphyletic and Nanosaurus is today considered a basal member of Neornithischia.

Dakotaraptor is a potentially chimaeric genus of large dromaeosaurid theropod dinosaur that lived in North America during the Late Cretaceous period. The remains have been found in the Maastrichtian stage of the Hell Creek Formation, dated to the very end of the Mesozoic era, making Dakotaraptor one of the last surviving dromaeosaurids. The remains of D. steini were discovered in a multi-species bonebed. Elements of the holotype and referred specimens were later found to belong to trionychid turtles, and further analysis of potential non-dromaeosaurid affinities of the holotype and referred material have not yet been conducted. Phylogenetic analyses of D. steini place it in a variety of positions in the Dromaeosauridae.

Goku: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DEINONYCHUS!

Goku fired a wave of earth and it formed into the deadly pack-hunting theropods from 115 million years ago: Deinonychus!

---

Deinonychus (/daɪˈnɒnɪkəs/ dy-NON-i-kəs; from Greek: δεινός deinós, 'terrible' and ὄνυξ ónux, genitive ὄνυχος ónuchos 'claw') is a genus of dromaeosaurid theropod dinosaur with one described species, Deinonychus antirrhopus. This species, which could grow up to 3.4 meters (11 ft) long, lived during the early Cretaceous Period, about 115-108 million years ago (from the mid-Aptian to early Albian stages). Fossils have been recovered from the U.S. states of Montana, Utah, Wyoming, and Oklahoma, in rocks of the Cloverly Formation, Cedar Mountain Formation and Antlers Formation, though teeth that may belong to Deinonychus have been found much farther east in Maryland.

Paleontologist John Ostrom's study of Deinonychus in the late 1960s revolutionized the way scientists thought about dinosaurs, leading to the "dinosaur renaissance" and igniting the debate on whether dinosaurs were warm-blooded or cold-blooded. Before this, the popular conception of dinosaurs had been one of plodding, reptilian giants. Ostrom noted the small body, sleek, horizontal posture, ratite-like spine, and especially the enlarged raptorial claws on the feet, which suggested an active, agile predator.

"Terrible claw" refers to the unusually large, sickle-shaped talon on the second toe of each hind foot. The fossil YPM 5205 preserves a large, strongly curved ungual. In life, archosaurs have a horny sheath over this bone, which extends the length. Ostrom looked at crocodile and bird claws and reconstructed the claw for YPM 5205 as over 120 millimetres (4.7 in) long. The species name antirrhopus means "counter balance", which refers to Ostrom's idea about the function of the tail. As in other dromaeosaurids, the tail vertebrae have a series of ossified tendons and super-elongated bone processes. These features seemed to make the tail into a stiff counterbalance, but a fossil of the very closely related Velociraptor mongoliensis (IGM 100/986) has an articulated tail skeleton that is curved laterally in a long S-shape. This suggests that, in life, the tail could bend to the sides with a high degree of flexibility. In both the Cloverly and Antlers formations, Deinonychus remains have been found closely associated with those of the ornithopod Tenontosaurus. Teeth discovered associated with Tenontosaurus specimens imply they were hunted, or at least scavenged upon, by Deinonychus.

Daspletosaurus (/dæsˌpliːtəˈsɔːrəs/ das-PLEET-o-SAWR-əs; meaning "frightful lizard") is a genus of tyrannosaurid dinosaur that lived in western North America between about 77 and 74 million years ago, during the Late Cretaceous Period. The genus Daspletosaurus contains two species. Fossils of the earlier type species, D. torosus, have been found in Alberta, while fossils of the later second species, D. horneri, have been found only in Montana. A possible third species, also from Alberta, awaits formal identification. Daspletosaurus is closely related to the much larger and more recent tyrannosaurid Tyrannosaurus rex. Like most tyrannosaurids, Daspletosaurus was a multi-tonne bipedal predator equipped with dozens of large, sharp teeth. Daspletosaurus had the small forelimbs typical of tyrannosaurids, although they were proportionately longer than in other genera.

As an apex predator, Daspletosaurus was at the top of the food chain, probably preying on large dinosaurs like the ceratopsid Centrosaurus and the hadrosaur Hypacrosaurus. In some areas, Daspletosaurus coexisted with another tyrannosaurid, Gorgosaurus, though there is some evidence of niche differentiation between the two. While Daspletosaurus fossils are rarer than other tyrannosaurids', the available specimens allow some analysis of the biology of these animals, including social behavior, diet and life history.

Sinoceratops /ˌsaɪnoʊ'sɛrətɒps/ is an extinct genus of ceratopsian dinosaur that lived approximately 73 million years ago during the latter part of the Cretaceous Period in what is now Shandong province in China. It was named in 2010 by Xu Xing et al. for three skulls from Zhucheng, China. The name of its type species Sinoceratops zhuchengensis means "Chinese horned face from Zhucheng", after the location of its discovery.

Sinoceratops was a medium-sized, averagely-built, ground-dwelling, quadrupedal herbivore. It could grow up to an estimated 6 m (19.7 ft) length and 2 metres (6.6 ft) height, and weigh up to 2 tonnes (2.0 long tons; 2.2 short tons). It was the first ceratopsid dinosaur discovered in China, and the only ceratopsid known from Asia. All other centrosaurines, and all chasmosaurines, are known from fossils discovered in North America, except for possibly Turanoceratops. Sinoceratops is also significant because it is one of the largest known centrosaurines, and is much larger than any other known basal members of this group.

Sinoceratops was discovered in the Xingezhuang Formation, which was deposited during the late Cretaceous. It lived alongside leptoceratopsids, saurolophines, and tyrannosaurines. The most common creature in the formation was Shantungosaurus, to which most of the material has been assigned. The animals living alongside Sinoceratops and Shantungosaurus were Zhuchengceratops, Zhuchengtitan, and Zhuchengtyrannus.

Me: WOLF FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: AMPHICOELIAS!

I fired a blast of blue fire and it formed into one of the largest sauropod dinosaurs ever discovered from 150 million years ago: Amphicoelias!

---

Amphicoelias (/ˌæmfɪˈsiːliəs/, meaning "biconcave", from the Greek ἀμφὶ, amphi: "on both sides", and κοῖλος, koilos: "hollow, concave") is a genus of herbivorous sauropod dinosaur that lived approximately 150 million years ago during the Tithonian (Late Jurassic Period) of what is now Colorado, United States. An herbivore, Amphicoelias was moderately sized at about 25 m (82 ft) long-roughly the same length as Diplodocus, to which it was related. Its hindlimbs were very long and thin, and its forelimbs were proportionally longer than in relatives.

The namesake fossil of the type species Amphicoelias altus, American Museum of Natural History 5764, is uncertain in included material. When described by Edward Drinker Cope shortly after its discovery in 1877, Amphicoelias was noted to include many back vertebrae, a single pubis, and a femur. However, after purchase and cataloging of the material by the AMNH, Henry Fairfield Osborn and Charles Mook described that the specimen had only two vertebrae, a pubis, femur, tooth, scapula, coracoid, ulna and a second femur. The additional material, not mentioned by Cope, was found close in proximity to the holotype and was similar to Diplodocus, a relative of Amphicoelias. Their assignment was questioned by subsequent authors Emanuel Tschopp et al. in an analysis of Diplodocidae.

During the description of Amphicoelias altus in 1877, Cope additionally named A. latus, for a femur and tail vertebrae. Following its description, Osborn and Mook in 1921 reidentified the material as a specimen of Camarasaurus, an assignment followed by other authors who reviewed the material. A year later 1878, Cope named the third species of Amphicoelias, A. fragillimus for a gigantic dorsal vertebra that was subsequently lost. Measuring approximately 2.7 m (8.9 ft) if reconstructed based on Diplodocus, early estimates for the length of the animal in life were between 40 and 60 m (130 and 200 ft) long. Due to the incomplete nature, such lengths-the longest of any known dinosaur and sauropod-were largely ignored. In 2018, Kenneth Carpenter renamed Amphicoelias fragillimus as the new genus Maraapunisaurus, and reclassified it from Diplodocidae to Rebbachisauridae.

Sonic: WIND STYLE NINJA ART: EUDIMORPHODON!

Sonic fired a wave of wind and it formed into the flying reptile from Italy that lived 210 million years ago: Eudimorphodon!

---

Eudimorphodon was a pterosaur that was discovered in 1973 by Mario Pandolfi in the town of Cene, Italy and described the same year by Rocco Zambelli. The nearly complete skeleton was retrieved from shale deposited during the Late Triassic (mid to late Norian stage), making Eudimorphodon one of the oldest pterosaurs known. It had a wingspan of about 100 centimetres (3.3 ft) and at the end of its long bony tail may have been a diamond-shaped flap like in the later Rhamphorhynchus. If so, the flap may have helped it steer while maneuvering in the air. Eudimorphodon is known from several skeletons, including juvenile specimens.

---

Heilongjiangosaurus" (meaning "Heilongjiang lizard") is the informal name given to an as-yet undescribed genus of duckbilled dinosaur from the Late Cretaceous. It possibly was a lambeosaurine, and may in fact be the same animal as Charonosaurus. The fossils were found in Maastrichtian-age rocks in Heilongjiang, China. As a nomen nudum, it is unclear what material it was intended to be based on, but might be connected to the nomen nudum "Mandschurosaurus" jiainensis, informally named in a 1983 publication.

The "type species" is "H. jiayinensis", and it was coined in 2001 in a faunal list by Li and Jin.

Ojoceratops ( meaning "Ojo Alamo horned face") is a genus of ceratopsian dinosaur which lived in what is now New Mexico, United States. Ojoceratops fossils have been recovered from strata of the Ojo Alamo Formation (Naashoibito Member), dating to the late Cretaceous period (probably Maastrichtian age, 68 million years ago). The type species is Ojoceratops fowleri. It is very similar to its close relative Triceratops, though it is from an earlier time period and has a more squared-off frill. Nick Longrich, in 2011, noted that the squared-off frill is also found in some true Triceratops specimens and that Ojoceratops is probably a junior synonym of Triceratops, while Holtz (2010) noted that it is probably ancestral to Triceratops and possibly synonymous with the contemporary Eotriceratops.

Ducky: EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: GRYPOSAURUS!

Ducky fired a wave of earth and it formed into the hadrosaur from 80 million years ago: Gryposaurus!

Gryposaurus (meaning "hooked-nosed (Greek grypos) lizard"; sometimes incorrectly translated as "griffin (Latin gryphus) lizard") was a genus of duckbilled dinosaur that lived about 80 to 75 million years ago, in the Late Cretaceous (late Santonian to late Campanian stages) of North America. Named species of Gryposaurus are known from the Dinosaur Park Formation in Alberta, Canada, and two formations in the United States: the Lower Two Medicine Formation in Montana and the Kaiparowits Formation of Utah. A possible additional species may extend the temporal range of the genus to 66 million years ago.

Gryposaurus is similar to Kritosaurus, and for many years the two were thought to be synonyms. It is known from numerous skulls, some skeletons, and even some skin impressions that show it to have had pyramidal scales projecting along the midline of the back. It is most easily distinguished from other duckbills by its narrow arching nasal hump, sometimes described as similar to a "Roman nose," and which may have been used for species or sexual identification, and/or combat with individuals of the same species. A large bipedal/quadrupedal herbivore around 9 meters (30 feet) long, it may have preferred river settings.

Tropeognathus (meaning "keel jaw") is a genus of large pterosaurs from the late Early Cretaceous of South America. This genus is considered to be a member of the Ornithocheiridae, a diverse group of pterosaurs known for their keel-tipped snouts and large size. Tropeognathus is regarded as the largest pterosaur found in the Southern Hemisphere, only rivaled by the huge azhdarchids. The type and only species is Tropeognathus mesembrinus. Fossil remains of Tropeognathus have been recovered from the Romualdo Formation, which is a Lagerstätte located in the Santana Group of the Araripe Basin in northeastern Brazil.

Spike: (Through translator) EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: DRAVIDOSAURUS!

Spike fired a wave of earth and it formed into the Dravidanidu dinosaur from 90 million years ago: Dravidosaurus!

Dravidosaurus (meaning "Dravidanadu lizard", Dravidanadu being a region in the southern part of India where the remains were discovered) is a controversial genus of prehistoric reptile. It was first described as the last surviving stegosaurian, the group of "plated" dinosaurs. With an estimated length of three metres (10 ft), it would have also been the smallest member of the group. More recent studies, however, have shown that the bones actually belonged to a plesiosaurian marine reptile, and that none of the remains are demonstrably dinosaurian in origin.

Dravidosaurus lived in the Late Cretaceous period (Coniacian stage) of what is now India. It is only known from disassociated remains that were originally described as comprising a partial skull, a tooth, a sacrum, an ilium, an ischium, a dermal plate, and a spike. The badly weathered remains were discovered in marine deposits near Ariyalur in the state of Tamil Nadu in South India. They were in 1979 named by P.M. Yadagiri and Krishnan Ayyasami as the type species Dravidosaurus blanfordi, the specific name honouring William Thomas Blanford. The holotype partial skull is catalogued as GSI SR Pal 1, while other specimens are catalogued GSI SR Pal 2-7.

In 1991, Sankar Chatterjee visited the site and claimed, without presenting concrete morphological evidence, that Dravidosaurus was based on plesiosaurian pelvic and hindlimb elements, the species being a nomen dubium. However, this claim was rejected by Galton and Upchurch (2004), who noted that the skull, tooth and plate of Dravidosaurus are certainly not plesiosaurian as illustrated. Galton and Ayyasami (2017) reaffirmed the stegosaurian classification of Dravidosaurus, claiming the remains do not look like plesiosaurian pelvic and hindlimb elements. They announced that stegosaurian remains from the Dravidosaurus type locality are under study by one of the original describers of Dravidosaurus.

Kronosaurus (/ˌkrɒnoʊˈsɔːrəs/ KRON-o-SAWR-əs; meaning "lizard of Kronos") is an extinct genus of short-necked pliosaur. With an estimated length of 9 to 10.9 meters (30 to 36 ft), it was among the largest pliosaurs, and is named after the leader of the Greek Titans, Kronos. It lived in the Early Cretaceous period (Aptian to Late Albian). Fossil material has been recovered from the Toolebuc Formation (middle to late Albian) and Wallumbilla Formations (Aptian) of Queensland and New South Wales in Australia, and from the upper Paja Formation (late Aptian) in Boyacá, Colombia, and assigned to two species.

Brittney: PLANETARY DEVASTATION!

Planetary Devastation is a technique used through the Deva Path of the Rinnegan.

Users create a black sphere between their hands that they hurl into the sky. When the sphere is activated, it generates powerful attractive force, pulling everything in the vicinity to it until a large satellite is created; users control how large the satellite becomes. Creating a satellite apparently requires a great deal of chakra, such that Nagato, when attempting to use it through his Six Paths of Pain, must first bring the Deva Path close to his location so that he can channel his chakra to it more effectively, albeit it was done in his heavily exhausted state.

Chibaku Tensei is most often used to restrain targets, drawing them in during the satellite's creation and trapping them beneath the mounds of rubble. When used to capture tailed beasts, the resulting satellites are known as "Tailed Beast Sealing Stones" (尾獣封印の岩, Bijū Fūin no Iwa ). Only Naruto Uzumaki, by entering a near-Tailed Beast Mode, has been known to break free from one. Because of how difficult it is to escape from Chibaku Tensei, the best way to counter it is to destroy the black sphere early on in the formation process. In order to penetrate the initial layers of rubble, users should use their most powerful attacks, such as the Tailed Beast Ball or Wind Release: Rasenshuriken. Actually aiming at the black sphere is not really necessary, as all attacks will be pulled towards it.

When performed by Sasuke Uchiha, he does not use the typical black sphere, instead gathering rubble around each of his immobilised targets; this is similar to the Six Paths - Chibaku Tensei. Once the satellites are formed, Sasuke is able to move them remotely. Madara Uchiha is also shown creating multiple satellites at a time, each with its own black sphere. Rather than use the satellites to restrain targets, Madara uses them as large projectiles that he drops on his opponents.

(GIREI THEME PLAYS)

Brittney formed a black ball of gravity and it went high into the sky and it activated and we felt the ground shake violently as pieces of earth and rock and the city were being pulled up to the black sphere and it was incredible! Massive pieces of rock and earth and debris were being pulled up and they were forming into a massive sphere of rock and debris and it was getting larger and larger by the second. But then at the same time as the massive sphere of rock was forming, the skies of the planet darkened with storm clouds, mountains were crumbling and massive torrents of lava were shooting high into the sky and lightning was striking all over the place. The land was splitting and shaking apart and more. Water was being sucked up in the skies as tornadoes were forming. The sphere of rock was now as big as the planet Mars and getting bigger and bigger by the second. Then we saw Wesker floating up towards the rock as he was being pulled into to it and then he was stuck inside it.

Me: Whoa!

Nico: Unbelievable!

Naruto: No kidding.

Tayuya: Holy shit!

Me: I have a feeling I know what you're gonna do Brittney. Lets get off of this rock.

We went to the ship and we got off of the planet.

Varie: It sure was.

Shaun: You all were awesome!

Me: And we owe it all to your Zombie Apocalypse Survival Skills, Shaun. You deserve some of the credit.

Vexen: Can't argue with that.

Lana: Indeed.

Me: Yeah. Anyway Vypra what is this cool prison you have in mind for the Royal Defenders?

Vypra: You'll find it really cool.

Firefly: It's actually too hot to handle!

---

We were in a new prison.

Me: This is like one of our Space Prisons.

Vypra: But look here where it's at.

We saw Vypra point to a map and we saw that we were in a prison at the very fiery center of the Earth's Core!

Me: The Prison you all built is right in the middle of the Earth's Core!?

Luan: This prison is far too Hot to handle! (Laughs)

We all laughed!

Me: That was a good one!

Vypra: It sure was.

Me: Wow! I'm impressed that you all managed to build a prison all the way down here.

Vypra: Thank you all. Escape down here is completely impossible and look here. To get to this prison you have to go through something we call the 9 Levels of Hate.

Brittney: They are special challenges I created that are 100 times worse than anything in the fires of hell.

Me: Wow! That is genius!

Vypra: Yep. And escape from here is completely impossible. You try to get out of this place and you will be instantly incinerated into nothing in an instant.

Me: Whoa! It's 11,000˚Fahrenheit out there and it's perfect!

Nuova Shenron: It sure is. I like it.

We put the Royal Defenders in a special solitary confinement cell and then we went back home to the estate.

Nico: (To the viewers) Zombies better beware or we will come for you and make you suffer and send you all back to the great beyond.

McGee: But not Sawyer. He is a good zombie.

Nico: True.

We rested.

THE END

Paranormal Activity on Mars

At the local doctors office we were over there to have Poromon, Poliwag, Horsea and Manaphy shots.

We were in the waiting room and I was reading a book that Twilight Sparkle made. She and Starlight Glimmer wrote a book that Twilight and her friends all wrote all on friendship. It was their Friendship Journal they made in Equestria now made into an actual book.

Me: This book is amazing.

Twilight: Thanks J.D. It's my friendship journal we made.

Starlight Glimmer: It's a really cool book. I helped made it with a spell I learned while working on a manifesto.

Nico: It sure is neat.

Laney: It sure is.

Lola: I always never liked going to the doctor's office because it's all covered in germs.

Lincoln: I know.

Nico: It's not that bad.

Maria: (to Stimpy) It's nice to have you visit us, Stimpy.

Stimpy: Duh oh Joy! I'm honored to be with you all too.

Crag: It's a pleasure to have one of the fellow creations of our creator John Kricfalusi with us.

Stimpy: Same here Crag.

Me: I'm sorry your creator got fired from Nickelodeon studios Stimpy.

Lana: Yeah you guys were very popular and really funny for years.

Eli: Since 1992.

Stimpy: We sure were and thank you guys.

Lincoln: John Kricfalusi will always be remembered in the shows history.

Stimpy: Absolutely.

But then Poromon, Horsea, Manaphy and Poliwag busted out the door.

Vegeta: (to Poromon, Manaphy, Horesa, and Poliwag) Will you stop running? This is so you 4 stay healthy!

Horsea: YOU'LL NEVER TAKE US ALIVE!

Me: AFTER THEM!

We chased after them.

Stimpy: (to Pam, Crimson, and Alice) Okay. While those 4 are running for their lives, would you three like to tell us in detail how you got gene slammed?

Alice: Sure thing Stimpy.

Pam: We were relaxing on the beach in the Maldives when it happened.

---

Crimson: (Narrating) It was about a year ago and the two of us were relaxing in the beaches of the Maldives.

Alice had a purple 1 piece swimsuit on and Pam and Crimson had hot 2 piece bikinis on and it was relaxing for them.

Crimson: But then as we were relaxing something his us in our butts.

POINK! POINK! POINK!

Alice: OUCH!

Pam: OUCH!

Crimson: OUCH!

They saw the darts in their butts.

But then they started to not feel so good and they felt themselves in excruciating pain.

Alice: (GROANING IN EXCRUCIATING PAIN!) I DON'T FEEL SO GOOD!

Pam: ME NEITHER!

Crimson: YEAH!

But then their skin colors changed.

Alice's skin turned Black.

Pam's skin turned White.

Crimson's skin turned grey.

Alice: WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US!?

They grew taller and then they turned more dragon like. Alice grew shoulder wings and a tail with a big engine like appendage and then she lost her hair and her eyes turned yellow with red sclera and she had her arms grow and her swimsuit was ripped to shreds. The same things happened to Pam except she had white wing arms and she had two flailing hair strands and her eyes turned blue and had black sclera and her bikini was shredded. Crimson grew shoulder wings and her face turned dragon-like and she grew to a tyrannosaurus-like stature and had the same kind of arms and her hair fell out and she had yellow eyes and yellow sclera and her bikini was shredded too. Alice had become the legendary Deep Black Pokemon, Zekram, Pam had become the legendary Vast White

Pokemon, Reshiram and Crimson had become the legendary Boundary Pokemon, Kyurem! They looked at themselves in a reflection in a puddle of water and then they roared in sheer shock!

FLASHBACK ENDS

Alice: That's how it happened to us.

Stimpy: Boy that is awful.

Lana: No kidding.

Lola: Yeah.

Sam Simpson: But we're so glad you're okay.

Alice: Thanks to all of you guys.

Brittney: You aren't the only one that was slammed into Pokemon though.

Carolyn Hope: Yeah we have lots of friends that were all transformed into Pokemon by those scientists in Team Rocket.

Julie Tancheno: Me and my friends were transformed into the Three Legendary Birds. I was transformed into the legendary Freeze Pokemon, Articuno.

Jessica Namiko: I was transformed into the legendary Electric Bird Pokemon, Zapdos.

Kayla Schmidt: And I was transformed into the legendary Flame Bird Pokemon, Moltres.

Sophie: Me, Leia and Mina were turned into the three legendary dragons. I was turned into the legendary Continent Pokemon, Groudon.

Leia: I was turned into the legendary Ocean Pokemon, Kyogre.

Mina: And I was turned into the legendary Sky High Pokemon, Rayquaza.

Carolyn Hope: Me and my friends were turned into the legendary Pokemon of the Space-Time Continuum. I was turned into the legendary Temporal Pokemon, Dialga.

Olivia Pensgammon: I was turned into the legendary Spatial Pokemon, Palkia.

Lanalda Ramirez: And I was turned into the legendary Renegade Pokemon, Giratina.

Melody (OC): Me and my brother Ryan were turned into the legendary Eon Pokemon, Latias & Latios.

Erica McConnell: Me and my friends were slammed with the Legendary Wolves. I was turned into the legendary Volcano Pokemon, Entei.

Amy Bascom: I was turned into the legendary Aurora Pokemon, Suicune.

Elrena Kirlian: And I was turned into the legendary Thunder Pokemon, Raikou.

Daniel Korrigan: And me and Helen here were transformed into the legendary Diving and Rainbow Pokemon, Lugia and Ho-Oh. I was a Lugia.

Helen Markovia: And I was a Ho-Oh.

Alice: Wow! So we have a lot of people that were changed into Pokemon.

Carolyn Hope: We sure do.

Lana: And we haven't encountered any people that were slammed into Xerneas, Yveltal, Zygarde, Solgaleo, Lunala, The Swords of Justice, The Alolan Land Spirits, Thundurus, Tornadus, lots of legendary Pokemon.

Lana (Pokemon): Yeah that is strange.

Mallow: But that is so cool that we have encountered over 829+

Species of Pokemon.

Varie: And the number is still growing.

Fluttershy: Wow! That's amazing that you all have the Powers of so many powerful Pokemon.

Laney: It sure is.

Lily: I am so amazed by the awesome power and wisdom of the legendary Pokemon. They have so much we can learn from.

Lincoln: They sure do.

Back at the estate we were looking for Poromon, Horsea, Poliwag and Manaphy. We looked in Nico's room.

Me: We know you're in here you four.

Nico: Found them.

They were under Nico's Bed.

Me: Come on out guys. It's not gonna hurt that bad.

Nico: Yeah I've had shots before and they don't bother me.

Poliwag: Need we remind you all that needles were how the Paradigm Brothers gene slammed most of their victims?!

Cybertron Crumplezone: That's actually a good point.

Me: I agree.

Beachcomber: If you 4 get your shots, we'll give you lollipops.

Ed: I have a good lollipop for you.

Poromon, Poliwag, Manaphy and Horsea: LOLLIPOPS!? OH BOY!

Me: Good job!

Nico: Why didn't I think of that?

We pulled out really good lollipops and gave them to them and brought them back to the clinic and we had them get their shots.

Me: See that wasn't that bad.

Poromon: You were right. It didn't hurt.

Me: Told you. And for your reward for doing good we are taking you to the favorite Catering Truck of Twilight and her friends.

Sunset Shimmer: You guys will love it. It's called X Marks the Sushi.

Homer: Ooh Sushi.

Me: How did you girls know about this truck?

Sunset Shimmer: We found a treasure map and some clues that lead to it. It lead to a discount on the sushi.

Twilight Sparkle: It's really good sushi.

Pinkie Pie: And the wasabi is great!

Me: Lets try it out.

We went and got Nori Sushi Rolls.

Lincoln: (Eating) Mmm! Really good sushi!

Me: You aren't kidding. I love the super spicy rolls.

I had fire coming out of arms.

Nico: (Laughs) Figures you would go for the super spicy kind.

Pinkie Pie: I love it.

Poromon: Awesome sushi!

Yugito Nii: I think I may have found another awesome sushi restaurant.

Lola: I like it.

Lincoln: Me too.

We laughed.

---

Later we were watching TV and we were watching The Powerpuff Girls. We saw the girls facing the evil Mojo Jojo.

Me: Take that Mojo!

Rainbow Dash: Aw yeah!

Me: Hey Rainbow, I heard that you encountered the Powerpuff Girls.

Rainbow Dash: Oh yeah. That is a really funny story. Twilight made this strange talent enhancement formula and I tried it out and went for the ultimate power: The Double Rainboom. It's like the Sonic Rainboom enhanced 100-fold.

Twilight: I remember that.

Me: But in order for that to happen you would have to like go faster than the speed of light and break the boundaries of time and space. Which would really break the laws of physics.

Rainbow Dash: That's right. It was a really strange and awesome story.

Rainbow Dash told us all about it and it was both incredible and amazing!

---

Double Rainboom is a fan "episode" based on My Little Pony Friendship is Magic . It is written and directed by Zachary Rich, a student at the Savannah College of Art and Design . After ingesting a strange potion Twilight made that enhances a pony's special talent, Rainbow Dash creates a sonic rainboom that breaks the barriers of time and space and goes on an adventure that transcends entire dimensions. On February 2, 2014, Zachary Rich made the official video on YouTube private.

In her library home in Ponyville, Twilight is mixing some chemical compounds in a beaker. During her delicate work, Rainbow Dash interrupts, curious about what her unicorn friend is up to (nearly causing Twilight's compound to spill in the process). Twilight explains she's making a potion that she'd been working on since magic kindergarten. When she adds the final ingredient, a chemical explosion fills the library with purple smoke. A face within the smoke laughs wickedly at Twilight and Rainbow Dash before it gets sucked into a test tube and sealed with a cork. An excited Rainbow prods Twilight with questions as to what the potion does; Twilight explains that it's a "talent enhancer", designed to amplify a pony's natural talent (such as augmenting Twilight's magical power or heightening Applejack's physical strength and applebucking abilities). Rainbow Dash's curiosity is further piqued at the thought of being able to fly faster. As Twilight imagines what such a potion would do to a pony as unpredictable as Pinkie Pie, Rainbow drinks it while Twilight's back is turned. Twilight, concerned about what effects the potion might have, hooks Rainbow Dash up to several measuring instruments to monitor her for side-effects. When nothing happens and Rainbow Dash seems just fine, Twilight releases her and gives her permission to fly. The blue Pegasus takes off almost immediately and crashes through the ceiling, leaving behind her a trail of rainbow smoke and a dumbfounded Twilight.

Test her new-found superpowers

Rainbow Dash opens her eyes to find herself high in the sky above Ponyville, surprised that she'd flown so high up. She tests out her newfound speed and races through Ponyville, zooming past several of her fellow ponies (including Applejack, Rarity and Fluttershy, before arcing up through the clouds and lower atmosphere before stopping in outer space and amazed by her own speed, Rainbow Dash comments that she could easily do a sonic rainboom - maybe even a double rainboom. She outstretches her wings and takes off like a rocket. The rainbow-colored trail she leaves behind her grabs the attention of numerous ponies below (especially one very amazed Scootaloo who cheered for Rainbow Dash). As Rainbow Dash prepares to pull off the double rainboom, her body begins to change; from her hind hooves up, she starts turning into an actual rainbow. Twilight calls out to her from the ground below, telling her to slow down, but Rainbow doesn't hear her. Her body has almost completely changed color, and the faces of her pony friends turn from excitement to concern. In a tremendous boom of sound, Rainbow Dash pulls off the double rainboom. The shockwave it creates blows fiercely over Ponyville, destroying buildings and sending everypony flying, and can be seen stretching over a good portion of the planet's atmosphere. Ponyville is left in shambles, and Twilight goes to find Rainbow Dash. All she finds in the double rainboom's wake is a twin trail of multicolored fire leading up to a wormhole that disappears moments after Twilight discovers it.

Travel through dimension

Rainbow Dash awakens inside the wormhole, and as she passes through it, she floats past a number of strange-looking characters before the wormhole spits her out the other end. She emerges in an urban city on an empty street. Before she can even figure out where she is, she hears the loud roar of a giant rampaging monster.

Rainbow Dash meets the Powerpuff Girls

The monster lays waste to the city until a trio of flying girls appears to confront it: Blossom, Bubbles, and Buttercup-the Powerpuff Girls. The girls proceed to beat the monster up a little before it angrily retaliates, slamming the girls into the ground. Before the monster can finish the girls off, Rainbow Dash steps in, attacking the monster and sending it flying into a building with a sonic rainboom. Rainbow Dash flies in to attack again, but the monster, revealing itself to be able to speak, surrenders and-at Rainbow's demand-apologizes for attacking the city. Rainbow accepts the monster's apology and sends it on its way… before the Powerpuff Girls, believing it to be attempting to escape, fly up and beat it to a pulp. Following this, the girls fly up to hug Rainbow Dash, thanking her for her help and marveling her wings and fighting ability. Discovering that she can also talk, the girls decide to keep her. Rainbow Dash, seeing the looks that the girls are giving her, flies away, and the girls give chase. The flying pony is pursued all over Townsville until a twinge in her wings grounds her. The effects of Twilight's talent-enhancing potion have worn off, and Rainbow Dash is unable to fly. With the Powerpuff Girls quickly closing in, Rainbow cries out for help. Suddenly, she hears Pinkie Pie's voice echo from seemingly nowhere, and Pinkie Pie herself appears through the wormhole that Rainbow Dash entered this dimension through. She pulls her pegasus friend inside before zipping it closed again, leaving the Powerpuff Girls to wonder where their new pony friend had vanished to.

Return to Ponyville

Rainbow Dash and Pinkie Pie pass through the wormhole again and reappear in Twilight's library, in front of a visibly displeased Twilight. Rainbow attempts to laugh the situation off, but Twilight is not the least bit amused, and she shows Rainbow the damage her double rainboom has done to Ponyville. Realizing her mess, Rainbow composes a friendship letter to Princess Celestia, saying that she's learned not to take things that don't belong to her. During the composition of her letter, she wonders how Pinkie Pie was able to retrieve her from the other dimension. Pinkie explains that Twilight made a second talent-enhancing potion and had her drink it, the effects of which allowed Pinkie to "see through the fabric of time and space"-Rainbow Dash and Twilight don't seem to have any idea what she's talking about. In the letter's closing, Rainbow vows to ask before taking something that isn't hers from now on. Unfortunately, it appears that Pinkie had yet to learn this lesson, as she'd also taken Bloo (from Foster's Home for Imaginary Friends ) from the other dimension with her as well, much to the surprise of Twilight, Rainbow Dash, and Spike.

Rainbow Dash showed us the adventure on YouTube and it was phenomenal!

Me: WHOA!

Nico: HOLY MACKEREL!

Me: That was incredible! Rainbow you succeeded in making a massive Double Rainboom and in doing so you really did break the boundaries of Time and Space.

Lisa Loud: Wow! That really breaks the boundaries of the space-time continuum.

Adult Blossom: I remember that! That was you Rainbow Dash!?

Rainbow Dash: Yeah that was me and I learned a really hard lesson that day.

Me: Boy no kidding. A shockwave from a Double Rainboom of that magnitude packs the explosive power of a thousand nuclear bombs.

Fluttershy: And all of Ponyville was destroyed that day.

Rainbow Dash: Yeah sorry about all that.

Me: But that was so cool how you did that.

Bloo: And that's how you all met me! That was something!

Adult Bubbles: But it's great that we met you Rainbow!

Adult Buttercup: We sure did. That was so cool that you did that.

Rainbow Dash: Thanks girls.

Nico: Incredible! So you met the Powerpuff Girls when they were younger and you met Bloo? That's so cool!

Me: That is what I call an interdimensional adventure of powerful proportions.

Laney: No kidding.

Nico: But it sure was cool how you all met the Powerpuff Girls and Bloo and defied the impossible.

Naruto: Yeah.

Nicole then came down and she was frantic.

Nicole: Guys! Something is going down on the planet Mars!

Me: Whoa! We'd better get over there.

We went off into the endless voids of space.

* * *

Later we arrived on the planet Mars and there was something different about it. It was now fully terraformed and there were lots of plants, trees, jungles, rivers, streams, waterfalls, beautiful landscapes and more. It was all beautiful!

Nico: Is this Mars?

Lisa looked at the coordinates.

Lisa Loud: The Coordinates are right and we're at the right distance and location.

Me: Yeah this is Mars all right.

Xion: Weird. We're on Mars. But everything looks so different.

Me: It sure is. It says that the entire planet is now fully terraformed. But technology like that has not come into fruition yet. It's still in the theoretical stages and it'll be at least another 100 to 500 years for that to happen.

Naruto: Wow! Mars is now just like Earth.

Nicole: I saw this in a lot of science documentaries. But we don't have anywhere near this level of technology yet.

Me: The atmospheric levels here on Mars are now at the same levels as Earth during the Carboniferous Period. And Mars is now completely like Earth.

Earth: Wow! We were here over almost a year ago and it went from desolate wasteland covered in red dust and rich in carbon-dioxide and now it's fully like Earth.

Lincoln: I know. Huge change in environment.

Laney: Major change. But this is amazing that Mars is now like this.

Sailor Mars: My goodness. I like Mars this way.

Lola: Hey look over there.

We saw a small column of smoke coming from over a hill.

Me: Lets go check it out.

We went to the hill and we were on a cliff and we saw a war village and we saw people that looked like zombies.

Me: Whoa look at that.

Jessie: (Pokemon) There are zombies on Mars as well?!

Lucy Loud: Not zombies. Ghosts of Martians.

Brittney: But that's impossible!

Nicole: Yeah! Mars lost all of its life billions of years ago and the presence of Martians has been a myth and a bunch fictitious hooey for decades. No offense Mars.

Sailor Mars: None taken.

Me: Wait a second. This is like that strange horror movie Ghosts of Mars.

Nico: I remember that one. That was a strange one from 2001.

Nico told us about them.

It is set in Mars in the year 2176. Mars has been colonized and it has been terraformed by 84%, allowing humans to walk on the surface without pressure suits. Partial breathers, however are still necessary. The human colony there is also matriarchal.

The story is about police officer Lt. Melanie Ballard, who is sent with a team of policemen to a remote mining outpost at night in order to transport prisoner James 'Desolation' Williams, who has been arrested for several murders. Arriving at the remote mining town, Ballard and her team find all of the people missing despite of the fact, that it is a Friday night. They investigate and, in time, they discover that part of them have been murdered. They have been hung and decapitated. She also discovers, that another part of them have become savages, who killed the murdered ones and also intended to kill all of them, too. Only a few are still alive there.

After the murder of the team leader Helena Braddock, Ballard has to take her place. She learns from a survivor that the miners in the outpost had discovered an underground doorway created by an ancient Martian civilization. When the door was opened, it released disembodied spirits or "ghosts", which took possession many of the miners, who now behave savagely and begin to kill everyone else, because they see them as an invading species that has to be wiped out so that the planet will be theirs again.

She allies herself with the criminals there under the leadership of Williams, who turns out to be innocent of the murders, to survive. To worsen things more, if they kill one of them, the ghost will leave the body and possess another human. Ballard casually manages to find a way to fight them by casually taking a drug, which enables her to be immune to them and even find out their intentions.

Only she and Williams survive the fight and ignite the nuclear power plant there to go critical, turning it into a small atomic bomb in the hopes of preventing them to kill everyone else on this planet. Not wanting to be blamed for the massacre, Williams later handcuffs Ballard to her cot and escapes from the train on the way to the capital which she reaches.

After that she reports what happened to her superiors, but no one believes her. Later it turns out that the quest to stop the ghosts has failed. They now attack the capital and Williams and Ballard join forces again to survive.

Nicole: Whoa so these ghosts are those of Martians that were thought to have been wiped out long ago.

Shanan: They are actually the ghosts of Ancient Martians that lived here millions of years ago.

Shannon: That's so strange. So there WAS life on Mars.

Nico: It was a huge mystery for many decades.

Lincoln: That is both scary and cool.

Bomb Man: These ghosts shouldn't be a problem. If they try to get close, my bombs will blow them up.

Me: These ghosts are possessing people! You can't kill a ghost but you CAN banish it To the Warp.

Danny Phantom: Or send them to the Ghost Zone.

Me: That works too. But from the looks of things, these ghosts are brutal and ruthless.

Gravity Man: Maybe I can make things difficult for the ghosts by controlling Mars' gravity.

Me: That just might work. Shh. Listen.

We heard the lead Ghost that possessed a man speaking in some kind of weird language and I activated my translator.

Big Daddy Ghost: We will soon be launching an attack on the humans of Earth and then we will finally prove our superiority by destroying that wretched planet and making that verminous pay for mocking us!

They all cheered.

Me: Oh shit. This is like War of The Worlds but here on a Terraformed Version of Mars.

Laney: No kidding.

Fuse Man: Poromon, you, Horsea, Poliwag, and Manaphy were good in the Doctor's office. So, would you 4 distract the ghosts while we have the usual battles?

Poromon: (Shivering in fear) We're not going in there!

Horsea: Yeah we hate ghosts!

Me: What are you four? Pokemon and Digimon or mice?

They then got on all fours and started squeaking like mice.

Shaggy: Oh brother and they call me a coward.

Me: Uh you are a coward Shaggy.

Lincoln: Would you all do it for some Pokemon and Digimon snacks?

Nico: I made them Cotton Candy and Chocolate Mint Flavor.

Poromon, Poliwag, Horsea and Manaphy: OH BOY! YOU BET!

Me: Shh.

Poromon: Sorry.

Nico gave them the snacks and they loved them and went down to the encampment of the Martian Ghosts to distract them.

Luxord: Poromon, Manaphy, Poliwag, and Horsea are keeping the ghosts distracted. Now, we just need to wait for our favorite frenemies to show up.

Me: Yep. I hope they didn't get scared. Especially Krusty. I watched all the Treehouse of Horror episodes and they were funny and scary at the same time.

But then Krusty, Snake, Dr. Light, King Hiss, Eccentro and Toiletnator appeared.

Krusty: Hey Hey Kiddies! (Goofy Laughter)

Me: Krusty, Snake, Dr. Light, King Hiss, Eccentro and Toiletnator.

Sophie Krustovsky: Hey daddy.

Krusty: Hey sweetie.

Laney: Weird seeing you all here on the planet Mars.

Krusty: I might just be the first clown on Mars!

Eccentro: Krusty, I think this is basically the first time on Mars for all of us.

King Hiss: It's weird seeing Mars without its' prison though.

Me: This is actually the second time we came here to Mars. The 1st time was when we participated in that awesome race.

Marinette: I remember that.

Lincoln: That was so much fun.

Me: And Mars wasn't even fully terraformed back then. It was a desolate wasteland loaded with red dust and was a pale pink ball of rock and dust.

Lincoln: It sure was.

Laney: Yeah.

Snake: This is really something though dudes.

Lincoln: It sure is.

?: Quite a change huh?

A figure came out and we saw that it was ROCKSTAR from episode 30 of Season 1 of Mighty Morphin!

---

The Rockstar was summoned by Scorpina from a pile of boulders to help her defeat the Power Rangers and find the ancient artifact known as the Mirror of Destruction. The Rockstar could fire sparkling rocks from his abdomen which could stick to their victims, preventing them from fighting back and leaving them completely helpless. The monster accompanied Scorpina, Squatt, and Baboo to a beach and attacked Jason, pinning him to the ground with his rocks. The others quickly arrived to help Jason but the group had long since left. He then showed up at a swimming pool at which point Billy and Trini arrived. However, using his rocks, he was able to render them helpless and ended the fight by throwing them into the swimming pool before retreating in order to try and locate Jason's cousin Jeremy who had the map to the Mirror. The entire group eventually met in battle against Jason and Kimberly (Zack and Trini's absence going unexplained) in a short battle ending with a jump kick from Jason failing and them pinned to the floor by the Rockstar's boulders He went after Jeremy since he possessed the mirror who Rockstar tried to kill with a boulder, but Mirror protected it's owner. Jeremy accidentally pointed the Mirror at Rockstar, and Rockstar was destroyed when he saw his reflection, a beam of light shooting out of it and blowing him apart.

---

Jason Lee Scott: Rockstar!

Rockstar: Been a while Red Ranger.

Me: I remember you! You were summoned by Scorpina to find the Mirror of Destruction.

Rockstar: That's right man. Good memory on you.

Me: Like I told your teammates: Never missed an episode.

Rockstar: (laughs) It's funny! I'm a rock monster currently on Mars right now!

Kimberly Hart: That is really funny!

Me: Shall we get these battles underway?

Krusty: Lets do it!

Tommy Oliver: Lets do it guys! IT'S MORPHIN TIME!

THUNDERCLAP!

Zack Taylor: MASTODON!

Kimberly Ann Hart: PTERODACTYL!

Billy Cranston: TRICERATOPS!

Trini Kwan: SABER-TOOTHED TIGER!

Jason Lee Scott: TYRANNOSAURUS

Tommy Oliver: WHITE TIGER!

The Mighty Morphin Rangers transformed and they were ready!

Jason Lee Scott: WE'RE BACK AND WE'RE READY TO MORPH INTO ACTION!

TYRANNOSAURUS ROAR!

Tommy Oliver: SIX WORKING TOGETHER TO FIGHT EVIL!

WHITE TIGER ROAR!

Zack Taylor: TO STOP RITA!

MASTODON TRUMPET!

Billy Cranston: AND ALL HER MENACING MONSTERS!

TRICERATOPS ROAR!

Trini Kwan: FROM DESTROYING OUR PLANET EARTH!

SABER-TOOTHED TIGER ROAR!

Kimberly Ann Hart: AND RULING THE UNIVERSE WITH EVIL!

PTERODACTYL SCREECH!

Me: And they aren't backing down because they are the…

Mighty Morphin Rangers: POWER RANGERS!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM

A fiery explosion went off behind them!

Luna: I'll help them out for this!

Me: Go for it Luna!

Rainbow Dash: Let me help Luna and the Rangers too.

Me: Okay.

We went at them.

Battle 1: King Hiss

Leni, Fluttershy, Xion and Karai were facing King Hiss.

King Hiss: So you decided to let the girls of Equestria help you out.

Leni: They totes deserve to have a shot at helping us.

Fluttershy: I want to join in on the fun as well until we get our own archenemies with you guys.

King Hiss: Hm. That works.

Fluttershy: It's to help us get ready for the action.

Karai: (Japanese Accent) It's really fun Fluttershy.

Xion: You'll love it.

King Hiss: Indeed. Lets dance.

King Hiss called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Fluttershy: Watch this one. WOLF MOON STYLE NINJA ART: THE WOLF AND THE MOON!

Fluttershy floated into the air as her wings were spread and she had orbs of blue fire in her hands and the song The Wolf and the Moon by BrunuhVille played in the background and the howling of wolves was heard all over. The Full Moon was shining behind her and she fired waves of blue fire and the blasts formed into a pack of wolves.

Leni, Xion and Karai fired blasts of energy and light and gravity and the blasts all hit King Hiss and his Pokemon and knocked them down in a huge explosion.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

King Hiss was knocked out.

Leni: That was totes awesome!

Fluttershy: It was so much fun.

Battle 2: Dr. Light

Kairi, Twilight Sparkle, Magnet Man and Gravity Man were facing Dr. Light.

Dr. Light: So you decided to have the Equestria Girls all give it a shot till they have one of us as their archenemy.

Kairi: That's right.

Dr. Light: All of us share that feeling too, Rei.

Snake: Dude, I'm just glad we all survived on Mars.

Toiletnator: And we didn't even need space suits!

Me: No we sure didn't. And Terraforming technology is still in the theoretical stages right now.

Lisa Loud: Indeed it is. Whoever made Mars this way saved us 100 to 500 years of advanced scientifical research.

Dr. Light: That's true.

Dexter: I must concur with Lisa on that.

Me: No kidding. But it was awesome having our first ever battle here on Mars. Lets go home guys.

We went home and rested.

At the estate we were watching TV and everyone was shocked that we told them that Mars was now fully Terraformed.

Sailor Mars: (To the viewers) It was awesome fighting on Mars. But we have to be ready for more adventures that will happen when we least expect it.

Me: You got that right Rei. But it was awesome going to Mars when it is now fully Terraformed.

Nico: You said it.

Lincoln: Yeah.

We rested.

THE END

---

Part 3 is done.

Ghosts of Mars from 2001 is one of my favorite movies with Natasha Henstridge and Ice Cube and it was so awesome how they fought the spirits of Martians that were thought to have been wiped out millions of years ago! NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Get ready to laugh your socks off and be scared at the same time in Part 4 as we go into war against a zombie version of Springfield, Oregon that had its most of its citizens turned into zombies called Munchers in a parody of 28 Days Later in Season 21 Episode 4's episode called Don't Have A Cow Mankind and we're going to do two funny scenarios: Destroy the Citizens of Springfield and cure some of the redeemable ones with an Anti-Muncher Vaccine in Bart!

See you all tomorrow.

28 Burger Zombies Later

In Equestria we were flying and I was riding my Rapidash.

Applejack: (Cowboy Accent) Yeehaw! You are a mighty fine rider J.D.!

Me: Thanks Applejack. I love riding horses as much as riding a Rapidash.

Rainbow Dash: It's awesome!

Laney: It sure is.

Eli: That's my awesome bro.

We then went through an awesome portal and we arrived in Canterlot High School.

Twilight Sparkle: Here we are guys. This is Canterlot High School.

Sunset Shimmer: This is where we went to school before we joined you guys.

Me: Wow. So this is where you all went to school.

Rainbow Dash: Yep. Awesome place to have fun.

Applejack: It is a fun place.

Me: So Sunset what can you tell me about these three girls, the Dazzlings?

Sunset Shimmer: Well they were not very well liked because they were Sirens.

Sunset told us all about them.

The Dazzlings are the main antagonists of My Little Pony Equestria Girls: Rainbow Rocks and the minor antagonists in the two specials, Equestria Girls: Better Together and Equestria Girls: Sunset's Backstage Pass . They are a musical group of magical Sirens, consisting of Adagio Dazzle, Aria Blaze, and Sonata Dusk. Adagio is the leader and Aria and Sonata are her followers.

The three Sirens were once powerful threats to Equestria itself, sowing chaos with their enchanted voices and growing ever more powerful from feasting on negative emotions. Unable to defeat them, the great mage Starswirl the Bearded resorted to banishing them to another dimension, where magic was nonexistent and their power was nullified, or at least reduced to nothing but a pale shadow of what it once had been.

The three sirens are first seen in a city cafe, where they are observed absorbing negative energy from the customers there, complaining about the miserly amounts of power they gain from this. Then they witness the Harmony blast that defeated Sunset Shimmer in the previous movie. They realize that magic has been brought into the Human World (due to Sunset Shimmer's theft of the Element of Magic), and that their own power has returned as a result. Now once again in possession of their magical abilities, they decide to take over the Human World, starting with Canterlot High, the source of the magic.

The arrive in Canterlot High and Sunset Shimmer gives them a tour around the school, but she feels a bad vibe from them and notices that Adagio stops her from touching her crystal necklace. In the cafeteria, they sing a song that ignites the students' competitive spirits, turning a planned friendly singing festival into a Battle of the Bands . They also manipulate Principals Celestia and Luna into bending to their will.

Twilight discovers the true nature of the Dazzlings, but when she and the rest of the human Six attempt to defeat them, they realize that they are not able to unleash the Elements of Harmony at will. Instead, their failed attempt plays right into the Dazzlings' hands. The sirens realize that this group of students were not under their control and deduce that they must have great magic in them - and thus, great power to absorb, though they would have to turn them against each other without the use of their own magic first. This turns the Rainbooms into priority targets for the Dazzlings. In the meantime, they continue gathering energy from the other students.

When they see Sunset Shimmer again, they threateningly play with her emotions and intimidate her, claiming that "no one is going to remember her when they win". Feeling that simply getting the Rainbooms eliminated might not do the trick, the Sirens arrange that they pass to the finals instead despite a lackluster performance. This causes resentment in their opponent Trixie, who refuses to accept this. The Dazzlings then trick Trixie into removing the Rainbooms from the competition altogether by trapping them in a locked basement. However, thanks to Spike, the Rainbooms managed to escape.

Just as they are about to devour the combined energy of the students, the Rainbooms appear to stop them. In turn, the Sirens summon astral projections of their true forms for the battle. The Six overwhelm Aria and Sonata at first, but Adagio's powerful sonic waves throw the girls off-balance, allowing the Dazzlings to gain the upper hand. With the Rainbooms down for the count, Sunset Shimmer steps in to help them out and the students begin to sing along with them. The Dazzlings appear shocked as Sunset's magic, combined with that of the Six, unleashes a giant rainbow alicorn that destroys their crystal necklaces, resulting in them losing their magical voices forever. The students boo at the defeated Dazzlings' horribly off-key final attempt to sing and throw vegetables at them, forcing them to flee the stage.

Years later, the Dazzlings reappear at the Starswirl Music Festival, having being turned permanently human, something they resent deeply. Sunset Shimmer accuses them of being behind the time loop, but they are not the ones responsible, something Sunset confirms with her telepathy.

Powers and Abilities

The Sirens' magic lies in their enchanted, red-jeweled pendants that they wear, which contain the power of their true forms from Equestria. Their main power comes from their enchanted singing voices, which allows them to manipulate or control others' actions with its compelling tones. They usually use this ability to sow fighting and chaos among their victims, as the three also have the ability to feed on negative emotions to increase their power. The more negative energy they absorb, the more powerful their voice grows. At their apex, they could potentially subjugate an entire world to their will. The Elements of Harmony is the only magic that they cannot absorb directly, or control those who wield them.

When forced into battle, the Sirens can use their necklaces to summon ethereal projections of their true forms. Those apparitions are able to fly and use their voice offensively, unleashing beam projections or powerful shockwaves with their siren wails.

Despite their magical powers to force others to do their bidding, they are (especially Adagio Dazzle) also skilled manipulators of their own right, who can turn those they cannot control against each other with trickery, deceit, and by using the actions of those that they can control.

Their main weakness was the pendants themselves. Once destroyed, the Dazzlings have lost their singing magic forever.

Nico: Whoa! That's crazy!

Me: So they were banished here for some unknown reason by the legendary Starswirl the Bearded.

Lola: And they have these strange jewels that absorb Negative Energy from negative emotions and it makes them more powerful too? That is strange.

Lana: Yeah and how can these three girls get that kind of power?

Me: And we have that same power too. But they were also forced to turn into human permanently because of their selfishness? Weird. I think those necklaces might have had something to do with it.

Nico: I think so too.

Vince: Yeah.

We went into the school and it was a nice place and it was really cool.

Me: Wow. So this is Canterlot High School.

Apple Bloom: It is a nice place.

Pinkie Pie: It sure is.

We saw the 3 Dazzlings: Adagio Dazzling, Aria Blaze and Sonata Dusk.

Me: Excuse me?

They saw us.

Adagio Dazzling: WHOA! Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

Gyro Man: Are you girls the Dazzlings?

Adagio: Okay, whatever you guys think we did, it was probably Sonata's fault.

Sonata Dusk: HEY! Don't blame me!

Me: Whoa whoa girls. None of you are to blame for anything. We didn't come here to fight. We came here to recruit you into the Redemption Squad.

Aria: Really? Even after everything we did during the Battle of The Bands?

Me: You deserve a chance at Redemption and I sense that you are trying your hardest.

Sonata Dusk: I can't believe we were like that.

Aria Blaze: Yeah we were monsters.

Me: If you feel bad about it does that make you a monster?

Adagio: No it doesn't.

Aria: What exactly has been going on in Equestria anyway?

Jasmine: A lot of stuff. But old and new.

Me: Queen Chrysalis is dead courtesy of us. Twilight Sparkle is next in line to be Princess.

Nico: Lots of things have been happening.

Me: Some of Equestria's enemies are still at large and we're going to stop them.

Vince: Yeah. And we need all the help we can get to stop them.

Nico: That's right.

Eli: Absolutely. Also you girls are learning from your mistakes.

Mindwipe: I honestly think you girls could do a lot of good with your powers.

Sonata: You are right.

Adagio: We have been fools to think that we can garner attention through selfish means.

Aria: We deserve to do better through good.

Sunset Shimmer: Glad you think so.

Adaigo: If you guys are looking for more recruits, why don't you try asking the Shadowbolts?

Cosmos: You mean from Crystal Prep?

Aria: Well, I hear the Shadowbolts are questioning Cinch after the mess with the Friendship Games.

Me: I don't blame them. Twilight told me that Cinch is a tyrant that is as crazy and as ruthless as all get out.

Twilight Sparkle: It was when I turned into Midnight Sparkle that the Shadowbolts got a serious wakeup call.

Me: So that dark version of you was a jump-starter.

Twilight Sparkle: In a way.

Me: Also the Shadowbolts were the evil versions of the Wonder Bolts from when Nightmare Moon was terrorizing all of Equestria.

Aria Blaze: That's true.

Me: All right then. Lets go recruit the Shadowbolts.

We went to find them and we found the Shadowbolts.

---

Jet Set and Upper Crust

Jet Set and Upper Crust appear in Friendship Games as students of Crystal Prep Academy and members of the Shadowbolts. Both take part in the Friendship Games' academic decathlon; Jet Set is partnered with Neon Lights and Upper Crust is partnered with Suri Polomare in the home economics portion, and Jet Set and Upper Crust are partnered together in woodshop.

The two are among other Shadowbolts to pressure human Twilight Sparkle into releasing magic from inside her amulet. Upper Crust is last seen talking with Sour Sweet and Dean Cadance at the end of the film.

Neon Lights

Neon Lights appears in Friendship Games as a student of Crystal Prep Academy and member of the Shadowbolts. He first appears on the bus to Canterlot High School, and during Canterlot High's welcome party for Crystal Prep, he interacts with "Indigo Wreath" until Principal Cinch puts an end to the party. In the Friendship Games' Academic Decathlon, he is partnered with Jet Set in the home economics portion, and they produce a sloppy-looking cake.

Before the Friendship Games' final event, he is among other Shadowbolts pressuring human Twilight Sparkle into releasing magic from inside her pendant.

Suri Polomare

Suri Polomare appears in the film as a student of Crystal Prep Academy. She first appears on the Crystal Prep bus ride to Canterlot High School, refusing to give a seat to human Twilight Sparkle. At the welcome party for Crystal Prep, she dances next to Flash Sentry and briefly talks with Micro Chips. During ACADECA, she is paired with Upper Crust in the home economics portion, eventually losing to Pinkie Pie and Fluttershy. When Principal Cinch glares at her disapprovingly, she nervously drops the cake she and Upper Crust made onto the floor.

Before the Friendship Games' final event, she is among other Shadowbolts pressuring Twilight into releasing the magic from her pendant.

Trenderhoof

Trenderhoof appears in Friendship Games as a student of Crystal Prep Academy. He first appears on the bus to Canterlot High School, refusing a seat to human Twilight Sparkle, and during Canterlot High's welcome party for Crystal Prep, he briefly interacts with Snips. He is among the twelve Crystal Prep Academy students that compete in the Friendship Games, but he is not seen competing in any of the events.

Royal Pin

Royal Pin appears in Friendship Games as a student of Crystal Prep Academy and member of the Shadowbolts. He first appears on the bus to Canterlot High School, and during Canterlot High's welcome party for Crystal Prep, he interacts with Indigo Zap until Principal Cinch puts an end to the party. Despite being a member of the Shadowbolts, Royal Pin was not seen participating the events.

Before the Friendship Games' final event, he is among other Shadowbolts pressuring human Twilight Sparkle into releasing magic from inside her pendant.

Sunny Flare

Sunny Flare appears in Friendship Games as a student of Crystal Prep Academy and a member of its sports team, the Shadowbolts. She first appears outside the bus to Canterlot High School with Sour Sweet and Fleur Dis Lee. When human Twilight Sparkle inadvertently cuts to the front of the bus line, Sunny Flare looks at her with silent contempt, and when the bus arrives, Twilight accidentally knocks her over after getting pushed by Lemon Zest, making her even more annoyed.

During Canterlot High's welcome party for Crystal Prep, she briefly confronts Sunset Shimmer and the other Wondercolts, condescendingly calling Fluttershy "dearie" at one point.

In the Friendship Games' Academic Decathlon, Sunny Flare is partnered with Sour Sweet in the woodshop event, and she is eliminated from the spelling bee contest for misspelling "rhombus." She and Lemon Zest take part in the speed-skating portion of the Tri-Cross Relay, but they lose to Pinkie Pie and Rarity.

Before the Games' final event, Sunny Flare and her team join Principal Cinch in pressuring Twilight into releasing the magic contained in her amulet, intending to use it against Canterlot High. They all watch in horror as the magic transforms Twilight into Midnight Sparkle, and Sunny Flare is the first to notice Cinch attempt to flee. As Midnight Sparkle tears open multiple rifts into Equestria, Sunny Flare saves Fluttershy from falling through one.

After Twilight returns to normal, Sunny Flare and her team turn on Cinch for causing Twilight's transformation, and they celebrate their shared victory with the Wondercolts.

In Dance Magic, Sunny Flare and her friends encounter Rarity at the Canterlot Mall, signing the Rainbooms up for a dance competition the mall is holding. Sunny mentions that CPA has been changing for the better since Dean Cadance took over as principal, but it is clear the Shadowbolts still hold on to some of their competitive spirit under Cinch, as when Rarity mentions her ideas for the Rainbooms for the competition, Sunny and her fellow Shadowbolts decide to steal Rarity's ideas to use as their own for their entry. When Rarity and Twilight confront them at the CPA dance studio later, Sunny and the other Shadowbolts lie that they've already submitted their entry, and if the Rainbooms still go with their idea, it will look like the Rainbooms are copying the Shadowbolts. However, Rarity overhears Sunny and the other Shadowbolts later on worrying about letting their classmates down as, while they have the dance moves, they don't have an original song to use as they've been relying on Sapphire Shores' music for their rehearsals. Rarity offers a compromise between the Rainbooms and Shadowbolts, and during the joint rehearsal, Fluttershy asks Sunny to help her rewrite the lyrics for the Rainbooms' song to include the Shadowbolts in it. Working together, the Shadowbolts and Rainbooms film the Dance Magic music video that wins the competition as the "Crystal Rainbooms", allowing the Shadowbolts to gain the funds to allow their Spring Dance to be held on a yacht, and asking the Rainbooms to come and perform at it as well.

In Mirror Magic, Sunny Flare makes a cameo appearance performing in the Dance Magic music video with the Crystal Rainbooms while it is being on played in the Canterlot Mall.

Sour Sweet

Sour Sweet appears in Friendship Games as a member of Crystal Prep Academy's sports team, the Shadowbolts. She complains when human Twilight Sparkle accidentally cuts in front of her on the bus to Canterlot High School, and she continues to act hostile towards her after Twilight offers to let her go ahead.

Sour Sweet participates in the Academic Decathlon of the Friendship Games, being paired up with Sunny Flare during the woodcutting portion, and failing the spelling bee portion.

Principal Cinch assigns her and Twilight to the archery portion of the Tri-Cross Relay, where she swiftly and expertly hits a bull's-eye. She is infuriated when Twilight struggles to keep up and wastes their team's early lead, and she gives her a backhanded compliment for taking their opponent Applejack's advice. After Twilight finally hits a bull's-eye, Sour Sweet becomes visibly disturbed when Twilight's dog Spike demonstrates the ability to speak and congratulates her.

During the final event, Sour Sweet joins Principal Cinch and the other Shadowbolts in pressuring Twilight into releasing the magic she collected throughout the Games, and she watches in horror as the magic transforms Twilight into the monstrous Midnight Sparkle. As Midnight slowly destroys the world around her, Sour Sweet and her teammates help save their fellow students and the Wondercolts, pulling up one of Crystal Prep's students with Pinkie Pie's assistance.

After Twilight returns to normal, Sour Sweet remorsefully admits the Shadowbolts' responsibility for what happened, accepting some of the blame before bitterly pinning most of it on Cinch. She and Upper Crust are later shown speaking with Dean Cadance before leaving with the rest of Crystal Prep's students.

In Dance Magic, Sour Sweet and her friends from Crystal Prep have met Rarity at the Canterlot Mall, signing the Rainbooms up for the mall's dance competition. When Rarity mentions her ideas for the Rainbooms, Sour Sweet and the other Shadowbolts steal her ideas to use as their own, as they are entering the competition to raise money to take their classmates on a yacht for their Spring Dance. When Rarity confronts them at the CPA dance studio later with Twilight regarding it, Sour lies and says that the Shadowbolts have already submitted their entry, and if the Rainbooms try to do the same routine, people will think the Rainbooms are copying the Shadowbolts. However, it turns out that while they have the moves, the Shadowbolts don't have their own original music to use, having relied on Sapphire Shores' music this whole time. As they fear letting their classmates down, Rarity overheard them and offers a compromise, which Sour agrees to listen to. Working together, the Shadowbolts and Rainbooms put on a joint performance that wins the competition, allowing them to gain enough money to allow the Shadowbolts to take their classmates on the yacht trip after all. While the rest of the Rainbooms and Shadowbolts go to get something to drink, Rarity and Sour discuss having the Rainbooms attend the Spring Dance as well to perform there, though they will need new outfits, allowing Rarity and Sour to share ideas as they join the rest of their friends.

Indigo Zap

Indigo Zap appears in Friendship Games as a student of Crystal Prep Academy and a member of its sports team, the Shadowbolts.

She first appears on the bus to Canterlot High School, exhibiting much more excitement about winning the Friendship Games than her fellow competitors. She startles the human Twilight Sparkle with her high enthusiasm, and when the bus arrives, she shoves Twilight aside as she disembarks.

During Canterlot High's welcome party for Crystal Prep, Indigo Zap gets in both Sunset Shimmer and Rainbow Dash's faces.

Indigo Zap participates in the Academic Decathlon of the Friendship Games, being paired with Sugarcoat during the woodshop portion. They construct a two-story birdhouse that wins the event, and she gloats over her victory to Sandalwood and Micro Chips. During the spelling bee event, she is eliminated for misspelling the word "chauffeur."

In the Tri-Cross Relay, Indigo Zap is once again paired with Sugarcoat in motocross against Rainbow and Sunset. When the track is attacked by plant monsters from Equestria, Rainbow Dash saves Indigo Zap from being devoured. She recovers and gets back in the race, but Sunset eventually wins.

During the final event, Indigo Zap joins Principal Cinch and the other Shadowbolts in pressuring Twilight into releasing the magic accumulated inside her amulet, and she watches as the magic transforms Twilight into the monstrous Midnight Sparkle. As Midnight Sparkle opens multiple rifts into Equestria, Indigo Zap and her teammates help save their fellow students and the Wondercolts, saving Rarity with Lemon Zest's assistance.

Interesting enough, Indigo does not appear with her fellow Shadowbolts when they compete with the Rainbooms in a dance competition, or when they work together in a joint effort to win said competition to benefit both their causes.

Sugarcoat

Sugarcoat appears in Friendship Games as a student of Crystal Prep Academy and a member of its sports team, the Shadowbolts. She first appears on the bus to Canterlot High School after the human Twilight Sparkle gives a half-hearted speech to her teammates. When Twilight sits down next to her, Sugarcoat bluntly remarks on the ineffectiveness of her speech.

Sugarcoat participates in the Academic Decathlon of the Friendship Games, being paired with Indigo Zap during the woodshop portion. They construct a two-story birdhouse that wins the event, and they gloat over their victory to Sandalwood and Micro Chips. During the spelling bee event, she misspells the word "cymotrichous".

In the Tri-Cross Relay, Sugarcoat is again paired with Indigo Zap in motocross against Rainbow Dash and Sunset Shimmer. When Twilight is unable to score a bull's-eye in archery, Sugarcoat comments that she is "really bad at this." She ends up failing the motocross event after being attacked by a giant Everfree plant creature.

During the final event, Sugarcoat joins Principal Cinch and the other Shadowbolts in pressuring Twilight into releasing the magic she collected throughout the Games, and she watches in horror as the magic transforms Twilight into the monstrous Midnight Sparkle. As Midnight Sparkle slowly destroys the "world" around her, Sugarcoat and her teammates help save their fellow students and the Wondercolts.

After Twilight returns to normal, Sugarcoat is outspoken about the negative consequences of Cinch's actions, with Pinkie Pie remarking that it's "a lot to take in when you say it all at once."

In Dance Magic, Sugarcoat and her friends run into Rarity, who is signing the Rainbooms up for the Canterlot Mall's dance competition, which they are also taking part in as a chance to raise the money for their classmates to have their Spring Dance on a yacht, rather than in the CPA auditorium. When Rarity mentions her ideas for the Rainbooms, Sugarcoat and the other Shadowbolts steal Rarity's idea in the hopes of winning the contest themselves, and when Rarity and Twilight confront them at the CPA dance studio later regarding it, the Shadowbolts mention having already submitted their entry, so if Rarity and the Rainbooms tried the same idea, people would think the Rainbooms are copying the Shadowbolts instead. However, it is revealed that while they have the moves, the Shadowbolts don't have their own original music to work with, having relied on music from Sapphire Shores this whole time, making them fear that they will let down their classmates and not get enough money for the yacht to have the Spring Dance on. Rarity overhears this, and suggests a compromise to benefit both the Rainbooms and the Shadowbolts in their plights. With the Rainbooms and Shadowbolts uniting into a single group with a single joint entry into the competition, they win and raise enough money for the Shadowbolts to take their classmates on the yacht trip for their Spring Dance, and asking the Rainbooms to come and perform at the dance as well.

Lemon Zest

Lemon Zest appears in Friendship Games as a member of Crystal Prep Academy's sports team, the Shadowbolts. She sits next to Twilight Sparkle on the bus to Canterlot High School for the Friendship Games, sharing her deafeningly loud rock music with human Twilight Sparkle. She dances and mingles with Canterlot High's students during the welcoming party after Pinkie Pie helps lighten the tension between schools, but she returns to her hostile attitude after Principal Cinch intervenes.

Lemon Zest participates in the Friendship Games' first event, the Academic Decathlon, and she is selected as the Shadowbolts' six remaining competitors after reaching the penultimate spelling bee contest. She and Sunny Flare compete in the speed-skating portion of the Tri-Cross Relay, but they lose to Pinkie Pie and Rarity despite catching up to them after the Wondercolts' early lead.

Before the Games' final event, Lemon Zest and her team join Principal Cinch in pressuring Twilight into releasing the magic contained in her pendant-like device, intending to use it against Canterlot High. They all watch in horror as the magic instead transforms Twilight into Midnight Sparkle, who begins tearing open rifts to Equestria. Having a change of heart, Lemon Zest helps Indigo Zap pull Rarity, Fleur Dis Lee, and "Velvet Sky" from falling through a giant rift in the ground.

After Twilight returns to normal, Lemon Zest and her team turn on Cinch for causing Twilight's transformation, and they celebrate their shared victory with the Wondercolts. She chats with DJ Pon-3 before the Crystal Prep students leave.

In Dance Magic Lemon Zest and her friends have met Rarity at the Canterlot Mall, signing the Rainbooms up for the mall's dance competition, which Lemon is surprised Rarity is having the Rainbooms take part in. When Rarity mentions her ideas for the Rainbooms' submission, Lemon and the other Shadowbolts steal her idea to use as their own. When Rarity and Twilight confront them later at the CPA dance studio, it looks as if the Shadowbolts have Rarity dead to rights since they say they've already submitted their entry, and if Rarity still has the Rainbooms use the same idea, people will think the Rainbooms copied the Shadowbolts. However, it is revealed later that while they have the moves, the Shadowbolts have been relying on Sapphire Shores' music and don't have an original song to use themselves, leaving them worried that they will let their classmates down. Rarity offers them a compromise, working together with the Rainbooms as the Crystal Rainbooms to film the Dance Magic music video that wins the competition, allowing the Shadowbolts to raise enough funds for the yacht trip, much to Lemon's excitement as she exchanges a high-five with Applejack before heading off to celebrate with something to drink with the other Shadowbolts and Rainbooms.

In Mirror Magic, Lemon Zest briefly appears performing with the Crystal Rainbooms in the Dance Magic music video as it is being played at the Canterlot Mall.

Sci-Twi

Twilight Sparkle, also depicted as Sci-Twi, is a female human, a current student from Canterlot High School, and the main protagonist in My Little Pony Equestria Girls . She is the human counterpart of Princess Twilight Sparkle.

Twilight is first mentioned by Pinkie Pie in the film when she brings up the notion of pony Twilight having a "twin sister who lives in the city."

Twilight Sparkle appears after the ending credits, piecing together strange events occurring at Canterlot High School and talking to her dog Spike.

In the third Equestria Girls film, Twilight's human counterpart is revealed to be attending Crystal Prep Academy and is a member of the Wondercolts' rival team, the Shadowbolts. This version of Twilight is portrayed as being rather awkward and curious and treated as an outcast by many of her classmates.

Throughout the film, Twilight attempts to track and measure strange energy readings at Canterlot High, recording all of her findings on a tack board in a secret room at Crystal Prep. She gathers this research in hopes of being accepted into an independent study program, and she only competes with the Shadowbolts to conduct further observations on the weird energy.

Twilight carries a pendant-shaped device intended to detect the strange readings. However, it also drains magic away, causing each of Sunset Shimmer's friends to lose their ability to pony up. In addition, it causes dimensional rifts to appear throughout the Games. When Principal Cinch discovers this, she pressures Twilight to release the magic from her device to win the Games for Crystal Prep. Once she does, the magic engulfs her, and she transforms into a monstrous creature obsessed with magic. After her transformation, Twilight uses her powers to open additional rifts to Equestria. Using Twilight's device, Sunset channels the released magic to transform herself. Following an explosive battle, Sunset offers Twilight her hand in friendship, and Twilight accepts. Twilight apologizes for all the trouble she caused, and Sunset and her friends forgive her.

Later, Twilight decides to forego her independent study application and transfer to Canterlot High to learn about the magic of friendship. At the end, Princess Twilight Sparkle from Equestria appears out of the portal, stunned to see her human friends joined by a girl who looks like her. Human Twilight only nervously waves "hello" to her pony counterpart.

In the film's alternate ending, Twilight stays at Crystal Prep, and she and Spike are on much friendlier terms with the Shadowbolts.

Twilight appears as the primary central character of the fourth Equestria Girls film. Suffering from anxieties and recurring nightmares, she fears her evil Midnight Sparkle alter ego will one day return and take over her body, her friends serve as steady moral support.

In Legend of Everfree, Twilight goes with her Canterlot High friends to Camp Everfree, where she is paired up with Sunset Shimmer in the Sapphire Tent and develops a crush on camp co-director Timber Spruce. While at the camp, Twilight's magic undergoes a transformation, and develops the ability to levitate and telekinetically move objects.

Throughout the film, Twilight struggles to confront the dark magic inside her, and she believes she is responsible for several magic disturbances around camp. However, these are later revealed to be Timber's sister Gloriosa Daisy's doing. With the help of her friends, Twilight overcomes her fears and proves to be the key in defeating Gloriosa. She also helps organize the fundraiser to save Camp Everfree from closing and becomes considerably close to Timber Spruce, accepting a date from him in the end.

In the half-hour special Dance Magic, Twilight helps her friends raise money to renovate Camp Everfree. When Rarity's idea for a music video is copied by the Shadowbolts, Twilight helps Rarity sneak into Crystal Prep Academy to directly confront them. She also takes part in the Dance Magic music video near the end of the special.

In the half-hour special Movie Magic, Twilight accompanies her friends to the set of the Daring Do movie, expressing an interest in seeing the detailed movie props made by A. K. Yearling. She is also briefly mistaken for an actress in the "Power Ponies" movie, cast as the Masked Matter-Horn. In the end, Twilight plays a central detective-like role in exposing Juniper Montage's thievery and deception, and she is cast as an extra in the Daring Do film.

In the half-hour special Mirror Magic, Twilight becomes trapped with her friends in limbo when Juniper Montage acquires a hand mirror enchanted with Equestrian magic. When Starlight Glimmer succeeds in convincing Juniper to let them out, Twilight and the rest of her friends forgive and accept Juniper as a new friend. Twilight, as well as Sunset and Starlight, is especially forgiving of Juniper, having previously been corrupted by magic in Friendship Games .

In the music video Mad Twience, Twilight portrays a mad scientist building an android mate for Spike. She is also a primary focus in Monday Blues, where she and Sunset Shimmer try to get to school through the pouring rain. In Epic Fails, she recalls her most embarrassing moment of performing a chemistry experiment that explodes in her face. In Good Vibes, she works at an electronics store and uses her powers to fix DJ Pon-3's turntable after Bulk Biceps helps her with a heavy load of boxes. She has supporting or minor roles in Pet Project, Subs Rock, Leaping Off the Page, and Get the Show on the Road. In The Canterlot Movie Club, she appears on the poster of the Daring Do movie.

She is a main focus helping her friends study for their final exams in The Finals Countdown, going on a date with Timber Spruce in Star Crossed, looking after Principal Celestia's garden in My Little Shop of Horrors, and dreading leaving school in The Last Day of School. In Queen of Clubs, Twilight appears in the CHS chemistry, wig, and robotics clubs. She is also a main focus in the beach shorts X Marks the Spot, Unsolved Selfie Mysteries, The Salty Sails, and Friendship Math, and has supporting or minor roles in School of Rock, A Fine Line, Overpowered, Road Trippin, Super Squad Goals, Outtakes, Pinkie Pie: Snack Psychic, Five to Nine, and So Much More to Me.

She briefly appears in Reboxing with Spike!, outraged that Spike used her credit card to buy some very expensive pet products. In Street Magic with Trixie!, she secretly helps Trixie with her show by levitating all of her magic supplies to impress the audience. In Twilight Under the Stars, Twilight attends the Canterlot Celestial Society Members' Social where Timber Spruce and Pinkie Pie help her talk to her favorite scientist, Rosette Nebula. She makes supporting or minor appearances in Schedule Swap, Five Stars, and FOMO.

In the Choose Your Own Ending shorts, Twilight is cast as Selfie Soot's mother in the school play. She is the main focus of Text Support and Stressed in Show, and she is one of three possible endings in Best Trends Forever, All the World's Off Stage, and Opening Night. She also makes minor appearances in Fluttershy's Butterflies, Rarity Investigates: The Case of the Bedazzled Boot, and Happily Ever After Party.

In Forgotten Friendship, Twilight Sparkle and her friends are members of the Canterlot High Yearbook club. Along with the rest of the school, her good memories of Sunset Shimmer are erased by Wallflower Blush using the memory stone. Consequently, her only memory of Sunset was when she yelled at her during the Friendship Games, and does not remember their friendship. Her esteem for Sunset gets worse when Sunset accidentally destroys the selfie drone she built. After seeing Sunset jump in front of a blast from the memory stone intended to erase their memories of high school, she and her friends use their geode powers to destroy the memory stone and restore the school's memories. They later win the "Best Friends" yearbook superlative.

In Rollercoaster of Friendship, Twilight and her friends travel to the Equestria Land theme park during its grand opening to support Rarity, who got a job there as a fashion designer. The Rainbooms also get booked as the centerpiece for the park's light parade by Rarity's boss, the park's head of pubic relations Vignette Valencia. Twilight then goes off with Sunset Shimmer and competes in a ring toss game operated by Flim and Flam. Despite her knowledge of physics and Sunset's beliefs that the game is rigged, they waste all their tickets trying in vain to win the game, and eventually leave to get ice cream without winning. As they prepare for the concert, Twilight, Pinkie and Sunset are teleported into Vignette's Equestrian magic-enchanted phone and are replaced by holograms after they oppose Vignette's effort to dramatically change the Rainbooms' image. Twilight tries to instruct Applejack to put a virus onto Vignette's phone to release them, but they eventually learn that they were in an empty white room in the park all along. The girls use their powers to destroy Vignette's phone during the parade and take their place as the parade's headliner. Photo Booth, the song they perform, is interspersed with clips of them enjoying the park.

In Spring Breakdown, Twilight organizes a cruise trip for herself and her friends to celebrate spring break. When she, Sunset, and Rainbow Dash discover a second portal to Equestria on an island in the middle of the ocean, she goes through, transforms into a glasses-wearing unicorn, and meets her Equestrian princess counterpart again.

Lemon Zest: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

Indigo Zap: It's such an honor to meet you all.

Sour Sweet: Yeah it sure is.

Me: Same to all of you. We heard that you all want to leave Crystal Prep because of problems with Cinch.

Trenderhoof: You got that right. She doesn't deserve to be our principal and school leader after everything that happened in the Friendship Games.

Sugarcoat: Yeah she is a terrible leader.

Me: I don't blame all of you. Midnight Sparkle was a good wakeup call for you all. Canterlot High School is much better for you. But also I think our school is just as good too.

Indigo Zap: I can see that. So you all came here to recruit us?

Me: We sure did. You see, we're forming a branch team for all the friends of Equestria and/or Canterlot High. We're calling it The Knights of The Friendship Table.

Sunset Shimmer: Ooh. Stylish and it has a perfect Medieval Theme to it.

Me: It was the first name that came to my mind. Plus I figured it would add so much pizzazz to it.

Neon Light: It's a beautiful name.

Sunny Flare: I think so too.

Royal Pin: I agree.

Lemon Zest: It's great to see you all again.

Sci-Twi: And it's such an honor to meet you.

Me: It's a pleasure and wow! I didn't know you all had another version of Twilight Sparkle here. It's like we're seeing another

Twilight in a mirror.

Twilight Sparkle: It sure does fell that way.

Sci-Twi: To avoid confusion I am called Sci-Twi.

Twilight Sparkle: It's my nickname for her.

Rainbow Dash: It's a good nickname for her.

Me: Awesome. Lets have lunch so we can talk this over.

Nico: Good idea.

We went to the Cafeteria and talked it over with them.

Apple Bloom: So J.D. how did you get Diamond Tiara to join us?

Me: Well that wasn't easy but it took some doing.

---

At Ponyville Schoolhouse for Filies, I was walking over to the school and saw all the kids playing and having fun.

Me: Wow. Look at all the kids having fun.

Boysenberry: Wow! J.D. Knudson!

All the Filies came over to me.

Silver Spoon: It's such an honor to meet you J.D.

Me: Pleasure to meet all of you too.

Diamond Tiara: (Shaking in fear) Are you here to hurt me?

Me: No way Diamond Tiara. I came to recruit some of you.

Boysenberry: Wow!

Diamond Tiara: This is gonna be awesome!

Me: I heard your mother is a rich pony Diamond.

Diamond Tiara: Yes she is.

Me: Well it's good you helped change her ways. Also some of you all show amazing promise to be part of my new branch team that I'm making for the Ponies and Humans of Equestria. I call it the Knights of the Friendship Table.

Lily Longsocks: Wow!

Pipsqueak: (British Accent) That's a most amazing name.

Little Red: It sure is.

Zipporwhill: (Latin American Accent) It is really beautiful.

Me: Thank you all. If you all join my new Team Loud Phoenix Storm academy you all can have a chance to join.

Everyone cheered wildly.

Me: And Diamond Tiara, The Cutie Mark Crusaders told me to recruit you because you are on the road to redemption after they helped you.

Diamond Tiara: Thank you so much! I won't let you down!

Me: I know you won't.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Nico: So Apple Bloom and her friends recommended it.

Me: Yep.

Diamond Tiara: And it's an honor to be part of the team.

Me: Cool. We're also heading out later to recruit the legendary Ponies of Magic. We're going to recruit Mistmane, Rockhoof, Star Swirl the Bearded and even Mage Meadowbrook.

Rarity: WOW! Mistmane is my favorite legend!

Twilight Sparkle: Just like Star Swirl is my favorite.

Applejack: And Rockhoof is my favorite.

Me: It'll be cool having your heroes on the team.

Nico: It sure will be.

Eli: Awesome!

Twilight Sparkle: It sure will be awesome. I can't wait.

Adagio Dazzle: We'll be more than happy to help out.

Nico: Sweet!

We then went to Equestria and set out to find the legendary Ponies of Magic.

In the forests of Equestria we found the famous Mistmane!

---

Mistmane is a female unicorn pony and figure of Equestrian legend first mentioned in season six's The Crystalling - Part 2. She makes her first physical appearance in My Little Pony: Legends of Magic Issue #3 and her first in-show appearance in the season seven episode Campfire Tales.

Mistmane is first mentioned in The Crystalling - Part 2 by Sunburst as the subject of a spell called "Mistmane's Material Amity".

In Campfire Tales, Mistmane is the subject of a campfire story told by Rarity, and her tale is Rarity's and later Sweetie Belle's favorite legend. In the story, Mistmane is a talented sorceress renowned for her beauty and kindness. The love and attention she gets from her friends and family causes her best friend, Sable Spirit, to become jealous. While Mistmane is away at magic school, Sable casts a spell to make herself beautiful, but it backfires and makes her hideous instead. As a result, she decides to take beauty away from everyone and everything else, making herself empress and leading the village into a state of decline.

When Mistmane returns home and finds her friends suffering, she confronts Sable Spirit on her oppression and challenges her to a magic duel, eventually defeating her. Wanting to do more for her friend, Mistmane casts a spell that restores Sable and the village's beauty while sacrificing her own. Sable, moved by her friend's sacrifice, rules with kindness and compassion from then on, and Mistmane dedicates her life to spreading beauty throughout Equestria.

In the season seven finale Shadow Play, Mistmane is revealed to be one of the six "Pillars of Old Equestria" alongside Rockhoof, Flash Magnus, Somnambula, Mage Meadowbrook, and Star Swirl the Bearded. Mistmane represents the Element of Beauty. Long ago, she and the other Pillars were brought together by the unicorn Stygian to battle a great evil. When Stygian later turned into the Pony of Shadows, Mistmane and the others sacrificed themselves to imprison him in limbo.

In the present day, Rarity retrieves Mistmane's everlasting flower for a ritual to free the Pillars from limbo. When the Pony of Shadows is freed along with them, Mistmane and the other Pillars team up with the Mane Six to separate Stygian from the darkness and banish it to limbo once again. She and the other Pillars later decide to travel Equestria, to see what has become of their old homes and find their place in this new land.

In School Daze - Part 1 and Non-Compete Clause, a bust of Mistmane appears in the School of Friendship. In A Rockhoof and a Hard Place, Mistmane appears as the official crystal landscaper of the Crystal Empire.

In The Ending of the End - Part 1, Mistmane and her fellow Pillars face off against Lord Tirek, but they are easily overpowered and drained of their magic due to Tirek being empowered by the Bewitching Bell. In Part 2, she and the Pillars keep Tirek, Queen Chrysalis, and Cozy Glow busy while Twilight's friends escape. She is later present during the final battle against the villains and helps the Mane Six and Young Six defeat them. In The Last Problem, Mistmane attends Twilight Sparkle's coronation ceremony. She also briefly appears in Rarity's group shot during The Magic of Friendship Grows.

We found her grave in the forest and I resurrected her and she had her beauty back. She was back and more beautiful than ever.

In the desert we found the statue of Somnambula.

---

Somnambula (/sɒmˈnæmbjuːlə/, sahm- NAM -byoo-luh) is a female Pegasus and figure of Equestrian legend first mentioned in season six's The Crystalling - Part 2. She makes her first appearance in the IDW comics' My Little Pony: Legends of Magic Issue #5 and her first in-show appearance in the season seven episode Daring Done?

In the My Little Pony: Legends of Magic series, Somnambula appears on cover A of Issue #1 and as the central character of Issue #5. In the latter issue, Pinkie Pie reads Sunburst a story about Somnambula written by Star Swirl the Bearded, which details her role as Prince Hisan's advisor after rescuing him from the sphinx. One day, a giant snake appears in the village and starts devouring Hisan's palace and royal guards. Somnambula, depicted as a blithe optimist throughout the entire ordeal, requests a long wooden pole from the exasperated prince before flying up to question the snake, and it swallows her as well.

Somnambula ventures deeper into the snake's belly, using her luminescent glowpaz necklace to light the way. She finds various ponies and animals who have also fallen victim to the snake, giving each of them a piece of glowpaz and directing them to the mouth. Somnambula eventually discovers the cause of the snake's massive size to be an old wizard's cursed stone that it ingested. She uses the wooden pole to pry open the snake's jaws enough to toss the stone out, causing the snake to shrink and spit out everyone it devoured at once. Somnambula is subsequently hailed as a hero, and Hisan swears to never again question her judgment.

Somnambula also appears on My Little Pony: Legends of Magic Issue #7's cover B and cover RI and in Issue #10 freeing Prince Hisan from a cursed emerald brooch. On Issue #11 page 13, Flash Magnus calls her Cleopatrot. In subsequent issues, she and the other Pillars face the Sirens and later an alternate version of the Pony of Shadows.

On My Little Pony: Nightmare Knights Issue #1 page 3, Somnambula appears in Stygian's nightmare, and she also appears as a carousel horse on My Little Pony: Nightmare Knights Issue #3 cover B and Issue #4 cover B, and also in Stygian's nightmare on Issue #4 page 3.

In My Little Pony: Friendship is Magic Issue #84, Ocellus briefly takes on Somnambula's appearance as part of her school project. She also appears on the A cover of Issue #88.

---

We brought her back to life and she agreed to join us.

Next on we went to find the grave of the legendary Rockhoof and we were on the volcanic island.

---

Rockhoof is a male Earth pony and figure of Equestrian legend first mentioned in season six's The Crystalling - Part 2. He makes his first physical appearance in My Little Pony: Legends of Magic Issue #2 and his first in-show appearance in the season seven episode Campfire Tales.

Rockhoof is first mentioned in The Crystalling - Part 2 by Sunburst as the subject of a spell called "Rockhoof's Rapport".

In Campfire Tales, Rockhoof is the subject of a campfire story told by Applejack, and is her and Apple Bloom's favorite legend. In the story, Rockhoof is the son of a farmer who lives in a village at the foot of a great volcano. He dreams of joining an elite group of pony guards called the Mighty Helm. Unfortunately, he is too scrawny to even pull an axe out of a tree stump. The guardsponies ridicule him for his weak stature, giving him a shovel and telling him to stick to farming and digging.

One day, the volcano near the village erupts and threatens to destroy it. When the villagers refuse to abandon their homes, Rockhoof uses his shovel to dig a trench and divert the lava's flow. Through his determination and sheer force of will, Rockhoof miraculously transforms into a larger, more powerful stallion, giving him enough strength to finish digging the trench and save the village from destruction. His achievement earns him the respect of his fellow villagers and acceptance into the Mighty Helm's ranks.

In the season seven finale Shadow Play, Rockhoof is revealed to be one of the six "Pillars of Old Equestria" with Mistmane, Flash Magnus, Somnambula, Mage Meadowbrook, and Star Swirl the Bearded, representing the Element of Strength. Long ago, he and the other Pillars were brought together by the unicorn Stygian to battle a great evil. When Stygian later turned into the Pony of Shadows, Rockhoof and the others sacrificed themselves to imprison him in limbo.

In present day, Applejack retrieves Rockhoof's shovel for a ritual to free the Pillars from limbo. When the Pony of Shadows is freed along with them, Rockhoof and the other Pillars team up with the Mane Six to separate Stygian from the darkness and banish it to limbo once again.

In Non-Compete Clause, a bust of Rockhoof appears in the School of Friendship.

In A Rockhoof and a Hard Place, Rockhoof has trouble fitting into the modern world. After the Mane Six fail several times to find a new role for him in Equestria, including as a teacher at the School of Friendship, he asks Twilight Sparkle to turn him into a stone statue. With some convincing from Twilight, Yona, and the school students, Rockhoof is appointed as Equestria's "keeper of tales", finally granting him a purpose in modern Equestria.

In Sounds of Silence, Rockhoof is mentioned as having given Twilight some information on the Kirin.

In The Ending of the End - Part 1, Rockhoof and his fellow Pillars face off against Lord Tirek, but they are easily overpowered and drained of their magic due to Tirek being empowered by the Bewitching Bell. As a result, Rockhoof returns to his original, scrawny self. In Part 2, he and the Pillars keep Tirek, Queen

Chrysalis, and Cozy Glow busy while Twilight's friends escape. He is later present during the final battle against the villains, having been teleported along with the other Pillars (and restored to his more powerful form) by Twilight's magic, and helps the Mane Six and Young Six defeat them.

In The Last Problem, Rockhoof attends Twilight Sparkle's coronation ceremony. He also briefly appears in Applejack's group shot during The Magic of Friendship Grows.

---

We brought him back to life and we had him join us.

Next we found Star Swirl the Bearded living in a magical library.

Star Swirl the Bearded is a male unicorn who is alluded to in various episodes and other media before making his first physical appearance in the season seven finale Shadow Play. He also appears in the IDW comics and Budge Studios' mobile game Harmony Quest . He is first mentioned by Twilight Sparkle in Luna Eclipsed as "the most important conjurer of the pre-classical era."

Star Swirl the Bearded is first mentioned by Twilight in Luna Eclipsed when she explains her costume to Spike. She calls Star Swirl "the father of the amniomorphic spell", "the most important conjurer of the pre-classical era", and adds "he created more than 200 spells! He even has a shelf in the Canterlot library of magic named after him." Later in the episode, Princess Luna recognizes Twilight's costume as Star Swirl and compliments her for it, stating she "even got the bells right", but other ponies guess that Twilight is dressing as a "weirdo clown" or a "country music singer". In Dragon Quest, a photo shows Twilight wearing the costume.

According to the pageant staged in Hearth's Warming Eve, Star Swirl was the mentor of Clover the Clever, one of the founders of Equestria. In It's About Time, Twilight searches for time spells in a wing of the Canterlot library that is named after Star Swirl and displays part of his cutie mark above its door. Twilight says that it is the most secure section of the archives, and is eventually let into the section by one of the guards patrolling the library.

Season three

At the end of The Crystal Empire - Part 2, Princess Luna summons a spiral-bound book that has a dark cover which shows four stars and a swirly pattern. In Magical Mystery Cure, a flashback shows the book having been mailed to Twilight in a package with a letter from Princess Celestia. The letter states that the last page of the book contains Star Swirl's "secret unfinished masterpiece", an abandoned spell which he was never able to get right. When Twilight finally fixes the spell Princess Celestia states that Twilight accomplished what even Star Swirl could not, because he did not understand friendship like Twilight does.

Season four

In Three's A Crowd, Twilight and Princess Cadance visit a traveling museum dedicated to Star Swirl the Bearded. Twilight wears her Star Swirl costume to the museum, and seven other ponies are seen wearing their own variations of the costume: Amethyst Star, Meadow Song, "Ponet", Warm Front, "Serena", Prim Posy, and S04E11 Unnamed Earth Mare #1. At the museum, the two princesses spot a candlestick that was used by Star Swirl to light the way when he was exploring the caverns of Maretania.

Star Swirl is depicted in a storybook illustration in Twilight's Kingdom - Part 1, addressed as "a young unicorn wizard" by Princess Celestia. He is shown to have befriended Scorpan, leading him to turn against his evil brother Lord Tirek.

Season five

In The Cutie Re-Mark - Part 1, Starlight Glimmer modifies Star Swirl's time travel spell and uses it to travel into the past and change history. At the end of The Cutie Re-Mark - Part 2, the scroll containing the spell disappears through a time portal.

Season six

In A Hearth's Warming Tail, Twilight Sparkle says that "everypony knows that Star Swirl was an expert at everything from transfiguration, dimensional calibration, [and] teleportation".

Season seven

In Celestial Advice, a photo of Twilight dressed as Star Swirl is seen in Twilight's bedroom. Starlight also mentions one of Star Swirl's spells in a simulation made by Twilight.

In the season seven finale Shadow Play, Star Swirl is revealed to be one of the six "Pillars of Old Equestria" with Rockhoof, Mistmane, Flash Magnus, Somnambula, and Mage Meadowbrook, representing the Element of Sorcery. Long ago, he and the other Pillars were brought together by the unicorn Stygian to battle a great evil. When Stygian later turned into the Pony of Shadows, Star Swirl and the others sacrificed themselves to imprison him in limbo.

In present day, Twilight casts a spell to free Star Swirl and the Pillars from limbo, inadvertently freeing the Pony of Shadows along with them. Due to his lack of experience in friendship, Star Swirl initially dismisses Twilight's help and blames her for the Pony of Shadows' freedom. He eventually learns to recognize both Twilight and Starlight Glimmer's talents, and he and the other Pillars team up with the Mane Six to separate Stygian from the darkness and banish it to limbo once again. At the end of the episode, Star Swirl reunites with his old pupils Celestia and Luna and departs to see how much Equestria has changed in his absence.

Season eight

In School Daze - Part 1 and Non-Compete Clause, a bust of Star Swirl appears in the School of Friendship. In Horse Play, Sandbar portrays Star Swirl in Twilight's stage play, which depicts how he and five other unicorns would raise the sun in the days before Celestia took on the responsibility.

In Friendship University, Star Swirl enrolls at Flim and Flam's titular school to learn more about friendship after spending some time traveling Equestria and helping ponies. When Twilight shows distrust toward Flim and Flam and their true motives for opening the school, Star Swirl expresses disappointment at her apparent jealousy. However, Flim and Flam are eventually revealed to have been scamming ponies out of their bits in order to fund the expansion of their Las Pegasus resort, and Star Swirl forces the two to refund their students' money and close the school.

In A Rockhoof and a Hard Place, Mage Meadowbrook mentions that Star Swirl is still learning about friendship. In School Raze - Part 1, Star Swirl sends a message to the princesses in Canterlot explaining that magic is disappearing all across Equestria and will be completely gone in three days.

In The Beginning of the End - Part 2, Star Swirl senses the destruction of the Tree of Harmony and joins Celestia and Luna in holding off the Everfree Forest's encroachment upon Ponyville. In Sparkle's Seven, he safeguards Canterlot Castle with shards of Queen Chrysalis' throne. In The Point of No Return, a "G1" figurine of Star Swirl is among Twilight's childhood belongings delivered to her school.

Star Swirl is mentioned by Princess Celestia in Between Dark and Dawn, and by Rainbow Dash in A Trivial Pursuit. In Growing Up is Hard to Do, Twilight receives a magic flower from Star Swirl that the Cutie Mark Crusaders accidentally use to turn into grown-ups.

In The Ending of the End - Part 1, Star Swirl and his fellow Pillars face off against Lord Tirek, but they are easily overpowered and drained of their magic due to Tirek being empowered by the Bewitching Bell. In Part 2, he and the Pillars keep Tirek, Chrysalis, and Cozy Glow busy while Twilight's friends escape. He is later present during the final battle against the villains and helps the Mane Six and Young Six defeat them.

In The Last Problem, Star Swirl attends Twilight Sparkle's coronation ceremony. He also briefly appears in Twilight's group shot during The Magic of Friendship Grows.

---

It was an honor to meet him and he agreed to help us.

And lastly we met Mage Meadowbrook.

---

Mage Meadowbrook, or simply Meadowbrook, is a female Earth pony and figure of Equestrian legend first mentioned in season five's The Cutie Map - Part 1. She makes her first physical appearance in My Little Pony: Friendship is Magic Issue #58 and her first in-show appearance in the season seven episode A Health of Information.

Mage Meadowbrook is first mentioned in the season five premiere The Cutie Map - Part 1 and Part 2, where she is described as a great Eastern unicorn sorceress. In Part 1, Starlight Glimmer claims her "Staff of Sameness" to be one of Meadowbrook's nine enchanted items. In Part 2, Twilight Sparkle states that Meadowbrook only had eight.

In A Health of Information, Meadowbrook is revealed to be a legendary healer known as the "Mystical Mask" and the subject of a folktale that Fluttershy's parents often told her when she was a filly. Long ago, she studied medicine under her mother and kept multiple journals. In one of her journal entries, Meadowbrook contends with a Swamp Fever epidemic that infects her mother and fellow villagers. While searching for a cure, she discovers that flash bees are immune to the disease-spreading flower's poison.

Using her healer's mask to shield herself from the bees, Meadowbrook collects some of their honey and uses it to develop a cure for the epidemic. Afterward, she dedicates her life to helping other sick ponies across Equestria. In the present, Meadowbrook is stated to have mysteriously vanished without a trace one day, and Cattail is her only known descendant. When Zecora comes down with Swamp Fever, Fluttershy cures her by using the notes and healer's mask that Meadowbrook left behind.

In the season seven finale Shadow Play, Meadowbrook is revealed to be one of the six "Pillars of Old Equestria" with Rockhoof, Mistmane, Flash Magnus, Somnambula, and Star Swirl the Bearded, representing the Element of Healing. Long ago, she and the other Pillars were brought together by the unicorn Stygian to battle a great evil. When Stygian later turned into the Pony of Shadows, Meadowbrook and the others sacrificed themselves to imprison him in limbo.

In present day, Fluttershy retrieves Meadowbrook's mask from Cattail for a ritual to free the Pillars from limbo. When the Pony of Shadows is freed along with them, Meadowbrook and the other Pillars team up with the Mane Six to separate Stygian from the darkness and banish it to limbo once again. She and the other Pillars later decide to travel Equestria to see what has become of their old homes and find their place in this new land.

In School Daze - Part 1, Meadowbrook's bust appears in the School of Friendship. In A Rockhoof and a Hard Place, Meadowbrook briefly appears selling potions out of her old Hayseed Swamp home.

In The Ending of the End - Part 1, Meadowbrook and her fellow Pillars face off against Lord Tirek, but they are easily overpowered and drained of their magic due to Tirek being empowered by the Bewitching Bell. In Part 2, she and the Pillars keep Tirek, Queen Chrysalis, and Cozy Glow busy while Twilight's friends escape. She is later present during the final battle against the villains and helps the Mane Six and Young Six defeat them. In The Last Problem, Meadowbrook attends Twilight Sparkle's coronation ceremony. She also briefly appears in Fluttershy's group shot during The Magic of Friendship Grows.

Mage Meadowbrook is mentioned by Fluttershy in one of the latter's past memories of A Health of Information in Memnagerie.

She agreed to come with us and it was a great time as we had some of the awesome legends with us now. We also recruited Moondancer and Trixie as well.

2 Schools have been brought together and it was awesome.

---

Later Nico, Lincoln, Lola and Laney were in the Estate and they were watching The Simpsons. They were watching the Treehouse of Horror XX and they saw the segment episode Don't Have a Cow Mankind which was a parody of the British zombie apocalypse movie 28 Days Later.

---

In a parody of 28 Days Later and Children of Men, Kent Brockman is reporting on Krusty's new Burger², which is a burger that is invented from cannibalistic cows.

Despite this madness, everyone seems eager to eat the new burger, jokingly labelled as a "crime against nature" by Kent, who is the first person to have a bite of the new burger. Unfortunately for him, the burger is not what it seems. Within seconds, he transforms into a pale, grey-eyed zombie known as a Muncher. He bites Krusty, who also becomes a Muncher. When Muncher Kent bites Jeremy Freedman, he also becomes infected with the virus and turns into another Muncher, giving them extremely pale skin, grey eyes with dark red bruising around the bottom of each eye, and constantly drool infectious saliva.

Within 28 days (a reference to the actual film), the Muncher Virus has completely affected Springfield with all of its inhabitants dead or infected. Here, Ned Flanders, Lurleen Lumpkin, Jack Marley, Cookie Kwan, Cletus Spuckler, Brandine Spuckler, and many others have all been infected and become Munchers. Moe, however, is captured by the Munchers, but does not put up any resistance (seemingly because he has nothing to lose) and instead advises them to wash him before eating him, which they appreciate.

In response to this, the Simpsons have boarded up their house completely and refuse to let anyone in (not even Grampa, who gets killed and later infected). However, Bart sneaks out, gets a Burger², and eats it without suffering any ill effects, leaving his parents puzzled. While strangling Bart, Homer uses Bart's head to dial the buttons on the telephone and calls Dr. Hibbert, who is besieged by Munchers in his office. While fighting them off with a variety of medical equipment, and eventually getting bitten while requesting that they tell his wife that he loves her, Hibbert says that it is possible that Bart is immune to the burger's virus and instructs the Simpsons to go to a "safe zone".

When the family tries to sneak out of their house to their car (which is inexplicably unharmed when everything else is destroyed) to take Bart to the safe zone, Homer loudly exclaims his relief for getting out of the house, attracting the entire Muncher population of Springfield. Homer tries to hold the front door shut, but it collapses under the onslaught. Fleeing through the sitting and living rooms, Homer shouts to flee to the non-existent panic room as Munchers come down the chimney. The family is forced to detour through the kitchen when a zombie Rod and Todd come through the dog flap, barely avoiding Grampa when he bursts through the window.

Eventually, Rainier Wolfcastle kills the Munchers blocking the door and says (in Terminator fashion), "Come with me, if you want to live", but is immediately swarmed and affected as Homer remarks on "another politician who can't keep his promises". At that moment, Apu (who is uninfected due to his vegetarianism, and the fact that, as a store clerk, he has weapons stocked, while his wife is seen as a muncher, and his octuplets might be munchers, too) arrives in an armored SUV, driving the family out of Springfield.

While driving their way to the "safe zone", Helen Lovejoy attacks the car and, though initially reluctant because Helen is Lisa's godmother, Marge relents and shoots her off of the car after Apu tells Helen to "Apologize in Hell!" However, the SUV gets stuck in a pile of junk at the city dump. Apu sends the vehicle on its way by pushing it down the pile, unintentionally staying behind as he gets devoured (because Marge thinks that he gave his life for them). When the SUV runs out of fuel, the Simpsons are forced to travel the rest of the path to the "safe zone" on foot with Homer guarding them with an M14 Rifle.

Halfway there, they notice a muncher Mr. Burns and a muncher Smithers lying unconscious by the road. Homer takes the opportunity to make fun of Burns, who surprisingly springs back to life and bites Homer's hand, infecting him as well. When Homer rejoins the family, they all notice his changes. Bart then rips the rifle out of his hands and threatens to kill him, but Marge takes the gun for herself and points out that he can be cured once at the safe zone.

With Homer seemingly being able to hold back his urge to kill, they make it to the safe zone, where a stationed soldier says that they need to eat Bart in order to gain his immunity. Not wanting to sacrifice her son, Marge advocates for an alternative. Some time later, Lisa narrates that the world has returned to normal, as the survivors gained immunity to the Muncher plague and the surviving Munchers were cured, by eating soup with Bart's antibodies (something made possible due to putting him inside the cooking pot). Only Homer remains infected, but he is locked up in a cage, seemingly because he refuses to eat the food his son has been bathing in, leaving him not complaining.

They were shocked that a burger made by Krusty could turn a whole town into a Zombie Apocalypse Hellhole.

Nico: GEEZ!

Lincoln: No kidding.

Laney: Horrible and scary. But I think we were given our next mission and we can also go into war against the citizens of Springfield.

Lola: No kidding. We can kill 2 birds with one stone in this.

Nico: Good idea. Hey J.D.

I came in.

Me: What's up dude?

Nico: I think I just found our next mission. How would you like to go into battle against the whole town of Springfield, Oregon.

Me: Now you're talking man.

We went into the Simulator for this.

---

We got ready for the Simulator and we were gonna have awesome fun.

Red X, Chalmers, Webstor, Katnappe, Common Cold and Beautiful Gorgeous were gonna have our usual battles with us and all the Masters of Evil were with us this time.

The Simulator activate and we were in Springfield, Oregon and we were on a building and we gasped.

Me: Whoa! What the hell happened here!?

Nico: The whole town is completely overrun with zombies.

Webstor: Are you happy to be in Springfield again, Chalmers?

Chalmers: I would if it weren't for the fact that there are zombies!

Red X: (sees something) Including a zombie version of you.

Nico: These are called Munchers.

Skinner: And a zombie version of me and others.

Selma: This is awful.

Me: Oh crap!

Chalmers: That's what I looked like as a Muncher!?

Krusty: This is all my fault!

Lisa Simpson: If you hadn't made that crime against nature this wouldn't have happened Krusty!

Me: What!? You made a burger that did this!?

Krusty: Yeah it was called Burger Squared. I made it with Grade A beef and fed that to other cows and killed them and turned them into burgers on buns.

I grabbed Krusty and braced him against the wall.

Me: KRUSTY THAT IS A CRIME AGAINST NATURE! HAVE YOU

LOST YOUR MIND!?

Krusty: And it was the worst mistake I've ever done!

Me: You better believe it is! But then again this town was doomed from the very start. Also when we get these people either cured or killed we can throw this town's version of Mr. Burns and Quimby in the prison of the Masters of Evil.

Vypra: That's a great idea. Since Grim already has a version of Burns burning in Hell it will be perfect.

Michael Morningstar: And I thought the zombie girls caused by my dark side were horrifying.

Me: I remember that Michael. I can't believe you did all that.

Michael Morningstar: No kidding.

Princess Rose: To make time for the usual battles, we need to distract the zombies with something.

Nico: But how are we gonna do that? We can't go out there as live bait.

Maria: (smirks) Don't worry. I came prepared.

Maria pulled out the Portrait of Marge Simpson.

Homer: Oh I see what you're gonna do Maria.

Lisa Simpson: Marge deserves this!

Me: Normally I wouldn't wish this on my worst enemy but in this kind of case, I'll make an exception.

I used my magic and brought Marge back to life and she was back.

Marge: Now you all brought me back!? What took you all so long!?

Homer: I'm sorry, Marge. But all of us can't deal with your nagging anymore.

Marge: My nagging?! You should be using Krusty as bait. That worthless clown caused all of this!

Me: Shut your trap you old Bag! You brought all this on yourself for helping Mr. Burns!

Bart: Yeah "Mom!"

Becky: (The Simpsons) Let these zombies tear you apart!

Krusty: (to Marge) You're right. I did cause all of this! But at least I admit I screwed up. Heck, I'm even making up for it right now!

Marge: I don't care!

She picked up a knife and charged at him!

Sophie then kicked Marge in the face and sent her crashing into a wall on the ground below and then the Munchers were chasing her.

Sophie Krustovsky: You stay away from my daddy!

?: Let me join in on the battles.

A figure came out and it was FRAGRA from episode 19 of Ninja Storm!

---

Fragra is a magician-like perfume and hand-themed alien monster who serves as the primary antagonist of the episode "Scent of a Ranger".

She was summoned by Zurgane to use her fragrance when Lothor was having a bad day to transform people into bottles of perfume, she first captures two girls in perfume bottles, she gets fought by all six of Ninja storm Rangers (With Cam being absent due to Cyber Cam "taking" his place) and summons an army of Kelzaks to aid her in battle, she manages to capture Dustin and Tori when they went to check on "Cam's" strange behaver, the remaining Rangers come to their rescue (along with the real Cam who came backed and returned Cyber Cam back to Ninja Ops) and battled her in her factory, as the Red Ranger went out to find the others, the Thunder Rangers, as well as the Green Ranger manages to overpower Fragra, but annoyed, she launch her Ninja Star Fireballs at both the Rangers, and in the area with all of the Perfume bottles were Shane was, only for Shane to survive the attack and blasted her with his Hawk Blaster, after words he released all the people that Fragra had captured, including Dustin and Tori.

Furious that her plans had been stopped, she went all out on the Ninja Rangers, first pulling the Green Ranger out of the battle, and landing a major beat down on all five of the Ninja Storm Rangers, unfortunately that was a huge mistake, as little did she knew that the Green Ranger was watching on after getting back on his feet, and as she takes out the Ninja Storm Rangers one by one, the Green Ranger grew more and more angered seeing Fragra harming his friends, the Green Ranger transforms into his Super Samurai Mode, and did battle with her, Fragra was no match for the Green Ranger and was ultimately destroyed by the Green Ranger's powered up Samurai Saber. After she grows, the Green Ranger summons the Samurai Star Megazord to battle her, but he was quickly out matched until the Wind Rangers summon the Storm Megazord and transform it into its lightning mode to help him out, with the combined attacks of the Storm Megazord's Ramp attack and the Samurai Star Megazords Power Sphere #10, the Bee Spinner, they were able to destroy Fragra once and for all.

In the second and final part of the two-part series final episode "Storm Before the Calm", she, along with the other falling monsters, were free from the Abyss of Evil, and she was among the monsters to aid Lothor in the final battle.

---

Tori Hansen: Fragra!

Fragra: It's been a while rangers.

Me: I remember you! You turned a bunch of people into perfume bottles and turned some of the rangers into perfume bottles.

Fragra: That's right! Good memory on you.

Vypra: Told you he has a great memory.

Fragra: And I believe you.

Me: And when we face Lothor in the future he will be joining his fellow villains in the Warp.

Fragra: (to Cam) Is it really you this time, Green Ranger? Or is it really that admittingly cooler robot version of you?

Cam Watanabe: No it's really me.

Shane Clarke: Lets power up guys!

Ninja Storm Rangers: NINJA/THUNDER/SAMURAI STORM! RANGER FORM! HA!

The Ninja Storm Rangers all transformed!

Shane Clarke: (Echoing) POWER OF AIR!

Dustin Brooks: (Echoing) POWER OF EARTH!

Tori Hansen: (Echoing) POWER OF WATER!

Hunter Bradley: POWER OF CRIMSON THUNDER!

Blake Bradley: POWER OF NAVY THUNDER!

Cam Watanabe: POWER OF THE SAMURAI!

Ninja Storm Rangers: NINJA STORM!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

A Massive fiery explosion went off behind them.

Me: Time for some action!

They powered up and went at them.

Fluttershy: Oh you poor thing. You should be at home getting rest.

Common Cold: (Sneezes) I know but I am always like this. But I appreciate your concern.

Robin: He's always like this Fluttershy. He is a villain of the Kids Next Door after all.

Stalker: Yes he can't help but feel this way.

Kraven: (Russian Accent) I know you mean well comrade Fluttershy but he can't be cured of this. There is no cure for the Common Cold.

Fluttershy: I see. But being sick is no fun.

---

Battle 5: Red X

---

Hunter, Nuova Shenron, Applejack and Princess Rose were facing Red X.

Red X: I have a question I want to ask first.

Hunter: (German Accent) What is it?

Red X: I heard that a while back, that Tara made the ultimate sacrifice to redeem herself and destroy Slade. Is that true?

Hunter: Ja it is. Und she is a true hero. Let me show you.

Hunter showed an image of the past and they all saw the Ultimate Sacrifice of Tara Markov A.K.A. Terra.

Terra : You can't control me anymore!

(On the last word, pull back to a silhouette view of both. The light of her power burns around their outlines. From-the-ground shot of the two; that terrible glow stands out as a brilliant sphere in the dim upper expanse. It intensifies greatly and starts to spread down the sides of the pillar, then blossoms into an infernal explosion that wipes out the screen. When the view clears, we see the Titans looking on with complete shock. The dust before them clears to show Terra standing alone on a piece of floating rock, with Slade nowhere in sight. The column she raised has been obliterated.)

(She drops to her knees with a weary little groan. Now the entire underground complex begins to tremble as a jet of lava fountains up behind the Titans.)

Robin : Terra's power! It's triggered a volcano! (Another eruption; Cyborg checks his forearm panel.)

Cyborg : Big enough to take out the whole city! And way too big to stop! (Another one, which Raven blocks.)

Raven : We have to get out of here!

(Robin signals retreat, and all but Beast Boy follow.)

Beast Boy : Terra! (She floats down to him amid the cataclysm.) Come on! We gotta go!

Terra : (resolutely) I have to stay.

(The lava is now rising quickly, and more rocks are coming down.)

Beast Boy : (horrified) No!

Terra : I'm the only one who can stop it.

Beast Boy : Please, Terra, you can't! It's too late!

(She brushes the hair from her face, giving him a clear view of both eyes for the first time since she left him in the funhouse to join Slade.)

Terra : (smiles) It's never too late.

(His face softens as he realizes what this decision means; both for Jump City and for the flawed hero finally finding redemption, and Terra gives him one last hug. Close-up: Terra's eyes are filled with tears.)

Terra : You were the best friend I ever had.

(While more streams of molten rock spew forth around them, he backs carefully away from her. Their platform splits between them, and she sends his half away. He keeps his eyes fixed on her for as long as he possibly can; she stands on her perch, hands glowing at her sides and her body ramrod-straight. As soon as Beast Boy is within Cyborg's reach, he is pulled away and all five Titans bug out.)

(Fade in to a slow pan across the remains of Slade's lair. It is now totally quiet and still, and the lava has receded. The light through the stained-glass windows has gone out, and in the distance a small figure can be seen on an outcropping. Zoom in on this and dissolve to a close-up, still zooming; it is Terra, arms still spread wide, legs braced, hair blowing, but she has been turned to stone.)

Red X: Whoa!

Nuova Shenron: Tara is a true hero.

Princess Rose: She made the ultimate sacrifice to save her friends and kill slade.

Applejack: And in doing so she redeemed herself. She is a true hero. What honor.

Hunter: Ja. Und Shanan told me that she has an incredibly powerful hatred towards Slade after that. Her hatred towards Slade was intensely powerful.

Red X: Boy I don't blame her. After everything that Slade put Tara through, I would hate him forever for that.

Hunter: I feel the same way.

Red X: Yeah. Shall we dance?

Hunter: Lets.

Red X called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Applejack: Here's a technique I learned from J.D.'s mom. LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: THE THUNDER ROLLS!

Applejack floated into the air and she spread her wings and they formed into lightning surging with billions of volts of electricity and she had orbs of lightning form in her hands. The song The Thunder Rolls by Garth Brooks was playing and a raging thunderstorm formed in the background and she threw the orbs.

Hunter fired blasts of Black, Red and Yellow energy and Nuova Shenron and Princess fired blasts of fire and frog energy and the blasts all hit Red X and knocked him and his Pokemon out.

Applejack: YEEHAW! That was most awesome!

Hunter: Ja! It sure was.

Battle 6: Beautiful Gorgeous

Rita, Stormy Weather, Twilight Sparkle and Proto Man were facing Beautiful Gorgeous.

Rita: This is gonna be really fun for us.

Twilight Sparkle: It sure is.

Next up for part 5 is where we journey into the scary post-apocalyptic world of I Am Legend and we're going to destroy the Darkseeker Zombies after they were made because of a manmade virus and rescue the survivors of the planet.

See you all tomorrow.

A Zombie World of Darkness

In Twilight Sparkle's Room at the Estate, Twilight was having headaches and she was talking to herself.

Twilight Sparkle: I know I am part of you Midnight but after what happened with the Friendship Games, I won't let you come out and hurt people!

Midnight Sparkle: You will let me come out one of these days Twilight. I am part of you and you are part of me. I was made from you.

Twilight Sparkle: No!

I came in.

Me: Twilight are you okay?

Twilight Sparkle: Oh hey J.D. Yeah I'm okay.

Me: I heard you talking to yourself. Are you having a conversation with Midnight Sparkle?

Twilight Sparkle: More like an argument. She keeps wanting to come out whenever she feels like it and she won't leave me alone.

Me: Let me go in and talk to her. I can help you two work together.

Twilight Sparkle: You can do that J.D.?

Me: I sure can Twilight. I have that kind of power. Trust me on this.

Twilight Sparkle: Okay.

I placed my hand on her head and concentrated and I went inside her mind.

Inside Twilight Sparkle's Mind, Midnight Sparkle was looking at Twilight.

Me: Midnight stop.

I appeared and flew up to her.

Midnight Sparkle: Well if it isn't the famous J.D. Knudson of Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: So we meet at last Midnight Sparkle. I must admit, you are just as dangerous as I was told from Sunset Shimmer. Like a true goddess of evil.

Midnight Sparkle: Why thank you J.D. And it was because of the people of Crystal Prep that they gave me life.

Me: You don't have any idea what you are talking about Midnight. All that power caused by the magic. I know that feeling. I have great power. But I know how to use it right. With great power comes great responsibility.

Midnight Sparkle: You are wrong. With this power I can do anything I want and I will have everything!

Me: No Midnight. I came to help you become a better person. One that can use her powers for good.

Midnight Sparkle: If you're gonna Hakai me, do it. But I'm not gonna scream. I'll meet my end with dignity!

Me: No you won't Midnight and no I am not going to Hakai you. That would be way too easy. You will lose yourself to the darkness of your own hate and your own fear. You need to work together with Twilight and help her overcome the many great obstacles and challenges that lie ahead. Through the many awesome acts of friendship that you will be able to overcome those challenges. You have the power to do great things together. You can achieve them by working with your friends and learning with them.

I held out my hand and Midnight Sparkle never felt this kind of feeling before.

Midnight Sparkle: Why should I trust you?

Me: Because I will be your friend and help you learn from the mistakes you did during the Friendship Games and help you become a better person.

Midnight Sparkle then took my hand and then we both glowed in a massive orb of light!

Suddenly I came out of Twilight's mind and then I saw her glowing. twilight was then enveloped in a ball of magic and energy and her power was rising exponentially.

Me: Whoa!

Nico and everyone came in!

Nico: What's going on!?

Rainbow Dash: It's Twilight!

Sunset Shimmer: On no! She's turning into Midnight Sparkle again!

Me: No Sunset! This is something different.

She had a beautiful sparkling blue crystal dress and she had blue sparkling boots and she had sparkling gloves and she had a sparkling star necklace and a beautiful sparkling star hair ornament and she had a crown on her head with a symbol in the shape of her cutie mark with her hair in a ponytail and it had an aqua blue streak and she had a beautiful sparkling light purple tail and she had a long unicorn horn made of pure energy and she had amazing aqua blue and white wings of pure light and energy. She had become DAYDREAM SPARKLE!

Sunset Shimmer: Whoa!

Rainbow Dash: Whoa! This is incredible!

Me: Twilight how do you feel?

Twilight Sparkle: Me and Midnight have become one now thanks to you J.D. This is the same power Sunset used on me. I am now

Daydream Sparkle. I am now purified.

Sunset Shimmer: Wow! I knew you could do it Twilight.

Pinkie Pie: Awesome!

Krystal: (British Accent) You have now been cleansed of your darkness. I'm so proud of you Twilight.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2879.1: The U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix is heading back home after dealing with evil intergalactic slave traders in the Sombrero Galaxy and I am pleased to report that this mission was an absolute success.

Nico: Yep.

Lily: J.D. I'm getting a radio signal.

Me: Put it on speaker.

Man: (On the radio) My name is Robert Neville. I'm a survivor living in New York City. I am broadcasting on all AM Frequencies. I will be at the South Street Seaport every day at Midday when the Sun is highest in the sky. If you are out there, if anyone is out there, I can provide food, I can provide shelter, I can provide security. If there's anybody out there, anybody, please you are not alone.

Me: That's very unusual. I got a bad feeling about this one. We better go check it out.

Nico: Good idea.

Lincoln: Sensors are showing that it's coming from another Planet Earth that's located in the Triangulum Galaxy.

Me: Change course to where that radio signal came from.

Vince: Aye sir.

Eli: Here we go.

We were flying to where the signal came from.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate Supplemental: We have just received what we believed to be a distress signal coming from the Triangulum Galaxy on another Planet Earth. We are going there to investigate and see what's going on. Something is telling me that it's not gonna be good.

Nico: I hope that this Planet Earth is not like what we saw in the world of Resident Evil.

Linka: Me too.

Fluttershy: Yeah that was scary.

Me: I hope so too.

Lisa: We have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

We have arrived at an alternate planet Earth and it looked pretty much like our Earth.

Nico: This planet Earth looks just like our Earth.

Vince: Weird. It looks like it hasn't been altered in any way.

Me: Lets get down there and figure out what's going on.

Nico: Right.

Me: Nathaniel you have the con.

Nathaniel: Acknowledged Grandpa.

We went down to the planet and we were in New York City. But what we saw was nothing short of horrifying! We saw that New York City was totally deserted and it was completely empty. Not a single person in the city. There were cars that were ruined and grass and plants and trees were covering most of the buildings and animals were roaming freely and more.

Elec Man: Odd. Usually, there would be a crowd of zombies waiting to eat us by now.

Me: Hmm. This is unusual.

We walked around the city and we saw that it was completely deserted.

Lincoln: Where is everybody?

Laney: No idea.

Me: An empty city like this gives me the creeps.

Nico: What happened here?

Naruto: I don't know.

Me: New York City is usually called the City that Never Sleeps. But it's all totally deserted. Whatever happened here happened without a warning.

Twilight Sparkle: It sure gives me the creeps.

Me: Lets look around and see if we can find anyone or anything.

Nico: Right.

We walked around the city and saw that there was no human being anywhere. Not one soul.

Me: There's no one here.

?: Looks like someone got my signal.

We saw a man in a jacket and he had black pants and with him was his German Shepherd, Sam.

Me: Are you Robert Neville?

Robert Neville: I sure am. Dr. Robert Neville, Former United States Army Virologist.

Me: Pleasure to meet you. We are Team Loud Phoenix Storm and we received your broadcast as we were traveling through space.

Robert Neville: I'm glad you did.

Then Molten Man, Saïx, Larxene, Heat Wave, Firefly and Carly Carmine appeared.

Larxene: Thank goodness we aren't the only ones here.

Me: Molten Man, Saïx, Larxene, Heat Wave, Firefly and Carly Carmine.

Faye Carmine: Hi mommy!

Me: That's what we would like to know Max.

Larxene: You don't look unnerved by any of this, Saïx.

Saïx: Oh, believe me. I AM unnerved. I'm just hiding it well.

Me: You always did hide your emotions well.

Nico: Is this a good time to have our usual battles?

Larxene: It's always a good time.

Me: Well before we have our usual battles, we need to find some answers.

Vince: Yeah we need to figure out what happened here and where everyone is.

Robert Neville: I can tell you all at my place. Follow me.

We followed him and Sam and we got to his house and he took us to his laboratory and we saw that it was a strange lab.

Me: Wow. What's all this?

Robert Neville: I'm working on a cure that can help restore the human race.

Nico: What for?

Robert Neville: A virus broke out.

Robert Neville told us what happened. Most of the entire human race was wiped out by a deadly manmade virus called the Krippin Virus.

---

The Krippin Virus, also known as KV for short, is a fictional disease in the 2007 film adaption, I Am Legend and the spinoff graphic novel, I Am Legend: Awakening .

The Krippin Virus drastically changes its hosts' behaviour, causing extreme bloodlust and primal aggression. Infected hosts also suffer from albinism, total hair loss, and dilated pupils. Another major symptom is an extreme intolerance of ultraviolet light which causes UV radiation such as sunlight to burn the infected's skin.

KV also causes it's host's body to constantly pump itself full of adrenaline, giving the hosts enhanced strength and agility, but also drastically speeding up the host's metabolism, raises their heart beat and blood flow, and cause drastic changes in the host's body temperature.

Of the 6.8 billion people worldwide at the time the Krippin Virus was released, only 12 million people (~0.002% of the original population) are naturally immune to the airborne and contact strains of KV. Dogs are immune to the airborne strain, but are highly susceptible to the contact strain. Rats are also susceptible to KV, whereas birds, deer, lions and presumably all other animals are apparently immune to the virus.

Compound 6 also gradually cures its hosts who are infected with KV; it cures at least the psychological symptoms and some of the physical symptoms in rats, and cures humans when they are kept at low temperatures.

---

We gasped in horror!

Me: So that explains why no one is here.

Nico: Yeah. They all were turned into zombies that only come out at night!

Robert Neville: 6.2 billion people are dead. But out of that, only 588 million people are now these kinds of zombies. I call them Darkseekers. They are nocturnal vampiric zombies that only come out at night and the virus is spread through the air and through contact. But it will only affect those that are not immune.

Me: Are you one of those people immune?

Robert Neville: Yes I am and I'm working on a cure so that we can start the human race all over.

Me: It's good you are. But we can give you all a chance to start over on Our planet Earth with a new life and a brand new future.

Nico: If there are any survivors out there.

Me: Yeah. But can you show us what one of these Darkseekers look like?

Robert Neville: I sure can. Follow me.

He took us to a containment cage and we saw a Darkseeker strapped to a table and it was unconscious.

Me: Whoa. She looks like a bloodthirsty savage.

Laney: And ultraviolet light burns them like fire.

Lucy Loud: They are so much like vampires and they don't like sunlight.

Haiku: Very strange.

Aylene C.: Yeah and we have faced zombies before but never like this.

Me: Now we know what we're up against. But these scientists were REALLY playing with fire and they suffered the consequences big time for it.

Varie: Yeah. They unleashed a terrible variation of the Measles virus that destroyed 99% of the entire human race and now this whole planet is teetering on the Razors Edge of extinction. Hard to imagine it would backfire like this.

Apple Bloom: That is so terrible.

Apple Fritter: No kidding.

Molten Man: That's awful.

Larxene: Yeah.

Me: Hard to imagine that this virus was gonna be used to fight cancer.

Laney: And in the end it backfired big time.

Me: That's right. One lesson we've all learned is don't fuck around with Mother Nature.

Nico: Or there will be terrible consequences.

Vince: Yep.

Lincoln: Yep. And the entire planet paid the ultimate price.

Resident Evil Alice: No kidding. Just like with what I went through with the T-Virus.

Me: Yeah we've encountered a lot of zombies over the last 4 days and it was adventurous and horrifying. But this is proving to be an awesome opportunity to test out our Zombie Apocalypse Survival skills.

Shaun: I taught them how to survive in a Zombie Apocalypse and it is really paying off.

Me: Yep. Not to brag but Shaun here is the master when it comes to Zombie Apocalypse survival and he passed on his skills to us and they all paid off.

Robert Neville: I'm proud of all of you.

Me: Thanks Robert. Okay here's what we're gonna do.

I looked at my watch and saw that it was 11:15 AM.

Me: We have 7 hours until sunset. This will give us plenty of time to devise a plan, have our usual battles and look for survivors.

Nico: Okay.

Me: And I have a plan in mind. Lisa, my map of New York City please.

Lisa Loud pulled out a map of the New York City Perimeter.

Me: Thank you.

I laid out the map. I marked the city lines and marked the subway stations and underground areas where the Darkseekers were possibly hiding and marked our location with a red pin.

Me: The Darkseekers are going to be coming at us from all directions. To destroy them we need to trap them all in a massive area of light when it gets dark. Nico, Master Vegeta, can you light up the sky with energy blasts of sunlight?

Nico: Me and Vegeta know something much better.

Vegeta: When me and my people were under the terror of Frieza, we discovered a way to create artificial moonlight that is as bright as the sun and can illuminate the sky during the day.

Me: That's perfect. And Moonlight is the same as sunlight because the moon reflects the sun's light.

Nico: That's right. My people have invented this way to help them transform into giant apes.

Me: I was told about that. That's very genius. Okay. We need to fan out and find the survivors and get them on board our ship in space.

Nico: I can lead a bunch of search parties to find them.

Me: Good.

Rainbow Dash: It's scary that we have to face Zombies here that come out in the night. Don't they usually come out during the day?

Me: The undead never sleeps.

We came up with our plan. We're going to have Naruto make some Shadow Clones and he's going to lure all the Darkseekers into the city so we can form our trap. When the Darkseekers are all in the city all at once, we'll ambush them by forming a massive ball of artificial moonlight that will illuminate the sky and burn the zombies like with vampires when they are exposed to sunlight so we can all blast them.

Nico: That plan is brilliant!

Vince: It's perfect!

Carly: That's perfect. Okay then.

Me: All right. We have 4 hours. Lets do it!

We went out to the middle of the city and we were ready.

Then a figure came out and it was FLAME HYENARD!

Flame Man: Who are you?

Flame Hyenard: Flame Hyenard at your service!

Flame Hyenard creates two copies of himself that launch fireballs at Flame Man.

He dodges them.

Me: He's too hot to handle. Okay you guys know what to do. Lets go, lets go! Double Time! Lets go!

The groups of the usual battles stayed back and the rest of us fanned out to find survivors.

Larxene: Lets get this on!

The Usual Battles begin.

---

Heat Wave: With pleasure!

Heat Wave called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Firefly: Wow! Twilight you look amazing!

Lola: We were amazed ourselves.

Twilight Sparkle: Thanks guys. I now have the ability to transform into this at will without having to call on the powers of everyone and the Elements of Harmony to help me out. Shall we dance?

Sinestro: Indeed.

Power Girl: Shall we dance?

Saïx: I thought you would never ask.

He summoned his Claymore and called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Rarity transformed into her Crystal Guardian form and she unsheathed her sword.

Rarity: I learned this new sword technique. CRYSTAL STYLE SWORD ART: STAR SWORD COMBO!

---

The user rushes toward the opponent and performs four quick stabs directed at the opponents chest in a star shape formation, to try to cause the opponent to lose their balanced. This is followed by three quick slashes directed at the opponent's ankles. Finally, the user channels chakra to the tip of the sword and stabs the opponent, upon impact the opponent is knocked off their feet.

---

Rarity channeled her Crystal Style chakra into the blade and did incredible slashes in a star formation and made Saïx lose his balance and then she slashed his ankles and then she stabbed Saïx and knocked him off his feet.

Carol, Sinestro and Power Girl fired blasts of atomic energy and yellow energy and laser blasts and the blasts all hit Saïx and his Pokemon and knocked them down.

Rarity: Thank you all.

Carly Carmine: Those are nice monsters!

Applejack: Thank you. Before I got my cutie mark I wanted to live the sophisticated lifestyle. It was interesting.

Carly Carmine: I remember that.

Applejack: I chose these monsters because they remind me of the life my Aunt and Uncle Orange have.

Haiku: That's a great reason Applejack.

Firefly: Good thing my suit's protecting me from any zombie bites.

Me: Very versatile.

Me: And we're immune from them now too.

Molten Man: I'm now made of pure lava thanks to those chemicals.

Nico: They just keep on coming!

Laney: I sense that it's the last of them.

Nico: Good. I planted a nuke here.

Sailor Venus: We should probably get back to the ship now!

We beamed back to the ship.

Nico gave me the remote detonator.

THE END

---

Part 5 done.

I Am Legend with Will Smith was one scary movie from back in 2007 and it was so awful how Will Smith ended up becoming the only man left supposedly in New York City after a nasty virus got out of control. But Covid-19 is nothing compared to this virus on I Am Legend. But this was one scary chapter. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is another awesome movie from 1992 as we head out to the Middle Ages to battle the funny and scary army of the undead in the awesome 1992 movie ARMY OF DARKNESS! Get ready to laugh your heads off and be scared at the same time as we go up against the forces of the undead and use all kinds of crazy shenanigans to bring down the dark armies.

See you all tomorrow!

Facing the Funny Armies of the Undead

We were over in the floating cloud city of Equestria, Cloudsdale, the home of the Pegasi and it was really beautiful.

Me: Wow! Fluttershy your home is amazing!

Laney: It sure is and the clouds are so beautiful and soft and fluffy. It's like we're walking on marshmallows.

Lola: They sure feel like it.

Fluttershy: Thank you guys. It's a great place to call home.

Nico: This is amazing though.

Rarity: It sure is.

Me: Are we the first ever humans to visit Cloudsdale?

Fluttershy: I would assume so.

Twilight Sparkle: No pony other than Pegasi can live up here in Cloudsdale and it is amazing that we all can be up here now.

Lincoln: I guess our powers allow us to do that.

Linka: They sure do.

Fluttershy: I'm glad you all are here. Rainbow Dash has been having some problems. She is upset because her pet turtle Tank has to hibernate now and she wants to stop it because she wants Tank to be with her forever.

Me: Oh man. We can't stop hibernation. It's part of nature.

Nico: Yeah nothing we can do about that.

Vince: Yep.

Applejack: (Cowboy Accent) It's true.

Lily: Yep. One time I had to help Sandy get all of her stuff done before she went to sleep for the whole Winter.

Lori: I remember that. It was literally a nice thing you did for her and you came back home so mangled up that you were wrapped in bandages.

Fluttershy: Goodness.

Me: It's true Fluttershy. Sandy is our Squirrel friend from Bikini Bottom and she is really smart and athletic.

Lily: Yep.

Fluttershy: Wow.

We got to Rainbow Dash's house.

Fluttershy: Here we are.

We met Rainbow Dash's parents her father Bow Hothoof and her mother Windy Whistles.

Bow Hothoof: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

Me: It's a pleasure to meet you both.

Bow Hothoof: It's a pleasure to meet you all too. I'm Bow Hothoof.

Windy Whistles: And I'm Windy Whistles. Thank goodness you all came. Rainbow Dash is upset that her turtle has to hibernate.

Me: Looks like we came here just in time. We'll gladly help you out.

Scootaloo: Let me show you all around here.

We went in and Scootaloo showed us all Rainbow Dash's trophies and ribbons and we were amazed that she has so many of them!

Me: Whoa! Look at all these trophies.

Lynn: Wow! She is just as talented as ALL of us put together. She and I really DO have something in common.

Nico: Was there ever any doubt about that Lynn?

Lori: Man Rainbow Dash literally has more trophies than ALL of us together.

Me: No kidding. You two must be very proud of your daughter for all this.

Bow Hothoof: We are so proud of our Rainbow Dash!

Windy Whistles: We are VERY Proud!

Lynn: Wow. She is a true Athlete.

Me: First flying lessons, first tooth, first words, first dinner. Wow! You guys have so much to be proud of for Rainbow Dash.

Scootaloo: That's why Rainbow Dash is my hero!

Nico: Boy you guys have a lot of support and pride in Rainbow Dash.

Vegeta: They sure do.

Me: And I take it you heard about Rainbow Dash being in the Wonderbolts now right?

Bow Hothoof: We sure did. We were absolutely shocked.

Windy Whistles: We were ecstatic.

Laney: Wow!

Lori: When mom and Dad found out about cousin Eric being in the Armed Forces. They were literally ecstatic.

Me: Not as ecstatic when he avenged those lost on 9/11 from what we were told.

We went to Rainbow Dash's room and saw her on her bed with tank all sad.

Tank : [yawns]

[door opens]

Pinkie Pie : Knock, knock! (Goes through the clouds)

Me: Hey Rainbow.

Fluttershy : How are you feeling, Rainbow Dash?

Rainbow Dash : [despondently] Whatever…

Lana: Poor girl.

Rainbow Dash: Huh? What are you guys doing up here? Non-Pegasus Ponies fall through the clouds.

Me: I guess our powers enable us to stand on the clouds even up here.

Nico: Strange isn't it.

Rainbow Dash: [despondently] Whatever…

Me: Poor Rainbow Dash.

Rarity : The poor thing looks so sad! Just what are we doing to do?

Twilight Sparkle : I don't know what we can do.

Laney: I feel bad for her.

Applejack went up to her.

Applejack : Buck up, Sugarcube. You just ain't yourself these days.

Rainbow Dash : [despondently] Whatever…

Rarity : Uh, how can I say this tactfully…? You've lost your sparkle, Rainbow Dash.

Pinkie Pie : I hate to say this, but, well… you've become… ! [hushed] A party pooper !

Rainbow Dash : Didn't you hear me? I said 'whatever'. I don't know if you're here to cheer me up or what, but I'm fine .

Me: Uh Rainbow, I don't know how to say this but you AREN'T fine.

But then Rainbow Dash got an idea and she then grabbed ED!

Rainbow Dash: (points gun at Ed's head) You use your powers to help Tank right now!

Maria: Ok. Let's just calm down now.

Rainbow Dash: (tears in her eyes) I know you guys can do it! You used your powers to help Sci TWi gain control of Midnight Sparkle. Ad now, you're gonna use your powers so Tank won't hibernate anymore!

Fubuki: I'm sorry, Rainbow Dash. But there are some things that even we can't fix.

Me: Yeah Rainbow and this is something that is completely unavoidable and it's part of nature.

Maria: Yeah we can't mess around with Nature. You know that.

Rainbow Dash: I do.

Lily: I had to help Sandy go through all her things when she was getting ready to go to sleep for the Winter.

Rainbow Dash: If you don't use your powers to help Tank, I'll blow Ed's brains out!

Ed: We know you won't do it, Rainbow Dash.

Rainbow Dash: And why not?!

Nico: Because I can catch the bullets in seconds.

Ed: No. It's because Ed is strongest there is!

Eddy: Lumpy, you're not helping right now.

Nurse Joy: You're not even Edzilla right now.

Me: And besides Rainbow Dash that's not even a real gun.

Rainbow Dash: What do you mean?

She fired and instead of bullets out came a blast of water.

Rainbow Dash: Oh (Chuckles) That's right I am not allowed to have a gun.

Cybertron Undermine: (to Rainbow Dash's parents) I know most of the time, our powers solve everything. But the truth is, we're not Gods. There are some things that even we can't prevent even with all the power that we have.

Me: It's true. We can't tamper with the laws of Mother Nature.

Nico: Yep. The Paradigm Brothers and the Mad Scientists and all the scientists that unleashed zombies unto the worlds we visited really messed with the laws of Mother Nature and look what happened there.

Me: That's right. But there are some things we can't mess with that we have to let go.

Fluttershy : Let me handle this. Rainbow Dash, your winter is going to be pet-less .

[beat]

Rainbow Dash : [sobbing]

She was crying hard and hugging Tank.

Rarity : Whatever did you do that for?!

Fluttershy : Because she'll never get past this until she lets it all out.

Rainbow Dash : [more sobbing]

Seeing Rainbow Dash cry made my heart hurt.

Me: Aww it's all right Rainbow. Just let it all out.

Applejack : [awkwardly] Uh… it's okay. Tank'll come back in a few months.

Rainbow Dash : Months?! [crying] I don't want him to go! [continues sobbing]

Me: There there.

Applejack : Alright, alright. There, there. [hushed, to Fluttershy] Nice going, Fluttershy. How do we get her to stop?

Fluttershy : [hushed] She's got to be about done by now. Can't be too much left in there.

Rainbow Dash : [more crying, then stops]

I pat her back.

Fluttershy : Feeling better?

Rainbow Dash : [sniffs] Uh-huh. [suddenly resumes crying]

Fluttershy : Oh, you poor, poor thing… [starts crying]

Rarity : [starts crying] I can't bear to see Fluttershy cry!

Pinkie Pie : [starts crying] It's just heart-wrenching!

Fluttershy, Pinkie Pie, Rainbow Dash and Rarity : [crying hysterically]

Twilight Sparkle : [to Applejack] You too?!

Applejack : Nope, I'm good.

Lana, Lynn, Leni and Luan were comforting Fluttershy, Rainbow Dash, Pinkie Pie and Rarity.

Leni: It's like gonna be all right.

Lynn: It's gonna be all right.

Me: I'm sorry girls.

POOR GIRLS.

Eli: Tank will come back.

Pipes: Rebecca, to help cheer us up from this, why don't you and Carly tell us how you got turned into dogs by Kozak while Dave was meeting us?

Rebecca Dougles: Well it was a rough story.

Carly Douglas: Yeah.

---

Carly and Rebecca Douglas were walking home from work when suddenly a car pulled up and they were pulled in by an unseen assailant and the car drove off! They were kidnapped in Broad Daylight!

They were then taken to a laboratory where they saw DR. KOZAK! And Josh was there too.

Carly Douglas: DR. KOZAK!

Rebecca Douglas: What are you doing!?

Dr. Kozak: I'm going to give you what you always wanted. A chance to be together with David as our loving furry friends.

He pulled out a need and injected them with something and then they underwent excruciating pain!

Rebecca Douglas: WHAT DID YOU PUT IN US!?

Then they blacked out!

Later they woke up and they saw that their vision was Color Blind and then they went over it and Carly saw that she was a Husky, Rebecca saw that she was a Golden Retriever and Josh was now a Laborador Retriever!

Carly Douglas: We're dogs!

Rebecca: What did that monster do to us!?

Josh: I like it! It's awesome.

Carly Douglas: I like it.

But then they started changing back. Their paws turned into hands and their heads and ears and eyes turned back and their tails vanished and fur turned back into skin and their feet turned back. But then they looked at themselves and saw that they were naked.

Carly and Rebecca covered themselves.

Rebecca Douglas: Lets go find some clothes.

They went and did so.

After that they went back into the Living Room.

Carly Douglas: So we can now turn into dogs?

Josh: I like it.

Rebecca Douglas: I know you do. Lets see if we can change into dogs at will.

Carly Douglas: Okay.

They concentrated and they started changed at will. Their hands became paws, heads became dogs and their eyes turned and their skin grew fur and they got tails and walked on all 4's. They were now dogs.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Carly Carmine: Wow!

Carly Douglas: Wow is right. And the rest is history after that.

Nico: So that's how Dr. Kozak did this to you.

Lola: What a monster.

Nico: Yep.

?: INCOMING!

A grey pegasus with blond hair and a bubbles cutie mark came flying in at incredible speed and she crashed into Nico!

CRASH!

Nico: OUCH!

It was none other than Derpy Hooves and she was a silly and klutzy Pegasus with a goofy crosseye look in her eyes and she is always accident prone.

---

Derpy, also known as Muffins and Ditzy Doo, is a female Pegasus pony who was given the name Derpy Hooves by the show's internet following due to her cross-eyed "derpy" expression in the first episode. The name has since been adopted by the crew and Hasbro. Starting with Feeling Pinkie Keen, the show's crew began giving the pony crossed eyes intentionally and later gave her "Where's Waldo" type cameo appearances as a nod to the fans. The character is addressed by Rainbow Dash in The Last Roundup as Derpy, where she speaks for the first time. The scene was later altered so Rainbow no longer names Derpy, in addition to her voice being altered and eyes being less crossed. She is called Bubbly Mare or Party Filly, among various others, in some merchandise, and she is called Lazy Fan in some other media. She shares her design with Sunshower Raindrops.

Derpy first appears in the first episode of the series in the background of several scenes and, as noted above, makes her googly-eyed appearance at Twilight Sparkle's welcoming party.

She is mentioned by Rainbowshine and Rainbow Dash during Winter Wrap Up, using the name "Ditzy Doo", for flying the wrong direction for the second year running, trying to fetch the migrating birds back to Ponyville.

Derpy can be seen throughout the season trotting through a park, helping with storm preparations, participating in the Running of the Leaves, visiting Ponyville's market and more. She is one of the ponies in the crowd who admires Pinkie Pie's "baked bads" in Applebuck Season. The shot pans over the crowd and Derpy, Minuette, and Sea Swirl all mouth the line "Mmm, muffins…" at approximately the same time. Derpy appears with intentionally crossed eyes in Feeling Pinkie Keen; when Twilight spies on Pinkie Pie, a series of objects falls on her head: a flower pot, an anvil, a cart of hay and finally a piano. A camera pan reveals that the items were dropped by Derpy and Sunshower Raindrops, who are hovering next to a movers' truck. In Green Isn't Your Color, she is heard gasping in shock at Fluttershy's catwalk antics.

In Where the Apple Lies, Derpy appears as a filly-proportioned similarly to Plaid Stripes, "Pearly Whites", "Thunderstruck", filly Fluttershy, later filly Pear Butter, later filly Applejack, and Crystal Hoof-in flashback at the Ponyville Hospital with bandages wrapped around her eyes. Her body design here is older-looking than in other filly appearances, such as Pinkie Pride and The Cart Before the Ponies, during each of which she was notably already googly-eyed.

In Parental Glideance, Derpy appears as a filly with normal eyes as the pony in first place at the senior competitive circuit. However, the next time she participates she is seen with worse eyes, and has gone down a rank. She continues to drop ranks every subsequent competition as her eyes get worse and worse, and by the time Rainbow Dash is in first place, Derpy is only one step above a participation sticker.

Variations

There is a character that is identical to Derpy with exception of her hair color in Friendship is Magic, part 1, The Cutie Mark Chronicles, and Princess Twilight Sparkle - Part 2, three more in Winter Wrap Up, and two more in Green Isn't Your Color. The first appears alongside Derpy in crowd shots and has orange hair, while the middle three appear in the musical sequences and have either red, pale blue, or light purple hair. Background ponies often appear throughout episodes with slight color variations, particularly in crowd shots, and some ponies share the same character design with different color schemes.

Derpy appears in nineteen episodes of season one as a background character. For season two, she has gained a scripted-character status rather than an arbitrary background pony and she is considered a "Where's Waldo"-type challenge for the fans. In the remastered version of the opening sequence that is first used in Lesson Zero, she appears in the top window of the first train car.

She is one of the ponies under the effects of Twilight Sparkle's spell on Smarty Pants in Lesson Zero. When Princess Celestia removes the spell from everyone, Derpy finds herself fighting with Mayor Mare and returns to her derped-face self. In the photo on the right her face is the same face shown in the very first episode of season one.

Derpy is dressed in several brown paper bags in Luna Eclipsed and participates in Applejack's apple bob activity during Nightmare Night with Golden Harvest. However, while bobbing for apples, she accidentally pulls the plug, causing all the water in the bob to go down the drain.

She makes a brief cameo in Sisterhooves Social among the crowd listening to Granny Smith's announcement. In The Cutie Pox, a wall-eyed Pegasus filly with the same color scheme as Derpy appears briefly for one shot in the schoolyard, with most of her body obscured by Apple Bloom and "Princess Erroria". Derpy makes a brief appearance in the doorway to Fluttershy's chicken coop in May the Best Pet Win!, an episode otherwise devoid of background ponies.

Derpy appears briefly in The Mysterious Mare Do Well among the crowd cheering after Rainbow Dash saves the old folks falling on the balcony. She appears in Sweet and Elite along with many other ponies during a shot in the song Becoming Popular (The Pony Everypony Should Know), wearing the same paper bag that was part of her costume in Luna Eclipsed, in addition to a pearl necklace. She pops out of a well in between Lyra Heartstrings and Sweetie

Drops in Secret of My Excess. She rides the train to Canterlot in Hearth's Warming Eve. Later, she pops out from behind the curtain to wave at the audience before the show. She walks away sad afterwards when Cherry Fizzy stops her. At the end of the episode, she talks in the background with Amethyst Star.

She appears frequently throughout the musical sequence The Flim Flam Brothers in the episode The Super Speedy Cider Squeezy 6000, as well as in the crowd watching the competition. She appears in Hearts and Hooves Day in three village shots, one standing next to "Tornado Bolt" and twice standing next to Dr. Hooves on the bridge. In A Friend in Deed, she appears twice, first flying upside down in the snow globe Pinkie Pie finds in Cranky Doodle Donkey's things and the second time by a stand in Ponyville square with two other ponies.

In Putting Your Hoof Down, she first appears in the market scene approaching the asparagus stand while bearing muffin-sealed saddlebags, where she reacts to the stall holder's lack of asparagus. Later, she appears in the crowd at Iron Will's seminar.

Derpy appears quite frequently in Hurricane Fluttershy, which is the episode featuring her longest screen time outside of The Last Roundup. She first appears at the beginning reading a flyer that Rainbow Dash dropped with only one of her eyes, the other looking elsewhere, and again as part of the ponies participating in the Wing Speed testing and she is part of the tornado team led by Rainbow Dash. Derpy appears again in A Canterlot Wedding - Part 2 at three different times in the crowd of ponies; The first time when Queen Chrysalis talks to Princess Cadance, the second time when she watches the bride enter, and the third time when the wedded pair is about to leave. Her eyes are derped in her first appearance, normal in her second appearance, and only one of her eyes is clearly visible in her third appearance.

Derpy does not appear in most of season three, appearing in The Crystal Empire - Part 2, Too Many Pinkie Pies, and Magic Duel briefly. She returns in Magical Mystery Cure with five appearances, the first being on a bridge during the opening song, the second being flying through the air with other Pegasi in a "Blue Angels" style formation. Her third appearance is peeking out behind the legs of other ponies and winking to the camera, similar to most of her appearances in season two in which she was a "hidden" Easter egg. Her last two appearances are at the beginning of Life in Equestria and shortly after the main ponies are walking together to the balcony.

After a lengthy near-absence throughout season four at first, appearing in Princess Twilight Sparkle - Part 2 and Rarity Takes Manehattan briefly, Derpy appears again in Rainbow Falls. When Rainbow Dash fakes getting injured, Fluttershy and Bulk Biceps fill her spot on the Ponyville relay team with Derpy. She remains silent throughout the episode and is never referred to by name. Her appearance after such a long near-absence was intentional on the show writers' part to keep her return a surprise.

She can be found a few times in Pinkie Pride, first following Cheese Sandwich, helping put up decorations, sticking her face into a chocolate fountain and engaging in a staring contest with Cheese Sandwich's rubber chicken, Boneless. She is also seen as a filly in Cheese's flashback song.

In Simple Ways and Trade Ya!, Derpy appears briefly wingless and with different cutie marks.

She appears in Equestria Games where she is on the Airsprinters with Thunderlane and Helia.

In Twilight's Kingdom - Part 1, she is one of the Pegasi whose flight is taken away from her by Lord Tirek. In Twilight's Kingdom - Part 2, she receives it back from the rainbowfied Mane Six. She's also the first in line to come to Princess Twilight's new castle.

In Bloom & Gloom, Derpy appears fleeing from a twittermite swarm in Apple Bloom's dream. In Tanks for the Memories, she moves clouds with other Pegasi in preparation for winter. For both of these, her eyes unintentionally appear straight. In Do Princesses Dream of Magic Sheep?, Derpy appears giant-sized in Ponyville's shared dream, serving as Spike's mounted steed in the fight against the Tantabus. In Scare Master, Derpy dresses as Princess Twilight Sparkle for Nightmare Night.

In No Second Prances, Twilight attempts to set up Starlight Glimmer with Derpy in order to stop her blossoming friendship with Trixie.

In A Hearth's Warming Tail, during the song Hearth's Warming Eve Is Here Once Again, Derpy helps trim the tree, but she drops the star that goes on top. Later, she takes the place of the star, since she wears one on her head.

In The Cart Before the Ponies, Derpy participates in the Applewood Derby driving a go-kart made out of a box with an unnamed male colt. She also appears as a filly in a flashback winning first place for Most Creative.

In the cold open of To Where and Back Again - Part 1, Derpy clumsily delivers an invitation to Starlight from her old village to a party.

In Triple Threat, Ember attempts to befriend Derpy by stealing her muffin and rubbing it against a wall.

In The Break Up Break Down, Derpy appears as a mailpony at the Ponyville post office. She sends Big McIntosh's package to Sugar Belle in the mail but accidentally smudges the receiving address.

In School Raze - Part 1, Derpy delivers mail to the School of Friendship, accidentally smacking into the front of the school before giving the mail to Cozy Glow.

Derpy Hooves: Sorry. My bad.

She got up and flew and she crashed into the wall head on.

CRASH!

Lola: (Laughs) She cracks me up.

Twilight Sparkle: Oh that's Derpy Hooves. She is always like that.

Derpy Hooves: My bad.

Me: (Laughs) She sure is funny.

Luan: She sure is. That's what I call Crashing the Party. (Laughs) Get it?

We all laughed and we saw Rainbow Dash better.

Me: (Laughs) Good one Luan!

Varie: But Derpy is just as funny as you Luan.

Luan: Well I'm not That accident prone.

Varie: True.

Me: What does Derpy do?

Rainbow Dash: She is the mailpony and she has a habit of crashing into things.

Sunset Shimmer: She sure does from the looks of things.

Me: But she sure is funny.

Rainbow Dash: Yeah. But thanks everyone. Thank you all for helping me. I don't know what I would do without you all or him.

Me: Tank is not gonna be gone forever Rainbow. He'll return during the Spring Thaw.

Maria: That's right Rainbow. Mr. Krabs lost his shell when he molted and that was completely unavoidable. Hibernation is unavoidable for most animals too.

Me: That's right. It's part of Nature's natural cycle of life. Most animals all have to do it.

Nico: Yeah. Ouch.

Nico got up and he saw that his arm was broken.

Nico: Aw I can heal from this easily.

He healed in seconds.

Nico: Nice.

Me: But this was a funny experience.

We later went home.

---

Later we were watching one of my favorite movies from my past: ARMY OF DARKNESS. It was a funny comedy horror movie from 1992 and it was funny and action packed.

---

Having been transported to the Middle Ages, Ash Williams is captured by Lord Arthur's men, who suspect him of being an agent for Duke Henry, with whom Arthur is at war. He is enslaved along with the captured Henry, his shotgun and chainsaw are confiscated, and he is taken to a castle. Ash is thrown in a pit where he kills a Deadite and regains his weapons from Arthur's Wise Man. After demanding that Henry and his men be set free, as he knew it was a witch hunt, and killing a Deadite publicly, Ash is celebrated as a hero. He grows attracted to Sheila, the sister of one of Arthur's fallen knights.

According to the Wise Man, the only way that Ash can return to his time is through the magical Necronomicon Ex-Mortis. Ash then starts his search for the Necronomicon . As he enters a haunted forest, an unseen force pursues Ash into a windmill, and he crashes into a mirror. Small reflections of Ash in the mirror shards come to life, with one becoming a life-sized clone, after which Ash kills and buries it.

When he arrives at the Necronomicon 's location, he finds three books instead of one, and has to determine which one is real. Realizing at the last moment that he has forgotten the last word of the phrase that will allow him to remove the book safely - "Klaatu barada nikto" - he tries to mumble and cough his way through the pronunciation. He grabs the book and begins rushing back.

Meanwhile, unknown to Ash, his ruse has failed and the dead and his evil clone resurrect, uniting into the Army of Darkness.

Upon his return, Ash demands to be returned to his own time. However, Sheila is abducted by a Flying Deadite and later transformed into one. Ash becomes determined to lead the humans against the Army, and the people reluctantly agree. Using knowledge from textbooks in his 1973 Oldsmobile Delta 88 and enlisting the help of Duke Henry, Ash successfully leads the medieval soldiers to victory over the Deadites and Evil Ash, saves Sheila, and brings peace between Arthur and Henry. The Wise Man tells him how to return to the present by giving him a potion after reciting the phrase.

Back in the present, Ash recounts his story to a fellow employee at an S-Mart department store. As he talks to a woman who is interested in his story, a surviving Deadite, allowed to come to the present because Ash again forgot the last word, attacks the customers. Ash kills it using a Winchester rifle from the Sporting Goods department and exclaims "hail to the king, baby" before passionately kissing the woman.

It was so awesome and funny and more! And we were laughing at some of the funny parts and more.

Applejack: (Laughs) That was so funny!

Rainbow Dash: (LAUGHING HYSTERICALLY) That was so funny how he sent that skeleton flying and he exploded!

Me: It sure was! (Laughs)

Brittney: That was a really funny and awesome movie.

Raven: It sure was. Army of Darkness is one of my favorites too.

Haiku: All the members of the Goths of Darkness like it.

Me: But Ash's Chainsaw Arm is really cool.

William: It sure is awesome! And I love his arm like my Future Self.

Lincoln: That is a cool one.

Laney: It sure is.

Me: But lets see how we fair against a massive army of skeletons.

Nico: Lets do it.

Lucy used her sword and cut open a portal and we were in the year 1300 and it was awesome!

Me: Wow! The Year 1300.

Nico: 720 years into the Past. It's amazing how Ash Williams wound up here.

Laney: It sure is.

We saw a castle and we went over to it.

Me: Wow. What a castle.

Nico: Nice place.

Lola: It's such a beautiful castle.

Rarity: It sure is most divine.

Lincoln: Yeah.

?: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

We saw none other than Ash Williams himself!

Me: Ash Williams!

Ash Williams: It's an honor to meet you all and have you all here.

Me: It's a pleasure to be here Ash. We came to help you all out.

Ash Williams: I'm glad you all did.

William: Ash, I just want to say that your chainsaw arm is badass!

Ash Williams: Thanks. It sure is badass huh?

Nico: It sure is.

Me: Yep. We also came to stop your evil boneheaded fuckup of a twin.

Ash Williams: Good. Thank you all.

Me: You're welcome.

Vypra, Zs'Skayr, Dr. Viktor, Myotismon, Webstor and Vulkanus appeared!

Me: Vypra, Zs'Skayr, Dr. Viktor, Myotismon, Webstor and Vulkanus. This is the first of your usual battles with us huh Vulkanus

Vulkanus: It sure is.

Zs'Skayr: We heard about you crying over your turtle going to sleep for the winter Rainbow Dash.

Webstor: Yeah that must've been rough for you.

Rainbow Dash: It was.

Vypra: Rainbow Dash, are you sure you're ok?

Rainbow Dash: Yep. I'm fine.

Webstor: Look, your beloved turtle is undergoing hibernation until spring. It's okay if you're not fine.

Rainbow Dash: No! I'm fine. I'm not gonna let this get me down. Honest!

Me: I hope so. This whole thing is completely unavoidable.

Rainbow Dash: Can humans hibernate too?

Me: No. We can't do that. Only certain animals like bears, turtles and squirrels can do that.

?: Too bad because you'll need all that sleep when you die.

We saw a figure come out and it was AKAN!

Sailor Moon: Akan!

Akan: Been a while Sailor Brats.

Shanan: I didn't expect Queen Beryl to have an Agasicarian in her ranks.

Vegeta: I'm amazed that one of your kind managed to survived our onslaught.

Qin: What is an Agasicarian?

Shanan: They are a race of bug aliens from the jungle planet Agasius. They are a race of fierce bug warriors that were one of the most dangerous insectoid races in the universe. They were as widely feared as they were as dangerous as they were at fighting. But they were incidentally wiped out by the Saiyans.

Vegeta: And I'm impressed that one of them managed to survive our attack on them.

Akan: So you are still alive Vegeta. I'm impressed. Now you and I have an old score to settle.

Nico: I didn't even know my people attacked your world and did all that.

Me: Me neither.

Vypra: I didn't know that either.

Akan: It's a dark story.

Sailor Moon: Yeah.

Akan: (to Sailor Moon) Whatever happened to that kid who dressed up as Tuxedo Mask?

Sailor Moon: None of your business!

Me: Okay lets get the battles out of the way and then we'll go after your Ash's evil twin.

We powered up and went at them.

---

Battle 1: Vypra

---

Luan, Twilight Sparkle, Shego and William were facing Vypra.

Luan: This is gonna be a Bat-tastic match. (Laughs) Get it?

Vypra laughed.

Twilight Sparkle: (Laughs) That was a good one.

Vypra: It sure was. Let me give you all a good fight.

She summoned a massive army of Battlings!

Luan: Battlings!

Twilight Sparkle: This is gonna be fun.

William: It sure will.

Shego: Yeah!

Vypra: Is Rainbow Dash gonna be all right?

Luan: She'll be fine. Besides she is really strong. And you should see the number of trophies she has. She has more trophies in her room than all of us do in our Trophy Case.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah we were really surprised as well.

Vypra: She must be really gifted.

Luan: In the eyes of her parents and Lynn. Shall we dance?

Vypra: Lets!

Vypra called out her Pokemon and they went at her.

Twilight: Lets use our techniques in turns Luan.

Luan: Lets do it!

Twilight Sparkle: You first Luan.

Luan: Okay. 5 each. GOLF STYLE NINJA ART: SINKERS AND FLOATERS!

One was in a blue dress and had brunette hair and was with a wolf and the other had golden blond hair and was in a white dress and was with an owl. They were the Maidens of the Owl and the Wolf and they ran with a wolf and an owl and they blasted a bunch of Battlings all over and destroyed them.

Luan: Ooh! That was beautiful Twilight. How about this one? EARTH STYLE NINJA ART: BOULDER DASH!

Luan formed a huge boulder in her hands and she ran fast and smashed a bunch of Battlings with it and reduced them to pulp.

Twilight Sparkle: Awesome job Luan! How about this one? MAGIC STYLE NINJA ART: WRATH OF MIDNIGHT SPARKLE!

Twilight Sparkle floated into the air and she began to sing Endless Mist of Nightmares by GatoPaint.

(Someone, save me)

The soft melody of my beating heart is fading through this darkness surrounding me, cradling me

I can't find a way out.

My desire, my dream,

It's turning its back to me

Is this how it's supposed to be?

No. Somehow…

(I'm still here)

Trapped within these chains

Trying to hold on
While I hope you won't forget me
(It's useless) As I keep believing
(My fate has been sealed) I will see you again
To see your light shine through
This endless mist of nightmares.
I feel those eyes staring
Those voices calling up to me
They need me
I must stay
(GatoPaint Guitar Solo )
I'm still here
Trapped within these chains
Trying to hold on
While I hope you won't forget me
(It's useless) As I keep believing
(My fate has been sealed) I will see you again
To see your light shine through
This endless mist of nightmares.
(Please) The meaningful gift I've been given
(Let) "There's something you fear."
(Me) Means I should give something in return…

(Help) "Your kindness won't be forgotten"

She fired a powerful blast of magic and it formed into Midnight Sparkle and blasted numerous Battlings all over the place with incredible fury and more.

Luan: WHOA! That was incredible Twilight!

Twilight Sparkle: It sure was. That was amazing that I could do that.

Luan: You sure have an amazing voice as well as an incredible talent. How about this one? WOOD STYLE NINJA ART: LOG DROP!

Luan fired waves of energy into the air and numerous logs fell on top of a bunch of Battlings and squished them.

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBOOOOOOOMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMM! KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

Luan: AWESOME JOB!

Twilight: That was so awesome!

Rainbow Dash spread her wings and she floated into the air as beams of rainbow light fired from her wings and she began to sing I am Your Angel by Celine Dion.

No mountains too high, for you to climb

All you have to do is have some climbing faith, oh yeah

No rivers too wide, for you to make it across

All you have to do is believe it when you pray
And then you will see, the morning will come
And every day will be bright as the sun
All of your fears cast them on me
I just want you to see
I'll be your cloud up in the sky
I'll be your shoulder when you cry
I'll hear your voices when you call me
I am your angel
And when all hope is gone, I'm here
No matter how far you are, I'm near
It makes no difference who you are
I am your angel
I'm your angel
I saw the teardrops, and I heard you cry
All you need is time, seek me and you shall find
You have everything and you're still lonely
It don't have to be this way, let me show you a better day
And then you will see, the morning will come
And all of your days will be bright as the sun
So all of your fears, just cast them on me
How can I make you see?

I'll be your cloud up in the sky

I'll be your shoulder when you cry

I'll hear your voices when you call me

I am your angel

And when all hope is gone, I'm here

No matter how far you are, I'm near

It makes no difference who you are

I am your angel

I'm your angel

And when it's time to face the storm

I'll be right by your side

Grace will keep us safe and warm

And I know we will survive

And when it seems as if your end is drawing near (end is drawing near)

Don't you dare give up the fight (oh no)

Just put your trust beyond the skies

I'll be your cloud up in the sky

I'll be your shoulder when you cry

I'll hear your voices when you call me

I am your angel

And when all hope is gone, I'm here

No matter how far you are, I'm near

It makes no difference who you are

I am your angel (I'll be)

I'll be your cloud up in the sky

I'll be your shoulder when you cry

I'll hear your voices when you call me

I am your angel

And when all hope is gone, I'm here

No matter how far you are, I'm near

It makes no difference who you are

I am your angel

I'll be your cloud up in the sky

I'll be your shoulder when you cry

I'll hear your voices when you call me (oh, oh)

I'm your angel

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

He came to town like a midwinter storm

He rode through the fields, so handsome and strong

His eyes was his tools and his smile was his gun

But all he had come for was having some fun

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

He brought disaster wherever he went

The hearts of the girls was to Hell, broken, sent

They all ran away so nobody would know

And left only men 'cause of Cotton-Eye Joe

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

If it hadn't been for Cotton-Eye Joe

I'd been married a long time ago

Where did you come from, where did you go?

Where did you come from, Cotton-Eye Joe?

Vulkanus: Thank you. Lets do it!

Shanan: With pleasure.

They powered up and went at him!

Fluttershy: This will be good. FIRESTORM STYLE NINJA ART: I SURRENDER!

Fluttershy floated into the air and she spread her wings and fire swirled around her with incredible power and heat as she began singing the awesome song by Celine Dion, I Surrender.

There's so much life I've left to live

And this fire is burning still

When I watch you look at me

I think I could find the will

To stand for every dream

And forsake this solid ground

And give up this fear within

Of what would happen if they ever knew

I'm in love with you

'Cause I'd surrender everything

To feel the chance to live again

I reach to you

I know you can feel it too

We'd make it through

A thousand dreams I still believe

I'd make you give them all to me

I'd hold you in my arms and never let go

I surrender

I know I can't survive

Another night away from you

You're the reason I go on

And now I need to live the truth

Right now, there's no better time

From this fear I will break free

And I'll live again with love

And no they can't take that away from me

And they will see

'Cause I'd surrender everything

To feel the chance to live again

I reach to you

I know you can feel it too

We'd make it through

A thousand dreams I still believe

I'd make you give them all to me

I'd hold you in my arms and never let go

I surrender

Every night's getting longer

And this fire is getting stronger, babe

I'll swallow my pride and I'll be alive

Can't you hear my call

I surrender all

I'd surrender everything

To feel the chance to live again

I reach to you

I know you can feel it too

We'd make it through

A thousand dreams I still believe

I'd make you give them all to me

I'd hold you in my arms and never let go

I surrender

Massive explosions of fire went off behind Fluttershy as she sang with the incredible divinity of an angel and the fire blasts and explosions went at Vulkanus.

Shanan, Panda King and Gantu fired blasts of fire and energy and the blasts all hit Vulkanus and they slammed into him and knocked him down with incredible force!

Will Vandom: That was a great song.

Rainbow Dash: Glad you liked it.

Demona: Now that the usual battles are done, we can find those zombies so we can destroy them.

Me: This is the world of Army of Darkness and we're going up against an incredible army of Skeletons.

Nico: Yep. They'll be after the Necronomicon and we can't let them get it.

Me: That's right.

Nico: Wait I have an idea! (to Emerald Sustrai) Remember when Salem forced you into making J.D. see that hallucination of me?

Emerald Sustrai: I get it. You want me to use my Semblance to make the skeletons see hallucinations so we can lure them into a trap.

Me: That's genius.

Laney: Go for it Emerald.

Emerald Sustrai: Lets do it.

We got ready and we put our plan into action. We had Emerald use her Semblance powers to form an illusion of Ash Williams and he lead the Skeleton Army into a trap outside the castle.

Vegeta: How about me and Bokrua use the same tactic as before to take the skeletons down?

Me: Great idea Master Vegeta.

Nico: Great idea!

Me: Ready guys?

Nico: Ready.

Vegeta: Lets do it!

The Skeletons all came over the hill and when they were in range…

Me: Now!

Nico and Vegeta formed balls of Artificial Moonlight and hurled them into the sky and then they flashed intensely and illuminated the Sky with the intensity of 10 suns and turned the entire night sky into day!

The Skeletons were weakened by the incredible light of the artificial moonlight!

Ash Williams: Wow! That is a clever idea!

William: It sure is.

Me: Its become a very affective tool whenever we're fighting against villains in the night and for villains that only come out at night.

Ash Williams: Very clever.

Nico: Good thing I've learned how to use my powers to control when my Ape Transformation comes out.

Me: Wow! I didn't know you did that Nico.

Nico: I guess I didn't tell you that when I met you. But I also taught that to Vegeta, Nikiya and Gine.

Me: Good thinking. Lets do it!

Troy: Let's send these skeletons back to the grave!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Jungle Fury!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Jungle Fury Rangers.

Me: YEAH! Lets tear these fuckboned boneheads apart! CHARGE!

Nico: CHARGE!

Eli: CHARGE!

We charged at the skeletons roaring at the tops of our lungs and then we clashed with them at an incredible level.

I punched a skeleton's head off and kicked him down. Qwun, Ikkatosh, Arrthoa, Titanix, Enre Hep, and Laarina were blasting a bunch of Skeletons apart and destroying them.

Gantu: (shoots skeleton with blaster) This is almost too easy!

KRABOOOMM!

The Skeleton exploded in a ball of fire!

The Ice Swallows slashed a bunch of skeletons apart and blew them apart in massive explosion!

Undermine: Lets do it!

---

Part 6 Done.

Army of Darkness from 1992 was one funny movie and it may have been scary but it was really funny! I never saw the movie back then but it was really cool from the looks of it. Bruce Campbell and Embeth Davidtz both did an awesome job in that movie and it was awesome how they dealt with the forces of the undead back at the start of the 14th Century! Awesome! NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is an epic Rescue Mission as we face the Zombies of the awesome action packed 2004 horror movie DAWN OF THE DEAD! Get ready to see us take on the entire population of Milwaukee, Wisconsin on another Earth and we're gonna blow up that whole Zombie Hellhole!

See you all tomorrow.

Dawn of the Milwaukee Zombies!

In the Western Pacific Ocean we were heading over to the Orange Islands. We were heading over to Shamouti Island to recruit Melody who we have not seen since we saved the world from that Cataclysmic prophecy.

I was riding my Rapidash and everyone else was flying.

Maria: It's been a long time since we saw Melody.

Nico: It sure has been a while huh?

Me: It sure has. The last time we saw her was when the world was in grave danger because of a Cataclysmic Prophecy about to happen.

Nico: Yeah.

Blake Belladonna: We went to Shamouti for a picnic and we had a great time there.

Eli: It sure is beautiful from the looks of it.

Laney: Yep.

We arrived at Shamouti and it was just as beautiful as ever.

Lincoln: Shamouti Island. It's just as beautiful as ever.

Rainbow Dash: It's amazing.

Nico: Yeah.

We arrived at Melody's village and it was beautiful.

Me: Wow. It's been a while since we were here.

Lily: It sure has been a while.

Rarity: It's beautiful.

?: Hey guys!

We turned and we saw Melody!

Me: Melody!

Kanga: Hello, Melody. How have you been?

Melody: Doing great. It's been a while guys. You all have increased in forces since we last saw each other.

Me: Feels like forever huh?

Nico: And we sure have grown since then huh?

Vince: We've been really busy since we were here last.

Wallflower: Yes we have been busy huh?

Melody: I bet. Can you introduce me?

Me: Sure thing. To those you haven't met, this is our friend Melody. When a Cataclysmic Prophecy was about to happen we helped her and Ash and his friends with saving the world from total destruction.

Rarity: Pleasure to meet you darling.

We all had everyone introduced everyone she hasn't met before.

Melody: Wow! It's an honor and a pleasure.

Ed Cowart: It's a pleasure too.

We sat down with Melody and we told her about some of our most amazing adventures and so much and how much everything has changed because of what has been happening.

Melody: Whoa! So much has gone on since we last saw each other.

Me: I know.

Starlight Glimmer: Lots of things went on huh?

Melody: I want to thank you all for helping to stop that prophecy.

Cybertron Menasor: (Irish Accent) Just doing our jobs, lass.

Me: Yep.

Lincoln: But it was awesome saving the world like that and you played that flute really well.

Me: And Lawrence III was the cause of nearly destroying our planet with a Cataclysmic Prophecy.

Qin: Who is Lawrence III?

Me: Oh that's right Qin you weren't told about this. He was a Pokemon Collector and he wanted to collect the 4 Legendary Pokemon that were here to add to his collection. But in doing so he was gonna destroy the entire planet.

I went over Lawrence III's history.

---

Lawrence III is the main antagonist of the 2nd Pokémon film Pokemon: The Movie 2000 .

He was voiced by Neil Stewart.

He is first seen in his large airship reading a prophecy. He thinks that the prophecy was about him and that he is the Chosen One. He then sets to work on capturing the three legendary birds so that he could draw out Lugia, which he also plans to capture.

Using various weapons from his ship, he injures Moltres and captures it with electrical rings rather than a Poké Ball. This disturbed the harmony of the legendary birds, threatening to destroy the world with a raging current called the Beast of the Sea, although Lawrence III seemed oblivious to this, focusing primarily on his plan to capture Lugia. Making it feel like a game of chess, he then captured Zapdos when it moved to Fire Island, thinking that Moltres left. He also captured Ash and his friends when they were in a boat and brought them aboard his ship to see his crowning achievements.

However, he did not foresee that the group, especially Ash, would not take kindly to his method of capture of the two legendary Pokemon. As he attempted to capture Articuno for his collection, Ash, using the combined power of his Pikachu, Charizard, Squirtle, and Bulbasaur freed Moltres from its device. Moltres then freed Zapdos from its electric cage, but then the two started fighting, destroying part of the ship, and allowing Articuno to join them in the battle. Lawrence III's ship crashed on Lightning Island.

As the prophecy said, Lugia did rise from the sea to stop the fighting of Articuno, Zapdos, and Moltres, and Lawrence III, still intent on capturing it, decides to capture it just like he did with Moltres and Zapdos. Though Lugia managed to break free and destroy the remains of his ship with Aeroblast, Lawrence III survived the destruction. Finding his Ancient Mew card, Lawrence III vows to start his collection again, but this time on a smaller number. It is also explained in the novelization of the movie that he would not capture Lugia again.

Lawrence III has no super powers, but he is greedy and is not a very pleasant man.

---

Qin gasped in shock and so did the Equestria Girls.

Rarity: My word that is madness!

Twilight Sparkle: His greed turned out to be his downfall.

Me: And he didn't even realize that he was putting the entire planet in danger by catching the 3 legendary birds and Lugia.

Qin: That's horrible!

Melody: But thank goodness you all stopped him.

Laney: I know.

Qin: And now he is where he belongs in order to make sure that the world can never be destroyed again: Prison.

Lincoln: You got that right.

Melody: And we owe you all big time for it. And that's why every year we celebrate that moment with a special festival. We call it the Team Loud Phoenix Storm Savior Festival.

Lincoln: Wow!

Lori: That's literally amazing.

Me: We are truly honored.

Vince: Same here.

Laney: Yeah.

Swerve: How about you join up with us? Lawrence III's not the only baddie out there.

Melody: I would be honored.

Me: Awesome! Welcome to the team Melody.

Melody: I won't let you all down.

Lincoln: Cool.

We had a great time on Shamouti.

---

Later we were in the U.S.S. Valorous Phoenix flying through the endless reaches of space.

Me: Captain's Log, Stardate 2881.5: We are en route to the Cigar Galaxy where we got reports of an alternate planet Earth being overrun by zombies and people are fighting to survive. Our mission is to help rescue the survivors and if possible, help their planet Earth get back on track.

Air Man: Looks like we're back to fighting zombies.

Me: Yep.

Rainbow Dash: This is crazy that we've been fighting zombies this last few days huh?

Lincoln: It sure is.

Melody (Pokemon): You all have been fighting zombies?

Me: We sure have. But it was thanks to Shaun that we survived all the fights with the zombies.

Shaun: Yep. I'm the chief Zombie Apocalypse Survival Instructor for the team.

Nico: Yep. Shaun is the master Zombie Apocalypse Survivor. It was thanks to all of his teachings that we got through 5 Zombie Apocalypse Challenges.

Lincoln: Yep.

Jasmine: (Australian Accent) That's my awesome Shaun for you all mates.

Shaun: (Blushes) Aww thank you all so much.

Starlight Glimmer: You're welcome Shaun. But these challenges are incredible.

Melody (Pokemon): Yeah they sure are.

Juniper Montage: Yeah and it's full of adventure.

Then Twilight Sparkle came in and with her was a new girl with her. She had red hair and green eyes and light color skin and she had a chili pepper beret and pigtails and a red ponytail. She had a red dress with 3 chili peppers on it and a brown vest and grey leggings and she had red tennis shoes and she had a red bracelet.

Twilight Sparkle: Guys I would like you all to meet Pepperdance.

She is gonna be with us on our adventures.

Pepperdance: It's an honor to be with you all and it'll be an awesome honor to help you all out.

Me: Pleasure to have you with us Pepperdance.

I shook her hand and then my hand bursted into flames!

Me: Whoa!

I absorbed the fire.

Me: Wow! You are one hot girl!

Pepperdance: I drink a lot of hot sauce. It's why my cutie mark is Chili Peppers.

Twilight Sparkle: Pepperdance drinks a lot of hot sauce.

Me: Whoa! You are a true spice demon like me and Nico.

Nico: Yeah and you have a true love for spice.

Pepperdance: I know.

She pulled out a moonshine jug and drank it.

Me: What's in the moonshine jug?

Pepperdance: Ah. It's my special recipe of hot sauce. Want to try some?

Me: Sure.

I pulled out a shot glass and she put it in it and I saw that it was glowing neon red.

Me: Whoa! That must be a lethal sauce. It's glowing neon red and my geiger counter is going crazy.

Nico: No kidding.

Me: Well bottoms up.

I drank the sauce and then I suddenly bursted into a massively huge pillar of fire! It was so strong that it was incredible.

Me: WHOA! That is some strong spice!

Nico: Whoo! No kidding!

Me: It's really good though.

I absorbed the fire and I was stronger than ever before.

Me: That's amazing hot sauce though. What is it made with?

Pepperdance: It's a family recipe. It's made from extract of the hottest peppers in the world. I use extract from the Ghost Pepper, Dragon's Breath, Tears of Zephos, Carolina Reaper and garlic and cilantro.

Me: Whoa! Zesty and flavorful.

Nico: I'll say. Wow. You have to be the toughest girl ever.

We laughed.

May: That's funny.

Lisa Loud: J.D. we have arrived at our destination.

Me: On screen.

The viewscreen turned on and we saw that we had arrived at another Planet Earth and it was located in the Cigar Galaxy.

Me: It looks fine from up here.

Nico: But I'll bet it's overrun with zombies and all that.

Me: Well lets get ready for battle. Everyone lets head down. Nathaniel you have the con.

Nathaniel: Roger that.

Me: The strongest of the Zombie Outbreak is in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Lets roll!

We went down to the planet and went to Milwaukee.

We arrived in Milwaukee and we saw that it was totally deserted and the whole town was totally dilapidated and more and all that.

Me: Whoa.

Varie: What happened here?

Me: Scans show that most of the people have been infected with a zombie virus that turned them into zombies.

Resident Evil Alice: Is it the T-Virus?

Me: No this is different. These zombies are not only bloodthirsty but they can think like humans. But they are totally feral.

Lincoln: Jeez.

Me: Yeah.

We landed on the ground and we looked around.

Me: It's quiet. Too quiet.

Laney: Where is everybody?

Me: I don't know. But I have a really bad feeling about this.

Lola: Me too.

I put on my Zombie Apocalypse Survival gear.

Me: Stay strong and alert everyone.

We walked around and had our guns and weapons drawn and ready.

Xion: Isn't there anyone who can help us against the zombies here?

Me: We'll find out soon.

I looked around and then then I saw a zombie coming at us!

Me: Uh oh!

I took my rifle and then…

BANG!

I blew the zombie's head off his shoulders.

Me: Bullseye!

The zombie was dead in an instant.

Nico: Stay dead you fucker.

Vince: Nice shot.

We went over to it and I saw that it was dead for good this time.

Me: Its blood is still red.

Lisa took a sample of the blood and analyzed it.

Lisa Loud: Hmm. Fascinating. It appears to be a Zombie Virus that makes the host not only infectious but also highly agile and stronger.

Me: Oh boy. Stay sharp everyone.

I then heard something and fired an energy blast at an alley and blew a bunch of zombies apart in a massive fiery explosion into a million pieces and killed them! Then thousands of zombies appeared and came running at us!

Then bullets hit the zombies all over and shot them all apart.

We turned and we saw a group of Zombie Apocalypse warriors! Ana Clark and her team Kenneth Hall, Michael, Nicole, Terry, C.J., Andre, Monica, Luda, Bart, Norma, Tucker, Frank, Glen and Andy and a Border Collie named Chips was with them.

Ana Clark: Someone call for some heroes?

Me: Whoa! Perfect timing!

Ana Clark: Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's such an honor to meet you all.

Me: Same here.

Ana Clark: I'm Ana Clark, head nurse of Milwaukee State Hospital.

Kenneth: Kenneth Hall. Pleasure to meet you all.

Me: Same here.

Ana Clark: And these are Michael, Nicole, Terry, C.J., Andre, Monica, Luda, Bart, Norma, Tucker, Frank, Glen and Andy.

Andy: And this is Chips.

Me: Pleasure to meet you all.

Violet entombed us in a force field to protect us from the hordes of zombies. The Zombies were being electrocuted and destroyed as they touched it.

Me: At least these zombies are not smart.

Ana Clark: No they aren't.

Me: Looks like we got here just in time.

Nico: Wait a second. You all are from the movie Dawn of The Dead.

Laney: Whoa man! Then this must be the world of Dawn of the Dead from 2004.

Lincoln: That was a scary movie!

Clyde: It's one of our favorites.

Ana Clark: I can see that and it looks like you all came to help us out in our time of need.

Me: We got word about what is going on here from our planet Earth. We came to search for survivors and help you all destroy these zombies.

C.J.: We greatly appreciate it.

Nicole (DOTD): This all just happened without warning and we had to prepare.

Me: We'll help you all in any way we can.

I saw that Luda was pregnant.

Me: Looks like you are due at any day now.

Luda: I sure am.

Me: This is no place for a woman in your condition. Lets get you on board our ship where you'll be safe.

Luda: Good idea.

Me: Sakura we have a survivor that's pregnant.

Sakura Haruno: Roger that. Energizing.

She teleported Luda on board our ship.

Andre: Good thinking J.D.

Me: Thanks Andre. We have to kill all these zombies and I know how. But first we have to have our usual battles. Our Frenemies will be here any second.

Paragus: The zombies don't even have energy signatures.

Me: They are totally lifeless but act like humans and are faster and stronger.

Naruto: Weird.

Ana Clark: What do you mean by your frenemies J.D.?

Me: It's a long story.

I went over everything that happened.

Ana Clark: Whoa!

Kenneth Hall: That's incredible!

Bart (DOTD): I'm sorry that happened to you all.

Me: It's all right but thank you and Ana I'm so sorry about what happened to your husband.

Ana Clark: It's all right.

Me: This must've been a terrifying ordeal for you all.

Terry: It was.

Then Whirlwind, Vexen, Waffle Woman, Xaldin, Cargill and King Hiss appeared.

Me: Whirlwind, Vexen, Waffle Woman, Xaldin, Cargill and King Hiss.

Whirlwind: Strange seeing all of you here.

Ana Clark: Are you all the Masters of Evil?

Cargill: We certainly are.

Me: You picked a really strange time to have usual battles with us. This is the world of 2004's Dawn of the Dead.

Waffle Woman: Whoa! I remember seeing that movie and it was the scariest one I've ever seen.

Nico: It sure was.

Cargill: The original from 1978 was just as scary.

Me: They both were really scary.

Lincoln: Yeah and me and Clyde and Lily love zombie movies.

Ash Williams: I'll keep the zombies busy while you guys have your usual battles.

Waffle Woman: Are you sure?

Vexen: We don't want to force you.

Ash Wililams: It's the least I can do since you guys helped me out a few days ago.

Me: Be careful Ash.

Ash Williams: I will J.D.

I shook Ash's hand and Violet opened the Force Field and I fired an energy blast that blew a path and a bunch of zombies into dust and Ash ran fast.

Ash Williams: COME AND GET ME YOU FUCKING DEAD APES!

The zombies all chased after him!

Me: That is one brave man.

Waffle Woman: He sure is.

Ana Clark: I was just about to say that. How did you all become frenemies with the most powerful force that the entire universe has ever known?

Waffle Woman: That's a really funny story. Lincoln can tell you all about it.

Lincoln went over what happened during the events of Last Loud On Earth.

Lincoln: We had a really terrible storm and it forced all of Gotham Royal York to seek shelter in the mall and me, Clyde, Laney and Lily went into Lisa's Bunker to watch a Zombie Movie Marathon all night and we thought that everyone vanished and we were the last people in the city and thought that zombies were terrorizing it. We had unexpected help from the first members of the Masters of Evil:

Vypra, Dark Spicer, Zs'Skayr, Vanitas, Waffle Woman and Number 7 and they helped us out because they wanted to know what was going on.

Me: Yeah it was the strangest thing and because of that incident a budding friendship between us was formed.

Waffle Woman: It's true.

Ana Clark: Wow. So that's how you all became friends/enemies.

Laney: That's right.

Me: Yep. And the Masters of Evil have all been helping us whenever possible.

Vexen: That's right.

Michael (DOTD): Wow. That's amazing.

Andy (DOTD): It sure is.

Me: It really put their Zombie Apocalypse Survival skills to the test and it all paid off.

Shaun: I'm really proud of them.

?: It sure was a good test though.

A figure came out and it was PANGOLIN from episode 8 of Jungle Fury!

---

Pangolin is a Rinshi Beast who holds the spirit of the Pangolin (A Chinese anteater with scales sharper than knives) who rolls upwards and has an supposedly impenetrable shell. He works for Dai Shi and Camille and serves as the main antagonist of the episode "Way of the Master".

Pangolin was utilized by Dai Shi and Camille after the defeat of Five Fingers of Poison. Pangolin possessed extremely durable armor and could turn into armor ball and attack his opponents. Pangolin attacked Ocean Bluff and encountered the Rangers. He easily defeated the heroes on the ground and then enlarged and defeated Jungle Pride Megazord. Pangolin possessed the ability to fell out fault lines and ground instability. Pangolin later returned to the city with Camille and was ordered by Dai Shi to find out the weak place in tectonic of the city and summon Volcano Eruption. Pangolin turned into ball and started digging, until Lily interrupted and stopped him with Jungle Mace and eventually broke his armor. Then Pangolin enlarged and now fought with Jungle Pride Megazord combined with Elephant Power. Pangolin was finally destroyed by Megazord with New Elephant Mace. Pangolin was later revived for the game show "Blow That Dough" where he, Buffalord, and Slickagon competed against the Rangers. He was turned into a ball and destroyed again by Camille after he failed to answer a question.

Casey Rhodes: Pangolin!

Pangolin: Long time no see rangers.

Me: I remember you! You were sent after the Five Fingers of Poison were defeated and you were one tough cookie.

Pangolin: Indeed I was. You have a good memory on you.

Me: I get that all the time. And you are also the Spirit of the Pangolin.

Pangolin: That's right.

Rarity: What is a Pangolin?

Me: It's a type of Anteater that lives over in parts of Southeastern Asia and Central Africa.

Syd Chang: This is what it looks like.

Syd showed her a picture of a Pangolin in an encyclopedia of animals she carries with her.

---

Pangolins, sometimes known as scaly anteaters, are mammals of the order Pholidota (from Ancient Greek φολῐ́ς, "horny scale"). The one extant family, Manidae, has three genera: Manis, Phataginus and Smutsia . Manis comprises the four species found in Asia, while Phataginus and Smutsia include two species each, all found in Sub-Saharan Africa. These species range in size from 30 to 100 cm (12 to 39 in). A number of extinct pangolin species are also known.

Pangolins have large, protective keratin scales covering their skin; they are the only known mammals with this feature. They live in hollow trees or burrows, depending on the species. Pangolins are nocturnal, and their diet consists of mainly ants and termites, which they capture using their long tongues. They tend to be solitary animals, meeting only to mate and produce a litter of one to three offspring, which they raise for about two years.

Pangolins are threatened by poaching (for their meat and scales, which are used in Chinese traditional medicine) and heavy deforestation of their natural habitats, and are the most trafficked mammals in the world. As of January 2020, there are eight species of pangolin whose conservation status is listed in the threatened tier. Three ( Manis culionensis, M. pentadactyla and M. javanica ) are critically endangered, three ( Phataginus tricuspis, Manis crassicaudata and Smutsia gigantea ) are endangered and two ( Phataginus tetradactyla and Smutsia temminckii ) are vulnerable on the Red List of Threatened Species of the International Union for Conservation of Nature.

Rarity: Wow! They look very strange.

Me: I know. Really strange. We saw one of those on our global adventure and it was cool and strange. Those scales they have are actually made of fused hair like rhinoceros horn.

Apple Fritter: Really strange.

Me: Yeah.

Sunset Shimmer: To me, you look like you have the spirit of the Armadillo.

Pangolin: I know it's confusing. But I really do have the spirit of the Pangolin. There's a difference!

Me: Pangolins are anteaters that live in Southeast Asia and Central Africa and Armadillos live in the deserts of North America.

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Jungle Fury!

Pangolin: Two Jungle Fury Teams?! Is that even possible?

Jungle Fury Camille: Surprising, isn't it?

Me: Didn't see that coming did you?

Jungle Fury Camille: Casey, me and Jarrod will join up with you all later. We're going to help Beast Boy and his group with Xaldin.

Nico fired massive waves of lightning and electrocuted them all over and reduced them to ash.

Chef Pepper Jack: How do you zombies like yourselves? Spicy? Or crispy?!

Me: How about both!?

Pepperdance: Time to bring the heat!

We fired blasts of fire and incinerated them.

Me: WHOA! Pepperdance that hot sauce gave you not only an intense temperature but also amazing fire powers!

Pepperdance: It sure did.

The Masters of Evil went out to save some survivors and they saw a woman with 5 children under attack and he and Girl Jordan blasted the Zombie's heads off!

Cargill: (to 4 survivors) It's alright. I'm Russ Cargill, Head of the EPA. I'm here to get you to safety!

Woman: Thank you all so much.

Nathaniel beamed up the woman and kids and the survivors were all being taken aboard our ship.

Tara was blowing the zombies apart with earth blasts and fire blasts and more and Rainbow Dash was blasting them apart with light blasts and more.

Pepperdance was blowing them apart with incredible fire blasts.

She then spread wings of intense fire and flew into the air and she flew throught a bunch of zombies and incinerated them all over on contact! Her wings passed through the zombies and incinerated them in an instant!

Me: That did it!

Nico: Not yet!

We saw more zombies coming!

Me: They just keep on coming! I have an idea. Lets head back to the ship.

Cargill: Lets head back to the ship. We rounded up all the survivors.

Me: Right. Lets head back.

We beamed up to the ship and then the rest of the zombies came and then a giant dome formed and entombed the rest of the zombies in it.

Cargill: Dome has zombies trapped.

Me: Excellent. Charge up Superlaser and fire!

Fu: Roger that. Commence Primary Ignition!

Fu pressed a couple of buttons and pulled some levers.

The Superlaser fired and it went through an opening in the dome and it hit the ground and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

All the zombies were completely obliterated and the explosion completely obliterated all of Milwaukee and destroyed the whole city and more. And all the survivors were all cleared of the destruction.

Me: Whoa!

Nico: BINGO! That did it.

Lincoln: It sure did.

Me: Yeah!

King Hiss: (to Ana Clark) Would you all like to move to our Earth?

Xaldin: I guarantee that it's much more pleasant than this one.

Ana Clark: We all would like that. After everything that happened, we need to start over again.

Me: I'm sorry this all happened to you all. But you survived a Zombie Apocalypse and shows how strong and spirited you all are.

Chips barked.

Me: Aww. Set course for home.

Nico: Aye aye sir.

We were on our way home.

Melody (Pokemon): (To the Viewers) This was an awesome adventure and it will be more awesome with me now joining the team. It's gonna be awesome and more.

Me: You said it Melody and it's awesome having you with us.

Melody (Pokemon): Same here.

THE END

Part 7 done.

Dawn of The Dead from 2004 was one of the scariest movies ever done and zombies are now pretty much a thing these days. Especially with Covid-19 spreading across the planet like wildfire. But thankfully it will never bring those it killed back to life like in the movies as zombies. Viruses were the primary cause of Zombies. That and supernatural power. But this was a scary chapter. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4universe and ninjakingofhearts gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is a Goosebumps Zombie Halloween and we're going after dangerous zombies on a Halloween adventure!

See you all tomorrow.

The Zombie Infested Neighborhood

In the Kitchen at the estate on a cold and snowy day, Pinkie Pie and Sunset Shimmer were cooking an awesome soufflé in the oven and it smelled fantastic.

Sunset Shimmer : Oh, your soufflé's looking great, Pinkie Pie.

Pinkie Pie : Adagio Dazzle, Aria Blaze, Applejack, Apple Bloom, Big Mac, Chestnut Magnifico, Chumbly-Bonk-Bonk…

Pinkie Pie was in a state of concentration as she was counting her friends names.

Sunset Shimmer : Pinkie Pie?

Pinkie Pie :… DJ Pon-3, Flash Sentry, Fluttershy, Gloriosa Daisy, Juniper Montage, Lily Pad, Lyra Heartstrings, Maud Pie, Muffins…

Sunset looked at the timer and she saw that she hadn't set it.

Sunset Shimmer : [gasps] But you forgot to set the timer!

Pinkie Pie :… Octavia Melody, Photo Finish, Rainbow Dash-Shhhh! Zecora, Zephyr Breeze, Zipporwhill… Done! I stopped using the timer after I realized a soufflé takes the same amount of time as saying all my friends' names in ABC order!

Sunset Shimmer : You're friends with someone named Chumbly-Bonk-Bonk?

Pinkie Pie : Eh, he's more of a walk-by-what's-up acquaintance, but I needed an extra half-second on the list. [clang]

She closed the oven door.

Sunset Shimmer and Pinkie Pie : [sniff] Mmm-hmmm!

Lori came in.

Lori: Wow that soufflé literally smells fantastic.

Pinkie Pie: It sure does.

Sunset Shimmer : So what's this for?

Pinkie Pie : This is a holiday tradition I have with Rarity.

Lori: Ooh that sounds interesting.

Pinkie Pie : [voiceover] Every year, I surprise her with a dessert that's as elegant as she is. [pop!] (The Soufflé Pops and deflates) [fizzle]

Lori: [voiceover] And it doesn't turn out right doesn't it.

Pinkie Pie : [voiceover] That's right. And every year, she asks me why it's all deflated.

Sunset Shimmer : What…?

Pinkie Pie : [voiceover] Soufflés are only good for a little while, and I never get it to her in time.

Pinkie Pie shows that she runs over to Rarity's house to deliver the dessert but it pops half-way there.

Pinkie Pie : We have seven minutes to get to Rarity's house before this soufflé frumples into a soggy yuck-bucket!

Sunset Shimmer : Seven minutes? How many friends' names is that?

Pinkie Pie : [scoffs] How would I know? Gimme that timer, woman! (Sets Timer) [timer ticking] [zip!] [zippers zipping]

Pinkie Pie was putting a lot of snow clothes on Sunset Shimmer and more.

Sunset Shimmer : Uh, Pinkie? [muffled] Pinkie? Pinkie! The time!

She looked at the timer.

Pinkie Pie : Half the time is gone! Why didn't you say so?! [whirring]

She spun Sunset Shimmer around.

Pump Man: Hey, Pinkie Pie. Why are you in such a hurry?

Pinkie Pie: It's my annual tradition of getting a souffle to Rarity. And every time I try to get there it deflates.

Pump Man: Wow.

Pinkie Pie : Now, this year I have it all planned out. The route, the speed, the exact angle I need to hunch over at to protect the soufflé from the wind. There will be no deflation this year! [inhales] [people shouting] (They saw snowballs coming at them) [door slams] [snowballs thudding] [door opens]

Elie (Rave Master): Look at all this snow!

SPLAT!

A Snowball hit her right in the face and they saw that a massive snowball war was raging on! We were throwing snowballs at each other and we had forts set up and everything.

I threw a snowball and it hit Nico in the face and Varie threw a snowball and it hit Applejack and she fell over and crashed onto Apple Bloom.

Pinkie Pie: Whoa! A raging snow ball war!

Sunset Shimmer: This is gonna be rough.

Elie then had eyes glowing red with rage!

UH OH!

Elie (Rave Master): NO ONE THROWS A SNOWBALL AT ME AND GETS AWAY WITH IT! (ROARS)

She came at us roaring with fury!

Muscle Man: (to Cybertron Sideways) Hey, Sideways. You know who else likes throwing snowballs?

Cybertron Sideways: Like I even have to ask!

Muscle Man: My mom! (throws snowball at him)

The Snowballs hit Sideways but he blocked them.

Vince threw snowballs at Muscle Man and they hit him in the face.

Muscle Man was raging mad now!

BIG MISTAKE!

Muscle Man: OH YOU ARE GONNA GET IT!

He screamed in fury and threw numerous snowballs at him.

Pinkie Pie and Sunset went out and Maud Pie came to the door.

[snowballs thudding]

A bunch of snowballs hit her and she closed the door.

Bulk Biceps : Aah!

Applejack looked over her fort.

Applejack : Ambuuuuush!

Sunset Shimmer and Pinkie Pie were caught in the crossfire!

Pinkie Pie : Whoa! Whoa! Whoop! Oof! [gasps] Whew.

They ducked behind a fort and their soufflé was safe.

Fluttershy : [breathes heavily] We've been pinned down for hours with no reinforcements and no handwarmers.

Trixie : [shakily] I'm cold… S-S-So cold…

Fluttershy : Stay with me, Trixie!

Fluttershy and Trixie were freezing their butts off.

Sunset tried to reason with everyone.

Sunset Shimmer : Uh, hold up, everyone! Pinkie Pie and I aren't in the game!

Granny Smith : What game? This here's war! Fire in the hole!

They threw apple juice covered snowball grenades!

[snowballs splatting]

Sunset Shimmer : One hit, and this thing's finished! [timer ticking]

Tailgate: I can help protect you guys to get that to Rarity.

Sunset Shimmer: Thanks Tailgate.

Pinkie Pie : [groans] Oh, well. Maybe next year. [whimpers] [dramatic music]

Sunset Shimmer : [breathing heavily]

Twilight Sparkle was crawling in the snow.

Snails : [slightly muffled] Has anyone seen my other boot? I can't find my boot! Got it! [slow scream]

Photo Finish crawled into a doghouse for protection and she let the dog be with her.

He got pelted all over. It was like we were fighting in World War II and in the movies Saving Private Ryan and The Thin Red Line but in Snowball Fight form.

Winona : [barking]

Winona got hit.

Apple Bloom : [low-pitched scream]

Applejack had a huge snowball ready!

Applejack : [grunts] Real life ain't the same as them silly ol' video games you play, ain't that right, Sunset?!

OH SHE DID NOT JUST GO THERE!

Sunset Shimmer : Nobody calls Tickle Fruit 2 "silly"!

Tailgate: Now you're in for it Applejack!

Applejack : [grunts]

She threw the giant snowball and Sunset Shimmer jumped and jumped off the huge snowball and she threw a snowball and it hit Applejack!

[thud!]

Applejack : [low-pitched scream]

Tailgate: WHOA! Nice shot Sunset.

Sunset Shimmer : Rarity is getting that soufflé, and you're gonna get it to her!

Tailgate: I'll cover her.

Sunset Shimmer: Thanks Tailgate.

Tailgate was protecting Pinkie Pie as she was crawling away.

Sunset Shimmer: Flash Sentry! To me! Double time!

Flash Sentry came.

Flash Sentry : [panting] Reporting for duty! And seriously, thank you, Sunset! 'Cause, like, I've been wanting to come on one of your adventures for so long 'cause, I mean, you guys do so much cool stuff, and I-

Sunset Shimmer : Flash.

Flash Sentry : I promise I won't mess this opportunity up.

Sunset Shimmer : Whatever! Stop talking! Are you ready?

Flash Sentry : I was born "are you". [beat] Ready.

Sunset put snow on her cheeks like warpaint and it melted off because it was water. Sunset picked up Pinkie and carried her.

Flash Sentry got hit.

[thud]

Flash Sentry : [groans] Well, that was embarrassing. Go on without me! I'll be fine!

Sunset Shimmer : Pinkie! Run! [Gets slammed all over with snowballs] Aah!

Pinkie Pie : Sunset! [wind whistling]

Sunset Shimmer was down.

She turned her over and saw that she was covered in snow on her face.

Pinkie Pie : Sunset!

Sunset Shimmer : [coughs] Tell… Rarity… OW!

Pinkie Pie : You okay?

Sunset Shimmer : Yeah, I fell on my keys. Go, go!

Pinkie Pie : Right! Bye!

Pinkie ran.

Sunset Shimmer : All right! Who threw those cheap shots?! Was it you?!

Bulk Biceps : I'm a conscientious objector! [snowballs thudding]

Bulk was getting pounded by snowballs and Pinkie Pie made it.

[timer ringing]

Pinkie Pie : [sobbing] Oh, my sweet little soufflé! All I ever wanted was for you to be torn apart and digested by my friend Rarity so she could feel the same kind of joy she brings to me!

Rarity : [gasps] Is that this years' soufflé?

She saw that she made it!

Pinkie Pie : [gasps] Rarity?! Where'd you-?! How did you-?! Wait, tell me later! Eat!

Tailgate: Here you go, Rarity. One souffle!

Rarity: It looks amazing!

Pinkie Pie: Quickly eat!

She pulled out a fork and Rarity took a bite.

Rarity: (Chews, Gasps) It's heavenly.

Me: (Sniffs) Mmm! That soufflé smells delicious. May I try a bite?

Pinkie Pie: Sure J.D.

I take out my Swiss Army Knife and used the fork tool and took a bite.

Me: Oh wow! you did a great job Pinkie Pie! It's delicious.

Pinkie Pie : YES! I finally did it!

Rainbow Dash : [grunts, laughs] Sneak attack! Bet you weren't expecting this! [laughs] (Rarity forms a jewel shield) [snowballs thudding]

Rainbow Dash was duped!

Rainbow Dash : Aww, no fair! I spent two days as a snowman for that!

Me: Well it wasn't worth it.

Announcer: SNOWBALL MAGISWORD!

I fired numerous snowballs at Rainbow Dash and pulverized her all over.

[splat]

Rainbow Dash : Aah! Ugh!

Me: Nice try Rainbow Dash.

Pinkie Pie and Rarity : [laugh]

Me: Awesome soufflé though.

Pinkie Pie: Thanks J.D.

We laughed.

Later we were back inside drinking hot cocoa and warm apple cider and sitting by the fire warming up.

Me: Whoo! That was an epic snowball fight.

Nico: Boy you said it.

Sunset Shimmer: That was the most fun I've ever had.

Pepperdance: It sure was. But snow just evaporates off of me because of my intense heat.

Me: I can see that. But all that stuff that happened during that snowball war was like a bunch of scenes I remember seeing from the movies Saving Private Ryan and The Thin Red Line.

Nico: I remember those war movies. Awesome scenes.

Laney: Those were awesome.

Lincoln: They sure were.

Me: (Drinks Apple Cider) Ahh.

Nico: This was very fun though.

Linka: It sure was.

* * *

Later the next day, the Equestria Girls were reading all of Nico's Goosebumps books.

Twilight Sparkle: Wow! These are awesome books.

Nico: Looks like you all are enjoying my Goosebumps books.

Sunset Shimmer: We sure are.

Shocker: (to Mane 6) I don't blame you girls if these Goosebumps books make you scared. The monsters in them really are terrifying.

Rarity: We have dealt with scary stuff before.

Fluttershy: I'm not afraid of anything anymore.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah we had faced a lot of scary things before like Nightmare Moon and even dragons and all that.

Sunset Shimmer: Wow.

Applejack: It's all true.

Me: Wow. We use Nico's Goosebumps books to select our targets for the Goosebumps Monster Busters. They are a branch team we formed so that we can choose which monsters to go after and combat them.

Nico: It was all formed because of my fear for the most insidious Goosebumps monster ever in the series: Slappy the Living Dummy.

THUNDERCLAP!

Pepperdance: Who is Slappy?

Me: He was a monster that terrorized Nico most of his life ever since he was younger.

I went over the history of Slappy the Living Dummy.

---

Slappy the Dummy is the main antagonist in the children's horror book series Goosebumps, as well as the associated media that followed. He is created by R.L Stein. He is considered one of the most popular and most evil creatures in the series, as well as being the key factor to the success of one of the series' most popular story arcs: The Night of the Living Dummy Anthology . He is also a major villain in the Horrorland series and the narrator of his own series Slappyland as well as being the main antagonist in most books. He is also the main antagonist of the 2015 film Goosebumps and its sequel. He also appears as a major antagonist in the Goosebumps comics.

In the TV series, he was portrayed by Annick Obonsawin in 3 episodes, and Cal Dodd in 2 others.

Slappy was originally created by an unnamed evil sorcerer; alongside Mr. Wood, Slappy was carved by the sorcerer out of the cursed wood of a stolen coffin. After Mr. Wood was destroyed at the end of Night of the Living Dummy, this resulted in Slappy becoming twice as evil.

Slappy takes the form of a ventriloquist dummy but is granted life, threatening everyone around him and becoming more of a threat as the series progressed. The only way to make him live is by saying the following incantation: " Karru Marri Odonna Loma Molunnu Karrano " (said to mean "You and I are one now"). Written down on a business card, he keeps the spell in his pocket. Almost every new owner reads out the spell, causing the electricity to act strange for a few seconds.

Slappy keeps himself quiet, as the new owner finds out strange things are happening in the house. Furniture gets moved, things disappear and re-appear. He has a behavior of a very naughty child, or a Poltergeist. He also has the ability to change people into ventriloquist dolls with his green breath. With this breath, he also can animate other dolls and puppets. In Slappy's Nightmare, The Streets of Panic Park, The Dummy meets the Mummy and Diary of a Dummy he serves as an anti-hero. He also appears in the Horrorland series and Goosebumps: Most Wanted .

He also has his own series called Slappyworld where is the narrator of the series and sometimes the main villain of some books. Slappy also would serve as the lesser of two evils or an anti-hero more frequently in these books such as in The Dummy Meets the Mummy or Dairy of a Dummy .

In the TV show Slappy is more villainous than in the books. For example in Night of the Living Dummy 2 in the book his worst act is simply painting Amy's name in Sarah's room and squeezing a girl's hand painfully (though he doesn't break it). In the TV episode he attempts to slam a guatiar on Amy's dad (though it's implied he knew Amy would stop him and break the gautiar and wasn't going to hit her dad). In Night of the Livind Dummy 3 TV episode he mistreats Rocky his minion and turns Zane into a dummy acts which he never did in the book. In Bride of the Lving Dummy in the book he threatens to hurt but not kill the kids at the birthday party, doesn't kill anyone except Mary-Ellen (which is done in self-defense) and intneds to make Jillian, who is 16, his "bride". In the TV episode he is stated by Jimmy to have killed his rivals (albiet they were other dummies not humans) and intends to make Jillains younger sister Katie, who is around 12, his "bride".

He also appears in the comic book series as the main villain of the first arc and set to appear in others. He appears in the first story arc Monster at Midnight as the main antagonist leading the monsters to attack two sisters and later appears in the second arc Download and Die! where he team-ups up with The Creeps to antagonize three young girls.

Slappy also appears in the short story crossover Gaslighted: Slappy the Ventriloquist Dummy vs. Aloysius Pendergast, where Aloysius Pendergast the protagonist of the book series of the same name fights off Slappy.

The Equestria Girls gasped in sheer horror.

Applejack: Slappy was that dangerous!?

Me: Yeah. He tormented many people and made them suffer greatly. He is the worst monster in the entirety of the series.

Nico: Bar None.

Derpy: Duh that is awful.

Me: (Chuckles) Yeah it is. But there are other monsters than Slappy that have posed a very significant threat.

Nico: Yeah.

Livewire: We've taken out a good amount of Goosebumps monsters so far. But there are still plenty more out there.

Me: Absolutely.

Nico: And I found our next target to take on for the Zombie Apocalypse trend: Zombie Halloween!

Me: Ooh! Perfect!

Laney: That will work perfectly.

Me: And we have dealt with lots of zombies over the last couple of days. That book takes place in Franklin Village in Louisiana and legends have said that it is really haunted.

Nico: Yep.

Me: And we're going out to help Kenny Manzetti. Lets roll!

We were off to Louisiana.

---

FRANKLIN VILLAGE, LOUISIANA

---

We arrived in Franklin Village and it was one creepy place.

Me: Whoa. This place gives me the creeps.

Pepperdance: Yeah it sure does.

Lola: I'm really scared.

Lana: Lola we faced Zombies before. How can you be scared of this place.

Lola: Oh right.

Me: Lets find Kenny's house.

We walked around and we found the house of Kenny Manzetti and it was sitting right in the middle of a graveyard.

Me: There it is.

Nico: That's his house all right.

Lucy Loud: That's my kind of house.

Brittney: A house in the middle of a graveyard. I like his style.

Haiku: I like it too.

Persephone: I wouldn't mind living in a house like that.

We saw Kenny sitting on his porch all sad.

We went up to him.

Me: Excuse me.

He saw us.

Batch: Hi. Are you Kenny Manzetti?

Kenny Manzetti: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm! I sure am and it's an honor to meet you all.

Me: Same here Kenny. We came to help you deal with a Zombie Infestation.

Kenny Manzetti: I'm glad you all came. But I don't know if you all ever faced Zombies before.

Me: Actually we have faced Zombies before. 5 times all this week.

Kenny Manzetti: WHOA! You guys faced Zombies that many times before!?

Me: Yeah it's shocking. But we took on a Zombie Argentinosaurus, the Zombies from Resident Evil, Ghosts of Martians that were possessing people on a fully Terraformed Mars, Zombies made by a tainted burger in another version of Springfield, Oregon, the Zombies from I Am Legend that only come out at night and just recently the Zombies from 2004's Dawn of the Dead.

Nico: It's true.

Kenny Manzetti: WHOA! I am in the presence of the greatest Zombie Apocalypse Survival masters of all time!

Me: Oh stop.

Vince: But thank you for that flattering remark.

Me: We heard you are having problems with some zombies.

Mystique: Can you tell us where these zombies are hiding?

Kenny Manzetti: I sure can. Follow me.

We went into his house and it was both scary and creepy.

Me: Wow. Your house is amazing.

Brittney: This is a true haunted house.

Kenny Manzetti: I know and I don't like it because of everything that has happened here to me.

Lucy Loud: And I think I know why. They are angry because this house was built onto their resting place.

Brittney: So we're dealing with a bunch of pissed off zombies here.

Me: Yep.

Kenny Manzetti: And be careful around these zombies. They bite.

Snake Man: Those zombies aren't the only ones who can bite!

Nico: No worries. We are totally immune to Zombie bites and our powers make us completely immune to it.

Kenny Manzetti: That's amazing.

Me: So you faced these zombies before Kenny?

Kenny Manzetti: I sure did and we fought them before and lived to tell the tale.

Me: You have the makings of a good Zombie Apocalypse Survivalist.

Shaun: You sure do.

Kenny Manzetti: Thanks guys. But I'm not nearly as good as all of you.

Me: Well we can teach you and help you out later on.

Kenny Manzetti: Thanks J.D. We are here.

He showed us a room with a trap door that was open.

Me: Is that trap door where the zombies came from?

Kenny Manzetti: That's it.

Me: I've got a really bad feeling about this. So we just have to get the zombies back down there and shut it forever.

Nico: Easier said than done.

Brittney: That door is being kept open by a magical force.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. But with our skills und powers we can do it.

Lincoln: Yeah.

We heard some roaring and eerie moaning coming from the trap door.

Nico: Here they come.

Me: Time for these Zombies to meet their date with death!

I put on my Zombie Apocalypse Survivalist gear.

Kenny Manzetti: Zombie Outbreak Response Team!? WOW! You are a true Zombie Apocalypse Survivalist!

Me: Yep. And you have Shaun to thank for that. Not only that but our frenemies are gonna be here any second for the usual battles like always before we go after them.

Kenny Manzetti: You mean the Masters of Evil? Wow!

Nico: You sure have been following up on all of our adventures.

Kenny Manzetti: Are you kidding!? You guys are my favorite heroes and the Masters of Evil are my favorites too!

Lola: Wow we have a superfan.

Lori: We literally do.

Calypso: Guys, Eccentro called me 5 minutes ago. To buy us time for the usual battles, he sent some of his monsters to distract the zombies.

The monsters he called in were Slobgoblins and they got the zombies attention and they went after them.

Rockna: Whoa! He called in Slobgoblins. Very clever.

Mondo: You said it.

Me: Lets head outside. We don't want to damage the house while we fight.

Nico: Okay.

We went outside and we saw the Masters of Evil. In a flash of green lightning and the Lizard Nazca Line came Eccentro, Electro, Taskmaster, Misty Tredwell, Vulture and Weather Wizard appeared.

Kenny Manzetti: Whoa! Prince Eccentro, Maxwell Dillon A.K.A. Electro, Anthony Masters A.K.A. Taskmaster, Misty Tredwell, Adrien Toomes A.K.A. Vulture and Mark Mardon A.K.A. Weather Wizard!

Misty Tredwell: I'm impressed you know about us.

Me: He's a superfan and has followed all of our adventures ever since we started facing you all.

Taskmaster: I'm impressed he knows all of us.

Me: I am too Tony. This is your first REAL battle with us.

Taskmaster: Indeed.

Eccentro (to Twlight): Did you and your friends read the Goosebumps books yet?

Twilight Sparkle: We did. Are any of the Goosebumps monsters going to be in the Masters of Evil?

Electro: Fuck no! Not only are they too scary but they don't any personality! If any of them come back to life, we'll kill them again and use their corpses as firewood!

Me: That's smart thinking Maxwell. That's why the Goosebumps Monster Busters made it their mission to destroy ALL of them.

Dr. Strange: And I sealed Slappy the Living Dummy in the Dark Dimension.

Me: Yeah. After everything he did and all the pain and suffering he caused to many kids and people and even tormenting Nico here, he deserved it. But if he ever escaped, Nico will Hakai him and banish him to the Warp.

Nico: You got that right.

?: I agree.

A figure came out and it was ROJOBOT from episode 15 of Dino Thunder!

---

Rojobot is a robotic monster, who served Mesogog and was created by Zeltrax. He serves as the main antagonist of the episode "Leader of the Whack" in Power Rangers Dino Thunder.

Rojobot was created by Zeltrax. Rojobot was intended to be the most aggressive monster, but he was actually just a coward. When he was created, he complained on the cold temperature of Mesogog's lair and was scared by Mesogog, calling him "big scary lizard". Mesogog sent Rojobot with an army of Tyrannodrones to find the radioactive meteorite that could alter personality. Rojobot attacked three Power Rangers (Tommy was frozen by Trent) and Trent in the forest with an army of Tyrannodrones and battled them. During the fight Rojobot was blasted by radiation of the meteorite and it altered his personality, making him more aggressive and wishing to fight. Then Rojobot left. Rangers were also blasted and started behaving strangely. Rojobot returned to Mesogog and Mesogog was angered by Rojobot's failure, but Rojobot wanted to destroy the Rangers and it impressed Mesogog. Then Mesogog sent Rojobot to attack Reefside and he encountered the rangers. Rojobot used his lasers and tentacles in battle. Rangers were losing the fight because of their altered personalities, but Hayley helped her friends and rangers defeat Rojobot, by using Super Dino Mode and finishing him with Z-Rex Blaster. Mesogog revived Rojobot and he battled Thundersaurus Megazord, but Trent helped his friends, as he was blasted by radiation and temporarily regained his good personality. Trent attacked Rojobot by using DinoStegazord and Rojobot was destroyed by Double Drill Attack of Ankylozord

Formation of DinoStegazord.

---

Connor McKnight: Rojobot!

Rojobot: Been a while rangers.

Kira Ford: I take it you're in your second personality?

Rojobot: Of course I am! Mistress Vypra prefers that personality rather then the one where I'm a sniveling coward.

Me: That brings out the awesome in you and I remember you. You were created by Zeltrax and Mesogog sent you and an army of Tyrannodrones to find a radioactive mineral he was gonna use on you to alter your Personality to make you more aggressive and brutal and more willing to fight. But that meteor's energy also affected the rangers as well. Hayley helped the Rangers defeat you. That was really brave of her.

Tommy Oliver: It sure was.

Rojobot: That's right. Mistress Vypra was right about you J.D. You have a very impressive memory on you.

Me: Never missed an episode.

Kenny Manzetti: Wow! You guys face the Power Rangers monsters too!? AWESOME!

Me: It sure is and we face the rangers enemies from over the course of 27+ Years.

Kira Ford: It is really awesome.

Troy: Kenny, you're in for a show!

Rojobot: Two Dino Thunder teams?!

Me: Didn't see that coming did you?

Kenny Manzetti: WHOA! That is so awesome!

Me: And you're in for an amazing show when we have our usual battles.

Nico: Yep.

Me: And you get to see me and the Dino Thunder Rangers in action. Ready for this guys?

Tommy Oliver: Lets do it!

Lola: Yeah!

We had our morphers ready!

Me, Nico, Lincoln, Laney, Lori, Lola and the Dino Thunder Rangers: DINO THUNDER! POWER UP! HA!

Trent Fernandez: WHITE RANGER! DINO POWER!

We transformed into the Dino Thunder Rangers!

Connor McKnight: TYRANNO POWER!

Ethan James: TRICERA POWER!

Kira Ford: PTERA POWER!

Tommy Oliver: BRACHIO POWER!

Trent Fernandez: DRAGO POWER!

Lola: AMPHICOELIAS POWER!

Me: SPINO POWER!

Lincoln: VELOCI POWER!

Lori: STEGO POWER!

Laney: ANKYLO POWER!

Nico: QUETZALCOATLUS POWER!

Me, Nico, Lincoln, Laney, Lori, Lola and the Dino Thunder Rangers: DINO POWER! HYAH!

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

A massive fiery explosion went off behind us.

Kenny Manzetti: AWESOME!

Lola: So awesome!

Fluttershy: I like vultures as they are amazing birds.

Vulture: Why thank you kindly. Some people don't like them because of what they do and how they act.

Juniper Montage: I know. Jet-Vac calls them Nature's Cruelest Mistake.

Hay Lin: It's a good way to describe them.

Agony: Yeah but they are scavengers.

Calypso: Yep.

Vulture: Indeed. Lets dance.

Vulture called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Juniper Montage: Try this one out! JUNIPER STYLE NINJA ART: BERRY BOMB STORM!

Rarity: I summon the Crystal Beasts! RUBY CARBUNCLE, AMBER MAMMOTH, TOPAZ TIGER, EMERALD TORTOISE, SAPPHIRE PEGASUS, COBALT EAGLE and AMETHYST CAT!

After using the Pressure Points of Harm and Death technique, Guren encases herself in a prism of transparent blue crystal. The prism can hover in the air, but seems to be immobile. However, the prism protects her from almost any attack, as it was capable of withstanding a barrage of continuous Rasengan, only shattering in the end. THE END

Part 8 done.

Zombie Halloween of Goosebumps was a freaky story and a creepy one. But it was perfect for the saga. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is another awesome episode of Are You Afraid of The Dark? and we're gonna deal with The Zombie Dice! Get ready to roll the dice as we gamble with death!

See you all tomorrow.

The Dice from Hell

It was a nice day in the city and we see Homer Simpson walking around the park when he noticed a piece of pie on a plate in the middle of the path.

Homer: Ooooh~ Pie! Don't mind if I do!

Homer then began to eat the pie like a certain cookie monster when he realized something.

Homer: Wait a minute! (squinting his eyes in suspicion) Something is wrong here.

And without warning, a large number of hooded men arrives, ganging up on Homer and beating him up into sweet unconsciousness!

Hooded Man #1: Get him in the van!

The other hooded men then loaded Homer in the van before making their leave. Unbeknownst to them, a drone owned by Lisa Loud is present in the area. Back in the estates, Lisa witnessed just happened

Lisa Loud: I need to tell everyone about this.

Later Lisa is seen in the living room along with me, Varie, Lincoln, Luan, Eddy, Bart, Ned Flanders, Barney Gumble, Lenny Leonard, Carl Carlson, Alan Wake, Wallfower Blush and Muscle Man gathered in the living room where Lisa told them what she saw.

Bart: Ay Caramba! But why would someone kidnap my dad?

Lisa Loud: I've been asking the same question when I saw Mister Simpson getting loaded in that van.

Carl: Regardless of their reasons, we need to find Homer and save him!

Me: He is right but the problem is… we don't know where they took him.

Lisa Loud: Well… not to brag or anything but I figured that something like this would happen, so I decided to place a tracking pin on the back of Mister Simpson's neck.

Me: Good work, Lisa! Now time to find where they have taken Mister Simpson!

After a minute of searching, Lisa managed to locate where Homer is. The group consisting of me, Varie, Lincoln, Lisa, Luan, Eddy, Bart, Ned Flanders, Barney Gumble, Lenny Leonard, Carl Carlson, Alan Wake, Wallfower Blush and Muscle Man arrive in a dark forest somewhere in the city. Why there's a dark forest is a mystery to them. In an open area, we all saw Homer tied at a pole with a large number of hooded men circled around him, chanting something.

Hooded Men: He-Heeeee-Yo! Cooba-Cooba-Cooba! Ha-Ha-Ha! Ha-Ha-Ha-Hah!

Varie: What kind of ritual is this?

Me: I don't know and I don't like it!

Eddy: Is it me or is the chant sounds like something from a song back in 2003?

Alan Wake: I was thinking the same thing.

And with that, the group made their presence, surprising the hooded men on the process.

Hooded Man #1: What the?! Who are you, jabronies?!

Me: It doesn't matter who we are to you because we're here to stop whatever you plan on doing to Mister Simpson!

Bart: Why did you kidnapped my dad? What did he ever do to you?

Hooded Man #1: Nothing much. (Before bringing out a black book with red spider-web pattern on it's cover) We're just following the instructions of this book on how to wake up a certain monster that has been in deep sleep for centuries long.

Varie: Why would you do something like that?

Hooded Man #1: Nothing much… we're just bored.

Wallflower: You guys are despicable!

Ned: And what does it had anything to do with Homer?

Hooded Man #1: According to the book, we need to sacrifice an inept patriarch to awaken the monster (He then turns to Lincoln, Lisa and Luan) We were suppose to use their father but this guy is a lot dumber, so we took him instead.

Luan: Hey! Our dad is not an inept person!

Barney: I don't know about you guys but I think that book is nothing but a bunch phoney-baloney!

Lincoln: How would you guys know if that book is legit?!

Hooded Man #1: We won't know unless we try.

Alan Wake: Legit or not, we can't let them do what they want!

Me: He's right! Come on gang! Let's go save, Mister Simpson!

Hooded Man #1: Like hell we'll let you stop us! Get them my brothers!

His fellow Hooded Men then brought out various deadly weapons before charging towards us. We all then takes down every hooded man one by one and smashed their brains out. Alan then punches the Hooded Man, whom drops the book in the process, Alan then grabs the book before tossing it towards me and I then proceeded to destroy the book by burning it to ashes.

Me: There! You're book is no more!

Hooded Man #1: NOOOOOO! WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?! I PAYED

500 MILLION DOLLARS FOR THAT BOOK!

Lisa Loud: What a way to waste money.

Me: That was a big ripoff.

The Hooded Man #1 then charges towards Lisa Loud with a deranged look on his face.

Hooded Man #1: I'M GONNA MAKE YOU ALL PAY!

Ned then steps in and knocks the hooded man out with a clothesline from hell.

Ned: That's for hurting my best friend and trying to sacrifice him over nothing!

Me: Way to go, Ned!

Ned Flanders: Thank you diddily kindly.

After that, the group tied up every hooded men before getting them taken away by the police. Meanwhile, Lenny and Carl helps Homer by untying him out of the pole.

Homer: Ugh… what happened?

Bart: You got kidnapped and nearly been used as a sacrifice, dad.

Lisa Loud: And it all started because you spotted and ate a plate of pie on the ground.

Varie: Now promise us that you won't eat something on the ground ever again, Mister Simpson.

Homer: I promise.

Me: Make it a Pinkie Pie Promise.

Homer: Cross my heart, hope to fly, stick a cupcake in my eye.

Me: (Nods) Good.

And with that, we all decided to head home and get some rest.

In Ponyville, some crazy things were going on. Twilight was in despair because she accidentally mixed up everything for her friends. Something was seriously up.

Twilight Sparkle : Oh, Spike, what have I done?

Spike : Aw, come on, Twilight, you'll figure out a way to fix this. These are your friends .

Twilight Sparkle : You're right, Spike. (Twilight looked at a photo of her and all her friends) And they mean more to me than anything. My friends…

She was glowing in a magenta aura.

Spike : Twilight? Are you alright?

Her eyes lit up with her cutie mark

Twilight Sparkle : I've got it! I know what to do!

Spike : You do?

Twilight Sparkle : I may not be able to remind them of who they are, but I can show them what they mean to each other. Spike we're gonna need Team Loud Phoenix Storm's help.

Spike: I'm on it.

Spike wrote a letter to us and he sent it to us.

In 1 minute we arrived.

Me: We got here as fast as we could Twilight.

Lincoln: Yeah what's up?

Twilight told us what was going on.

We gasped.

Me: Well that was accidental.

Brittney: Dad's right. The spirits of magic told me that this spell was cast accidentally.

Twilight Sparkle: Really? Oops. But we can still fix this. They'll find the part of themselves that's been lost so they can help the friend they care about so much!

She put the necklaces of the Elements of Harmony into a trunk and she put on the Crown of Magic.

Me: We'll gladly help you out Twilight. I just hope it's not too late.

Nico: Me too.

Twilight Sparkle: Come on guys.

We were off.

First we went to find Fluttershy.

Fluttershy handed the pilot some bits.

[bits clinking]

Twilight Sparkle : Fluttershy, wait!

We came up to her.

Fluttershy : Oh… Hey, Twilight… Hey guys.

Twilight Sparkle : Where are you going?

Fluttershy : I'm moving back to Cloudsdale. I don't know what's wrong, but I can't seem to make anypony laugh.

[whoopee cushion deflating]

Luan: Okay that was a Gas! (Laughs)

Me: (Laughs) That was a good one Luan.

Twilight Sparkle : Before you go, I was wondering if you might be willing to help Rainbow Dash. She's really struggling with her animals.

Me: Yeah.

Fluttershy : But… I don't really know anything about animals…

Twilight Sparkle : But you do know something about Rainbow Dash.

Me: That's right.

Fluttershy : I… know that she's a true friend, and I'll do anything I can to help her.

Me: Lets head to the cottage.

We arrived at the cottage and then we heard chaos and pandomonium inside!

[thunk]

Rainbow Dash : [muffled] Whoa!

Me: Uh oh!

Twilight Sparkle : Rainbow Dash!

Rainbow Dash : I'm in here! Help! I'm trapped!

They had her in a pot all tied up and she was about to be cooked in a pot of soup and the animals were all acting like tribal savages!

Lana: The animals are all acting like tribal savages!

Laney: We have to stop this!

Fluttershy : Hurry, Twilight! Can't you do some sort of spell to get her out?

Twilight Sparkle : No. Fluttershy, you're the only one who can help! Rainbow Dash needs you !

Me: That's right Fluttershy.

Lincoln: Help her Fluttershy.

Fluttershy : Okay. Um… Hello? Little… woodland creatures? I know that you're all very upset and feel like giving Rainbow Dash a hard time, but we'd all really appreciate it if you'd calm down and, um, maybe… rest for a bit? (The animals stopped and listened) Oh! Uh… look! Here's some nice, juicy leaves for you to munch on. And some crunchy, munchy acorns too. Uh, wouldn't you like to take a break and have a little snack?

She gave them some vegetables and nuts.

[cutlery clinking]

[animals eating]

Fluttershy : Aww, look at that. I guess you were all just cranky because you were hungry. Oh, you are very welcome, little friends.

Bear : [kisses]

A bear hugged and kissed her.

Fluttershy : Goodness, it's like I can understand them! (She glowed in a neon pink aura)

Spike opened the trunk and I pulled out the Butterfly Necklace of Kindness.

Fluttershy: I… I feel strange, like… like this is what I'm meant to do, like this is who I am! My destiny !

I put the Kindness necklace around her neck and random images of her appeared in her eyes and she was back to normal!

Fluttershy: Wha… what happened?

Twilight Sparkle : Fluttershy, look! Your cutie mark!

Fluttershy saw that her Butterfly Cutie Mark was back!

Me: IT WORKED!

Nico: She's back to normal!

Laney: Yeah!

Twilight Sparkle : It worked! It worked!

Lana: Welcome back Fluttershy!

Hinata: We're so happy you're back to normal.

Twilight Sparkle: Oh, I'm so happy you're back to normal! Now we need your help!

Me: That's right.

Twilight Sparkle: (Singing)

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

A friend will be there to help them see

[Twilight and Fluttershy]

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

To see the light that shines from a true, true friend

Rainbow Dash : Um, hello? Friend trapped inside, remember?

Lynn: Sorry Rainbow Dash.

We helped her out of the pot and Naruto cut the rope and freed her.

Rainbow Dash: Thanks guys.

[Twilight Sparkle]

Rarity needs your help

She's trying hard, doing what she can

[Fluttershy]

Would you try?

Just give it a chance

You might find that you'll start to understand

(Rainbow Dash was moving the clouds away and she made it sunny again.)

[Twilight and Fluttershy]

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

A friend will be there to help you see

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

To see the light that shines from a true, true friend

(Rainbow Dash glowed in a red aura and Lynn put the Loyalty Necklace around Rainbow Dash's neck and she then was back to normal! Her cloud with a rainbow cutie mark was back.)

Rainbow Dash : Uh, what just happened?

Lynn: Welcome back R.D.!

Twilight Sparkle : There's no time to explain, but we need your help. Applejack's trying to make dresses!

Rainbow Dash : Say no more!

Laney: Lets get over there.

We got to Rarity's clothing shop.

[Rainbow Dash]

Applejack needs your help

She's trying hard, doing what she can

(Applejack wrecked a dress and the sewing machine was smoking)

Would you try, just give it a chance You might find that you'll start to understand

(Rarity was working on the clothes and she was really working hard.)

[Twilight, Fluttershy, and Rainbow Dash]

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

A friend will be there to help them see

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

To see the light that shines from a true, true friend

(Rarity then glowed in a purple aura and Lori and Leni put the Generosity Element of Harmony necklace around her neck and Rarity was back to normal. Her jewel cutie mark was back!)

Rarity : [gasps] Oh my, what a terrible dream I had. Or, maybe I'm still having it.

Lori: Glad you are literally back Rarity.

Leni: We are totes happy.

Me: And no this is not a dream. We'll explain what happened later.

Twilight Sparkle : Rarity, Pinkie Pie is about to lose the apple farm. We need Applejack's help!

Rarity : Lose the apple farm? Well we can't let that happen, now can we?

Me: Lets get over there and quick!

Jared: Right!

[Rarity]

Pinkie Pie is in trouble

We need to get there by her side

We can try to do what we can now

For together we can be her guide

(We arrived at Sweet Apple Acres and the farm was in total disarray and the farm was in shambles and the trees were all dead. We got to Pinkie Pie and fixed a gutter. Applejack and all of us helped plant new apple trees and got new apples and more and we fixed the barn. Apple Bloom and Apple Fritter planted new seeds and more.)

[Twilight, Fluttershy, Rainbow Dash, and Rarity]

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

A friend will be there to help them see

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

To see the light that shines from a true, true friend

(Applejack glowed in an orange aura and Jared put the Honesty Element Necklace around her neck and Applejack was back to normal as her Apples Cutie Mark was back to normal!)

Applejack : (Cowboy Accent) Yee-haw! Now that's more like it!

Jared: Welcome back Applejack!

Apple Bloom: Glad you're back sis!

Applejack: What's next?

Twilight Sparkle : The townspeople are furious. We need the old Pinkie Pie back.

Applejack : I'm on it. I know just the thing.

Me: Lets get over there and quick!

Luan: Yeah!

[Applejack]

The townspeople need you

They've been sad for a while

They march around, face a-frown

And never seem to smile

And if you feel like helpin'

We'd appreciate a lot

If you'd get up there and spread some cheer

From here to Canterlot

(Luan put the Laughter Necklace around Pinkie Pie's neck and she was back to normal and her Balloons Cutie Mark was back!)

Pinkie Pie : Come on ponies, I wanna see you SMILE!

Crowd : PINKIE!

Luan: Welcome back Pinkie Pie!

Sunset Shimmer: Yeah! The gang is all back to normal!

[Main cast, Team Loud Phoenix Storm and crowd]

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

A friend will be there to help them see

A true, true friend helps a friend in need

To see the light! (To see the light!) That shines! (That shines!) From a true, true friend!

We had everyone back to normal!

Me: Much better.

Laney: YEAH!

Nico: Glad you're all back to normal.

Rarity: Indeed we all are.

Twilight Sparkle: Thank you all so much for helping us.

Me: Aw it was nothing Twilight. We would do anything to help you all.

Sunset Shimmer: That's what friends do.

Lemon Zest: That's right.

Apple Fritter: Yeah.

Laney: It is good we came to help.

Me: As long as we're here we might as well see if anyone here needs more help.

Nico: Good idea.

We walked around.

Maria: Thanks for agreeing to join the Redemption Squad, Pirate Man.

Pirate Man: Argh no problem fair lassy.

Mr. Krabs: Ar-ar-ar-ar-ar-ar-ar-ar-ar! You are a fine pirate Pirate Man.

We laughed.

Homer: Hey guys!

Me: Hey Homer.

Then we got an unexpected shock as we saw 45 more Homers appear!? WHAT THE FUCK IS GOING ON!?

Pirate Man: Shiver me Timbers, Homer! Why are there more of ye?!

Me: (Rubs my eyes) I'm starting to go fucking crazy!?

I hit myself on the head with a mallet!

---

Me: Come on! Wake up J.D.!

POINK!

Laney pinched me!

Me: OUCH!

Laney: Sorry. You aren't dreaming or anything like that J.D.

Me: Oh. Then I'm not going crazy. But how did this happen!?

Twilight Sparkle: I think Homer just found the Mirror Pond.

Me: What's the Mirror Pond?

Twilight Sparkle: It's a strange mystical pond that helps make more than one of you.

Twilight told us everything about it.

---

The Mirror Pool, also called the Mirror Pond, is an enchanted pool of water in the Everfree Forest with the power to duplicate whoever stands in front of it. Pinkie Pie uses the pool to duplicate herself in Too Many Pinkie Pies.

The Mirror Pool is a small pond of water located in an underground cavern in the Everfree Forest, connected to the surface via tunnel. The cavern walls surrounding the pool are covered in luminescent flowers and mushrooms.

In the season three episode Too Many Pinkie Pies, Pinkie Pie struggles to spend quality time with all of her friends at once. When Twilight Sparkle tells her the only way to accomplish this is if there are more of her to go around, Pinkie recalls the "legend of the Mirror Pool" told to her by her Nana Pinkie, which includes these rhymes:

" Where the brambles are thickest, there you will find

A pond beyond the most twisted of vines. "

" And into her own reflection she stared,

Yearning for one whose reflection she shared,

And solemnly sweared not to be scared

At the prospect of being doubly mared . " - The Legend of the Mirror Pool

Venturing into the Everfree Forest, Pinkie Pie stumbles through some brambles and vines and finds herself in the Mirror Pool's underground cavern. By staring into her reflection and reciting the last part of the legend, she activates the pool's magic, and her reflection turns into a clone that climbs out of the water. This duplicate Pinkie is notably single-minded and obsessed with fun, repeatedly chanting the word "Fun!" in her speech, and she constantly gets the names of Pinkie Pie's friends wrong.

Pinkie Pie creates one clone of herself at first, but she later returns with the clone to create two more. The three Pinkie clones then create even more clones, making a minimum total of thirty-three. Pinkie Pie's duplicates cause general mayhem around Ponyville, such as ruining Applejack's barn-raising at Sweet Apple Acres and disturbing Rainbow Dash's nap.

Twilight reads about the Mirror Pool, referring to it as the "Mirror Pond", in a hidden book in her library and learns of a spell to return the clones to the pool. Through a test to find the real Pinkie Pie, Twilight has the Pinkie clones watch paint dry and magically zaps any that gets distracted back to the Mirror Pool. After the real Pinkie passes the test, Twilight and Big McIntosh seal the entrance to the Mirror Pool's underground cavern with a boulder.

The Mirror Pool briefly appears again in Pinkie Pie's dream in the season five episode Do Princesses Dream of Magic Sheep? In the season six episode The Saddle Row Review, Pinkie Pie alludes to her previous use of the pool. In the season seven episode Uncommon Bond, Starlight Glimmer breaks the seal on the Mirror Pool's entrance in order to show Sunburst, and Maud Pie's home cave is revealed to be adjacent to it. In that episode as well, Boulder is duplicated (offscreen) through use of the pool.

---

Nico: Whoa! I didn't know a pond like that could do that.

Me: Me neither.

Lincoln: I don't think any of us did.

Applejack: I thought you closed off that infernal pond Twilight.

Twilight Sparkle: Homer must've found the boulder that I used to block off where to find it in the Everfree Forest and he used it by mistake.

Me: Oops. Bart didn't Homer clone himself like this before? (Season 14 Episode 1)

Bart: He sure did and it was a crazy day back then.

Patrick Star: I dunno, guys. This doesn't look that bad.

Lola: Maybe for you Patrick. But if Marge saw this she would kill all of them.

Nico: I agree.

?: (Cowboy Accent) Let us help you guys get rid of these clones.

We turned and we saw William Billy Strayer A.K.A. BILLY NUMEROUS and KYD WYKKYD!

---

Billy Numerous

Billy Numerous is an antagonist in the television show Teen Titans .

He was voiced by Jason Marsden, who also played Billy Yoder in Jurassic Park: The Game .

Billy Numerous is first seen as a student of the H.I.V.E. Academy where his power of duplication was subtly hinted. When the Academy was destroyed, Billy Numerous escaped and became a renegade villain.

Later, Billy engaged in a battle with the Teen Titans while he was in a robbing spree all across Jump City. The Titans were subdued by Billy's duplication power, which made Cyborg more obsessed to catch him. Cyborg and the other Titans managed to catch Billy in an old stadium by using holographic projections created and controlled by Cyborg to look like they duplicated themselves. In order to bring the Titans down, Billy created more clones of himself but pushed his power to the limit. The result came when his clones were reabsorbed into him and he experienced a physical and mental shock, stunning him.

At some point, Billy joined the H.I.V.E. Five and was also recruited into the Brotherhood of Evil. When he was with the H.I.V.E. Five, he helped his teammates to attempt to capture Kid Flash but even his numerous clones were unable to stop the super-speedster. When the Brain executed its plans to attack all superheroes, Billy Numerous was sent with Gizmo to capture Kole and Gnarrk, but were both defeated. When the final battle with the Teen Titans started, Billy Numerous attempted to escape with the rest of the H.I.V.E. Five members but was blasted by one of Jinx's hexes and ended up flash-frozen with the other villains.

Billy Numerous has the power to duplicate himself as many times as he wants. All his clones share his personality and his trickery. The exact number of duplicates he can create is unknown but it is shown to be higher than a hundred. However if he creates too many clones, he will experience a physical and mental shock that results in reabsorbing his clones and stunning him.

In 2008, he was added to the main DC universe as an enemy of Catwoman.

Kyd Wykkyd

Kyd Wykkyd is an antagonist in the Teen Titans media. He is the most mysterious member of the H.I.V.E.. He does not speak and rarely interacts with the other villains.

Kyd Wykkyd is a villain who seems almost emotionless but on some occasions has a sense of humor in some episodes. Along with the other students at the H.I.V.E. Academy, he was recruited into the Brotherhood of Evil. He joined the H.I.V.E. Five, led by Jinx, but was more out for money than power while with the team. He tries to help the H.I.V.E. Five capture Kid Flash for the Brotherhood of Evil but he did not stand a chance against the super-speedster.

When the Brain executed its plans, Kyd Wykkyd was sent with Psimon to defeat Raven. They succeeded in overpowering her and with Psimon's psychic powers, creating a portal, sent her to an unknown region. However, Raven returned and brought reinforcements. During the final battle against the united Titans in the Brotherhood's base, Kyd Wykkyd and his H.I.V.E. Five mates attempt to escape but are stopped by Kid Flash and are knocked out by a hex from the reformed Jinx, and is flash frozen with the rest of the villains.

Me: Billy Numerous and Kyd Wykkyd. I guess Vypra recruited you two for the Masters of Evil.

Billy Numerous: That's right.

Kyd Wykkyd nodded.

Lincoln: He sure is a gifted speaker.

Jinx: Kyd Wykkyd doesn't talk. I think he was born mute.

Laney: Hmm. I have a temporary solution until we can help him talk.

Laney pulled out a chalkboard and gave it to him.

Laney: This helps out most mute people. Just write on this chalkboard what you want to say.

He did so and he wrote something.

Kyd Wykkyd: (On a chalkboard) Thank you so much Laney.

Laney: You're welcome Kyd.

Me: Nice to know that works.

Lisa Loud: I'll get to work on making a communication device for Kyd Wykkyd as soon as possible.

Me: Awesome.

Billy Numerous: Before me and Kyd help you guys out, I have something to give to J.D.

Me: What's that?

POW!

Billy Numerous then punched me in the face, giving me a black eye.

Dirt Boss: What the Hell did you do that for?!

Billy Numerous: That's for J.D. demoralizing me and my team the first time!

Me: OW! Okay I had that coming. And I'm sorry. I guess we were taking our job too far back then.

I got up and I had a nasty black eye!

Nico: (Whistles) Nice shiner.

Me: Yeah. But we were still getting used to the idea of being called Team Loud Phoenix Storm back then.

Billy Numerous: I see.

Lincoln: Man J.D. he really nailed you.

Varie: No kidding.

Me: I deserved that. But this is nothing I can't heal from.

My black eye was healed in an instant.

Nico: Nice. Okay lets round up these clones!

Me: And I know just what to do. Applejack can I borrow your apple wagon?

Applejack: Sure J.D. What do you need it for?

Me: You'll see. Pinkie Pie we're gonna need a ton of donuts and a bunch of giant donuts.

Pinkie Pie: You got it J.D.!

Pinkie Pie went to Sugarcube Corner and got to work.

Me: Nico, we're gonna need a lot of cans of Duff Beer.

Nico: I'm on it!

Nico flew over to Moe's tavern.

Lori and Leni flew over to Sugarcube Corner.

Applejack brought the wagon over.

Me: DONUT STYLE: DONUT STOCKPILE JUTSU!

I made tons of donuts and filled up the wagon with them.

I whistled and called my Rapidash and got on and we hooked the cart up. Pinkie filled the cart up with more donuts.

Me: Okay we're all set.

At Moe's Tavern, Moe was getting ready.

Nico came in.

Moe: Oh hey Nico what's up?

Nico: Sorry to come in like this Moe but I need 50 6 packs of beer. Homer cloned himself.

Moe: Oh man! Let me guess, that magic hammock again?

Nico: No it's a little weirder than that.

Moe: You'll have to explain to me later. But I'm on it.

He got all those cans of beer and went with Nico as he lifted the whole palette of beer and had Moe go with him after putting a sign on the tavern that said "Back in 30 Minutes".

Then a bunch of giant donuts came flying above us and Lori and the Z-Fighters were flying with the giant donuts and Pinkie Pie put more donuts that she made in the cart.

Nico and Moe came.

Me: That's perfect Nico! Good job.

I handed Moe a bag of cash.

Me: Here Moe. This oughta cover all that beer.

Moe: Ah thanks J.D. Anything to help youse guys out.

Me: Awesome. Billy grab a bunch of beers.

Billy Numerous: Roger that!

He made 298 clones and they grabbed a bunch of cans of bear.

Me: Perfect.

Qin: That is so cool!

Billy Numerous 1: Here we go.

Me: We're gonna lure the Homer Clones over to a cliff and have them fall over the edge and then we're gonna blast them.

Naruto: Awesome idea!

Billy Numerous 1: I like that idea.

Me: Homer is drawn to the scent of beer from over a mile away. When we open these cans of beer they will all come to us like flies to potato salad or a rotten corpse. No offense Lucy.

Lucy Loud: None taken.

Me: Ready guys? Ready Billy's?

Billy's: Ready!

Everyone: Ready!

Me: Here we go!

CLICK! HISS!

We opened the beer and the Homers all over Ponyville smelled the beer.

Homers: MMM BEER!

They ran toward us.

We felt an earthquake and we saw the Homer Stampede coming right at us!

Rainbow Dash: HOMER STAMPEDE!

Me: Lets ride!

Applejack: YEEHAW!

Me: HYAH!

We were off to the cliff and the Homers were chasing us. The Homers saw the Donuts too.

Homers: MMM! DONUTS!

We got to the cliff edge and we lured them and sent them over the edge!

They made Doh's all over as they fell to their demise!

Punch: Please tell me that's the last of the clones!

Me: Just about. We have those left.

We saw 10 more.

Eli: I got this.

Eli threw the 9 clones down and then me, Naruto, Kyd Wykkyd and the Billy Numerous's blasted the clones and obliterated them.

Me: Nice!

Nico: Man I feel like we just lived an episode of The Simpsons.

Laney: It sure feels like it!

Homer: But this was awesome!

Me: Sorry we had to get rid of your clones Homer. But this was awesome!

Homer: It's all right J.D. But this was fun. Thanks for the beer though. I think I can have one only once every 5 years.

Me: That's a good idea. (Groan!)

Nico: What's wrong J.D.?

Me: I have a major league Splitting headache! I better head home and rest.

I went home and rested.

Later at the estate, I was laying on my bed with an ice bag on my head and I was reading a book.

Me: (Groans) That's the last time I drink steak sauce.

It was a headache that lasted for 35 minutes. I went back to watch TV in the living room.

Nico: That was a crazy adventure in Ponyville.

Rainbow Dash: It sure was. But it was awesome.

Scootaloo: It sure was.

Me: Yeah.

But then the alarm went off.

Me: Uh oh.

We went to the computer and we saw that hundreds of children have been disappearing over the last few days and their parents are worried sick. They went to a local arcade and were never seen again.

Me: Uh oh. We better check this out.

We went to the local arcade and we saw that it looked to be closed.

Me: Looks like it's closed.

Nico: It's the middle of the day but lets head in.

We went up to the door and it was locked.

Heidi: I got this. METAL STYLE: SKELETON KEY!

She formed her finger into a skeleton key and she opened the door and we went in.

Me: Wow. Look at all these amazing arcade games.

Nicole: Some of them look awesome.

Lincoln: They sure do.

Lily: I would like them.

Me: I sense a disturbance coming from that room over there.

We went to the room at the end of the hall and we went in and then we came across a really horrible sight! We saw all the kids that disappeared shrunk down to the size of action figures and they were locked up in bottles!

Me: Whoa!

Lana: It's all the kids that disappeared.

Brittney: I knew something supernatural was behind all this. This is the work of the Zombie Dice.

Miranda: Zombie Dice? Oh boy. I don't think that's a game we should play.

Me: I agree Miranda. I smell something dangerous at work here.

Leni: Really? (Sniffs armpits) I don't smell anything. Just me.

Lori: No Leni. It means that something evil is going on here.

Brittney: It's not a game guys.

Brittney pulled out her book on Supernatural Objects and Cursed Artifacts and scrolled through the pages.

Brittney: Here it is. The Zombie Dice.

We saw that the Zombie Dice were a pair of dice that had 3 skulls on them and the other 3 sides were normal.

Me: Those sure look like scary dice.

Brittney: They sure are. They are deadly dice. If the person using them gets one of the skulls they lose and they get shrunk down to the size of action figures.

Lily: Whoa! Those dice look dangerous.

Gabriel Agreste: Does anyone know about this Zombie Dice?

Me: No but I have a really bad feeling that it's not good.

Brittney: I know a counter spell that can get these kids back to their normal size and get them out of here.

Me: Lets find out who is behind all this.

We walked and investigated and we found a log book and we saw that it belonged to an evil criminal named Mr. Click. He was using the Zombie Dice to shrink kids down to the size of action figures and put them in bottles so that he would sell them to the highest bidder for enormous profits!

Nico: That is sick!

Ultra Humanite: I see. So, Mr. Click uses the Zombie Dice to shrink kids that lose with them down to the size of action figures. And then, he sells them to the highest bidder.

Me: This is sick! He must be stopped!

Lasher: We also need to free the kids that the Zombie Dice was used on.

Brittney: I can do that with my magic. Like I said, I know a counter spell that can get them all back to normal.

Me: Awesome.

Coconuts: Don't know.

Brittney: No it won't. According to my book it says here that it only works on Humans.

Grounder: Good.

Coconuts: That's a relief.

Me: Lets see what it says about Mr. Click.

I looked up his info and what it revealed was abhorrent!

---

Mr. Click, appeared in the episode "The Tale of the Zombie Dice", he was portrayed by Edward Yankie.

Mr. Click, was an evil and sadistically sinister man. He was a professional gamer, who was often overconfident at playing games and could tell if someone had potential.

He ran an after school hangout called "Click's Emporium", which was opened till 6:00 pm daily. A place in which children and teenagers would play all sorts of recreational games and video games and buy snacks and soda.

He discovered a method to own possession of a person's thumbprint. How he found out the way to do this is unknown. He was assisted by a man named Klimbo, whom he constantly berated and mistreated.

What he would do, is he would find a worthy opponent. Then he would challenge them to a dice tossing game called "Zombie Dice". The dice each had a red skull on them. The challenger would have to throw both of the dice three times. If a skull appeared even once during the throws, the challenger would lose. If the challenger won, he or she would get a reward, like a free run of the emporium for a year. However, if the challenger lost he would win their thumbprint.

His assistant Klimbo would instruct the loser to place his or her thumb on the screen of a pedestal.

However, it turns out if you win someone's thumbprint you own them. Ergo, he would shrink them down to miniature size. Then he would trap them in small cage like boxes. Then mail them all over the world. They would be mailed to buyers who would pay huge amounts of money for a unique little pet human. Although as he said most of them didn't survive the trip to the buyer.

When he challenged Tate to play the game, Tate, always enjoying a gamble and never backing down from a challenge took him on. Tate almost won too, until he lost on his third throw. Then he informed Tate what was going to happen to him, and prepared to have him shipped off to Australia.

Later on Tate's careful and cautious friend Alex and his brother came looking for him and found him. Mr. Click agreed that if he won a game of Zombie Dice he would let Tate go. But if Alex lost, he would own his thumbprint too.

Alex agreed to the game, but to be sure it wasn't rigged, he insisted that Mr. Click roll the dice instead. Mr. Click agreed. He took a very long time and he rolled it three times and won. He was about to have Klimbo take Alex away to capture his thumbprint. Then Alex begged for another game and he agreed.

Alex bet him that he could drink two mugs of soda, before Click could finish one small glass. All Alex wanted was a head start to be fair, and Mr. Click couldn't pick up the glass until Alex finished the first mug. Mr. Click only agreed if Alex would drink three mugs. Alex then had him raise the stakes.

Ergo if Alex won he'd get Mr. Click's thumbprint, Mr. Click overconfident with himself agreed. Alex drank the first mug very slowly and Mr. Click was sure Alex would lose. Then Alex placed his empty mug upside down on top of Mr. Click's glass. Ergo since he couldn't touch Alex's mug, Alex would finish before he did. Mr. Click was furious and mentioned how it was unfair, he was reminded by Alex that it was fair because he agreed to it.

Mr. Click complained because he felt Alex was cheating and wouldn't allow it. Then to his shock, Tate was freed and informed him that Alex was the winner and he was the loser.

Mr. Click tried to make a run for it, in the basement he tried to pack up and leave in a hurry and pushed Klimbo around for the last time. Klimbo got fed up with him and closed in on him.

Then in a big bright flash of light Alex, Andre and Tate asked Klimbo where Mr. Click was. Klimbo smiled and said game is over and showed them the small box and headed off with him securely locked in the box.

---

We gasped.

Me: Whoa shit! This man is one fucking crazy son of a bitch!

Lola: I WILL KILL THIS CLOD!

Me: No Lola. He needs to be where he belongs: In prison.

Lily: I can call the FBI and after we have our usual battles we can tear him apart.

Me: Good idea Lily. Lets get this motherfucker (Cracks Knuckles).

We went to the office of Mr. Click.

SMASH!

Harley Quinn busted the door down with her hammer.

Harley Quinn: Knock knock! Anyone home?!

We came in and Mr. Click saw us!

Mr. Click: WHAT THE!? TEAM LOUD PHOENIX STORM!

Me: That's right Mr. Click and you are under arrest for human trafficking and kidnapping!

Mr. Click: So you all came to kill me?

Me: No we came to arrest you after we kick your fucking butt all the way to the Moon!

Nico: Mr. Click you have failed this world!

Vince: Big time! And we're gonna make you pay for your crimes.

Nicole: You are an absolute menace to all video game lovers everywhere!

Lincoln: That's right!

Then all seven Dark Signers appeared in flashes of rainbow light!

Me: All seven of you this time.

Misty Tredwell: It's only just this once.

Carly Carmine: Yeah we wanted to have all of us face you just this once.

Rex Goodwin: Personally, the idea of a game being used in human trafficking sickens me.

Nicole: You got that right Rex. It's an absolute disgrace to the love of all video games.

Jack Atlas: (Australian Accent) I don't think the 7 of you in your worst moments ever participated in human trafficking in the past.

Kalin: Hell no! It is an absolute atrocity to nature.

William: And I'm guessing a new recruit is about to appear?

Roman Goodwin: Actually, she's already here.

?: And that would be me.

A figure came out and it was DAYU!

---

Dayu is one of Master Xandred's two followers, a female who plays a shamisen. She is a supporting antagonist in Power Rangers: Samurai and a major antagonist in Super Samurai .

She was voiced by Kate Elliott.

Prior to her service to Xandred, Dayu was once a woman named Dahlia, recently married to the man known as Deker. On the night of their wedding the two presented each other with gifts; a Katana for Deker and a decorated guitar for Dalia. Sometime in the night a fire broke out in their home while Dalia (and presumably Deker) were asleep, when Dalia woke to find their bedroom burning, Deker was nowhere to be found. The couple managed to escape the house, but Deker was severely injured.

In a moment of desperation she called out for help and summoned the "King of the Nighloks". The shadowed Nighlok agreed to save Deker, but at the expense of Dalia's soul. She agreed to his terms and was tricked soon thereafter, the Nighlok turned them both into Nighloks and wiped Deker of his memory. Upon Deker's revival and immediate transformation into his Nighlok half, he vanished, leaving Dalia behind. Its assumed that Dalia joined Xandred shortly afterward and became known as Dayu.

Serving Xandred

As a half-Nighlok, Dayu serves as one of the two generals working at Xandred's side to fight against the Samurai Rangers, yet she is embittered by her time in the Netherworld. Dayu still clings to the memory of her mortal life and her relationship with Deker, despite that he has no memory of their life together. She primarily regrets "cursing" him as a Nighlok with the unquenchable desire for the "ultimate duel". On one occasion, she attempted to use the tears of newlywed brides to flood the Sanzu River and recreate her wedding dress, only to be foiled by the Samurai Rangers (Mia and Emily in particular).

She is skilled in battle, lasting long enough against the Rangers until Jayden prepared to attack her with the Fire Smasher. It was there that she was rescued and forced to retreat by Deker, who intervened in the battle upon finding the opponent Uramasa (his Katana) was seeking. She thanks him for saving her life and inquires why he wishes to fight the Red Ranger, to which he answers he is "cursed to satisfy this urge" for the ultimate duel and nothing else was important, not even his past life.

Leaving Xandred

When visiting The Tengen Gate, Mia and Kevin were told of the old folktale about a woman who made a deal with the King of the Nighloks to save her beloved and was tricked, foreshadowing the fate of Dayu and Deker. When Xandred damaged her Harmonium, Dayu fled the ship, intending not to return. She attacked a guitarist performing for the public, intending to use him to repair her weapon. This incites a battle between her and Mia, who happened to be passing by when she attacked. Xandred sends Rhinosnorus after Dayu, the monster blasts them with a sleeping spell and the two are sent into the dream world where Dayu's past life is revealed to the Pink Samurai Ranger.

---

Mai Watanabe: Dayu!

Dayu: Good to see you all again Rangers and you too Mai.

Me: Boy how can I forget about you. You were Deker's lover and you saved his life by offering up to join Master Xandred.

Dayu: I know. It was a huge mistake.

Nico: Well you don't have to worry about Xandred anymore. He's dead.

Me: He blew himself up and tried to take Nico with him. But he was Hakaied and banished to the Warp forever.

Dayu: Good riddance.

Me: Indeed. Xandred was probably one of the most ruthless of the villains in all of Power Rangers next to Master Orc.

Jayden Shiba: He sure was.

Dayu: I am glad that Xandred is dead. But Serrator might come back in the future. (to the Samurai Rangers) And you all forgot to take out Octoroo and Sharkjaw.

Jayden Shiba: We know.

Me: When they took down Xandred the first them they were sucked back into the Netherworld.

Nico: But if they do come back we'll be ready for them.

?: I hope so too.

A figure came out and it was SPIKEY from episode 27 of In Space!

---

Spikey was a spike-covered plant-like monster used by Astronema. To prove her loyalty to Dark Specter, Astronema sent this monster after Andros. He could shoot a group of needles from his arm. He was destroyed by the Mega Voyager.

---

Andros: Spikey!

Spikey: Been a while Red Ranger.

Me: I remember you! You were sent by Astronema to go after Andros so that she could prove her loyalty to Dark Specter.

Spikey: That's right. Very good memory on you and Mistress Vypra was not kidding about that.

Me: Never missed an episode.

Ash Ketchum: You remind of a Cacturne.

Spikey: I do, don't I? But don't even think of using a Poke Ball on me!

Me: I don't think it works on you anyway.

Troy: Emma, you can fight Dayu. The rest of us will fight Spikey!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: In Space!

The Megaforce Rangers minus Emma turned into the In Space Rangers!

Spikey: WHAT!? TWO SPACE RANGER TEAMS!?

Me: Didn't see that coming did you. The Megaforce Rangers have 45+ Years of Power Rangers Teams at their command and it is awesome!

Laney: I'll hold Mr. Click while you all have your usual battles.

Carly Carmine: Thanks Laney.

Misty Tredwell: It's too cramped in here for us to fight. I know just the place to have our battles.

Misty snapped her fingers and we were on a swamp planet inside a force field dome. We were on the poisonous swamp planet METHANOS!

---

Methanos is the home planet of the Methanosians.

Landscape

Methanos is a swamp planet with an atmosphere that is toxic to most life forms.

Methanos has large underground deposits of methane gas that sometimes escape and create geysers of flames, reaching up to twenty feet into the air.

---

Me: WHOA! Look at this planet.

Qin: Wow. It's a ginormous swamp world.

Misty Tredwell: This is the home planet of the Methanosians, Swampfire's species. We're on the planet Methanos.

Me: Whoa! So this is the planet Methanos.

Nico: It's a swamp planet.

We saw geysers shoot huge pillars of fire up to 20 feet into the air.

Vince: Whoa! Instead of water the geysers shoot out pure fire.

Riley: That is so cool! I've always wondered what Swampfire's home planet was like.

Julie Yamamoto: Me too. This is amazing.

Shanan: It sure is. We're 8,423 light-years away from Earth. But this planet is totally poisonous to humans and completely off the list of habitation by us. This planet has an atmosphere that is over 75% Methane and 23% Hydrogen Sulfide.

Lincoln: Whoa! It's worse than Pandora.

Lola: Tremendously poisonous.

Laney: No kidding. Even though we can breathe in any kind of inhospitable environment we can't risk it because Mr. Click doesn't have our powers.

Me: That's true. Lets get it on.

We got the Usual Battles on.

---

Twilight Sparkle: Thanks Starlight. This was really fun.

Battle 8: Dayu

Emma Goodall, Apple Fritter, Diamond Tiara, Scratch, Coconuts and Grounder were facing Dayu in their first battle with her.

Dayu: (to Emma) Which Legendary Mode will you use for this battle, Emma? Mystic Force? Operation Overdrive?

Emma Goodall: I choose this one! LEGENDARY RANGER MODE: GOLD BEAST MORPHER!

She transformed into the Gold Mantis Beast Morpher Ranger!

Dayu: That's a new one.

Diamond Tiara: Everyone had to wait a whole year and a half to unlock the Beast Morpher Rangers.

Apple Fritter: It's true and that was before they met us.

Scratch: Yep. And it was a very excruciating wait.

Grounder: It sure was and I almost ate myself.

Scratch hit Grounder on his head.

Scratch: Shut it you dumb-bot!

Coconuts: We are still trying to get used to this after we left Dr. Robotnik for all the years of abuse he did to us.

Dayu: I don't blame you. Here are my Pokemon.

Dayu called out her Pokemon. She had a Mega Roserade, A Mega Gardevoir and a Mega Bellossom.

Emma Goodall: A Mega Roserade, Mega Gardevoir, and a Mega Bellossom. Good choices for you.

Dayu: Thank you.

Diamond Tiara: Very dazzling.

Dayu: Lets do it.

They went at her and Dayu fired blasts of energy and they dodged the blasts.

Apple Fritter: Now for this. ORCHARD STYLE NINJA ART: APPLE BOMB CATAPULT!

Apple Fritter fired waves of apples.

Diamond Tiara: Take this one! CRYSTAL STYLE NINJA ART: SWORD OF DAZZLING JUSTICE!

Diamond Tiara formed a sword made of sapphire and diamond.

Emma fired waves of fire and Scratch, Grounder and Coconuts fired blasts of energy and missiles and the blasts all hit Dayu and Diamond Tiara slashed her all over the place and more and Dayu was down and her Pokemon were knocked down.

Emma Goodall: Awesome first fight!

Diamond Tiara: This was a fun time!

Scratch: Yeah! We did it!

Scratch, Grounder and Coconuts: WE DID IT! WE DID IT! WE DID IT! WE DID IT!

Apple Fritter: Always have fun here.

Emma Goodall: I got to help my team. LEGENDARY RANGER MODE: IN SPACE!

Emma Goodall turned into the Pink In Space Ranger and went to join her team!

Battle 9: Spikey

Nico, The In Space Rangers, The Megaforce Rangers, Nicole and Laney were facing Spikey.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome!

Andros: All right lets rock it!

The Space Rangers transformed!

They were ready!

Andros: POWER RED!

Carlos Vallerte: POWER BLACK!

Ashley Hammond: POWER YELLOW!

T.J. Johnson: POWER BLUE!

Cassie Chan: POWER PINK!

Zhane: POWER SILVER!

Andros: All right guys lets bring it together!

Space Power Rangers: POWER RANGERS POWER UP!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

A Massive fiery explosion went off behind them!

Emma Goodall caught up to them.

Emma Goodall: Sorry about that guys.

Troy Burrows: No worries.

Nico: I guess we're gonna have to get used to having you face Dayu as well as helping your team face one of the rangers enemies.

Emma Goodall: Yeah.

Spikey: Don't forget these guys!

He called out an army of Craterites!

Nico: Craterites! Awesome!

Nicole: Let me, Nico and Laney handle them. You guys get ready for your finisher.

Andros: Right.

Nicole, Laney and Nico fired energy blasts and the Megaforce Rangers fired blasts of energy and destroyed the Craterites in powerful explosions.

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!K
RABBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!

Carlos Vallerte: QUADRO BLASTER!

Andros: SPIRAL SABER!

They had the weapons ready!

T.J. Johnson: READY!

Cassie Chan: AIM!

Andros: FIRE!

They fired powerful energy blasts and the blasts hit Spikey and he fell down and exploded!

KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Yeah! Spikey, you have failed this universe!

Troy Burrows: Super Mega Rangers that's a Super Mega Win.

Nico: Lets go take down Click!

---

We regrouped and we were facing Click!

Me: It's over Click!

Gia: You've used your Zombie Dice on your last kid, Click!

Megaforce Rangers: Super Mega Mode!

The Megaforce Rangers went into their Super Mega Mode!

Me: Prepare to face the divine wrath of justice!

We went at him and I punched Click in the face with devastating power and knocked out some of his teeth and kicked him in the stomach many times and Nico kicked him in the stomach and kicked him in the back of the head and the Megaforce Rangers blasted him all over the place and more and Lystone, Lomma, Aokua, Swassa, Loderool, Nivenna, Illexia, Aszil, and Rothar blasted and smashed Click all over with incredible power and more!

Me: YOU FUCKING ASSHOLE!

Vince blasted him all over the place with crystal energy.

Me: Time for some teamwork!

Dirt Boss: Roger that!

Dirt Boss and Pirate Man used the Velocitron and Earth Cyber Planet Keys and they had Dirt Boss's exhaust pipes turn into shoulder cannons and enhanced Pirate Man's Remote Mine 100-fold.

Punch and Patrick Star used the Earth and Animatron Cyber Planet Keys and they enhanced Punch's Photon Cannon and Patrick's powers 100-fold.

Dirt Boss and Pirate Man: DIRT DOG MINESHOWER!

Dirt Boss fired a massive blast of purple energy and Pirate Man fired a shower of mines.

Punch and Patrick Star: PHOTON FILTH CANNON!

Punch and Patrick fired waves of photon energy and filth.

Lucy and Haiku: DARKNESS FIRE MEGABLAST!

Lucy Heartfilia and Maria with Aquarius: ZODIAC TSUNAMI BLAST!

Nico with King Enma and Konohamaru Sarutobi: MONKEY MEGABLAST SURPRISE!

Pepperdance and Lola: SPICY FIRESTORM MEGABLAST!

Weiss and Rarity: ELEGANT JEWELS MEGASTORM!

Lincoln and Lemon Zest: SOUR LIGHTNING ELECTROCUTION!

They fired massive blasts of energy and elemental power and the blasts all hit Click and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Bertrand: (to Click) Maybe we should use Zombie Dice on YOU! See how you like it!

Brittney: Bertrand no it doesn't work that way. Let me handle this. It's time for the Goths of Darkness to make you feel the wrath of the Netherworld!

Brittney, Bertrand, Haiku, Dante, Persephone, Morpheus and Boris: DARKNESS SPECTRUM MEGABLAST!

The Goths fired blasts of dark rainbow fire and the blasts all slammed into Click and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

We went back to Earth and Click was on the ground in defeat and I picked him up and looked at him with incredible fury!

Me: You make me sick Click! I should just kill you right here and make you pay for your crimes against kids! But that would be too easy. It's best to let the Criminal Justice System deal with you.

The FBI came busting in and they arrested Click.

Click: I WILL KILL YOU FOR THIS J.D.! I WILL BE BACK AND YOU WILL FEEL THE WRATH OF MY VENGEANCE!

I flipped the bird at him.

Me: Shut your fucking hole.

They took him away. Brittney used her counter spell on the kids that were all back to normal and Brittney put the Zombie Dice in her trunk of mystical and cursed artifacts. Click was brought to trial in federal court for his crimes and he was found guilty of numerous counts of human trafficking and kidnapping and he was sentenced to death. He was executed by Nico and they had him buried in an unmarked grave and we sent his spirit into the Book of Vile Darkness.

Me: Good riddance to that monster.

Devack: We heard you guys had trouble with clones of Homer.

Twilight Sparkle: Don't remind us! That Mirror Pond is off limits now!

Greiger: At least you all learned something from that mess.

Boris: What's that?

Kalin: (laughs) Clones can cause so much trouble!

We laughed.

Bertrand: (To the viewers) This was a fun adventure and we made sure that a kidnapper payed the ultimate price.

Me: We sure did. But great job all of you.

Nico: Thanks man.

We went back home to rest.

THE END

It's gonna be SCARY AS HELL!

See you all tomorrow.

An Old Demon Returns

At Twilight Sparkle's Castle of Friendship which was now part of our magnificent and massively upgraded castle estate and it was awesome!

Twilight Sparkle : [strained gasping]

Twilight Sparkle was looking at the Friendship Map and she saw that it was calling both Starlight Glimmer and me to Canterlot and it was in Princess Celestia's castle.

Me: Wow! So me and Starlight Glimmer have been called to Princess Celestia's castle to help out a friendship problem!

Nico: This is so cool!

Starlight Glimmer : I know! I can't believe it either! The map has never called me before!

Me: Same with me. This is the first time that I've been called on a Friendship Problem as well.

Eli: That is so cool!

Spike: Boy it sure is. And you guys have made your whole castle massively huge.

Me: We've done a lot of remodeling over the years and made it bigger than ever.

Laney: We sure have.

Lily: Twilight Sparkle looks surprised though.

Spike : I'm sure that's not why she looks… like that.

Nico: She's just amazed that this happened.

Varie: Yeah it's really cool.

Twilight Sparkle : [babbles] Actually, it is. Well, it's that and the fact that you're being called to the royal palace! I mean, what in Equestria could be going on there?!

Lola: I guess we'll find out when we get there.

Lana: Yeah.

Twilight Sparkle: You want me to come with you all?! No. I shouldn't. The map just called you for a reason, right?

Me: Well you can come with us if you want Twilight.

Nico: Yeah.

Twilight Sparkle: Heh. Yeah I could and I should because it's part of the Team's code. Though maybe it's a mistake. Not because of you! Because it's never called just one of us before. Let alone you and J.D. [nervous chuckle]

Starlight Glimmer : I also wasn't nervous before, but now…

Twilight Sparkle : Don't worry. For all we know, it's something small. Like maybe the cooks are fighting over who has the best butternut squash soup. Or the royal hairdressers are fighting over a comb.

Me: That could be the case. I mean a lot of friends over the eons have fought a lot over trivial and petty reasons.

Nico: You got that right.

Jetfire: (Australian Accent) We'll find out when we get there mates.

Spike : Or, you know, maybe the royal sisters aren't seeing eye-to-eye on something.

Twilight Sparkle : No! That's just crazy! Luna and Celestia would never fight. [beat] Again.

Vince: Yeah that couldn't possibly happen again. Especially after what happened all over the course of all those years when Princess Luna became Nightmare Moon.

Lucy Loud: I agree.

Me: Anyway we all better get over there.

We were all at the castle of Princess Celestia.

Princess Celestia : So the map sent you all to solve a friendship problem?

Starlight Glimmer : Yes, princess.

Me: And we all came because Team Loud Phoenix Storm has another very important rule: We all Stick Together as a Team Regardless.

Princess Celestia : Well, there's nothing wrong with that. And there is nothing wrong here. Right, sister?

Princess Luna : [sourly] No. Everything's perfect as usual, sister.

Armada Starscream: (to Celestia and Princess Luna) What seems to be the problem here?

Princess Luna: There is no problem here.

Princess Celestia: Yes sister everything is fine.

I sensed something going on between those two.

[door opens]

We were shown to our room and it was a beautiful room.

Me: Wow. The rooms here are amazing.

Lori: It sure is. It literally makes me feel like I'm a princess.

Bobby Santiago: It sure does babe.

We walked in and we were thinking.

[door closes]

Starlight Glimmer : [groans]

Me: Hmm. Something is going on with the Princess sisters and we have to figure out what it is.

Lincoln: Yeah I don't know what is going on with them.

Sunset Shimmer: It can't be that bad.

Lily: I guess we'll find out soon.

Starlight Glimmer: Yeah.

Twilight Sparkle : Psst! Pssst!

We saw the music box and the figure spinning looked so much like Twilight Sparkle.

[music box playing]

Starlight Glimmer : Twilight? Is that you? How are you here?

Me: You look like a music box figurine now.

Lola: That is so cool!

Lisa Loud: It sure is a most amazing feat of magical ingenuity.

Nico: Are you even here?

Twilight Sparkle : [quickly] I'm not. I'm still home. It's an easy spell. I'll show you later.

Vince: That is really genius.

Laney: Very clever.

Naruto: It sure is.

Me: (Chuckles) Who needs a radio when you can use magic this way.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah. Anyway, enough about me. I had to check on you. Not in a meddling kind of way! In a friendly "how's it going?" kind of way.

Me: That's understandable.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah. So, how's it going?

Starlight Glimmer : [sighs] Not great. I think the problem might be between Celestia and Luna.

Twilight Sparkle : Oh, no, that's terrible! I mean, what makes you say that?

Me: Call it a feeling but I sense a lot of tension between them.

Starlight Glimmer : Yeah You know how some ponies say nothing's wrong but you can tell something's definitely wrong?

Laney: Yeah that sort of feeling.

Twilight Sparkle : [nervously] Noooooo… Heh.

Starlight Glimmer : That's basically what the princesses did when I said there was a friendship problem. Only they did it more, you know, regally.

Me: Yeah.

Twilight Sparkle : Oh, I wish I could help you all, but I can't - both for map reasons and because I have no idea! This is big! Like, really big! But I'm here if you ever need to talk. Or listen to music.

Aylene C.: We appreciate that.

[music box playing]

Twilight Sparkle : Heh. Comforting, right?

Varie: Very soothing song.

Starlight Glimmer : [groans]

Later the following morning we were having an awesome breakfast.

Starlight Glimmer : Thank you so much for breakfast, princess. I can't believe you cook it yourself.

Princess Celestia : Of course, Starlight! I really enjoy doing it. It's a small way to say I care.

Me: These pancakes look amazing.

Luna Loud: They look just as delicious as J.D.'s pancakes that he makes.

Princess Celestia: Thank you so much.

Me: You're welcome.

We ate the pancakes and they were delicious!

Me: Mmm! Delicious.

Nico: Mmm! They ARE just as good as yours J.D.

Me: They sure are.

[door opens]

Princess Celestia : Good morning, sister! Join us?

Me: Morning Princess Luna.

Princess Luna : Oh morning. [sourly] Too tired. [chomp] (Takes a bite out of a pineapple) Please excuse me.

Starlight Glimmer : Wow. Last night must've been really hard on her.

Me: Yeah and she usually enjoys the night.

Princess Celestia : [sighs] Perhaps. But she is like this every morning.

Lori: Thank goodness I am literally not like that anymore.

Lola: Same here.

She threw her pancakes away.

[clatter]

Me: This is really bad.

Lana ate the pancakes out of the trash.

Lana: I know. She threw away really good pancakes.

Carol: Boy something REALLY serious is going on between them.

Me: I hope we figure it out soon.

Later in our room we were talking to Twilight.

Starlight Glimmer : So I think Luna may be hurting her sister's feelings without even realizing it.

Me: That's probably what I'm thinking as well.

Twilight Sparkle : Poor Celestia. That's so sweet that she makes her sister pancakes every morning.

Me: She makes REALLY good pancakes.

Nico: Yeah they are just as delicious and tasty as J.D.'s

Starlight Glimmer : She's your mentor Twilight. I think you might be biased.

Twilight Sparkle : Fair enough. So what are you gonna do?

Starlight Glimmer : Nothing, yet. We have to get all the facts.

Me: We have to dig more deeper and find out what has them tense.

Starlight Glimmer: I asked Luna if I could spend some time with her this evening.

[knock, knock, knock]

Me: Come in.

[door opens]

Guard : Princess Luna's waiting for you, everyone.

Me: Thank you kindly good sir.

Starlight Glimmer : [chuckling nervously]

Twilight Sparkle : Good luck, Starlight!

Guard : [surprised whinny]

[door closes]

Later we were helping Princess Luna put flowers in the halls of the castle.

Me: (Sniffs) Mmm. These flowers smell beautiful.

Lola: And they look amazing.

Princess Luna: I'm glad you like them.

Nico: Lavender is one of my favorite flowers.

Laney: Mine too.

Starlight Glimmer : Wow, Princess Luna. You do this every night?

Princess Luna : Lavender's calming scent is known to aid dreamers in achieving a restorative sleep.

Natilee: That's a very good spiritual meaning.

Starlight Glimmer : [sniffs] That's so thoughtful!

Princess Luna : I try my best to make sure the ponies in this castle sleep peacefully.

Natilee: Looks like we both have something in common. I am known as the Celtic Princess and the Guardian of the Dream World. I protect people from all nightmares and all bad dreams.

Princess Luna: That is most amazing. Looks like you and I would make a great team together Natilee.

Natilee: We sure would.

[door opens]

Fleur De Verre : And so, then I said, "Touring? More like 'boring'!" [airy laughter]

We laughed with Fleur De Verre.

Me: (Laughs) That was a good one!

Nico: It sure was.

Luan: (Laughs) Yeah!

Princess Celestia : [laughs] Oh, you really are a card!

Laney: She sure is funny and I like her cutie mark. It looked like a flowery version of the Fleur-de-Lis.

Princess Luna : That's one of our guests from the Crystal Empire that you all moved here. She's Fleur De Verre and she is a comedian. [sighs] But as always, my sister is too busy having fun with dignitary ponies to acknowledge anything I do. Hmph!

Me: We like everything you do Princess Luna.

Princess Luna: Thank you J.D. I appreciate that.

Starlight Glimmer : So, both princesses are hurting each other without realizing it. And instead of talking about it, they're just getting colder and more distant.

Me: Yeah. Whatever is happening between them it's like something going on with Lori and Leni. No offense.

Lori: None taken.

Leni: But like we know what you mean.

Twilight Sparkle : And they're Celestia and Luna. So it's not like you can just confront them.

Starlight Glimmer : Actually, that's exactly what I was gonna do.

Me: Uh oh.

Twilight Sparkle : What?! Are you crazy?!

Me: Shh.

Twilight Sparkle: Sorry. I mean, heh, you do whatever you think is best. This is your mission.

Starlight Glimmer : [sarcastically] Gee, thanks for believing in me, Twilight.

Twilight Sparkle : I do. But the last time the princesses fought, Luna turned into Nightmare Moon, and Princess Celestia had to banish her for a thousand years! That can't happen again!

Me: I've heard all about that. That was terrible.

Lola: No kidding. I may like being a princess but if that happened to me you guys would do everything you can to help me.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Fluttershy: We sure would do whatever we could to help you.

Starlight Glimmer : Well, I can't do nothing. The princesses aren't the best at communicating with each other.

Twilight Sparkle : [gasps] Sorry. It's just, you said "princesses" and "aren't the best" in the same sentence, and it's making me nervous!

[thud]

Starlight hit her head on the desk.

Twilight Sparkle : I'm not much help, am I?

Starlight Glimmer : No!

Me: Lets just stay focused and we'll figure something out.

The next morning we were having pancakes and they were so adorable.

Starlight Glimmer : Wow. I almost feel bad eating this. It's adorable.

Princess Celestia : Like I said, I enjoy this part.

Me: Oh these pancakes are cute. It's a shame I have to eat them.

Lincoln: I know.

Me: Hold on.

I pulled out my phone and took a picture of it and that way I would remember what it looked like forever.

Me: There.

[door opens]

Princess Luna came in and ate a banana peel and threw the banana away and Nico used his tail and ate the banana.

Me: Morning Princess Luna.

Princess Luna: Morning guys.

Me: Don't you think that is an offensive stereotype to you Nico? You are a Saiyan and Frieza called your whole race monkeys.

Nico: Yeah that's true but I'm used to it.

Princess Luna : [sourly, mouth full] Hi.

Starlight Glimmer : Uh, Princess Luna! Wait!

Princess Luna looked at her with a glare.

Me: (Gulp)

Starlight Glimmer: [deep breath] As you both know, the map sent us here for a reason, and I… think I found out what it is.

Princess Celestia : Really? Oh, that is wonderful, Starlight! What is it?

Starlight Glimmer : You two.

Princess Celestia : Excuse me?

Princess Luna : [simultaneous] I beg your pardon?

Me: We don't mean to tell you this rudely and with all due respect. But we think that the friendship problem might be between you two.

Starlight Glimmer : I think you're accidentally hurting each other's feelings without realizing it. Princess Celestia, does it bother you that Luna never notices the wonderful breakfasts that you prepare for her?

Princess Celestia : Uh… Y-Yes. It does.

Laney: And you make really amazing breakfasts.

Starfire: They are most glorious.

Tara: I agree.

Starlight Glimmer : Princess Luna, tell Celestia how you feel about the fact that she never acknowledges the work you put into lining the hallway with lavender every night.

Princess Luna : I… Well, I… I-It's not the best feeling. [to Celestia] I'm sorry I never noticed that you make fruit faces on pancakes, but nights are long for me. You might be a morning pony, but I am half-asleep.

Princess Celestia : You think I don't get tired? I'm exhausted! Oh, I apologize for not noticing flowers in a wall sconce. But by the time I get to retire for the night, I can barely see straight! Even so, I still make an effort to smile!

Princess Luna : Like smiling is so hard.

Lucy Loud: It's always hard for me.

Starlight Glimmer : I-I-I'm sure that's not what Princess Luna meant to say.

Me: (Whispering) Uh oh. Get ready for a princess fight protocol guys.

Nico: Uh oh.

Princess Luna : Is that what exhausts you? Smiling and being adored by everypony?

Princess Celestia : And you have it so much worse, do you?! You've spent your evenings flitting around giving ponies lovely dreams! Oh, it sounds just awful!

Starlight Glimmer : [chuckles] Okay! I feel like we should step back, take a deep breath…

Princess Luna : Don't presume to know what it is like to govern the dream realm!

Princess Celestia : And yet you know exactly what it's like to be me ?! Oh, please!

Frida Casagrande: I get that you two are stressed. It's not easy keeping peace in Equestria.

Princess Celestia: No it isn't but that's why we have you all to help us. Along with Twilight and everyone.

Me: Yeah lets just calm down and talk this over.

Tidal Wave: (to Celestia and Princess Luna) Tidal Wave thinks you two aren't appreciating your jobs.

Princess Celestia: What makes you say that?

Me: Call it intuition.

Starlight Glimmer : Enough!

[shimmering magic sounds]

We saw that Starlight Shimmer had switched the Princesses Cutie Marks! Princess Celestia had Princess Luna's Moon Cutie Mark and Princess Luna had Princess Celestia's Sun Cutie Mark!

We gasped!

Me: Whoa!

Starlight Glimmer : There! Now you'll know exactly what it's like to… be each other. [gulp]

Laney: I've got a really bad feeling about this.

Princess Celestia : [gasps] What have you done?!

Me: She switched your Cutie Marks!

Starlight Glimmer : I… went with my gut?

Princess Luna : Switch our cutie marks back this instant!

Starlight Glimmer : My apologies, your majesties! But I can't, even if I wanted to. The spell lasts twenty-four hours. I-It may have been extreme, but, uh, I think it's still a good idea?

Princess Celestia : [serious] What?

Starlight Glimmer : Y-You said it yourselves! Neither of you believes your sister knows how hard it is to be you. So this is your chance to prove it.

Me: Starlight Glimmer might be on to something.

Princess Luna: What do you mean?

Me: Have you ever heard of that old saying "You Wouldn't Last a Whole Day in My Shoes"?

Princess Celestia nodded for yes and Princess Luna shook her head for no.

Me: Well it's kind of like an old bet. Princess Celestia does Princess Luna's work for the day and Princess Luna does Princess Celestia's work for the day. That way you both would be able to figure out who has it harder.

Laney: That's brilliant.

Lori: This might literally be good.

Princess Luna : Hmm that works. Well, I could use an easy day followed by a good night's sleep.

Princess Celestia : You can try. I haven't had an easy day in, well, ever! But now, I get to sleep, and tonight will be a breeze. All right, Starlight Glimmer. We will do this.

Me: All right. I'll set my watch for 24 hours from now. 2 minutes and 30 seconds have gone.

I set my watch for 23 hours and 58 minutes and 15 seconds and started the time.

Me: Here we go.

Broadside: (to me and Starlight Glimmer) I hope you two realize that with Celestia and Luna's Cutie Marks switched, they can't go on the next mission.

Me: Don't worry. The next mission will be when someone calls for us.

Nico: I just hope we don't face zombies this time.

Laney: Yeah.

Starlight Glimmer : Good choice! Not that you had one. [chuckles]

They snort at her.

Princess Celestia and Princess Luna : [snort]

Starlight Glimmer : I'm gonna stop talking now.

Back in our room, Twilight Sparkle was going crazy with fear.

Twilight Sparkle : [hyperventilating] You switched their cutie marks?! The actual princesses' cutie marks?!

Starlight Glimmer : [groans] I thought we moved past this. It was the right call! I hope.

Me: Twilight this is part of a bet that Starlight inadvertently created.

Lola: Yeah this might prove who has it harder for them.

Twilight Sparkle : [hyperventilating]

[pounding on door]

Guard : Are you okay in there?

Starlight Glimmer : I-I'm good! Just, uh… reading an exciting book! [whispering to Twilight] He's gonna think I'm nuts!

Twilight Sparkle : He's not the only one.

Me: Twilight just let us handle this. It's an bet we're doing. Ever heard of that old saying "You Wouldn't Last a Day in My Shoes?"

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah I know that saying. Wait a second yeah I see what you're doing.

Starlight opened the drawer and put Twilight in it.

[drawer opens]

She closed it.

[drawer slams]

Me: We'll let her know when we're done.

Later we had everyone in the castle gathered for the news from them

Princess Luna : As you can see, Celestia and I are switching places today.

[confused murmuring]

Me: It's nothing serious everyone. This is part of a bet that was inadvertently created.

Princess Luna : I assure you, I am more than capable of handling all of Celestia's, heh, duties. Dismissed.

Everyone left.

[nervous murmuring]

Princess Luna : So, what is first on my dear sister's to-do list?

Starlight Glimmer : It says you have a few public appearances. Store openings, judging the royal rose contest… You know, that sort of thing.

Me: And we can help you all with that.

Princess Luna : [chuckles] Oh, I knew today would be easy, but I didn't think it would be that easy.

Me: Well lets get right to it.

We got to work.

[happy montage music]

Princess Luna was being carted around in the royal stage couch and she was waving nervously as we were following her in the air, on the ground and on my Rapidash.

Later we were at the grand opening of a brand new jewelry shop and Princess Luna was having a hard time cutting the ribbon.

[scissors clipping]

Me: The scissors must be rusty.

Lola: May I?

Princess Luna: Go ahead.

Lola cut the ribbon successfully.

[applause]

Everyone cheered.

Next was the Royal Rose Contest and it was a fragrant contest.

Princess Luna : [sniffing]

Me: (Sniff) Mmm. Adorable.

Lana: These aqua blue roses are beautiful.

Aqua: They sure are.

We smelled the blue roses and they were divine.

Laney: (Sniff) The Blue Roses are beautiful.

Lola: (Sniff) Mmm! The red roses are phenomenal!

Me: They sure are.

We saw many other contestants and they were amazing.

Later we were at the local school to have our charity photo taken.

[whiffle!]

Me: Just so you know Princess Luna has hardly ever smiled in a while.

He nodded.

Princess Luna : [creaking]

She didn't smile and had a mean face on as the photo was taken.

[camera clicks]

Princess Luna : "Princess Luna Unhappy with Student Fundraiser"? But I wasn't unhappy!

Me: Well you haven't smiled in over 1,000 years Princess.

Princess Luna: That's true.

Starlight Glimmer : Um, you are scowling.

Princess Luna : Well, I-I didn't mean to! I've been smiling all day! My cheeks hurt! I stopped for one second! And that's when he took the picture!

Me: We can always retake it later on after this whole bet is done.

Nico: Good idea.

Starlight Glimmer : Guess smiling all day isn't as easy as you thought?

Me: Well she was in the moon for over a thousand years. And I guess it has been a long time since she has seen what a smile looks like.

Princess Luna : That's true. It says here that, because of me, the school didn't raise enough funds to go on their field trip! I-I didn't mean for that to happen!

[thud]

She plopped her head down on the table.

Starlight Glimmer : I know. But you can't dwell on that now. According to the list, some delegates are about to arrive for a luncheon. You need to dispel rumors of timberwolves in the White Tail Woods. The nearby towns have been in a state of panic for weeks.

Me: Yeah. But don't worry Princess Luna. We talked it over with the school and gave them the money for the field trip and their fundraiser.

Lola: Yeah.

Princess Luna: Oh thank you. It's just that it's hard smiling.

Me: I know. But like we said.

Princess Luna : B-B-But I have to fix this!

She was about to leave.

Starlight Glimmer : You can't. You need to put on a brave face and help these ponies. It's what Celestia would do.

Nico: Agreed.

[door opens]

The delegates came in

Me: Welcome delegates.

Princess Luna : [deep breath, shouting] Hello! Great news! There are no timberwolves!

[slam]

Delegate Ponies : No, there are definitely timberwolves!

Me: That didn't work out well.

Princess Luna : I'm sorry. But I couldn't stop thinking about those poor students. Normally, I have all the time in solitude I need to work through my problems at my own pace.

Me: I know. But we'll talk it over with them.

Starlight Glimmer : Well, your sister doesn't get that luxury.

Mayor Cream Cheese : [muffled] The princess will definitely side with me!

Mayor Baltimare : [simultaneous, muffled] Please see reason, Mayor Cream Cheese! I'm telling you, Baltimare…

We heard arguing coming from a conference room.

Me: Oh boy.

Starlight Glimmer : Ready for the town hall?

Princess Luna : [sighs]

Mayor Cream Cheese and Mayor Baltimare : [continued arguing]

Mayor Baltimare : Glad that's settled.

Mayor Cream Cheese : [chuckles] And it only took three hours.

Mayor Baltimare : That got heated, didn't it?

Mayor Cream Cheese : Still on for golf?

Mayor Baltimare : Oh, absolutely.

Mayor Cream Cheese : [chuckles]

Me: Well that went well.

Luna Loud: It sure did dudes.

Nico: Yep.

Starlight Glimmer : You made it to the end of the day. Yay?

Princess Luna : Hmm? Oh. Yes, uh… [yawns] I'm just going to turn in, then. Good light, Starnight. [yawns]

Me: Boy she is really tired. (Looks at watch) We still have 10 hours left.

Princess Celestia : Oh, hello, Starlight. Hello everyone. I don't know about you, but I feel very well-rested. Where's Luna?

Starlight Glimmer : Um, uh, she already turned in for the night.

Princess Celestia : Did she now? It seems my duties were harder than my sister expected.

Me: Yeah. But we helped her out as best as we could.

Princess Celestia then raised the Moon.

Princess Celestia : Moon raised! It's even easier than raising the sun. [chuckles] What's next?

Starlight Glimmer : [snoring]

Princess Celestia : Of course. Everypony's asleep at night. Heh. Luna works alone… Oh, but it's nothing I can't handle. All I have to do is watch over Equestria, visit the dream realm, and protect ponies in their nightmares. My list was three times as long! [chuckles]

Me: Whoo boy.

[lightswitches clicking]

Princess Celestia : All right. Everypony's asleep. You're talking to yourself, Celestia. Heh. But there's nopony else to talk to! [chuckles] Yet. I can talk to ponies in their dreams!

[vooooom]

She went to the dream world.

[whimsical music]

Princess Celestia : Now, to save some ponies from their nightmares. Which aren't real, so it shouldn't be too hard, right? Right. Good call, Celestia! And I'm talking to myself again.

In the real world we sensed Starlight Glimmer having a nightmare and we went into her dreams thanks to Natilee's help.

Starlight Glimmer : [screaming]

Pancakes : [in Celestia's voice] I care. I care. I care. [distorted] I care.

Pancakes surrounded her and she was in flowers and then she turned into a music box figurine.

Starlight Glimmer : [screaming] Ugh! No!

Twilight Sparkle : This is big! Like, really big!

Starlight Glimmer : [yelping]

Princess Celestia : Starlight! I'm here now. Tell me what's wrong.

Me: Starlight!

We arrived.

Princess Celestia: Everyone? What are you all doing here?

Natilee: I brought them here Princess. We came to help.

Starlight Glimmer : [panting] Going with my gut was the wrong call! I was supposed to bring you two closer together! But I've only driven you apart! If you two can't see why you need each other, then-!

Nightmare Moon : Then I am back! [laughing evilly]

We saw the malevolent evil version of Princess Luna: NIGHTMARE MOON!

---

Nightmare Moon is a major antagonist of My Little Pony: Friendship is Magic . She appears as the main antagonist of the Season 1 premiere, "Friendship is Magic", and as the secondary antagonist in the Season 5 finale, "The Cutie Re-Mark" and the Season 7 episode, "A Royal Problem". She also appeared as the flashback antagonist in the Season 4 premiere, "Princess Twilight Sparkle" and a minor villain in the Season 9 premiere, "The Beginning of the End".

She is the corrupted form of Princess Luna, the younger sister of Princess Celestia who was consumed by her own jealousy toward her older sister. As Nightmare Moon, she acted as Celestia's archenemy until she was restored to her normal form by the Mane Six.

It is unclear if "Nightmare Moon" is an entity that possessed Luna or not; the show seems to lean that Nightmare Moon is Luna's alternate personality but the comics state that Luna was corrupted during her time on the moon.

Long ago, Luna and Celestia were both the rulers of Equestria, a land inhabited by ponies. Every morning, Celestia would raise the sun, and every evening, Luna would raise the moon. Together, they kept the balance perfectly. However, as time went on, Luna grew jealous: the ponies would be awake to enjoy the day and love, admire, and appreciate Celestia's work, but would always "shun" Luna's night by sleeping through it.

One day, Luna finally became fed up with Celestia's success. Not only did she refuse to lower the moon, but also challenged Celestia for the sole rulership of Equestria. At that moment, the bitterness in Luna's heart manifested and consumed her, transforming her into Nightmare Moon, a black mare of pure darkness. Celestia did not want to fight Nightmare Moon and begged her to lower the moon, but Nightmare Moon said her only royal duty was to destroy Celestia, and shot at her elder sister with magic beams, eventually knocking her down. Seeing no other way, Celestia reluctantly used the Elements of Harmony to overpower Nightmare Moon and banish her into the moon, creating the phenomenon known as "the Mare in the Moon" (a unicorn's face imprinted upon the surface of the moon).

Since then, Celestia took full responsibility of raising the sun and the moon, and a holiday was created to celebrate Celestia's victory over Nightmare Moon called the Summer Sun Celebration. However, Celestia only felt loneliness and regret for having to send her own sister away. In addition, it was prophesied that in a thousand years, on the longest day of that year, Nightmare Moon would be free of her imprisonment to seek her revenge.

Season 1

Upon reading an ancient legend, Twilight Sparkle realized Nightmare Moon is about to return, however her mentor, Princess Celestia, encouraged her to make friends instead of worrying about the supposed "old pony's tale". Unfortunately, Twilight turned out to be right and Nightmare Moon was released during the Summer Sun Celebration, replacing Celestia who was supposed to attend it. Twilight and her soon-to-be friends chased Nightmare Moon into the forbidden Everfree Forest.

After conquering many obstacles left by Nightmare Moon in their path, they finally found the twisted mare herself along with the ancient Elements of Harmony, now reduced to inert stones. As Nightmare Moon whisked the Elements away, Twilight followed her into the portal and confronted her alone. She tried to use the Elements of Harmony as Celestia did, but for that, she had to find the "spark" that would make a sixth Element appear. However, no matter how hard she tried, she couldn't make the spark, and Nightmare Moon destroyed the Elements.

Fortunately, when Twilight heard her new pony friends calling for her, she felt a different spark in her heart; making her realize that the real Elements are not just some stones: they exist in the hearts of her friends. That spark triggered the final element: Magic (also known, of course, as Friendship), and reanimated the shattered Elements, converting them into jewels for the six friends to bear. Using the Elements of Harmony, Twilight activated a spell that struck Nightmare Moon, exorcising the darkness from her and transforming her back into Princess Luna.

Celestia arrived in the ruins where the battle took place, admitting that she knew of Nightmare Moon's return, but knew the only way to defeat her was for Twilight to understand the importance of friendship. Celestia walked over to a cowering Luna, who apologized in tears for her actions, and was granted forgiveness. Later at the celebration (held by Pinkie Pie), even the other ponies forgave Luna, gifting her with a flower necklace.

Season 2

In the season 2 episode "Luna Eclipsed", Princess Luna, now uncorrupted (And with a new look. Lauren Faust, the show's creator, stated that this was because when Nightmare Moon was defeated, Luna was reborn with very low magic levels, and she transformed after getting her good powers back), returns to Ponyville during the holiday Nightmare Night, a holiday dedicated to Nightmare Moon depicting her as a scary bogeyman. Luna, with Twilight's help, tries to change her image from that of the terrifying Nightmare Moon, to a favorable one as Princess. Unfortunately, the nature of the holiday, combined with Luna's outdated mannerisms and flair for the dramatic, make her subjects more scared of her than ever. Her first attempts end disastrously, prompting her to decree Nightmare Night canceled, but Twilight persuades her to give Ponyville another chance. When Luna discovers that the residents actually enjoy being scared as part of the night's festivities, she uses the Nightmare Moon persona to help them have fun and thus gains their trust and friendship, particular that of a colt named Pipsqueak.

Season 4

During the Season 4 premiere two-parter, "Princess Twilight Sparkle", Twilight attempts to figure out the source of the chaos seizing Equestria by drinking a potion which gives her flashbacks of the past. One of the flashbacks she experiences is of Luna becoming Nightmare Moon and assaulting Princess Celestia. At first, Celestia is reluctant to fight her sister, but Nightmare Moon assaults her with dark beams and eventually wounds her, sending her plummeting to the ground. However, Celestia promptly recovers and arms herself with the Elements of Harmony, the power of which she channels into a powerful beam that overwhelms Nightmare Moon's defenses and seals her inside the moon.

Season 5

In the episode "Do Princesses Dream of Magic Sheep?", it is revealed that Luna never truly forgave herself for her transformation into Nightmare Moon and created a creature known as the Tantabus to punish her by turning her dreams into nightmares about Nightmare Moon. However, when the Mane 6 mysteriously show up and try to defeat the Tantabus, it becomes aware of their existence and leaves Luna to infiltrate their dreams. Luna and the Mane 6 try to fight off the monster, but the problem becomes worse when Pinkie Pie dreams of sharing a giant ice cream sundae with all the ponies in the entire town, giving the monster knowledge of all the residents of Ponyville. Luna uses her power to bring all of the citizens of Ponyville into the same dream and they try to use their dream abilities to bring down the Tantabus and prevent it from reaching the real world. Despite their best efforts, the monster becomes too powerful for them to fight off and it heads for the real world. Twilight realizes that Luna's guilt is what's fueling the monster and causing it to grow bigger. Twilight and her friends make her see that she and Nightmare Moon are not the same, that Luna is doing everything she can to save Equestria from the Tantabus at her own risk and that she is not alone, that everyone from the Mane 6 to all of Ponyville and beyond trust her completely and implore her to trust them on this. A tearful Luna finally lets go of the past and is now able to finally forgive herself, destroying the Tantabus, and sleeping happily and peacefully for the first time in a millennium.

In the third of many alternate timelines created by Starlight Glimmer in the season finale "The Cutie Re-Mark", Nightmare Moon is in power, having imprisoned Celestia in the moon for years and with Rarity and Rainbow Dash working for her. When Twilight mentions time travel, Nightmare Moon tries to force her to lead her back in time to stop the Elements of Harmony from being found, threatening Spike. She shatters the Timberwolves that attacked Twilight and Spike, but with teleportation, Twilight gets Spike away from Nightmare Moon and travels back in time again in another attempt to fix the timeline.

Season 7

In "A Royal Problem", Starlight Glimmer has a nightmare in which her fears of accidentally driving Celestia and Luna farther apart by switching their cutie-marks result in Luna transforming back into Nightmare Moon. As Celestia (having taken over Luna's duties) prepares to fight Nightmare Moon, Daybreaker, an evil version of Celestia, emerges, stating that, if Luna can turn into Nightmare Moon, Celestia can turn into Daybreaker. Daybreaker then states that Celestia doesn't need Luna and then engages Nightmare soon in battle, stating that she shouldn't have banished her, but destroyed her instead. Celestia tries to stop the fight, however, Daybreaker refuses and continues trying to destroy Nightmare Moon, forcing Celestia to visit Luna's dream and get her help. As Celestia and Luna return to Starlight's dream and reconcile, Daybreaker manages to overpower Nightmare Moon and begins blasting at her again, however, Celestia teleports between their beams, and erases both of them from Starlight's dream.

Season 9

In "The Beginning of the End - Part 1", Nightmare Moon appears briefly alongside Daybreaker in Twilight's vision caused by King Sombra's fear spell. This brief scene is also Nightmare Moon's final appearance in the series.

---

All of us: NIGHTMARE MOON!

Lori: So She is Nightmare Moon!

Sunset Shimmer: She's horrible!

Me: And a monster of pure evil!

Princess Celestia : Don't worry, everyone. I know how to handle Nightmare Moon.

Daybreaker : Yes! But can you handle… me ?! [laughing evilly]

The Evil version of Princess Celestia appeared and it was DAYBREAKER!

---

Daybreaker is a supporting antagonist in the My Little Pony: Friendship is Magic series, appearing as the main antagonist of the Season 7 television episode A Royal Problem, and again in the comic series as the secondary antagonist of the Nightmare Knights saga. She is depicted as the evil alter-ego of Princess Celestia, the same as Nightmare Moon being the alter-ego of Princess Luna.

She is voiced by Nicole Oliver, who also voices her good counterpart and Cheerilee.

In the episode, Starlight Glimmer is sent by Twilight's map to the royal palace in Canterlot to solve a friendship problem between Princesses Celestia and Luna, who each believe that their responsibilities are harder than the other's, and are unintentionally hurting each-other's feelings because over it. To resolve this problem, Starlight uses her magic to switch their cutie-marks, so that they can experience what it's like in each-other's horseshoes. After Luna exhausts herself with Celestia's duties during the day, she retires to her chamber for the evening, and Celestia takes charge of Luna's duties of managing everypony's dreams. Celestia initially believes Luna's job to be easy, but then stumbles upon Starlight's nightmare of being unable to solve the Royal Sisters' friendship problem; upon which, Nightmare Moon appears. Celestia prepares herself to battle Nightmare Moon, but is then stunned to see another evil alicorn similar to herself.

The alicorn reveals herself to be Daybreaker, the dark form of Celestia. Both Daybreaker and Nightmare Moon represent Starlight's fear of her attempt to solve Royal Sister's crisis making it even worse. After goading Celestia into giving into her darker temptations, she then begins her fight with Nightmare Moon. Starlight tries to talk them out of it and Celestia attempts to intervene, but both fail to stop their quarrel. Celestia then brings Luna from her own nightmare of failing her older sister's duties so that they can stop Daybreaker and Nightmare Moon before Starlight's mind is damaged forever, but Luna is unable to help since she has Celestia's magic. After Celestia tearfully admits that Luna's duties are so difficult, Luna admits the same about Celestia's duties. Just then, Daybreaker subdues Nightmare Moon and sets the throne room ablaze. Before she can finish her off, however, Celestia, after being encouraged by Luna, stands in the way of both of their attacks. Daybreaker taunts that Celestia can't bring herself to destroy her since she is everything Celestia wants to be, but Celestia proves her wrong and dispels both her and Nightmare Moon for good.

Luna congratulates Celestia for defeating both of their dark selves, and they reconcile. Starlight's cutie-mark glows showing that her mission was a success.

Daybreaker : [laughing evilly]

Princess Celestia : This can't be!

Daybreaker : If Luna can turn into Nightmare Moon, you can absolutely turn into me - Daybreaker! The better, prettier, and more powerful version of you!

Me: You're A MONSTER!

Princess Celestia : No! I'll never turn into you!

Daybreaker : Deep inside, you know how powerful you are. You don't need Luna.

Princess Celestia : That's not true! Even when we were apart, I knew I needed her!

Me: YEAH SO SHUT UP!

Daybreaker : [laughs] Oh, please! You don't need anypony! You can do whatever you want. And all you have to do is get rid of anypony who stands in your way!

[magic zap]

She fired a massive blast of fire magic from her horn and it hit Nightmare Moon and pushed her back!

Daybreaker : I never should've banished you to the moon! I should've destroyed you!

Daybreaker charged at her.

Starlight Glimmer : No, you can't do that! Day, night, sun, moon - Equestria needs both of you!

Daybreaker smashed into her and Nightmare Moon pushed her back!

[magic zap]

Starlight Glimmer : Without balance, there's no harmony!

[boom!]

Nightmare Moon : [growls]

Daybreaker : Who needs balance when you can have it all?! [laughs]

[magic zap]

Daybreaker : Ugh!

Nightmare Moon : You can't get rid of me so easily, sister! Unless you plan on smiling me to smithereens!

Me: How about I destroy you both!? I'm going to rip you both apart! Daybreaker, Nightmare Moon, I'm coming for you both!

I then went into my ultimate transformation! In a massive vortex of fire and the elemental forces I transformed into my ultimate transformation and I transformed into my Super Angel-Ebonwu-Phoenix 25,000,000 Elemental Moonlight Phoenix of Justice!

Me: (Divine Echoing Fiery Voice) You will both face the divine wrath of justice!

I flew at both bad ponies with incredible speed and punched Nightmare Moon in the face and kicked her in the stomach and sent her flying.

Daybreaker then fired a massive blast of fire magic at me that was as powerful as my Super Angel-Ebonwu-Phoenix 1,000,000 form and I absorbed it and it gave me an incredible power boost unlike anything I've ever felt!

Me: WHOA! That was intense! But lets see how you like this. KAAAAAAAA MEEEEEEEE HAAAAAAAA MEEEEEEEE HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

I fired a massive fiery Kamehameha and it slammed into Daybreaker and exploded with incredible power!

KRABBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Nico: Whoa! That is powerful!

I punched Daybreaker in the face and sent her crashing into Nightmare Moon.

Princess Celestia : Enough!

Princess Celestia blocked them with a powerful Force Field.

Daybreaker : [laughs] I told you I was more powerful than you!

Me: You will never be more powerful than anyone Daybreaker! As long as your heart is twisted and full of hatred you will always be weak!

Daybreaker: NO ONE TALKS TO ME LIKE THAT!

Daybreaker went at me and I teleported and I was with Princess Celestia.

Nightmare Moon was glowing in pitch black magic!

[magic humming]

Daybreaker : Ugh. So much black. We get it. You're sad. You could really use some… sun!

Daybreaker fired an extremely massive wave of fire from her mouth that was as strong as 100 million suns!

[flames roaring]

Starlight Glimmer : [gasps]

Princess Celestia grabbed Starlight Glimmer and encased her in a force field and then Daybreaker used her dark magic to entomb the area in a massive area of sun and intense fire as powerful as 100 billion suns! I was absorbing fire at an incredible level!

Me: Somebody get you a breath mint!

[shimmering magic sounds]

[flames roaring]

Princess Celestia and Starlight Glimmer : [grunting]

I was absorbing all the power and my power was increasing incredibly fast at an incredible level!

Me: Man what power!

Princess Celestia: No kidding!

Starlight Glimmer : This is all my fault! I never should've gone on this mission! Now Equestria is doomed!

Me: No it's not Starlight. You are still strong enough to finish this mission. Just have Celestia and Luna help you.

Nico: That's right!

Celestia looked at Luna's Cutie Mark and realized that she needs Luna to help her and she went to get her.

Natilee: Let me help you get Princess Luna.

Princess Celestia: Okay.

Princess Luna was looking at herself in a mirror.

Dream Ponies : [singsongy] That smile's too wide… It's obviously not real…

(EERIE MUSIC)

Dream Pony : Why don't you want us to go on our field trip?

Princess Luna : [through teeth gaps] I don't… !

Her teeth were falling out.

[teeth clattering]

Princess Luna : I mean, I do!

Dream Ponies : [singsongy] That smile's too wide… It's obviously not real…

Natilee and Celestia appeared.

Natilee: Leave her alone kids!

Princess Luna : Celestia! I'm so glad you're… !

They hugged and Luna and Natilee pulled her into the mirror and they were inside Starlight's dream and Luna saw me fighting Nightmare Moon and Daybreaker. I fired massive waves of elemental energy and power. I fired a massive blast of water and it hit Daybreaker and a massive cloud of steam came off her as she screamed in excruciating pain! I fired a wave of light and it hit Nightmare Moon and she screamed in pain as well. Daybreaker and Nightmare Moon fired blasts of energy and fire at me.

[magic zaps]

I blocked their blasts and I fired a blast of light and darkness and it hit them and exploded!

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Princess Luna : [speaking normally] I've seen a lot, but I haven't seen this before.

Princess Celestia: This is J.D.'s ultimate power and he is using it to stop the evil versions of us. His power is so strong that it is completely unrivaled. But this is also Starlight Glimmer's dream. She's afraid this is what will happen if we continue to fight!

Starlight Glimmer : [sobbing] What was I thinking?! I'm never going with my gut again!

Natilee: Starlight this is not your fault!

Princess Luna : If you don't fix this soon, it could have a grave consequence on Starlight's psyche.

Nico: Yeah you have to stop this!

Princess Celestia : But my magic isn't powerful enough! I thought if we worked together… !

Princess Luna : I have your magic, remember? It doesn't work in the dream realm. It has to be you!

Natilee: That's right Princess Celestia. You are the only one who can stop this.

Princess Celestia : Oh, Luna, I can't do this! I was wrong! Your job is so incredibly hard! You have to battle nightmares and work in the darkness and do it all alone! It takes such a brave, strong pony to do what you do!

Aqua: Princess Celestia is right Luna. I was trapped in the Realm of Darkness for 10 years all by myself with no one. I had to battle my demons and I nearly succumbed to them. But J.D. and his friends helped me and saved me from the monster that I would've become. Had it not been for him I would've been lost.

Princess Luna: That's intense!

Aqua: It was.

Princess Luna : Yeah. But Celestia, that pony is you . I walked a day in your shoes. I thought all you had to do was smile and be adored all the time, but I was wrong. There is so much more to it than that.

Daybreaker : [laughing maniacally]

Daybreaker was enveloped in a vortex of intense fire and Nightmare Moon had intense Darkness on her horn.

[magic zaps]

Nightmare Moon : [screams] Ugh!

Daybreaker hit Nightmare Moon with intense flames.

Daybreaker : [laughing maniacally]

Me: YOU BITCH!

I fired a massive blast of fire and wind and the blasts hit Daybreaker and exploded!

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Daybreaker got up and looked at me with incredible fury!

Daybreaker: YOU WILL NEVER DEFEAT ME! YOU ARE JUST A BEAST!

Me: I would rather be a brainless beast than a heartless monster like you!

[flames roaring]

Daybreaker was enveloped in a massive aura of fire and she fired a massive blast of fire at me!

I absorbed all the fire as I flew at her and then I grabbed Daybreaker's horn!

Me: YOU ARE FINISHED DAYBREAKER!

I then was absorbing all of Daybreakers powerful magic over the sun and I was getting a massive increase in power unlike anything I've ever felt before! It was like I was absorbing the tremendous energies of when the entire universe started during the Big Bang! Then I broke off Daybreaker's horn and she screamed in excruciating pain and I got all of Daybreaker's power!

Me: Whoa!

Starlight Glimmer : Don't do this to each other!

Princess Luna : In order to defeat Daybreaker, you need only to trust in your strength as I do.

[magic zaps]

But Daybreaker still had some fight left in her and she and Nightmare Moon fired blasts of magic and Princess Celestia blocked both blasts with her wings!

Daybreaker : You can't destroy me! I'm everything you want to be!

Princess Celestia : No, you're not! You are not real, and you will never exist again!

Daybreaker : [groans]

---

Daybreaker and Nightmare Moon were erased from existence.

Me: WHOA!

I powered down.

Me: That was incredible!

Princess Luna : You did it!

Nicole: Wow! It sure was amazing!

Princess Celestia : Only because you all were here. I don't know how you do this alone. But J.D. your power is incredible. I don't think I've ever seen you take on both Nightmare Moon and Daybreaker like that.

Me: Well. I just have to do what I have to do.

Nico: We all do.

Me: You got to admit though, this was probably the most explosive dream ever.

Princess Celestia: It sure was.

Princess Luna : So, um, did you talk to yourself?

Princess Celestia : Um, a little.

Princess Celestia and Princess Luna : [laughing]

We laughed.

Starlight Glimmer : Is this really happening, or is this still a dream?

Natilee: No it's still a dream.

[vooooom]

We went back to the real world.

Me: Whoa! That was intense!

Natilee: Wow! It sure was.

Nico: That was our first ever battle inside a dream.

Sailor Venus: It sure was.

Princess Luna : Welcome back, sister! I know you had a long night, so I made you some pancakes!

Her pancakes were not as good as Celestia's though.

Princess Celestia : Oh! Heh. H-How… eh, nice. Ahem. [chews, gags, gulps] They're… delicious. Heh. Thank you.

Princess Luna : [laughs] I know that face! They're not. I know you have to be perfect for everypony else, and you do an amazing job. But you don't have to do it for me.

Princess Celestia : In that case, they are terrible!

Princess Celestia and Princess Luna : [laughing]

Me: She did try her hardest and that's all that counts.

Princess Luna : I know!

Princess Celestia : [sighs] But it means a lot that you tried. I love you, sister.

Princess Luna : I love you too.

Starlight Glimmer : So… this was real. [yawns] Did I witness an incredible battle in your dreams?

Me: That was real. But it was epic.

Starlight Glimmer: Wow. Or… was it not real, and this just happened now and-and not in my dream? I'm so confused.

Princess Celestia : [laughing] It's all real. It was the right call going with your gut.

Princess Luna : The map was wise to send you, all Starlight. Nopony else would have been so bold as to do what you did.

Starlight Glimmer : That's a nice way of saying I came dangerously close to messing everything up.

Me: You didn't mess everything up Starlight. Going with your gut was really wise on your part.

Nico: Yeah and you brought the Princess Sisters closer together than ever.

Princess Celestia : It was just what we needed. The experience has made us closer than ever.

[shimmering magic sounds]

The Princesses Cutie Marks reverted back. Celestia had her Sun Mark and Luna had her Moon Mark.

Starlight Glimmer : Wait. I'm not doing this.

I looked at my watch and it showed that the Bet was done.

Me: The bet is complete.

Nico: Wow.

[cutie marks ringing]

I saw that my Cutie Mark was reacting. It was emitting flames that were going back in.

Princess Celestia : I believe that one means your mission is complete.

Me: I guess so. This was awesome!

Starlight Glimmer : Wow! I can't wait to tell Twilight!

Me: We completed our first Friendship Mission!

Nico: We sure did!

[teleportation zap]

Twilight Sparkle Appeared in a flash.

Me: WHOA!

Twilight Sparkle : [quickly] I already know! I mean, I don't know everything. I just got here to bring you your toothbrush! So this is just a friendly visit! Not interfering because I was worried! I wasn't! I knew you could do it, and I'm so, so, so, so, so proud of you! Tell me everything! Start from after I hyperventilated, and don't leave out any details!

Me: We'll tell you everything Twilight. But man it was incredibly intense.

Princess Luna : Oh, uh, by the way, there's a field trip you need to make happen and a - ahem - timberwolf issue you need to address.

Princess Celestia : W-What?

Princess Luna : Oh! Look! There's the sun! Time for me to turn in!

She went back to the moon.

Me: Boy this was intense. This had to be the most explosive Friendship Mission ever.

Applejack: (Cowboy Accent) It sure was!

Apple Bloom: YEEHAW! It was epic!

Laney: You took on both Nightmare Moon and Daybreaker and beat them.

Nico: He sure did.

Me: Lets get our day started.

We went back and got ready.

---

Later we were flying out to a house in a farmland in Kansas and we had gotten a frantic call from a woman saying her daughter is in trouble.

We arrived at the farmhouse.

Me: Well here we are guys. This is the address of the MacNeil residence.

Nico: That name is very familiar to me.

Me: Same here. I've heard about it from somewhere.

We went up to the door and knocked on it and a woman came.

Rubberband Man: Hi. Is this the MacNeil residence?

Chris MacNeil: It sure is and it's an honor to have you all here Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

Me: Same here Chris and it's a pleasure to meet you.

Chris MacNeil: Come on in.

We went in and talked to her and she gave us the details.

Blizzard Man: So let me get this straight. Your daughter Regan is possessed by a demon?

Me: That's not good.

Chris MacNeil: Yeah.

Me: We've dealt with this kind of situation many times before.

Bai Tza: Yeah. Muriel was possessed by a demon that was inside her mattress.

Francesca: It's true.

Me: I was told about that and that was nuts.

Nico: It sure was. We also saved a girl that was possessed by a demon in the 14th Century during the Crusades.

Lincoln: Yep.

Laney: It's scary and creepy.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Me: We got to get that demon out of her and send it to the Warp. I have an exorcism incantation that will work.

Chris MacNeil: Thank you all so much.

Nico: If we can't get that demon out of Regan, we have to prepare for the worst.

Caitlin: What do you mean?

Nico: (sighs) I mean that if we can't free Regan, we might have no choice but to kill her.

Me: We'll try not to resort to that.

Flash Man: Kill Regan?! You can't be serious!

Nico: You think I like that idea?! I don't! But killing her is probably better then her being possessed by a demon forever if things go wrong.

Me: Guys lets not overreact. Regan needs us and we have to save her.

Fuse Man: Chris, would you be okay with helping us kill this demon once we get it out of your daughter?

Chris MacNeil: Absolutely! Just please save my daughter!

Me: We will

We went up to Regan's room and we went in and saw her lying in her bed strapped to it.

Me: So you are the demon that slipped through the fingers of Hell.

Cynder: (to Possessed Regan) You think you scare us? I was brainwashed by the evil dragon Malefor. Compared to him, you're nothing!

Pazuzu: I'm not scared of you at all!

Me: I know that voice! Pazuzu!

Pazuzu: I'm flattered that you remember me!

Lucy Loud: You! You possessed me! You are the monster that took over my body!

It was our old foe that helped give Lucy her powers of darkness, the Evil Demon of Assyrian and Babylonian Mythology: PAZUZU!

---

Pazuzu is the main antagonist of The Exorcist franchise. He is a powerful demon who was based loosely on a mythological figure native to Babylonian culture where it was considered the king of wind demons and son of the Babylonian god Hanbi.

Pazuzu was the main antagonist of the novel, the 1973 film adaptation, and its 1977 sequel The Heretic, the secondary antagonist of The Exorcist III / Legion and again the main antagonist of the two prequels, The Beginning and Dominion . He also appeared in the 2016 FOX series The Exorcist .

In the original book and film, Pazuzu was the demon that possessed Regan. This was its most famous outing, but it had also appeared in all five Exorcist films as well as Fox's 2016-2017 TV series.

Pazuzu's face was portrayed by Eileen Dietz.

The Beginning

In this prequel to The Exorcist, Pazuzu lorded over a pagan temple, systematically murdering anyone that came to the temple. The sole survivor that would remain is often a priest. Towards the end of the film, the only survivors of Pazuzu's massacre was Father Merrin and a young boy.

Dominion: Prequel to the Exorcist

Pazuzu possessed a young and handicapped boy named Cheche at Derati. Father Merrin exorcized the young kid and Pazuzu possessed a hyena. The hyena left Derati.

First book and film adaptation

In the novel and film adaption, Pazuzu managed to possess Regan after she played with an Ouija board (appearing to her in form of the now infamous demon called "Captain Howdy"), turning her into a hideous vessel for it to mercilessly taunt and abuse those around itself while also displaying major supernatural powers that increased as the story progressed. It presumably grew in strength as the demon took more and more control over Regan's hapless form - which twisted her into a demonic parody of her former self which included behaviors like vigorous masturbation with a crucifix, demanding people to have sex with her, and yelling sexual insults at people.

Regan's mother became desperate and sought two priests to exorcise the demon from her daughter after several failed attempts to solve the problem by more scientific methods (with Regan violently attacking doctors and therapists). That proved trickier than expected as even the priests were reluctant to perform an exorcism due to the belief that such things were confined to the Dark Ages.

However, Father Karras and Father Merrin eventually arrived to perform the exorcism regardless. The battle with Pazuzu was a terrifying rollercoaster for the two priests, who struggled to contain the vast powers of the creature. Sadly, the battle proved too much for Father Merrin, who died of a heart attack during the exorcism. Father Karras became enraged when Pazuzu mockingly laughs at his futile attempts to revive Father Merrin while demanding him to fuck it and was possessed by the demon after forcing it out of Regan through physical force upon which the priest leapt out of the window to his death. Presumably without a human host, Pazuzu was dispersed when the two priests died, but it returned in the future sequels of the novel and film.

The Exorcist III / Legion

Pazuzu plays a crucial role, and was also the instrumental in revenge against Father Damien Karras for being exorcised from Regan's body. Pazuzu discovers the soul of an executed serial killer known as the The Gemini Killer, and he transfers it into Karras' broken body thus contributing to the Gemini Killer's chaotic killing spree.

The novel makes no mention of Pazuzu soon after he succeeded in transferring the Gemini's consciousness within Karras, But plays an active role in the film adaptation of Legion titled The Exorcist III, where he again possesses Damien Karras after The Gemini lost control in possesseing the old woman dressed as a nurse, and failed to murder Kinderman and his family by the arrival of Father Morning in an attempt to perform an exorcism on the patient.

Pazuzu severely wounded and mutilated Morning in response for interrupting the Gemini's killing spree, and Kinderman arrives in time to euthanise Karras after finding the body of the priest, only to be hurled into the wall and later in the ceiling by the possessed Karras. Pazuzu along with the Gemini, was dispersed once more after Morning manages to bring Karras back to his senses and briefly regains control of his free will to receive a mercy kill from Kinderman to free him from the demons' control.

The Exorcist (TV series)

Pazuzu returns in the television series being revealed to have taken on the persona of the Salesman. In the series, he takes possession of Regan's daughter Casey Rance, giving her horrific nightmares. He also murders Katherine's girlfriend by placing her in a car accident among other misdeeds. When he repossesses Regan, Regan receives some willpower to physically beat Pazuzu to a bloody pulp before leaving him to presumably die.

It is also revealed that he had raped Regan when she was 12.

---

Nico: Pazuzu!? You mean that Demon from the movie The Exorcist!?

Qin: Oh fuck me sideways! That movie was real!?

Me: Yeah. Where is Regan? What the fuck have you done with her!?

Pazuzu: She's in here with us.

Me: You've come back from Hell after all this time to get revenge haven't you?

Pazuzu: That's right. And I am the devil!

Me: If you are the devil then make those shackles disappear and come at us.

Pazuzu: That's a much too vulgar display of power, Knudson.

Me: Let Regan go you monster!

Pazuzu: If you want her then come and get her!

Me: Why? So can spit your fucking green slime all over me? (Laugh) I may be a warrior but even I am not that gullible.

Lincoln: And lets not forget that this is also the demon that helped get Lucy her powers.

Lucy Loud: You and I have a score to settle Pazuzu!

Pazuzu: Lucy Loud, good to see you again. So my little possession of you gave you your powers. I remember that. It seem we do have a score to settle.

Lucy Loud: And it'll be the last time you monster! I will make you pay for all the pain you put me through!

Nico: I didn't know he possessed her before.

Me: It was before you moved to Michigan with us Nico. It is a really ugly story.

Lana: You will pay for your crimes Pazuzu!

Lola: No one possesses our sister and lives to tell about it!

Twilight Sparkle: You have no love for anyone!

Brittney: And We're gonna fight you and make sure you never hurt another soul again!

Brittney then pulled out the Book of Solomon and she went to the Exorcism Ritual.

I splashed Pazuzu with Holy Water and it burned him.

Brittney: (Reads Incantation in Latin)

Pazuzu is in a lot of pain and he was squirming and writhing as Brittney was reading.

Then the Masters of Evil appeared as Brittney was reading! It was Dark Spicer, Ebon, Selma & Patty, Riddler, Snake and Skinner appeared.

Me: Dark Spicer, Ebon, Selma & Patty, Riddler, Snake and Skinner.

Ebon: That's right.

Dark Spicer: (to Chris MacNeil) Here's your warning: Your ass is about to be kicked!

Me: Dark don't! She is dealing with a tremendous amount of stress right now. Her daughter Regan is possessed by a demon that we met before and he is the same one that possessed Lucy when she got her powers.

Dark Spicer: What!? Are you serious!?

Me: I'm dead serious. It's Pazuzu.

Dark Spicer: The demon from the movie The Exorcist!? Oh man!

Nico: Yeah it's completely real.

Ebon: By the way, we heard that Princess Luna and Celestia switched Cutie Marks.

Starlight Glimmer: Thanks to me and J.D.

Patty: How'd that work out?

Me: You guys know that old saying You Wouldn't last a day in my shoes?

Ebon: Yeah?

Me: Well Starlight switched their Cutie Marks and had them see who had it the hardest for 24 hours and it turns out they both had it hard doing each others jobs. But thank goodness they reconciled. But it also made them become closer than ever.

Nico: Yep.

Me: Before we have our usual battles lets wait for the exorcism to be finished and then we'll all fight Pazuzu outside.

Dark Spicer: Good idea. I have two new aliens to show you during that timeframe.

Me: Lets see them.

Dark Spicer: Okay.

Dark Spicer then transformed. He turned into an Incursean Hybrid and he was a red skin Incursion with armor like that of the Black Knight and he had spines on his back and blades on his arms and had deadly blades on his legs.

Frogmaul: Meet Frogmaul!

Shanan: A Mutant Incursean. Weird but cool!

Toad Man: Are you a toad or a frog while in that form?

Frogmaul: Honestly, I'm fine with either one. (launches his tongue at Toad Man)

Toad Man dodged the tongue.

Me: Nice tongue. To bad that form wouldn't give you good tasting Frogs Legs for Marinette.

BURN!

Dark Spicer: Hardy har har.

Me: Also did you know that the whole homeworld of the Incurseans was completely destroyed?

Dark Spicer: Really?

Riley: Yeah and it's a really ugly story. It was destroyed because of the power from my sword Ascalon.

Riley went over the history of the Incursean Homeworld and what lead to its ultimate destruction.

At some point in its history, a civil war between its inhabitants erupted on the planet.

After eons of war, a non-Incursean warrior, in an attempt to stop the war, stole Ascalon to try to restore order and unite the world's people once again. But instead of uniting his people as he had desired, the warrior was unable to harness total control over Ascalon and had caused the destruction of the entire planet as a result.

After the destruction of the planet, a depressed young Azmuth half-heartedly arrived in a shuttle and retrieved Ascalon before departing back to Galvan Prime.

All that is left of the planet is a field of asteroids. Despite the destruction of their homeworld, the Incurseans were somehow able to survive its destruction.

---

We gasped in sheer shock!

Me: WHOA!

Nico: My god!

Hunter: (German Accent) Mein gott!

Eli: That's terrible!

Nunnally: No kidding!

Dark Spicer: I didn't know about that.

Riley: I know. That's why I promised to use Azmuth's sword Ascalon responsibly. This sword's power is incredibly strong and it has enough power to do both good and bad.

Dark Spicer: Good call. Here's my second alien.

He then transformed into a hybrid version of a Megawhatt! He looked like a Megawhatt with red lightning and magnetic energy was around him as he had an incredible magnetic field! He also had tesla coils around his fingers and toes!

Gigajolt: Say hello to Gigajolt!

Shanan: A Megawhatt Hybrid.

Lincoln: A Shocking Alien!

Luan: (Laughs) Good one Link.

Elena: Aren't you a cute little guy?

Gigajolt: That doesn't mean you should underestimate me! (fires a blast of lightning at Elena)

But Elena absorbs the lightning blast and picks up Gigajolt.

Elena: Your lightning can power me up all day.

We laughed.

Me: That's one alien that made us happy.

Nico: It sure did.

Brittney: (Continues Reading in Latin)

She was nearly done.

Brittney: (Finishes Reading) AMEN!

Then a ball of orange energy appeared out of Regan and she was back to normal but unconscious and Pazuzu went outside and took form and we all went at him.

We saw Pazuzu in his true form and he was ugly!

Me: You are one UGLY MOTHERFUCKER!

Lucy: Guys, let me and Chris handle Pazuzu. He messed with us. So it's only fair that we finish him.

Armada Starscream: At least let me, Tidal Wave, Broadside, and Frida help you two.

Me: Okay this is Lucy's fight. She wants to make sure he suffers for causing all this pain.

Dark Spicer: Oh man. That is a strong hatred.

Nico: No kidding!

?: It sure is.

A figure came out and it was PACHA CHAMEK from episode 6 of Super Megaforce!

---

Pacha Chamak was sent to defeat the Mega Rangers, by the Armada Empire's order, stealing the Rangers weapons, in the process. He then returned to the Armada Mothership, to celebrate his victory, while to his annoyance Vekar calling him "Pacha Backpack". While Jake Holling and Emma Goodall are training with Casey Rhodes, Troy Burrows, Noah Carver, and Gia Moran fight off Pacha Chamak, yet again, only this time, they do it with their Jungle Fury and Wild Force keys. As the rangers are giving everything they have, the Jungle Fury keys activate, allowing them to use the combined animal spirits, and the Legendary Megazord's power, to destroy him for good.

Casey Rhodes: Pacha Chamek!

Pacha Chamek: It has been a while Red Ranger of the Tiger.

Casey Rhodes: Nice to know that our training was fruitful for you both.

Me: It sure was Casey.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Pazuzu was still standing even after all that but he still was weakened!

Chris: You stay away from my daughter!

Me: FOREVER! HAKAI!

I banished Pazuzu to the Warp forever!

Pazuzu was gone for good!

Nico: Pazuzu is gone forever.

Me: Yeah!

We went to check on Regan and she was waking up and she saw that she was disoriented and couldn't remember anything.

Regan: What happened?

We unstrapped her.

Me: Regan thank goodness you're all right.

Regan: J.D. Knudson and all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm? What happened? My head is really spinning.

Me: Well you were possessed by a demon.

Chris MacNeil: Oh Chris!

They hugged.

Regan: Mom? I can't remember anything.

Lincoln: It's hard to explain.

We explained it as best as we could.

Regan: So I was possessed by a demon named Pazuzu?

Me: Yeah.

Nico: Geez.

Lucy Loud: You aren't the only one that was affected by Pazuzu. He got to me too and in doing so he gave me my powers.

Regan: Wow.

Riddler: Riddle me this, Nico: Were you really considering on killing Regan?

Nico: Only if there was no other option.

Snake: Well, good thing you guys found a way, as usual.

Nico: Still, it was still a good idea to prepare for a worst case scenario.

Skinner: Honestly, you guys should stick to your code and avoid killing kids.

Me: Agreed.

Lucy Loud: (To the viewers) Be careful when you deal with forces of the supernatural. You never know who might show up.

Me: Yep.

Part 10 complete.

The Exorcist from 1973 was probably the most scariest movie of all time back then. Personally Demonic Possession is one of the ultimate fates that are worse than death. Linda Blair did a great job in that movie all those years ago and it scared the living daylights out of a lot of people back then. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this one. Thanks guys. Next up is a funny and awesome non-combat chapter where we go into the world of Chowder and help save Chowder and Mung's Catering after it is under the grip of terror from an evil Poultrygeist! A Flurkey Ghost is terrorizing the catering company and it's possessing Chowder and we have to stop him!

See you all tomorrow.

Chowder's EXER-cism (RIMSHOT)

In the middle of the city, Electro and Dark Spicer were having donuts and they were really tasty donuts.

Dark Spicer: These donuts are amazing Max.

Electro: Mmm! They sure are.

?: I think you deserve much better.

They were approached by none other than the abusive former headmistress of Crystal Prep: PRINCIPAL ABACUS CINCH!

---

Principal Abacus Cinch, simply known as Principal Cinch, is the main antagonist of the third film in the "Equestria Girls" full-length film franchise My Little Pony Equestria Girls: Friendship Games . She was the headmistress of Crystal Prep Academy.

She was voiced by Iris Quinn.

Principal Cinch first appears, calling Twilight to her office through Dean Cadence. She talks with Twilight about her application for Independent Study Program, admiring her as the best student the academy ever had. However, she then points that Twilight has to compete in Friendship Games, which will strengthen the academy's influence, as it always was. When Twilight tries to say that she's just a researcher and doesn't want to compete, wasting her time, Cinch tells her that she has influence due to the academy's high social status. The principal points that she can use that influence to get Twilight's application approved faster or even denied at once if she won't take part in Friendship Games, forcing Twilight to do so.

In Canterlot High School, Principal Cinch first spends some time talking with Principal Celestia, as the latter shows her the school upgrades. They end up seeing Human Five and Sunset Shimmer chatting with confused Twilight, only for Cinch to reveal that the one is her best student, apologizing for her curiosity. After that incident, Cinch forbids Twilight to make friends with the Canterlot High students. Principal Cinch also ruins Pinkie Pie's welcoming party, forbidding her students to have fun, and Pinkie actually couldn't do anything at the moment, as Twilight accidentally drained her Laughter Magic which makes Pinkie to tired to oppose the principal (though she actually the one who could do that with her personality).

During the main action of the games (in song "Acadeca"), Cinch observes her students' work and gets angry or disgusted anytime they fail to win, like in bakery competition, which was won by Pinkie Pie and her tremendous "Mona Lisa" cake. While Principal Celestia, Vice-Principal Luna and Dean Cadence judge the most of the competitions, Principal Cinch judges the last one, math competition between Sunset Shimmer and Twilight Sparkle, pointing out that Sunset's answer is incorrect.

Then, Principal Cinch instructs the remained Shadowbolts before Tri-Cross Relay, inspiring them to victory and hoping that Twilight could deal with the first part of the relay, which is actually the P.E. standard for Crystal Prep Academy. However, Twilight fails miserably, not being able to high the bulls-eye with and arrow, which enrages her classmates, but she is helped by Applejack, who then gets pony-up for her honesty, which was accidentally drained by Twilight. The latter drops her pendant which opens several random portals to Equestria, releasing the Everfree Forest into this dimension. It crushes the track, nearly killing Sunset Shimmer and Sugarcoat in process, as Rainbow Dash and Indigo Zap prove themselves to be more competent racers. However, Rainbow saves Sunset, getting pony-up, and then Sunset wins the race. Principal Cinch blames the Wondercolts for magic cheating, however, Celestia tries to convince Cinch that no one had advantage due to that. A bit later, Principal Cinch witnesses Twilight draining Rainbow Dash's magic and learning that she drained much magic yet.

Before the final competition, Principal Cinch and the Shadowbolts trying to convince Twilight in releasing the magic to the point of enforcing her to do it in their villain song "Unleash the Magic". However, the magic goes unstable and corrupts Twilight, as everyone, including Cinch, look at that in horror. Twilight transforms into horrifying Midnight Sparkle, and Cinch, understanding what monster has been created, retreats in save position, advising the Shadowbolts to do the same when Sunny Flare actually catches her.

After Midnight Sparkle is defeated, Cinch accuses the Canterlot High School for magic cheating once more and demands that Celestia and Luna forfeit the Friendship Games, threatening to report the incident to the school board. However, she is mocked by the others, as even the Shadowbolts turn on Cinch, implying that she was the one responsible for Midnight Sparkle's creation, and point out that there is no way the board would believe her claims about "flying girls, magic or talking dog (referring to Twilight's Spike)". Though Cinch is enraged, she than saves her face and leaves in defeat, most probably leaving to Crystal Prep the next day with the other students and Dean Cadence.

Equestria Girls Specials

In the special "Dance Magic," Sour Sweet mentions that Cadance has taken over as the Principal of Crystal Prep, meaning that Principal Cinch either quit, retired, or was fired by her superiors for her actions.

---

Dark Spicer: Wait a minute. Aren't you the former headmistress of Crystal Prep, Abacus Cinch?

Cinch: The same.

Electro: What the Hell do you want, Cinch?

Cinch: Well, I've noticed that Vypra doesn't seem to appreciate you two. In my opinion, someone of both of your talents should be better appreciated.

Dark Spicer: What are you getting at?

Cinch: I'm offering you two to work for me. If you two accept, I'll make you two powerful. Powerful then Vypra and even J.D. Knudson. But I'll give you two time to think about my offer.

With that, Cinch left.

Dark Spicer: Max huddle.

They did so.

Dark Spicer: I think Cinch is up to something worthy of a Rotwood scheme.

Electro: Yeah I feel it too. After everything that happened with Rotwood we don't want to let that all happen again. Nico was seriously hurt psychologically because of that.

Dark Spicer: I know. So we'll play along with her and expose what she is REALLY up to.

Electro: We should tell everyone at the estate.

Dark Spicer: Good idea.

They went to the estate.

Later Cinch went to the Masters of Evil headquarters and talked to Vypra.

Cinch: I admit this is quite the organization you have, Vypra. You have an army of villains who will do anything you ask. And your second in command has a version of the Omnitrix at his disposal. I'd be lying if I said I wasn't impressed.

Vypra: What are you implying?

Cinch: Your leadership position is quite a nice touch. Though such a position iss more suited for those more deserving. The only real issue is, you don't seem to treat your followers to well.

Bane: If you have something to say, then say it!

Cinch: Of course, as you wish. Dark Spicer, Electro; show where you're loyalties lie now, please.

Dark Spicer: If you say so.

Dark Spicer turned into Darkspeed as he and Electro look at each other and nod.

Electro then quickly zoomed past Vypra and straight for Cinch. He slid under Cinch and gave her an electrical punch that sent her flying high. Cinch screamed as she flew up, and then started to fall down. She looked to the right as Darkspeed zoomed towards her. Darkspeed punched Cinch and sent her flying to the wall, causing her to slide down on the floor.

Cinch (gets up): What.. what are you doing!?

Electro: Showing where our loyalties lie.

Vypra: What was your plan? Did you intend for them to attack me, and in the surprise and heat of the moment, you would go after Bane and kill him? And I would be caught off-guard by such a surprise that they managed to kill me? In which the Masters of Evil would fall to you?

Bane: Even if you could, on the smallest of possibilities, that you could dispose of me; Vypra taught them everything they know, they would hold no surprises for her.

Cinch: You… you knew? I made sure to cover all my tracks. There was no way you could have known! So how? How could you have known?!"

Darkspeed: We told her. (Cinch looks at him) We told her your plan the second we got back.

Cinch: You told her?! Why?! We had a deal! I could have give you two more power!

Electro: Oh please. You would say anything to get us on your side. And besides, who says we want more power to begin with?

Darkspeed: I'm already powerful enough with my Antitrix. After all, I even my own versions of Alien X and Way Big.

Electro: And my electric powrs make me powerful enough as it is And say what you will amigo, but there's one thing you actually hadn't accounted for. The Masters of Evil are like a family.

Cinch: Family?!

Darkspeed: We in the Masters of Evil treat each other like family. Just like Team Loud Phoenix Storm. You think we would betray them for someone like you?

We came in.

Me: Former Headmistress of Crystal Prep, Abacus Cinch. How nice to finally meet you in person.

Sunset Shimmer: (smirks) Hi there, Cinch! We've got a lot to talk about!

Cinch: J.D. Knudson. And Indigo! How Dare you betray me!?

Me: Didn't expect your former students to turn on you like this didn't you?

Indigo Zap: Especially after all the crap you put us through!

Lemon Zest: Yeah!

Vypra: Cinch. Earlier, you implied that we're kindred spirits; that we have much in common. While it's true that we do have minor similarities; but at our very core, we're nothing alike.

Cinch tried to back up, but was already up against the wall as Vypra walked closer to her, causing Cinch's heart to race even further.

Vypra: You're the Headmistress of Crystal Prep Academy. Everything you have was given to you. Your position, your resources, all of it; it was all handed to you from the start. However, everything I have, I've earned. I've trained to master my skills; I earned leadership of the Masters of Evil, and I've earned the respect and friendship of my team.

Cinch could only look up in fear as Vypra stopped walking and was less than a foot away from her.

Vypra: You also implied that we both have suffered. Well, I can guarantee you, all the so-called pain you have experienced, is nothing compared to what I have endured. I've been dead twice now. But you know what? My previous deaths have made stronger and made me who I am today.

Cinch: Wh… what… WHAT ARE YOU?!

Vypra: I am Vypra, former minion of Queen Bansheera. And Leader of the Masters of Evil. But more importantly… (draws her sword) I'm not a person who would let someone like you roam freely.

Luan: And the greatest frenemy of all for me!

Me: That's right!

Nico: What do you say to that you old prune!

Darkspeed: Face it, bitch; you may be alpha where you come from. But with those like us, you're way out of your league.

Electro: Say hi to your fellow criminals in jail for us!

Cinch knew she was beat!

JAIL DOOR CLOSES!

Cinch was now in prison in the Center of The Earth.

At the estate we were talking to Vypra and everyone.

Me: That was genius that you all turned on Cinch like that!

Dark Spicer: Thanks J.D.

Me: Sorry we came into your HQ like that.

Vypra: No worries.

Nico: But at least we now have Cinch in prison. The last thing we want is another Rotwood situation repeating like that.

Varie: You said it.

Vypra: Good.

Me: That was really clever of you to turn on her like that though.

Vypra: Yep. I have 2 new recruits to introduce you. You can come in now.

Two figures came and 1 of them was the Demon Sorcerer of Wind, XIAO FUNG!

Bai Tza: Brother! Glad to see you.

Xiao Fung: I'm very glad to be out of that statue prison. And I'm grateful that I'm not in the Black Forest prison this time.

Jackie Chan: I remember that.

Me: Also I forgot that I noticed that your voice sounds like the Mayor of Halloween Town.

Xiao Fung: (Laughs) That is interesting.

Me: Nice to see you again Xiao Fung. So Vypra has you joining the Masters now.

Xiao Fung: That's right and another friend.

?: (Breathing voice) That's me.

Heavy loud breathing was heard and we saw the enemy of Timmy's favorite superhero, the Crimson Chin, THE IRON LUNG!

---

The Iron Lung is the lung-themed foe of the Crimson Chin who continuously tries to steal from the banks of Chincinnati.

Information

He is a robotic villain who can inhale and release large amounts of air. His mouth can also function as a vacuum cleaner. He is a member of The Body of Evil. He can take in clean air, as he will start coughing continuously if the air he inhales is filled with smoke or dirt.

Description

He seems to be an entirely metal creature, with a silver metal body, presumably made of iron. He has a large "I" on his chest, and a whistle on his shoulder. He also as large metal shoulder pads and metal bands on his elbows and knees.

Background

In The Collapsed Lung, The Iron Lung was blowing out the candle of Chincinnati's giant birthday cake. He also blew the cake (along with the Chin, Cleft and Miss Chincinnati, who were all standing on top of it) towards the Statue of Chincinnati, where they would all get crushed. The Chin uses his mighty chin to steer the cake safely away from the statue, while Cleft realises that the Iron Lung needs to take in air to blow it out, and that the air needs to be clean. He produces a 1947 Buick-Packard automobile so the Lung can start choking on its exhaust fumes. He then corks the Lung's mouth so the Chin has an opportunity to send the Lung to jail via chin-based justice.

Timmy Turner: THE IRON LUNG!

Iron Lung: (to Timmy) I haven't seen you as Cleft for a long time, Turner. Did you grow out of your Crimson Chin phase or something?

Timmy Turner: No it's just that ever since I have joined Team Loud Phoenix Storm, I've been so busy helping out the Universe.

Iron Lung: I see.

Me: So you are one of the enemies of Timmy's hero the Crimson Chin.

Iron Lung: That's right. It's an honor to meet you J.D.

Me: Same here. Now the Masters of Evil have 2 awesome Wind Users on the team.

Xiao Fung: Yep.

Mung Daal: (OFFSCREEN YELLING FROM THE BOOK OF CHOWDER) J.D.! HELP US!

Me: That's Mung and he's in Trouble! We have to get over to Marzipan!

We went to the kitchen and I pulled out the book of Chowder and opened it and we went to Marzipan and hightailed it over to Mung's Catering Company.

---

At Mung's Catering Company something was going on! Something SUPERNATURAL!

Mung, Schnitzel and Chowder were hiding behind the fridge as stuff was flying all over the place.

Mung: We'll be safe here until we figure out what is causing this.

Chowder: Whatever it is, I bet it has nothing to do with that spooky glowing thing over there.

We see a Flurkey dish and it was old and glowing green with an ominous and spooky glow.

Mung: That looks like a dish I cooked years ago. How did it get back here?

Schnitzel: RA RADDA! RADDA RADDA RADDA! (Oh no Mung! That Flurkey is Haunted!)

Mung: What do you mean Haunted?

Schnitzel: Ra radda radda. Radda radda radda. (It's Really Haunted! It's all here in this book.)

Mung: The Snackro-nomicon?

Snackro-nomicon: Lets make nachos buddy.

Mung: Oh Schnitzel! You and your crazy obsession with the Supernatural!

He opened the book and showed a page. It said POULTRYGEIST and it had a picture of a really angry, and extremely evil and really pissed off Chicken Spirit coming out of a Flurkey.

Schnitzel: Radda! (Right here!)

Mung: A Poultrygeist? You're saying that since this Flurkey dish was never eaten, left to rot here behind the radiator that it went bad? So bad that it became EVIL?!

Schnitzel screams.

THUNDERCLAP!

Schnitzel: Ra-ra-ra-ra-RADDA!? (E-e-e-e-EVIL!?)

Mung: We must dispose of this dish at once!

They saw Chowder eating it.

Mung: Chowder! Where's the dish?

Chowder: I don't know.

Mung: Chowder!? What have you done!?

Chowder: Mung you said to get rid of the dish. So I ate it. And now in three days it will return a beautiful butterfly. And everyone will be happy.

CHOWDER YOU DUMB IDIOT!

Schnitzel: Radda radda. (Maybe nothing)

Mung: Well I guess it was nothing. Now we can turn our attention away from Chowder and blah blah blahbity blah blah.

Chowder then started clucking like a chicken.

Chowder: (CLUCKING)

We came.

Maria: Hey, Mung. What seems to be the problem?

Mung Daal: It's Chowder!

We saw Chowder.

May: Chowder? Are you okay?

Chowder turned his head around all the way.

Me: What the!?

Chowder: (Dreamily) I feel fine May.

THUNDERCLAP!

We were shaking in fear!

Schnitzel: OH RADDA! (OH WHOA MAN!)

Chowder's head then started spinning fast all the way!

It stopped.

Chowder: Oh look I have a tail. (Laughs) (Resumes spinning)

Me: Chowder what the hell is wrong with you!?

Mung: HIS HEAD IS SPINNING! NOW HIS ARMS!

Chowder's arms were spinning fast!

Schnitzel: RA! RA-RADDA! (OH! OH MAN LOOK!)

He was doing the Bootsie Roll Dance now!

Mung: Now his feet! He's doing the bootsie roll! I haven't seen that dance in years.

Then we saw Chowder doing something weird!

Mung: OH NO! WHA! WHAT IS THAT!?

Chowder: Blarga flarga.

He was twirling his finger.

Mung: Now his finger! Twirling! This is madness! Chowder snap out of it!

Chowder: (DEMONIC VOICE) THE CHOWDER OF WHOM YOU SPEAK IS NO LONGER HERE!

Me: Then who the hell are you!?

Brittney: That voice is demonic!

Florentine: Who am I? Hmm I am known by many names. I AM THE FOULEST OF THE BARNYARD FOWL, (FIRE RAGES BEHIND HIM) ROASTING IN THE MOST INFERNAL OF… uh… Most infernal of INFERNOS! BLARGA FLARGA! BLARGA FLARGA! (LICKS FEROCIOUSLY!) But you can call me Florentine. BOOGA BOOGA BOOGA!

Me: Let Chowder go you birdbrained idiot!

Florentine: Make me you monster!

Me: YOU'RE THE MONSTER!

Brittney: What have you done with Chowder!?

Florentine: He is in the fire!

Mung: Florentine I know you're upset but leave Chowder alone.

Florentine: (Licks ferociously)

Mung: He's innocent! Innocent I tells ya!

Florentine: This host body is perfect. (Rubs legs) Yes. So round, (Pats belly) so fully packed. (Rubs back and butt) It's as though I'm a plump, juicy flurkey again! (Laughs) Oh I could get used to this.

Mung: Schnitzel do something!

Schnitzel: RADDA! (Right!)

Lana: Be careful Schnitzel.

Schnitzel ran over to him.

Schnitzel: RADDA RADDA RADDA RADDA! (You leave Chowder alone right now!)

Florentine then vomited green slime all over Schnitzel!

YUCK!

Me: EW!

Nico: OH THAT'S DISGUSTING!

Mung: OH Schnitzel! Disgusting!

He vomited all over Schnitzel!

Me: EW!

Florentine laughed at him and vomited on him again and then they both vomited on Schnitzel.

Vince: OH GROSS!

Eli: GOD!

Nunnally: EW!

Lola: That is disgusting!

Lana: YUCK!

Me: This monster is really curdling my stomach!

Florentine: MUNG DAAL! Long have I waited for revenge because you left me to rot behind the fridge!

Me: What does he mean by that!?

Schnitzel: Radda Radda Radda Radda Radda Radda. (He's a Flurkey dish that was never eaten yet.)

Laney: And he was left back here to rot and he turned evil?

Lucy Loud: That's weird.

Brittney: No kidding. We've encountered demonically possessed people but never like this.

Florentine: That's right! NOW BEAR WITNESS TO ME DOING EVIL! And uh… Stuff! TIME FOR EVIL! PTTOOOO! WHOOOSH!

He flew off!

Mung: NOOOOOOOOOOOO!

William: Isn't there anyway we can help Chowder?!

Me: We have to get Florentine out of him!

Laney: Yeah!

Schnitzel: This might have the answer.

He handed the Snackro-nomicon to Laney.

Laney: The Snackro-nomicon? Never heard of a book like this.

She read the book.

Laney: Lets see here. Aha! It says here that in order to get the evil spirit out of Chowder we must take him to a place called The Gravy-Yard.

Me: The Gravy-Yard?

Ed: Yum!

Eddy: Shut up Ed.

Me: First lets get Chowder and restrain him!

Nico: Right!

We went to get Florentine and we saw him ripping apart Mung's cookbooks!

Florentine: (EVIL LAUGHTER)

Mung: NO! MY COOKBOOKS!

Florentine: PTTOOOO! WHOOOSH!

He was smashing the plates and dishes.

Florentine: (EVIL LAUGHTER)

Mung: NO! MY DISHES DESTROYED!

Florentine: PTTOOOO! WHOOOSH!

He flew off and he was eating gravy out of the fridge!

Florentine: MUST FEED! (CLUCKS) (EATS GRAVY!)

Me: There he is!

Nico: Drop the gravy!

Florentine: (EVIL LAUGHTER) MUNG DAAL! (Turns head) FIRST I DRINK YOUR GRAVY AND THEN I DRINK YOUR SOUL!

I Smacked Chowder on his head and knocked him out.

We later had him tied up.

Florentine: (Groans) (Shakes head) Huh? What is the meaning of this!?

Me: We didn't like having to do that. But we have to keep you tied up for your own good.

Florentine: (GRUNTS) You think this rope can hold me!?

Twilight Sparkle: That rope is restraining you with magic.

Me: Lets get you to the Gravy-Yard.

Lucy cut a portal and we went to the Gravy-Yard.

Florentine: WHERE ARE YOU TAKING ME!? WHERE ARE YOU TAKING ME!?

Nico: Chowder, please stay still! This is for your own good!

Florentine: NICO YOUR MOTHER IS A BLOB OF SNOT AND YOUR FATHER WAS A HOMELESS BUM! BLARGA FLARGA LARGA!

Me: Shut up Florentine!

We arrived at the Hall of Aerobics.

Mung: We've finally made it to the Hall of Aerobics.

Me: This is weird. Why is there exercise equipment here?

Mung: Don't you know? It's to EXERCISE demons. (Laughs)

WE LAUGHED!

Me: (Laughs) Good one!

Schnitzel: Wah wah.

Mung: Hurry! We don't have much time!

We put Florentine on a treddmill.

Florentine: MUNG DAAL! YOUR MOTHER WAS A POLAR BEAR! YOUR FATHER WAS A FIGURE SKATER! BLARGA FLARGA LARGA!

Me: Shut up!

Mung: Schnitzel start the workout music!

Schnitzel: Radda!

He pulled out a radio and turned it on.

Lynn: Good beat.

Mung and me had a dish.

Mung: We know you're in there Chowder! Run towards the flurkey.

Nico: I've heard of exorcisms but this is ridiculous.

Brittney: This is a really goofy way to get rid of demons.

Florentine: THIS WILL NEVER WORK MUNG DAAL! YOU SMELL OF FLOWERS AND CHEESE!

Eli: And you smell of turds and shit!

Nunnally: Eli!

Eli: Sorry.

Mung: We're losing him!

Me: Faster Chowder! Faster!

The treddmill went faster!

Florentine: THIS CAN'T BE! I'LL EAT YOUR EARS WITH A SPOON (PANTING) THEN I'LL SING YOU SONGS OF PAIN AND… oh wait. You don't have ears. DARN IT!

He was really running!

Mung: It's working

Me: He's REALLY sweating out all the juices!

Chowder was now really skinny as a rail and sweating buckets!

Florentine: NO! MY JUICES! BODY BECOMING SKINNY AND VERY UNATTRACTIVE!

Lola: Sheesh! You need a lot of plastic surgery!

Timmy Turner laughed.

Florentine: MUST LEAVE THIS WITHERING HUSK OF A BODY! (GAGS)

A chicken spirit came out of Chowder through his mouth and Brittney opened a portal that lead to the Warp and he was sucked into it.

Me: That's the end of that bad chicken.

Nico: Yep. Good riddance.

Chowder was back to normal!

Chowder: (Weakly and exhausted) Mung? Can we go back to the kitchen now? I'm so hungry!

We laughed!

Mung: He's back! My boy is back!

Me: Glad to have you back Chowder!

Nico: This had to be the most goofiest exorcism ever.

Brittney: It sure was.

We got Chowder some food and he was back to normal.

Chowder: Ahh. Thanks for saving me guys.

Me: Ah it was nothing Chowder.

Nico: Yeah but this was a goofy adventure.

Sunset Shimmer: It sure was. I thought it was so funny with everything that happened.

Me: Yeah.

We had a funny and awesome adventure.

THE END

Part 11 done.

The Poultrygeist episode of Chowder was one funny episode that had a lot of elements from The Exorcist and even some from Poltergeist! It was awesome! And it aired on November 22nd, 2009 and it was funny! Slightly scary but really funny! NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is an awesome and hilariously funny version of the episode of SpongeBob Squarepants, Scaredy Pants and it's gonna be a land version where we help Lincoln overcome his fears of everyone scaring him. It's gonna be funny!

See you all tomorrow.

Lincoln the Scaredy Coward

Note: This chapter does not take place on Halloween. It's to help Lincoln get over his fear. Also this is the sequel to the upcoming Halloween chapter.

In the middle of the city we were there to visit the disembodied brain of the most hated and most fucked up teacher in all the history of the world: Mr. Denzel Crocker.

Crocker: Well look who it all is! You have a lot of nerve visiting me like this!

Me: Why because you're too fucked up to think about anyone else?

Crocker: GAH! I WOULD RATHER TIE YOU ALL TO A ROCK AT LOW TIDE AND KILL YOU BY BLOWING YOUR BRAINS OPEN AND WATCH THE CRABS EAT YOU! YOU MAKE ME SO FUCKING CRAZY!

Me: Too late for that Crock-fuck.

Nico: That's right!

Dark Laser: (smirks) Guess what, Crocker. Me and Flipsy have joined a better team. And it has a name that isn't affiliated with the word Lose!

Me: That's right you fucked up loser!

BURN!

Fluttershy: Can I use my stare on Crocker?

Me: Go ahead. I want to know how it works on the human brain.

Fluttershy went over and used her stare on Crocker and then he pooped out blood in his jar!

Me: Hey it works!

Lincoln: Yep.

Crocker: YOU MAKE ME SICK! I HATE YOU ALL SO MUCH!

Our auras flared up with incredible power!

Twilight Sparkle: WHOA! That was intense!

Wallflower: It sure was. Is that what happens when someone hates us?

Me: Yep.

Crocker then expressed incredible and extreme hatred towards us all and we all were enveloped in massive auras of fire and different colored fire. Our power was stronger than ever before.

Crocker then thrashed around and his jar glowed neon red and it showed that he was boiling mad!

Crocker: YOU ARE THE MOST PATHETIC MONSTERS EVER! I HATE YOU ALL SO MUCH! I HATE YOU! I HATE YOU! I HATE YOU! I HAAAATTTEEE YOUUUU! I HAAAAAAAAATTTTTTTEEEEEE YYYOOOOOOOOUUUUUU! IIIIIIII HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAATTTTTTTTTEEEEEEEE YOOOOOOOOOOOOUUUUUU! HAAAAAATTTTEEEE! HAAAAAAAATTTTTTEEEEEE! HAAAAAAAAAATTTTTTTEEEEEEEEEE!

Then our auras flared up with incredibly powerful and explosive force and we really were powered up to an incredible level!

Me: Thanks for the power up you insane nut.

Nico: Oh and check this out.

Nico showed him a picture of Crocker in a red dress!

Nico: Just posted this all over the internet and everyone now calls you the biggest laughingstock in the history of the world.

We laughed at him!

CROCKER WAS TOTALLY HUMILIATED AND MORE!

---

Later the scene changes to New York City in the 22nd Century.

NEW YORK CITY, 2105.

A portal opened and we arrived.

Donatello: Well, guys. Welcome to 2105.

New York City was now a far more advanced super megametropolis and it was breathtakingly advanced and more.

Me: Whoa! 22nd Century New York City!

Nico: This is absolutely amazing!

Lincoln: Incredible!

Me: And all this is possible in 85 years? Incredible!

Varie: This is so cool!

Laney: It sure is.

Dark Spicer: This is amazing that we are here in the year 2105.

Eddy: Is it okay if me and Dark explore on our own for a few hours?

Me: Go right ahead. Be careful.

They went off.

They went to a local bar and had amazing drinks.

Dark Spicer: Man, who knew that drinks taste awesome in 2105?

Eddy: You're telling me! They taste great.

Dark Spicer: I love the future.

But then two guys came up to them.

Thug 1: Hey! Who the hell do you think you guys are?

Eddy: Someone trying to enjoy a good drink, do you mind?

Thug 2: I don't appreciate your tone Grasshopper Fuck.

Eddy punched the thug in the face and knocked him down.

Eddy: Don't you dare call me that!

Thug 2: Why you little freak!?

They went at Eddy and Dark Spicer.

Dark Spicer: Here's your warning: YOUR FUCKING ASSES ARE ABOUT TO BE KICKED!

The two thrashed and pulverized them all over the place with incredible fury and more as a massive barfight ensued and more and really got out of hand fast.

Then a robot officer named Constable Biggs came in with his robot police.

Constable Biggs: What's all this then?

Eddy: This isn't what it looks like!

Dark Spicer: Those douchebags started it!

Constable Biggs: I don't care who started it! You two are under arrest for being involved in this little bar brawl!

Me: Not so fast robot bastard!

Constable Biggs saw us.

Me: Those two are with us and we saw the fight when we sensed it.

Nico: I'll pay their bail.

Me: That's not needed. Here.

I gave Biggs a video of the fight and it showed everything and Biggs arrested the thugs.

Nico: I thought you two were going to be careful! You know how much your bail would've cost?

Me: Yeah and lets just say it was a lot.

Luan: Yeah! We would have to Bail you out. (Laughs to rimshot) Get it? But seriously I thought I was gonna lose you Eddy.

Eddy: Sorry.

Dark Spicer: Yeah.

Later we were at the awesome Penthouse of the turtles friend in the 22nd Century, Cody Jones.

Cody Jones: It's really good to see you guys again.

Leonardo: Same here bro!

Me: It's a pleasure to meet you Cody. The Turtles and Master Splinter told us so much about you.

Cody Jones: I had a feeling and it's an honor to meet you and all of Team Loud Phoenix Storm, J.D.

Me: We get that a lot.

Cody Jones: I know. But I'm having problems with my evil uncle Darius Dun. He's in hiding now and we'll know if he makes a move.

Me: Can you tell us about him so we can find out more?

Cody Jones: Sure.

Cody told us all about the history of his shady uncle Darius Dunn.

---

Darius Dun (sometimes spelled Dunn ) is the uncle and guardian of Cody Jones who despises the Turtles, and after the death of his parents his only living relative, who served as the C.E.O. of O'Neil Tech in Fast Forward.

Since Cody was still too young to run O'Neil Tech, Darius had been appointed chairman of the company until Cody would finally be old enough to take over management.

However, the general public did not know that Darius was contrary to his public image as an exemplary industrialist and caring uncle, involved in criminal machinations and sought sole dominion over O'Neil Tech. To this end, he had Cody under the pretext that the outside world is too dangerous for him, lead a completely isolated life in the O'Neil penthouse, (unknowingly) supported by the robot butler Serling. His goal was to run the company as a gray eminence with Cody as a model figure under his personal control.

But his plans were thrown off when the Turtles and their mentor Splinter were, through a mistake by Cody, brought to the future. Cody, who through the stories of his great-grandparents April O'Neil and Casey had heard much of them, took his new guests to live with him and under their influence, began to gradually open up to more of the outside world which Darius did not fit into his plan. In addition, the Turtles began to feel an immediate personal aversion to Darius, which was based heavily on reciprocity.

During his time as C.E.O. of O'Neil Tech, Darius utilized his nephew's company for a variety of illicit purposes. Although the full extent of his operations is thus far unknown, Darius has, throughout the series, shown to have a network of cameras to spy on Cody (including one on Serling); employed private soldiers, first with the Inuwashi Gunjin and later on with cloned versions of the Turtles; run a weapon-production and smuggling operation (prohibited under O'Neil Tech's charter) kept under the guise of a recycling program; supplied criminal groups such as Triceraton gangs with said weapons; and perhaps most importantly, stolen plans for Cody's time window. He has also established a resource-sharing alliance with the alien warlord Sh'Okanabo, who supplied him with the evil clones of the TMNT in exchange for the Time Window plans.

The Turtles, who never trusted Darius because of his shady nature, were hard pressed to expose his criminal activities, but could initially prove nothing since his position and cunning allowed him to remain clean. Eventually the Turtles and Cody discovered the gun factory at the bottom of O'Neil Tech.

After being exposed by Cody and the Turtles that he was in fact making weapons, he dropped his innocent façade and decided to openly face them when they had found out the truth. Even with more firepower, Cody managed to defeat his uncle using his Turtle X armor while the turtles defeated their dark counterparts once more.

He is seen hiding out with the Dark Turtles after this, as they rescued him after being defeated by Cody. He sees them merely as his minions though, easily controlling them using his battle armor as well as having placed hypnotic suggestions in them so they can't hurt him physically.

In an attempt to finally finish off Cody, Darius took control of Turtle-X with a Trojan Horse Virus he installed while searching through Cody's database. He captured Cody inside his own machine and tortured the young boy by having all of his artifacts destroyed. However, Splinter and Raphael tracked his location and with his armor damaged, Darius had the Turtle-X go on a rampage until it overloaded but the process was stopped by Serling who uploaded the anti-virus program into himself and fought to install it into Turtle-X, becoming severely damaged due to this.

Darius once again orders the Dark Turtles to destroy the real Turtles. When they fail yet again and tosses them a steak to eat, growling that he hopes they choke on it.

It is assumed he was eventually defeated off screen.

---

We gasped!

Me: Looks like we got ourselves another Danzō Shimura situation here. You have the help of Team Loud Phoenix Storm here and in the 21st Century.

Maria: Cody, while Sh'Okanabo and Viral might be destroyed, if Dunn tries anything, we're going to throw him in prison.

Me: And the Dark Turtles sound like perfect candidates for our frenemies in the Masters of Evil.

Leonardo: I was just about to point that out.

Hulk: They would be perfect frenemies for Hulk.

Cody: Thank you guys so much. And I will gladly help you all.

Nico: Awesome.

May: Sh'Okanabo might come back as well. But when he does, we'll Hakai him.

Raphael: That's fine. We killed him once. So, I don't mind blowing him up again.

Me: Good. And we're gonna be ready for them.

Casey Jones: So you are our great grandson here.

Cody then saw his great grandparents for the first time in his life.

April O'Neil: We are your great grandparents.

Cody Jones: WOW! It's such an honor to meet you!

Casey Jones: We were told so much about you and how you helped our friends here.

Cody Jones: I had a feeling.

We had a great time catching up with Cody and we put the city of New York City in 2105 in Gotham Royal York in the 21st Century and we made it into an awesome plant city and more.

---

Later back at the Estate we were talking with Vypra and we were seeing that she has two new recruits for the Masters of Evil. They were Seymour A.K.A. SEE-MORE and the Demon Sorcerer of Thunder, TCHANG ZU!

See More (to Robin): I hope there aren't any hard feelings between us. Especially how I called you and your friends thugs the last time we fought.

Robin: Not at all. We put that behind us a long time ago.

Starfire: Glorious. But if our TTG counterparts come back, we must be ready for them.

Me: But knowing how some of our enemies escaped from the River of Fire before, if the TTG Titans come back, we'll all be ready for them. Those incompetent versions of the Titans will meet their end or we strip them of their powers and throw them in jail.

Nico: Jail is good.

Later it was time for us to head over to Lynn's Table.

Narrator: (French Accent) Halloween is no different in the big city. Pirates, skeletons, and all kinds of monsters. [laughs evilly] Ohh, sorry. Everyone having fun. Well, almost everyone. [Lincoln is washing the dishes in the Lynn's Table kitchen. The door creaks open, and Lincoln jumps in surprise]

Lincoln: Huh? Who's there? [door creaks open some more as Lincoln goes back to washing some dishes. He turns around and three pieces of paper spelling out "boo" turn on the ordering turntable. Lincoln speeds up the cleaning of the dishes until he finishes] Okay, dad, the dishes are done, I'm heading home! [tries running out, but Lynn Sr. stops him in his tracks]

Lynn Sr.: Hold on son. Don't you want to hear Lucy's annual scary story?

Lincoln: No thank you, dad. Uhh, does it have monsters in it?

Lynn Sr.: It sure does. The worst monster of them all.

Lincoln: Uhh… no. [opens the door then turns around] Is it a true story?

Lynn Sr.: True as the hair on your head son.

Lincoln: Okay, maybe just a little.

Lynn Sr.: Have a seat, me boy. [We sit with him and Lynn Sr. runs while saying "hot, hot, hot when carrying the campfire" sits on a log. Lynn Sr. puts a campfire in the middle of them]

Lucy Loud: Every year on Halloween night, the Gothic Mistress descends on Gotham Royal York, in a pirate ship, just like this. [holds up a Burger] Only bigger!

Lincoln: Excuse me, did her ship look like a burger or a Krabby Patty?

Lynn Sr.: Don't interrupt her son.

Lucy Loud: Like I was saying, the Gothic Mistress swoops down and starts stealing people's souls. [holds up a pickle]

Lincoln: Do souls look like pickles?

Lucy Loud: Not really but it was the best I could describe it. And she puts them where you can never get them… in her soul bag. [drops the pickle into a bag that has the words "Lynn's Table" crossed out and the word "soul" written above it. Lucy and the Goths of Darkness laugh evilly as Lori appears behind Lincoln in a Victorian Era Gothic Costume]

Lori: I've come for your pickle. [Lincoln jumps up screaming]

Lynn Sr.: Ah, Scaredy Lincoln gets easier to scare every year! [Lori takes her costume off as Lincoln, in a barrel, sees the Gothic Mistress was Lori]

Me: That was really good girls.

Nico: It sure was.

Vince: Yeah.

Brittney: Thanks guys.

Carly Carmine: I loved that story. It was really cool.

Fluttershy: I hope we don't encounter her.

Rarity: Me too.

Misty Tredwell: This would be so cool.

Lincoln: Humph, Lori!

Tchang Zu: Lincoln, how are you so scared easily? Weren't you able to defeat me two times in the past?

Lincoln: Yes I was. But when I was younger, I would always get scared of things on Halloween. Certain things of Halloween would scare me.

Maria: Lincoln, what exactly scares you on Halloween?

Lincoln: Lets see.

He tried to think of anything.

Lincoln: Well Great Grandma Harriet and Lucy's stories she tells me every year.

Lucy Loud: I'm sorry Lincoln.

Me: Lincoln that was in the past. You shouldn't be scared of that stuff now. People just like to play pranks on other people.

Luan: Yeah that's what Halloween is for.

Nico: Yeah.

Fluttershy: We're here for you in case you get scared Lincoln.

Lincoln: Thanks Fluttershy.

Lynn Sr.: Nothing like a good ghost story, eh, son? Hope you're not too scared to come to my party tonight, Lincoln ScaredyLoud!

[laughs while walking out]

Lori: [walks up behind Lincoln] Steal your soul. [Lincoln jumps out of Lynn's Table screaming in fright and beings to walk home. We walk with him. It was night time. As he is walking home, he sees a jack-o-lantern and then he walks up to a kid in a cowboy costume]

Kid: Twick-ow-tweat! [Lincoln screams and runs away. The kid's parents walk up next to their son]

Me: What an adorable costume.

Announcer: CANDY MAGISWORD!

I gave him a bunch of candy.

Me: There you go.

Kid: Thank you.

Mother: It's okay, son. That's just Lincoln ScaredyLoud. [Lincoln is walking home until Mrs. Johnson drives up and honks the horn, sending Lincoln screaming and jumping to hold onto the street light]

Me: Nice Witch costume Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson: Thanks J.D. Happy Halloween, ScaredyLoud. [drives off laughing malevolently]

Lincoln: The name's Loud. It's Loud! [Cut later at the Estate, inside a pumpkin. Lincoln and Luan are inside of it] I don't get it, Luan. Every Halloween, no matter how hard I try, everybody scares me.

Luan: Well everyone thinks you're are just that easy to scare.

Lincoln: [carves his pumpkin from the inside] Well, I'm sick of it. [Lincoln comes out] No more ScaredyLoud! [notices his pumpkin and screams while running into his closet]

Clyde: Lincoln!

Lincoln: Luan, it's Clyde! I'm going to scare him! It's my turn. [opens the door and tries to scare Clyde] Rawr! [Clyde has some funny Groucho-Marx glasses on]

Clyde: Hiya, Lincoln! [Lincoln screams. Clyde takes his glasses off] Sorry, I didn't mean to scare you.

Luan: Nice Groucho Marx Glasses Clyde.

Clyde: Thanks Luan.

Lincoln: Why can't I be frightening for once? Where's my chance?

Clyde: Well, if you want to be scary, you got to need a good costume.

May: Lucy, your stories put Lincoln in this mess. So you have to help him conquer this fear.

Lucy Loud: And I will.

Me: There's a Halloween Party happening over at Lynn's Table tonight. We can have Lincoln be scary there. But first we have to give Lincoln a Halloween overhaul

[later, Lincoln walks out of his closet with a big, white sheet on]

Lincoln: What do you think?

Clyde: Great! You're going as my trick-or-treat bag!

Lincoln: No, no! I'm the Gothic Mistress of the dark!

Me: You look more like a haunted marshmallow to me.

Lincoln: True.

Clyde: Uhh… something's missing. I know! [Clyde runs inside Lincoln's closet. A tree falls down but then gets sawed down by Clyde. Clyde comes out with a pair of Dutch clogs] Step into these babies, Hans. [Lincoln steps into the clogs] Terrifying.

Lincoln: I don't know, Clyde. [doorbell rings]

Clyde: Come on, Lincoln. It's little kids! Little kids are easy to scare! [door opens]

Kids: Trick-or-treat!

Lincoln: [jumps out and tries to scare the kids like he did Clyde] Rawr-rawr! [kids laugh]

Kid #1: Look, it's the haunted marshmallow!

Lincoln: Okay, okay, here's your candy.

Kid #1: No, please, that was enough of a treat, thank you. [kids walk away laughing]

Nico: Well that didn't work.

Lincoln: I don't get it, Clyde.

Clyde: Lincoln, look at my new paper ghost! [Clyde holds scissors in his right hand a has a puppet on his left hand] Oooh, scary.

Lincoln: That is it, Clyde!

Clyde: What's it?

Lincoln: What's the difference between that ghost and me? [Clyde concentrates]

Clyde: No, no, no wait. Don't tell me. [concentrates more] D-don't tell me. Don't tell me! Don't tell me! I can do this. Don't tell me! Don't tell me! Okay, tell me.

Lincoln: A Marshmallow has a square head and a real ghost has a round one. All we have to do is make my marshmallow costume round and boo, I'm scary! [Lincoln is now sitting on a chair in the bathroom. Clyde has goggles on]

Clyde: Okay, are you ready?

Lincoln: [shows paper ghost] Remember, like this. [Clyde razors off Lincoln's sides]

Clyde: Are you sure you want to do this?

Lincoln: Shave me down, make me round! [Clyde razors off more and uses one piece of the marshmallow costume to wipe off his sweat from his forehead]

Clyde: All right, let's get to it. [razors off more parts. Later, Lincoln is a round ghost]

Lincoln: What do you think?

Clyde: Perfect. Now that's scary!

Nico: Much better!

[Clyde puts on his funny glasses]

Clyde: Let's go scare somebody.

Me: Lets do it!

I snap my fingers and I was dressed like Minato Namikaze!

Me: Nice! Minato's outfit works perfectly for me.

Nico was dressed as Vegeta.

[Lincoln runs down a street trying to scare people]

Lincoln: Oooh… I'm the Gothic Mistress!

Clyde: Oooh… I don't know who I am! [man opens door]

Lincoln: Rawr! Rawr! I'm the Gothic Mistress!

Clyde: Oooh, I'm the Gothic Mistress's best friend! [both run off laughing]

Man: Hey, don't you kids want your candy? [both jump behind some rocks in the shape of a skeleton head and we follow]

Clyde: Oh, boy, that was something. Your costume really packs a punch.

Lincoln: Do you think?

Clyde: Oh, no question! You scared the crap off that guy!

Lincoln: Who should we scare next?

Clyde: There's a whole party just full of people down at your dad's restaurant and the Gothic Mistress is going to show up uninvited.

Me: Oooh! I like it.

[kids laughing]

Clyde: Oh! Here comes someone now! [Lincoln jumps out to scare the kids from earlier]

Lincoln: Rawr! Rawr! I'm the Gothic Mistress! [Lincoln & Clyde run off laughing again]

Kid #2: Wasn't that the Haunted Marshmallow?

Kid #3: I guess he's been demoted to a haunted sleeping bag! [kids laugh.]

[Later at Lynn's Table, a huge Halloween Party was going on and Lynn Sr. is bobbing for apples with Leni, who is dressed up as Frankenstein's bride. Lynn Sr. successfully bobs an apple, but accidentally swallows it. Lynn Sr. chokes on an apple]

Leni: Uh oh! Hold on Dad!

[Leni kicks Lynn Sr. and he spits out the apple which shoots past Lori and Girl Jordan who was dressed up as a Princess!]

Girl Jordan: Hey there Lori, I mean, Gothic Mistress. Great party, huh?

Lori: It sure is. You literally look amazing as a princess Girl Jordan.

Girl Jordan: I sure do and you look awesome the Gothic Mistress!

Lori: Thank you.

Twilight Sparkle came and she was dressed up like Midnight Sparkle.

Lori: Wow! Twilight you look amazing.

Twilight Sparkle: Thanks Lori. I'm dressed up as Midnight Sparkle.

Girl Jordan: You look awesome Twilight.

[Lincoln and Clyde and Luan are on the roof of Lynn's Table. Lincoln is tied up with some rope which Clyde will lower him in with. Lincoln opens a door on the roof to peek through to look at the party]

Clyde: Are you ready, Lincoln? [thumbs up from Lincoln] Ready Luan? [thumbs up from Luan]

Lincoln: Okay, Luan, kill the lights! [lights go off. As soon as this happens, everybody begins panicking and running around screaming. Lincoln is lowered in appearing with a scary look. Luan begins talking through a megaphone laughing malevolently trying to scare everyone. Lynn Sr. even hides in the apple barrel]

Luan: Wa-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha! I am the Gothic Mistress! Booga, booga, booga, booga! Give me your souls! [a giant bumblebee then comes up behind Luan and stings her in the butt.]

POINK!

Luan: Huh? [Luan stands there a few seconds. She screams in pain and starts running around in circles] Ow! Ow!

Clyde rushes over to help her.

Lincoln: Whoa! [flails around in and around, then dangles upside down, revealing his pants]

Kid #3: [notices Lincoln's pants] Hey, that's no Mistress, that's Lincoln!

Girl Jordan: Lincoln?

Lori: Lincoln.

Nico: That was a good try though.

Rainbow Dash: It sure was.

[everyone laughs]

Lincoln: [still dangling] Help! Help!

Luan: [using megaphone] I am not Lincoln. Those are my street clothes! [lightning appears and thunder crashes and the front doors are open]

Gothic Mistress: ENOUGH! [everyone gasps as black smoke comes into Lynn's Table. A dark figure appears]

It took form and it was none other than that of the Loud family's Great Grandmother, Harriet Loud! She laughed malevolently!

Lynn Sr.: It's Grandma Harriet, the real Gothic Mistress! [he faints]

Great Grandma Harriet: You bet your white waves of darkness that I'm the Gothic Mistress. And I'm gonna let you in on a little secret. I'm going to steal your souls. [everyone screams] Quiet! [breathes out black flames to burn them] You had it coming, you little mongruls. Every year, people dressing up like me. [Lori takes her costume off and whistles nonchalantly] I had a feeling that was my great granddaughter Lori. She's off the hook. Turning the Gothic Mistress name in a laughingstock. But that's not the reason I'm taking your souls. [pointing at Lincoln, who is hanging upside down] No, this is the straw that broke the camel's back. Out of all the Mistress costumes I've seen, yours is the most insulting.

Lincoln: Do you mean I'm not scary?

Great Grandma Harriet: Wait a minute. Lincoln, is that you?

Lincoln: Yeah it's me Great Grandma Harriet.

Great Grandma Harriet: It's great to see you again. I didn't know that was you under there.

Me: It's great to see you again too Harriet. Thank you so much for helping out when Rotwood made that demoralizing news report.

Great Grandma Harriet: You're welcome J.D. You look really good as Minato.

Me: Thank you.

Great Grandma Harriet: But this is not scary. [cackles, then cuts the rope holding Lincoln, and he falls to the floor] Let me tell you about scary, kiddo. There's all kinds of scary things in the world. Spiders are scary, uhh, I'm scary. You… you're not scary. But it was a good try though. Okay, let's get this over with. [flies back to the partygoers to steal their souls and evilly laughs in their faces which makes everyone scream in terror, one guy is even shaking his head begging for mercy]

Girl Jordan: Lincoln!

Great Grandma Harriet: First, I gotta get rid of this stupid costume. [takes off Lincoln's ghost costume… then flies out screaming in terror. Lincoln is now shown as his face, and especially his hair, are now a hideous disaster area. Covered in ketchup, an egg, pickles and even mustard and cream ]

Lincoln: Hey, what do you know? I scared her! [laughs.]

Me: Boy you sure did!

Nico: Oh, thank God! I thought that was your brain under there!

Me: Me too! Thank goodness they didn't take the top of your head off.

Lincoln: But I sure did scare her! (Laughs)

[Everyone else, except all of us, runs out screaming]

Marie K.L.: Boy I'm getting a strong sense of déjà vu here. Me and Lee did this to May and made her hideously ugly. But that was a great job Lincoln.

Lincoln: Thanks Marie.

Lola: And the scariest costume award goes to Lincoln Loud!

Lola gave him an awesome trophy with bats, scary pumpkins and ghosts over a scary cup and it was awesome.

Me: Way to go Lincoln.

Lucy Loud: That's my big brother.

Laney: You said it Lincoln.

Laney was a vampire and she looked really awesome and terrifying.

Me: Glad you conquered your fear Lincoln.

Lincoln: Thanks J.D.

Me: Lets get you cleaned up and get back to the party.

Vypra: Yeah.

Eli: This was the greatest Halloween Ever!

Eli was dressed up like Captain Jack Sparrow!

Nunnally: It sure was!

Nunnally was dressed up like a witch.

We went and did so and got back to the party.

THE END

---

Part 12 done!

Scaredy Pants of SpongeBob Squarepants was one silly and funny Halloween theme episode and it was so funny how SpongeBob had his exposed brain scare everyone at the end and that was the first ever appearance of the Flying Dutchman and Brian Doyle Murray did a great job throughout the whole series voicing him. The episode aired on October 28th, 1999 and it was awesome! That episode aired 3 days before Halloween and it was funny! NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is a scary and cold Antarctic Adventure as we journey through 2011's THE THING and we're gonna see what happened when Kate Lloyd went through the horrifying experience that made her paralyzed and scarred with fear as she endured the worst nightmare she ever experienced with the shapeshifting abomination that terrified her for life.

See you all tomorrow.

Kate Lloyd's Nightmare Relived

We were over in a rural meadow on the edge of Ponyville and we saw a bunch of awesome daredevil flying pegasi doing all kinds of amazing stunts. The name of the group was called The Washouts and they are a bunch of former Wonderbolt Cadets that were kicked out of the Wonderbolt Academy for doing all kinds of reckless and dangerous stunts that put their comrades at risk. With us was Hunter's friend from the Netherlands, Gertjan Spijker. He is a 17 year old Dutch American with a passion for Goths, he has black pompadour hair, slight pale skin, black eyelids, black curved eyebrows, broad lobe ears, and turn-up nose. And he is 5.10 feet tall, 200 lbs, wears a black and orange shirt, a black Gothic style jacket and hoodie, a black Gothic jeans, black Gothic boots, has the Netherlands flag armband on his right shoulder, and he has powers of Darkness, Dark, Nightmare, Forest, Earth, and Spiritual Release.

Me: It's an honor to have you with us Gertjan.

Gertjan: (Dutch Accent) (Monotone voice) Ja, and I love being with you guys. Hunter told me so much about you all and it's a pleasure to be with you all.

Lucy Loud: And it's nice to have a fellow Goth with us.

Brittney: You will make a great addition to the Goths of Darkness.

Gertjan: Thank you Brittney.

Laney: So what are the Washouts exactly?

Rainbow Dash: They are a group of daredevil performers that were former Wonderbolts that got kicked out of the Academy for doing all kinds of reckless and dangerous things.

Me: Wow.

Nico: That's rough.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja. Und ever I wouldn't go that far.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Lori: Me, Lynn and Lola may be known as the Trinity of Violence but we would never do the stuff they did.

Me: Good.

Rainbow Dash: So why are we looking for the Washouts?

Me: We're going to recruit a Pegasus named Lightning Dust.

Rainbow Dash gasped when she heard that name.

Me: Was it something I said?

Rainbow Dash: Oh that's right you don't know about this J.D. But Lightning Dust and I have a really bad history with each other. We went to the Wonderbolts Academy together and she is a rival of mine.

Rainbow Dash went over her history.

---

Lightning Dust is a female Pegasus pony who first appears in the episode Wonderbolts Academy and makes subsequent appearances in later episodes, IDW comics, and magazines. Her cutie mark usually consists of a lightning bolt and three stars. She leaves a blue and yellow thunderbolt streak behind her when she flies, similar to Rainbow Dash's rainbow streak and the Wonderbolts' trail of lightning clouds. She is called Lighting Dust in The Elements of Harmony Vol. II guidebook.

In Wonderbolts Academy, Lightning Dust appears as a cadet at the Wonderbolt Academy who quickly forms a friendship with Rainbow Dash. However, she ignores Rainbow Dash's injury during an academy team exercise and brushes off the fact that her tornado put Rainbow Dash's friends in danger. Her recklessness and utter disregard for the safety of others eventually lead to her being kicked out of the academy and her team leader status being given to Rainbow Dash.

Lightning Dust is mentioned by Scootaloo in Parental Glideance. She also appears in the same episode as a filly in flashback.

In the season eight episode The Washouts, Lightning Dust reappears as the leader and founder of the Washouts, a professional stunt team comprised of fellow ex-Wonderbolts. She and her team members do away with many of the Wonderbolts' safety regulations and perform far more death-defying stunts. Lightning Dust briefly recruits Scootaloo into the Washouts, intending to have her perform an extremely dangerous stunt (in spite of her growing protests) but Rainbow Dash intervenes before she gets seriously hurt during her debut. When Lightning Dust's hoof gets caught on a rope attached to Scootaloo's stunt rocket as it takes off into the sky, she is dragged along with it. As she is pulled into the sky, she declares that she and Rainbow Dash are "rivals for life".

In Enterplay's trading cards, Lightning Dust is featured on series 2 #30 and appears on series 3 #E59. In the Enterplay collectible card game's expansion sets, Lightning Dust is featured on Canterlot Nights #160 C, Absolute Discord #10 U, Equestrian Odysseys #13 C, and Friends Forever #10 R.

On pages 20-21 of the book Winning Style, "Rainbow Dash and Lightning Dust can't wait for the flying competition at the Equestria Games. They work on their speed and agility while flying through the clouds."

Lightning Dust is shown on Acidfree's first art print.

In a Signature My Little Pony magazine issue's [ specify ] Guess who's coming for dinner?, Lightning Dust-stated to have a Cutie Mark of "a thunderbot and stars"-is joining Rainbow, Gilda and Tank as "[a]nother flying friend" guest for spaghetti.

The Elements of Harmony Vol. II guidebook

LIGHTNING DUST is a highly competitive flyer and Rainbow Dash's good friend. She flies recklessly, and doesn't always see how her actions will affect other ponies. She might have an even bigger ego about her flying than Rainbow Dash, and was actually removed from her leadership role in the Wonderbolts because of it.

Personality

Lightning Dust is shown to be a vigorous and highly competitive flyer who loves to test her limits. She has strong attitude, speed, and love for flying. However, because of her competitive spirit, she is also very reckless and shows little concern for anyone who becomes a victim of her actions. She also appears to have a bigger ego than Rainbow Dash.

During the comics storyline Siege of the Crystal Empire, Lightning Dust is shown to be deeply resentful of Rainbow Dash, blaming Rainbow for her getting kicked out of the Academy. She joins Radiant Hope after being offered the chance to prove once and for all that she's better than Rainbow Dash. However, she starts having second thoughts after King Sombra takes over the Crystal Empire, and leaves soon after, unwilling to continue playing a part in the proceedings.

In Just the ticket!, Lightning Dust openly doubts that she would win a flying race against Rainbow Dash.

Across Super Sub! and The Washouts, Lightning Dust decides to give up training to be a Wonderbolt and founds the Washouts.

In The Washouts, Lightning Dust claims to have acknowledged that she went too far during Wonderbolts training, but quickly proves that she has learned nothing from her dismissal, having no qualms over endangering Scootaloo's life during a performance. She also enjoys mocking Rainbow Dash by claiming Scootaloo "used to" respect her.

We gasped!

Lynn: Whoa!

Naruto: That's nuts!

Lola: No kidding.

Me: We didn't know you had a really bad history with Lightning Dust.

Rainbow Dash: I know.

Twilight Sparkle: Yeah but Rainbow Dash saved us that day.

Sunset Shimmer: Wow! That's amazing.

Nico: It sure is.

We saw the Washouts flying and doing all kinds of awesome stunts and more.

Laney: Wow!

Scootaloo: Those stunts are so cool!

Me: They sure are.

We saw the Washouts and we met Rolling Thunder and Short Fuse.

Rolling Thunder: (Australian Accent) Whoa! Team Loud Phoenix Storm! It's an honor to meet you all.

Me: Same here.

Varie: It's an honor to meet you too.

Rolling Thunder: Same here. Name's Rolling Thunder. I got kicked out of the Wonderbolts for Flagrant Disregard for Hazardous Weather. If doing barrel rolls through 900 million volts of electricity is wrong, Then I know I'm right.

Me: Wow! That's really impressive.

Nico: No kidding.

Paula: I got struck by lightning and lived to tell the tell and it gave me incredible lightning powers as a result.

Lincoln: It's true.

Rolling Thunder: Nice! This is Short Fuse.

Short Fuse: Oh nice to meet you.

Me: Same here. How come you were kicked out of the Wonderbolts?

Short Fuse: (ANGRILY YELLING AT MY FACE) ANGER ISSUES! GET OFF MY BACK!

Me: WHOA! HOLY SHIT That's an explosive temper. You need serious anger management therapy.

Nico: No kidding.

Short Fuse: Sorry I can't help it.

Lincoln: Oh.

Then the leader of the Washouts came and it was LIGHTNING DUST!

Rainbow Dash: LIGHTNING DUST!

Lightning Dust: RAINBOW DASH!

They growled and glared at each other.

Lightning Dust then saw us.

Lightning Dust: Whoa! Team Loud Phoenix Storm! It's such an honor to meet you all.

Me: Same here.

Maria: Hi, are you Lightning Dust?

Lightning Dust: None other. Why?

May: Can we talk to you?

Lightning Dust: About what?

Charmcaster: Rainbow Dash sounds horrified and upset about something you apparently did. And while I doubt what you did in the past was truly traumatizing to her, we want to hear your side of the story.

Lightning Dash: Sure but I didn't know that Rainbow Dash is now working with you all.

Me: Yeah she just joined us a little over a month ago and something went down between you two and we didn't even know that you two had a really bad history with each other, other than the fact that you and Rainbow Dash were once part of the Wonderbolts.

Lightning Dust: Yeah. Well it went like this.

Lightning Dust portrayed Rainbow Dash as the most reckless Wonderbolt ever known to man and that she did terribly dangerous things the likes of which would make Hell seem like Child's Play.

Nico: All right, Rainbow Dash. Why don't we hear your side of the story now?

Rainbow Dash: (afraid) Well, when I first met Lightning Dust, she looked pretty awesome. To me, she became one of my role models for becoming a Wonderbolt. I trusted her. And then, she kept giving me a strange look. And then, I just felt like something was wrong. (starts to cry) I tried asking why she was acting that way, but she kept saying, "Relax, Rainbow Dash. I know what I'm doing!

Lightning Dust: (in disbelief) This is ridiculous, that never happened!

Grim: (Jamaican Accent) Be quiet, you serial killer! (calms down) Oh, I'm sorry. We should wait until we've heard everything

Me: Grim, Lightning Dust is not a serial killer.

Lucy Loud: J.D. is right. I would've smelled blood on her.

Me: Lucy is a vampire and she knows these things.

Lightning Dust: I can't believe you guys are even listening to this! For God's sake, you guys are reckless too! Isn't that how you win your battles?

Octane: Believe me, we don't think Rainbow Dash's exaggerated story is true at all. We're just finding it funny to listen to.

Me: Yeah. We may be reckless from time to time but we don't get people seriously hurt.

Sandstorm: You know what? Maybe J.D. and the Loud Kids can help you use your recklessness in positive ways.

Lightning Dust: Really?

Nico: (to me and the Loud Kids) For once, your recklessness could actually be a good thing in this case.

Me and the Loud Kids agreed.

Me: Yeah.

Lynn: And Lightning Dust, I completely sympathize with you.

Lightning Dust: Really?

Lynn: Yeah. I am an athlete myself and I was really reckless like you are. I played sports recklessly all the time and I wanted to become the best in all sports.

Naruto: Me and Sasuke were in the same boat as you Lightning Dust. When we were younger, me and Sasuke were bitter rivals and we hated each other's guts to the core.

Sasuke: Yeah but over time as we went on missions we grew closer like brothers.

Mr. Krabs: And I know how you feel too lass. Me and Plankton were bitter enemies and rivals. This was before he was banished into space.

Lightning Dust: Wow! I didn't know about any of that.

Me: Yeah it's a strange life we all have.

We told Lightning Dust about all the deeds we did and all the things that many villains accused us of being reckless for and more and it was intense.

Lightning Dust: WHOA! That's incredible!

Me: And don't worry, Nico here can make sure you follow our codes and control your recklessness. He's not only one of my 2nd In Command but he's also our chief enforcer.

Nico: Yep.

Lightning Dust: Wow! You guys can count on me.

Me: Awesome!

Rainbow Dash: I'm gonna be on guard though.

Stewie: You know Rainbow Dash there is something I should mention to you.

Rainbow Dash: What's that Stewie?

Stewie: (to Rainbow Dash) Your exaggeration of your side of the story is similar to how the fat man accused Dr. Hartman of raping him during his prostate exam.

Rainbow Dash: Really? Never knew about that.

Stewie: Yeah it really happened.

Maria: Peter had the nerve to accuse Dr Hartman of raping him when it was a standard medical exam?!

Me: What an idiot!

Later we had a nice talk and more. Short Fuse is undergoing the same meditation therapy I am doing and it's working well for him.

Rolling Thunder is putting his training and recklessness to good use in our new flying simulator.

* * *

Later we were watching TV in our gym and we were exercising. Lightning Dust and Rainbow Dash were running on treadmills at maximum speed and Rainbow Dash was emitting a rainbow trail as she ran and Lightning Dust was emitting a lightning trail behind her.

I was lifting 9,000 ton weights.

Me: (GRUNTS) Man nothing like a good workout.

Nico was punching a punching bag.

Nico: (GRUNTS) You said it J.D.

We were dripping sweat like there was no tomorrow. Buckets of sweat were pouring out of us as we were lifting weights, punching and kicking the Punching Bags and more.

Laney and some of us were meditating and more.

Laney: Oooooooommmm…

Lynn was smashing concrete blocks with a sledgehammer and it was amazing for her.

Lana was wrestling with a wrestling dummy and Lola was doing karate and jiu-jitsu and Lisa Loud was doing Tai Chi.

Eli was training with Naruto and the shinobi and he was really going at it!

Ariel: Way to go Eli!

We were really working out.

Then we later took a break and Kate Lloyd came in and she was really tired and had bags under her eyes and she was shaking.

Me: Kate are you alright?

Kate Lloyd: Yeah just tired.

Natilee came in with her.

Natilee: She has been having recurring nightmares.

Me: Uh oh. Let me guess. The Thing?

Kate Lloyd: Yeah.

Nico: Kate, I thought you were over that after we went to Outpost 31.

Me: Probably some lingering demons still haunting her.

Natilee: It might be the past in Thule Station.

Kate Lloyd: Yeah that's it.

Papillon: Guys, I wasn't here for this situation. Who's this Thing monster?

Me: Oh that's right you don't know about this. It's a horrible nightmare from space. The Thing is a shapeshifting alien monster that has the ability to imitate lifeforms perfectly. It's a horrible abomination that is composed of over 10,000,000 aliens all rolled together into one.

I went over the history of The Thing and how massive of a nightmare it was and more.

---

The Thing is the titular main antagonist and the alias given to the hostile alien creature featured in the 1938 short story Who Goes There? by the late John W. Campbell, that (compared to the deviated story of the 1951 film The Thing from Another World ) was made into a 1982 live-action film by John Carpenter, followed by a prequel released in 2011.

Initially appearing as a single being, every cell in The Thing's body is autonomous and independent, capable of creating more of said monsters through assimilation, parasitism, and infection. In addition, every spawned monster looks radically different and none of them have a definite shape that can be called a "true form". Ultimately, the Thing's true body and form are a mystery as it most appears as whomever it impersonates.

In the 1951 film, it was played by the late James Arness. In the 1982 film, it was played by the late wolfdog actor Jed and its vocal sound effects were provided by Alan Howarth.

In nature, the Thing is basically an ambush predator, isolating a potential victim or threat to consume and assume its form. In certain cases, usually when exposed or the person it assimilated is fatally inflicted, the Thing will discard all caution and defend itself by manifesting features that may be of its natural form, including tendrils, claws, and mouths. However, the Thing's most dangerous aspect is its cells, each a functional life form that can become independent from the main body when severed by force or separate to facilitate assimilation and self-preservation. For this reason, it is necessary to destroy the body down to the cellular level, with incineration being an effective method.

Behavior and Intelligence

The Thing has only assimilation and self-preservation in mind, as it will selfishly save itself or even attack other forms of its manifestation/progeny in order to avert attention and suspicion. When The Thing is left alone with a suitable target, it will begin to split open and fire out tendrils, which grab the target and begin to assimilate it. In certain cases after discovery or high chance of discovery, The Thing will sometimes perform "divide and conquer" tactics, as in the case of the assimilated Edward which split up into three separate forms: One on his hand quickly detached and animated itself before engaging and assimilating Jonas, another limb scuttled away soon after detaching for potential assimilation in a safer location, and the main body of the Edvard thing killed Derek and successfully assimilated Adam Finch, resulting in a form of The Thing named Split-Face. This is also performed, albeit much less successfully, by the Norris-Thing. When exposed, Things will react depending on how big they are compared to the threat. Smaller Things will generally attempt to escape and ambush prey when the individual is more vulnerable. However, a larger Thing will usually attack prey head-on and attempt to overwhelm any hostiles instead of escaping, although if it has not completely lost its cover, it will attempt to flee.

The Thing's intelligence depends on the size of their manifestations: Smaller ones are quite stupid, dimwitted, nonsensical, and reckless while the larger ones (especially those that imitate a human) are quite cunning, manipulative, and formidably calculating. For example, Norris's mutated head foolishly let itself seen by MacReady and his friends while scuttering away from them, resulting in its incineration. Because The Thing can acquire the memories and knowledge of those who it previously assimilated, they can use said memories and knowledge for their advantage, though only larger manifestations of The Thing are more capable of doing so: the Thing Beast who had assimilated Sander was capable of taking control of the UFO which brought it to Earth while the assimilated Blair, on the other hand, built a makeshift UFO and was aware of how dynamite works as when ambushing Macready; it disposed of the detonator before revealing itself to confront him. However, this does not always apply to all larger manifestations of Thing Beasts: Rapture-type Thing Beasts (see below) have no intention of hiding themselves from view, as well as not manifesting useful appendages that supposedly give them advantage in battle like legs, and their chosen forms act primarily with little intelligence. A plausible explanation of this is likely that Rapture-type Thing Beasts' own overconfidence against their foes is so great that they believe mobility to evade their foes' attacks is unnecessary due to their formidable but stationary form.

When exposed, The Thing would attack anyone on sight to save itself. This somewhat serves as their psychological weakness due to their aggressive mood blinding them from serious threats that their foes unexpectedly posed on them: The Thing who manifested from assimilated Juliette recklessly attempted to kill Kate and the others as soon as it unveiled its true form which ironically led to its incineration. Should it survive the ordeal from its foes/preys and manage to hide, The Thing would regain its composure in order to use their original intelligence once again: When Split-Face Thing confronted Sam, it hesitated upon noticing his flamethrower.

The Thing's ability to interact with plant-based life-forms is largely unknown. Its only interaction with plant-based life was in the form of wood/clothing fibers. It cannot absorb these as noted by MacReady, which could suggest an inability to absorb plant cells or dead cells. The Things themselves are also remarkable Master Manipulators to a certain degree, not only because they incite paranoia among their foes and victims alike but are also not shown eating or drinking beyond living humans or dogs, and it also leaves the bodies of killed humans or dogs untouched even though there is usable biomass, implies that it understands that potential hosts will react strangely to the presence of someone they know to be deceased. Possible other reasons why it is never seen assimilating fresh corpses are either that it is only able to assimilate living victims or is aware that missing dead bodies would arouse suspicion.

In another feat of reasoning, a Thing destroyed a test that would have lead to its exposure, demonstrating awareness of biology and medical practices that would have exposed it. Interestingly, the second time this same method was proposed as a test, the Thing had seemingly preempted the idea, despite the fact that the Thing that had arrived at the second base was spawned long before the first test was thought of and was in a non-human form. This led to the theory of shared consciousness between Things, especially as the second sabotage was far harder to pull off covertly while sowing seeds of misdirection that exposed its presence.

Biography The Thing (1982) and The Thing (2011) " Get the hell away! That's not a dog, it's some sort of thing! It's imitating a dog, it isn't real! GET AWAY YOU IDIOTS! „ ~ Lars frantically warning in the Norweigian language to R.J. MacReady's crew before his death.

The depiction of The Thing from these two modern movies is a lot more faithful to the original novella description than the 1951 counterpart.

Its origin is a mystery, the Thing itself crash-landed in a spacecraft within the icy fields of Antarctica 100,000 years ago and was frozen attempting to escape. However, in 1982, the spacecraft and the Thing were found by a team of American and Norwegian explorers/ researchers under Dr. Sander Halvorson from Thules station, who hired Columbia University paleontologist Kate Lloyd to take a sample of the creature's blood as it was brought to the base in a block of ice. But later that evening, the Thing bursts from the ice and kills Lars' Alaskan Malamute, Jed while ingesting Henrik before it was burned alive. However, an autopsy of the scorched alien corpse reveals that its cells are still alive and in the process of assimilating Henrik.

When Kate realizes the Thing already might have had assimilated others, she places the base on quarantine to weed out the Thing based on those who still have metal fillings in their teeth and such, after her initial plan of weeding out the monster through blood sample tests had been sabotaged by The Thing. Due to The Thing's ability to imitate, emulate, mimic and appear exactly like any of the research members, paranoia began to set in. Eventually, the majority of the research team were infected and incinerated before Sander, having been infected, made a run for the spaceship. Kate and Sam Carter, the only two surviving crew members, chased Sanders to the alien UFO where Kate and Carter got separated. Kate eventually managed to pursue and kill the monster and heavily damage the ship beyond any repair. After reuniting with Carter, Kate resolved herself to catch him off guard and incinerated him when she discovered that the earring he previously wore was missing and pointed to the wrong ear when confronted. When Carter was set aflame he emitted an inhuman scream, another evidence that Carter was The Thing. After this, Kate was left all alone, leaving her fate unknown.

Meanwhile, back at the Thules station, Lars' dog (having been infected and lying low until the time was right) made its way to an American Antarctic research station with Lars attempting to kill it before he was shot by Lt. Garry, the station commander. Helicopter pilot R.J. MacReady and Dr. Copper fly to the Norwegian's camp, finding the charred remains of the various Things included the burnt yet preserved corpse that was the station's commander Edvard Wolner after it assimilated Sander's assistant Adam Finch.

After the two-faced corpse was brought to the base, the Americans realize the Thing's presence too late when Lar's dog was placed in a kennel with the station's sled dogs and attempted to assimilate them all. After Childs incinerated the creature, with the team finding the ruins of the spacecraft; the autopsy done by Blair confirmed the Thing's nature as he later proceeded to trap everyone on the base and kill the remaining dogs so no one could leave until the Thing was truly dead before being locked in a tool shed by the others as they devised a way to weed out the Thing by using its autonomous cells to weed out the assimilated. By the time that McReady and the other normal humans remained, they learned that Blair got assimilated and was building a small escape craft. Realizing that the Thing might also intentionally freeze itself to wait for a rescue team in the spring, MacReady resolved to kill it with dynamite around the complex. After the Blair-Thing was killed, with Garry and Nauls killed off prior, MacReady found Childs with both thinking that the other got assimilated before seeing no point in distrusting each other as they would die of frost within hours.

In Videogames

In the 2002 videogame " The Thing ", which serves as a sequel for the 1982 film and set 3 months after the events of the film, it is revealed that The Thing is still alive and waiting for more victims to absorb and kill. This time, there are more numerous manifestations of this alien lifeform at once and worse, everything becomes more complicated as most of them have been captured as a means of being repurposed into bioweapons by Gen Inc. Things went wrong, however, following their escape: Whitley, the mastermind behind the experiment to modify The Thing into bioweapons, has injected himself with Cloud virus, a viral agent based on the Thing's cells with which he plans to infect the whole planet. Fortunately, Blake (the protagonist of the game) foils his plan and destroys him with the help of MacReady, the sole survivor of the 1982 film, before he has a chance to infect the rescue team.

In the videogame, The Thing was regarded more like a viral organism that has the ability to replicate the original biological entity, including their clothing. This is likely due to the fact that in said game, The Thing had further developed its ability which intrigued Gen Inc. enough to begin experimenting on it.

Variants In-Game Scuttlers

A form of Thing that has assimilated and formed from mutilated body parts (often from those whom are already assimilated by the Thing's cells). These autonomous small Things' primary transformation involves manifesting teeth, arachnid-like limbs, and also a pair of strong hind legs that enable them to leap toward the non-assimilated lifeforms. Aside from leaping, they could either attack by biting or spitting digestive fluid as a projectile. They could be crippled easily with a few shots from guns before being finished by a single blast from a flamethrower. They were inspired by a mutated form of Norris's head after he was mutated by the Thing's cells.

Scuttler Pods

A form of Thing that is basically a fleshy, blob-like biomass that is immobile but dangerous due to manifesting Scuttlers as means of defense. Their prime weakness is the inability of moving combined with having no alternate means of defense. They can be destroyed by blasts from flamethrowers and a variety of firearms.

Walkers

Form of Thing that manifests as a humanoid monster with a deformed torso, deformed claw hands, and insectoid legs that were formerly humanoid ones. Their early forms were brutish, muscular monsters with a huge, transparent hole in their torso.

Imitations

Imitations are a form of Thing that was previously introduced in the films. They perfectly assumed their victim's appearance and were able to transform to their mutated form when their potential victims lowered their guard. For the game incarnations, they tend to retain some elements of their hosts' appearance like clothes that are still intact though their limbs are a in mutated state, similar to the mutated Palmer in the 1982 film.

Dog Beasts

Thing beast that is similar to the mutated form of Lar's dog as both formerly had assimilated dogs. Unlike the latter, Dog Beasts still retain their limbs (though said bodyparts also mutated to the point where they could support their weight as well as enable them to run at tremendous speed).

Ruptures

They are a form of huge Thing that takes up an entire room or even be part of the room integrated into the architecture. Typically, they have human forms embedded in them and attack with tentacles, teeth and fluids. They are immobile and confined to the location in which they are met, which made them vulnerable due to the inability of avoiding their enemies' attacks.

Weakness and Countermeasures

Though their deadly capacities in assimilation and other abilities made The Thing a villainous, threatening force to deal with, there are a number of methods that can be done to expose them:

The Thing cannot assimilate non-organic components (for example, tooth fillings or prosthetics) on the victims. So, when one notices one of their friends not wearing any earrings/tooth fillings/prosthetics/ other non-organic components that are embedded/put on their body, they likely have been previously assimilated into a manifestation of The Thing. This method is the least effective in exposing a Thing's manifestation. Blood Tests: There are three types of blood test that can be done to differentiate regular lifeforms and the assimilated ones which actually are a Thing in disguise: Blood serum test: A suspected imitation's blood is mixed with uncontaminated blood; which will hypothetically react if the creature is an impostor. This has yet to be proven effective, as The Thing quickly destroyed stored sacks of uncontaminated blood to avoid suspicion. Hot needle test: When a sample of disguised Thing's blood is burned with a hot needle, the blood would jump away from the needle. If the blood sample was taken from an unassimilated person, the blood would simply burn. Blood Test Hypo tool: More advanced version of the previous method, where this device extracted a suspected person's blood and it mixed the said blood with a stored chemical agent. As before, the blood would animate and make an attempt to escape, but failed as the chemical agent killed it.

Aside from the means of exposing a disguised Thing listed above, the methods to killing them are:

Electrocution : Electrocution works against The Thing as the method would fry it's cells as seen in Who Goes There?, as well as implied by a Thing's manifestation from Norris's body which suddenly reacts by chomping on Chopper's hands when the latter tries to electrocute him.

Explosives : Explosives can obliterate a Thing completely, blowing it to pieces and effectively weakening the larger Thing beasts before their remains are incinerated.

Incineration : Incineration can kill a Thing manifestation as fire would destroy it on a cellular level, but this is mostly effective on medium- to smaller-sized Thing manifestations, as larger ones had a chance to survive albeit incapacitated, as proved when part of the Split-Face Thing survived in spite of being heavily injured by Kate's flamethrower.

The last two known weaknesses that The Thing possessed are:

As previously mentioned before, upon being exposed, a Thing manifestation would angrily attack and assimilate anyone on sight which gives their foes an opening. The Thing had a limit in maximum size expansion during the assimilation process; if they grew too large during the assimilation process, it would transform them into a boiling mass of flesh and random body parts. In this state, they were hindered by their immobility, which made them vulnerable.

Everyone that just joined us over the last couple of months gasped in sheer horror!

Ed Cowart: My God! That is horrifying!

Applejack: (Cowboy Accent) No kidding! A creature like that would be an absolute nightmare worse than even Tirek or Queen Chrysalis.

Rainbow Dash: I would not want to meet something like that.

Kevin: I bet that monster can't replicate Ben's alien forms.

Me: No our powers won't let that happen.

Ben: Thank goodness.

Me: You see we're immune to all forms of infection whether here on Earth or in the stars.

Hercules W.: Yeah and it's amazing that we are impervious to all infection.

Lynn: It sure is.

Lola: Yeah.

Nico: Speak for yourselves. That didn't stop me from getting a cold.

Vince: Yeah.

Hunter: Ja, und we have seen The Thing before und it was a nightmare from Hell 100-fold.

Me: It's something I wouldn't even wish would happen to even my worst enemies. The Thing is a nightmare from a hundred Hells. It's something no one should EVER have to encounter in over 250,000 lifetimes.

Lana: It's really scary.

Kate Lloyd: Yeah.

Pinkie Pie: That's nut.

Rainbow Dash: Man, first we faced Zombies, Evil Spirits here on Earth and on Mars, Demons and now we're going up against Shapeshifting Alien Monsters from Your Worst nightmares!? What next?

Me: It's been one helluva crazy October. Now we can erase The Thing forever. Lets get ready.

Nico: I smell an adventure coming on.

Kate Lloyd: Where are we going?

Me: To Thule Station in Antarctica, 3 Days before the events of Outpost 31. We're going to destroy that fuckup abomination of nature once and for all.

Kate Lloyd: Count me in. It's time for me to put my demons to rest.

Magnet Man: Where do we find the Thing this time?

Me: In Thule Station in Antarctica.

We went to the Simulator.

---

We were in the Simulator and we were bundling up in our fur parkas and we had to be ready for the extreme cold of Antarctica.

Nico: It's funny. We faced The Thing last year and now we're going to face it again.

Me: But this time it's three days before the events of Outpost 31.

Lincoln: Yeah.

We went into the Simulator and it activated and we found ourselves in the blistering bone-chilling cold Antarctica wastelands and it was sunset. the temperature was -75˚ Fahrenheit and it was brutal.

Rainbow Dash: Man this is cold!

Lana: I like the cold.

Lola: It sure is cold down here.

Kate Lloyd: Thule Station is over here.

We went over a hill and we saw the Norwegian Antarctica Research Facility of Thule Station!

Me: There it is and this is what it looked like before it as torched and burned.

Lincoln: Yeah that was awful.

Kate Lloyd: This is where the Thing wakes up. If we hurry we can save the huskies and burn the Thing before it gets Henrik.

Me: Lets go.

We went down the hill and we went into the facility through the back door and went in and up to the kennels and Lana beamed the dogs to the estate as they were trying to get out by chewing through the gates.

Then we got out and suddenly we heard a loud crash and then we all went outside and we met the crew of Thule Station. We met Helicopter Pilot and Vietname War veteran Sam Carter, Dr. Sander Halvorson, Adam Finch, Derek Jameson, Griggs, Station Commander Edvard Wolner, French Geologist, Juliette, Lars the Dog Keeper, Peder, Edvard's right hand man, Jonas the Polar Ice Researcher, Karl the Geologist, Colin the British Radio operator and Matias the Helicopter Pilot.

Me: Wait!

They saw us.

Edvard: (Norwegian Accent) Kate? Who are all of you?

Me: We'll explain later. But right now we got to stop that ugly creature. It's right there.

Henrik saw it and he turned around and then a tentacle from the creature popped out and skewered Henrik through his chest and pulled him in and began eating him all over.

Me: There.

I fired a bunch of bullets and they weren't causing any effect.

Me: Bullets don't stop it. Let me try my method.

I fired a blast of fire from my hand and burned the creature.

Later we extinguished the creature.

Me: What the fuck is that?

Kate Lloyd: This is the Thing.

Edvard: You've dealt with this creature before?

Kate Lloyd: You could say that.

Me: We have a long story to tell you after everything we show you.

We later got the burned carcass of the creature to the lab for an autopsy.

Lincoln: This is disgusting.

Dive Man: The Thing looks different from the last time we fought it.

Me: That's because this is the original creature it came from.

Kate Lloyd: That's right. This is the creature that came out of the ice block it came from.

Adam Finch: I didn't know that you knew what this creature was.

Me: It's a long story Adam.

We cut open the burned carcass and it was really disgusting and more.

Me: Yuck! I think I'm gonna be fucking sick.

Nico: Jesus Christ.

We spread the organs and more and found what looked like an amniotic sack.

Peder: His face is encased in some kind of amniotic sack.

Lola: Yuck.

We cut it open and we saw Henrik dead. Juliette and Lori and most of us hurled our guts out.

Kate Lloyd: And the tissue looks almost new.

Lincoln: Disgusting.

Adam Finch: What the fuck was it doing to him?

Peder: It appears it was absorbing him.

Linka: Disgusting.

Peder: Some type of digestion. It's fascinating.

Nico: Fascinating for you but not for us.

Edvard: Who are all of you?

Me: We are Team Loud Phoenix Storm.

We revealed everything.

Peder: So you are all from the future and you know what this creature is?

Me: You could say that. We've dealt with this creature before.

We later went to the lab and Kate was analyzing Henrik's tissue.

Kate Lloyd: You should see this guys.

I looked in the microscope and saw a lot of cellular activity. I saw the virus of The Thing attacking the cells.

Me: Even with a massive blast of fire like that it still has life. The Thing virus is attacking his cells and turning into them.

Kate Lloyd: It's imitating his cells.

Adam Finch: Imitating?

Me: Yeah. That's what it does. This is a creature that invades any creature, copies it perfectly and hides.

Laney: Looks like Blair was right.

Nico: Yeah.

Me: Lets gather everyone together and explain what we know.

Nico: Right.

We gathered everyone in the briefing room and explained our findings and everyone but us were shocked.

Edvard: So it's still among us?

Me: It is.

Venom: We sense the Thing is close. VERY close!

Me: But it has a dangerous tendency to hide real well and strike when you least expect it.

Kate Lloyd: It could be any of us.

Me: Not all of us. Me and everyone on Team Loud Phoenix Storm are immune to it completely. But I'm afraid you all aren't so lucky.

Lars: (Speaking Norwegian) Hvor er hundene? (Where are the dogs?)

Me: (Speaking Norwegian) Hundene dine er trygge på vårt gods Lars. (Your dogs are safe at our estate Lars.)

He sighed in relief.

Me: I know you're all scared but that's what The Thing wants. It causes fear, paranoia, dissension and panic among everyone it comes into contact with. Because it's a perfect imitation, no one can tell who's human and who's not. But I've come up with a test to find out who is who.

I pressed my watch and it turned into my Omnitrix.

Me: My Omnitrix can find out who is human and who is not. It will scan for alien DNA inside you. When it flashes green that means you're clear. When it flashes red that means you're infected.

Edvard: I see.

Rainbow Dash: That's a brilliant plan.

Applejack: It sure is.

Pepperdance: I like it.

Me: Bullets don't do squat on this creature so our only best bet is total incineration.

Nico: We have to use fire on it. As you have seen.

Peder: I understand.

Breach: I could use my portals to send the Thing into the sun.

Me: That works perfectly Breach.

Nico: Good idea.

Me: But it's gonna be dangerous.

We later went outside in the blistering cold and we were bundled up.

Me: Okay. Kate discovered that she can tell who is human and who isn't because of people wearing jewelry or have metal fillings in their teeth. I discovered that my Omnitrix can flush out the creature by scanning for its DNA.

Adam Finch: That's genius.

Linka: It sure is.

Luan: Yeah it is.

Me: Okay. Peder you are first.

He went up to the front of us from 10 feet away and I scanned him as a green beam fired from my Omnitrix and it looked for anything. It vanished and flashed green.

Me: Nothing. You're clear. Stand with us Peder.

He did so.

Me: Adam you're next.

Adam went up and I scanned him and it flashed green.

Me: Negative.

Adam went with us.

Me: Jonas.

Jonas went up next and I scanned him and it flashed green.

Me: Nothing. Clear.

Jonas went to us.

We scanned each of them minus Juliette, Griggs and Edvard.

Me: Okay so far you're all clear. Now for Juliette.

Juliette went up next and I scanned her and then the Omnitrix flashed red.

Omnitrix: Alien DNA detected. Subject contaminated.

Me: She's infected!

Concrete Man: (to Juliette) Anything you want to share with the rest of the class?

Me: Before we burn your fucking ass into dust!

She started changing!

She grew a huge claw out of her underarm and her shirt ripped off and then a mouth with razor sharp teeth and tentacles in her chest formed!

Me: WHAT THE FUCKING HELL!?

Me and Lola fired a massive blast of fire and completely incinerated her into nothing and Breach sent the ashes into the Sun!

Me: That's it for her.

Laney: Shame she was infected.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Me: Edvard you're up.

Edvard went next and I scanned him and it flashed red!

Omnitrix: Alien DNA detected. Subject contaminated.

Me: He's infected!

Edvard then started changing as he plopped onto the ice and was shaking. His arms detached and grew spider legs and I burned those and the creature grew a tentacle out of its stomach and then it grew two more big arms from his sides and his legs turned into those of a spider and then he roared ferociously.

Me: WHAT THE FUCKING HELL!?

Nico: GRUESOME!

Me: TIME TO BURN MOTHERFUCKER!

Me, Lola, Lea and Volcana blasted the creature with incredible blasts of fire and incinerated it completely and Breach sent its ashes into the sun.

I then heard something and fired a powerful energy blast and it hit a mound of ice and exploded!

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

10 figures came out and they were Hydro Man, Ghost, Dark Spicer, Molten Man, King Shark, Firefly, Heat Wave, Lord Drakkon, Bane and Dr. Arthur Light!

Me: 10 of you this time?

Dark Spicer: No it's not mine, Molten Man, Firefly or Heat Wave's turn.

Bane: (Spanish Accent) It's our turn.

Eddy had his blaster pointed at them!

Hydro Man: Relax Eddy! It's just us!

Eddy: How can we know that for sure?

Ghost: For one, the Thing can't replicate my powers.

Lord Drakkon: And being around you guys made us immune to it as well.

Me: Wow. I didn't think it would work that way for you guys too.

Peder: You know all them?

Me: These are our frenemies. They are the Masters of Evil.

Nico: We have a long standing history from over the last 4 years ever since we started.

Jonas: I see.

Me: You guys caught us at a really bad time however. And Mark you shouldn't be here in this kind of environment. You're made of pure lava now and you would freeze and turn into solid rock.

Molten Man: Don't worry about that. Vypra used her magic on me and made me immune to environments of extreme cold.

Me: Wow. But what about you Morris? You're made of pure water now and you'll turn to ice down here in this temperature.

Hydro Man: I am now immune to extreme cold now as well thanks to Vypra.

Me: Wow. Vypra sure came through for you both.

Lord Drakkon: So this is the Thing that Kate Lloyd experienced down here?

Me: Yeah and we're here to destroy it and erase the demons she went through.

Kate Lloyd: That's right. This Thing is a danger to everyone on Earth. If it makes it out of here, millions of people could die.

Me: It wouldn't just be millions, it would be the End of The World.

Lord Drakkon: Whoa. That's bad.

Me: Yeah. Griggs you're up.

?: Wait let me help face him.

A figure came out and it was CANNONTOP from episode 35 of Season 2 of Mighty Morphin!

---

Cannontop is a cannon monster created by Lord Zedd from a miniature cannon model that belonged to Billy's cousin. Cannontop serves as the main antagonist of the episode "Scavenger Hunt".

Cannontop was created by Zedd from miniature cannon model that belonged to Billy's cousin after it was stolen by Putties. Cannontop possessed a dangerous guided launching cannonball system at his disposal, but possessed bad aim. He also possessed ability to send rangers to the Lost Dimension. Aside the main cannon counted to his head, Cannontop also possessed numerous mini-rocket launching pads installed in his chest. Zedd sent monster to attack Angel Grove. Cannontop attacked city and encountered Power Rangers. Rangers strike him with their weapons but it didn't harm it. He gad bad aim so he didn't manage to sent rangers to the Lost Dimension. Then heroes used Power Blaster and struck the villains with it (but he was apparently unharmed by it). Then Zedd made monster huge. Tommy balled monster with Red Dragon Thunderzord, riding on the top of Tigerzord. He also called for the assistance of Tor, whom blasts numerous gunner-type rays. Afterwords Tigerzord goes into warrior mode and formed the Mega Tigerzord. Cannontop tried to take it out with his laser barrage but it was unfazed and brought his bombarding days to an end by using the Firebird Thunderzord's Grid Attack. After his destruction he reverted to the form of toy cannon.

---

Jason Lee Scott: Cannontop!

Cannontop: Been a while rangers!

Me: I remember you! You were made from a toy model cannon that belonged to Billy's cousin and you were sent to defeat the rangers and send them to the Lost Dimension. But your aim is really lousy.

Cannontop: That's right. But my aim has been corrected now. Good memory though.

Me: Thanks. Let me take care of something here.

Griggs went up and I scanned him and it flashed red.

Omnitrix: Alien DNA detected. Subject contaminated.

Me: He's infected!

Then Griggs had his face split open and he roared and then his chest opened up and it had ugly teeth and more.

Me: WHAT THE FUCKING HELL!?

Cannontop: Let me do this!

Cannontop leaned forwards and fired a massive black and yellow bullet at the Thing, knocking it back.

KRABBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Cannontop: I don't know if that killed it or not. But it should weaken it long enough for us to have the usual battles!

When the smoke cleared we saw pieces of the Griggs-Thing splattered all over and they were coming back together.

Me: You were saying?

Cannontop: Oh boy.

Nico: It can regenerate? Weird.

Molten Man: You guys can have the usual battles. Me, Heat Wave, Firefly, and Dark will keep the Thing busy!

Jake Holling: Thanks, Molten Man!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Alien!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Aquitar Rangers.

Me: This is pretty ironic. Using extraterrestrial rangers to face an extraterrestrial monster. No offense to you and your team Delphine.

Delphine: (Alien Voice) None taken.

Dark Spicer, Molten Man, Firefly and Heat Wave had ran and the Griggs-Thing was chasing them.

The explosion knocked Lord Drakkon and his Pokemon out.

Me: That was epic! Zipporwhill, I'm very proud of you.

Zipporwhill: Thanks Headmaster J.D. This was awesome!

We fired massive waves of fire and the blasts all hit the Griggs-

Thing all over.

Maxxor: (to the Thing) By the authority of the Tribal Alliance, we're taking you down by force!

Me: It's all right Kate. It's all right. It's all right.

The Masters of Evil came and they were shocked.

Nico: Wow. This was a scary adventure.

Dark Spicer: It sure was.

Drakkon: (to Lightning Dust) I take it you and Rainbow Dash settled your differences?

Lightning Dust: We sure did.

Sunset Shimmer: Now they're best friends.

Bane: Glad to hear it.

Dr. Light: Although I did hear that Rainbow Dash exaggerated her side of the story.

Rainbow Dash: Yeah I was a bit paranoid. Me and Lightning Dust had a bad history from when we were in the Wonderbolts Academy.

Kate Lloyd: (Crying and wailing)

Seeing Kate cry made my heart hurt.

Me: (To the viewers) Kate can't speak to you so I'll speak to you all on her behalf. If you ever go down to Antarctica, be careful with what you run into in these extreme conditions whether it is extreme cold, subzero whiteout conditions, or even aliens from other planets.

Nico: You said it.

Lincoln: Poor Kate.

We later went back home and rested and Kate was still crying. Her nightmare may be over but the scars will never heal.

THE END

---

Part 13 done.

2011's The Thing was a scary badass movie and it scared me just as badly as the original did. It premiered on my birthday that year and it was a scary birthday. Like the original movie it scared me just as bad and I was so scared that I had nasty panic attacks and really bad nightmares. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is Halloween 2020 and we're going to deal with Lori's ultimate archnemesis that nearly destroyed her mind long ago: THE SCARECROW and we're gonna make sure that monster never terrorizes her life again!

See you all tomorrow.

Fear Spree of the Scarecrow

HAPPY HALLOWEEN 2020 EVERYONE!

---

Horsea, Manaphy, Poromon, and Poliwag: HAPPY HALLOWEEN, EVERYBODY!

We were over at Gotham Royal York Elementary School Gym for another awesome game of dodgeball against the Masters of Evil for an amazing Dodgeball Game. We were having our halftime break and having a good chat. Today was also October 31st, 2020 A.K.A. Halloween, the one day of the year where we get to be scary!

Me: And a good old Happy Halloween to all of you too.

Nico: This is gonna be awesome!

Manaphy was a Mermaid, Horsea was a Dragalge, Poromon was the fairy from Legends of Zelda, and Poliwag was an apple. Really cute!

With the Masters of Evil were the Turtles Evil Clones that once worked under Darius Dunn, THE DARK TURTLES!

---

The Dark Turtles are evil clones of the Ninja Turtles created by Sh'Okanabo and villains from Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles Fast Forward

Sh'Okanabo created the Dark Turtles by using alien technology to clone the Ninja Turtles and contacted Darius Dun, saying they had a mutual enemy. He offered to send the Dark Turtles to take care of the Turtles, in exchange for payment that would be decided after the job was done. Darius agreed to the plan, hoping to finally be rid of the Turtles and headed to Cody Jones penthouse to set a trap for them. Darius got them to follow him into a trap, where the Dark Turtles were waiting and a giant magnet pulled away the good Turtles' weapons. The Dark Turtles managed to overpower their counterparts, rendering them unconscious and bringing them to their lair. After Cody Jones tracked down the Dark Turtles' lair and freed the good Turtles, the Dark Turtles themselves appeared, grabbing Cody. However he escaped them using a smoke bomb and got the good Turtles' weapons back, allowing them to face the Dark Turtles in a fair fight. This time the Dark Turtles did not fair as well as before and were beaten but caused a cave-in that let them escape. After that, the Dark Turtles remained in Darius' employ.

Fall of Darius Dun

After the Turtles began interfering with Darius Dun's weapons dealing organization, he managed to trap them in a fight with the Dark Turtles. However the Dark Turtles were defeated one by one, leaving Dark Leo the only one left to fight the Turtles. They managed to take him out as well using a forklift, forcing the Dark Turtles to flee. They found Darius unconscious and escaped with him so he wouldn't be captured by the authorities.

DNA is Thicker than Water

The Dark Turtles were in their lair fighting over a chicken leg Dark Mike had stashed, when Darius came in to reprimand them for being defeated by the Turtles. Dark Raph tried to attack Darius, but he couldn't due to a hypnotic suggestion Darius put in them. He told the Dark Turtles to destroy the Turtles or else and Dark Leo came up with a plan, saying "if you couldn't beat them, join them."

The Dark Turtles headed to Cody Jones penthouse in the Terrorpin and attacked, but as the fight went on, Dark Don trained his sights on Cody. He fired a laser beam at the boy, but Dark Leo leapt into the way of it, taking the beam to protect Cody. The other Dark Turtles fled in the Terrorpin, leaving Dark Leo behind and since he saved Cody, the Turtles took Dark Leo in to heal him, though Raphael believed it was all a trick.

They kept him in the medical bay, containing him with a forcefield, but when Cody asked Dark Leo why he saved him, the Dark Turtle replied that it "didn't feel right". This prompted Cody to propose to the turtles that they might be able to help Dark Leo change his ways. As time went by, they seemed to be succeeding and to see how much he'd healed, Donatello used a device to test Dark Leo's strength. He found the Dark Turtle still wasn't at full strength, but Raphael started to taunt Dark Leo, trying to prove he was just playing possum. He broke the machine in anger, almost making part of it fall on Raphael, but Dark Leo saved him. The Dark Turtle snarled at Raphael that he thought he'd figured him out, but he knew nothing about him.

Later, Leonardo went to visit Dark Leo and told him the story of the frog and the scorpion. A scorpion wanted to cross a river and asked a frog to take him across, but the frog asked how he knew the scorpion wouldn't sting him. The scorpion swore he wouldn't and the frog agreed, but as he took the scorpion across, he was stung by the insect. As they sank, the frog asked the scorpion why he did that since he'd doomed them both and the scorpion replied that it was his nature. After finishing the story, Leonardo gave Dark Leo a bonsai tree and a choice when he was healed, leave with the peacekeepers or stay with the Turtles. As he left the medical bay, Leonardo dropped the device controlling the force field holding Dark Leo. He used it to get out and contacted the other Dark Turtles, telling them to attack that night. However as Dark Leo went to deactivate the penthouse's security, he found he had trouble bringing himself to do it. Leonardo confronted him, telling the Dark Turtle he could still go back to the medical bay and do the right thing. But Dark Leo snarled that he was a scorpion and deactivated the security, letting the other Dark Turtles enter. However they found Cody, Splinter, and the other Turtles waiting for them and started to lose, while Dark Leo fought Leonardo, who told him it didn't have to be this way.

Eventually Dark Leo told the other Dark Turtles that their plan was a bust and they retreated. Upon arriving back at their lair, Darius scolded the Dark Turtles for losing, before throwing them a steak and saying he hoped they choked on it.

However as opposed to his previous behavior, Dark Leo tore the steak in four pieces and shared it with the other Dark Turtles. Dark Mike remarked he never did this before and Dark Leo said it was called sharing and they should try it since they could be surprised what happens, indicating he did learn something.

Dark Leo

Dark Leo is the clone of Leonardo and leader of the Dark Turtles, wielding a pair of swords in combat. During their first conflict with the Turtles, Leonardo tried to tell Dark Leo that if he was his clone, than he should have honor. However Dark Leo replied that while he and the Dark Turtles had some similarities to Leonardo and his brothers, honor was not something they had in common. But the Turtles did seem to reach Dark Leo while he was living with them, such as when they let him eat breakfast with them. Dark Leo proceeded to devour most of the food messily and said that where he lived, you had to eat what you could whenever you could or starve. However the Turtles told him they preferred to share with each other and Dark Leo tried to follow up on this by spitting out the eggs and bacon in his mouth, then giving it to Leonardo.

Dark Don

Dark Don is the clone of Donatello and the smartest of all the Dark Turtles, though his personality is rather similar to that of the others. He apparently created the Terrorpin, the Dark Turtles' version of the Turtles' Hovershell and the various other gadgets he uses. Dark Don bears the least resemblance to his Ninja Turtle counterpart and doesn't use a signature weapon like his brethren. Dark Don mainly uses analysis to figure out how to win his fights, finding patterns to block his opponent's attacks with his large armbands and openings to attack them. Dark Don also uses his long tail in combat.

Dark Raph

Dark Raph is the clone of Raphael and the least intelligent of the Dark Turtles, relying on brawns as opposed to brains, and his speech is rather primitive. He tends to not think out what he says and as a result, his grammar is often very bad (e.g. saying "I'm gonna make you not move no more). Dark Raph is easily provoked, similar to the hotheaded Raphael, making him violently attack people with his weapons, the twin Talon Knucklers. Dark Raph is easily offended when someone insults his appearance, which Michelangelo once used to take him down. Raphael also said Dark Raph had bad breath, which made him extremely angry. He also seems to be somewhat open to cannibalism, since he suggested cracking open and eating Raphael, but this may be due to the scarcity of food the Dark Turtles suffer.

Dark Mikey

Dark Mike is the clone of Michelangelo, but unlike his brethren, isn't the same color as his counterpart's bandana and is yellow instead. Also unlike his brothers, he has pupils on his eyes. He possesses a two foot long tongue, which he can use to grab things and wields a pair of double-bladed club-based weapons. Dark Mike is rather psychotic and hyperactive, often laughing maniacally and dancing about and his personality is rather like a deranged version of Michelangelo's. However Dark Mike inherited his counterpart's gullibility, falling for obvious tricks, but never really realizes it. Also unlike his counterpart, it was revealed that he hates the Justice Force comics as he said it sucked eggs.

Also with them was PUMPKIN RAPPER from episode 54 of Mighty Morphin!

The Pumpkin Rapper was planted off-screen by Squatt and Baboo in a pumpkin patch, hidden amongst many other pumpkins. This was done thanks to some foresight from Goldar when he realised Halloween was approaching and approved by Rita once she realised that Kimberly had gone on a game show called "Trick or Treat."

It took a full week for the monster to grow into a gigantic pumpkin, at which time Kimberly wa on the game show, but this also allowed Zordon to detect him. The Power Rangers, bar Kimberly and Tommy (the latter having come under attack by Putties whilst heading to a karate tournament), deployed to the pumpkin patch only to have thier heads trapped in pumpkins that were completely airtight. However, Kimberly was brought out of the game show and she saved them by destroying the pumpkins with her Blade Blaster. The remaining pumpkins in the field then started flying before forming into Putties although these ones had pumpkins where thier heads would be. After defeating the horde, Kimberly then spied the gigantic pumpkin that was the Pumpkin Rapper and the Rangers woke him up with an utterly abysmal rap. Enraged, the Pumpkin Rapper called out their raps as terrible before summoning and sending out another horde of pumpkin-headed Putties to attack the Rangers. The Pumpkin Rapper spoke almost exclusively in rhyme and in beat like a rapper would. Once they were defeated, the Pumpkin Rapper attacked the Rangers with energy blasts and tried to ensnare them with vines that would drain their energy. Despite his vine tentacles and pumpkin bombs, The Pumpkin Rapper was taken out by the Power Blaster.

---

Dark Mikey: It's an honor to meet you all and a pleasure to be with the Masters of Evil.

Hulk: Hulk happy for you all.

Dark Leo: If you ask me, Vypra's a much better boss then Dunn was.

Me: And I agree. I also remember you Pumpkin Rapper. You were Lord Zedd's Favorite monster out of all the monsters he knows and you made a Game Show called Trick or Treat.

Pumpkin Rapper: Yep. That's right.

Lincoln: Yeah. He will be thrown in jail for his crimes.

Pumpkin Rapper: This is gonna be awesome!

Also with us was the leader of the Wonderbolts and Rainbow Dash's commanding officer, Spitfire.

Spitfire: It's truly an honor to be part of Team Loud Phoenix Storm. Rainbow Dash recommended that I join the team and help you out.

Me: Glad you could join us Captain Spitfire.

Spitfire: Just Spitfire is fine. Whenever I'm not on duty just call me Spitfire.

Me: Sorry.

Spitfire: No worries. And I see you guys recruited Lightning Dust.

Me: We sure did. She is now a changed girl thanks to us.

Nico: We keep her now under control thanks to me and we use her recklessness for good and more.

Spitfire: Good thinking. I'm glad you guys got through to her.

Me: Thank you.

The whistle blew.

Me: Oh it's time to get back to the game.

Nico: Get them J.D.!

Me: With pleasure.

I went back to the game and we were ready.

Dark Spicer: Here's your warning: Your Asses are about to be kicked in this game.

Bender: You can just bite my shiny metal ass!

Rainbow Dash: Bring it on!

Lightning Dash: Lets show them how teammates play.

Me: Yeah!

The whistle blew and we grabbed some balls and threw them at the Masters of Evil and then they dodged them and threw them back at us and me, Lightning Dust and Rainbow Dash were dodging the balls and I doing all kinds of acrobatic moves and Lincoln was doing all kinds of awesome daredevil moves as they threw Dodgeballs all over the place at him and more. Eli was doing the same thing and he was just as fast and as acrobatic as me.

Nunnally: WHOO! Go Eli!

Laney: Yeah!

Spitfire: Wow! You guys have amazing moves!

Dark Don: They sure do. It's amazing that they can do all that.

Kick Buttowski: Who do you think taught Lincoln? He learned all my moves.

We threw a bunch of Dodgeballs back and Rainbow Dash and Lightning Dust infused their dodgeballs with rainbow light and lightning and threw them and they slammed into a bunch of members of the Masters of Evil and knocked them all down!

Referee: Team Loud Phoenix Storm wins!

We all cheered wildly!

We went back home to celebrate and then we got an unexpected surprise. Sitting on our couch was former president and CEO of Ziffcorp and the ex-boyfriend of Marge Simpson, ARTIE ZIFF!

---

Arthur "Artie" Ziff is an antagonist in The Simpsons . He is Marge's ex-boyfriend from high school. He has frequently attempted to get Marge to dump Homer for him and he often attempts to kiss her. He is the main antagonist and later an anti-hero of the Season 15 episode " The Ziff Who Came To Dinner "; and returns as one of the two main antagonists in the Season 24 special " Treehouse of Horror XXIII ".

He was voiced by Jon Lovitz, who also played Emperor Tod Spengo in Mom and Dad Save the World, The Peeper in Little Nicky, T.R. Chula in An American Tail: Fievel Goes West, Mr. Marks in The Producers, and Quasimodo Wilson in Hotel Transylvania .

Life in Springfield High School

Artie met Marge in high school while he was president of the debate club and invited her to prom after she refused Homer's offer of going to prom with him. However, he ruined the date after he tried to have sex with (and possibly rape) Marge, who kept refusing, which also resulted in her dress is torn, leading her to furiously reject him.

First Reunion

Artie eventually attended the Springfield High School reunion for the Class of 1974, where he revealed he had become very wealthy.

Second Reunion

Years later, Artie appeared on television, where local news anchor Kent Brockman revealed that Artie had become the fifth wealthiest man in the country, thanks to a product that changes modem noise to music that was manufactured by his corporation, Ziffcorp. After Marge writes him a letter (that, unfortunately, got rewritten by Patty and Selma, Artie invites her to his mansion and tries to seduce her, by hiring numerous people to recreate prom night for him and Marge in order to redeem himself. Marge's fun doesn't last until he forcefully kisses her during the dance and unknowingly causes Homer to witness the kiss and ultimately consider suicide as a result while working at an oil rig. Artie redeems himself by apologizing to them both and telling Homer that Marge will never divorce him despite Artie's billions.

Crimes against Ziffcorp

However, Artie's worst act would be committed in "The Ziff Who Came To Dinner" where it's revealed he has been living in the Simpson's attic without their knowledge with Artie believing that Marge was his true love. Marge, however, quickly points out that she and Artie only had one date where he wasn't a much gentleman as he tried to force himself onto her and almost raped her on their high school prom night. Meanwhile the Simpsons reluctantly allow Artie to stay with them until he gets back on his feet. However, Artie's real reason for living with the Simpsons was because he is wanted by the Security & Exchange Commission after spending his Ziffcorp shareholders' money for personal items. Artie betrays Homer by proclaiming that Homer owned 98% of Ziffcorp (after Homer had won the share through gambling) effortlessly causing Homer to be sent to prison but Artie, feeling remorseful, admits he was the original owner of the stock, and gets Homer released from prison. There, he was arrested and put in the jailyard.

Release

Although Artie angered the prisoners by damping their cigarettes (which caused them to surround him to possibly beat him up), he survived prison and was eventually released, as his name is shown on a list to get revenge on Mr. Burns. It is unknown what happens to him after.

Treehouse of Horror XXIII

Artie appears as a major antagonist in the third segment of Treehouse of Horror XXIII, Bart and Homer's Excellent Adventure. When Bart travels back in time to 1974, he meets young Marge when she met Homer. When he sees on his phone pictures of him in a future where he is wealthy, he tells Marge to avoid marrying Homer.

Taking Bart's advice, Marge marries Artie Ziff. It is unclear if Artie's company, Ziffcorp, exists in this alternate universe, but it is likely that Ziff himself remains the wealthy tech entrepreneur that he was in the original universe. In the 1990s, Marge and Ziff have three children: Bartie Ziff (Bart), and two unnamed daughters (Lisa and Maggie). The Ziff counterparts of the Simpson family are much more rich and successful. However, current-day Homer Simpson and teenage Homer arrive at Ziff's mansion. Artie and Bartie fight them off with Brazilian Jujitsu. However, Marge sees the Homers, and realizes she DID marry the wrong man. Marge kisses Homer, and divorces Artie. Marge then marries Homer, who becomes an essential step-father to Bartie, Lisa, and Maggie.

It is unknown of Artie Ziff's fate in this universe, but it is possible that he followed his original fate in the series and was arrested for fraud. In an alternate cut of the episode, the timeline where Artie and Marge marry is erased when Marge kisses Homer. Thus, Artie begs Marge to kiss him one last time before fading away (and presumably returning to the old timeline where he never romanced Marge successfully)

---

Artie Ziff: Hello everyone.

Me: Whoa! Who are you?

Homer: Artie Ziff!? What are you doing here?

Artie Ziff: Hello Homer. Oh didn't I tell you all? I'm now a new member of the Masters of Evil.

Me: Wait a second. Aren't you Marge Simpson's ex-boyfriend and the former owner, president and CEO of Ziffcorp that went under ages ago?

Artie Ziff: That's right J.D. And it's an honor to finally meet you.

Me: Same here. I've heard so much about you. I'm afraid we have much to talk about.

Homer: Yeah it's about Marge.

Homer then sat down and told him everything about Marge and what happened to her and more.

Artie Ziff was horrified.

Artie Ziff: (to Homer) I guess Marge wasn't the woman we thought she was, huh, Homer?

Homer: No she wasn't.

Me: Your ex-girlfriend is now cuckoo-bonkers. She will not stop until she kills Homer and then herself.

Artie Ziff: Wow.

Luigi: (Italian Accent) Yeah and she is-a now in a portrait and-a locked up in-a our garden shed.

Lincoln: Homer and the kids got fed up with her incessant nagging and they couldn't stand her anymore.

Linka: Yeah.

Me: She deserves to spend the rest of her afterlife locked up in a portrait.

Apple Bloom: I am glad she will never give us headaches.

Artie Ziff: Yeah I'll have to talk with her later on.

Me: By the way Artie were you in Springfield when the war broke out with it?

Artie Ziff: No I wasn't thankfully. After I was released from prison, I lost everything and I've been living on the streets ever since.

Me: I'm sorry that happened to you. I also heard from Homer that you have a huge revenge list and that Mr. Burns is right up there?

Artie Ziff: I sure do. I hate Mr. Burns.

Me: You and everybody else in Springfield, Oregon. Everyone all over the world hates him now more than life itself. See?

I pulled up a bunch of images and it showed Mr. Burn's grave and everyone was dancing on it, shitting and peeing on it and they also put signs on it saying Burns In Hell and more.

Artie Ziff: Whoa! That's amazing! So they finally executed him.

Vypra: With help from J.D. and us.

Lincoln: Yep.

Me: Yep and everyone is glad that he's now burning in the darkness and fires of Hell.

I showed where Mr. Burns was in Hell and it showed that he was completely frozen in ice in the 9th Circle of Hell - Treachery.

Nico: So he's in the 9th Circle of Hell. Couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

We laughed.

Me: Yeah but after all the pain and suffering he caused to everyone, he deserves far worse.

Pan: You said it. I would've killed him myself.

Vypra: We also have another version of Mr. Burns and he is in our new prison.

Me: Yep. And he will die in the next couple of years and I placed a curse on him.

Artie Ziff: What kind of curse?

Me: When he dies he will be Hakaied and banished to the Warp.

Lincoln: Good riddance.

Grim: (Jamaican Accent) That is a good idea mon.

Linka: Yeah.

Nico: Mr. Burns has failed this universe.

Artie Ziff: What is the Warp?

Me: It's an Interdimensional Plane loaded with powerful psychic energy that is so powerful that nothing can escape it no matter how powerful they are. It serves as the Firmament between universes.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja und that's a good way to describe it.

Me: We call it the ultimate plane of justice and it is where we banish the most evil of all villains that pose a serious threat to the entire world and the universe.

Artie Ziff: Wow. I didn't know a place like that even existed.

Me: Nobody does.

Vypra: Yeah it was really interesting.

Me: The only way to get through it is by Faster Than Light travel.

Nico: Yep.

We had a nice talk with Artie Ziff.

---

Later we were getting ready for Halloween. But it was a couple of hours till night and we go trick-or-treating.

Ed: IT'S HALLOWEEN GUYS! The night where Ghosts and Goblins come out to play!

Me: I know and I'm so excited!

Vypra: We all are.

Me: Mr. Lynn are you gonna go Trick-or-Treating with us?

Lynn Sr.: (Sighs) I'll try to come with you guys considering my problem.

Vypra: What problem?

Me: Oh that's right you don't know about this. Back on this day in 1989 when he was around Lincoln's age, Mr. Lynn's father Samuel Loud was brutally murdered in cold blood by a deranged madman that broke into his home. He thought it was his dad playing a prank on him. But it wasn't.

The Masters of Evil all gasped in shock and horror!

Vypra: Oh my god!

Dark Spicer: That's horrible! Mr. Loud, I'm so sorry that happened to you.

Lynn Sr.: It's all right guys.

Me: Murder destroys many lives. I caught that monster in 2011.

Nico: His name was Daniel Derek Monroe. He was a notorious serial killer that killed 35 people. That was how many that were confirmed and it was believed that he may have killed 125 people in 27 states over the course of 37 years from 1973 to 2000.

Me: They executed him in 2015.

Vypra: Whoa.

Vexen: That's horrible.

Larxene: Yeah.

Me: He terrorized this whole country and paralyzed it with fear. But thank goodness I stopped him.

Lincoln: He deserves to burn in the fires of Hell.

Me: Yeah.

Rita: I know and I'm glad you helped them catch him J.D.

Me: He deserves much worse than Hell though.

Linka: Yeah!

Vypra: I know.

Me: Also Twilight doesn't Equestria have its own version of Halloween?

Twilight Sparkle: It sure does. We call it Nightmare Night and it revolves around the Legends of Nightmare Moon.

Me: Wow.

Twilight told us all about it.

* * *

Nightmare Night is a festival celebrated annually in Ponyville, in which foals dress up in costumes and go door-to-door collecting candy. Festival activities include a carnival with various games, musical entertainment, and a tradition in which candy is offered to the effigy of Nightmare Moon. Zecora tells in verse of the legend of Nightmare Moon, which explains the customs of the holiday:

" Every year, we put on a disguise to save ourselves from her searching eyes. But Nightmare Moon wants just one thing: to gobble up ponies in one quick swing! Hungrily, she soars the sky. If she sees nopony, she passes by. So if she comes and all is clear, Equestria is safe another year! Fill up her belly with a treat or two, so she won't return to come eat you! "

---

Lola: Ooohhh!

Me: Whoa!

Nico: That's amazing. But Nightmare Moon is pure evil. We saw how dangerous she was in Starlight's dream.

Me: Yeah and she put up an amazing fight.

Rainbow Dash: But I dressed up as one of the Shadowbolts of Nightmare Moon and did a prank on some kids with a cloud.

Indigo Zap: That's impressive.

Me: We'll have to check it out sometime later.

Then the alarm went off.

Me: Uh oh.

We went to the computer and we saw that there were monsters roaming about.

Me: Lets go check this out

We went outside and we saw the evil monster versions of Ed's Hallucinations: Medusa and the Headless Horseman of Cirrhosis of Liverpool!

Ed: Medusa the Venomous Vixen and the Headless Horseman of Cirrhosis of Liverpool!

Lincoln: Are those the monsters Ed saw?

Me: Yep.

Ed: (to Medusa and the Headless Horseman) Nice try! I know you guys are Nazz and Kevin and that this is a result of my overactive imagination.

Kevin (Ed Edd N Eddy): Uh, dude? Me and Nazz are standing right next to you.

Ed: (sees them) What?! If you two are here… (to the monsters)… then who are you two?

Me: Uh oh.

Lincoln blasted the two "Creatures" With lightning and destroyed them.

Earth: Nice shot Linky!

Rainbow Dash: Yeah!

Plug Man: Check it out. Medusa left behind her arm.

Maria: Let's get back to the Estate and analyze it to find out what's going on.

Lana: Lets do it.

We went back to the Estate to run an analysis.

We later waited.

Lucy Loud: It's possible that the Spirit of Halloween brought these monsters to life.

Zach: Makes sense. It is Halloween after all.

Double D: No offense, Lucy. But I'd rather let science take over tonight to help me find out what's supernatural or not.

Dark Don: And I'll help you.

Eddy: Figures you two would choose science over magic for this situation.

Me: Lets focus.

Edd: Sorry.

We waited some more and Double D came out.

Double D: You won't believe what we found out!

Blitzwing: What is it?

Dark Don: Medusa's hand suddenly evaporated into Fear Gas.

May: There's only one person I know who uses Fear Gas.

Me: Jonathan Crane A.K.A. Scarecrow! Man am I getting really sick and tired of that psychotic Fucksack!

Lori then was enraged when she heard that name!

Applejack: Who is Scarecrow?

Me: Oh that's right you guys don't know about him. His name was Professor Jonathan Crane and he is a former professor of psychology at Gotham University that specialized in Fear and Phobias. You guys would hate this guy to the core. He's not as bad as the Joker but he is bad and just as fucked up.

I went over his history.

---

Dr. Jonathan Crane, better known as The Scarecrow, is a supervillain from DC Comics. He is a psychiatrist and master chemist who invented a hallucinogenic chemical compound, known as Fear Toxin, that he uses to commit crimes and test his victims' sanity.

In his youth, Jonathan Crane grew up with his abusive grandmother, a religious fanatic who tortured Jonathan so badly that he developed a crippling fear of her. His life at school didn't fare much better either, because of bullies who constantly teased him for his lean appearance. Jonathan eventually had enough of his tormentors and used elements from Kung Fu to developed his own fighting style called "Violent Dancing" which takes advantage of his thin frame. He also managed to create a fear-inducing chemical compound that made its victims hallucinate about their worst fears, which his grandmother used to frighten crows.

After school bully Bo Griggs and his girlfriend Sherry Squires played a cruel prank on him, Crane decided to get revenge by putting on a scarecrow costume and brandishing a gun at them in the school parking lot. As a result, Griggs and Squires drove off in a panic and got into an accident that left Griggs paralyzed and Squires dead. Intoxicated with power, Crane returned home and used his Fear Toxin to murder his grandmother.

Years later, Crane became a psychology professor at Gotham University - after murdering his predecessor - and used his students as human guinea pigs in his experiments, dosing them with Fear Toxin and recording their reactions. After Crane fired a gun at his students during a lecture in order to make a point about fear, the administrators at Gotham U fired him.

He then became the head psychiatrist at Arkham Asylum, experimenting on his patients by dosing them with Fear Toxin and putting on his scarecrow costume. He also used his Scarecrow persona to commit crimes in order to afford the chemicals he needed for his experiments. Although Batman eventually discovered Crane's crimes and had him incarcerated, the Scarecrow would continue to pose a threat to the Dark Knight as one of his most twisted, dangerous adversaries.

New 52

The Scarecrow's origins were altered for the New 52. In this continuity, Jonathan Crane was raised by his scientist father, who was studying the emotion of fear. He would use Jonathan as a guinea pig for his research by locking him in a pitch-black test chamber to study the boy's terrified reactions. One day, Jonathan's father died of a heart attack while Jonathan was still locked inside the chamber, and remained there days until police finally found him, starved and traumatized. Eventually Jonathan decided that he needed to learn how to control his fears so he would never have to experience such terror again.

After getting a degree in psychology, Crane began using his patients as test subjects to create a hallucinatory, fear-inducing gas called Fear Toxin before beginning his criminal career as the Scarecrow.

Powers and Abilities

Scarecrow has no known superhuman powers or abilities. He is extremely intelligent, with a particular facility for psychology, chemistry, and psychopharmacology. He is a skilled leader and tactician. Due to his long-term exposure to various chemicals and toxins he has an enhanced immunity to many of them. He is a competent fighter, and skilled in the use of the scythe as a weapon.

The Scarecrow was a recurring antagonist in Batman: The Animated Series . His background is similar to his comic book counterpart; he is portrayed as a psychiatrist who is obsessed with fear, and who was fired from his teaching job for experimenting on his students. He sought revenge on the superiors who fired him, using his Fear Toxin. He is eventually defeated by Batman, who uses Scarecrow's own fear - ironically, a phobia of bats - against him.

He later attempts to increase his cash flow by betting on sports games he had rigged. He did so by dosing the best players of the opposing team with a modified fear powder that reacts to adrenaline, effecting them in the middle of the game.

In his last major appearance, he attempts to poison Gotham City's reservoir with fear toxin, and sidelines Batman by giving him such a large dose of the toxin that the Dark Knight is institutionalized in Arkham Asylum alongside the criminals he has put away. With Robin's help, however, Batman manages to overcome his fears and stop Scarecrow from poisoning the city's water supply and inciting mass panic.

The Scarecrow makes a few more minor appearances; in one episode, he is one of the "bailiffs" in a kangaroo court in which Batman's enemies put him "on trial" in Arkham; in another, he is one of the Arkham inmates brutalized by the rogue guard Lyle Bolton, who later becomes the vigilante criminal Lock-Up.

The New Batman Adventures

Like all characters, Scarecrow was redesigned to give him a much more frightening appearance. He made two major appearances. He first created a new chemical that removed people's fear, causing them to do reckless and dangerous things, and planned to release it during rush hour on the subway to sell the antidote. He unknowingly infected Batman, who disguised himself to infiltrate his operation, which caused him to lose his fear of killing and become uncontrollably violent. Fortunately, Robin is able to restrain Batman in time to stop Scarecrow from destroying Gotham and provide Batman with an antidote.

Batman Unchained

Scarecrow was originally going to appear as the main antagonist of the cancelled film Batman Unchained . He would have teamed up with a reimagined version of Harley Quinn to fight Batman and Robin. He was planned to be portrayed by either Nicolas Cage or Coolio, the latter of which would have been reprising a role from Batman & Robin .

The Batman

Scarecrow was originally planned to appear in the 2004 animated series, but later he was planned to be used for the Christopher Nolan's batman films, Scarecrow was dropped from the The Batman series.

The Scarecrow is one of the villains Batman faces in the Arkham video game series, appearing as a major antagonist in Batman: Arkham Asylum, a cameo character in Batman: Arkham City, and the main antagonist in Batman: Arkham Knight .

Batman: The Brave and the Bold

The Scarecrow appears in the animated series Batman: The Brave and the Bold, where he infects all of the pumpkin crop with fear gas on Halloween. It almost worked but Flash was able to take all the pumpkins away from the people in time. While he did this Crane tried to kill Batman with his scythe but was ultimately defeated. He later made a cameo in Arkham asylum.

Holy Musical Batman

In the show, Scarecrow, along with the other rogues, worked with Sweet Tooth in a plot to kill Batman, and take over the city after they attempt to put nuclear Warheads in the city's water supply.

Harley Quinn (TV series)

Everyone gasped in shock!

Me: Yeah and we've had a lot of problems with him in the past.

Brittney: Yeah and we killed him. Twice. I killed him once.

Lori: And I killed him as a Heartless. (GROWLS FEROCIOUSLY!) I WILL LITERALLY TEAR THAT MONSTERS FUCKING BALLS OFF FOR EVERYTHING HE DID TO ME! (GROWLS WITH EXTREME HATRED)

Bobby Santiago: It's all right babe just calm down.

Lori: (Calms down) I'm sorry boo-boo-bear. It's just that everything he has done literally makes my blood boil!

Leni: Does your blood really boil?

Me: No Leni it's just a figure of speech. It means you're so pissed off that your body temperature rises to the point where your blood turns to steam.

Leni: Oh I get it.

Me: Yeah take it from me when I was so pissed off at the crimes of Cyclonis.

Nico: Yeah that was bad.

?: Perhaps I can help you guys find Scarecrow.

Me: I know that voice. I haven't heard that voice since I was in Elementary School.

A holographic image appeared and it was famous celebrity children scientist Bill Nye the Science Guy!

Me: Bill Nye the Science Guy!

BILL NYE THE SCIENCE GUY!

Sky Lynx: (to Bill Nye) It's an honor to meet you, Mr. Nye!

Bill Nye: It's an honor to meet you all too.

Me: I've watched you constantly all the time back when I was in kindergarten and in elementary school and you are an amazing science man.

Bill Nye: Thank you so much J.D.

Me: You're welcome.

Lisa Loud: It's a pleasure to make your acquaintance.

Bill Nye: Same to you Lisa Loud.

Me: I'd shake your hand but this is a hologram of you.

Bill Nye: I know.

Nico: Let's scan for any traces of Fear Gas that was used in the last 24 hours. If we can find out where said Fear Gas is being used, we'll find Scarecrow. Poliwag, you, Poromon, Manaphy, and Horsea take Lori, J.D., and the rest of the Loud kids to the backyard so they can let out some steam while we're scanning for Fear Gas.

Poliwag: Aye-aye captain!

Poliwag salutes Nico with his tail.

Me: You're starting to sound just like Fred.

Fred Jones: Yeah and usually that's what I do.

Me: But that's a genius plan Nico.

Nico: Thanks.

We went outside and sat by the willow tree.

Lincoln: (sadly) I'm not surprised if Nico orders us to stay here and out of the battle.

Horsea: C'mon! What makes you think Nico will bench you guys?

Manaphy: Horsea, you heard the tone of his voice. It sounds like he's afraid all 13 of them will snap because of Scarecrow.

Lola: (to Lori) Well, I hope you're happy now, Lori! Because of your anger towards Scarecrow, Nico might not trust us anymore!

Lynn: That's easy for you to say, Lola! You've never been traumatized in our past adventures like me and Lori have!

Lola: That's true.

Me: Guys calm down.

Lightning Dust: What has them so worked up?

Me: Scarecrow poisoned Lori with his Fear Gas and drove her into paranoia. Ever since then, Lori now hates Scarecrow with a merciless vengeance.

Lincoln: It's true.

Lightning Dust: Whoa.

Me: Lori hates Scarecrow so much that the fire in her eyes is unimaginable.

Bobby Santiago: That's right I remember that and I had to comfort Lori for 3 whole days because of it.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Lori: (sadly) Nico's right. If I can't keep my anger and hatred towards Scarecrow under control, how can I be trusted to be in this battle?

Bobby: Oh babe.

Me: But Scarecrow's crimes pale in comparison to those of the Joker.

Lightning Dust: Who is the Joker?

Me: You would hate this guy times ∞ + 100,000,000. The Joker was one of Batman's most dangerous enemies and Gotham City's most ruthless supervillain.

I went over The Joker's history and it was not pretty.

Jack Napier A.K.A. The Joker is one of the two secondary antagonists (alongside Lex Luthor) of the DC Animated Universe . He is a homicidal maniac who seeks to cause chaos, destruction and misery wherever and whenever he can, as well as the archenemy of Batman.

He is the main antagonist of the Batman: The Animated Series and its sequel series The New Batman Adventures, a guest antagonist of both Superman: The Animated Series and Static Shock and a major antagonist of the Justice League series. He also serves as the secondary antagonist of the film Batman: Mask of the Phantasm and the titular main antagonist of the film Batman Beyond: Return of the Joker . He is also an iteration of the Joker from the DC comic books.

He was voiced by Mark Hamill, who also portrayed Chucky in the 2019 remake of Child's Play, Skeleton King in Super Robot Monkey Team Hyper Force Go!, Fire Lord Ozai in Avatar: The Last Airbender, Py-Ro in Crash Bandicoot, Dictatious Maximus Galadrigal in Trollhunters, Darth Bane in Star Wars: The Clone Wars, Kavaxas in Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Trickster in the DC Animated Universe (as well as his Arrowverse incarnation), and two other Batman villains, Tony Zucco and Ferris Boyle, again in the DC Animated Universe.

The novelization of Batman: Mask of the Phantasm indicates that the man who went to become the Joker was born around 1948, being 35 around the time of the flashback events of the movie, whose present time is 1993. He became a criminal at some point to make a living, a profession which would last for the rest of his life. It's unknown what the Joker's real name was, and while it's suggested to have been Jack Napier, it's possible that this may have been another alias, as he took several during his career. The reason is possibly to avoid getting detected by the police.

By 1983, he was an assassin and chauffeur working for Salvatore Valestra, Buzz Bronski and Chuckie Sol, the high-ranking members of the Valestra mob. When Carl Beaumont, a businessman who had embezzled from the mob, was unable to pay them back, he accompanied his boss and associates to pay a visit to Beaumont, who asked Valestra for one more day. Valestra reluctantly agreed, but unknown to him, Carl and his daughter Andrea fled the country that same night.

Beaumont paid Valestra back, but the mobster wanted "interest compounded in blood" and sent the hitman to Europe to find and kill Beaumont. Arthur Reeves, Beaumont's former employee, gave them Beaumont's location in exchange for funding his campaign for Gotham City Council. The hitman killed Beaumont, and passed by Andrea on his way out, greeting her nonchalantly moments before she found her father's body.

Eventually, the hitman formed his own gang. One night, he robbed the Ace Chemical plant, but Batman arrived, and in the ensuing scuffle, the hitman fell into a vat of chemicals. The chemicals beached his skin white, turned his hair green, made his lips bright red; driven insane by his reflection, the hitman reinvented himself as the Joker and dedicated his life to fighting Batman. After taking up his new identity, Joker would establish himself as one of the main crime bosses in Gotham and became Batman's greatest foe. During a stint in Arkham Asylum, the Joker manipulated his psychologist, Dr. Harleen Quinzel, into falling in love with him, driving her to join his gang as Harley Quinn, his accomplice and on again-off again girlfriend.

Batman: The Animated Series

As the Joker, he pulled numerous schemes for both his own amusement and for personal profit, such as a Christmas-themed kidnapping of Commissioner Gordon, Summer Gleeson and Harvey Bullock ("Christmas with The Joker"), filling Gotham City with his laughing gas using a garbage boat ("The Last Laugh"), planting dynamite at the birthday party of Mayor Hill's son ("Be A Clown"), poisoning all of Gotham's fish with his toxins and trying to copyright them ("The Laughing Fish") and escaping Arkham to blow up a casino that was using his name sake ("The Joker's Wild"), but Batman and Robin always managed to defeat him and send him back to Arkham.

In "Joker's Favor", Joker tried to blackmail a man named Charlie Collins after he encountered him on the highway, and threatened to kill his family if he didn't help him in his scheme to kill Commissioner Gordon during an award ceremony. Collins ended up getting the better of the cowardly psychopath, using one of his own fake explosives to trick him into giving up everything he knew about his family to Batman.

In "Almost Got 'Im", Joker, Penguin, Two-Face, Killer Croc, and Poison Ivy get together and play poker, remarking on the times in which they had nearly killed Batman. Joker, believing his story was the best, saved it for last, mocking the stories of his fellow criminals. When it was his turn, Joker pulls out a portable television set and played a recording of his failed attempt. In the tape, Joker and Harley Quinn had taken over Late Night Gotham Live, captured Batman and tried to electrocute him on live TV with an electric chair powered by the forced laughter of the kidnapped studio audience, but this attempt was foiled by Catwoman. Due to only being foiled by the appearance of Catwoman, all the other villains agree that Joker had the best story, while he simultaneously wins the poker game (by cheating). Joker then reveals that he had kidnapped Catwoman and was planning to kill her by turning her into cat food as revenge for her ruining his plan, although, he is then immediately knocked out by Batman (who was disguised as Croc the entire time) .

In the movie Batman: Mask of the Phantasm, a vigilante called The Phantasm came to Gotham and, one by one, killed the mob leaders Joker had once worked for. Batman was accused of these crimes, but the Joker doubted this and set up a trap to kill the Phantasm before he himself was targeted. Joker eventually managed to find out that the killer wasn't Batman at all and that Andrea Beaumont, daughter of the embezzler he once killed on mob orders, had taken up the identity of the Phantasm. He fought the Phantasm, but she vanished to escape in an explosion, taking the laughing Joker with her. It remained unknown what happened to him after this. But he survived off-screen and went back to do what he does best - fighting Batman and terrorizing Gotham City with his deadly jokes.

In Trial, along with other inmates in Arkham Asylum, Joker ran a sham trial for Batman with the inmates as judge and jury.

The Joker later gotten a hold of an atomic bomb, taken the mayor hostage (although this was one of the very few times that he showed affection towards Harley when he realized that she had enough 'guts' to kill him), and even tried to succeed as a stand-up comedian while ruining three comedians' acts for revenge on their judgment of him as unfunny - something he could never forgive. After this, he tried to destroy all Gotham City with his henchmen, but Batman, Robin and Harley Quinn destroyed his plane and defeated him.

Superman and Financial Failure

Becoming broke and desperate, Joker and Harley Quinn stole a statue of a Chinese Dragon that turned out to be forged from Kryptonite. Using this, Joker traveled to Metropolis and put himself for hire for one billion dollars to kill Superman. Lex Luthor agreed to Joker's deal. Batman eventually fought The Joker along with the Man of Steel. Then, Joker began to annoy Luthor when he demanded to be paid more to kill both superheroes. While attempting to betray Luthor (who needless to say, had also tried to betray him) The Joker ended up fighting the World's Finest in an aircraft, the explosion of which seemed to kill him, though his body was never recovered. But he survived that fall and went back to terrorize Gotham again off-screen.

He turned up alive, was captured, but was shocked when he inherited millions of dollars from a mob kingpin named Barlowe, who had always despised him. Through deception was incredibly and playing the Joker's ego and greed, Barlowe set up a trap. Joker almost literally bought his way to a clean criminal record and then lived the high life on what he believed to be hundreds of millions. It was eventually revealed that only the first ten million dollars were real, which the Joker not only blew through but was now, as Barlowe's heir, in the sights of the IRS. Joker could not reveal and possesses him, he's been tricked without looking like the clown he was. Joker decided to pull off a heist to restart his enterprises (without using any of his calling cards or signature styles that would link him to the crime) but was foiled, like always, by Batman. As he is taken back to Arkham Asylum, Harley Quinn (disguised as a police officer) beats Joker up with a baton for abandoning her to be arrested by Batman and Batgirl in the beginning of the episode and replacing her with a Fake Harley, rather than bailing her out.

On the seventh year anniversary of the Joker's "birth", the Joker's actions turned reporter Jack Ryder into the Creeper. The Creeper, while heroic, mercilessly harassed Harley and Joker, to the point that even Joker considered Creeper to be a lunatic, actually begging Batman to arrest him. Creeper captured Harley and defeated the Joker in a dump park, who was later taken in custody by Batman.

After this, Harley Quinn captured Batman and tried to kill him to obtain Joker's admiration, but he hit her and threw her through the window of the building, believing that no one had the right to kill Batman but himself. Batman eventually frees himself and fights Joker on top of a monorail, and punched the Joker into the chimney of Ace Chemicals, apparently killing him. But for unknown reasons, he survived the mortal fall and sent some flowers and a note to Quinn.

Later life and Justice League

The Joker later planned on forming a metahuman gang from the local mutants known as "Bang Babies". Villains such as Hotstreak and Talon eagerly joined his gang. However, Batman, Robin, and Dakota's own resident hero Static teamed up and escaped the Joker's death trap, arresting the Clown Prince of Crime in the process. Joker tried to shock Batman with a joy-buzzer after his defeat, only for Static to not only ignore and absorb the buzzer's power but shock the Joker right back, only worse. Joker and his gang were arrested after that.

Not wanting anything to do with Joker after their first encounter, Lex Luthor tried to keep him out of his Injustice Gang, but he is ultimately persuaded to relent by him after Copperhead is arrested and Joker provides knowledge on Batman. Using a tracking device Batman had planted on him, Joker lured Batman to the Injustice Gang's hideout and knocks him out. With Batman now captured, Joker urges Lex to let him kill Batman but is frustrated when he is not allowed to and then proceeds to annoy Lex as he searches through Batman's utility belt. Joker then forces Batman to watch the expected destruction of the JLA's Watchtower, knowing that Luthor would give him permission to kill Batman if his plan succeeded, but it fails and Joker is not allowed to finish Batman yet again. Knowing Batman was swaying her to his way of thinking, Joker betrays and electrocutes Cheetah into unconsciousness. During the Gang's final confrontation with the JLA, Joker uses a trick exploding doll and several marbles to attack Flash and Wonder Woman, but quickly runs away when he realizes that he's outmatched. After the rest of the Gang is defeated, Joker rushes to the basement of their warehouse base to kill Batman, only to be knocked out by Batman, who states that he could have escaped their prison at any time he wanted, but chose to stay and watch on them instead.

He discovered and entered a secret government compound dubbed Section 12. At the time, it was under the supervision of the Cadmus Project, a federal initiative to procure defenses against the Justice League in case they ever went rogue. Joker arrived at the facility and killed the staff using his Joker Venom. He then freed their captives and fashioned them as a card deckhand, dubbing them his 'Royal Flush Gang'. During his time at the facility, the Joker also came across some of Project Cadmus' secret technology and discovered a microchip that allowed it's users to copy their DNA.

Rather than use the technology early, the Joker decided to save the technology for another time. The Joker with his new team then left the facility before purchasing air time on several networks under the moniker of "Gwynplaine Entertainment" and broadcast a live feed of Las Vegas. The Joker secretly planted several dozen extremely powerful time-bombs all throughout the city and threatened to blow up the entire city early if anyone but the Justice League tried to stop him. Though the Justice League manage to disarm the bombs and defeat the Royal Flush Gang, the bomb stunt was merely to attract viewers throughout the world. The real plan was to use the powers of the Gang's fifth member, Ace, who could drive people insane just by looking at them in person or on TV. The Joker then transmitted Ace's thought waves across the air to render everyone under a mass psychosis. Batman confronted the Joker alone, and despite almost being driven insane by Ace's powers and receiving vicious beatings from Joker, managed to reveal to Ace that the Joker held on to a special headband used to nullify Ace's powers by Project Cadmus. Ace, in anger, used her power on the Joker and temporarily incapacitated him, rendering him temporarily catatonic.

Joker's Death

Years later, he planned one final joke on Batman after realizing the "game" was getting old. The Joker and Harley Quinn kidnapped Tim Drake (the current Robin and Dick Grayson's successor) after Tim saved an unknown woman from a criminal, unaware that it is a trap and subjected him to three weeks of torture and brainwashed him into becoming a small version of the Joker called Joker Junior, much to Batman and Batgirl's horror, also finding out all of Batman's secrets (including Batman's true identity) in the process. On top of that, he documented the whole interrogation with an old video projector and possibly slides (since he claimed he had them). Batman came to the abandoned Arkham Asylum and saw what had happened to Tim. In retaliation, Batman engaged in a bloody fight with the Joker (willing to break the Joker in two for his actions), only for the Joker to stab Batman in the knee and gloat over his success (in the edited version, he punches Batman off the edge and the blood was removed).

He gave a Bang-Flag gun to Tim to finish off the Dark Knight, but instead Tim focused his rage on the one who had broken him, and fatally shot the Joker, (in the edited version, he pushed Joker into liquids (possibly water), who slipped and grabbed the lever and pulled it down as he was slipping, electrocuting himself) and says to himself, "That's not funny! That's not…" before he dies. Tim then enters into a mental breakdown, crying whatever sanity he has left of himself as Barbara Gordon (the current Batgirl) comforts him.

The remains of the Joker were buried under Arkham, and Tim was given therapy to cope with his trauma. Commissioner Gordon learned of what happened and promised to keep it a secret, while it seemed Harley had fallen into the bottomless pit and perished during the battle as well. The other people who also knew the incident were the Dark Knight's butler, Alfred Pennyworth, and Bruce's first partner and the former Robin, Dick Grayson who has left for Bludhaven. One year later, Tim was finally recovered from his trauma, but Bruce forbade Tim from being Robin again and swore that he will never endanger another young partner again. Tim soon left after this, choosing to make the right decision for himself. Barbara soon retired from her career as Batgirl and went on to follow her father's footsteps as the new police commissioner of Gotham City following her father's retirement. Despite his death, Joker's legacy as a criminal mastermind and homicidal maniac would live on for years. Whilst the people of Gotham were relieved at the Joker's final and ultimate defeat, they still feared his destructive legacy. Years later several groups of criminals called the Jokerz started appearing around the globe, honoring the Clown Prince of Crime's legacy. One of the gang's members, Ghoul (who coincidentally would be the member of the Jokerz gang that would serve the newly revived Joker.) stated that there are 9,453 active Jokerz that are divided into approximately 200 separate groups. Bruce continued the rest of his crime-fighting career as Batman for years after the incident a few years before his retirement in the prologue of Batman Beyond .

Legacy ( Return of the Joker )

It seemed not even death itself could restrain the Joker. It turns out that before Joker died, he had implanted the microchip he stole from Cadmus encoded with his DNA, memories, and personality on Tim's neck. The chip soon began to activate itself automatically, transforming Drake into the Joker. According to the Joker, any lingering memories were chalked up as bad dreams by Drake. Over time, the Joker's subconscious awakened and began to assume control of Drake's body.

Over the course of forty years, the Joker plotted his return using Drake's body. With Drake's knowledge of communications and his martial skills as Robin, Joker staged a series of corporate thefts utilizing a sub-group of the Jokerz which had formed in his absence, proving how influential he had become. With the technology, Joker created a satellite jammer and hijacked control of a Hyperion class defense satellite orbiting the planet. If any of Tim Drake's family were worried in any way, Joker would simply call on the phone with Tim's voice saying he'll be working late.

Joker then revealed himself to Bruce Wayne at a party during his return to Gotham. The new Batman managed to stop Joker from killing Bruce, but Joker escaped. After a time, Terry deduced Drake had some connection and decided to confront The Joker.

However before he could reach Joker's hideout, Joker tested the new Batman by chasing after him using his satellite to send a powerful laser at the Batmobile whilst incinerating a small part of Gotham. After stopping the beam, the new Batman tracked Joker down to his hideout (an abandoned Candy Factory called the Jolly Jack ) and confronted Tim. Tim started to remember how he killed the original Joker and started to act strangely; when Tim accidentally mentioned the new Batman's real name he transformed into the Joker, revealing he had deduced Batman's identity. After explaining how he survived, Joker and Batman fought.

In the skirmish, the electric joy buzzer that Joker was using gets knocked out of his hand and falls into the wiring of the jamming system, redirecting the satellite's laser straight to Joker's hideout. Batman stranded Joker within the compound and fought him one on one. In the finale, Batman taunted the Joker, saying he had only returned because he could never make the original Batman laugh. This greatly enraged Joker and he managed to trap Terry under a wooden table and started strangling him.

Joker then ordered Terry to laugh before he dies and when Joker got closer in order to hear Terry better, Terry taunts by saying "Ha ha!" and uses Joker's own toy buzzer to electrocute him on the neck, much to his horror. The surge destroyed the microchip as the Joker let out a final scream, restoring Tim back to normal and destroying the Joker once and for all. After so many years of waging a one-on-one war, Batman had finally won after a long struggle, destroying the Joker forever.

The Equestria Girls and most of us gasped in shock in horror.

Applejack: The Joker was a monster!

Lincoln: Yeah he was.

Laney: He deserved to die for all the pain and suffering he caused over the years.

Me: The Joker killed over 2,000 people and plagued all of Gotham City with nothing but terror and fear all for his own amusement. The Joker is one nasty piece of shit and he was more fucked up and more dangerous as anyone.

Linka: Yeah he was.

Cody (OC): Yeah he was dangerous. And we killed him. Twice. I killed him with my Yautja technology.

Me: And we killed him when we fought him in the Neo Gotham Environment from 2039.

Apple Bloom: That's incredible.

Rarity: It sure is.

Me: But we aren't the only ones that hates the Joker with a vengeance. Jason Todd A.K.A. The Red Hood hates him more. Because the Joker killed him.

Jason Todd: It's true guys. The Joker did kill me and Ra's brought me back to life.

Me: That's one of the reasons we have Ra's to thank for. I will always respect him even in death.

Jason told his story.

---

Jason Todd is the titular main antagonist of Batman: Under the Red Hood . In this animated film, he is the former Robin who is murdered by the Joker, and becomes a vigilante after being resurrected by Ra's al Ghul. He takes on his murderer's former identity, The Red Hood, and starts "controlling crime" in Gotham City by taking a percentage of drug profits and killing anyone who commits murder or sells drugs to children. This puts him at odds with his former mentor, Batman as he grows to despise him for his moral code.

He was voiced by Jensen Ackles, who also portrays Dean Winchester in Supernatural, Tom Hanniger in the 2009 horror film, My Bloody Valentine and Jason Teague in Smallville .

Before meeting Batman, Jason Todd was a juvenile delinquent, having been arrested at least once. Batman met the boy in Crime Alley, where Jason had just finished removing the tires of the Batmobile as an act of vandalism. Instead of calling the authorities, however, Batman, impressed with the boy and also believing he needed to curb his criminal tendencies, took him in as the second Robin, after Dick Grayson left and made a name for himself as Nightwing.

During one of their first missions, Jason Todd proceeded to aid Batman in taking down the Riddler while the latter was conducting a heist on a museum, also proceeding to supply a "riddle" before taking him down by kicking him in the crotch. They also went to fight together against other criminals like the Penguin, the Scarecrow or Two-Face.

As Jason grew older, however, his personality turned far darker, becoming very cocky and virtually merciless, with him once ruining an operation because, when taking down a drug-dealing pimp, he broke the man's collarbone just enough to put him into shock, which resulted in a stern telling off from Batman due to his needing him for interrogation.

Death

Eventually, Jason Todd and Batman uncovered a crime spree occurring in Bosnia, where the Joker had poisoned an entire hospital and was raiding medicine (in reality a diversion to ensure Ra's al Ghul and his League of Shadows toppled the European Economy). However, Jason Todd's recklessness got the better of him and proceeded to chase after the Joker, which resulted in his capture. Held prisoner by the Joker, he was subject to torture via bludgeoning with a crowbar by the deranged clown, and then left to be blown up by the bomb, which went off just as Batman arrived to rescue him. The explosions ultimately killed him.

Revival

However, his body never returned to Gotham: Ra's al Ghul, out of guilt for his unintended role in Jason Todd's death, secretly replaced his corpse with a realistic dummy, and proceeded to use the Lazarus Pit to resurrect him to repair the damage. Unfortunately for Ra's al Ghul, this had disastrous side effects: While Jason Todd's body was resurrected, his mind was left damaged. He then proceeded to escape custody of the League of Shadows, narrowly survived falling into the nearby river from a high drop, and somehow managed to find his way back to Gotham five years later.

Seeking Vengeance

Learning that Batman failed to avenge his death at the hands of the Joker, Jason Todd was enraged, and proceeded to adopt the former identity of the Joker, the Red Hood. He then proceeded to take control of the various drug dealers under the employ of Black Mask, allowing them to continue dealing on the streets under the condition that they pay 40% of the shares to him, and they stay away from children when dealing drugs. He also threatens to kill them should they disobey, even producing a duffel bag containing the decapitated heads of their various lieutenants that he allegedly did in under two hours to make clear that his threat was genuine. In addition, he also had Amazo stolen by various hired crooks, although after Batman busted the heist as well as destroyed the Amazo with Dick Grayson, Red Hood proceeded to kill them with sniper rounds. He then escaped via a blue convertible, and managed to lure Batman to the ACE Chemical Plant, where Joker was created. He then reminded Batman that it was his first mistake, possibly even his worst one. He then fled after a brief exchange, also shooting the leaking fuel from the car to destroy the plant to ensure Batman is unable to pursue him.

Meanwhile, he then proceeded to steal another arms shipment from Black Mask (having overheard him via a planted bug), and after Batman interfered, Red Hood proceeded to drop the chopper over the edge, as well as enter a chase by the Dark Knight and Nightwing, eventually escaping at the train station via an explosive and under the cover of a passing train, although not before telling Batman that he hadn't lost his touch while also dropping the name "Bruce" as a hint for the Dark Knight towards his potential true identity. He then proceeded to fight the Fearsome Hand of Four mercenary group, also calling in Batman earlier for aid, eventually managing to knock out three of the mercenaries while killing the fourth. They then proceeded to get into an argument about how to deal justice before taking his leave with a smoke grenade. He then proceeded to use a rocket launcher at Black Mask's office, thus forcing the crime lord to arrange for the Joker's release.

Red Hood then arrived at the area Joker was at, revealing he had in fact intended all along for Black Mask to release Joker, as he wanted to have revenge against him while briefly hinting at their having met before. After Batman prevented Joker from torching the various drug dealers, Red Hood proceeded to abduct Joker before Batman had a chance to retrieve him, and also left a message telling the Dark Knight (who now knows his identity as Jason Todd and how he was revived) that he has Joker and that he meet him in Crime Alley if he wants Joker. He then goes to an abandoned apartment building and proceeded to dish out his revenge against the Joker by beating him with a crowbar, just as Joker himself did to him five years earlier, as well as cryptically stating that the reason they knew each other is because Joker had in effect created him.

He then encountered Batman in Crime Alley, and after fighting him all the way to the apartment complex, Jason Todd proceeded to rant that Batman should have killed the Joker after not only his murder of him, but also all of the carnage that he caused in general. Batman then admitted that he wanted to kill the Joker for what he did to Jason, but decided not to because doing so would only make Batman sink as low as the Joker. Undeterred by this, Red Hood tries to force Batman to either shoot him or let him shoot the Joker. However, Batman refused to do either, and eventually used a Batarang to block out the barrel of his gun, detonating it in his hand after he attempted to shoot him in order to force him to act. Jason Todd then proceeded to set off explosives he had presumably placed in the apartment earlier, although he slumped down when Joker interfered with Batman's attempt to disarm the bombs, although he was nonetheless saved by Batman at the last second, he disappeared. It's unknown what becomes of him afterwards.

Personality

Even prior to becoming Robin, Batman already knew how dangerous Jason would be in spite of him shown having great potential like Dick Grayson. Though he and Grayson had similar potential as Batman's sidekick (with Grayson pointed out that Jason was very impressive as Red Hood), Jason had criminal and violent tendencies that Grayson lacks, which disturbed Bruce that he claimed Jason would've become a dangerous criminal had he not recruit him as the second Robin. Jason was also impulsive and short-tempered, which clouded his judgement in dealing criminals and supervillains alike. Jason proved not to be a complete monster when he ordered the dealers not to give the kids drugs, which shows he would not hurt the kids; in fact, Jason was arguably a tragic figure who had endured his brutal torture at the hands of the Joker. Something which figuratively proceeded to haunt Jason for the rest of his life. Jason's most complicated personality trait is his relationship with his former mentor. On one hand, he still cares about Bruce as he spared his life several times throughout the film. However, he also resents him for not killing Joker, outright accusing him of using his fear of becoming worse than the clown as an excuse for not doing what's right. This results in him almost destroying an entire apartment, so he could either force Batman to kill one of them or end up getting the three of them blown up.

Skills

Jason was a superb athlete, in the peak of physical prowess and mentality, making him an agile opponent. He also carried a variety of equipment, including pistols, explosives, a combat knife and a taser. He was also extremely skilled and chaotic martial artist, capable of holding his own against somebody as experienced as Batman. He was incredibly brutal in a fight, and used underhanded and sadistic maneuvers against an opponent. However, despite the fact that he was an expert fighter, Batman was older, stronger and infinitely more experienced than him, and was eventually capable of defeating him. Jason had the utterly fatal weakness was that he would let his rage get the better of his judgement and logic. Therefore, Batman easily defeated him once he stopped holding back.

We gasped.

Me: Hiring the Joker was a big mistake.

Red X: It was. But I'm glad he's dead.

Me: We all are. But if the Joker ever does come back we will banish him to the Warp. He deserves far worse than the fires of Hell.

Naruto: Agreed.

Jason Todd: I'm just really amazed that I am also you Red X.

Red X then took off his mask.

Red X: I know. Surprising isn't it?

Nico was scanning for the Scarecrow.

Maria: Nico, don't you think that you're being a little harsh on J.D. and the Loud Kids?

Nico: I'm just being cautious. (to Theresa Fowler) You remember how Lori, Lola, and Lynn's anger issues nearly caused them to kill you, Theresa. What if that kind of thing happens again?

May: You have a good point. But isn't what Scarecrow did to Lori similar to how Rotwood used Fear Gas on you to try to get you to kill me?

Nico: Yes it is.

Computer beeps.

Nico: Found him! Okay they can come back in now.

We came back in.

Dark Raph: (to me and the Loud Kids) You guys ready to apologize to Nico for letting Scarecrow piss you off? Or do we have to leave you out of the buttkicking we're gonna give him?

Me: Yes we were just talking about our past encounters with different villains like Scarecrow and The Joker.

Nico: That's good. That's understandable.

Rainbow Dash: What really shocked us is that the Joker killed over 2,000 people.

Nico: I know. He was a monster.

Dark Mikey: (to me, Nico, and the Loud Kids) C'mon! How about you guys hug and make up before we pound Scarecrow?

Me: I wasn't angry. I was just stating good points. I'm sorry.

We hugged and we hugged each other.

Apple Bloom and Sweetie Belle: Awwwww!

Scootaloo: EW! Get a room you two!

Rainbow Dash: Scootaloo!

Scootaloo: Sorry.

Nico: Look, I am sorry if what I said upset you guys. But can I really trust you to keep a cool head when we're fighting Scarecrow?

Me: Yes you can. As long as Lori vents out her rage on Scarecrow.

Nico: Deal.

Fluttershy: I know! Maybe if Lori gets too angry, I can use my Stare to calm her down!

Nico: That's a good idea, Fluttershy.

Me: That'll work perfectly. Just don't make her pass gas.

Rarity: What do you mean by that?

Me: Lori has a nasty flatulence problem. She farts so bad that not even a skunk would come near here. Uh no offense Lori.

Lori: None taken but yeah it's true. I fart all the time and have incredible problems denying it.

FART!

Me: See like that.

Lori: Excuse me.

Lincoln: Actually that was me. Sorry.

Me: No worries.

Lincoln: I had a huge bean burrito for lunch.

Me: No worries buddy.

Nico: I found out where Scarecrow is. He's in an abandoned chemical plant that was shut down here years ago. It's located right by Gotham University.

Me: Very coincidental. I know where that plant is. Lets head over there and because it's Halloween lets do an entrance with exploding pumpkins.

Nico: Good idea.

We were off.

---

At the chemical plant, Scarecrow was counting his money.

Scarecrow: Soon this whole fucking city will know what true fear and horror is!

Then vines appeared and started growing fast and then huge pumpkins grew from them and then…

KRASPPPLLAAAAAAAAAATTTTTT!

They exploded all over and covered Scarecrow.

Batman: Trick or Treat, Scarecrow.

Scarecrow: (laughs) Can't blame me for having some Halloween fun, can you, Batman?

Me: Hard to imagine someone as fucked up as you would come back after all this time huh Professor Crane?

Lincoln: You have been a major thorn in our sides for far too long.

Maria: I get what this brand of Fear Gas does. It brings to life any monsters you can think of.

Scarecrow: And I just brought to life a few extra in addition to the ones your moronic friend hallucinated. I call them.. the Jackal Lanterns!

May: Those monsters you created were meant to scare the people of Gotham Royal York while you stole their money!

Scarecrow: And by the time everyone figured it out, I would be long gone with my loot and out of the country. I may not have tricked you all. But I'm still going to collect my treats!

Nico: Sorry, Scarecrow. No candy for you!

Me: Forever!

Lori: You have literally tormented me for the last time!

Scarecrow then called out his monsters! We saw that he had the monsters that Ed saw in his Halloween gone wrong!

Me: Whoa! Are these all the monsters you saw Ed?

Ed: They sure are!

---

The Headless Horseman is a fictional character from the 1820 short story "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by American author Washington Irving. The story, from Irving's collection of short stories entitled The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent., has worked itself into known American folklore/legend through literature and film, including the 1999 Tim Burton film Sleepy Hollow .

The legend of the Headless Horseman (also known as "the Headless Hessian of the Hollow") begins in Sleepy Hollow, New York, during the American Revolutionary War. Traditional folklore holds that the Horseman was a Hessian trooper who was killed during the Battle of White Plains in 1776. He was decapitated by an American cannonball, and the shattered remains of his head were left on the battlefield while his comrades hastily carried his body away. Eventually they buried him in the cemetery of the Old Dutch Church of Sleepy Hollow, from which he rises as a malevolent ghost, furiously seeking his lost head and wielding a Jack-o'-Lantern as a temporary replacement and/or weapon. Modern versions of the story refer his rides to Halloween, around which time the battle took place.

The Headless Horseman is also a novel by Mayne Reid, first published in monthly serialized form during 1865 and 1866, and subsequently published as a book in 1866, based on the author's adventures in the United States. " The Headless Horseman " or " A Strange Tale of Texas " was set in Texas and based on a south Texas folk tale.

Batman: (picks Scarecrow up) It's over, Crane. HAKAI!

Batman banished Scarecrow to the Warp. Or did he?

In reality, we see Scarecrow on the ground quivering in fear.

Firefly: I never did like Scarecrow to begin with. And this is a much better fate for him than death.

Fluttershy: What do you think he's seeing right now?

Dark Spicer: Probably Batman sending him to the Warp.

Batman: Scary thing is, I'm actually considering killing certain villains as an option now.

Me: Only those like The Joker. Lets get this fucked up Lunatic to prison.

Sheila and Tom Lair came and wrapped him in a straitjacket and they were taking him away.

Me: Everyone gets some.

Jack Skellington: Another fantastic Halloween!

Double D: And we solved the mystery of the Halloween Spirit.

Jack Skellington: Are you really sure?

Double D: Of course. Why do you ask?

Jack Skellingtom: Just because Scarecrow made Ed's monsters come to life doesn't mean the Spirit of Halloween doesn't exist.

Edd: That's true.

Jonathan Crane was now the new permanent resident of the Saturn Insane Asylum's new Arkham Asylum Wing and he was also the cell mate of Lila Rossi. She will make him feel well at home. (Malevolent snicker)

Batman: (To the viewers) Never mess with a woman's rights or emotions or there will literally be hell to pay from me.

Me: You said it Bruce.

We got ready for Halloween. Not even the fear inducing terrors of Scarecrow and his Fear Gas and Jack O' Lanterns were enought to get us scared.

FOODON FIGHT!

Deep in the Colombian Jungle, we were trekking through the jungles to find an ancient artifact that is said to bestow ancient power and all that. But it's mostly to find Rainbow Dash's awesome friend, archaeologist, famous author and awesome adventurer, Daring Do.

Lincoln: So Daring Do is an adventurer like Nicole.

Rainbow Dash: You guys would love her. She is as big an adventurer as Nicole is and she finds these amazing artifacts that are incredible.

Nicole: Boy she and I have so much in common. I'm a huge lover of treasure hunts and they are awesome!

Me: That is something. Action, adventure, danger, and the thrill of excitement.

N: So, what kind of jewel are we looking for?

Me: It's a legendary jewel called the Ruby of Manco Cápac, the God of Fire in Incan Mythology. Legends say that whoever possesses it will have powers over fire that are as strong as us.

Nico: Wow. That sounds like a powerful jewel.

Lincoln: No kidding.

Rita: And it sounds powerful just by the way it sounds.

Alizarin Bubblegum: It sure is and it's such an honor to be with you guys.

Pinkie Pie: Glad you are having fun Alizarin.

Me: How did you and Alizarin meet, Pinkie Pie?

Pinkie Pie: At the restaurant I work at I saw her and Celery Stalk with some love in their eyes and I brought them together.

Lola: That's amazing Pinkie.

Laney: Awesome matchmaking.

Pinkie Pie: Thanks guys.

Alizarin Bubblegum: Pinkie Pie is great at her job as she is at matchmaking.

Me: I can see that. I'm not a matchmaker myself but that's a great way of picking that up.

Apple Bloom: It sure is. (SCREAMS)

Apple Bloom fell down into a pitfall and then she was grabbed by her hand by none other than A.K. Yearling A.K.A. Daring Do herself!

---

Daring Do, or Daring Do Dazzle, also known as A.K. Yearling, is a female Pegasus pony, the titular character and the author of the Daring Do book series, based on her adventures. She first appears in storybook form in the season two episode Read It and Weep and physically debuts in the season four episode Daring Don't.

Daring Do and her books are introduced in Read It and Weep, when Twilight Sparkle brings Rainbow Dash the first book in the series, Daring Do and the Quest for the Sapphire Stone . Twilight says she owns all the books in the series and mentions to Dash that "You'd like Daring. She's a lot like you. Adventurous, fierce, and undeniably, unquestionably, unstoppable ."

Later in the episode, Twilight calls the book Daring Do and the Quest for the Sapphire Statue instead of Sapphire Stone and goes uncorrected.

The book series depicts Daring Do as an adventurer and treasure hunter, exploring long lost temples and ruins for ancient artifacts. The aforementioned first book in the series sees her discovering a temple she'd searched for over two months. She surpasses the booby traps within and liberates a sapphire statuette shaped like a two-headed Anubis, all with an injured wing. Her search for this treasure puts her at odds with a dog-like creature named Ahuizotl. Through various trials and tribulations, Daring Do secures the sapphire statue from Ahuizotl's clutches and, in doing so, saves the world.

At the end of the episode, Rainbow Dash reads another book in the series, Daring Do and the Griffon's Goblet .

In A Friend in Deed, Rainbow Dash reads a Daring Do book in Twilight's library. The book has a similar spine and cover as The Griffon's Goblet, but the title on the cover is Daring Do and the Sapphire Stone .

Season three

In Too Many Pinkie Pies, Rainbow Dash is seen reading The Sapphire Stone again.

Season four

In Daring Don't, it is revealed that the author of the Daring Do books, A.K. Yearling, is Daring Do herself. It is established that the adventures recounted in the books are actually based on Daring Do's real adventures against treasure hunters and the series' villains, including the creature Ahuizotl.

In Testing Testing 1, 2, 3, Twilight Sparkle tells Rainbow Dash, "I don't know anypony that's read more Daring Do books than you."

In Trade Ya!, Rainbow Dash goes to the Rainbow Falls Traders Exchange seeking a first-edition copy of Daring Do and the Quest for the Sapphire Stone . Like in Read It and Weep, the book is referred to as Daring Do and the Quest for the Sapphire Statue several times. The two versions of the book shown in Trade Ya! present no distinction. However, they do differ from the version seen in Read It and Weep in that the back covers also contain a few darker lines in Trade Ya!

Season five

In Castle Sweet Castle, Daring Do appears on a poster labeled Daring Do: Riddle of the Sphinx .

In Tanks for the Memories, Rainbow suspects the reason for Tank's hibernation is reading too many Daring Do stories. She also reads him a Daring Do book[8] at the end of the episode.

Season six

In Flutter Brutter, Rainbow Dash reads Daring Do and the Ring of Destiny at the Shy residence to avoid talking to Zephyr Breeze, and A. K. Yearling appears depicted in a photograph in Pinkie Pie's wallet.

In Stranger Than Fan Fiction, Daring Do attends the Daring Do Convention under the guise of A. K. Yearling while eluding Dr. Caballeron, intent on keeping an artifact called the Amulet of Culiacan out of his possession and hiding amongst Daring Do cosplayers. When Dr. Caballeron abducts Rainbow Dash and Quibble Pants in order to lure Daring Do out, Daring comes to their rescue.

With Rainbow and Quibble's help, Daring Do secures a treasure called the Seven-Sided Chest of Chicomoztoc and delivers it to a museum.

Season seven

In A Royal Problem, Daring Do appears in a dream bubble as Princess Celestia views the dreams of everyone in Equestria.

In Fame and Misfortune, when Twilight's friends make remarks about the friendship lessons written in their friendship journal, Rainbow Dash mentions about the lesson she learned when first meeting Daring Do in person. After copies of the journal get published all over Equestria, Princess Erroria, among other foals, asks Rainbow Dash to tell them her story of Daring Do again despite the fact they heard the story from her multiple times.

In Daring Done?, Daring Do unexpectedly announces A. K. Yearling's retirement from writing books, which she reveals is the result of her bad reputation in Southern Equestria for causing damage wherever she goes. Through Rainbow Dash and Pinkie Pie's urging, Daring discovers that her bad reputation is part of Dr.

Caballeron's evil scheme to steal a collection of priceless glowpaz from the villagers of Somnambula. With Rainbow and Pinkie's help, Daring gets her confidence and hope back and decides to continue writing books.

In Shadow Play - Part 1, Daring Do helps Pinkie Pie recover Somnambula's blindfold from a pit of green slime.

Season eight

In The End in Friend, Starlight Glimmer attempts to resolve a conflict between Rainbow Dash and Rarity by having them read each other's favorite books, with Dash reading Shadow Spade and Rarity reading Daring Do . This does not turn out as well as planned, with the two finding fault in each others' books.

Best Gift Ever

In the holiday special My Little Pony Best Gift Ever, Fluttershy plans to purchase a copy of Daring Do and the Ring of Destiny from Teddie Safari at the Rainbow Falls Hearth's Warming Craft Fair for Rainbow Dash, but her attention then gets drawn by Flim and Flam.

Season nine

Daring gets mentioned twice by Rainbow Dash and Quibble Pants in Common Ground. She also gets mentioned in A Trivial Pursuit in the question of how many holes are in her hat, in which Rainbow Dash correctly answers twenty.

In Daring Doubt, Daring Do's character (and A. K. Yearling's writing) is called into question when Dr. Caballeron publishes his own book exposing Daring Do's mistakes and secrets. When Fluttershy is recruited by Caballeron to find the Truth Talisman of Tonatiuh, Daring Do helps Rainbow Dash save her. At Tonatiuh's temple, she learns that Caballeron and Fluttershy have become friends, that Ahuizotl is actually the guardian of the Tenochtitlan Basin, and that she has been unwittingly robbing his land of its artifacts. In the end, Daring promises to stop stealing artifacts from the Tenochtitlan Basin, and she and Caballeron co-write the next Daring Do book (which is upstaged by Ahuizotl's own book release, to A.K.'s amusement).

In The Last Problem, A. K. Yearling attends Twilight Sparkle's coronation ceremony. Daring Do also briefly appears in Rainbow Dash's group shot during The Magic of Friendship Grows.

---

Daring Do: Whoa that was close.

Apple Bloom: (Gasp) Wow! Daring Do!

Daring Do pulled up Apple Bloom and she was amazed that she was saved by none other than Daring Do herself.

Me: Boy that was a close one. Look what the bottom of that pit was lined with.

We saw that the bottom of the pit was lined with spikes.

Me: Any closer and you would've been shish-kabob.

Apple Bloom: No kidding. But thanks so much for saving me.

Daring Do: No problem.

Fluttershy: (to Daring Do) It's nice to see you again, Daring Do.

Daring Do: Same here Fluttershy and Team Loud Phoenix Storm it's an honor to meet you all.

Me: Same here. Rainbow Dash showed us all your awesome books and your adventures are absolutely incredible.

Nicole: You are probably the greatest archeologist and adventurer I know.

Daring Do: Thank you all kindly.

Lincoln: My favorite story is Daring Do and the Forbidden City of Clouds.

Rainbow Dash: That's my favorite too.

Daring Do: I'm glad you like that one. A Walk in the park compared to the adventure I'm doing now. I'm searching for the Ruby of Manco Cápac.

Me: Wow. That's coincidental. So are we. We came here to look for it so we can find you and recruit you for the Knights of The Friendship Table.

Daring Do: That's interesting.

Twilight Sparkle: It's a branch team that was formed by J.D. for Team Loud Phoenix Storm so that we can help J.D. and his team on all his adventures.

Lola: And it is an amazing team.

Daring Do: That's cool. If you help me find the ruby, I'll gladly join.

Me: Deal.

Daring Do: Awesome. Lets do it.

We went with Daring Do and we were doing all kinds of awesome stunts. We were swinging on vines, jumping over pitfalls, battling tribes of ruthless cannibals, facing dangerous predatory animals like jaguars, snakes, deadly monkeys and more, and even battling ruthless mercenaries and poachers and it was awesome. It was like we were living an Indiana Jones movie!

Tarantulas: (to Daring Do) You're actually similar to Indiana Jones.

Daring Do: I do feel that way don't I?

Blackarachnia: But she is twice as daring and adventurous.

Nicole: That's right.

Lincoln: But this is awesome! It's like we're living one of the Indiana Jones movies.

Me: It sure does feel like it.

Nicole: Guys I think we're here.

We saw that we were in front of an ancient jungle temple that was left untouched for hundreds of years.

Nico: Whoa!

Laney: Wow.

Me: I know temples like these. Usually there's a lot of booby traps in them like spears, poison darts, razor sharp spike walls and even rolling boulders.

Nico: Saw those in movies and they are tough.

Daring Do: But it's worth the adventure!

We went into the temple and we were floating and being careful and more.

Me: Stay close guys and watch your step.

We walked carefully and more and we saw a red light up ahead.

Daring Do: That's the light of the ruby.

Nicole: That's it all right.

Me: We're getting close.

Lori: We sure are.

Blackarachnia: Just be careful guys.

Then Leni stepped on a trap button.

Leni: Uh oh!

Me: Watch out!

Spears fired at us from the walls and Nico grabbed them and Eli used the Force and blew the spears back and we ran fast and then poison darts all fired at us and Vince formed crystal shields and blocked them and destroyed them and more and we got to the room of the ruby and on a statue we saw that it was in a beautiful necklace.

Me: There it is.

Nicole: The Ruby of Manco Cápac.

Nico: Wow. It's beautiful.

Me: It sure is. But I know a scenario like this all too well. Remember in Raiders of The Lost Ark how after Indiana Jones got the Golden Idol and a boulder chased him?

Minuette: I remember that. That was something.

Lily: It sure was. That was one of my favorite scenes.

Nicole and Daring Do went up to the statue and knowing that it was probably booby trapped they carefully removed the ruby and Daring Do got it and then we felt a rumble.

Me: Uh oh! RUN!

We got out of the temple and fast as a huge boulder was chasing us and we ran quick and saw the gates closing. Rhinox smashed through the gates with ease and we got out of there as the whole temple collapsed.

Me: Wow! That was awesome!

Daring Do: It sure was!

Rainbow Dash: Yeah! That was awesome!

Edwayl: (Breton Accent) It sure was! It was like we were living one of the Indiana Jones movies and more lads.

Lincoln: Yeah!

Rhinox: So, what do we do with the Ruby?

Me: Daring Do should keep it. Rainbow Dash and friends helped her before and she can do more to help us all with it as well as find other awesome artifacts in the future.

Daring Do: Thank you so much guys.

Me: By the way Rainbow Dash how did you get to know Daring Do?

Rainbow Dash: Well it's a really interesting and amazing story.

Rainbow Dash told us all about what happened when she and Fluttershy met Daring Do and we were both amazed and more.

Me: Whoa!

Nico: That is so cool!

Lincoln: It sure is.

Daring Do: Yeah. But It was awesome having you all with me and you all gave me inspiration for my next book.

Rainbow Dash: Really!?

We later went back home and later on we got the first copies of Daring Do's newest book: "Daring Do & Team Loud Phoenix Storm and the Search for the Fire Ruby" and it was one of her best books ever. We were all on the cover and Daring Do and Nicole both had the ruby in their hands on the cover as we were running from a bunch of bloodthirsty savages and mercenaries and the temple we were at was in the background and we were blasting the mercenaries and savages and more and it was awesome!

I was reading the book and it was so cool!

Me: Wow! This is so cool!

Nico: It sure is. We did an awesome adventure.

Lincoln: We sure did.

Nicole: One of the most awesome treasure hunts ever.

Sweetie Belle: You said it.

Alizarin Bubblegum: It sure was epic.

Laney: Yeah!

Rainbow Dash: It sure was awesome.

Linka: But how did you get into Daring Do if I don't mind asking?

Rainbow Dash: That is a strange story too. I was doing some stunts and I crash landed and broke my wing. I was told that I was gonna be in the hospital for a while because of it and Twilight got me into reading Daring Do. I didn't like reading but as I got into it I realized that it was fun.

Lola: Wow! I know how you feel Rainbow. Like you I didn't know how to read. But Lincoln and everyone got me into it and it is amazing.

Lana: It sure is fun.

Rainbow Dash: It sure is fun and I thought reading was only for Eggheads. No offense.

Lisa Loud: None taken.

Nicole: Same here.

We said none taken.

Daring Do: But it's an honor to now be part of the team.

Me: Glad to have you with us.

Pepperdance: This is gonna be so awesome.

Rarity: It sure is darling.

Fluttershy: (Singsongly) Rarity?

Fluttershy held out a change jar to her.

Rarity: (Groans)

Me: What's the jar full of money for Fluttershy?

Fluttershy: This is my Darling Jar. Every time Rarity says Darling she has to put a coin in the jar.

Me: Hmm. Interesting.

Lori: That's literally interesting.

Me: Are you collecting that money for something?

Fluttershy: It's something special for all of us later on.

Me: Well just keep collecting.

We kept reading.

---

Later in the awesome kingdom of Oslo, it was a beautiful day and a portal appeared and we came through the portal and we arrived.

Sandpit: Where are we now?

Me: This is the Kingdom of Oslo.

Lincoln: Oslo, Norway?

Me: No this is a completely different Oslo and according to the scanners it says that it's a kingdom in the grip of war by an evil king and they are using food as weapons not only to eat but to fight.

Nico: What!? That's wrong on so many levels!

Mary K.: But how are they doing that?

Me: We'll have to find someone to ask so we can find out.

Lincoln: Yeah.

We walked around and we then saw a food cart being carried by a kid. It was Chase and with him were his little sister Kayla, and his friends Chef Jack, Oslo, Pie Tin, Coco Coco and Albert.

Zen Makunouchi (幕之内 膳, Makunōchi Zen ) / Chase The main protagonist of the series. Chase is a 10-year-old, impatient chef-in-training from Yokohoma. He's the son of Chef Jack and the brother of Kayla. He trains under the Foodon guru Oslo to make more Foodons so that he would become a Master Chef like his dad. His Foodons are Fried Ricer (who turns into Super Fried Ricer when with Fruit Turtle or Feastavus), Hot Doggone-It, Burnt Meatballs, Shrimp Daddy, Dim-Sumthin' Special, Fruit Turtle, and Feastivus (a Deluxe Foodon fused by Shrimp Daddy, Dim-Sumthin' Special, Sir Dumpling, and the Burnt Meatballs).

Karin Makunouchi (幕之内 花梨, Makunōchi Karin ) / Kayla, Kayla is Chase's 8-year-old sister who fights with Coco for Chase's attention. She is usually seen guarding the Mobile Attack Cuisine Cart (or M.A.C. Cart for short). Her Foodon is Omelet who is usually out.

Tsukiji Makunouchi (幕之内 月次, Makunōchi Tsukiji ) / Chef Jack, Chef Jack is a Master Chef and the father of Chase and Kayla. He's the leader of the Rebel Chef who fight against King Gorgeous Gorge. At the time of his disappearance, he disguised himself and called himself Chef John (known as Clown in the original version) to help out Chase on different occasions until his mask was destroyed during the final fight with Rose Marinade. His Foodon's Tofurious. While disguised as Chef John, he used Shark-Fin Soup on occasion.

Haoji (ハオヂィ, Haojī ) / Oslo, Oslo is a Grub Guru and was King of All Food until his student King Gorge reverted him to a short man who rides on a floating saucer. He has trained Chef Jack and is training Chase to become a Master Chef.

Pi-tan (ピータン, Pī-tan ) / Pie Tin, Pie Tin is a 6-year-old boy from Horai whose parents were captured by the Glutton Gormandizers. He joins Chase to rescue them and fight King Gorge. His Foodon is Sir Dumpling.

Natsume (ナツメ, Natsume ) / Coco Coco is a sneaky masked ninja girl who wears a wok on her head and is a student of Chef John. Chase first met her on Banana Island. Coco later became friends with him and fights with Kayla for his attention upon developing a crush on him. Her Foodons are Doughnut-So, Ham Scam-Witch, and Tater Tons.

Ash (アッシュ, Asshu ) / Albert, Albert is a chef who Chase and Pie Tin meet at a Foodon Tournament. He is a fan of Chef Jack and later helps Chase on occasion until he joins Chase's group following Rose Marinade's defeat. His Foodons are Cowboyritto, Spaghettabout-It, and Crab Quake.

---

Chase saw us.

Chase: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

Me: That's right.

Chase: Wow! It's so cool to meet you. My name is Chase.

Kayla: We've heard so much about you. I'm Chase's little sister Kayla.

Chef Jack: I'm Jack and I'm their father.

Oslo: I'm Oslo.

Coco Coco: I'm the ninja Coco Coco.

Albert: And my name is Albert.

Me: Pleasure to meet you all.

Chase: It's an honor to meet you guys!

Notacon: The honor's all ours, Chase.

Me: Same here Chase. We came to help you all take down the evil Tyrant plaguing this world.

Chase: I'm glad you did. His name is King Gorgeous Gorge and he is a monster.

Me: First you have to tell us all about him so that we know who we are up against.

Chef Jack: I can do that.

Chef Jack went over his history and it was awful.

---

King Gorgeous Gorge is the primary villain of the series, Fighting Foodons . King Gorgeous Gorge was one of Oslo's students that rose against him and overthrew him when he was King of Food. Following this, he transformed Oslo into his miniature self. He also turned a young rocket scientist named Dia into Clawdia and her four animal lab partners into the Big 4: Cinnamonkey, Cole Slawter, Rose Marinade, and Chef Grill. Don Cook became King Gorgeous Gorge and started the Glutton Empire to take over the world. His Foodons are Fowligator, Sir Loin, Steak King, Multiprawns, Screwdles, Flyin' Flapjacks, Seafood Impastas, Sushi Ship, and Snack Attack.

His sworn enemy is Chase and he orders his henchmen to capture him or destroy him. In the final two episodes, Chase and King Gorge had a showdown in which King Gorge summoned Devouron: the Foodon Embodiment of Darkness while Oslo comes up with a "spirit bomb physiology" and has the people of the world give their energy to Chase so he can gain the ability to create Palator: the Foodon Embodiment of Light. Chase and Palator triumphed over King Gorge, resulting in Devouron's destruction. King Gorge eventually regained consciousness from Palator's attack. After he was defeated Gorge became upset and confused on how he was beaten. When Chase saw Gorge groveling he made a plate of fried rice that was apparantly so good that Gorge proudly admitted his defeat and proclaimed Chase as the new King of Food and dissapeared out of thin air.

We gasped in shock!

Me: That's nuts! So he is the tyrant responsible. Looks like Team

Loud Phoenix Storm has another evil tyrant king to destroy.

Nico: Yeah.

Wood Man: Before we go kill Gorge, can we try some of your food?

Chase: Sure and also I should explain how we fight with food as well.

Kayla: Yeah you guys are gonna love it.

Chase: Watch this!

He opened his Food Cart and got to work and he was cooking General Tso Chicken and it smelled really tantalizing and delicious. He was doing all kinds of awesome stunts with the food and more.

Lincoln: Wow! He's good.

Nico: (Sniffs) Mmm! So good!

Laney: That smells so wonderfun!

Lola: It sure does.

When it was done we got a plate full of it and we took a bite and it was divine and put us in Euphoria!

Rarity: (Gasp) It's delicious!

Me: Mmm! So delicious!

Blackfire: This food is the best. It's just as delicious as the food on Tamaran!

Me: It sure is. The Spice is amazing.

Lana: I like it.

Lola: Me too.

Laney: Good spice too.

Chase: Thanks guys.

Me: Really good General Tso chicken. I'm not a food critic but I give it 5 out of 5 stars.

Lola: Me too.

Chase: Awesome!

Kayla: That means so much to my brother.

Chase: Want to see one of our Fighting Foodons?

Me: Sure.

Chase then made his Fruit Turtle Foodon. It was based on a Fruit Salad and he put a card on it and it became an awesome creature of fruit named FRUIT TURTLE! It was a turtle and it had a pineapple shell with apples, oranges, bananas and grapes and even a palm tree with coconuts on it all on top!

Me: WHOA!

Nico: That is so cool!

Jared: A Fruit Salad Turtle. That is so cool!

Lincoln: It sure is.

Pepperdance: I never knew this kingdom can do that.

Laney: That is so cool!

Chase: Thanks guys. Meet Fruit Turtle. She is one of my signature Foodons.

Me: How did you do that?

Chase: I make a dish and then put this in it.

He held up a blue card and it was called a Meal Ticket.

Chase: These cards are called Meal Tickets. They bring our food to life and form into creatures called Foodons.

Ash Ketchum: That's so cool.

Brock: It sure is. That's like food versions of Pokemon.

Pepperdance: Wow! That's really cool!

Lola: It sure is.

Chef Pepper Jack: It sure is.

Mary Knudson: That would be awesome for me and the chefs of both us and the Masters of Evil.

Me: Yeah it sure would.

Jackie: Krusty, Comic Book Guy and Cheese Shogun Roquefort would like using Foodons as well.

Chase: Cool!

Lynn Sr.: I'm a chef myself and I would like using Foodons in the future for when I get my own Frenemy in the Masters of Evil.

Lily: I work as a fry cook at an awesome restaurant.

Mary K.: I'm a world famous chef of all countries and I would like using Foodons too.

Chef Pepper Jack: I cook Spicy Food and it would be perfect for me.

Chase: I think I got the things for you.

He gave us a bunch of Meal Tickets and they were awesome.

Me: Cool! Now we can make sure that Gorge and his armies of Gluttons pay for their crimes.

Nico: Lets get them!

Chef Jack: Time for some well deserved dethroning.

We were off to King Gorge's castles and we were gonna make sure that he paid for his crimes.

We arrived at King Gorge's castle and we were ready for anything.

Sunny Tennyson: I can sense Gorge's Mana up ahead!

Me: I feel it too. Stand ready guys.

Lincoln: This is gonna be awesome!

Mary K.: I'm always up for a challenge.

Pepperdance: Me too.

Mrs. Cake: Me too!

Pear Butter: Just like old times right Chiffon?

Mrs. Cake: You said it Pear Butter. I missed you.

Pear Butter: I missed you too.

Chase: This is gonna be good.

Bomb Man: Let me do the entrance this time. I promise you it'll be a real bang! (gets one of his bombs ready)

Me: Fire in the hole.

We were ready for battle!

---

Inside his castle, King Gorge was looking out the window of his castle throne room keeping his eyes out for Chase and his crew. But little did he knew that we were at the back door.

King Gorge: Soon those rebels will fall and then this whole world will be mine.

Suddenly a bunch of bombs flew in and landed on the floor in the middle.

King Gorge: Hm?

KRABBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

A Massive fiery explosion went off and then we popped out of the smoke from the blast as fire raged behind us and we were facing KING GORGE!

Bomb Man: Damn it! I was hoping to blow him up with that entrance! Should I try again?

Me: No that's not needed.

King Gorge: Team Loud Phoenix Storm. What a really unpleasant surprise.

Me: We aim to please. Your reign of terror is over!

Chase: That's right! You will pay for your crimes Gorge!

Laney: I can't believe you would use food as a weapon! People like you give chefs everywhere a really bad name!

Mary K.: That's right! You are an absolute disgrace to chefs all over.

Pepperdance: You make me sick!

King Gorge: We'll see about that.

Nico: King Gorge you have failed this world as a lover of food and as a king!

Qin: Yeah!

Diamond Tiara: You give 5-star cooking a really bad name!

Apple Bloom: Yeah!

King Gorge: Then you all will die.

Me: Not if we kill you first which is what we plan to do.

King Gorge then snapped his fingers and a massive army of his

Gluttons came out and they were all ready for battle!

Nico: Whoa! We got a lot of Gluttons to take down!

Me: Your army is really impressive Gorgo but none of you are all leaving this place alive.

Vince: And we're gonna make sure of it.

Then Krusty, Comic Book Guy, Wiggum, the Springfield Mafia, the Bully Trio and Chalmers appeared.

Krusty: Hey hey kiddies! (Goofy Laughter)

Me: Krusty, Comic Book Guy, Chief Wiggum, The Springfield Mafia, The Bully Trio and Chalmers.

Chase: Are you guys all part of the Masters of Evil?

Chalmers: We sure are.

Fat Tony: Indeed we are.

May: Lorenzo is now back in Duel Academy and back in action after a month long hiatus.

Louie: I'm glad.

Legs: Same here.

Comic Book Guy: (to Chase) As a food critic, I think you'll make a great chef eventually. And I know two people who can help you with that.

Chase: Who are they?

Chalmers: Mung Daal and Chowder. They're from Marzipan City.

Chase: You make it sound like they're expert chefs.

Krusty: Well, they've made a few mistakes down the road. But trust me. You can learn a lot from them.

Me: That's right. This is gonna be the ultimate food fight.

Jimbo: This is gonna be good.

Me: Yes it is. But the coolest part is making Pokemon like warriors with these awesome Meal Tickets.

I showed a card to them.

Comic Book Guy: We'll have to see all those in action.

Me: And Chef Pepper Jack, Larry 3000, my daughter Mary, Mr. Lynn, Mrs. Cake, Princess Celestia, myself and the rest of those who can cook well can teach you and your friends Chase.

Chase: Awesome! This is gonna be amazing!

Me: It sure is.

Then Centiback appeared again!

Me: Centiback.

Centiback: Glad to be back guys.

Maria: (to Centiback) We just want to thank you for helping us against Captain Hook.

Centiback: No problem. You want some of the Gluttons turned into footballs before we fight? Lynn should kick them though.

Lynn: OH IT IS ON!

Centiback then turned a bunch of Gluttons into explosive footballs and he then kicked them at Lynn and she kicked the balls into a bunch of Gluttons and they exploded in massive piles of blood and guts and splattered them all over the place!

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMMMMM!

SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT SPLAT!

Billy (Grim Adventures): 15 points! (Laughs)

Chase: Wow! Lynn is very powerful and athletic.

Lightning Dust: She sure is good though.

Rainbow Dash: Yep.

Me: Lets get this food fight on!

We went at them.

Homer as Pie Man, Bart as the Cupcake Kid, Applejack, Pear Butter, Notacon and Time Force Dash were facing Chief Wiggum. But Chief Wiggum was looking for the group he was about to face.

Then he was hit in the face with a cherry pie.

SPLAT!

Homer Simpson as Pie Man, Bart as The Cupcake Kid and the rest landed and were ready to face him!

Wiggum: Always love those entrances.

Bart: Thanks man.

Applejack: Y'all love doing that. But it's really fun.

Pear Butter: It sure is.

Notacon: This is gonna be so much fun.

Dash (Time Force): It sure is.

Wiggum: I love good food and a good food fight but I hate that Gorge guy. Lets do it.

Wiggum called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Applejack: This is something I learned from a cartoon. APPLE STYLE NINJA ART: APPLE PIE GRENADE BARRAGE!

Applejack fired a massive barrage of apple pies and they hit Wiggum all over and exploded!

KRABBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Pear Butter: Awesome technique Applejack!

Applejack: Thanks mom.

Pear Butter: And this one too. PEAR STYLE NINJA ART: PEAR SLICE BLADE DANCE!

Pear Butter fired a massive shower of pear slices and cut Wiggum all over the place.

Homer and Bart threw a bunch of pies and cupcakes and Notacon and Dash fired blasts of energy and the blasts all hit Wiggum all over the place and smashed and blasted him all over the place and knocked him and his Pokemon out.

Homer: That was a good victory of truth, justice and pie!

Bart: And cupcakes!

Applejack: YEEHAW! That was a good battle.

Pear Butter: It sure was. I'm so amazed that you have so much fun with all this.

Applejack: I know.

Battle 2: Springfield Mafia

Sora Takenouchi, Garudamon, Rainbow Dash, Daring Do, Lightning Dust, Gargoyle and Sandpit were facing the Springfield Mafia.

Fat Tony: So the famous Daring Do is now part of your team now.

Rainbow Dash: She sure is.

Daring Do: And it's gonna be awesome being part of the team.

Lightning Dust: This is gonna be so awesome.

Garudamon: This is always gonna be awesome.

Sora T.: Yeah it sure is.

Gargoyle: I love a good fight.

Sandpit: Same here.

Legs: Lets get it on. Get in my way and I'll whack you in the lobanza.

Sora T.: Get in my way Legs, and I'm gonna kick you in the fucking balls!

Legs: WHY YOU!

Rainbow Dash: Nice one Sora!

Lightning Dust: Sick burn.

Sora, Lightning Dust and Rainbow Dash fist bumped.

Sora T.: Lets do it!

Louie: You got a beef with me!?

Rainbow Dash: You bet I do!

The Springfield Mafia called out their Pokemon and they went at them.

Rainbow Dash: Try this one on! RAINBOW STYLE NINJA ART: BLUE LIGHT SPEARBEAMS!

Rainbow Dash fired a bunch of beams of blue light and they formed into a bunch of spears.

Daring Do: This will be good! FIRE STYLE NINJA ART: FLAMING COMPASS STAR!

Daring Do fired a wave of fire and it formed into a fire compass star.

Lightning Dust: Try this one on. LIGHTNING STYLE NINJA ART: THUNDERSTORM SWIFT STREAM!

Lightning Dust fired a massive stream of lightning and it went fast as real lightning.

Sora fired a wave of fire and Garudamon fired her Wing Blade and released a bird of fire and Gargoyle and Sandpit fired a wave of darkness and sand and the blasts all slammed into the Springfield Mafia and knocked them and their Pokemon out.

Lightning Dust: It will be so fun.

Battle 3: Krusty

Jackie, Fluttershy, Apple Fritter, Blast Man and Bomb Man were facing Krusty.

Krusty: I'm glad that you guys are restoring the honor of the love of food to this world.

Jackie: We all are and you used to used to be a restaurant owner right?

Krusty: I sure was. And it was really successful but my food was unhealthy. You all made the food I made much better than it ever was before.

Blast Man: Glad you like it now than you do then.

Apple Fritter: It's some of the best ever now.

Bomb Man: Yep.

Fluttershy: And I like the salads and all that.

Jackie: Yep. Shall we dance?

Krusty: Lets.

Krusty called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Fluttershy: This will be good! BUTTERFLY STYLE NINJA ART: BLUE WINGS OF JUSTICE!

Fluttershy fired a blast of light and it formed into a bunch of blue butterflies and they went at Krusty.

Apple Fritter: YEEHAW! That was awesome!

Fluttershy: It sure was.

Battle 4: Chalmers

It formed into an incredible sword of gold and it had jewels in the shapes of the Seven Cutie Marks of the Mane 7 and its power was unimaginably strong and powerful!

Princess Celestia and Princess Luna gasped in shock as they recognized what the sword was!

Princess Luna: It can't be!

Princess Celestia: I thought it was just a legend!

I saw the sword floating in front of me.

Me: (Gasp) Whoa. That is an amazing sword.

Princess Celestia: It sure is. That sword is called the Sword of Harmony. It is a legendary sword that has all the powers of the Elements of Harmony and it is imbued with the strength and power of the 7 Great Powers: Forgiveness, Honesty, Kindness, Laughter, Generosity, Loyalty and the Magic of Friendship and your sense of justice is what brought it back to us after so long. It chose you to wield it and use its power for good and all of your amazing adventures.

Me: Wow.

Nico: That's incredible.

Princess Celestia: It sure is and it's power is unimaginable. Take care of it J.D.

Me: I will Princess.

I took the sword and then I suddenly underwent a massive and powerful transformation.

(ESCAFLOWNE INTRO OF FOX KIDS PLAYS)

I was enveloped in a massive vortex of rainbow energy and fire and all the elemental forces of nature and the vortex of fire exploded out of the castle and high into the sky and it was so powerful that it even shot out of the entire galaxy and formed into an incredible phoenix of fire and the outer edges of the phoenix had rainbow fire and the elemental forces swirling around it. The 7 Cutie Marks of Twilight and her Friends all swirled around the phoenix and they went into the Phoenix's eye and everyone and everything all over the full extent of the entire universe felt the enormous and incredibly massive and full extent of my power rising at an astronomical rate. In the darkness of the underworld the evil Necrafa felt its incredible power and was screaming in excruciating pain as my power was really hurting her to an incredible level! The phoenix went back to Earth and then the dome of rainbow fire and the elements faded and I stood in the middle of a ring of rainbow fire with lightning and fire swirling around me at an incredible level and the amount of power I had was now far more powerful than that of Super Angel-Ebonwu-Phoenix 25,000,000 and I was now forever changed! My wings were now made entirely out of pure glowing rainbow fire with the curtains of the Aurora Borealis flowing around them and my eyes were now rainbow color and shimmering with the light of friendship, and more and even the stars of the cosmos, my hair was now glowing with incredible rainbow fire and I had earrings that had a symbol for the seven cutie marks of the Mane 7 around my Cutie Mark. I had a rainbow shirt with the kanji for the seven Elements: Forgiveness, Honesty, Kindness, Laughter, Generosity, Loyalty and Magic around a seven pointed star.

許し、誠実さ、優しさ、笑い、寛大さ、忠誠心、そして魔法。

I had rainbow fire pants and boots and my sleeveless trench coat was made with pure rainbow fire and it had the symbols of the Cutie Marks we all have all on the back in a circle around the kanji for Light and it also had the kanji for "James Dean Knudson, Supreme Force of Ultimate Purity, Friendship, Love, Elemental Might, Justice, Good and Light!" on the back.

ジェームズ・ディーン・ナドソン、究極の純度、友情、愛、エレメンタル・マイト、正義、善と光の最高の力！

My aura was a rainbow aura and it had the elemental forces of nature all swirling around it and the aura also had rainbow fire swirling around it as well. I had transformed into a SUPER ANGEL-EBONWU-PHOENIX 100,000,000 ELEMENTAL PHOENIX FRIEND OF JUSTICE!

Nico: WHOA! J.D. You look amazing!

Varie: Whoa! J.D. Wow!

Lincoln: J.D. is that really you?

Laney: What happened to you?

Me: (Divine Echoing Voice of Elemental Justice) I have ascended guys. I am now a supreme force of good and light.

Nico: You look incredible.

Zarya Moonwolf: Wow! J.D. you look amazing! How do you feel?

Me: Amazing Zarya. I feel absolutely amazing and this power has made me stronger than ever before.

Varie: Look at you J.D.

Varie formed a mirror and I saw myself.

Me: I do look incredible. But this power and this body might be the ultimate answer to saving the entire universe from the fury of the war with Necrafa coming up. I sense that she is stirring in the underworld and she felt the full extent of this incredible power.

Nico: I have a feeling you are right J.D.

Eli: I feel it too. But we'll all face her together.

Me: Yes we will Eli. And we're gonna make sure her crimes against all of Gemina and the entirety of the Universe do not go unpunished. She will pay the ultimate price for her crimes.

Arkayna: I have a feeling you can do it J.D.

Carol: We all believe in you!

Eli: And we are with you all the way!

Me: I know you all are and for that I will always be forever grateful. Now lets finish up here and head home.

Nico: Right.

I then slashed Gorge's head off faster than a beam of light and then he was completely obliterated in an instant.

Me: Enjoy the fires of Hell forever.

Eli: Good riddance.

Nunnally: You said it.

I powered down and I then fell over dizzy.

Me: Whoa! What a rush!

Lincoln and Nico caught me.

The Masters of Evil all came.

Wiggum: Wow! That was amazing J.D.

Me: It sure was Chief. Wow! Hard to imagine that the Sword of Harmony would unleash such power.

Lincoln: No kidding.

Wiggum: (to Chase) Before we go back to HQ, can we try some of your food?

Chase: You forgot to eat before coming here?

Jimbo: We did eat. But we heard you make excellent food.

Fat Tony: And all that fighting worked up an appetite.

Chase: Sure why not?

He got to cooking and he made them an awesome buffet and more and it was all for us and more. It was so delicious.

Nico: Mmm! So delicious!

Lincoln: You said it!

Chase: (To the viewers) Cooking is an awesome line of fun and having all kinds of options to explore. Everything you make has an awesome feeling to it but you need the most important feeling in a meal: Love.

Me: That's right.

We had a great meal and then we went back home.

THE END

See you all tomorrow.

Ending the Terror of the Collectors

At Gotham Royal York Elementary School, we were getting ready for an awesome and really fun eating contest. Lincoln had been training for this for a while.

Me: This is gonna be interesting. Today is the day of the annual Gotham Royal York Baked Bean eating contest.

Nico: I hope Lincoln wins. He has been training really hard for this and he hasn't bean eating anything else since he entered it 3 days ago.

Me: I know and he has been farting up a storm to the point where we almost can't breathe.

Lincoln & Clyde and Patsy & Gretchen came to us.

Lincoln: This is gonna be so fun!

Patsy Smiles: It sure will be.

Me: You entered a contest like this before didn't you Patsy?

Patsy Smiles: I sure did and it was great.

Inque: So you two are going to find out who can eat the most beans?

Clyde: Yep.

Gretchen: And we're gonna win!

Me: Lazlo you won a contest like this didn't you?

Lazlo: I sure did but that was a long time ago.

Edward: You know. Lazlo used to stack beans at one time.

Adella: Stack beans? Is that even possible?

Me: I was thinking exactly the same thing.

Nico: How far did you get in that Lazlo?

Lazlo: I got up to 128,513.

Laney: WHOA! That's really impressive.

Raj: (Indian Accent) Indeed it is. The beans we used were rotten beans.

Me: Rotten beans? Yuck!

Then Mayor Davis came.

Mayor Davis: And welcome everyone to the annual Gotham Royal York Baked Bean Eating Contest. The rules for this contest will be simple. Whoever eats the most beans and is the last person standing wins. Your partner will be watching you. Get ready folks.

Everyone sat down and Lincoln and Clyde were ready and presented with a big bowl of baked beans and they smelled awesome.

Me: Better get your nose plugs ready just in case.

I reached into my pocket and pulled out a bunch of nose plugs.

Mayor Davis: Ready everyone? On your marks… Get set… (Presses a key and it farts) Oops that's not it. (AIR HORN BLAST) GO!

They got to eating and Lincoln already finished 3 bowls in and he was really on a roll!

Me: Whoa! Lincoln is really moving!

Lori: He sure is.

Daring Do: Lincoln sure has a big appetite.

Me: He sure does.

Lincoln ate 3 more bowls and Patsy ate 5 more and Lincoln was really catching up to her. But some of the kids were falling.

FAARRT! FAARRT FAART FAART! FAART FAAART!

Some were Falling face first into their beans and falling backwards and onto the floor.

Lemming Brothers: HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP HUP!

They picked up a bunch of kids and carried them outside to the flatulence bench. It later came down to Lincoln & Clyde VS Patsy and Gretchen.

Me: This is gonna be a close one!

Nico: No kidding! Lincoln is really going at it!

He already ate 129 bowls of beans and Patsy had 110 bowls of beans.

Laney: Wow Lincoln should have fallen over gone by now.

Waspinator: Waspinator think Lincoln's gas is stinky!

FFFAAAAAAARRRRRTTTT!

Lincoln: Sorry!

Lincoln's stomach was really hurting.

Me: Also I thought you guys couldn't smell anything.

Optimus Primal: Well we're animals as well as robots and we have noses now.

Me: Oh.

Rattrap: Okay. It's official. Lincoln and Clyde win.

Me: And we're gonna die.

Rattrap: Hey! That's my line.

Optimus Primal and Airazor: Shut up Rattrap!

Mayor Davis: And the winner is Lincoln and Clyde!

We cheered wildly for Lincoln and Clyde and hoisted them up and they were presented the trophy. It was a solid diamond bowl of baked beans.

We got back home and Lincoln was sitting out on the deck and he was REALLY farting up a storm because of all those beans.

Me: Sorry you have to be out here Lincoln.

Lincoln: I'll make it but thanks for helping me and Clyde win guys.

Me: Aw it was nothing.

Nico: You totally earned it.

Kira Ford: You said it.

Lincoln got back to playing video games and he was really gassy. Mondo was getting ready to go to Mon World.

Clayface: Hey, Mondo. Mind if we go on patrol with you?

Mondo: Not at all. We'll all go. We're heading to the Water Realm.

Varie: Cool!

Me: This is gonna be awesome!

Rockna and Mondo went to their lockers and opened them and in them were secret tunnels.

Mondo: A GIANT LEAP FOR MON KIND!

Rockna and Mondo went down the tunnels and through tunnels that put them in their Mon Colle Knights Uniforms and were swinging on trapeze bars to their ship the Utopian Eagle.

Mondo: Yeah!

Rockna: WHOA! Rockna's Ready to Rumble!

They landed in the ship and Professor Hiiragi launched and smashed into the wall and it hurt him.

Professor Hiiragi: I always hate this part!

He landed in the ship.

Me: That is so cool guys!

Lana: Awesome!

Nico: Thank goodness we helped Rockna conquer her fear of frogs.

Daring Do: Thank goodness.

Me: Lets light this candle guys!

Lucy open a portal to Mon World and we were off.

Mondo: Mon World here we come!

We flew to Mon World and we were over the Water Realm!

Me: YEAH!

Nico: Wow! So this is the Water Realm.

Lori: It's over the ocean.

Linka: It sure is. Sorry Lincoln couldn't be with us.

Me: I know but knowing Lincoln he'll arrive. Lets head out and check for any activity.

Teresa: I'll check from the air for any crime.

Lori: And me and Arpeggio will go with you.

Me: And Varie you lead a team underwater.

Varie: Roger that!

Me: We'll meet up on that small island over there.

I pointed to a small island in the middle of the ocean.

Rockna: This is gonna be awesome!

We went to the island and the Neptune Crusaders and Lori and team went in the air and most of us flew out and searched.

Eli: Wow! So this is Mon World.

Me: It sure is. This is the realm where Mondo and Rockna had amazing adventures and it is so cool.

Linka: Yep.

We were waiting for anything.

Alizarin Bubblegum: But this is so cool that all this is possible here.

Gluko: It sure is.

Eccentro: We've had a lot of good times here.

Batch: Yeah.

Night Glider: Got to admit though. This world is so amazing from what we were told about it.

Rockna: It sure is cool huh?

We waited and more and Lori and Lola were soaking up some sun.

Lori: Ah this is literally relaxing.

Rarity: It is definitely relaxing.

Laney was playing her flute and she was playing the Celtic Flute song Fionnula's Tale by Marc Jungermann.

It was really beautiful. Fluttershy was playing her Tambourine to add to the song.

I then felt my Mermaid Sense go off and then a beautiful mermaid with periwinkle hair and pearls in her hair and she had beautiful blue eyes. She had pink fins for ears and a beautiful pink tail and pink dress and her hair had pearls at the ends.

When the song was done we cheered.

Pearl Princess: Wow! That was so beautiful!

Me: She did really well.

Pearl Princess: Wow! You are all Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's such an honor to meet you all.

Me: Pleasure to meet you too.

Pearl Princess: Same here. Mondo, Rockna and Professor Hiiragi it's great to see you all again. But why are Eccentro, Batch and Gluko with you?

Me: Don't worry, Eccentro and his team are no longer intent on conquering all of Mon World. Eccentro is now part of our frenemies in the Masters of Evil and Batch and Gluko are now part of our Redemption Squad.

Pearl Princess: I see.

Eccentro: It's not my turn and I just want to enjoy this time with my friends.

Me: Yeah.

Pearl Princess: Sounds like you all have done a lot these past few years.

Me: That's an understatement. We faced the evil Redda and killed him.

Pearl Princess: That's what I heard. I'm glad he will never terrorize our world again.

Me: That's right.

?: Hey guys!

We saw Spectra the Light Angel flying in.

Rockna: Spectra!

Spectra: Good to see you all again.

Rockna: Glad you could come.

Spectra: And I brought some friends to help out.

With her came the Water, Earth and Fire Angels.

Rockna: Wow! The Water, Earth and Fire Angels.

Fire Angel: It is good to see all of you again.

Water Angel: It sure is. How have things been?

Me: We are really busy saving the universe.

Earth Angel: It always is a big job.

Me: It always is. But we have to be ready for anything.

Spectra: But thank you all so much for destroying Redda.

Linka: You're welcome Spectra. He had it coming for a long time.

Lola: Yeah I can tell he was really messed up in the head.

Pearl Princess: I think that is an understatement Lola.

Lola: Yeah.

Me: Lets see here.

I pulled out my radio and I was listening in on radio signals.

Sarah Gunnerson: So far things have been very quiet.

Concrete: Yep. (Whoosh) Wait is that a portal?

They heard roaring of incredible rage!

Impact Man: Oh my God! Is that Tanaka?!

Eccentro: WHAT!? HOW DID HE SURVIVE!?

He then grabbed onto my back and pulled my shirt over him cover him to hide him.

Me: HEY! Get off of me! I'm not your wall!

Nico: So Tanaka survived!? I thought you blew up him and the whole castle.

Me: I did and he should've died with the blast. But somehow he survived.

Pearl Princess: His hatred must be too strong.

Fire Angel: That could be the case. His hatred burns really intensely for one such as him to die that easily.

Skywarp: I'll teleport us back to the others! We need to tell them what we just saw!

Thundercracker: Roger that bro!

Starfire: Lets go!

Concrete Man: Lets go!

Everyone regrouped.

Me: Hey, guys. How was-

Stewie: You're not gonna believe what we saw!

Me: We heard Stewie and Eccentro is hiding in my shirt like a scared little baby.

Sweetie Belle: It's like he has a really horrible history with this guy.

Me: Lets see what it says about him.

I pulled up Tanaka's info.

---

A midget old man who serves as Eccentro's mentor under the orders of Eccentro's father. He usually tries to "discipline" Eccentro for his screw-ups (and lack of manly attitude) with back-breaking exercises and harsh training related to the episode's content. Tanaka tends to pop up anywhere.

---

Me: So he is the monster responsible for tormenting you!

Eccentro: That's right.

Batch: He is such a monster.

Gluko: He treats us like slaves and he deserved to die.

Linka: I guess we'll have to finish what we started.

Me: Yep.

Nico: He doesn't deserve to be a mentor to anyone.

Linka: Yeah!

Bright Man: This shouldn't be a problem. We'll just find Tanaka and take him out. Should be easy.

Eccentro: Really? You think so? WRONG!

Me: Huh?

Eccentro: I hate Tanaka and he tried to make me REALLY evil and more and he promised my father that he would turn me into the most evil man ever.

Me: But I killed your father and I thought I killed Tanaka too. Also he should've died.

Eccentro got out of my shirt and I fixed my clothes.

?: Guys!

We turned and we saw Professor Calamitous, Shiv, Leonard the King Pig, Koragg, Katnappe and Cheese Shogun Roquefort.

Me: Professor Calamitous, Shiv, Leonard, Koragg, Katnappe and Roquefort.

Shiv: We heard what's going on.

Koragg: Eccentro we'll gladly help you deal with Tanaka. You don't need him anymore because now you have us as your family.

I put my hand on Eccentro's shoulder.

Me: And you have us as your family too.

Mondo: That's right.

Rockna: Yeah.

Eccentro then started crying.

Eccentro: Thank you so much guys. Thank you.

Me: Anytime.

Tanaka: ECCENTRO!

We saw him and we were ready to fight him!

Me: Tanaka! I'm amazed you are even still alive even after I blew you sky high!

Tanaka: SO YOU ARE THE ONE THAT BLEW UP THE CASTLE AND KILLED COUNT COLLECTOR!

Me: And I show no remorse for it!

Tanaka: YOU ARE A FUCKING MONSTER! WHAT YOU DID IS AN ACT OF THE DEVIL!

Me: No. I call it an act of justice in dealing with people like you!

Tanaka: How dare you betray me and your father, Eccentro!?

Roquefort: You would be wise to shut your damn mouth!

Koragg: You have no honor. That is why Eccentro betrayed you!

Calamitous: And we're a much better family to him then you and his father ever were!

Me: Yeah you fuckmongering tyrant!

Nico: You don't deserve to have Eccentro, Batch or Gluko to be with you!

Me: So do us all a favor and shut the hell up!

Tanaka: WHY YOU FUCKING LITTLE!?

He came at me and threw a punch at me and I blocked it with my arm and kicked him square in the face and send him crashing into a rock with devastating force.

Me: WHOA! My powers have gotten stronger since my ascension.

Nico: They sure have.

?: I'll say.

A figure came out and it was FORTISSIMODO from episode 12 of Zeo!

---

Fortissimodo is a piano-themed robot monster.

King Mondo created Fortissismodo from Angel Grove High's concert hall piano, for the intent of capturing the 'mysterious piano player.' Fortissimodo overpowered Adam until the other Rangers showed up. Klank made him grow and he grabbed Adam, who was soon freed by Tommy who attacked with the Defender Wheel. Fortissimodo shot out explosive piano notes, but was defeated by the Zeo Megazord.

---

Adam Park: Fortissimodo!

Fortissimodo: Been a while rangers.

Me: I remember you! You were sent by King Mondo to kidnap Eugene Skullovitch who was actually Skull.

Fortissimodo: That's right J.D. Good memory on you.

Me: Never missed an episode.

Fortissimodo: (to Skull) So you're the mysterious piano player? That's very impressive. And you're not even a Ranger.

Skull: That's right and thanks for the compliment.

Me: We'll have our usual battles after we deal with Tanaka.

Shiv: Right.

Tanaka got up.

Troy: You're done making Eccentro's life a living Hell!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Beast Morphers!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Beast Morpher Rangers and Orion turned into Ninjor!

Me: Time for you to command a better army!

Tanaka: What is that?

Me: An eternity of suffering in Hell!

Maxxor: By the authority of the Tribal Alliance, We're taking you down by Force!

Me: Here's your warning…

Rainbow Dash: Your fucking ass is about to be kicked!

Me: Aww Rainbow Dash, I was gonna say that!

Rainbow Dash: Sorry J.D.

Will Vandom: Guardians Unite!

Arkayna: Mysticons! ENERGIZE!

Ripping Friends: IT'S RIPPING TIME!

We transformed and went to the island he was on and Tanaka went at us roaring with incredible fury! We then collided with him and a massive fiery explosion exploded out of the island!

TTTHHHHHHOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

I punched Tanaka in the face and kicked him in the stomach and Nico kicked him in the face and punched him in the back of the head and Eddy bit him in the leg and fired a blast of light into Tanaka's eyes and burned him all over and Lola fired blasts of fire and burned Tanaka all over the place. Linka fired a massive wave of lightning and electrocuted Tanaka all over the place and Laney, Lori and Princess Celestia blasted him all over with Leaves, Wind and fire and blew him all over and burned and cut him all over the place with incredible fury and Shiv and Koragg slashed him all over and blasted him with light blades and Wolf Magic and more and Rainbow Dash, Lightning Dust, Vapor Trail and Scootaloo went at him with incredible speed and smashed and blasted him all over with Rainbows, lightning and energy and smashed and blasted him all over the place and really hurt him.

KROW!

Gluko: (punches Tanaka) This is for treating Eccentro like crap!

BLAM!

Batch: (Kicks Tanaka in the face) That's for making me workout without a break!

CRUNCH!

Gluko: (Knees Tanaka square in the crotch) That's for calling me stupid and dumb!

Lincoln then flew in!

Lincoln: Let me help you guys!

Me: Lincoln! You're full of gas remember?

I punched Tanaka.

Lincoln: I know but I know a good way to use these farts for a powerful weapon.

Luna: I think I have a good idea what you're gonna do bro.

Lincoln then pointed his butt at Tanaka.

Lincoln: Sniff on this!

He grunted and then released a massive fart of incredible strength and power and he lit the fart on fire and turned his but into a deadly flamethrower and the fire hit Tanaka and ignited him and he was screaming in excruciating pain!

He dove into the water and came out burned and charred and he was more enraged than ever!

Me: Time for me to test out the full extent of my ultimate power!

(ESCAFLOWNE INTRO OF FOX KIDS PLAYS)

I then was enveloped in a massive vortex of rainbow fire and I went into my new Super Angel-Ebonwu-Phoenix 100,000,000 Elemental Phoenix Friend of Justice form and I was ready to fight. My eyes opened and I was ready to unleash the ultimate power of the Divine Cosmos on Tanaka!

Me: (Divine Echoing Voice of Elemental Justice) For your crimes Tanaka, your punishment is death!

Shiv: Whoa! Look at J.D.!

Roquefort: Unbelievable! He totally transformed into an ultimate force of good!

Katnappe: How did J.D. get such incredible power?

Twilight Sparkle: You wouldn't believe us even if we told you.

Sunset Shimmer: Yeah.

I went at Tanaka with incredible speed and punched him in the face with incredibly devastating force and sent him flying and then he rebounded at me I dodged his strike and kicked him in the back and sent him crashing into a rock on the island. He arose from the rubble and he was infuriated!

Tanaka: (ENRAGED SCREAMING AT ME) I HATE YOU!

My aura flared up with incredible force and he went at me and punched and kicked at me and I dodged all his attacks like they were nothing!

I then punched him in the stomach with incredible force and he belched up a tremendous amount of blood.

I then kneed him in the face and sent him slamming into a cliff.

Me: If this is all that you are made of it's really pathetic for an old man past his prime.

Tanaka then exploded out of the rubble screaming in rage and he came at me I punched him in the face with incredible force and knocked him down.

Shiv: Man J.D. has changed so much! I don't know how this happened but he is now far more powerful than ever before!

Lynn: No kidding!

Tanaka got up and he was even more enraged!

Tanaka: I HATE YOU!

My aura flared up some more.

Me: You can hate me all you want but all you're doing is making me more powerful. Also you've totally underestimated my power and never even knew what you were up against.

Tanaka: I'LL SHOW YOU!

He went at me some more and I was dodging all his strikes and he was getting weaker and weaker by the second. It was like every time he punched at me he was losing some of his life energy.

Nico: Something is really weird guys. Every time Tanaka punches at J.D. it makes him weaker and weaker. It's like J.D. is sucking the life force right out of him.

Princess Celestia: That's exactly what it is Nico. The Sword of Harmony allows the user to suck out the opponent's life energy and converts it into power for the user.

Vince: Whoa! So J.D. gets stronger every time he fights because of the sword and it makes his opponents weaker.

Vegeta: Wow. That's incredible.

Nico: It sure is.

Princess Celestia: But it only works when J.D. is in this form.

Nico: That's a relief. If a bunch of Evil Sasuke's faced him like this they would be totally helpless against him.

Vince: Yep.

Me: Feel free to jump in at any time guys.

Nico: Right! Lets get him guys!

Everyone went at him and it was a brutal fight. We blasted him all over and pulverized him all over with incomprehensible fury and more! Kughar, Vinta, Clodor, Staluk, Ulfhedinn, Slurhk, Kamengareth, Mudeenu, Tassanil, Crawsectus, and Viqtarr fired waves of energy and elemental attacks and more the the Megaforce Rangers and Beast Morphers and all the Rangers blasted him all over the place and more.

Tanaka: YOU CAN'T DO THIS TO ME ECCENTRO! I WAS ONLY TRYING TO HELP YOU!

Eccentro: I DON'T NEED HELP FROM A MONSTER LIKE YOU!

Gluko: NEVER TORMENT US AGAIN!

Batch: You're fired!

I unsheathed the Sword of Harmony.

KRABBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Tanaka was dead in an instant. Tanaka was sent into the Book of Vile Darkness.

I powered down.

Me: Whoa! That was incredible!

Nico: Wow! No kidding! But that was incredible power!

Lincoln: No kidding! (Faints)

Lori caught him. Lincoln was exhausted.

Lori: Man bro you literally have the most powerful farts ever and they smell worse than me.

Laney: But Lincoln you did a great job.

Eccentro: I'm proud of the kid.

Nico: We all are.

Shiv: But J.D. your power is incredible! I would hate to imagine if Lord Drakkon saw you like that.

Me: I know but that's why I have to be careful when using the Sword of Harmony and that transformation. It's power is so strong that it's powerful enough to destroy anyone no matter how strong they are.

Shiv: We'll have to be careful around you.

Leonard the Pig King: (to Eccentro) I really am sorry about how Tanaka and your father turned out, Eccentro.

Eccentro: It's fine. I don't give a damn about them anymore. (smiles) You guys are my family now.

Shiv: Damn right! Wanna go to Burpin Burger to celebrate?

Eccentro: I'd like that.

Katnappe: (to us) You guys wanna join us?

We were off to the Burpin Burger.

A clouded dream on an earthly night

Hangs upon the crescent moon;

A voiceless song in an ageless light

Sings at the coming dawn.

Birds in flight are calling there

Where the heart moves the stones;

It's there that my heart is calling

All for the love of you.

A painting hangs on an ivy wall

Nestled in the emerald moss.

The eyes declare a truce of trust

And then it draws me far away.

Where deep in the desert twilight

Sand melts in pools of the sky,

When darkness lays her crimson cloak

Your lamps will call me home.

And so it's there my homage's due,

Clutched by the still of the night,

And now I feel you move;

Every breath is full.

So it's there my homage's due,

Clutched by the still of the night.

Even the distance feels so near,

All for the love of you.

A clouded dream on an earthly night

Hangs upon the crescent moon;

A voiceless song in an ageless light

Sings at the coming dawn.

Birds in flight are calling there

Where the heart moves the stones;

It's there that my heart is calling

All for the love of you.

Another awesome fanfic done.

This is the 3rd Mon Colle Knights chapter and it was awesome! NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is the Second Uncle Grandpa chapter and we're going after Pizza the Kid in the funny episode The Great Spaghetti Western and we're gonna make that cactus flinging rotten slice of Pizza pay for his crimes. This battle is gonna really hurt for us as we'll be pulling a lot of cactus balls out of our bodies.

See you all tomorrow.

Apples, Cactuses and Pizza don't Mix

It was a beautiful Fall day in November. At Sweet Apple Acres, the apple harvesting season was now in full swing.

Applejack : Boy howdy! I got my work cut out for me. That there is the biggest bumper crop o' apples I ever laid eyes on.

Big McIntosh : Eeyup. Too big for you to handle on your own.

Applejack : Come on, big brother! You need to rest up and get yourself better. I haven't met an apple orchard yet that I can't handle. (Pokes Big Mac who is in Pain) Oops, sorry. I'll take a bite out of this job by day's end.

Big McIntosh : Biting off more than you can chew is just what I'm afraid of.

Applejack : Are you sayin' my mouth is makin' promises my legs can't keep?

Big McIntosh : Eeyup.

Applejack : Why of all the… This is your sister Applejack, remember? The loyalest of friends and the most dependable of ponies ?

Big McIntosh : But still only one pony, and one pony plus hundreds o' apple trees just doesn't add up to…

Applejack : Don't you use your fancy mathematics to muddy the issue! I said I could handle this harvest and I'm gonna prove it to you. I'm gonna get every last apple out of those trees this applebuck season all by myself . [gulps]

She had hundreds of apple trees to work with and it was gonna be one heck of a job.

Applejack : Well I better get kickin'. These apples aren't gonna shake themselves outta the trees.

Suddenly there was an earthquake-like rumble and an apple landed on her head.

Applejack: Hey! Oh no .

Applejack knew what that was!

We were in Ponyville and we felt the rumble as well!

Rainbow Dash flew up into the air and she saw a huge dust wall coming right at the town!

Rainbow Dash : STAMPEDE!

A STAMPEDE OF COWS WAS COMING RIGHT AT US!

[cows mooing]

Me: EVERYONE RUN!

[ponies panicking]

Sweetie Drops : Stampede!

[ponies panicking]

Pinkie Pie : [laughter] Hey… ! [vibrating] This makes my voice sound silly!

Twilight Sparkle : Pinkie Pie, are you crazy?! Run!

Me: EVERYONE GET INSIDE FAST!

Lincoln: YEAH!

Mayor Mare : Everypony calm down. There is no need to panic.

Rarity : But Mayor, whatever shall we do?

Rainbow Dash : Look there!

Applejack : YEEHAW!

Me: Looks like Applejack is gonna be needing my Wrangling skills! (Whistles)

I called my Rapidash and I got on and put my cowboy hat on

Me: HYAH!

My Rapidash whinnied and we rode to Applejack.

[ponies cheer]

Applejack : Move aside, Winona.

Winona: (Barking)

Applejack: Put 'em up, girl!

Winona : [barking]

I got alongside Winona.

Me: YEEHAW!

Rarity : [moan]

Pinkie Pie : This is the best rodeo show I've ever seen. [eats popcorn]

Me: GET ALONG LITTLE DOGGIES!

I pushed a cow.

Applejack : Come on, little doggies! Turn! [whistle] Winona, put 'em up! (Lassos a cow) Ha hah! Gotcha. [grunt]

Winona : [bark]

Applejack : Attagirl. [grunts] Yee haw!

Me: GET ALONG LITTLE DOGGIES!

The Cows turned and we saved the town!

[ponies cheer]

The ponies and everyone had flags for both me and Applejack.

Applejack : Whoaaa .

Me: Whoa there!

The cows all stopped.

Applejack: Hooie! Wow! J.D. that was some fine wrangling!

Me: Thanks Applejack.

Applejack: How did you learn how to do all that?

Me: Watched a lot of cowboy movies with my dad and I picked up a lot of stuff like that on the fly. Came in handy.

Applejack: It sure did. Great job J.D.

Me: (Tips Hat) (Imitating John Wayne) Just doing my job little lady.

We laughed.

We went up to the cows.

Applejack: Now what was that all about?

DaisyJo : [moo] [cough] (Minnesota Accent) Oh my! Begging your pardon, Applejack, but Moo-riella here saw one of those nasty snakes.

[cows startled]

DaisyJo : And it just gave us all the willies, don'tcha know.

Me: Man snakes can be a big problem around here.

Applejack : I completely understand. Just next time, try and steer clear of Ponyville.

DaisyJo : We certainly will, Applejack. So long, Winona! And bye J.D.!

(Winona barked)

[ponies cheer]

[crowd: Applejack!]

Applejack : Yee haw!

Me: HI HO SILVER! AWAY!

We did a Lone Ranger stunt.

Pinkie Pie : Yee haw! Ride 'em, cowpony!

Mayor Mare : Applejack and J.D. were just… just…

Pinkie Pie : Apple tastic !

I came back.

Me: Man that was some rodeo.

Nico: It sure was! Awesome job!

Mayor Mare : Exactly . We must do something to thank both you and Applejack for single-hoofedly saving the town.

Me: Aw it was nothing.

Pinkie Pie : I know.

Scene turns into a party and everything was all decorated.

Pinkie Pie : A party!

Twilight Sparkle : We all ready?

Rarity : Just one last thing.

Rarity hung up a beautiful banner that had an apple with a phoenix in it.

Rarity: Now we're ready.

Nico: It looks great Rarity.

Fu: Yeah it sure does!

Twilight Sparkle : Is Applejack all set?

Rainbow Dash : Actually, I haven't seen her all week.

Nico: Yeah and J.D. will be here shortly.

Pinkie Pie : Not since the stampede.

Nico: Weird.

Rainbow Dash : But they'll be here for sure. Applejack and J.D. are never late.

Naruto: Not like a certain scarecrow sensei we all know.

Everyone laughed.

Nico: That's funny Naruto.

Fu: (Laughs) Good one!

Nicole: But you are right bro.

Later everyone was gathered and we were excited. I was there too.

Twilight Sparkle : Welcome, everypony! Today we are here to honor a pony and a man that we all can always count on to help in matters great and small. A pony and a man whose contributions to-

Rainbow Dash : Did you see Applejack and J.D.'s slick moves out there? What a couple of athletes . This week Applejack's gonna help me with my new flying trick, and I know it's gonna be so awesome .

Me: Can't wait to see it R.D.

Twilight Sparkle : Exactly . And…

Pinkie Pie : This week, I get to run Sugarcube Corner for the time being.

Laney: Awesome Pinkie Pie!

Alizarin Bubblegum: Can't wait to be there Double P.

Twilight Sparkle : What does that have to do with Applejack?

Pinkie Pie : Oh . Applejack, one of the best bakers ever, is gonna help me. Applejack makes everything great, so free samples for everypony!

[ponies cheering]

Lola: Awesome!

Lana: Yeah!

Twilight Sparkle : Oh-kay, that's great. Now if I could just make a point without being inter-

Fluttershy : Twilight?

Twilight Sparkle : - rupted .

Fluttershy : Twilight, I'm so sorry, but I just wanted to mention that Applejack is also helping me this week with the official bunny census, where we count up all the new baby bunnies that were born this season. She's gonna help gather them using her wonderful herding skills.

Me: And I can help with that too if you want Fluttershy.

Fluttershy: Thank you so much J.D.

Twilight Sparkle : Anyone else ? Anyone ? No ? Well then, as I was trying to say… Urgh! Never mind .

Mayor Mare : Ah-ahem. And so, with no further ado, it is my privilege to give the prize, Pony of Ponyville Awards, (Shows said awesome trophies) to our beloved guests of honor, a pony and a man of the utmost trustworthiness, reliability, and integrity. Ponyville's most capable and dependable friends: Applejack and J.D. Knudson of Team Loud Phoenix Storm !

[crowd cheer]

I went onto the stage!

Me: Thank you all!

Spike : Cool! Way to go Applejack and J.D., that was awesome! I mean- heh.

Mayor Mare : Ah-ahem.

Me: Thank you madam Mayor. This is a big honor. Huh?

I saw that Applejack wasn't there.

Me: Where's Applejack?

Spike : Awkward .

Applejack : I'm here . I'm here . [yawn]

Applejack came and she was all tired and exhausted.

Applejack: [sigh] Sorry I'm late-whoa-I was just… whoa… Did I get your tail? Miss Mayor. Thank you kindly for this here… award thingy. [yawn]

Me: Applejack are you all right? You look really tired.

Applejack: I'm all right. It's so bright and shiny and, heh, heh heh, I sure do look funny heh. Ooo-ooo.

Pinkie Pie : Woo-ooo.

Applejack : Ooo-ooo.

I snickered.

Twilight Sparkle : Okay . Well, thank you both for saving us from that scary stampede, and always being there for everyone.

Me: Aw it was nothing. Just doing what we do best and that is helping everyone.

Applejack : [yawn] Yeah. I like helping the ponyfolks and [yawn] and stuff. [snore] Oh, uh, yeah. Uh, Thanks.

[sounds of dragging metal]

Twilight Sparkle : Was it just me, or did Applejack seem a little-

Rainbow Dash : Tired?

Fluttershy : Dizzy?

Me: Exhausted?

Rarity : Messy?

Nico: All of the above?

Rarity: Well, did you see her mane?

Pinkie Pie : She seemed fine to me. Woo! Woo!

Twilight Sparkle : Hmm.

Me: She seemed all of the above actually. We'd better get over there and see what's up.

Nico: Good idea.

Applejack : [grunts]

She kicked a tree and a lot of apples poured into buckets.

She kicked another tree and a lot of apples poured into more buckets and did the same with another tree

Applejack: [sigh] Phew. [gasp] (Kicks nothing and nearly falls over) O-oah.

Twilight Sparkle : What on Earth is that pony doing ?

Me: Looks like she's harvesting apples all by herself.

She accidentally kicks a bucket over.

Applejack : Whoops.

Twilight Sparkle : Hey Applejack!

Me: Applejack are you in there!?

Applejack : [snore]

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack.

Applejack : [snore]

Me: Applejack.

I snapped my fingers to wake her up but nothing.

Me: Wake up sleepyhead!

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack. (Teleports) Apple JACK !

Applejack : Oh, howdy, Twilight. Hey guys.

Twilight Sparkle: What is all this?

Applejack : It's Applebuck season. (Twilight Teleports as she kicks a tree) Whoa.

Twilight Sparkle : Apple what season?

Applejack : Neh, It's what the Apple family calls harvestin' time. We gather all the apples from the trees so we can sell 'em.

Lincoln: It is early November.

Nico: And you're gathering all these apples all by yourself?

Twilight Sparkle : But why are you doing it all alone?

Applejack : 'cause Big McIntosh hurt himself.

Me: Oh man. I hope he's all right.

Lily: Yeah.

Applejack: He'll be fine. Thanks for your concern.

Twilight Sparkle : What about all those relatives I've met when I first came to Ponyville? Can't they help?

Me: Yeah Can't they help?

Applejack : [sigh] They were just here for the Apple family reunion. They actually live all over Equestria and are busy harvestin' their own orchards.

Lola: We can see that.

Lana: That's a massive family.

Laney: You look like you haven't slept in a while though.

Applejack: I know. So, uh, I'm on my own. (Twilight teleports) Which means, I should really get back to work. Ahem… hint hint ? Get back to work ?

Twilight Sparkle : Fine.

Applejack : (Wobbly and confused) Could you step aside, Twilight?

Twilight Sparkle : I just did. (Echoing) Applejack, you don't look so good.

Me: Yeah you look like you haven't slept in days.

Applejack : Eh, don't any of you three worry none, I'm just fine and dandy. (Loses balance) Whoa.

Me: We're just concerned for you Applejack.

Twilight Sparkle : Do you… want some help?

Me: Yeah do you need any help?

Applejack : Help? No way, no how.

Twilight Sparkle : But there's no way you can do it all on your own.

Me: Yeah there's lots of Apple trees here and from the looks of things you need a lot of help.

Applejack : Is that a challenge?

Me: No!

Twilight Sparkle : Uhm… no ?

Applejack : Well, I'm gonna prove to you that I can do it! Now if you'll excuse me, I've got apples to buck.

Me: Tch. Cranky.

Later Rainbow Dash was waiting for Applejack.

Applejack arrived.

Rainbow Dash : There you are.

Applejack : [yawn] I'm a mite sorry, Rainbow. I was busy applebuckin' and I guess ah, I closed my eyes for a second and, when I woke up, I was late. Now, what's this new trick a' yours?

Rainbow Dash : See this contraption?

Camera shows a catapult-like teeter-toter

Applejack : Uh… Yeah.

Rainbow Dash : Well, I'm gonna stand on one end, then you're gonna jump down from that platform, launching me into the air faster than I can take off on my own. Once I'm in the air, I'm gonna do some amazing flips and spins that are sure to impress the Wonderbolts.

Applejack : Isn't that a mite dangerous? And you're already in the Wonderbolts.

Rainbow Dash : Pfft, Yeah I know and Heh, not for a pony who can fly .

Lightning Dust: Yeah.

Applejack : Well, all right-y then. (Looks down) Oh my.

Rainbow Dash : Ready? One… two… THREE!

Applejack : [crash]

OUCH!

Rainbow Dash : Umm… maybe I wasn't clear. You're supposed to land on the other end.

Applejack : (POP) (Eyes Spin) Got it. [grunt] (Falls on her butt) [grunt] (Falls on her back) [grunt] (Falls on her chest)

OUCH!

Rainbow Dash : Applejack, what the hay is going on? I mean, I thought I was working with Ponyville's best athlete!

Lightning Dust: You are just giving her some time.

Applejack : You are . I'm okay. Really. I-I have an idea. Watch this. [groan] (She pulls down the other end she was supposed to be jumping onto) Ta da ! Oh… Maybe not. Okay, one more try. I'm sure to get it this time.

CRASH!

Rainbow Dash : Ugh!

Applejack : Heh heh… Here I go!

She jumped.

Rainbow Dash : Wait!

Lightning Dust: ABORT LAUNCH! ABORT LAUNCH!

She launched Rainbow Dash!

Rainbow Dash: Applejaaaaack!

She went flying far.

Applejack : You're welcome !

Later at the Estate, Twilight Sparkle was reading in the conservatory when suddenly Rainbow Dash crashes through the window and lands on the sofa.

THUD!

Rainbow Dash : [grunt] OW.

Twilight Sparkle : Can I help you?

Me: Are you okay Rainbow Dash?

Rainbow Dash : Yeah but I think somepony else needs your help.

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack?

Rainbow Dash : Yep.

Me: (Sigh) We need to set her straight.

We went to Sweet Apple Acres.

Applejack bucked a tree and she picked up an apple and hit her head on a tree branch.

BLAM!

Applejack : Ow!

Her ears were ringing!

We arrived.

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack, can we talk? (Muffled) Applejack, can we talk?

Applejack : Can bees squawk?! I don't think so.

Me: Her ears are ringing.

Twilight Sparkle : No. Can we talk?

Applejack : Twenty stalks? Bean or celery?

Twilight Sparkle : No! I need to talk to you .

Applejack : You need to walk to the zoo? Well, who's stoppin' you?

Twilight Sparkle : I need to talk to you !

Me: Hold on. (Pulls out a megaphone and yells) TWILIGHT SPARKLE NEEDS TO TALK TO YOU!

Applejack : Oh! Well why didn't you say so? What you wanna talk about?

Twilight Sparkle : Rainbow Dash dropped in to see me today.

Applejack : That's quite neighborly of her.

Twilight Sparkle : Yes, except that she crashed onto a sofa in the conservatory at the estate after you launched her into the air.

Me: And now I have to fix a window!

Applejack : Oh, yeah. I wasn't feeling quite myself this morning.

Twilight Sparkle : Because you're working too hard and you need help .

Applejack : What? Kelp? I don't need kelp. I don't even like seaweed.

Me: (To myself) I don't either.

Twilight Sparkle : HELP! You need HELP!

Me: (Through Megaphone) YEAH YOU NEED HELP AND YOU NEED IT NOW!

Applejack : Nothin' doin', guys. I'm gonna prove to you, t'everypony, that I can do this on my own . (Hits same branch) Ow! Now if you'll excuse me, I've gotta go help Pinkie Pie.

She walked away wobbly and dizzily.

Twilight Sparkle : Ugh.

Me: That girl needs help like it or not.

Twilight Sparkle: Agreed.

Mrs. Cake : Now Pinkie Pie, are you sure you're up for baking the muffins and running the store this afternoon?

Pinkie Pie : Yes siree bob, Mrs. Cake. Plus, I have Ponyville's prized pony to help me out. Why, she's the best baker ever . (Echoing and distorted) Right, Applejack?

Mr. Cake : No? You're not the best baker ever?

Applejack : WHAT? Oh no! I mean, don't you fret. I can bake anything from fritters to pies in the blink of an eye.

Mrs. Cake : [sigh] All right. Well, see you later, girls!

They left.

Pinkie Pie : Stop with the shakin', it's time to get bakin'.

Pinkie Pie : All right-y! I'll get the sugar and the eggs. Can you get me some chocolate chips?

Applejack : Eh, uh, whu, what was that?

Pinkie Pie : (Distorted) Chocolate chips .

Applejack : Chips… got it. Tater chips, a little salty and dry, okie-dokie. (She got Potato Chips and added them) What next?

Pinkie Pie : (Distorted) Baking soda .

Applejack : Soda . Perfect. (Went to the fridge) That'll get the tater chips nice and wet. (Grabs soda and adds it) Now what ?

Pinkie Pie : A cup of flour.

Applejack : A cup o' sour? Well, lemons are sure sour. One cup o' sour, comin' up. (Adds lemon juice) Anything else, Pinkie?

Pinkie Pie : One last thing. Wheat germ.

Applejack : Wheat worms? Oh, that must be fancy talk for earthworms.

EW!

She went outside and dug and got some earthworms and added them.

Pinkie Pie : Now that's gonna be delicious .

Applejack : If you say so.

YUCK!

The disgusting muffins were ready.

Pinkie Pie : Free muffin sample spectacular!

[ponies: mmm, muffins]

Applejack : Yeah! Muffin spectacles! Get 'em while they're hot.

Later at the hospital we arrived and the nurse pulled back the curtain

Twilight Sparkle : We came as soon as we heard.

Me: Yeah what happened?

Nurse Redheart : Oh thank you for coming guys. We need all the help we can get.

[ponies moaning]

We saw a bunch of ponies sick as hell and they were green around the gills, writhing on the floor in agony and hurling their guts out!

Twilight Sparkle : Oh no! What happened?

Spike : [sniff]

Me: Looks like a really bad epidemic of food poisoning.

Nurse Redheart : It was a mishap with some of the baked goods.

Pinkie Pie : No, not baked goods, baked bads . [groans]

I picked up a muffin and sniffed it.

Me: (Sniffs) Hmm. I don't see what the problem is.

Then an earthworm poked out.

Me: EW!

Lana was eating the leftover muffins that were bad.

Lana: (Eating) MMM! These muffins are the best ever!

Spike: They sure are! I didn't know you like these.

Me: Oh that's Lana for you Spike. She eats anything that's gross.

Lana: It's true.

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack .

Me: We need to seriously have a talk with her!

Spike : [chomp] Want one?

We went to Sweet Apple Acres again.

Applejack : [grunt] (Bucks a tree and apples fall) [snore] (Apple hits her on the head) What? Huh? [grunt] (Pours apples into a bucket)

(Cart tips up with her on it and she is hanging upside-down) [snore]

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack, we need to talk.

Me: Wake up Sleeping Beauty.

Applejack : Wha, huh? Oh, it's you, guys. [yawn] I know what you're gonna say, but the answer is still no .

Thorax: Applejack, I've known you ever since we first met here in Equestria. And I know when you need help.

Applejack: No I don't!

Me: Applejack look at yourself. Not only do you need to get some sleep but you need help getting all the apples from these trees.

Nico: Yeah!

Applejack: No I don't!

Twilight Sparkle : Not to upset your applecart, but you need help.

Applejack : Hardy har. [groan] And no I don't.

Twilight Sparkle : Here, let me help.

Applejack : Help? No thanks . [groan] A little more… [groan] Little… [grunt] There. I'll prove that this apple can handle these apples. (Bucks tree) Come on [grunt] apples [grunt] fall off [grunt].

Twilight Sparkle : A.J., I think you're beating a dead… tree.

Me: Yeah. That tree is dead Applejack.

Applejack : I knew that.

Twilight Sparkle : Actually, Applejack, I had something else to talk to you about. I just came back from Ponyville Urgent Care and-

Applejack : You know, I'm a little busy to get lectured right now, Twilight.

Me: That's not what we were about to say. A bunch of ponies got sick with food poisoning.

Twilight Sparkle : Yeah and if you'd just let us help-

Applejack : Ugh. No, no, NO ! How many times do I gotta say it? I don't need no help from nopony or no one!

Twilight Sparkle : Ugh. That pony is stubborn as a mule.

[mule braying]

Twilight Sparkle : No offense.

Mule : None taken.

Me: That pony is as stubborn as a goat that won't move off the railroad tracks.

Vince: No kidding.

Fu: She needs help whether she likes it or not.

We went to talk to Apple Bloom.

Apple Bloom: So Applejack won't take any help?

Me: None and she is totally exhausted.

Alana: (to Apple Bloom) How long has she been at this?

Apple Bloom: She has been like this for 10 days now. Big Mac hurt himself and she took on the challenge of working the Applebuck Harvest all by herself.

Lincoln: That's insane! And I went for 43 days without sleep making a huge order of Lynn-sagnas.

Me: We're gonna need to call in the special forces for this one.

I pulled out my cell phone and called Dark Spicer who was watching TV and eating apple slices.

Dark Spicer: Hello?

Me: Hey Dark it's J.D.

Dark Spicer: Hey what's up man?

Me: We need your help. Applejack has been doing the whole apple harvesting season here at Sweet Apple Acres all by herself for the last 10 days because her brother Big Mac hurt himself and she went for 10 days without sleep.

Dark Spicer: Oh man. Let me guess. She wants to prove that she can harvest the whole apple orchard all by herself and won't accept any help from anyone.

Me: Bingo.

Dark Spicer: Say no more. I'm on my way. (Hangs up)

Dark Spicer turned into Dirtdrive and dashed towards us at over 10,000 miles per hour and he arrived in less than a minute and reverted back.

Dark Spicer: Got here as fast as I could.

Me: Cool.

Poliwag was eating Applejack's apples.

Blackarachnia: (to Poliwag) Seriously? Applejack's working herself to death and you're eating her apples?!

Poliwag: What? They're tasty apples.

Laney: The Apple Family does make a lot of great apples.

Later Applejack was with Fluttershy.

Fluttershy : Oh Applejack! Thank you so much for offering your herding skills for the annual rabbit roundup.

Applejack : Ugh. Why are we doin' this?

Fluttershy : Well, lots of new baby bunnies have been born, so it's my job to get a count of all the new families.

Applejack : Fine. Can we just get on with it?

Fluttershy : Certainly, but remember, these are bunnies we're dealing with, not cows. They're a timid bunch and need to be treated gently.

Applejack : I do NOT need any direction on corrallin' critters. Right, Winona?

Winona : [barks]

Fluttershy : Okay, little bunnies! I need you to all gather here in the middle.

Applejack : That's right! Let's go, bunnies. In the center. Hop to it .

The Bunnies stood in line.

Applejack: Swell. Just swell . (Chases them) Put 'em up, Winona!

Winona : [barks]

Fluttershy : Applejack! Winona! Stop! You're scaring them.

Applejack : We know what we're doin'. Get along, little bunnies.

Winona : [barks] [growls]

Fluttershy : Oh no.

The bunnies got scared and then they ran in fright!

Another earthquake-like rumble was felt and Rainbow Dash saw a dust cloud coming!

Rainbow Dash : STAMPEDE !

Me: UH OH! NOT ANOTHER ONE!

Daisy : [yelps] Stampede!

[ponies scream]

The ponies ran for cover!

[rabbits running]

Lily Valley : [sigh]

She fainted.

Twilight Sparkle : [humming] [gasp]

We got to Ponyville and saw the Flower Sisters on the ground!

Rose : The horror, the horror.

Lily Valley : It was awful.

Daisy : A disaster . A horrible, horrible disaster.

Me: What happened?

Dark Spicer: Yeah.

Twilight Sparkle : I don't get it.

Lily Valley : Our gardens, destroyed.

Rose : Every last flower, devoured.

Daisy : By… by… THEM!

We saw the bunnies all over the place

Fluttershy : Oh my. Oh… Please stop, little bunnies. Oh no! Please, let's go home. Oh my goodness.

Twilight Sparkle : All right. Enough is enough .

Me: This has gone on far enough. Like it or not, Applejack is getting help one way or another!

Nico: And we'll do it by force if we have to.

Dark Spicer: Yeah!

Applejack : Must [gasp] keep [gasp] buckin'… just [gasp] a few [gasp] more. Must finish harvestin'.

We went up to Applejack.

Twilight Sparkle : All right, Applejack. Your applebucking hasn't just caused you problems, it's over-propelled Pegasus', practically poisoned plenty of ponies, and terrorized bushels of brand new bouncing baby bunnies. I don't care what you say, you . Need . Help .

Me: That's right. This has gone on for far too long. Not only do you need to get some sleep but you need help. Look at yourself!

Dark Spicer turned into Splitlife.

Splitlife: That's it! We're helping you whether you like it or not!

Applejack: I told ya'll I don't need any help!

Splitlife creates 11 clones of himself.

Splitlife and his clones: We were not asking permission!

Cheetor: (to Splitlife) Are the clones really necessary?

Splitlife and his Clones: Yes.

Me: Got to admit that is really clever. But Applejack you still have all those as well.

We pointed to the trees she missed and then she whimpered and then she fainted.

FWOMP!

Me: Applejack!

We got her awake.

Twilight Sparkle : Applejack. Applejack.

Applejack : Huh?

Me: You fainted from exhaustion.

Varie: Yeah you really overworked yourself.

Twilight Sparkle : Oh, good, you're okay. Now Applejack, I completely respect the Apple family ways. You're always there to help anypony in need, so maybe you can put a little of your stubborn pride aside and allow your friends to help you.

Laney: That's right Applejack. Like it or not we're a team and we help each other through thick and thin.

Applejack : Okay, guys.

Twilight Sparkle : I am not taking "no" for an answer- what ?

Applejack : Yes, Twilight. Yes, please . I could really use all your help.

Twilight Sparkle : [chuckles] [sigh]

Me: Lets get to work everyone! But first lets get you to your bed to get some sleep Applejack.

I picked up Applejack and took her to her house and went in and put her in her bed.

We were harvesting all the apple trees that were left and we got the apples loaded and more.

Twilight Sparkle : Dear Princess Celestia,

My friend Applejack is the best friend a pony could ever have, and she's always there to help anypony. The only trouble is*, when she needs help, she finds it hard to accept it, so while friendship is about giving of ourselves to friends, it's also about accepting what our friends have to offer.*

Your faithful student,

Twilight Sparkle

Later Applejack was fully refreshed and she had some apple juice.

Applejack : How about y'all take a little break? I got some fine apple juice waitin' for ya!

Ed: I am thirsty.

We went to the juice.

Applejack: [sigh] Everyone, I can't thank you enough for this help. I was acting a bit stubborn.

Twilight Sparkle : A bit ?

Applejack : Okay. A mite stubborn.

Me: More like a LOT stubborn.

Applejack: And I'm awful sorry. Now, I know the town gave me the Prized Pony award, but the real award is having you all as my friends and family.

Me: Aw it was nothing.

We were drinking the Apple Juice.

Me: Ahh. Very refreshing.

Nico: You said it.

Lincoln: Yeah.

Rainbow Dash : Phew! That applebucking sure made me hungry.

Spike : And I've got the perfect treat.

We saw that Spike had the bad muffins from earlier.

Pinkie Pie : Eeew… Spike, I threw those all away. Where'd you get them?

Spike : From the trash.

Ponies : [in unison] EW!

Spike : Just a little nibble? Come on.

Ponies : Ew! Gross!

Lana: More for us.

We laughed.

We finished the apple harvest and more.

Applejack learned a hard lesson today.

---

Later we were back at the estate watching TV.

Me: Hey Diamond Tiara can I ask you something?

Diamond Tiara: Sure J.D. what's up?

Me: How did you change your ways and became a better person?

Diamond Tiara: That's an easy one. Instead of telling you I'll show you. It was a couple of days prior to when you all came.

She showed us on the computer and she showed us what happened.

FLASHBACK - 3 Days before the Events of Chapter 1177.

Diamond Tiara : Oh, I already have a solution! Our new student pony president is gonna be kicked out of office, and I'll be reinstated!

Scootaloo : Where's she going?

Apple Bloom : Where do you think?! C'mon! After her!

Sweetie Belle : Wait! I'm coming too!

The Cutie Mark Crusaders were chasing after her.

[Diamond Tiara]

Cutie Mark Crusaders, get out of my way

Those ponies need to know the truth

And they'll hear it from me

[Cutie Mark Crusaders]

Stop! Diamond Tiara, this is not the way

You know you're better than this hostility

(Diamond Tiara tips over a cart)

[Diamond Tiara]

You don't even know me at all

Don't understand the meaning of my fall

What my family would think if I ever

Fail at anything

I'm a diamond - that means you'll never break

No matter what be the cost of the path I take

Whatever I have to do to win in the end

[Cutie Mark Crusaders]

Stop! This is not the answer

Wait! And it's plainly seen

Listen! You can redeem yourself

But by helping others, not by being mean

We know you want friends who admire you

You want to be the star with all the power too

But there's a better way, there's a better wa-a-ay

There's so much more still left to Learn about yourself

See the light that shines in you

We know you can be somepony else

You can stop right now

And try another start

You'll finally free yourself from the dark

And see the light

And see the light of your cutie mark

Diamond Tiara arrived back at the school.

Diamond Tiara : Everypony, I have an announcement!

Apple Bloom : Diamond Tiara! Think hard about the choice you're makin' right now!

Scootaloo : You can be a better pony! [door opens]

Spoiled Rich : Diamond Tiara! I just happened to be here for the school board meeting, and this is what I see when we adjourn? My daughter associating with confused, insignificant lowlifes? Socializing with their kind is not how you move up in Equestria! Come, Diamond Tiara!

Diamond Tiara : No, mother!

Spoiled Rich : Excuse me?!

Diamond Tiara : You've spent your life acting like a high horse and raised me to follow in your hoofprints! At first I thought this was fine, but then I finally realized I wanted something you don't have - friends!

Cutie Mark Crusaders : [gasps]

Foals and Cheerilee : [gasps]

We gasped too.

Me: (Voiceover) Whoa! That takes a lot of guts.

Nico: (Voiceover) Yeah. To stand up to your own mother like that, especially to someone of such high power like that takes a lot of courage.

Spoiled Rich : That's enough, Diamond Tiara! Step away from those blank flanks!

Diamond Tiara : These are the Cutie Mark Crusaders, and they are my friends! You need to stop calling them such mean and hurtful names! They are working harder to get their cutie marks than anypony I've ever seen! And they will get them exactly when they discover their true talent, which I guarantee will be amazing! Now, will you please deliver this to father?

She handed her a note.

Spoiled Rich : Yes, of course, dear…

Diamond Tiara : I have to thank you, Crusaders. Obviously, I've known since I got my cutie mark that my talent is getting other ponies to do what I want. I just asked my father if he could donate the money for the new playground equipment! [foals chattering]

Diamond Tiara : [to Pipsqueak] I knew you were worried for a second there, weren't you? Ha! Well, I think it's all gonna work out just fine, Mister President!

[Diamond Tiara]

We'll build a playground

For all of us to enjoy

So full of games

There's enough for each girl and boy

I want to help and do

Everything that I can

I'm here to show you

I changed Listen up, here's the plan

(They brought in all the playground equipment to be set up)

Bring it in! That's right, keep it coming! (To Lily Longsocks) Hey there, you with the amazing strength. Can you help them move that merry-go-round across the lawn? Thank you so much!

(Lily lifted the merry-go-round.)

(To Carrot Crunch) And you with the super teeth, we need you to help with that teeter-totter. (He lifted it) You got it! That's the spirit!

(Singing) There's so much I can do To help everypony else

I see the light that shines in me

I know I can be my better self

I can free the past

'Cause now the future's bright for me

My cutie mark has set me free

To do what's right and be the pony I want to be

And be the pony I want to be!

Apple Bloom : I've been thinkin', Crusaders. We spend an awful lot of time fussin' and frettin' tryin' to discover our true talent. But when we take a little time off, we end up helpin' other ponies figure out their true talent!

Sweetie Belle : Yeah, and I think that's way more important than worrying about our cutie marks, don't you?

Scootaloo : Absolutely! I don't care if I ever get my cutie mark as long as I get to hang out with my best friends.

Apple Bloom : So what do you say, Crusaders? Want to just focus on helpin' others find their cutie marks?

Scootaloo and Sweetie Belle : Yeah! [magic zaps]

We saw Apple Bloom, Sweetie Belle and Scootaloo glow in auras of red, grey and orange energy and they lifted up into the air and in a massive flash of light we all knew what that meant as they landed on the ground.

Me: Wow that was powerful.

[foals gasping]

Sweetie Belle : What happened?

Apple Bloom : What's goin' on?

Diamond Tiara : It's your cutie marks! They're amazing !

They saw that they had the same Cutie Marks! They were tri-colored shields and they had different marks on them. Apple Bloom's Cutie Mark was a shield with an apple, Scootaloo's was the same with wings and Sweetie Belle's was the same thing but with a star with a music note in it.

Me: (Voiceover) WHOA!

Laney: (Voiceover) So that's how you guys got the same Cutie Mark.

Cutie Mark Crusaders : We all got the same cutie mark! Cutie Mark Crusaders forever!

[Cutie Mark Crusaders]

We were searching for our cutie marks

For a while there

Trying to find out how we fit in

So many ways we've tried before

But we kept on trying more

'Cause the Cutie Mark Crusaders don't give in

[Scootaloo]

Now we know what it took all along

[Sweetie Belle]

And our journey here is never really done

[Apple Bloom]

For it is more than just a mark It's a place for us to start

[Cutie Mark Crusaders]

An adventure that has only just begun

We'll make our mark

Show the world what we can do

We'll make our mark

Helping fillies to break through

To the ultimate reward of a cutie mark

Pinkie Pie : All right, everypony! Get ready for the biggest cute-ceañera celebration ever! [ponies cheering]

Applejack : Oh, sugarcube, if Mom and Dad were here, they'd be so proud of ya.

Apple Bloom : Oh… Thanks, Applejack.

Applejack : Now go on and party with your pals.

[Rainbow Dash]

I'm so proud of you, little buddy

You've taught me a thing or two

[Rarity]

You've inspired everypony around you

And you've inspired me too

[Rainbow Dash, Rarity, and Applejack]

You've made your mark

Done Equestria so proud

You've made your mark

And we're here to sing it loud

For the ultimate reward of your cutie mark

Apple Bloom : Well, what do you think, Crusaders? Were these cutie marks totally worth waiting for or what?

Sweetie Belle : Yeah! I can't wait to see who we're gonna help next!

[Cutie Mark Crusaders]

We started out just three Crusaders driven to see

What we find in our hearts

Discover our destiny

And here we are, best friends

About to start it again

An adventure that never will end

We'll make our mark

Helping fillies most in need

We'll make our mark

So each one of them succeeds

'Cause the ultimate reward is a cutie mark!

Spike sent a picture scroll to Princess Celestia and it showed all the ponies with their Cutie Marks.

FLASHBACK ENDS

Me: That was so adorable!

Nico: It sure was. I'm proud of you Diamond for setting your mother straight.

Me: Yep. And I'm proud of you Diamond for changing into a better person. Having all the money in the world doesn't make you better than everyone else and there are many things that money will never buy like love, power, friendship and all that.

Diamond Tiara: That's true and I realize that now.

Nico: Good.

Naruto: Yeah.

TOMBSTONE, ARIZONA

---

Later we were over in the famous Old West Town of Tombstone in Southeastern Arizona. This town has lots of history that dates back to the Old West.

Commander Mars: Here we are in the Wild West.

Me: Boy it sure has been a while since we were here.

We walked through the town.

Nico: This is Tombstone, Arizona. One of the most famous towns in the American Southwest and during the Old West.

Me: Yep. Loaded with lots of history.

Jessie K.: The most famous event that happened here was back in 1881: The Gunfight at the O.K. Corral.

Nico: That was an intense shootout.

Jessie K.: Yep. Lasted for 30 seconds and it had 3 people dead.

Jessie told us everything.

---

The Gunfight at the O.K. Corral was a 30-second shootout between lawmen led by Virgil Earp and members of a loosely organized group of outlaws called the Cowboys including Ike Clanton that took place at about 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 26, 1881, in Tombstone, Arizona Territory, United States. It is generally regarded as the most famous shootout in the history of the American Wild West.

The gunfight was the result of a long-simmering feud, with Cowboys Billy Claiborne, Ike and Billy Clanton, and Tom and Frank McLaury on one side; and Town Marshal Virgil Earp, Special Policemen Morgan and Wyatt Earp, and temporary policeman Doc Holliday on the other side. Billy Clanton and both McLaury brothers were killed. Ike Clanton, Billy Claiborne, and Wes Fuller ran from the fight. Virgil, Morgan, and Holliday were wounded, but Wyatt was unharmed. Wyatt is often erroneously regarded as the central figure in the shootout, although his brother Virgil was Tombstone town marshal and Deputy U.S. Marshal that day and had far more experience as a sheriff, constable, marshal, and soldier in combat.

The shootout has come to represent a period of the American Old West when the frontier was virtually an open range for outlaws, largely unopposed by law enforcement officers who were spread thin over vast territories. It was not well known to the American public until 1931, when Stuart Lake published the initially well-received biography Wyatt Earp: Frontier Marshal two years after Earp's death. The book was the basis for the 1946 film My Darling Clementine, directed by John Ford,[2] and the 1957 film Gunfight at the O.K. Corral, after which the shootout became known by that name. Since then, the conflict has been portrayed with varying degrees of accuracy in numerous Western films and books, and has become an archetype for much of the popular imagery associated with the Old West.

Despite its name, the gunfight did not take place within or next to the O.K. Corral, which fronted Allen Street and had a rear entrance lined with horse stalls on Fremont Street. The shootout actually took place in a narrow lot on the side of C. S. Fly's Photographic Studio on Fremont Street, six doors west of the O.K. Corral's rear entrance. Some members of the two opposing parties were initially only about 6 feet (1.8 m) apart. About 30 shots were fired in 30 seconds. Ike Clanton subsequently filed murder charges against the Earps and Holliday. After a 30-day preliminary hearing and a brief stint in jail, the lawmen were shown to have acted within the law.

The gunfight was not the end of the conflict. On December 28, 1881, Virgil Earp was ambushed and maimed in a murder attempt by the Cowboys. On March 18, 1882, a Cowboy fired from a dark alley through the glass door of Campbell & Hatch's saloon and billiard parlor, killing Morgan Earp. The suspects in both incidents furnished alibis supplied by other Cowboys and were not indicted. Wyatt Earp, newly appointed as Deputy U.S. Marshal in Cochise County, then took matters into his own hands in a personal vendetta. He was pursued by county sheriff Johnny Behan, who had received a warrant from Tucson for Wyatt's killing of Frank Stilwell.

We gasped in shock.

Me: Whoa!

Lincoln: That's a rough battle.

Laney: No kidding. I can't believe that happened.

Me: It was almost 139 years ago. It was a long time ago.

Applejack: But I love learning so much about the Old West. It's really amazing.

Apple Bloom: It sure is amazing learning all about all this.

Granny Smith was with us.

Granny Smith: It sure is something.

Me: It sure is.

Lincoln: So why are we out here in Tombstone?

Me: I heard rumors flying around that there's a really good spaghetti restaurant out here that is very good.

Sideshow Bob: I remember when I did a scheme that involved me dressing up like a cowboy.

Bart: You were a BBQ Restaurant Owner back then weren't you? (Season 8 Episode 19)

Sideshow Bob: Indeed I was Bart. Good memory.

Me: That was a good one and you should reopen your BBQ restaurant for us to try Bob.

Sideshow Bob: I'll take that into consideration.

I then heard a tiger roar!

Me: Whoa! A tiger? Wait a second. I know that tiger roar. Its been almost 4 years since we heard that roar.

We turned and we saw Uncle Grandpa, Giant Realistic Flying Tiger, Mr. Gus and Pizza Steve!

Uncle Grandpa: Good morning!

Me: Uncle Grandpa!

Lynn: Giant Realistic Flying Tiger!

Lana: Mr. Gus!

Luan: Pizza Steve!

GRFT: (Roar)

Pizza Steve: What's happening guys?

Mr. Gus: It's great to see you guys again.

Uncle Grandpa: Same here and wow! You guys have expanded a lot since the last time we saw each other.

Me: Feels like forever ago. It's great to see you all again.

Uncle Grandpa: Same here.

Me: We weren't called Team Loud Phoenix Storm when we first met.

Uncle Grandpa: I can see that. So you all are here for the Spaghetti Restaurant we know as well?

Me: We sure are. We heard rumors about it flying around and we decided to come and check it out.

Jinx: (to Uncle Grandpa) You've been here before, right?

Uncle Grandpa: I sure have. But it's great to see you guys again.

Me: Same here. Last time we saw each other was when Carol did that Troll Attack.

Carol: I was under the influence of an evil Split Personality back then.

Patrick: Yeah that was weird. And you and I sound so much alike.

Uncle Grandpa: Our voices almost do sound the same do they?

We went inside and got delicious bowls of mouthwatering spaghetti and the noodles were all homemade and the sauce was made from scratch and was really delicious.

Me: (Slurps noodles) Mmm! Delicious spaghetti.

Frightwig: This is an awesome Spaghetti restaurant.

Uncle Grandpa: It's really delicious!

Delizia: (Italian Accent) It makes just-a as great spaghetti as-a mine and-a Mario.

Mario: (Italian Accent) It's-a delicious.

Uncle Grandpa: It sure is delicious.

Mr. Gus: You were right Uncle Grandpa. This restaurant does have the best Spaghetti in the American West.

Nico: I'll say. Some of the best we've ever had.

The Owner came.

Owner: I'm glad you all like it.

Me: We give it a 5 star rating. I'm not a food critic like Comic Book Guy is but it's really good stuff.

Owner: That makes me so happy and I'm glad you all came. Things have been really hard for me.

Me: Why what's wrong?

Owner: The deed to my restaurant was stolen and my landlord is gonna close it down in 7 days if I don't get it back.

We gasped.

Me: Who would do such a despicable thing!?

Owner: Pizza the Kid!

Me: Pizza the Kid?

Pizza Steve: He better not look like me.

Owner: This is what he looks like.

The owner showed us a wanted poster of Pizza the Kid and we saw that he looked exactly like Pizza Steve except he had a cowboy hat, a much more menacing look and had cowboy boots, and cactus guns!

Me: Whoa! This guy looks like he is really bad news.

Owner: He is horrible. He wants my restaurant so he can take over the restaurant world by storm by force. He wants to lower the quality of the food and raise the prices. And he will kill anyone that gets in his way. He is as black-hearted as all the worst villains you know.

Me: That low-down slice of rotten turds!

Applejack: I was just gonna say the same thing.

Apple Bloom: Yeah!

They high five.

Me: Western Talk. But it looks like we got here just in the nick of time. Team Loud Phoenix Storm will get your deed back and save your restaurant and bring that worthless pizza slice to justice or to the last roundup.

Owner: Oh thank you all so much!

Me: You're welcome. Do you know where his hideout might be?

Owner: His hideout is rumored to be located in Madera Canyon.

Me: That's not far from here and it's near Tucson. Lets head over there.

Nico: Lets saddle up!

We got on our horses.

Me: HI HO SILVER! AWAY!

We were off to Madera Canyon.

We arrived in less than an hour.

Me: Here we are guys.

Nico: Wow. So this is Madera Canyon.

Laney: It's beautiful.

Lincoln: It sure is.

Nico: I would like to come here to enjoy the scenery.

Lola: Same here.

Rarity: It sure is amazing.

Fluttershy: Lots of amazing animal friends here.

Lola: They sure are beautiful.

But then…

BANG!

A cactus ball hit Lola in the arm and she screamed in pain!

Lola: AAAAAAAAAHHHHH!

?: So you dead men came to stop me!

We turned and we saw PIZZA THE KID!

Me: Pizza the Kid.

Pizza the Kid: The famous Team Loud Phoenix Storm. So you all came to stop me and get the deed back.

Nico: That's right.

Protomon: (to Pizza the Kid) We can do this the easy way or the hard way. But we're getting the deed to this restaurant!

Pizza the Kid: Over my dead body you are!

Me: That can be arranged slice boy and your food is terrible!

Pizza the Kid: WHAT THE HELL DID YOU SAY!?

BANG BANG BANG BANG BANG BANG!

He shot cactus balls into my chest and I was bleeding like no tomorrow!

Me: Nice try slice face!

My blood dissolved the cactus balls and my wounds healed.

Pizza the Kid: WHY YOU ARROGANT!

BANG BANG BANG!

He fired cactus balls and they hit Nico square in the crotch!

Nico fell to the ground with tears coming down his face as he pulled the cactus balls out. He healed fast.

Kevin Levin just touched the ground.

Kevin: (absorbs the ground) Let's see your Cactus Balls hurt me now!

Pizza the Kid: Try me!

BANG BANG BANG BANG!

But the Cactus Balls bounced off Kevin and he was unscathed.

Me: You are so stupid Pizza!

Pizza the Kid: Oh yeah!?

BANG BANG BANG BANG!

He fired a bunch of cactus balls and they hit May and Lincoln and they hurt like hell!

But then he got a Cactus Mini-Gun!

Applejack: That dirty coward!

He fired cactus balls all at us all at once and Eli, Applejack, Apple Bloom, Coloratura, Apple Fritter, Granny Smith, Babs Seed, and the Uncle Grandpa Crew were dodging all his shots.

He ran out of shots and we were completely covered in Cactus Balls and hurting and writhing in agony. Everyone but the Transformers, Applejack and her family and the Uncle Grandpa Crew were unscathed.

Pizza the Kid: You guys are tough.

Rick Texan, Cantwell, Loki, Demyx, Dark Laser and Beautiful Gorgeous appeared.

Me: Ow! Rich Texan, Cantwell, Loki, Demyx, Dark Laser and Beautiful Gorgeous. Ow!

Rich Texan: Well, this here is a fine mess!

Pizza the Kid: (to the Masters of Evil) Who invited you punks to the party?!

Cantwell: (Texas Accent) Better watch yourself, Pizza Boy. Or you're gonna ride the next train outta here.

Loki: (to us) Sorry if Cantwell's Texas Accent is a little too much.

Nico: It's the thought that counts.

Rich Texan: WHOA! What happened to you guys!?

Me: (Groans and pulls Cactus ball out) OW! We got pelted with cactus balls courtesy of that Pizza Faced freak! (Points to Pizza the Kid)

Applejack: Let me and my family and the Masters of Evil take him on and we can have our usual Battles after we get y'all healed up. It's the least we can for helping me with Applebuck season.

Me: OW! Show no mercy Applejack!

?: Let me help with that.

A figure came out and it was SHOCKERTRON from episode 17 of Beast Morphers!

---

Shockatron was sent to Earth at the same time the Shockadrone was deployed as part of Vargoyle's plan to distract the Rangers while he put his Memory Pulsator in place. Devon, Ravi, and Zoey intercepted Shockatron in the park. When they attempted to use their Beast-X Blasters against Shockatron, he used his sticks to catch the energy bolts and redirect them at the Rangers. The Rangers then switched to their Beast-X Sabers and engaged in melee combat with Shockatron. Devon later left the fight to help Nate and Steel battle Shockadrone but Zoey and Ravi eventually defeated Shockatron, with Ravi using his energized saber to deliver the final blow with its Beast-X Slash.

Although both Shockatron and Shockadrone were destroyed, Vargoyle succeeded in planting the Memory Pulsator on the Channel 10 TV station's transmitter tower.

---

Devon Daniels: Shockertron!

Shockertron: Been a while rangers.

Me: I remember you! Ow! You were sent to distract the rangers while Vargoyle installed that Memory Pulsator. Ow!

Shockertron: That's right. You have a good memory on you. Mistress Vypra, Robo-Roxy and Robo-Blaze were right about you.

Me: OW! Never missed an episode and we had to wait a whole year and a half before meeting the Beast Morpher Rangers. Owowow!

Eddy fired his blaster at Shockatron. But the Robotron caught the energy blasts with his sticks.

Eddy: What?! How did you-

Shockatron: Kid, I can redirect any kind of energy blasts. Including those from your blaster! But since you look pretty beat up, I'll send your blasts somewhere else!

Shockatron then sent the energy blasts at Pizza the Kid.

He electrocuted Pizza the Kid and burned him all over the place.

Nico: Nice one!

Shockatron: Thanks.

Gia: Hey, Pizza Face! Your Cactus Balls didn't get all of us!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Animal Supersquad!

The Megaforce Rangers transformed into the Beast Squadron Maskmen from 1989.

Me: You asked for it cheese breath!

Applejack: You mess with my friends and you mess with me and my family! Lets get him!

Cheetor: Lets get him! Cheetor MAXIMIZE!

Cheetor transformed.

Blackarachnia: Blackarachnia TERRORIZE!

Blackarachnia transformed!

Scorponok: Time to grill this cheese head! Scorponok TERRORIZE!

Scorponok transformed.

Dinobot: Dinobot MAXIMIZE!

Dinobot transformed.

Airazor: Airazor MAXIMIZE!

Airazor transformed.

Tigatron: Tigatron MAXIMIZE!

Tigatron transformed!

They went at Pizza the Kid and Applejack unsheathed her new sword, The Sword of Honesty. It was an orange bladed Roman Gladiator style sword with an apple on the scabbard and it had two symbols on the handle and the Apple Element of Honesty was on the end of the hilt.

She slashed Pizza the Kid and cut his crust off and kicked him in the face and Apple Bloom and Apple Fritter punched and smashed him all over with incredible speed, strength and fury and force. A number of 100 punches per second and they were delivering a massive beatdown onto him. Granny Smith threw a bunch of apple grenades and they slammed into Pizza the Kid and knocked him over in powerful explosions and apple juice. Rich Texan blasted Pizza the Kid all over with his guns and, Loki, Demyx, and Beautiful Gorgeous fired blasts of lightning, water and laser blasts and smashed Pizza the Kid all over the place and Dark Laser fired blasts of Force Lightning and electrocuted him all over and Shockatron fired blasts of lightning and energy and the Megaforce Rangers fired energy blasts and more. Kopond, Olkiex, Faash, and H'earring blasted and smashed Pizza the Kid all over the place!

Applejack: Apples are much better for ya than Pizza! ORCHARD

STYLE NINJA ART: APPLE ORCHARD!

Applejack fired a massive number of apples at Pizza the Kid.

Apple Bloom: Same with Pears and we're half Pear now! ORCHARD STYLE NINJA ART: PEAR ORCHARD!

Apple Bloom fired a massive number of pears at Pizza the Kid.

Apple Fritter: And I like all fruit as much as Apples! ORCHARD STYLE NINJA ART: ORANGE ORCHARD!

Apple Fritter fired a massive barrage of oranges at Pizza the Kid.

Granny Smith: And for this one! ORCHARD STYLE NINJA ART: GRAPEFRUIT ORCHARD!

Granny Smith fired a huge barrage of Grapefruit.

The fruits all pelted Pizza the Kid all over the place and smashed him all over into pulp and he was really hurt!

Coloratura: You have a lot of nerve picking on A.J.'s family and friends! SIREN STYLE NINJA ART: SIREN CALL!

Coloratura sang in an awesome and divine voice and she was singing with the song of the mermaids and it was enchanting. It put Pizza the Kid in a really dazed and hypnotic state.

Coloratura: That was amazing. Try this one! RAINBOW STYLE NINJA ART: RAINBOW SWORD!

Coloratura formed a sword of pure rainbow light and she slashed Pizza the Kid all over the place with incredible force!

Coloratura: Try this one on. It's divine. SIREN STYLE NINJA ART: SONG OF THE SIREN!

Coloratura sang the amazing hypnotic song of the Sirens from Samurai Jack. It was amazing and divine and we remember that song all too well when we were the Brave 12. It was amazing and brought back lots of memories.

Pizza the Kid was entranced in its hypnotic beauty.

Coloratura: This is amazing! How about this one!? RAINBOW STYLE NINJA ART: RAINBOW SPEAR!

Pizza the Kid: You will never get this deed! I will make sure that no one gets it!

I was not gonna give up. He fired more Cactus balls at me and they were hurting bad. But I wasn't gonna give up. I was taking every shot he had and I was still going.

Pizza the Kid: Fall down already!

I was still going even as I was dripping blood from my wounds.

I then got to him and grabbed his guns and threw them away and Applejack got the deed and then I fell down and Nico caught me.

Applejack: You will pay for your crimes Pizza!

Uncle Grandpa: He sure will!

Sakura Haruno: Pizza the Kid really did a number on you all.

Ino: That's a total understatement.

Kabuto: I'm amazed that you all are still alive after taking that many hits from him.

Lincoln: I know.

Me: It'll take more than a bunch of cactus balls to kill us. But these wounds are just light scratches compared to what we went through in many circles.

Nico: Yeah.

Dark Laser: That's true.

Demyx: (to Applejack) Did you really work in your farm non stop for 10 days?

Applejack: Yep. I did. But can you blame me?

Beautiful Gorgeous: Not really. But you should always be honest about times when you need help with anything.

Dark Laser: We're lucky you could even still participate in the usual battles.

Applejack: I know.

Maria Santiago: Just be thankful you all didn't lose. At least you all won that fight.

Me: I know Maria.

No time for fear just let it all fall away

(It all fall away)

Nobody believes in me and you

Just look at the way they stare
So what if we live in a walled garden
As long as I've got you then I don't care
Kick up the wall and take the plunge
Trippin' through two dimensions
Up on the moon we'll swirl and swoon
Just lead the way
I'll throw my hat in the ring 'cause you're the one
A miracle in three dimensions
Follow the brick path straight to my heart
And we'll grab the flag together
The fireworks are gonna start
Shake off the chains, you're runnin' free
You'll be amazed at all that there is to see
(There is to see)
Together we're racing for the goal
And no one can stop us now
And maybe we don't know where we're going
But we're gonna get there somehow
Climb up the vine and land in the clouds
Maybe then we'll swap up for down
Cross the sea, we're still you and me

I'll follow you

(Just lead the way)

You got me up on the moon and that's no jest

We're miles above the rest

Look in your eyes and I know we'll be fine

So let's shoot for the stars and make this love really shine

Nobody believes in me and you

Just look at the way they stare

So what if we live in a walled garden

As long as I've got you then I don't care

Kick up the wall and take the plunge

Trippin' through two dimensions

Up on the moon we'll swirl and swoon

Just lead the way

You became the light on the dark side of me

Love remained a drug that's the high and not the pill

But did you know that when it snows

My eyes become large and the light that you shine can be seen?

Baby, I compare you to a kiss from a rose on the grey

Ooh, the more I get of you, the stranger it feels, yeah

Now that your rose is in bloom

A light hits the gloom on the grey

There is so much a man can tell you, so much he can say

You remain my power, my pleasure, my pain

Baby, to me, you're like a growing addiction that I can't deny

Won't you tell me, is that healthy, baby?

But did you know that when it snows

My eyes become large and the light that you shine can be seen?

Baby, I compare you to a kiss from a rose on the grey

Ooh, the more I get of you, the stranger it feels, yeah

Now that your rose is in bloom

A light hits the gloom on the grey

I've been kissed by a rose on the grey

I've been kissed by a rose on the grey

And if I should fall, will it all go away?

I've been kissed by a rose on the grey

There is so much a man can tell you, so much he can say

You remain my power, my pleasure, my pain

To me, you're like a growing, addiction that I can't deny (yeah)

Won't you tell me, is that healthy, baby?

But did you know that when it snows

An Interstellar Virus Invasion

We were over in the meadows of Minnesota as we were walking over to the home town of the Superdudes: Cornbury. With us were the newest recruits of the Masters of Evil: Vortex the Weather Ghost; Enemy of Danny Phantom, and Whiger the White Tiger spirit of Jungle Fury, and the newest member of the Redemption Squad: the human version of Cozy Glow.

---

Vortex (Danny Phantom)

Vortex is a weather-manipulating ghost from the Danny Phantom cartoon series. He is the main antagonist of the episode, Torrent of Terror.

He is voiced by David Boat

Throughout the centuries, Vortex unleashed destructive weather across the Earth, but he was eventually subdued by the Observant High Council. They kept his powers under control with the Spectral Barometer, however during his sentencing, Vlad Plasmius appeared and freed Vortex. The weather ghost was ready to resume his rampage, but Vlad got him under control with the Spectral Barometer. He commanded Vortex to unleash a massive heat wave on Amity Park, then told everyone he had developed a weather controlling device (actually the Spectral Barometer). Vlad fired it into the sky, hitting the weather ghost, and he used his powers to unleash a rain storm, increasing Vlad's approval rating. But when he told Vortex to stop the rain, he became enraged, refusing and Vlad attempted to use the Spectral Barometer to force the weather ghost to obey. However he managed to overpower it and reflect the energy back, destroying it and leaving the only thing able to control him gone. Vortex went off to begin a worldwide rampage with Vlad attempting to subdue him, but he quickly defeated the half-ghost. In revenge for the humiliation that Vlad had subjected him to, the weather ghost condemned Amity Park to the worst storm ever, the maelstrom. Panicking, Plasmius got Danny to join him in battling Vortex, but when they went to confront him, Vlad left Danny to fight the weather ghost alone. They battled and the half-ghost soon discovered that he was out of his league, proving unable to even hurt Vortex while he was blasted again and again. Soon enough Danny was defeated and the weather ghost left to begin his rampage, not knowing that one of his attacks had left the half-ghost with some of his weather manipulation powers. When Sam, Tucker, and Vlad realized that Danny's mood could now control weather, Sam and Tucker went to draw Vortex back to Amity Park, while Vlad was forced to keep Danny in a good mood. They found him in Venice and taunted the fact that Amity Park wasn't under the effect of his powers, causing him to angrily head there. The weather ghost began ravaging the town with intense heat and cold, but Sam, Tucker, and Danny used Tucker's virtual reality program to manipulate Danny's emotions, allowing him to unleash various weather attacks to weaken Vortex. He managed to blast the half-ghost again to remove the weather-manipulation powers, but the Fenton Plane's weapons managed to weaken the weather ghost enough to capture him. Danny returned him to the Observants, but he escaped again. Later Vortex was amongst the countless ghosts that helped to turn the planet intangible to save it from the Disasteroid.

Whiger the White Tiger

Whiger was a chimeric Phantom Beast General that possessed the spirit of the White Tiger. He was also the only one of Phantom Beasts that turned to the side of good.

He possesses Rinzin power. Along with Snapper, Scorch, and five other Phantom Beasts they had attempted to overthrow Dai Shi during the beast war. The resulting feud had caused the attack on the humans to stand on weak ground. With the finding of the Crystal Eyes in which the Generals were contained they resolved to ally completely with Dai Shi, plotting to make him Phantom Beast King and eliminate his humanity, ensuring the success of the Final Beast Wars.

After the Spirit Rangers defected to the Rangers, Dai Shi noticed that Whiger had a Tiger spirit and planned the Phantom General's next test of loyalty. After a scuffle with RJ, Whiger succeeded when he took part of Casey's Animal Spirit making him very powerful. Whiger proves his victory to Jarrod/Dai Shi by sparring with him (thus allowing Dai Shi to accept the Generals). Whiger called a fight with Casey, but ended up fighting RJ, Theo, Lily, and Dominic until Jarrod/Dai Shi, Camille, and the other Phantom Beast Generals arrive and easily defeat the Rangers. Whiger attacked the city and Casey ran into him. Casey tried to transform without his Tiger Spirit and ended up fighting the other Rangers. Casey finally transforms and joins the fight. With the help of Jimmy, the Rangers charged up the Claw Cannon to use on Whiger. Whiger grows and fights the Wolf Pride Megazord, the Rhino Pride Megazord, and Jungle Master Megazord, losing to them when they form the Jungle Master Stampede.

Dai Shi didn't take the news of Whiger's defeat lightly. He stripped Whiger of his Rinzin, title, and rank before banishing Whiger from the temple. Whiger tried to kill Casey, for robbing him of his honor only to be saved by the human when he fell off a cliff. Deciding to return his kindness, Whiger lead Casey to where Rammer and Badrat were holding everyone captive, including the other rangers. While battling Camille, Whiger gave Casey back his tiger spirit and the two performed a double attack on Camille (with Whiger manifesting a white version of Casey's Tiger Spirit), forcing her to leave in defeat. However, the fight depleted the last of Whiger's Rinzin, causing him to fade away from existence but not from Casey's memory.

Whiger is finally avenged when Casey, Lily and Theo destroy Dai Shi.

Vortex: Man, two years in the Book of Vile Darkness can give you such a pain in the neck!

Genie: Try being locked up in a lamp for 10,000 years! (Imitating Edward G. Robinson) And it's not a pretty sight see?

We laughed.

Me: You always crack us up Genie.

Aladdin: He sure is funny.

Whiger: I am so honored to be part of the Masters of Evil.

Me: I'm glad you are Whiger. I was really amazed that you went to the side of good. You would've made a great candidate for the Redemption Squad.

Whiger: I know.

Vypra: That's true but I think he is more qualified for us in the Masters of Evil.

Whiger: I'm honored and I want to make you a copy of the White Tiger Spirit for one of you.

Maria: You're giving us a copy of your Animal Spirit?

Whiger: I figured that since I'm now in the Masters of Evil, I can give one of you a copy of my White Tiger Spirit.

Me: We're honored Whiger and we'll leave that to Isabelle. She's our shaman.

Isabelle: Thank you grandpa. Lets see.

Isabelle concentrated and she waved her khakkhara staff and she chose Laney.

Isabelle: Laney the spirit of the White Tiger chose you and The White Tiger is renowned for its strength and majestic fierceness. Its serene energy and power represent fearlessness and spiritual awaking. It traditionally symbolizes strength, courage, war, instinct, willpower, courage, vision, and clairvoyance.

Laney: Wow! I am so honored.

A ring then appeared on her finger and it had a white gem with a white tiger in it and then a White Ball of light appeared and landed in her hands and it was another White Tiger Animal Crystal.

Laney: My own White Tiger Animal Crystal!

Alyssa Enrilé: Looks like you and I are both the Noble Tiger, Laney.

Me: You sure do.

Twilight Sparkle: Yep. By the way J.D. how did you convince Cozy Glow to join us?

Me: Well that story has two parts to it. First Sunset Shimmer should tell us her part and it is really dark.

Sunset Shimmer: Yeah. I went to Laney's room for help.

* * *

Laney was reading a book on Forensic Psychology in her room and there was a knock on her door.

Laney: Come in.

Sunset Shimmer came in.

Sunset Shimmer: Hey Laney. I hope I'm not interrupting anything.

Laney: No Sunset you aren't. What's up?

Sunset Shimmer: I need your help with something. I'm going to recruit the human version of Cozy Glow into the Knights of the Friendship Table.

Laney: Are you sure that's a good idea?

Sunset Shimmer: I'm going with my gut on this. I looked into her eyes and saw that she has a dark past.

Laney: J.D. said that her past is unknown. But I heard from J.D. that you have an amazing power that enables you to look inside a person's memories and mind. Which I think is really cool.

Sunset Shimmer: It sure is. But I'm positive that I can help her become a better person.

Laney: I'll go with you for support.

Sunset Shimmer: Thank you.

They were off to Canterlot High School.

---

In Canterlot High School, Laney and Sunset Shimmer found Cozy Glow sitting in the Cafeteria and she was having lunch all by herself.

Sunset Shimmer: Cozy Glow?

Cozy Glow saw them.

Cozy Glow: Oh hey Sunset. Hey Laney.

Laney: How are you feeling?

Cozy Glow: Good thank you.

Laney: We came to talk to you about something.

They sat down.

Cozy Glow: What's up?

Sunset Shimmer: We just want to know something. I don't mean to make you uncomfortable but I can tell you are being haunted by your past. Before you join the Redemption Squad, I just want to see what happened in your past so that we all can help you.

Cozy Glow: Sure Sunset.

She held out her hand and Sunset touched her hand and her eyes glowed and we saw that she had a vision into the past. Cozy Glow's was an extremely dark one. Her mother Aurora Shine and her were really close. She was born into a poor family and somehow was able to manage by helping her mother. She didn't want toys because she loved her mother more than anything. She got her castle tower cutie mark by helping her mother out with money issues. But her mother died of a terminal disease right on her mom's birthday and it devastated her. She took it really hard and wound up as an orphan. She realized that there was nothing she could do.

Sunset gasped.

Sunset Shimmer: On no. Cozy I'm so sorry you lost your mother.

Cozy Glow: (Crying hard)

Laney: Poor girl.

Sunset Shimmer: That must be the reason why the Cozy Glow in Equestria became evil.

Laney: We had no idea she was going through all that. She snapped because of losing her mother.

Sunset Shimmer went over to her and comforted her.

Later Sunset Shimmer came to me and she had Cozy Glow with her.

Me: Are you serious Sunset?

Sunset Shimmer: Absolutely J.D. The Cozy Glow in Equestria became the way she is because she snapped over the loss of her mother Aurora Shine.

Me: Oh man. Poor Cozy Glow. I had no idea she was going through all that. This changes everything.

Sunset Shimmer: I have a feeling I know what you are gonna do J.D.

FLASHBACK 1 ENDS

Everyone gasped in shock and concern.

Twilight Sparkle: Oh my gosh! Cozy we didn't know you were going through all that.

Applejack: I don't think any of us knew about it.

Vypra: Poor Cozy.

Nico: Yeah.

Me: After Sunset told me everything I went to Canterlot to tell Princess Celestia what I was told.

FLASHBACK 2

In Canterlot Castle, I came into Princess Celestia's Throne Room.

Princess Celestia: Hello J.D.

I stood before her.

Me: Hello Princess. I'm sorry to come in like this unannounced but I have news about Cozy Glow.

Princess Celestia: She is a monster.

Me: No she isn't Princess. She wasn't born this way. She snapped because she lost her mother to a terminal disease.

Princess Celestia gasped.

I revealed everything about Cozy Glow and her tragic background and everything I found out from Sunset Shimmer and she, Princess Luna, Princess Cadance, Thorax and Shining Armor gasped in shock.

Princess Celestia: My gosh.

Princess Luna: We didn't know she was going through all that.

Me: No one knew about it. Sunset used her memory probing powers and found out about this. Cozy Glow and her mother Aurora Shine were very close and that's why I promised her that I would bring her back and I also promised that after we do battle the Cozy Glow here that I would not only save her from this monster she became but also bring her mother back. She needs her mother more than ever to fix her broken soul.

Princess Celestia: Poor thing. If anybody can do it we know that you can J.D. and we wish you luck. If anybody can save Cozy Glow then we know that you can.

Me: Not that I'll need it but thank you. But I've done this many times before and fixed shattered lives. You have my word that I will do everything I can to save Cozy Glow from this monster that she turned into. I Pinkie Promise. (Laughs)

Princess Cadance: (Laughs) I figured you would do that.

Me: Thank you.

FLASHBACK 2 ENDS

Nico: Wow! That's a big promise.

Me: I know. And I won't let Cozy Glow be consumed by the darkness of herself anymore.

Dark Spicer: That's a big promise.

Laney: It sure is.

Man Boy: I know J.D. can do it.

Sky: Yes and he saved many relationships before.

Me: Not to brag.

Nico: We're here.

We arrived at Cornbury, Minnesota.

William: Here we are in Cornbury.

Me: This is the home city of the Supernoobs.

Nico: This is amazing.

Naruto: It sure is.

Cozy Glow: Yeah. But I will do everything I can to help you all. You have my word.

Me: Good.

Sunset Shimmer: We will bring your mother back Cozy Glow. You just have to be patient.

Cozy Glow: I know.

Eli: Good.

Me: Don't worry Cozy Glow. I made a Pinkie Promise that I would bring your mom back. Cross my heart, hope to fly, stick a cupcake in my eye.

We laughed.

We arrived at the Park and we saw the Superdudes playing in the park. We saw Kevin Reynolds, Tyler Bowman, Jennifer Shope and Theodore Roachmont.

Me: Hey guys!

Jennifer Shope: Wow! Team Loud Phoenix Storm!

Roach: Oh this is awesome to meet you guys!

Rainbow Dash: Same here.

Tyler Bowman: We love all your adventures and more.

Melody (Little Mermaid): We want to thank you guys for defeating that Gyarados that the Sorcerer Stanked.

Tyler Bowman: Poromon, you said you would keep our invovlement a secret!

Poromon: Did you really expect me to keep a secret from J.D. of all people?

Me: Yeah I actually figured it out.

Tyler Bowman: Oh.

Shope: It's so awesome to have you all with us. We need your help to destroy the Virus and it's creators once and for all.

Me: And we will.

Nico: What's that over there?

We saw a figure wearing another Iron Boy Suit pointing his repulsors at two little girls playing and drawing on a sidewalk with chalk.

Iron Boy Imposter: Well, well, well… graffiti! That's a pretty serious offense, girls. But that's why I became a crime-fighter. To take out garbage like you.

The Iron Boy imposter fired his repulsors at the two girls and they ran away screaming!

Me: What the hell is that cretin doing!?

Tyler: Oh no! That's Jock and he dressed up like Iron Boy to Protect the town!

Me: That fucking jerk!

We went over to him.

Thundercracker: Costume party's over, Jock!

Jock: Jock? (laughs) Didn't you hear? Jock Jockerson's checked out! He just couldn't take any more. Couldn't deal with the fact that no one will respect or fear him. It was really starting to drive him crazy. But then Jock thought, if he couldn't get anyone to fear or respect him as himself, he'll do so as one of Team Loud Phoenix Storm. Specfically, Iron Boy!

Iron Boy: Then the world has one Iron Boy too many.

Jock: Which means one of us has gotta go.

Iron Boy: My thoughts exactly.

Jock and Iron Boy flew at each other.

Me: This is gonna hurt!

They collided and Edd smashed Jock and knocked him down and then Jock grabbed a dumpster.

Jock just threw a dumpster on top of Iron Boy.

SMASH!

Jock: (laughs) Come back when you've taken a shower and a nap for 12 years! (flies off)

G1 Silverbolt: (Gets the dumpster off Iron Boy) You ok, Double D?

Iron Boy: I just got a dumpster thrown on top of me and I'm humiliated in front of the whole town. DO I LOOK OK TO YOU?!

Laney: Sorry we asked.

Me: We'll deal with him later. Right now we need to get to know all of you first and we have a lot to talk about.

Roach: Okay.

Vypra: Well, since we can't do anything about Jock for now, how about we see what your school's like?

Roach: (to the Masters of Evil) And how do we know that you all won't try to stab us in the back the second we get there?

Me: Roach knock it off.

We went to the Cornbury Middle School and we went in and it was a nice place. It was a cool place. In the Cafeteria we were having a nice talk.

Tyler Bowman: So you guys faced an evil parallel version of yourselves!?

Shope: And they disbanded the Benevolent Alliance after destroying the Virus and the Creators in their universe!?

Roach: That's nuts!

Me: Yeah. It was terrible.

Nico: That war was brutal. But it was thanks to Ed Cowart here that we were able to defeat the Royal Defenders.

Ed Cowart: It's true.

Kevin R.: That's big.

Me: Yep. And we couldn't have done it without his help.

Shope: I'm glad.

Tyler Bowman: Yeah.

I sensed that Tyler was having some love issues.

Me: Do you have some girlfriend problems Tyler?

Tyler Bowman: How did you know that?

Me: It's a habit. I pick up on these things.

Tyler Bowman: Yes I love a girl. Amy Anderson.

We saw her and she was a brown hair girl in a pink coat.

Tyler Bowman: She's so beautiful and kind.

Elena Validus: Tyler, does Amy know about your hero life?

Tyler Bowman: No. But I'm worried that if she finds out who I am she will be in terrible danger.

Nico: Tyler that's normal.

Me: Yeah we're superheroes and everyone knows who we are. You can tell Amy about your Superhero life and she will totally understand.

Tyler Bowman: I can?

Me: Sure. Superhero secret identities are pretty much squat now and because everyone knows who we are and we always emerge victorious because we're the most powerful force in the entire universe, everyone knows our real names. And you can tell anyone you feel is trustworthy.

Tyler Bowman: I get it. All right Amy deserves to know who I really am.

Me: That a boy.

Jock then came up to us.

Me: Jock! I might have known you were a frat boy punk.

Jock: And what are you gonna do about it?

Lincoln: (to Jock) You're not so scary without your armor! You better start praying right now!

Jock: (smirks) Careful. You don't want to make a scene in front of all these innocent people, do you?

Eddy: Easy, guys. We'll take him down when the time is right. (to Jock) Don't think this is over, Jock. One way or another, that armor of yours is going to the junkyard!

Me: And prepare for a merciless butt-kicking. (Crack knuckles)

Everyone: YEAH!

Jock ran.

Me: What a wuss!

Double D: (angry) Who does that idiot think he is? Putting on an armor like mine and pretending to be me?

Maria: Easy, Double D. Try to keep a cool head.

Double D: How are you guys calm about this?! (to Lola, Lynn, and Lori) You three especially should be pissed off that Jock's making us look bad!

Sissi: Technically, he's only making YOU look bad.

Me: Yeah and he will pay for it.

Mem and Zen then came and they were in disguise.

Zen: (Arnold Schwarzenegger Accent) Team Loud Phoenix Storm. It's such an honor to meet you.

Me: You two must be Mem & Zen. It's a pleasure to meet you both.

Mem: Same here. We've heard so many amazing things about you all.

Me: It's mutual.

Zen: That's true.

Mem: That Jock is such an Earth-Jerk.

Zen: This isn't Jock's first day using his Iron Boy suit.

Princess Rose: What do you mean?

Mem: For the past week, Jock's been using his suit to enforce the law. But the thing, the offenses he targets barely qualify as crimes at all. Like cops breaking the speed limit in a car chase, and an elderly lady for driving three blocks with her left-turn signal turned on.

Me: You're right. Those aren't crimes at all.

Nico: Do you really believe that? If I remember correctly, before we met Mondo, you, Lori, Lynn, and Lola were about to kill a bank robber when all he was doing was getting a cup of coffee.

Me: We weren't thinking right back then.

Huntsgirl: I don't blame Double D for being pissed at Jock. (to Jake Long) I mean, if some jerk got dragon powers and pretended to be you, you'd be pretty mad as well.

Jake Long: You got that right.

Lori: I hate this virus!

Lynn: Yeah!

Kevin Reynolds: Can you tell me why you're all so pissed at the Virus Creators? You're acting like they killed a puppy of yours.

Lola: Everything's not a game, Kevin. What we do is important. Guys like the Virus Creators don't mess around.

Lynn: Lola's right. If you can't see that, maybe the royal Defenders were right to punish you.

Kevin Reynolds: (serious all of a sudden) You think I don't know that? When it's time for us to be heroes, if we mess up, somebody could die. From what you guys told me, if we mess up this time, everybody in the Universe could die.

Lori: That's what we're trying to tell you.

Kevin Reynolds: Maybe that's too much to have in your head when you have to win. Maybe if I pretend everything's a big joke, when the time comes, I'll be able to do what I have to do.

Me: Kevin you don't mean that. You know that being a superhero is not all fun and games. It's about helping to protect and save everyone you care about and preserve the balance of peace and justice. With great power comes great responsibility.

Mem: That's right.

Shope: No way we can stop the Virus with Jock in his suit enforcing the law.

Cheetah: We should at least be able to arrest Mr. Wertz.

Me: Yeah.

Shone: I never liked that guy. He's crazy. He's out to destroy us.

Laney: Yeah.

Tso Lan: Let's have the usual battles first. Then we can go after Wertz.

Me: Right

Bai Tza: Good idea brother. First lets make a makeshift arena outside. You guys are in for quite a good show.

Shope: This is gonna be so cool!

We got an arena set up outside and got ready.

Me: Lets start with the Warmup battles first. Tyler you go first and here is your archenemies in the future. Meet Mr. Touch & Mr. Go.

Mr. Go: (to Tyler Bowman) Instead of one archenemy, you get two!

Mr. Touch: Mr. Go is right!

Tyler Bowman: This is awesome!

Nico: Yep.

---

Warmup 1: Mr. Touch & Mr. Go

---

Tyler Bowman was facing Mr. Touch and Mr. Go in his Warmup Battle.

Tyler Bowman: This is gonna be so cool!

Mr. Touch: We'll try to go easy on you right Mr. Go?

Mr. Go: Indeed we will Mr. Touch.

Tyler Bowman pulled out his Blue Battle Ball and stuck it in his chest and transformed into his Superdude form and all the kids were shocked and surprised that Tyler was also one of the Superdudes!

Me: Oh that is so cool!

Nico: It sure is!

Lincoln: That it really cool!

Amy Anderson was shocked the most! She now saw that Tyler Bowman is also the Teleporting Superdude!

Amy Anderson: Tyler Bowman and the Teleporter of the Superdudes are both one in the same!? (In love even more) I love you more Tyler.

Me: Aww.

Tyler Bowman: Yes Amy, I am one of the Superdudes and I'm sorry that I kept this from you but I will make it up to you. Right now I want to get acquainted with this.

Mr. Touch & Mr. Go touched and they went fast as lightning and Tyler teleported and appeared above them and kicked them in the backs of their head and punched them all over the place and he teleported and punched them in their faces and kicked them in their crotches and knocked them down.

Tyler Bowman: Wow! That was awesome!

Amy came onto the arena.

Amy Anderson hugged him and kissed him and Tyler responded by kissing her back.

Everyone: Awww.

Me: That is so adorable!

Nico: It sure is.

Ben: I can tell those two were made for each other.

Pinkie Pie: They are a match made in heaven!

Sunset Shimmer: They sure are.

Laney: Yeah.

Scootaloo: EW!

Apple Bloom: I think it's so adorable.

Applejack: You said it sugarcube.

We cheered for them.

Vypra: I'm happy for them. Not bad for his warmup.

Tyler Bowman and Amy Anderson were now even more officially Boyfriend and Girlfriend.

---

Warmup 2: Vortex

---

Aerrow was facing the Weather Ghost and dangerous enemy of Danny Phantom, Vortex.

Vortex: (to Aerrow) Considering that all of your Cyclonian enemies are dead, I'm the only worthy archenemy you'll ever have.

Aerrow: Wouldn't have it any other way. I'm so excited and for me and the Storm Hawks, the Sky is never the Limit.

Vortex: I'm glad. Lets dance.

Aerrow had his energy swords ready and he went at Vortex and slashed at him and Vortex fired a blast of lightning at Aerrow and he used his swords and deflected the blast back at Vortex and it hit him and knocked him down.

Aerrow: Yeah!

Me: That was clever!

Lincoln: It sure was!

---

Battle 3: Whiger

---

Me and Dante Vale were facing Whiger.

Whiger: Two of you for one warmup?

Me: Me and Dante go back. Dante and I are good friends and I helped him and his team take down the Organization the first time and it is amazing that we did it.

Dante Vale: It's true.

Me: Yep. This was before we became Team Loud Phoenix Storm. I blew up their whole headquarters with a Kamehameha Wave and killed their leader and all of Interpol, the C.I.A. and even the F.B.I. declared the entirety of the Organization a major global terrorist threat. Placing bounties on their heads for incredible prices. Some of them went into hiding after we all defeated them a second time almost a year ago and people all over the world are pursuing them like flies to a rotten corpse. No offense Lucy.

Lucy Loud: None taken J.D.

Shope: What was the goal of this Organization?

Me: To collect as many titans and spirits as they could and enslave the entire planet. One of the things we never tolerate is World Domination.

Roach: Whoa!

Whiger: I see. Great job. (to Dante Vale) Let's how your Titans do against my White Tiger spirit!

Dante: Bring it! You go first J.D.

Me: Okay. Tyler, you and your friends are gonna love this. RISE! LEGENDARY TITAN OF REBIRTH: PHOENIX!

In a massive wall of Fire came the legendary firebird titan of rebirth:

Phoenix!

Everyone was amazed!

Rainbow Dash: WHOA! That is so cool!

Cozy Glow: WOW! What a beautiful phoenix!

Sophie Casterwill: (British Accent) That's one of the legendary spirits of the Huntik Organization.

Sophie told everyone that's new about the titans and more and everything and they were amazed!

Applejack: WOW! That's amazing!

Apple Fritter: It sure is! Wow!

Rainbow Dash: I didn't know there were so many unique spirits like this.

Lok: It's amazing huh. And the powers they have are all amazing. Just like the powers we use.

Dante Vale: Yep. Now for me. MANIFEST! LEGENDARY TITAN OF DIMENSIONS: UMBRA!

In a vortex of darkness came Umbra the Shadow Jaguar!

Twilight Sparkle: That is amazing!

Me: It sure is. Lets do it!

We went at Whiger and he blasted at us and we dodged it as a fiery explosion went off and I fired a blast of lightning and Dante fired a wave of energy and Phoenix fired a wave of fire and Umbra fired a wave of darkness and the blasts all hit Whiger and knocked him down.

Me: Yeah!

Dante Vale: Just like old times huh?

Me: You got that right.

We high five.

Warmup 4: Living Laser

Megan was facing Living Laser.

Me: I'm confused Vypra. It's not Living Laser, Man Boy or Weather Wizard's turn. How come they are doing more warmups?

Vypra: They are still getting used to all this.

Me: Ah. I see.

Living Laser: (to Megan) Before the battle against Thanos, I used to fight Iron Man on a daily basis. Jock with his Iron Boy suit shouldn't be a problem for me.

Megan: Not at all. You are also a very formidable opponent from what Tony told me.

Living Laser: Indeed. Lets dance.

Megan turned into her Candrakar Guardian form.

Megan: SPACE! Lets do it!

Megan flew at him and Living Laser fired laser blasts and she dodged them and fired blasts of stars at him and knocked him down.

Megan: Yeah!

Kevin R.: That was awesome!

Shope: Yeah!

Warmup 5: Weather Wizard

Shane Clarke was facing Weather Wizard.

Weather Wizard: (to Shane) If Lothor returns, remind me to strike him down with lightning.

Shane Clarke: Noted. NINJA STORM! RANGER FORM! HA!

Shane transformed into his Ninja Storm Ranger form!

Shane Clarke: (Echoing) POWER OF AIR!

Tyler Bowman: WHOA! He's one of the Power Rangers!?

Me: Yep. We have all the Power Ranger teams from over the course of 27+ years with us.

Nico: And it is so awesome!

Tommy Oliver: It sure is.

Lincoln: Yep.

Me: There's another series of Power Rangers coming out next year and we have to wait probably till 2023 to meet them.

Shane Clarke: Yeah but Patience is a Virtue. Lets dance.

Weather Wizard: Yeah!

Weather Wizard fired a blast of lightning and Shane slashed the lightning blast with his sword and he teleported and kicked him and knocked him down.

Me: Yeah!

Shane Clarke: Yeah!

Warmup 6: Man Boy

Flora was facing Man Boy.

Man Boy: (to Flora) Don't you find it odd that Jock suddenly got an Iron Boy suit?

Flora: I sure do. But lets get this on.

Man Boy flexed his beard and he went at Flora and she dodged all his strikes and kicked him and knocked him down.

Flora: That beard is amazing.

Me: No kidding. Now we get into the official usual battles.

Battle 1: Living Laser (Again)

Megan McAllister, Sunset Shimmer, Princess Cadance, Sissi Delma and Pacifica Northwest were facing Living Laser.

Megan: Now the official battles begin.

Sunset Shimmer: This is gonna be awesome.

Princess Cadance: We'll try to give you a chance to fight Jock.

Sissi Delma: That's right!

Pacifica: Yeah!

Living Laser: Thank you girls. Lets dance.

Living Laser called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Sunset Shimmer: This is one of my favorites. CARIBBEAN STYLE NINJA ART: ORINOCO FLOW!

Sunset Shimmer floated into the air and she was singing Orinoco Flow by Enya and she fired a wave of leaves, water and wind and it formed into a magnificent ship floating on the sea.

Princess Cadance: How about this one!? AURA STYLE NINJA ART: WILD CHILD!

Princess Cadance floated into the air and she was singing Wild Child by Enya and she was surrounded in an aura of energy and fired a wave of energy.

Megan, Sissi and Pacifica fired waves of stars, fire and light and the blasts went at Living Laser and knocked him and his Pokemon down.

Megan: Awesome fight!

Sissi: Those songs are some of my favorites.

Sunset Shimmer: Thanks Sissi.

Battle 2: Atomic Skull

Maggie, Rainbow Dash, Vapor Trail, Charmcaster and Huntsgirl were facing Atomic Skull.

Atomic Skull: This is gonna be awesome. But how dangerous is this Virus that the Superdudes face?

Rainbow Dash: From what we were told from J.D., it poses a tremendous threat to every living thing in the entire galaxy.

Vapor Trail: Yeah.

Maggie: I would not want to meet one of the creatures that the Virus turns things into.

Charmcaster: I wouldn't either.

Huntsgirl: Yeah.

Atomic Skull: It's that dangerous? Wow. We're gonna need all the help we can get. Lets do it.

Atomic Skull called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Rainbow Dash pulled out a violin.

Rainbow Dash: Not only am I a guitarist but I like all the instruments. Here's one of my favorites. OCEAN STYLE NINJA ART: BEYOND THE VEIL!

Rainbow Dash was floating in the air and she was playing Beyond the Veil by famous Violin Rap Artist Lindsey Stirling and a magical forest of trees that is underwater formed behind her as she was playing and it was beautiful. She fired waves of water, leaves and energy and the blasts went at him.

Maggie, Charmcaster and Huntgirl fired waves of black fire, magic and energy and the blasts all hit Atomic Skull and his Pokemon and knocked them down.

Maggie: Rock on.

Vapor Trail: That was so awesome!

Rainbow Dash: YEAH BABY!

Charmcaster: Way to rock on girls.

---

Battle 3: Technus

---

Cyborg, Circe (GR), Elena Validus, Twilight Sparkle and Pepperdance were facing Technus.

Pepperdance: Do you like spicy food as much as me?

Technus: Haven't had anything to eat in a long time. But yeah I love spicy food.

Twilight Sparkle: That's cool!

Cyborg: Nice and J.D. and Nico love the stuff.

Circe: It's true.

Elena V.: Yep. Lets dance.

Technus: Gladly.

Technus called out his Pokemon and they went at him.

Pepperdance: Lets see how you like this one. SPICY STYLE NINJA ART: DRAGONS BREATH FIRESTORM!

Pepperdance fired a massive wave of fire from her mouth.

Twilight Sparkle: Try this one! SKYLANDS ELEMENT STYLE NINJA ART: FIRE INFERNO STORMBLAST!

Twilight Sparkle formed a disk and it had the Fire Skylanders element symbol and it fired waves of fire.

Cyborg, Circe and Elena fired waves of sonic energy and chips and the blasts all hit Technus and knocked him and his Pokemon down.

Pepperdance: Ooowee! Loved it.

Battle 4: Red X

Hunter, Pinkie Pie, Flurry Heart, Nuova Shenron and Princess Rose were facing Red X.

Red X: Doesn't Flurry Heart look a little too young to be in a battle?

Pinkie Pie: She wants to try it.

Hunter: (German Accent) Ja und we were told that she has amazing power.

Nuova Shenron: It's true. Her power is amazing.

Princess Rose: She sure is amazing.

But then we all heard a phoenix cry and we saw in the sky a crystal phoenix flying down towards Flurry Heart.

Me: Whoa! Look at that!

The Crystal Phoenix went into Flurry Heart and then she was enveloped in a vortex of crystal and she underwent an incredible transformation! When the transformation was done, she was forever changed. Flurry Heart's hair went down to her lower back and she had a beautiful aqua blue shirt and a purple ribbon belt and she had a sea foam green skirt with her cutie mark on the front. Her cutie mark looked like a heart over a crystal star with gold decorations on it and she had magenta and white socks and she had pink sandals. She had a silver hair band and a silver necklace and a silver bracelet. She also had crystal angel wings.

Flurry Heart: Whoa. That was a rush. (Gasp) I can talk! Wow!

Hunter: Wow! Flurry Heart you look amazing!

Hunter made a mirror and Flurry Heart saw herself and she was all grown up!

Flurry Heart: WHOA! I look incredible! I'm all grown up.

Pinkie Pie: You look amazing!

Flurry Heart: I sure do.

Red X: Is this how some of you got your powers?

Hunter: Ja und we haven't had something like this happen to us in a while.

Pinkie Pie: Wow!

Flurry Heart: Lets see what I can do.

Flurry Heart: That was so much fun!

Princess Cadance, Twilight Sparkle and Shining Armor came onto the arena and hugged Flurry Heart.

Princess Cadance: My little girl is now all grown up!

Shining Armor: Sweetheart you were amazing!

Flurry Heart: Mom, dad, Aunt Twilight, this was so cool!

Battle 7: Malachite

---

Shanan, Rarity, Starlight Glimmer, Sailor Moon, Princess Luna were looking for their next opponent.

Shanan: Where is this enemy?

?: Looking for me?

They turned and they saw Sailor Moon's enemy MALACHITE!

---

Kunzite is the fourth and strongest of Queen Beryl's Four Kings of Heaven in the anime Sailor Moon who represents the Middle East region.

In the Japanese version, he was voiced by the late Kazuyuki Sogabe in the original version, and Eiji Takemoto in the Viz version. In the English version, he was voiced by Patrick Seitz in the Viz version. He was voiced by the late Denis Akiyama in the English Dic version.

Kunzite first appears following Nephrite's defeat, collaborating with Zoicite before he was defeated as well. Targeting Minako, who deceived all parties that she was Princess Serenity reincarnated, Kunzite called her out to Tokyo Tower while she attempted to reach his true self. But Kunzite ends up defeating the Sailor Guardians and killed Tuxedo Mask when he got in the path of an attack meant for Sailor Moon, revealing them to be Prince Endymion and the real Serenity. Kunzite spirits Mamoru away, starting to regain some of his past life memories when Beryl used her magic to fortify the enslavement spell that she cast him and the other Kings of Heaven. While killed off by the Sailor Guardians in the original manga, Kunzite and the others kings later fend off the Sailor Guardians from entering the Dark Kingdom's stronghold. Kunzite is revealed to Sailor Venus's lover in their past life as she freed him from Beryl's spell, though he and the other Kings were vaporized by Queen Metalia for no longer being of use to her. But the four stones that the Four Kings of Heaven were reduced to end up in Mamoru's possession with the quartet's spirits now able to resume their duty as his protectors and advisers, Kunzite revealing Metalia's weakness.

90s Anime

Malachite first appeared in Episode 18. He was later seen occasionally, but actually attacked the Sailor Scouts in Episode 29, trapping them inside a black dome and weakening them in an attempt to force Tuxedo Mask to hand over his crystals, but Sailor

Venus arrived and shot Malachiet's hands with a Venus Crescent Beam smash, destroying the forcefield.

In Episode 30, Malachite appeared as part of Zoycite's double-cross, when he challenged Tuxedo Mask to a battle over the crystals, he appeared and took them. In Episode 31, he became horrified after He witnessed Queen Beryl kill Zoycite, unsuccessfully trying to convince her to spare her. However, the only one that he seemed to feel animosity toward over Zoycite's death was Sailor Moon, and he attacked the Sailor Scouts later on, but Sailor Moon fought him off using Cosmic Moon Power.

As it was Sailor Moon/Usagi Tsukino who possessed the Legendary Silver Crystal, Kunzite's plans revolved around trying to find and destroy Sailor Moon and take the crystal from her. However, he often got into arguments with Prince Endymion (Mamoru Chiba), whom Beryl had turned evil (though he still fought off Kunzite's Youma at times). Like Zoisite, Kunzite would turn people into Youmas, except they can disguise themselves as their human forms at any time.

Malachite's Youmas included Mitsuami, Shakoukai, Blizzar, Zoyrin Geller (a Youma duo transformed from Misha and Janelle), and Oniwabandana. But all of these Youmas were healed by Sailor Moon.

In Episode 39, Malachite attacked the Sailor Scouts in a cave, but they were sent back in time to view the battle at the Moon Kingdom. During this scene he was seen in a flashback, standing alongside Jedite (Jadeite), Neflite (Nephrite), and Zoycite. In the present, Malachite attacked Luna and Artemis in a snowy area, and nearly killed them. The Sailor Scouts fought Malachite, but he had the advantage, as he gets stronger whenever they see him, and threw powerful energy blades at him. But Sailor Moon gained the upper hand using Cosmic Moon Power. Malachite threw an energy blade at her, but she reflected it back at him with her crescent moon wand, mortally wounding him. Before dying, Malachite said he would be coming to join Zoycite soon, and dissolved into nothingness.

The final battle with Malachite, up to the point in which the deathblow was struck and he said " I'm losing strength " was shown when the Sailor Scouts recalled past battles in the final episode of Sailor Moon R .

Shanan: Malachite!

Malachite: So you are the brats that killed all of her majesties soldiers!

Shanan: That's right! And they all deserve to go to Hell! Just like you will with Zoycite!

Malachite: How dare you!?

Shanan: Shut your fucking trap!

Malachite: (to Sailor Moon) You won't have to worry about the Virus killing the Universe, Sailor Moon. Because I'll make sure you're too dead to even care!

Shanan: Not if I kill you first Malachine!

Shanan then transformed into her Super Angel 1,000,000 Prismatic Rainbow Nature Fairy form and she was gonna make sure Malachite pays.

Shanan: (Divine Fairy Voice) Time for you to feel the wrath and fury of nature.

Malachite then formed two powerful energy blades and Shanan walked towards Malachite and leaves, flowers, plants and butterflies were forming with each step she took towards Malachite and he threw the blades at her and she flicked them back at him and one hit him in the arm.

Rarity: Face this one! CRYSTAL STYLE NINJA ART: SPEAR OF JUSTICE!

Rarity formed a crystal spear and threw it at him.

Princess Luna: MOONLIGHT STYLE NINJA ART: MOONLIGHT

Shanan and Sailor Moon fired waves of leaves and energy and the blasts all hit Malachite and obliterated him in a massive explosion!

KRABBBBBBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

The explosion left a small crater in the ground and it was a great battle!

Everyone cheered wildly!

---

Me: That was so awesome!

Nicole: It sure was! Now we've seen the last of Queen Beryl's generals.

Nico: Yep. Now all that's left is Queen Beryl herself.

Me: But we'll worry about her later. Lets head after Mr. Wertz.

We went to the school science lab and a fiery explosion blasted a hole into the room.

We saw MR. WERTZ!

Me: Mr. Wertz, you're under arrest.

Mr. Wertz: For what?

Me: For being a screwed up lunatic!

He saw Wolf and Starfire and our friends.

Mr. Wertz: Aliens! I knew it!

Wolf: So, you were right. I'm an alien too. But that doesn't mean that aliens are bad!

Nico: Any last words before-

Mr. Wertz: (smirks) You wouldn't do anything too bad to me, would you? Especially with Iron Boy on his way to save the day. (to Double D) And I don't mean you, faker!

Me: Shut your fucking trap you fucked up lunatic!

Jock: Stop right there, criminals!

Red X: Stay out of this, asshole. Wertz is getting what's coming to him.

Jock: He's just doing his job as a teacher. Just like I'm doing my job of taking you punks out!

Nico: Guys, keep Jock distracted! I'm gonna get something from the Estate!

Me: Got it.

Nico teleported back to the estate.

Troy: Time to show you what real heroes do!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Time Force!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the Time Force Rangers!

Jock: Why you fucking little!?

He then grabbed my hand and then Jock just ripped off my hand. I winced in pain.

Jock: I'm sorry. Did you lose your hand? Let me put it to better use! (shoves your hand down Lincoln's throat)

Lincoln pulled out the hand and hurled his guts out and Nico came back and he had a bottle of acid with a symbol for Anti-Rogue Iron Boy on it.

Nico: You will pay for your crimes!

Nico splashed Jock's suit with the acid and it totally dissolved the suit into nothing!

Jock: No! My suit!

Technus: It's completely gone. And you're getting your just desserts!

Jock: All I wanted was to be a hero!

Nico: Real heroes don't do what you did! Real heroes remember this rule: With Great Power Comes Great Responsibility!

Jock: Duh! That's why I busted those criminals the past wekk.

May: What those people did weren't even crimes at all!

Me: And you are a fucked up fool!

I regenerated my hand and then we punched Jock in the face and smashed his mouth, nose and eyes and knocked him into a coma and Laney tied up Mr. Wertz and we put him in a straitjacket.

Mr. Wertz: YOU FOOLS! YOU ARE MAKING A MISTAKE! MY ORDER IS SUPREME! I WILL RULE OVER THIS WORLD AND RULE IT WITH ALL ALIENS!

Me: You are just as fucked up as the rest.

I punched him in the face and sent him to the Saturn Insane Asylum and Jock was arrested and given muscle weakeners to get rid of his muscles so he would be as weak as a toothpick. They took him to prison.

Dai Gui: Now that Jock's dealt with, we can focus on stopping the virus.

Cornelia: Lets do it.

Me: And I sense where we can search.

Amy Anderson: I want to come with you guys.

Me: Are you sure Amy? It's gonna be incredibly dangerous. This is a Malevolent Cosmic Entity from the very same universe where we defeated the Royal Defenders.

Amy Anderson: I want to help you guys because I love Tyler now.

Me: We won't stop you then.

We went to the forest where Mem and Zen's ship was at and we were looking around.

Me: I sense the Virus Creator's coming. They are getting closer.

Nico: We have superlasers locked on target at the white hole where they are coming from.

Me: Awesome.

?: So you helped the Supernoobs foil my plans!

We then saw the mastermind behind all the pain the Superdudes went through: COUNT VENAMUS!

---

Count Venamus, is the secondary antagonist in Supernoobs, he was voiced by Trevor Devall.

Beginnings

Not much's know about Venamus's past at this point, except that he and his minions work for the Creators and plan to rule the galaxy.

Appearance

He has dark turquoise skin with an odd-shaped head with tusks like an elephant, he wears a drak grey suit and boots.

History

Count Venamus was first appeared in the episode The Noobs meet Count Venamus, as he planned to give the virus infection to the Virus Warriors in the New Virus Warrior Convention, but he was foiled by the Supernoobs and then he swore that he will get rid of them someday. Later, he uses a lot of plans to kill them, such as kidnapping and brainwashing people, but he always gets defeated by them once again. He even got replaced by count Jumandor, but then he got his place back to reserve the Creators. During the final battle, he ended up buying a house in Cornbury which it's opposite of Mem and Zen's house.

---

Tyler Bowman: Count Venamus!

Mewtwo: That was my X Mega Evolution. This one is my Y Mega Evolution.

Me: Two mega form variations? Whoa!

Count Venamus: At least Jock used his suit to keep you distracted long enough for me to find these Pokemon and control them!

Atomic Skull: How did you know about Jock's suit?

Count Venamus: Who do you think gave that imbecile that suit?

Me: So you were behind all this! You will die along with the virus creators.

Me: It is. Thanks to Lisa's new invention she made.

Lisa Loud: It's called my Superlaser Tri-Focus Ultra Blast Lens. Nico: Whoa! That is genius!

It saw the laser coming.

Virus Creator: (In an Alien Language) OH CRAP!

The laser hit the planet and the Virus Creator and obliterated it and destroyed them both forever! And the Virus was forever obliterated! With the Virus Creator destroyed because of it being a hive mind, all the virus was destroyed! The White Hole was obliterated as a result!

Me: BULLSEYE!

We cheered wildly!

Nico: It's over. The Virus is finshed.

Me: Enjoy the darkness of The Warp.

Nico: Yeah!

Later, back at the estate we were glad that the Virus, Count Venamus and its creators were gone forever. Mr. Wertz was found guilty of his crimes and sentenced to spend the rest of his life in the Saturn Insane Asylum. Jock was brought to trial for his crimes and he was really humiliated. He was disowned by his parents and was sentenced to spend the next 392,928 years in the Uranus prison without the possibility of parole. We went to Nico's room.

Nico: (Me, Superman, and Batman come into his room) Can I help you guys?

Superman: Nico, that acid you used to melt Jock's suit. That's a contingency plan for Double D, isn't it?

Poromon: Of course it was. In fact, it's part of a set of contingency plans against J.D. and the Loud Kids should they ever go rogue.

Poliwag: Plus a few others.

Batman: Nico, as someone who has Kryptonite against Superman should he ever turn evil, I understand why you made these contingencies. But it's best if you tell the others as soon as possible.

Nico: I will. And don't worry. These plans are to neutralize J.D. and the Loud Kids, not kill them. (to me) Please understand my reasons for these contingencies. I do trust you guys. But these are for if you guys ever turn out like the Royal Defenders.

Me: I understand. Way to come through man.

Nico: Thanks dude.

Tyler Bowman and Amy were kissing.

Tyler Bowman: I could do this forever with you.

Amy Anderson: Me too.

Tyler Bowman: (To the viewers) The Virus and its creator might be gone but there are other bad guys we know still running about.

Me: Yep. So how did it feel helping us Tyler?

Tyler Bowman: An awesome adventure! I loved it!

Me: Glad to have you with us.

We then rested.

Another Awesome Fanfic done!

YEAH! Supernoobs was an awesome show from Canada and it was an awesome Extraterrestrial show. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is the 5th chapter of the Mysticons and we're going after that evil

Vexicon of Ice, Mallory and that cold-hearted snake is gonna pay for her crimes. She will die by our wrath.

See you tomorrow.

The Last of The Vexicons

We were waiting outside the bathroom. Fluttershy had a big surprise for us that she wanted us to see. With us was Dr. Light's newest robot creation: Burner Man.

Maria: Thanks for joining us, Burner Man.

Burner Man: Not a problem Maria. It's an honor to be here.

Lincoln: You'll make a great addition to the team.

Burner Man: What do you think Fluttershy wants to show us?

Twilight Sparkle: She is trying on a new look.

Fluttershy: (From in the bathroom) Almost ready guys. Can you hand me my tote bag J.D.?

Me: Sure.

I lifted it up and it felt like it weighed over 300 pounds!

Me: WHOA! Man what is in here!? It feels like it's full of bowling balls.

Fluttershy opened the door and helped out her hand and I gave it to her and saw that she had done her nails and they were black.

Brittney: Nice nails.

She pulled her tote bag in and then she came out 2 minutes later and she had a really badass look! She styled her hair shorter and she had 3 earring on each ear and had black eye shadow and black lipstick on. She had a black spiked choker, a black tank top with bats on it and she had green striped fingerless gloves and a spiked belt with grey pants with claw mark holes in them and she had badass boots and she had a wicked skull staff with her!

Fluttershy: (Giggles)

Elesa: Those are some nice clothes, Fluttershy!

Me: Yeah! Wicked badass.

Fluttershy: Oh thank you. We went to Equestria world at one time and Vignette introduced me to the band Skullcruncher.

Skull Cruncher: Wow! There's a band named after me? I'm honored.

Me: Wow! But this is a great look for you Fluttershy. It's like you became part of the rock bands The Black Sabbath and Marilyn Manson.

Fluttershy: Thanks guys.

Razorclaw: Is this a permanent look?

Fluttershy: No my casual look will be here at home and this look will be when I'm in battle.

Me: That's a great idea. And the Skull Staff really ties the whole thing together.

Nico: It sure does.

Grimlock: Me Grimlock think Fluttershy's clothes are badass!

Fluttershy: Thanks guys. And watch this.

She lit up her staff and it emitted green fire and lasers from the eyes of the top skull.

Me: WHOA! Awesome!

Lucy Loud: Wicked.

Brittney: Awesome style for joining the Gothic Subculture.

Me: It sure is. This is really awesome.

Twilight Sparkle: That is so brutal.

Me: Very brutal. But this new battle look for you is really hardcore.

Fluttershy: Thanks guys.

Brittney: I'm gonna need a lot of black nail polish myself.

The Goths of Darkness agreed with her.

We laughed.

---

We later were over in Drake City and we were looking for the last member of the last member of the Vexicons.

Me: The last member of the Vexicons we have left to face is Mallory.

I pulled up Mallory's info.

---

A staff-wielder with ice powers who is the dark counterpart of Princess Arkayna. Her phrase is "Ice Serpent, Strike!" from her deep blue Serpent/Snake Bracer, which she uses more than her three sisters whom she considers her "minions" rather than sisters.

She is the most power-hungry, independent, and ambitious of the sisterhood of evil; the first to attempt to overthrow her "mother" Proxima.

Possessing very strong cryokinetic and frigiokinetic powers, she can emit strong beams of solid ice from her blue Crystal Ice Staff. She holds the dark power of the Serpent. She can encase her opponents in a solid block of ice, and erect an ice shield that can defect Arkayna's fiery beams with ease. Once donning the half of Necrafa's mask, her Vexicon abilities seemed to have grown tremendously and developed more.

---

Nico: Geez! Mallory is really dangerous.

Bounce Man: So far, we've taken down 3 of the Vexicons. (to Eartha) No offense, Eartha.

Eartha: None taken.

Me: We have one Vexicon left and that's Mallory and she is the evil version of Arkayna.

Arkayna: Yes that's right.

James (Pokemon): This shouldn't be a problem. How dangerous can Mallory possibly be?

Arkayna: You have no idea James. She is the most dangerous member of the Vexicons and she is one cold-hearted snake. No offense Anko.

Anko: None taken.

Me: What are her powers?

Arkayna: She uses ice and the power of the snake.

Me: Whoa! She has a heart of ice. Metaphorically speaking of course.

Alexis Rhodes: Yeah.

Teen Titans Lightning: It's true that Mallory has formidable ice powers. But that's nothing compared to the powers of me and Thunder!

Me: And the powers of fire know no bounds. But lets not get overconfident Lightning.

Thunder: I agree brother. We have to stay vigilant.

Nadira: Where can we find Mallory?

Me: If I remember what she does earlier it's that she likes to cause trouble by freezing everything in her path.

Lori: Wow.

Arkayna: Not only that but she talks in cell phone talk.

Me: You mean like #timeforbuttkicking, LOL, STFU, all that stuff?

Arkayna: Yeah that's right.

Alizarin Bubblegum: That's weird.

Me: Lori, you, Carol, Leni and all your friends talk like that when texting right?

Lori: We sure do.

Carol: It's what we do.

Me: That is like stereotypical teenage talk. No offense.

They said None Taken.

Me: Well if she likes to talk like on a cell phone then two can play at that game.

Chef Pepper Jack: Yeah!

Me: Lets go find her.

We walked around and we then saw a bunch of people and creatures totally frozen in ice and there was a trail of them like a trail of breadcrumbs.

Me: She's leading us right to her.

Lincoln: Yep.

We followed the trail and we were in hot pursuit and then we saw people running for their lives.

Me: We're close!

We followed where the people were running from and we saw Mallory blasting a lot of people with ice and really freezing them.

Me: There she is!

I fired blasts of fire and the blasts hit the ground underneath her and exploded!

KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMM!
KRABBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMM!
KRABBBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOMMMMMM!

We stood ready to face her!

Me: Game's over Mallory!

Mallory: So the famous Team Loud Phoenix Storm is here. #Timetodie.

Me: #Gotohell.

Mallory: I knew you and your loser friend would show up, Arkayna. #paybacktime.

Dreamcatcher: Two can play at the cell phone talk game!

Lori: Yeah! So S.T.H.U.!

Tania: I hope you like being melted into a puddle! #vexiconsarefinished.

Me: Looks like you guys are getting into the trend.

Carol: We sure are. #vexiconscangotohell.

Man Boy, Toiletnator, Brain Freezer, Vanitas, Robo-Roxy and Zexion appeared.

Me: Man Boy, Toiletnator, Brain Freezer, Vanitas, Robo-Roxy and Zexion.

Brain Freezer: Hey guys.

Man Boy: Sorry we're late. Toiletnator got hungry.

Toiletnator: Hey, you can't fight on an empty stomach!

Robo-Roxy: (to Mallory) Hey, Mallory. #we'renotonyourside

Mallory: WHAT!?

Me: BURN!

We laughed.

Robo-Roxy: Whoa! Fluttershy love the new look!

Fluttershy: Thanks Robo-Roxy.

Me: It's what she calls her new Battle Look. She went to see a hardcore band that is very similar to The Black Sabbath and Marilyn Manson.

Man Boy: Those bands are hardcore.

Me: They are and they are notoriously notable for causing people to do dangerous crimes.

Toiletnator: How is Wallabee doing?

Me: Doing great Lou. We've been helping him work up the courage to tell Numbuh 3 how he feels.

Laney: It's true.

Toilernator: My little nephew in love.

Me: Yep.

Artillacon then appeared.

Me: Artillacon. Welcome back.

Artillacon: Glad to see you all again.

Jaune: (to Artillacon) Thanks for helping us with the trauma of me and my friends.

Artillacon: No problem. (sternly) But just don't act like that again. You're lucky I didn't hit you with all of my weapons and powers.

Yang: Yeah.

Artillacon: Whoa! Ransik! Nadira!

Ransik: Glad to see you again Artillacon.

Nadira: We're not doing crimes anymore. We're redeeming ourselves after what happened.

Wes Collins: It's true.

I used my time powers to freeze Mallory in place.

Me: You stay right there Mallory. We'll take care of you after we do our usual battles.

The Illuminati Demon of Fear

We were over at Fluttershy's cottage and she was there to show us her awesome garden and how beautiful it was.

Fluttershy: Thank you all for coming guys. You all are gonna love my garden.

Me: We can't wait to see it.

Fluttershy opened a door and we then saw a magnificent and amazing garden loaded with all kinds of amazing plants, flowers, trees, shrubs, animals, all of Fluttershy's animal friends and more and it was worthy of Eden. It also had a beautiful fountain and koi pond and a beautiful waterfall and so much more.

We saw how beautiful it was and we were in absolute awe!

Me: Whoa!

Nico: Now this is a beautiful garden!

Lincoln: It sure is!

Poliwag, Poromon, Horsea and Manaphy were playing in the swimming pond and having drinks and we were relaxing.

Poliwag: It's so beautiful!

Poromon: It sure is!

Horsea: So relaxing.

Manaphy: Yeah.

Swoop: Me Swoop think Fluttershy's garden is nice.

Fluttershy: Thank you so much Swoop.

We were relaxing and it was amazing.

Me: Ahh. This is the life.

Nico: You said it. The smell of the flowers in Fluttershy's garden is amazing.

?: It sure is amazing isn't it?

We saw a dragon relaxing and it was Fluttershy's funny and silly redeemed villain friend DISCORD!

Discord, also known as the Spirit of Chaos and Disharmony, is a former major antagonist in My Little Pony: Friendship is Magic . He appears as the main antagonist in the two-part Season 2 premiere "Return of Harmony" and the Season 3 episode "Keep Calm and Flutter On", a minor antagonist in the Season 5 finale "Cutie-Remark", the secondary antagonist of the Season 4 finale "Twilight's Kingdom", and one of the secondary characters for the rest of the series. In Season 9, Discord assumed the guise of Grogar and acted as the "main antagonist" of the season until his deception was revealed near the series finale.

Discord is the omnipotent being of chaos and disorder who desired to turn all of Equestria into a chaotic wasteland, and was once the arch-nemesis of Princesses Celestia and Luna, and then the Mane Six. But then Fluttershy helped him realize the true value of friendship, which led to a slight redemption. He was then tempted back into villainy by Lord Tirek, but became a hero again after Tirek betrayed him and then being saved by Twilight Sparkle, leading to his true redemption. In the final season, Discord posed as Grogar, an ancient and powerful ram sorcerer who once ruled ancient Equestria and assembled a team of the most dangerous villains in Equestria, in an effort to prepare Twilight for when she inherits the throne from Celestia and Luna, until he was exposed when his plan ultimately backfired.

He was voiced by John de Lancie, who also played Q in Star Trek: The Next Generation (who was Discord's main inspiration), Sinestro in Duck Dodgers, and Brainiac in Justice League Action . While playing as Grogar, he is voiced by Doc Harris. In My Little Pony: Pony Life, he is voiced by Peter New, who also voiced Big Macintosh in Friendship is Magic .

Appearance

Discord is one of the species called a draconequus, as explained by Cheerilee from the beginning of the episode. Discord is a combination of many body parts from different creatures which also makes him a chimera. He has the long body of a brown horse, the head of a gray pony, with an ivory deer antler on the right, a turquoise blue goat horn of the left, one long fang, yellow eyes with red pupils, a snake tongue, a black mane, and a white goat beard. The rest of his body consists of the right paw of a pale yellow lion, the left yellow talon of a brown eagle, the right leg of a green lizard, the left leg with a dark brown hoof of a tan goat, the right wing of a purple bat, the left wing of a bluebird, and a red snake tail with a white tuft at the end that he has been seen to use as a third hand.

While disguised as Grogar, Discord appeared as a large cornflower blue ram with apple green eyes and red pupils, a white mane, tail and eyebrows, long dark azure horns and hooves, and sharp fangs protruding from the bottom of his mouth. He wears a red collar with big golden studs and a single chain link at the center where the real Grogar's magic bell once was.

Princess Celestia explains to Twilight and her friends that Discord once took over Equestria and caused chaos throughout for earth ponies, unicorns, and pegasi alike. Nobody dared stand up to his horrendous rule until Luna and Celestia discovered the Elements of Harmony and used them to turn him to stone, and reclaim the throne. Celestia explains that since she and Luna are no longer in connection with the Elements of Harmony, the spell imprisoning Discord has failed and he has escaped from his stone prison and stealing the Elements of Harmony, implying to have hid them in the Canterlot castle labyrinth. With nothing to keep his powers in check, he begins to wreak chaos throughout Equestria, turning clouds into cotton candy that move of their own accord and rain chocolate milk, and causing animals to become wild and automatically change shape.

When the Mane Six venture into the Palace Labyrinth, Discord magically steals the pegasi's wings and the unicorn's horns so that they would be unable to use their magic or ability to fly to "cheat" in the "game" he forces them to take part in to find the Elements, and separates them by raising sections of the Labyrinth's walls. Discord used representations of the cast's cutie marks, and subtly manipulates them into questioning the morality of their element, which drains them of their color and severs their connection to the element they represent, causing their personality to become their polar opposite. The one exception is Fluttershy, as nothing could ever make her doubt kindness, and Discord ends up having to corrupt her forcibly, bidding her goodbye with a frustrated "Arrivederci!" He eventually plays on Rainbow Dash's loyalty by showing her a vision that her hometown of Cloudsdale would be destroyed without her, and offers her wings back and a choice to either go to its aid, or continue seeking the Elements. This tricks her into flying out of the Labyrinth, breaking Discord's first rule that nopony is allowed to fly or use magic. Discord then causes the entire Labyrinth to collapse, and standing before the five remaining Ponies, gleefully states that he has won, and Equestria will now be thrust into eternal chaos.

Equestria is thrown into eternal chaos, and Discord points out that he never said the Elements of Harmony were in the Labyrinth. It is not until she returns home that Twilight realizes the answer to Discord's riddle was that they were inside a book at her house. With the Elements, the ponies (minus Rainbow Dash, who is replaced by Spike) attempt to use them on Discord, but failed. Twilight is however able to restore them by using her magic to show them images of past adventures. She does this with Rainbow Dash last, after which they confront Discord, who is still confident that they could not defeat him, and makes himself an open target. As the ponies' representation of the elements are restored, however, they use them on him in a similar style to Nightmare Moon, turning him to stone, this time with a look of horror frozen in his face.

Season 3 Keep Calm and Flutter On

Discord returns to begin his journey to redemption in Keep Calm and Flutter On. Celestia brings the stone Discord before the Mane Six and tells them she could make use of his magic if they could reform him. As a precaution, she gives them their Elements of Harmony, enchanting them so Discord cannot take them and hide them again. Twilight and the others release Discord from his stone prison. With a combination of Fluttershy's Stare and the threat of being turned to stone again, Discord doesn't do much chaos, but brainwashes some beavers behind the ponies' backs. Fluttershy (whom Celestia was most confident in) was the only one willing to give Discord a chance, and had him stay at her house. Discord does not act evil, intending to trick Fluttershy into eventually removing her necklace. He also consumes several pages from books holding reforming spells Twilight planned to use on him.

While Discord is having a dinner party with the Six, making objects come to life and cause chaos, Fluttershy says she and Discord were friends, which affects Discord as he never had a real friend before. When the corrupted beavers flood Sweet Apple Acres with their dams, Discord says he will fix this in exchange for Fluttershy's promise not to use her Element of Harmony on him. Discord breaks the deal and freezes the water instead of removing it. Twilight wants to turn Discord back to stone, but Fluttershy refuses, having promised Discord not to. When Fluttershy walks away, however, Discord realizes he could not stand losing his only friend and restores everything to the way it was.

Fluttershy shows Discord how important friendship was to him, and once he had it he didn't want to lose it. Discord also says, rather reluctantly, " Friendship is magic ", the first time the line was ever spoken in the series. However, the episode ends on a bit of a wary note as while Discord openly says he'd never use his magic for evil, he quietly adds "Most of the time". Celestia also, rather practically, leaves the Elements of Harmony in Twilight's position, just in case. Discord overhears Celestia revealing her intention to Twilight and shows a face of concern, possibly because of the lack of trust they have in him or because it will make any future evil plan of his harder to pull off. Whether Discord will truly reform entirely with everyone else in the series or relapse into his old ways has yet to be seen.

Season 4 Princess Twilight Sparkle

Discord's final steps toward redemption as well as his past arew revealed in flashbacks in the two-part fourth season premiere Princess Twilight Sparkle. Discord appears when the Mane Six summon him, accusing him of the chaos in Ponyville.

With Discord claiming innocence, the girls prepare to turn him back to stone. But Fluttershy stands up for Discord, saying that he is indeed reformed. Discord thanks his new friend "Shutterfly" while embracing Rainbow Dash. Fluttershy corrects him on name and pony. Twilight asks for Discord to help her find out who's responsible for the chaos, but he refuses, telling them to ask Zecora instead.

After Twilight witnesses Princess Luna's transformation into Nightmare Moon after drinking Zecora's potion, she sees all of her friends looking strangely at her. Discord informs her they are doing so because of all the "talking to Luna and Celestia" and crying she did while witnessing the fight between Luna and Celestia, openly mocking her for doing so. After drinking the potion again, Twilight witnessed the first confrontation between Luna, Celestia and Discord. In the vision, Celestia and Luna order Discord to stand down and stop causing chaos and destruction, but he does not take them seriously and ignores them, all while eating and tossing around a bag of seeds. When the Princesses prepare to use the Elements of Harmony on him, Discord begins to laugh uncontrollably and does not notice the Princesses using the Elements' powers on him and is turned into stone.

Later, Discord is still enjoying the mess in Ponyville and even enjoying the suffering of others, watching Cherry Berry and Comet Tail struggle from vines up until Twilight arrives and scolds him, telling him to help them, which he does. He asks Twilight what she's doing back already and Twilight tells Discord she left her friends behind because she needed to. Discord began taunting Twilight, saying that he was shocked that she would leave her friends in danger. Discord's words get to Twilight and she leaves to save her friends. Discord waves as she leaves.

Later on, after she gave up the Elements of Harmony to the Element tree saving Equestria, Discord congratulates them and asks how they did it. They say they gave up the Elements of Harmony, Discord sees this as a chance to relapse, but Fluttershy warns him of the consequences, meaning he'll lose his friends. Discord agrees to clean up the mess, but he won't do the Windows. Applejack wonders why all this happened to begin with, and Discord mentions out loud that the planted seeds that should have sprouted long ago. Twilight uses Zecora's potion to see that Discord really did his Plunderseeds that were supposed to steal the Element Tree's power and capture the princesses, but the tree's powers were too strong. Twilight scolds Discord again saying they could have used this information, but Discord explains it was to teach Twilight a valuable lesson about being a Princess.

Three's A Crowd

Discord visits Ponyville claiming to be suffering from "blue flu" and asking for help from his pony friends. With Fluttershy away on a trip to observe the Breezies, it ultimately falls to Twilight Sparkle and Princess Cadance to care for him while he is supposedly ill.

Eventually, the blue flu turns out to be a deception, as Discord claims that he was worried Twilight Sparkle was not really his friend and concocted an elaborate test to determine if she would really act like a friend to him. He is overjoyed to see that she chose to help him, even though it interfered with her time with Princess Cadance. Ironically, his karma for infecting Applejack and Rarity and also faking sick is that he becomes infected with a real disease when a Tatzlwurm sneezes on him. He is placed in a quarantine bubble in Fluttershy's cottage where his Pegasus friend can care for him. During his visit, Discord reveals that he and Fluttershy have been keeping a correspondence.

Twilight's Kingdom

Discord's redemption has a bit of a backslide in Twilight's Kingdom . In this two-part episode, Celestia seeks the help of Discord to fight Lord Tirek instead of Twilight, as he could sense magical imbalances. Delighted with the news, Discord arrives to gloat to the ponies. During his, Discord reminds them of how they haven't opened the Tree of Harmony's chest yet, revealing his interest in the chest's contents. Before leaving, Discord gives the Mane 6 back the journal they've been writing in, with bookmarks on specific pages. He then asks Fluttershy if they are still going to have tea later, stating that he will bring the cucumber sandwiches before opening a door to Tirek's current location. While re-reading the journal, Twilight realizes that the pages Discord bookmarked were about the times they had to represent their element in a difficult situation, changing some-ponies' life in the process, realizing that Discord was actually trying to help them, in his own way.

In the alleyway that Tirek was residing in, Discord disguises himself as a unicorn and successfully attracted Tirek. Recognizing him, Tirek commends Discord on his escape from his stone prison, only for Discord to bind him with shackles, Tirek believing that someone as powerful as Discord wouldn't want to share power. However, Discord informs him that he was actually re-imprisoning him for his friends, who required him to do so. Seeing this as his chance, Tirek manipulates Discord into thinking that his new friendship was just a new form of prison, as he had to give up his natural destructive nature in order to stay in their good graces and convinces him that, if they worked together, he would have something far more valuable that friendship; his freedom.

Thinking it over, Discord decides to join Tirek and help him steal all of the magic in Equestria. When the three princesses get word of this, the immediately summon Twilight and informed her of what Discord and Tirek have done. First, they go to a magic show where Discord teleports Tirek in front of a crowd of helpless unicorns and absorbs all their magic, next, they attack the Wonderbolts and Pegasi and steal their flight as well, and finally, they go to Appleloosa and steal the strength of the Earth Ponies and presumably go to multiple other locations and steal the magic of everypony there. With no other options, the princesses give all of their magic to Twilight, as Tirek was not aware of her existence, and Discord sensed the magical imbalance, but decided not to tell Tirek. He and Tirek effortlessly defeat the royal guards and a weakened Shinning Armor asking him why he would do something like this, only for Tirek to tell him to go have fun while he dealt with the princesses, with Discord looking on with a sadistic grin. After Tirek banishes the princesses to Tarturus, Discord changes all of the stained glass windows to images of him and Tirek causing mayhem.

When Tirek sees the window displaying the Alicorn Twilight, he angrily demands why Discord didn't tell him that there was a fourth princess, only for him to state that he would after he knew he could truly trust Tirek, and now that he can, he tells him about where she lives and her friends. As a sign of gratitude, Tirek gives Discord a medallion that was given to him by "someone close to him."

After getting them to Ponyville, Discord sadistically imprisons Twilight's friends in a cage, informing them of his betrayal. Surprisingly, Discord looks away in shame as Tirek steals their magic, although he instantly goes back to his evil behavior after he's done. Almost immediately, Tirek uses his newfound strength, betrays Discord and steals his magic, stating that the medallion he gave him was given to him by his brother, who betrayed him, and that the medallion, much like his brother Scorpan, was completely worthless.

After their legendary battle, Tirek forced Twilight to choose between her friends and her magic, with her friends stating that they're not worth it, although the now remorseful Discord states that Fluttershy was worth it. After Twilight decides to exchange all her magic for all of her friends, including Discord, he gives her the medallion Tirek gave him as a symbol of their 'friendship'. The necklace turns out to be the final key that unlocks the chest which contained rainbow power. After Tirek is defeated, everyone, including Discord, gets their magic back.

By now, Discord has officially joined Twilight's group of close friends, although he didn't end up receiving a throne like all of her other friends.

The Cutie Re-Mark

The fifth alternate timeline created by Starlight Glimmer has Discord still evil and in power, chasing Celestia and Luna around on a unicycle. He looks forward to a night of partying and dancing, but it turns out to be an evening of playing the fantasy role-playing game Ogres & Oubliettes, much to his disappointment. Throughout the evening, Discord tries to steer things toward more enjoyable activities, but Spike and Big Mac insist on playing their game. Discord's disinterest in the game and frustration eventually drive him to create a real-life version of Ogres & Oubliettes . However, his efforts are met with Spike and Big Mac's cold reception, and he leaves out of embarrassment when he discovers they only invited him on their guys' night because they felt sorry for him. Spike and Big Mac soon invite him back to give him a second chance, and he joins their role-playing game as an Archer-class character.

To Where and Back Again

Discord teams up with Starlight Glimmer, Trixie and Thorax to save their friends - particularly Fluttershy - when they are captured by changelings. Discord's magic is disabled in the Changeling Kingdom due to the properties of Queen Chrysalis's throne, forcing him to navigate the castle without teleporting. While in the castle, Discord has frequent arguments with Trixie because of their clashing personalities. On their way to the throne room, Discord distracts a detail of changeling guards with a stand-up comedy act, but he is eventually captured when a group of changelings all disguise themselves as Fluttershy. After Chrysalis is defeated, Discord joins the ponies in celebrating the Sunset Festival in Our Town, and offers to improve Trixie's magic act with his chaos magic. When Trixie claims "When pigs fly!" he snaps his fingers and creates to flying pigs and chases Trixie through the town on them.

Season 7 Celestial Advice

Discord receives an Equestrian Pink Heart of Courage for saving Equestria alongside Starlight Glimmer, Trixie, and Thorax. He also puts intense pressure on Twilight to come up with a plan for Starlight now that she has learned all of her friendship lessons, and discloses her decision as a "surprise" to her friends before she can figure out what to do. In the end, he is disappointed when Twilight settles on graduating Starlight, revealing his hope that she'd send Starlight to his realm as a roommate.

Discordant Harmony

Discord hosts a tea party in his home realm for Fluttershy to thank her for all the times she hosted a tea party for him at her cottage. Fearing that she will be uncomfortable there, however, he decides to change both his home and himself to be normal. Unfortunately, not only is Fluttershy disappointed in the party's lack of excitement, but Discord's new persona is so contradictory to his inherent nature that it begins to destroy him. With Fluttershy's help, Discord embraces his chaotic ways and stops fading away.

Season 8 The Break Up Break Down

Discord dismisses the notions of love and romance and only wants to play Ogres & Oubliettes with Spike and Big Mac. When Big Mac is heartbroken over believing Sugar Belle wants to break up with him, Discord tries to cheer him up, eventually giving him the idea of breaking up with Sugar Belle first. In the end, Discord orchestrates a situation in which Big Mac and Sugar Belle can reconcile the miscommunication between them.

A Matter of Principals

Discord suddenly appears behind Starlight and Spike to their amazement. He claims to come to temporarily run the school in the absence of Twilight until Spike points out to him that Starlight who was appointed in charge of the school. Exasperated, the Draconequus proposes modifications to the rule but Starlight declines and specifies that she does not need its help, upset Discord answers that they will do if it changes its mind before teleporting.

Later, Starlight and Spike go to the headmaster's office but discover Discord redecorate it in his chaotic manner. He again offers his ideas little orthodox for the school but Starlight still declines and pushes him to the door asking him to go home, only Discord let him know that he also hired temporary teachers for the friendship lesson. Unfortunately, the new teachers prove to be bad enough to teach the friendship that provokes agitation and disorder in the school. Starlight tells Discord that it's all his fault, but Discord reminds him that she's the one in charge, Starlight, even more, upset by the selfish behavior, asks her to leave again, Discord turns into a leaf and wants to go out by the window growling that he just wanted to help.

Of course the next day, Discord does not give up and infiltrates the Trixie magic class that Starlight has hired as a new teacher. After interrupting Trixie with a banana phone, he pulls out of the unicorn hat an Ursa Major that scares the whole class. In the field of Sport, he masquerades as the gym teacher and makes appear a bugbear that makes the students run but Starlight chases the creature before it hurts someone. An angry Starlight screams at Discord that she's tired of him and that his dangerous action stops now. Discord not impressed, refuses with provocation and Starlight gives him an ultimate warning until Spike tries to calm the situation by reminding Starlight that Discord is her friend but Starlight says he does not act as a friend. Spike asks Discord what his problem is and Discord answers that his problem is that Twilight is named an incompetent and power-hungry unicorn in charge. With this insult of too much, Starlight launches a huge wave of magic that seems to annihilated Discord to the horror of the students until Starlight reassures them explaining that she has just banished Discord from school forever.

Discord, however, is still able to come to school in spiritual form. He terraces the students during their treasure hunt with the artifacts they were supposed to look for. While the students are surrounded by the inanimate objects, Starlight arrives and Discord shows up. Starlight confronts Discord and tells him that he can not continue to cause chaos in the school but Discord replies that he can and will continue. Much to Discord's surprise, Starlight tells him she's sorry before restoring his physical form. Having finally understood why Discord did all this, Starlight apologizes for never having invited him to school before and suddenly made Discord feel excluded. Both make peace and Starlight offers him the vice head mare position which he accepts with pleasure. The Mane 6 finally come back to see their friendship quest was a trick so they take a bath.

When Fluttershy calms the beast down, Discord reveals he hatched this plot to put Fluttershy in a position to save the day as his own Hearth's Warming present to her. Afterwards, he spends Hearth's Warming with Twilight and her friends and family, receiving a gift of an elephant tea cozy from Fluttershy.

Season 9

In the modern age, Discord, wanting to ensure that Twilight and her friends would have the confidence to take up the mantle of the rulers of Equestria from Celestia and Luna, decided to create a threat that would push them into doing so. In order to do so, he used his powers to disguise himself as the mythical villain Grogar, and create a team of villains that would ultimately become their greatest challenge to overcome. No doubt there was a real Grogar many thousands of years ago, but he has been long gone after he was defeated by Gusty the Great.

The Beginning of the End

In the premiere, " The Beginning of the End ", Discord, using his Grogar disguise, brings together Queen Chrysalis, Cozy Glow, Lord Tirek, and the resurrected King Sombra. The villains are unaware of who summoned them only for "Grogar" to reveal himself to be the one who was responsible. Tirek, Chrysalis, and Sombra are shocked to meet him, as they believed he was only a legend, though "Grogar" assures them that he is real and states that he summoned them as part of his plan to rid Equestria of the Mane Six.

Seeing that Cozy Glow doesn't know who he is, "Grogar" decides to demonstrate his power by giving Tirek a sample of magic that revives much of his strength. Tirek then tells Cozy Glow that "Grogar" is an ancient and powerful villain who once ruled the land that would become Equestria, claiming that he had heard stories of his tyranny when he was younger. King Sombra also mentions that he has heard of the "Father of Monsters". "Grogar" then tells the villains of how he created terrible creatures that roamed under his rule, before Chrysalis remarks how he was banished by Gusty the Great, although "Grogar" claims that he was only temporarily weakened when she took his bell; however, Cozy Glow points out that, since he has been weakened before even Tirek was born, he has a different idea of what "temporarily" means, much to his annoyance. In reality though, Gusty the Great really did banish the real "Grogar" into limbo, from which there is no return.

"Grogar" proceeds to tell the group that he has watched them and their failures to take over Equestria, and asks them why they have always been defeated by the same six ponies each time, Chrysalis claiming that it is because they "cheat", Tirek claiming that it is because they are "annoyingly lucky" but Cozy Glow just says that "she's just a kid". "Grogar" rebuffs their answers and claims it is because they work together as a team, demanding that the villains join forces with him to take over Equestria. Sombra, however, refuses to serve "Grogar" and arrogantly proclaims that he will take over the Crystal Empire by himself, causing "Grogar" to send him off to the Empire on the conditions that, if he fails, he will serve him or be destroyed again. After this, "Grogar" tells the others to prepare to work together and leaves. Cozy Glow immediately compares working together to making friends, telling Tirek and Chrysalis that they are in luck since she knows "all about that", though the former only flicks her away in annoyance.

Once out of his lair, Discord drops his guise and immediately rushes off to warn Twilight and her friends of the impending disaster.

Meanwhile, Cozy Glow tries to get Tirek and Chrysalis to work together by having them each say nice things to each other, though this falls apart Chrysalis refuses to say anything nice about ponies.

Back at the Crystal Empire, Discord initially helps Twilight fight King Sombra. Then he takes on a full-blast of Sombra's magic and pretends to be severely injured. As Sombra descends his throne to finish off Twilight and her friends for good, Discord motivates the Mane Six with a truly heartwarming and inspirational speech. With their hope restored, the Mane Six fight back and manage to destroy King Sombra for good.

Once the danger was over, Discord reveals that he was fine all along, and had only pretended to be hurt in order to give Twilight the boost of confidence that she was finally ready to be the sole ruler of Equestria.

Taking on Grogar's appearance once again, Discord then goes back to the lair and approaches the three villains. He states that he hopes the three of them will be enough to help his plans along, causing Tirek and Chrysalis to ask about Sombra. "Grogar" shows them that Sombra had failed in his plans to conquer Equestria and had again been defeated by the Mane Six, remarking that he will at least serve as an example to them as what will happen if they don't submit to his plans. Having seen this, Tirek, Chrysalis, and Cozy Glow unanimously agree to serve "Grogar", though are seemingly left nervous by the thought.

Frenemies

In " Frenemies ", as "Grogar" is working, Cozy Glow approaches him and tattles on Tirek for leaving food out, Tirek quickly approaching "Grogar" and telling him not to trust anything she says afterward; though "Grogar" is quick to point out that he already doesn't trust anything that they say. Chrysalis approaches "Grogar" and impatiently asks when they are going to attack. "Grogar" informs the villains that he is leaving and demands that they all stop fighting and find a way to work together so that they can accomplish their goals. However, Chrysalis, Tirek and Cozy Glow argue about what the best way to be a villain is. "Grogar" returns to see this, and, upset to see they have not yet resolved their differences, decides to send them off on a mission to retrieve his Bewitching Bell from Mt. Everhoof so that they can learn to work together. The villains fight over who should lead the mission based on their previous feats, only for "Grogar" to angrily overpower and remind them that they all failed before and cannot work alone. He reveals about how Gusty the Great stole his bell (since she could not take on the real Grogar face-to-face) and hid it on top of the mountain that is impossible to get to.

After that, the three villains work together to retrieve the bell, they decide to betray him together. Returning to "Grogar", the three trick him into thinking that they couldn't get it. "Grogar" is angry, but nonetheless is glad that the three worked together. Unknown to him, Chrysalis, Tirek, and Cozy Glow, in reality, have kept the bell for themselves.

The Summer Sun Setback

Discord appears in " The Summer Sun Setback ", once again in the form of Grogar. "Grogar" is about to leave until Cozy Glow asks where he is going and he reveals that since his minions "failed" to recover the Bewitching Bell for him, they will need another source of power to defeat Twilight and her friends before taking his leave. While he was gone, Chrysalis, Tirek and Cozy Glow go to the Canterlot Archives to steal information on how to use the bell themselves. They sabotage the holiday of the Summer Sun Celebration while finding a book all about how to use the real Grogar's bell and manage to return to his lair. While that is going on, Discord attends the Summer Sun Celebration, and helps Twilight and her friends fix the issue caused by Tirek, Cozy, and Chrysalis. Discord witnesses Twilight delivering her speech, saying to himself that she may indeed be ready for whatever comes next as the next ruler of Equestria. Later, Discord poses as Grogar again and returns to the lair, telling his cohorts that he has found success where they all find "failure". He reveals that he located what he wanted and will retrieve it the next day before they begin his 'plan' to take over Equestria.

The Big Mac Question

Discord helps Big Mac's plans to propose Sugar Belle

The Ending of the End

In the first part of " The Ending of the End " the villains successfully betray "Grogar", using the bell to gain new forms and drain him of his power. In doing so, they discover that "Grogar" was actually Discord in disguise. After being left exposed and powerless, Discord was forced to flee from the lair. He tells the princess about the attack and gets captured by the evil three. He helps Pinkie Pie, Rarity, Fluttershy, Rainbow Dash, Applejack and Spike escape and finally gets reformed by helping the princess turn Tirek, Chrysalis and Cozy Glow into stone.

The Last Problem

Discord makes some cameos in the finale of the show.

Cybertron Scourge: Are you Discord?

Discord: That's me and I am here to brighten your day! It's an honor to meet the famous Team Loud Phoenix Storm. Fluttershy has told me so much about you all.

Discord: And that would be?

Maria: How much do you know about Bill Cipher?

Discord: I know a lot about him my dear Maria. He is a really menacing monster out to destroy the world.

He went over all of Bill Cipher's history.

Bill Cipher is the main antagonist of the Disney XD series Gravity Falls . He is the overarching antagonist of the first season and the main antagonist of the second season. He is an immensely powerful dream demon from the Second Dimension who means to bring about the end of the world by opening a rift between his Nightmare Realm and the real world. He is the archenemy of Dipper and Stanford Pines.

He has been running amok in Gravity Falls, Oregon, since being summoned by Stanford over thirty years ago. Bill is also known for his mysterious demeanor, disregard for mortal life, sadistic humor, and desire for total chaos. He is also the former best friend of Stanford Pines. He possibly exists on a more meta level than the rest of the series.

He was voiced by the series' creator Alex Hirsch, who also voiced Grunkle Stan, Soos, Old Man McGucket, Jeff, and Dippy Fresh. While possessing Blendin Blandin he was voiced by Justin Roiland, who also voiced Blendin, The Earl of Lemongrab in Adventure Time and Rick Sanchez in Rick and Morty .

Little is known about Bill before his time in Gravity Falls, although there are hints about his past, including the statements made by the show's creator himself. Trillions of years prior to the events of the series, Bill Cipher lived in a second dimension, however he despised living there and described it as a world of "flat minds in a flat world with flat dreams." Bill eventually burned it along with everyone he's ever known, including his own parents, before taking over a boiling, shifting intergalactic foam between dimensions-a lawless, unstable crawl space known as the Nightmare Realm, and becoming a leader of a gang with many monsters who obeyed his will. Unfortunately, the Nightmare Realm was fated to eventually self-destruct due to it's lawlessness and lack of any consistent physics or rules. After learning about a prophecy that stated he could merge the Nightmare Realm with the third dimension, Bill manipulated countless humans over the time in order to become a physical being and liberate that dimension as well. That said despite his depraved nature, Bill did have some fondness for his world, and wanted to restore it for selfish reasons.

In the episode "Weirdmageddon: Part 1", Bill reveals he has been trapped in a decaying dimension, "waiting for a new universe" to call his own, for one-trillion years (this dimension was later stated by Bill to be the 2nd Dimension). Ford Pines, Bill's main enemy, stated in an earlier episode that he's older than the Milky Way (which is 13.2 billion years old). Assuming that he's old enough to have recalled one-trillion years of mental torment, this would mean he's older than our dimension by at least 987 billion years. In that same episode, Bill also referred to the populace of Gravity Falls as "single lifespanned", meaning he may have had numerous lifespans, and he may have either lived through those 1 trillion years in different lifespans, or he may have had lifespans before his time in the dimension. Other than his possible age, his "early life" (if whatever he is even has a definitive "life"), is completely unknown. One could assume that's he's been tormenting various dimensions for millions of years.

Season 1 Cameos

Before his debut in the episode Dreamscaperers, Bill Cipher made a cameo in the background of numerous episodes as drawings on the walls, card backings, and even in a single frame of the opening sequence, and being alluded to by series creator Alex Hirsch for the length of the season, before finally debuting in the penultimate episode.

Dreamscaperers

In that episode, the first season's main antagonist, Li'l Gideon, summoned him using a ritual found in Journal #2 to have him steal the combination to Stan Pines' safe via invading his mind. Bill made a deal with Gideon, saying that if he found the memory containing the combination, Gideon would help him with his plans, probably by Bill possessing his body. Later on, after the protagonists found their own way into Stan's mind with Journal #3, they met Bill where he warned them to keep out of it, and showed his strength by blasting a hole in Dipper's chest, sending Mabel a few seconds into the future, and blinking two characters she was thinking about into existence before flying into the shack in Stan's mind. The trio followed him to try and find the memory before he could, and when they did Soos offered to destroy it with his strength, but revealed he was actually Bill in disguise, who took the memory to read it to Gideon.

However, Mabel and Soos caught up with him while Dipper looked for a personal memory, being able to knock the memory into the Bottomless Pit from the episode of the same name through one of Stan's other memories. Seeing this, Gideon called off the deal and switched to "Plan B", which enraged Bill to the point of growing into his 'angry form' and surrounding the room in flames, cornering the protagonists atop a giant stone Stan, where he tortured them by making them experience their worst nightmares. After killing Mabel's two dream characters and threatening to do the same to Mabel and Soos, Dipper arrived just in time, having been taught by Stan in the personal memory that they can do whatever they can think in the Mindscape. They then used this to fight and overpower Bill.

Before they could defeat him though, Bill teleported them all to a blank white space, proving he was still far more powerful. But instead of killing them he stated he was impressed by them, letting them live since they might be useful later. He gave them a warning that a darkness was approaching and that everything they cared about would change. He promptly teleported away, saying he'd be watching them until then.

Season 2 Sock Opera

Bill later returned in the Season 2 episode Sock Opera, where he offered to help Dipper find the password to The Author's laptop in return for a 'favor'. Dipper denied his offer and Bill disappeared, telling him he'd be back when he was ready to change his mind. He later reappeared when Dipper failed too many times to guess the password, forcing the computer to erase all its data after a countdown. During the countdown, Bill returned in front of Dipper, stating Dipper looked desperate and reprised his offer, taking advantage of Dipper's desperation and telling him that he only wanted a puppet. Dipper tried to resist, saying the puppets were for Mabel's sock puppet play, but Bill was able to convince him by asking him what she had done for him lately, reminding Dipper of how much he's sacrificed for her without her doing anything in return.

Dipper finally agreed to the deal, only for Bill to remove his soul from his body and possess it, making Dipper the 'puppet'. He then smashed the laptop and proceeded to express his joy and 'test' his new body by slapping it in the face. Upon being asked why he had broken his word, Bill revealed that Dipper was getting too close to major secrets and that he didn't need the boy getting in his way. He then left to destroy Journal #3 to stop him for good. After Mabel unknowingly told 'Bipper' (a term used referring to Bill Cipher when he possesses Dipper) she was using the journal as a prop in her play, he convinced her to let him play a part in it in order to get closer to the book. Dipper followed him there though and was able to tell Mabel what happened, and she went to get the book.

However she was confronted by Bipper, who threatened to drop Mabel from the catwalk and ruin her play if she didn't hand over the journal. Mabel almost gives him the journal and he asks her who would sacrifice everything they've worked towards for their sibling. Mabel responded by telling him Dipper sacrificed for her, and returns it by throwing the play. Mabel and Bipper had then fought onstage, with him easily overpowering her. However, she exploits Dippers body's weaknesses, such as the fact that he hadn't slept in more than 50 or so hours and is able to defeat him. With the body exhausted to the point of unconsciousness, Bill is thrown out of Dipper's body and Dipper takes it back. The twins share a moment, but Bill possesses one of the sock puppets, telling them they can't stop him. Mabel sets off the fireworks used in her play, destroying the puppet and forcing him once more into retreat.

Cameos

Bill appeared a third time for a short cameo at the end of "Northwest Mansion Mystery". After Old Man McGucket fixed the laptop and warned Dipper that the end of the world was coming and that they had to stop it, the screen panned off to a tapestry with a black and red Bill on it gazing over a burning landscape, alluding that Bill was what was to cause the apocalypse.

While not specifically present, Bill was clearly referenced numerous times in the episode "A Tale of Two Stans", first when a younger Fiddleford McGucket spoke the ominous phrase "When Gravity Falls and Earth becomes sky, fear the Beast with just One Eye", and again when Ford, Stan's brother, inspected his shape out of suspicion of him being possessed by Bill, notably by checking the give away eye shape with a flashlight.

He then made another direct, though off-screen appearance at the end of the episode "The Stanchurian Candidate", when Gideon attempted re-summoning him from his prison cell to strike another deal, possibly to destroy the Pines family in exchange for a host to possess in Gideon.

The Last Mabelcorn

Bill finally made his third appearance in the episode "The Last Mabelcorn", where he came to Ford in a dream, establishing their past relationship and warning Stanford that he was coming. In response, Stanford had Mabel retrieve Unicorn Hair in order to cast a spell that would protect the Mystery Shack from Bill Cipher. In the meantime, Stanford showed Dipper a machine that would scan their thoughts and shield their minds from the demon as a last resort in case Mabel failed. Curious of Ford's thoughts and his history with Bill, Dipper attached the machine to Ford in his sleep and saw that he was dreaming of Bill and Ford making a deal. In his horror, Dipper also knocked over the curtains on the walls, revealing the room to have once been a shrine to Bill as many paintings of him hang from the walls and statues of him stand in the corners. Because of this Dipper believes Ford to be possessed by Bill, or worse, in league with him, to the point of almost using the Memory Eraser on him. Ford proves he's still on their side though and reveals his history with Bill. Apparently, Stanford hit a roadblock in his research of Gravity Falls, but found writing in a cave depicting a being of knowledge that could help him, leading him to summon him.

Bill first appeared to Stanford in a dream, where he seemed to be affable and friendly, offering a game of chess and "Dream Tea". Bill lied to Ford, telling him he was a muse that chose a brilliant mind to inspire every century. In his flattery Ford made a deal with Bill, that in exchange for total access to Ford's mind Bill would help Ford by telling him to build the portal. But when McGucket was sucked into the portal (in Journal 3 it is revealed that McGucket saw Bill Cipher removing his exoskeleton to feed), Bill's true plans were revealed and the triangle exposed as a malevolent, insane monster. It is learned he was going to use the portal to open a gateway between the Nightmare Realm he exists in and the physical world, allowing him to achieve physical form and unleash his fellow demons, in his own words "teach this dimension how to party". It is also revealed that Bill is older than "anything in our universe", and that Bill had been manipulating history by making deals with people throughout time, apparently for the sole purpose of one day creating the portal. Ford tells Dipper this is why they must protect the Dimensional Rift, and that if they worked together they could be the last people to be tricked by Bill. After the spell is successful, Ford tells Dipper that anyone inside the bubble surrounding the shack would be safe from Bill's influence. However, Bill is watching them from his dimension, and decides that if he can't affect anyone in the Mystery Shack, he would have to look for his next pawn on the outside as a series of images of the rest of the cast flash over his eye.

Dipper and Mabel VS The Future

Bill next appeared in "Dipper and Mabel VS The Future", where he possessed Blendin Blandin in order to have a vessel to destroy the rift. Using Blendin, he convinced Mabel to steal the rift for him by promising her that he can extend summer for her with it for as long as she wanted. As it turns out, the rift is in Dipper's backpack (which Mabel took by accident). Upon receiving the rift from Mabel, Bill promptly smashes it on the ground, opening the gateway to the Nightmare Realm. Leaving Blendin's body, the episode ends with Bill laughing triumphantly at Ford and Dipper as he makes his entrance into the world and ignites his apocalypse known as Weirdmageddon.

Weirdmageddon Part 1

In " Weirdmageddon - Part 1 ", Bill finally attains a physical form and frees Teeth, Pyronica Paci-Fire, 8 Ball, Amorphous Shape, Keyhole, Kryptos, Hectorgon, Xanthar and countless others from his dimension. He then wreaks havoc on the town of Gravity Falls and turns it into an apocalyptic, nonsensical wasteland while declaring that he intends to do this to the entire universe. Dipper and Ford then enact a plan to take out Bill with a quantum destabilizer, but fail due to the abnormal environment. After being captured by Bill, Ford is offered the chance to join him, but is turned into a golden backscratcher by the demon after refusing. Dipper tries to stop Bill, but his lack of information of the dream demon causes him to be easily defeated. Bill then proceeds to burn all three journals and mocks Dipper of his effort of being a hero, saying that those who try to become heroes always end up destroyed by Bill himself. Bill then sicks his henchmen, 8-Ball and Teeth, on the boy to eat him and flies up to his new, floating castle to party with his crew. After three days of non-stop partying, Bill is confronted by Time Baby and his police force, who came to arrest him for both using the body of Blendin Blandin for his scheme and to stop his plans for good. Unfortunately, Bill is unfazed and promptly kills Time Baby and his police squad by disintegrating them, much to the shock of Blendin, who escapes away.

Meanwhile, Dipper, after escaping from 8-Ball and Teeth, is on the search for his sister, Mabel, who Bill imprisoned in order to honor his deal with Gideon (who he also broke out of jail). After a confrontation with Dipper and Wendy, Gideon calls upon Bill's minions to take them and Soos to the dungeon in Bill's castle. After being convinced by Dipper that Mabel will never love him and that he can't force her to, a newly reformed Gideon decides to help aid in his former enemy's cause by giving him the key to Mabel's imprisonment bubble. He and his prison goons then leave to confront Bill and his minions.

Part 2

In "Weirdmageddon 2: Escape From Reality", Bill have captured much of Gravity Falls' residents and petrified them to form his own throne of human agony for his enjoyment. He taps a fork on Golden Ford to grab the partying monsters' attention, and announces that they will now unleash their chaos on the whole world. As all other monsters take to the skies to spread destruction, they slam into an invisible forcefield without warning, much to Bill's complete anger. He figures out that their chaos has formed a barrier around Gravity Falls, the only area they can currently reside in, meaning that they can't spread their destruction throughout the world. Upon learning of this, Bill realizes that this might be more difficult that he thought. Paci-Fire complains that he broke something, and Bill angrily retorts, "WALK IT OFF!".

Upset by this turn of events, Bill considers getting Ford 'out of retirement', believing that the latter may have the answer to breaking down the barrier. He then finds out from Keyhole that Gideon and his goons let Dipper, Wendy, and Soos into Mabel's bubble. Bill simply laughs, explaining how the bubble is his most diabolical trap of all. He tells Keyhole to fetch Gideon and his goons as he prepares to expand his world upon Earth, and later, the universe. After Gideon and his goons are caught, Bill proceeds to punish Gideon by locking him up in a bird cage and forcing him to cute dancing non-stop in sailor's suit while the prison goons end up being petrified and added into Bill's throne, much to Gideon's dismay.

Part 3 and Death

In "Weirdmageddon 3: Take Back the Falls", Bill releases Ford from his frozen petrified state to gain knowledge about the forcefield that's keeping him in Gravity Falls. Ford admits that he knows of a certain equation that will collapse the barrier, but angrily refuses to tell it, knowing that it would result the end of the world. Bill establishes that he comes from a flat dimension which at some point he somehow destroyed his home dimension, including his family (hinted back in the 2015 Bill Cipher AMA on Reddit). Ford refuses to cooperate with him, which instantly tests Bill's patience. Bill starts torturing Ford in order to get the answer to his dilemma, though Ford stands his ground despite the painful torture. As soon as the Pines family and their resistance group made a giant robot to fight their way to the Fearamid, Bill orders his henchmaniacs to fight the resistance, but they fail as the townspeople worked together to take down most of the henchmaniacs. As Ford compliments Dipper and Mabel for a job well done, Bill finally decides to torture both kids in order to coerce Ford into giving him the equation to collapse the barrier. He takes matters into his own hands and tries to destroy the robot, but with no success, due to the Mystery Shack being protected by unicorn hair that Dipper and Ford enforced back in "The Last Mabelcorn". The robot tears out Bill's eye, where he complains to the resistance on how long it will take for it to regenerate, which allows the twins and several citizens to arrive to the Fearamid and release all the petrified citizens (including Ford, Gideon, and the prison goons). Unfortunately, as soon as Bill regenerates a new eye, he instantly finds the robot's weak spot and uses it to take down the robot easily.

The Pines family unites with some of the other townspeople in order to learn about Bill's weakness. They learn about the Bill Cipher Wheel and tried to use in order to defeat Bill for good, but it fails, as Stan refuses to hold hands with Ford due to bearing a grudge and holding some resentment for his twin brother over the whole portal incident. This allows Bill and his remaining henchmaniacs to finally gang up on against the townspeople. After trapping Ford and Stan, Bill transforms Soos, Wendy, McGucket, Pacifica, Robbie, and Gideon into tapestries in his lair when they try to gang up on him. Dipper and Mabel risk their lives by angering Bill with their pranks in order to distract him, and he transforms into a horrifying multi-tiered being in his rage to hunt them down once and for all, while Stan and Ford try to figure an alternative solution.

When Bill finally captures Dipper and Mabel, he ponders on who to kill first, which finally forced a desperate Ford to surrender himself and reluctantly propose a deal: he will let Bill get access to his mind for the equation to collapse the barrier in return for letting the twins and his brother go free. Bill gladly accepts the deal and instantly leaves his physical form to enter Ford's mind. However, it turns out Ford and Stan switched clothes and imitated each other, and Bill ends up in Stan's mind, where Stan taunts him for falling for the trick. Realizing this, Bill angrily calls off the deal, implying that he will kill both Stan and the kids in order to demoralize Ford into giving the equation to break the barrier. However, anticipating that Bill would double-cross them, Stan allows Ford to reluctantly use the Blind Eye Society's mind-erasing weapon to wipe out Stan's memories to defeat Bill for good. As such, Bill gets locked within Stan's mind as the dreamscape and living room of the Mystery Shack burn in flames thanks to the mind-erasing weapon. Bill at first, expresses his delight that he took over Bill's mind, but he soon realilzes he gets conned. After trying to call off the deal, a terrified Bill pleads for mercy by appealing to Stan's greedy nature with riches and power, but Stan angrily refuses by pointing out that Bill has harmed the Pines family too much to deserve any mercy. As Bill begins to glitch, he furiously cries out at Stan and rushes at him, but Stan retaliates by calling out Bill for his actions towards his family before punching Bill directly in the eye, obliterating the screaming dream demon and shattering him into pieces, erasing him from existence and ending his reign of terror just before Stan's memories are completely wiped out. In an ironic twist, Bill ended up the one who was deceived.

Right after, everyone that Bill transformed into tapestries are free as Weirdmageddon immediately soon winds to an end when both the Henchmaniacs and the chaos are forcibly sucked back into the Nightmare Realm, from where they had came. The entire valley and town of Gravity Falls is then restored as everything returns back to the way it was before the whole tragedy even began. Shortly after, the only thing left of the event was Bill's petrified body that was seen lying isolated somewhere deep within the woods and is now one with nature itself. Whether Bill's petrified body was left there forever to be claimed by the weeds of the forest or was recovered by someone is beyond anyone's speculation.

Aftermath

Following his demise, Ford and the Twins soon find Stan out in the open, but sadly, he has no idea who they are, Ford then explains to them that Stan bravely sacrifice himself to defeat Bill, in order to save them and everyone else. However with the help from both Dipper and Mabel Pines, they were able to restore their loving uncle as he slowly remembers more and more about himself and his family. Sometime after the event, things have fully returned to normal in Gravity Falls, Oregon. Stan had already recovered from his amnesia and the Pines family were declared heroes.

Foreshadowed Return

Although erased from existence, there are possible hints that Bill could somehow possibly return or resurrect; while interrogating Ford at the Fearamid, he sings "We Will Meet Again". Right after the closing credits, the lifeless statue of Bill is seen for a brief moment in real-life as part of the new game, Cipher Hunt, and in a non-canonical book titled " Dipper and Mabel and the Curse of the Time Pirates' Treasure! ", where the Twins go through time, one enormous thing that is speculated is that the canon secret could be Dipper and Mabel's encounter with the Axolotl in "the time and space between time and space", a giant talking axolotl, lets each of them ask him a question (which Mabel accidentally wasted hers). Dipper asks him "what [does he] know about Bill Cipher" to which he replies with a poem: Sixty degrees that come in threes. Watches from within birch trees. Saw his own dimension burn. Misses home and can't return. Says he's happy. He's a liar. Blame the arson for the fire. If he wants to shirk the blame, He'll have to invoke my name. One way to absolve his crime. A different form, a different time .

This suggests that when, before being erased from reality in the series finale, Bill gives a message that when reversed says "A.X.O.L.O.T.L.! My time has come to burn! I invoke the ancient power that I may return!", he is actually invoking the Axolotl for redemption for his crime, and that there is one way to get absolved: he has to take "a different form" in "a different time". This all implied the possibilities that Bill may get resurrected after another series of generations to come. However, it's unknown if Bill truly soughts redemption given his crimes or is just using the Axolotl to return once again, but one way or another, it appears that the Axolotl is the one creature stronger than Cipher.

We gasped in absolute shock!

Me: Wow! You are good.

I drank my soda.

Discord: Indeed. Because I just found out that Bill Cipher has escaped from his prison and has returned.

Me: (SPITS!)

Nico: WHAT!?

Me: OH NO! I KNEW HE WAS BACK!

Volcana: Are you kidding me?! Bill Cipher is loose?!

Me: Yeah! He's back.

Eli: He's right. I've felt a great disturbance in the Force.

Anakin: I sensed it too.

Me: This is a battle that is going to decide the fate of the Earth.

Jewel Man: Dipper, how did you and Mabel defeat Cipher the first time?

Dipper: Stan punched him out of existence.

Mabel: And we imprisoned him in a stone statue.

Me: A lot of good that did. It only put him in a state of dormancy.

Drill Man: What the Fuck were the Royal Defenders thinking trusting Bill Cipher to be in their ranks?!

Me: Obviously nothing at all and they didn't realize how dangerous Bill Cipher is. Bill Cipher was probably gonna double-cross them in the end regardless and destroy them nonetheless and destroy their world in the process. I better call our frenemies to help us out.

I pulled out my cell phone and called the Masters of Evil.

Vypra: Hello?

Me: Vypra it's J.D. I'm afraid we have big problems. Bill Cipher is loose!

Vypra gasped.

Vypra: We're all on our way J.D.!

Suddenly in many beams of light and elements came all of The Masters of Evil and with them that had a bunch of New Recruits: With them was El Tigre's enemy EL OSO, Static Shock's enemy Carmen Olloroso A.K.A. El Oso

El Oso was abandoned in the forest when he was a baby after being left behind on an orphanage camping trip. After crawling about for a while, he happened upon a family of bears that unwillingly took him in with them. He soon began to train under the influence of the bears, learning their way of life until he was a full fledged citizen of the bears (much to their annoyance). He soon fell in love with the princess of the bear kingdom, so he asked the Bear King if he could marry her, but was mauled. Not being particularly smart, he assumed the bear king couldn't let him marry her because he didn't have the money to take care of her, so he moved to Calavera with his brother bear Ossito, and began to steal from Miracle City in the hopes that he could steal enough money to please the bear king and win his true love's heart.

Series

In Oso Solo Mio, he discovered that the bear princess had a boyfriend, but in No Boots, No Belt, No Brero it is seen that the bear princess has moved in and fallen in love with El Oso as she is in his house accepting a safe wrapped in a bow happily before he is hit by El Mal Verde.

Carmen Dillo

Carmen Dillo was a Bang Baby who occasionally aligned himself with others, but usually worked alone. He was a mutant man-armadillo, as his name suggests.

History

Carmen was an unknown criminal who was at or near the Docks the night of the Big Bang, transforming him into an anthropomorphic armadillo. He was a recurring enemy of Static, but mainly used his powers for petty crime, usually attempting to steal other people's food.

Powers and Abilities

Carmen Dillo has a physiology similar to an armadillo. His armor is quite strong and resilient to damage, and when rolled into a ball, he can become a living wrecking ball of sorts that can do a lot of damage to anything it hits. Similar to Ferret, he also has enhanced senses, as he was able to determine Richie's sandwich by scent alone.

Duff Killigan

Duff Killigan is an antagonist from Kim Possible . He is an irate Scotsman who is normally seen dressed in a traditional kilt and tam. His weapon of choice is a set of golf clubs and exploding golf balls. By his own accounts he is the "World's Deadliest Golfer". Since his first appearance he has shifted into a mercenary role, stealing technology or kidnapping people for the highest bidder.

Killigan debuted in "Number One". He returned midway through the first season, and had a number of cameo roles during Seasons 2 and 3, including all three installments of the feature-length episode A Sitch in Time . He's also a boss in the video game Drakken's Demise .

History

Killigan was once a professional golfer, but he turned to a life of crime after being banned from every golf course in the world, including mini-golf, for excessive displays of temper.

Killigan first encountered Team Possible after he kidnapped former weapons researcher Professor Sylvan Green. His plan was to use Green's more current research on rapid grass growing to convert the world into a giant golfing green, starting with Japan, the first country to ban him from golf. Kim defeated him by using super fertilizer on dandelion seeds and encasing Killigan in them.

Killigan next appeared attempting to sell a stolen, experimental cybertronic battle suit, dubbed the Centurion Project, to Dr. Drakken. Kim interrupted the sale, which resulted in Killigan both losing the battle suit and failing to get the money that Drakken had promised him. Killigan then kidnapped Ron Stoppable in hopes of forcing her to surrender the Centurion Project, unaware that it had temporarily bonded to her. Aided by the battle suit, Kim defeated Killigan, Drakken, and Shego, and the three villains were arrested.

Killigan, Shego, and Monkey Fist each attempted to steal a valuable microchip that was accidentally swallowed by Rufus. They failed, due largely to heated competition among themselves, and Kim's interference.

Killigan was briefly visible during Señor Senior, Junior's prison dance routine.

Due to Shego being sick with a cold, Killigan joined forces with Drakken. While they argued over terms, Ron managed to recover the stolen Ray-X from them. When Drakken also fell ill, Killigan hired temporary lackey Hank Perkins as his sidekick, and they re-stole Ray-X. Killigan then caught a cold, which left Perkins to run things.

Ron and Rufus snuck into Killigan's castle looking for a library book that Ron had lost on a previous mission. They interrupted Killigan's lunch of haggis, and he forced them to join him, much to their disgust.

Killigan made only brief appearances in Kim's Senior year. He was one of several villains interested in buying HenchCo's molecular transducer and joined the rest in pursuing Kim once she stole it.

Shortly before Kim's homecoming, Killigan kidnapped computer programmer Ricky Rotiffle. Killigan was quickly captured and handed over to Global Justice.

Kim and Ron investigated Killigan shortly before their graduation, suspecting him of a vandalism spree of various golf courses. As it turned out, he himself was a victim of the same and had installed a new security system on his island for that very reason.

I.N.S.T.I.G.A.T.O.R.

I.N.S.T.I.G.A.T.O.R. is first seen as a student of the H.I.V.E. Academy conversing with the other students. When the academy was destroyed by Cyborg, I.N.S.T.I.G.A.T.O.R. went freelance and became a renegade villain.

At some point, I.N.S.T.I.G.A.T.O.R. was recruited into the Brotherhood of Evil and was sent with Steamroller to capture Thunder. Both villains succeeded in capturing Thunder. When The Titans fought against the villains at the Brotherhood's base, I.N.S.T.I.G.A.T.O.R. was defeated and was flash-frozen with the rest of the villains.

The Vreedle Brothers

The Vreedle Brothers, Octagon and Rhomboid, are a duo of dimwitted and trigger-happy Vreedle clones who first appeared in Ben 10: Alien Force .

Octagon was first mentioned in Kevin's Big Score .

They first appeared in Vreedle, Vreedle, where they were hired by Baz-I to return Ship to him. As Julie didn't trust them and wanted to keep Ship anyway, they started turning violent, causing Ben to attack them. After Ben won the tribunal upon appealing to Judge Domstol, Baz-I tried to stop the Vreedle brothers only to be shot by Rhomboid after he learned he was no longer going to pay them (though he regenerated a few minutes afterwards). Ben and Kevin managed to fend them off which sent them running.

In Busy Box, the Vreedle Brothers return to claim a powerful device known only as the Naljian Destructor (it appears to have similar powers to Ship, since it, too, can create a robotic version of what ever it sees; however, unlike Ship, it can copy anything upon sight instead of only being able to turn into already mechanical objects upon contact) and try to sell it to the highest bidder. They managed to take the Naljian Destructor and adapted to their way of causing destruction. When the Naljian Destructor starts acting on its own, the Vreedle Brothers returned it to Earth to cause destruction there before attempting to escape. However the Naljian Destructor shoots an energy beam at the fleeing the Vreedle Brothers' ship, which destroys it.

However, despite their confirmed destruction, the Vreedles' return in the Con of Rath (after Kevin's "old friend" Argit informs them Ben, Kevin and Gwen are in possession of Tiffin). When asked how they survived the explosion, Octagon reveals they have been destroyed in previous explosions (stating it happens to them a lot), and Rhomboid accidentally reveals the Vreedles are all clones created by their parents, who created multiple clones of them using an expired "cloning kit" (Rhomboid also said that the "Clones" created with that kit were considered to be "spoiled", meaning the Vreedle Bros. are basically defective clones), before Octagon is forced to remind him that that information is of a "private family matter". They then try to kidnap Tiffin and hold him for ransom, but upon seeing Ben as Rath, they are forced to hire every alien in the space reststop on the spot to help them. They are defeated and thrown into the vacuum of space, where they eventually died or somebody picked them up.

They appear to know Kevin's old partner, the porcupine alien Argit, who apparently owes them money. Argit tries to pay back his debt by providing them with information on the Tiffin and earlier in the series by selling off the Rust Bucket to them bit by bit.

Another set of Vreedle clones are featured in The Enemy of My Enemy, where they have apparently turned over a new leaf and are in training at the Plumbers' Academy, under the threat of "getting whacked again" by their father. However, their grades were so low that their father hired Argit to infiltrate the academy and change their test scores, so that they could graduate.

When Ultimate Kevin attacked, the Vreedles tried to help by using a nuclear bomb against him, unaware that the device would kill everyone in the vicinity including themselves. After Kevin left, the Vreedles were ordered by Coronach to personally detain Argit for his various crimes.

Despite their attempt to turn over a new leaf, they are soon returned to their criminal ways by their mother Ma Vreedle in The Mother of All Vreedles . Here they help their mother in her plot to drain the earth's salt water oceans to create 300-400 billion Pretty Boy Vreedles. Gwen eventually convinced them to return to their Plumber ways and they in turn convince their mother to come in peacefully (albeit howling mad). They also request that the team keep quiet about their involvement in their mother's actions.

After an incident in which the brothers accidentally destroyed the Academy's ammunitions dump and the academy itself, the pair were moved out of the Plumbers and were once again made wanted fugitives in the universe. Rook mentioned that incident and held a grudge against them since they destroyed the academy, Rook had to take his Plumber exams in a temporary trailer on an asteroid.

They later appeared in the episode So Long, and Thanks for All the Smoothies, where they were exploring a derelict ship to scavenge it for weaponry they could find but were captured by Ben and Rook Blonko.

With the added help of Argit, the brothers helped Ben secure the ship against the Incurseans. While hunting the Incurseans, they ran into Argit whom they made hand over the Anihilaarg and then escaped to Earth. Ben, Rook and the Incurseans with a hostage Argit gave chase in their respective ships, the Incurseans shot down both Ben and the Vreedles and in the resulting dog pile for the dooms day device accidentally set it off. Due to the nature of Alien X's reconstruction of the Universe, the brothers believed the device was a mere dud and destroyed it before leaving peacefully.

In Special Delivery, the Vreedles are first seen in the Psyphon's auction for the Dwarf Star and then in company Zombozo, Fistrick, Sunder, Tummyhead, Trumbipulor, Psyphon, Vulkanus and Fistina joined to defeat Ben and get the star but are defeated by Humungousaur.

They return in O Mother, Where Art Thou?, where they are first seen robbing the museum. They were killed by an explosion caused by a device Rhomboid intended to use on Ben and Rook. Their clones respawn in Undertown, where they join their family for dinner.

In Vreedlemania, they joined Sandra Tennyson, Ben, and Rook for a family dinner with Ma Vreedle. At one point, a Krakken attacked and the Vreedle Brothers, along with the Pretty Boys, attacked the Krakken under their mother's orders. Eventually, Sceles appeared and calmed down the Krakken and the Vreedle Brothers were surprised to see their father again.

After Pa Vreedle gave Ma Vreedle a piece of Taydenite and accepted him back, the Vreedle Brothers were touched to have their father in their lives again. Soon, the Vreedle Family started to wreck havok in Bellwood and the Vreedle Brothers were seen at a gas station stealing candy. The Vreedle Brothers hope to impress their mother with the stolen candy but they felt outshined by Parry who was stealing an entire gas truck.

Pa Vreedle soon confronted them and told they were made from a bad batch of clones and they are basically hopeless. However, he did told them not to give up and walk off. As the Vreedle Brothers felt touched their father gave them advice, it turns out he stole their favorite blasters. Octagon then suggested he and Rhomboid steal something more valuable and they head to the museum. The Vreedle Brothers are seen wheeling a cannon and they fire it that hits a sign right over Sandra. Fortunately, Ma Vreedle saved Sandra before the sign could crush her.

Later, Ma Vreedle told everyone to head back to her house wondering where Pa Vreedle is. It turns out that Pa Vreedle was after Ma Vreedle's supply to Taydenite all along and the Vreedle Brothers are surprised by this. Pa Vreedle left with Sceles and Parry but when he acciently blew up their supply of Taydenite again, the Vreedle Brothers commented on how their father blows things up well.

Tchang Zu the Demon Sorcerer of Thunder

Tchang Zu once ruled the world, along with Shendu and his demon brethren, but was banished by the immortal and actor, Cao Guojiu, who used a pair of castanets to defeat him. His portal resided in a movie studio in Hollywood, California.

He made his first appearance in "The Stronger Evil," where he appeared before Shendu's spirit, accusing him for making excuses to rule the world for himself, causing him to throw a thunderbolt at his brother. As Shendu promised to free his brethren, Tchang Zu and the other demons reluctantly agreed and placed a spell on him as a safety measure.

In the episode, "And He Does His Own Stunts," Shendu in Valmont's body used the Pan Ku Box, which freed Tchang Zu. Tchang Zu ordered Shendu and the Dark Hand to take him to his palace. As they drove around, Tchang Zu saw a parking lot and thought it was a palace that the humans built for him. But Ratso pointed it out to him, angering Tchang Zu. As they kept driving, Ratso suggested the Chinese Theatre to him. Tchang Zu said it would suffice. Once they entered the building, Jackie Chan snuck inside and saw the Dark Hand sitting in the theatre rows, watching Tchang Zu on the stage as he vowed to destroy the city. Finn referred to him as a regular alleviate. Tchang Zu noticed Jackie and began to attack him outside the theatre. As they were fighting, Uncle used a pair of castanets, the symbol of the immortal who defeated him, to send him back into the portal from which he came.

Later in the episode, "The Demon World," he was going to visit Hsi

Wu but instead discovered the Chans. He began to fight them, until Paco used the castanets to send him back to the Netherworld.

CHUCKY

Charles Lee "Chucky" Ray, also known as The Lakeshore Strangler, is the titular main antagonist of the Child's Play franchise. He is Tiffany's husband, Glen and Glenda's father, and Andy Barclay's arch-nemesis and former "best friend".

He was voiced by Brad Dourif, who also portrayed his human form. Dourif has also played other villainous roles such as Jack Dante in Death Machine, Gríma Wormtongue in the The Lord of the Rings film franchise, The Gemini Killer in The Exorcist III: Legion, Mathias in Fading of the Cries, Deputy Sheriff Clinton Pell in Mississippi Burning and Zoso in the ABC television series Once Upon A Time .

The novelization of Child's Play 2 goes into Chucky's backstory. As a child, Charles Lee Ray had a difficult life. His Irish-American mother had come from a wealthy family and was a bartender and dancer, but because she was a dwarf, other kids made fun of Ray. To make matters worse, his Austrian-American father was a raging and obnoxious alcoholic who abused him and his mother. Eventually, Ray became a serial killer, and his abusive mother was his very first victim.

It is implied that members of Ray's family were also murderers in Seed of Chucky when he tells Glen that killing has been in the family for generations (although he could have said this to sway him to his side). If this is true, however, this might be where Ray got some of his psychotic personality traits from. Ray apparently went to a man named John Aelsop Bishop (also once known as "Doctor Death") to learn about Voodoo magic as to find a way to cheat death (although John was unaware of Ray's true motives nor his career as a serial killer, thinking that Ray wasn't going to use his teachings for evil). At some later point, Ray met and befriended Daniel Pierce and was introduced to his family: his wife Sarah (who was pregnant with Nica at the time) and his daughter Barbara.

Ray fell secretly in love with Sarah and wanted the two of them to be "family". At some point later, he murdered a woman named Vivian Van Pelt and stole her $6,000 ring for unknown reasons. He also met Tiffany Valentine and she became his girlfriend (though Ray did not view her as such, as he was still in love with Sarah). He also killed Tiffany's mother. One night, Ray found Daniel walking home and offered him a ride home. At some point he managed to subdue and drown him. He later attended his funeral along with Sarah's family. He later kidnapped Sarah and held her in the basement of a building (possibly the same apartment building located at 730 Stony Island Avenue on the south side of Chicago). He revealed his true motives to her and everything he did to her family (now believing himself to be "part" of the family). At some point Sarah managed to gain access to a phone where she dialed 911. The police showed up to the building and Ray realized what happened. Enraged at Sarah's snitching to the cops about "us", he stabbed Sarah with a voodoo knife (the same one used later by Chucky) in the stomach. This caused Nica's paraplegia (paralysis of the legs) later after she was born. From there the Child's Play film series unfolds.

Grace Poole mentioned in the second film that Ray murdered a total of one dozen people during his killing spree in Chicago (despite only having three confirmed victims and only one is actually seen on camera). In Cult of Chucky, Nica mentioned she read about Ray having murdered 22 people before he was killed by the police.

One night in Chicago, Ray is being chased by the police Sarah had called earlier. Among the officers involved in the chase is detective Mike Norris. He tries his hand at shooting Norris but misses, and he is shot in the foot by him. He sees his partner, Eddie Caputo, in the van up ahead and limps towards his direction, but Norris calls his partner, Jack Santos, to chase the van. Ray is then forced to hide behind a wall, despite his attempts at calling his partner to wait for him. Missing Norris with his gun again, he is told to give up and surrender. Cornered and unable to go anywhere, Ray takes cover inside a toy store, and is soon fatally shot by Norris in the chest. Before dying, Ray removes his trench coat, swears vengeance on Norris and Eddie, and continues to hide from him. He begins to lose his balance and leans forward on boxes of "Good Guy" dolls, knocking them down, and uses a voodoo ritual to transfer his soul into one of the dolls. The store is then struck by lightning and it burns to the ground. Norris presumes Ray died in the explosion.

Later that morning, 6-year-old Andy Barclay tells his widowed mother, Karen, that he wants a Good Guy doll for his birthday after watching a TV commercial about it. Unable to afford the full price, Karen buys a stolen doll from a street peddler named Monty, which is the same doll Charles Lee Ray had earlier transferred his soul into.

That night, as Andy is playing with the doll (who has introduced himself as "Chucky" through the talking feature of the doll), Karen's friend, Maggie Peterson, who is babysitting her nephew Andy, scolds him for turning on the evening news and placing Chucky in front of the TV. When Andy tries to tell Maggie that he did not put Chucky in front of the TV, she does not believe him. Maggie is then viciously struck with a toy hammer and falls out of the apartment window, falling several stories below to her death. The killer's identity is left ambiguous. Andy, when questioned, insists that Chucky has revealed himself to be alive and that he killed Maggie, though he defends Chucky's decision by stating that Chucky told him that "Maggie was a real bitch" and that she "got what she deserved".

The next day, Andy, apparently upon Chucky's request, visits the house of his accomplice Eddie Caputo, missing school in the process. Chucky is revealed as being alive. He sneaks into Eddie's house and blows out the pilot light on the stove and turns up the gas; Eddie, in panicked self-defense, fires his gun and the house explodes, killing him inside.

Later, authorities place Andy in a psychiatric ward after he is found near the crime scene. Karen believes the doll to be the true culprit after she realizes that his batteries had never been put in and she threatens to throw him into the fireplace unless he reveals himself to her. Chucky comes alive in her hands, bites her on her forearm and runs out of the apartment. She contacts Detective Norris, who is now investigating Maggie's death. Although he initially doubts her story, Hector the homeless man who sold Karen the doll confirms that he retrieved it from the burnt down toy store where Charles Lee Ray was killed.

Detective Norris becomes a firm believer after he is attacked by Chucky in his car and survives only by shooting the doll. He had attempted to strangle him, forcing Norris to drive recklessly, and stab him with his knife. Suffering a cigarette burn to his cheek and a gunshot wound, Chucky begins to question himself why he was bleeding following the attack.

Chucky later meets with John Aelsop Bishop, his voodoo instructor from years past, and asks why his gunshot wound bled. John, under torture via voodoo doll, informs him that his body is slowly becoming that of a human's and he will soon be trapped in the body if he does not transfer his soul into the body of the first person he revealed himself to, which is Andy.

Offhandedly remarking that he will "get to be six years old again," Chucky stabs the voodoo doll in the chest and leaves John to die. Karen and Detective Norris, following leads from Charles Lee Ray's case file, find John as he lays dying and receive instructions on how to kill Chucky, although Chucky is a doll, his heart is fully human and vulnerable to fatal injury. Chucky kills the head doctor, Dr. Lawrence Ardmore, while Andy escapes from the psychiatric unit, now aware Chucky is after him. The authorities believe Andy killed the doctor while escaping.

Mike and Karen rush back to the apartment hoping that Andy is there. Chucky reaches the apartment where Andy is and knocks him unconscious with a baseball bat before beginning the same incantation to steal his soul. Karen throws him away as she and Norris check on Andy, only for Norris to be stabbed in the leg by Chucky. After a prolonged struggle, Chucky is thrown into the fireplace by Karen and is lit on fire by Andy after he throws the lighted match in the fireplace. He tried pleading with Andy that they were friends until the end, but Andy told him this is the end.

Andy and Karen, thinking Chucky is dead, go to help the injured Mike Norris. After Andy gets the first aid kit from under the sink, he discovers Chucky is gone. Very burnt but alive, Chucky chases after Andy and Karen, who barricade themselves in the bedroom; Karen shoots him several times, missing his heart, but scattering his head, an arm and a leg in the hallway. After Norris' partner, Jack, arrives, the scattered doll parts attempt to attack under the instructions of Chucky's screaming, severed head. Karen, remembering John's last words, tells Norris to shoot Chucky in the heart. Norris does so and makes a direct hit, killing Chucky, again.

An ambulance arrives to take Norris to the hospital. Karen and Jack help him walk out the door, but Andy stays and looks over the burnt remains of Chucky. Karen returns and leads Andy out of the room and turns off the lights. Andy turns to look at Chucky one last time before leaving.

Two years after the events of the first film, Play Pals Toys repaired the burned Chucky doll, insisting that there was nothing wrong with it, while Andy is sent to foster care due to his mother being sent to a mental hospital for psychiatric evaluation for backing up Andy's testimony on Chucky. When the workers at Play Pals rebuilt Chucky manually, the dreaded Lakeshore Strangler was revived.

Later that night, Chucky was being taken home by the CEO's assistant William Mattson, not knowing that Chucky was truly alive. When he received a call from his girlfriend asking if he remembered the Vodka for their 2-week anniversary. He replied with a yes, hang up, and angrily drove to the liquor store. When he got out of the car, Chucky got the phone and called the orphanage and asked if Andy was there. They said no, but also asked who he was, which he replied "This is his uncle, Charles." When the man came back to the car, irritated that Gold Cards were never accepted at the liquor store, he was attacked by Chucky. Chucky forced him to park the car, where he killed him with a plastic bag.

Chucky found his way to Andy's new home, owned by Phil and Joanne Simpson, and destroyed Andy's Tommy Good Guy Doll with Joanne's China figurine. The figurine was destroyed as well in the process, which resulted in Andy and his foster older sister, Kyle, getting grounded.

That night, Chucky had successfully fooled Andy into making him thinking he was Tommy, which allowed Chucky into his bedroom. There, Chucky had tied Andy to the bed and literally put a sock into his mouth. He began the ritual to place his soul in Andy's body, but was interrupted when Kyle began to crawl in through the window after sneaking out for a date. She began to untie Andy, but did not believe his story of Chucky. Andy, with his newly-freed hand, punches Chucky off of the bed. Joanne and Phil arrive, and Phil takes Chucky to the cellar.

The next day, Chucky followed Andy to school, where he wrote profanity on Andy's test paper. The teacher, Miss Kettlewelll, believed it was Andy who wrote it, and kept him at school for detention. There, Miss Kettlewell had found Chucky and locked him in the closet. Andy, knowing where Chucky was, escaped through the window and made his way for home. Not long after, Miss Kettlewell returned to the classroom, where she noticed Andy was missing. She heard a noise from the closet, and assumed that was where he was. She opened the door and searched everywhere, but was ambushed by Chucky and was beaten to death with a yard stick.

That night, Andy went into the cellar with an electric knife to kill Chucky. He searched everywhere, but was attacked by Chucky who began to bite his ear. Chucky was hit in the side of the head with the knife, and made an escape by hiding behind the stairs. Phil began to slowly walk downstairs, attempting to calm Andy. Unfortunately, Chucky found a harpoon and used it to dangle Phil from the stairs. He released Phil, who fell to his death.

About an hour later, Chucky had murdered Joanne in her bedroom and was now using Kyle to drive him to the orphanage, where Andy was living once again. Kyle had stepped on the breaks, making Chucky shatters the window and falls out of the car. He was on the hood, but Kyle stepped on it, making it harder for Chucky to hold on. She once again stepped on the breaks, forcing Chucky to fly off the car and hit a fence. She attempted to ram him, but got out of the way just in time. She got out of the car and found Chucky on her shoulders.

Kyle took Chucky to the orphanage, where he pulled the fire alarm. Kyle and Andy were taken to the matron (Grace Poole)'s office, who was killed by Chucky. Kyle attempted to help Andy escape, but Andy was taken away by Chucky instead. Chucky told Andy to get in the back of a truck, where he attempted the ritual a second time. He was once again stopped by Kyle, and Chucky forced Andy to flee to the Play Pals Toy Factory while Kyle was being harassed by the truck driver.

In the factory, Chucky attempted the ritual a third and final time, and finally finished it. Fortunately, too much time had been wasted and he was trapped in the doll's body. He attacked, but was stopped by Kyle. In an epic battle, Chucky who is covered in a liquid material used to make plastic dolls, was killed when Kyle forced an air tube in his mouth, making his head explode and thus leading to Chucky's second demise.

Eight years had passed, and Play Pals, Inc. had finally healed from the bad publicity it had been dealing with. They used Chucky's corpse as a mold for the new line of Good Guy Dolls of the 1990s, which transferred his soul from the corpse to a brand new doll, bringing him back to life.

The company decided to give the CEO the first doll as a present, oblivious to the fact that Chucky had been revived. That night, the CEO placed the doll package on his couch while he played putt putt golf in his office. He then noticed weird things happening around the room, such as when the TV turned off by itself and the remote went missing. Eventually, Chucky attacked the man with a golf club and choked him to death with a Yo-Yo. Chucky got on his computer and looked in the files, and found Andy's new location - Kent Military School.

He sent himself to the military school via the mail, excepting the package to go to Andy. Instead, he was opened by an 8-year-old boy named Ronald Tyler. Realizing he had a new body, he told Tyler his secret, thus making Tyler eligible for the soul transfer. Chucky began the ritual, disguising it as a game called "Hide-the-Soul", but was interrupted by the head of the school, Colonel Cochran. Cochran, believing Chucky to be a simple doll, put him in the dumpster. The garbage man arrived, putting everything from the dumpster into his truck. Chucky yelled for assistance, and the garbage man went to the back of the truck to find him. Chucky, however, snuck to the drivers seat and turned on the trash compacter, slowly killing the garbage man.

Tyler began a game of Hide and Seek, forcing Chucky to hunt him down. After a frustrating time trying to find him, he found Tyler in a closet, but the two were eventually found by two girls. They put lipstick on Chucky and the three kids made their escape when they heard Colonel Cochran coming. Chucky hid behind a corner and jumped out with a knife, which gave Cochran a fatal heart attack and died.

Chucky slit the throat of the school's barber and replaced the paint balls for the War Games with real ammunition bullets. That night, Chucky took hostage a girl named Kristen DeSilva, one of the same two young cadets who found Tyler and foolishly used a lipstick on Chucky which only made him angry, hoping that Andy would bring Tyler to him. The Red and Blue teams met and fired on each other. This resulted in the death of Lieutenant Colonel Shelton. Chucky tossed a grenade into the crowd, but one of the students, Whitehurst, made a noble sacrifice and jumped on top of the grenade, killing him instead.

Tyler escaped to a nearby amusement park, but Chucky had gotten there first, killed the security guard and forced Tyler into a haunted house ride-attraction. Andy and Kristin followed them, and a battle began. Kristin was injured, leaving it up to Andy to deal with the doll on his own. When Chucky was underneath an animatronic statue of the Grim Reaper, it swung its scythe, slicing part of Chucky's face clean off. Chucky began the soul transfer spell, and Andy blasted his left arm off in the process. Finally, Chucky got his right hand severed with a knife and was thrown off of the fake mountain of skulls and into the giant fan at the bottom, where he was sliced and died once more.

Tiffany, a former lover and henchwoman of Charles Lee Ray, acquires Chucky's remains (Chucky was chopped up at the end of Child's Play 3 ) after bribing and later murdering a police officer Robert "Bob" Bailey who removed the dismembered "Good Guy" doll parts from an evidence locker at the Lockport police department by slashing his throat. Believing Ray's soul to still be inhabiting the doll, Tiffany crudely stitches Chucky back together and reenacts the voodoo ritual which instilled Ray inside the doll a decade ago.

Though her chants initially fail to produce results, Chucky unexpectedly springs to life and kills Tiffany's goth-wannabe admirer, Damien, torturing him by ripping off his labret piercing while his hands and feet are cuffed, and suffocating him with a pillow while Tiffany watches with excitement. Tiffany and Chucky then get into an argument because Tiffany believed Chucky wished to marry her while still wearing a diamond ring once belonged to previous victim Vivian Van Pelt who was killed and dumped in a river by Chucky during his days as the infamous Lakeshore Strangler, and that she found it on a mantle the night of his death and never took it off.

Upon learning he had no intention of doing so, Tiffany throws him in a playpen she built for a nursery and locks him in it. She then later gives him another doll in a wedding dress with the same diamond ring removed from her finger to mock him. While Tiffany is watching T.V. while taking a bath, Chucky escapes by cutting through the wood of the play pen with the diamond part of the ring and kills her by pushing the television set into the bath. Then, using the same voodoo spell, Chucky gains further revenge against Tiffany by transferring her soul into a female doll so she could feel what Chucky went through as a living doll. Chucky, who is still intent on becoming human again, concocts a plan with Tiffany to retrieve an amulet known as the Heart of Damballa named after the Voodoo sky god whose very name is the extremely important part of the soul-transfer spell used by Chucky numerous times in the past since he first chanted the spell as Charles Lee Ray. Chucky also explained that he was wearing the talisman around his neck the same night that he gunned down and it was currently buried with his human corpse in Hackensack, New Jersey. They planned to use the bodies of Tiffany's neighbor Jesse and his girlfriend Jade as a means to return to their normal lives.

Tiffany sends Jesse a message asking him to take the two dolls to New Jersey in exchange for cash. Jesse convinces Jade to go with him and helps her pack. Meanwhile, Jade's police-officer uncle Warren breaks into Jesse's car and plants a bag of marijuana to frame Jesse, whom he dislikes. Afraid of him ruining their plans, Chucky and Tiffany kill him by setting up an airbag to launch nails into his face. After the dolls hide the body under the backseat, Jesse and Jade return and begin their trip.

Outside a convenience store, they are pulled over by Officer "Needlenose" Norton, who asks to search Jesse's car for the planted drugs. After he finds it, he goes to his car to report to Warren. During this time, Chucky crawls over and shoves a cloth into Norton's gas tank and lights it. Norton is killed when his car explodes and, seeing the explosion, Jesse and Jade flee the scene. Soon, they stop at a wedding chapel/hotel and are married. During that time, Jade's uncle, still alive, tries to run away but is stabbed numerous times in the back by Chucky. While in the hotel, Jesse and Jade meet a con-artist couple Russ and Diane who steal Jesse's money. As the criminals have sex in their room, Tiffany, who had seen them take Jesse's money and said how the woman "doesn't deserve to wear that ring", takes their bottle of champagne and throws it into the mirrored ceiling, sending down shards of glass and killing the two promiscuous con-artists. Impressed at what she just did, Chucky reveals his true feelings for Tiffany, and then proposes to her. After accepting and putting on the ring, both dolls begin to have sex. Chucky undresses Tiffany and they both began to kiss and touch each other, going into intercourse and having sexual intercourse (getting Tiffany pregnant). The shadows of naked Chucky and naked Tiffany are shown on the wall having sex. Chucky started rubbing Tiffany's clitoris as fast as he could, while she yelled and moaned in enjoyment. Tiffany orgasmed and came on Chucky's hand. Chucky shoved his large penis inside Tiffany's wet vagina, and started humping her fast. She moaned and came again as he humped her. Chucky came and she moaned loudly. While they have sex, Tiffany asks if he had condoms but Chucky tells her it is plastic and they continue to make love. The two couple proceeded to make out while rubbing there naked, sweaty, hot bodies against each other.

The next morning, a maid finds the corpses of the couple and Jesse and Jade drive away with their best friend David, who knew about their plan to elope and heard about the recent murders. He reveals that Jesse and Jade have been pinned for all of the deaths and (while searching for the source of a foul smell) finds Warren's body and demands that Jesse pull over. While he is confronting them, the dolls come alive and hold them hostage with guns, demanding for them to keep driving. David turns and is accidentally killed by a truck that taxes speeding, horrifying Jade and Jesse. Jesse and Jade drive away with the dolls. They are then chased by police, which Chucky is able to shoot the cars and make them go off the road. During that time, the dolls reveal their plan to them and get Jesse to drive in a mobile home to keep the cops off them by using a different vehicle. While preparing Jade for the body-switch, Tiffany begins talking with Jade, who manages to turn Tiffany against Chucky. A fight between the two dolls ensues and Jade seizes an opportunity by kicking and locking Tiffany into the oven while Jesse pushes Chucky out the window. Chucky shoots at Jesse, causing the RV to run off the road and into a ditch.

Chucky finds Jade and forces her to take him to his gravesite in a cemetery within Hackensack, New Jersey, while Jesse takes a weak Tiffany (burnt from the oven, but still alive) and follows them. While the medical examiner is digging, Chucky shoots him in the back of the head and orders Jade to open the casket and give him the amulet. After she breaks it off his skeleton's neck, she throws it out at him. Jesse then appears with Tiffany and they trade hostages. While Jesse and Jade embrace, Chucky is about to throw his knife at Jade until Jesse sees and turns her around; being stabbed in the back. After Jade pulls the knife out of his back and holds him, they are tied up for the ritual as Chucky tells them, "It's showtime!"

Before Chucky starts the body-switching chant, Tiffany distracts him by kissing him while she pulls the knife out of his pocket, stabbing him in his back, telling him why she tells him that they belonged dead (a reference to a famous quote from Bride of Frankenstein ).

They fight until he stabs her in the heart, where she collapses to the ground, before saying that her mother always told her that "love would set her free."

While distracted, Jesse knocks Chucky into his grave who demands to be let out. A private investigator, by the name of Lt. Horace Preston, arrives to see Jade pointing a gun into the hole. He sees Chucky and is clearly shocked by what he sees. Preston then watches Jade grab his gun and point it at the doll. Chucky rebuffs her by saying that he'll come back as he always does, and Jade shoots him several times, avenging David and all the others he killed. Chucky is soon defeated and falls into the casket, ending his reign of terror for good. After discovering the truth of the crimes, Preston soon gets on the phone with the police, saying that Jesse and Jade are innocent of the murders and sends the couple home.

While stumbling upon and investigating Tiffany's doll body, Tiffany suddenly springs to life and gives birth to a doll child before finally dying. The baby then rises up to attack Preston brutally just before the screen cuts to black, leaving his fate unknown.

Seed of Chucky " *Wait a minute! I'm not gonna let you poison our son's mind with your touchy-feely 12 steps bullsh*t. If you two don't wanna kill anymore, that's your loss but don't look down your noses at me. I'm not ashamed to be a killer, I'm proud of it. It's not an addiction; it's a choice! And it's not something you should have to hide in the closet!* „ ~ Chucky to Tiffany and Glen.

The film opens the night Jesse and Jade get married in Bride of Chucky as the second parody of Look Who's Talking in the Child's Play series where Chucky's sperm reach Tiffany's egg and a baby is conceived and growing over time. At the end of the scene, the baby passes through the birth canal as seen in the last moment in Bride of Chucky as the camera pans into its mouth.

6 years after the events of Bride of Chucky, the film then shows Glen, the son of Chucky and Tiffany, point of view having a nightmare in which he slaughters a little girl's parents and living a life of embarrassment as a ventriloquist's dummy. Desperate to know his parents, Glen tracks them down to Hollywood. Chucky and Tiffany are first shown killing a man dressed as Santa Claus for a movie. Upon tracking down his parents, who are now dummies in one of Jennifer Tilly's films, Glen uses a voodoo amulet to bring them back to life. Shortly afterward, when Chucky finds out that Glen is his child, he faints. But as for Tiffany, she was very happy and hugs her child. Tiffany and Chucky have a dispute over whether Glen is male or female. Chucky decides to label him as a boy and Tiffany labels him as a girl, calling him "Glenda".

When a puppeteer, Tony Gardner begins taking Tiffany apart, she and Chucky cut his head off with a piano wire. Jennifer Tilly sees the beheaded body and calls the police. Glen/Glenda is horrified by this, and later asks them why they murder others, as he feels that violence is bad. Tiffany and Chucky then make an agreement to quit killing, although Chucky only pretends to agree.

Jennifer tries to get a role as the Virgin Mary in Redman's directorial debut film " Virgin Mary ", but after Redman says that Jennifer is not right for the part, she invites him over to her house. Chucky and Tiffany make plans to transfer their souls into Redman and Jennifer. Jennifer and Redman start to have sex, only for Tiffany to knock them out. While they are unconscious, Tiffany inseminates Jennifer with Chucky's semen. Chucky leaves and takes Glen/Glenda with him. After driving Britney Spears' car off the road, killing her, they proceed to go to a photographer's darkroom. The photographer, Pete Peters, had taken pictures of Tilly having sex with Redman, and of Chucky masturbating. Glen/Glenda tries to warn Peters that Chucky will kill him, only for Peters to bump into a shelf, causing a jar of acid to fall and accidentally kill him. Chucky, overjoyed, believes Glen/Glenda did this on purpose and takes a picture to celebrate.

Jennifer awakens the next morning, realizes that she is pregnant and claims it is Redman's, though he states that this is impossible because he had vasectomy before he went into Hollywood business. In anger, Tiffany rips his intestines out because he says a "specific" version of Mary as a hot lady which made him sounded like somewhat a sexist pig rather then a visionary director and sealed his fate. The next day, Jennifer is horrified to find herself with a fully pregnant belly. The voodoo magic that fuels the killer dolls has also accelerated the pregnancy. Jennifer is captured by Chucky and her chauffeur, Stan, serving as Chucky's replacement body due to Redman's death is also captured. Jennifer's assistant, Joan, tries to help her, but is brutally killed. It is then revealed that there were two souls in Glen: Glen and Glenda. Chucky also reveals that he killed three people and hid them in a closet like Tiffany did to Redman.

Jennifer gives birth to twins, a boy and a girl, and it is then that Chucky has an epiphany. After several years of being an infamous killer doll, Chucky finally accepts his circumstances. Disturbed, Tiffany rejects Chucky and resolves to take Glen with her.

An enraged Chucky throws a knife at Jennifer, but Stan jumps in front and is stabbed in the chest, he tells Tilly that he loves her as he dies. Before Glen can decide which baby to possess, the police arrive, forcing the dolls to flee. Jennifer is rushed to the hospital by the cops, but claims she wants to see her babies. Tiffany drugs Jennifer and begins to possess her using the magic of the Heart of Damballa, but Chucky breaks in and kills Tiffany with an axe.

Glen becomes enraged by this, and attacks Chucky by using his martial skills and than chopping off his limbs and his head with the axe. Realizing what he had done, he suffers an emotional breakdown and Jennifer comforts him.

5 years later, at Glen and Glenda's birthday party, a nanny quits her job because Jennifer's daughter, Glenda, stares at her with hatred and scares her. Jennifer lets her quit, only to kill her when she turns away, and Jennifer's eyes switch to Tiffany's, revealing that Tiffany was successful in possessing Jennifer's body. Glen has taken the body of the son, and receives a strange and unnamed present. When Glen opens the present, he sees that it is Chucky's right arm. Frightened, he wets his pants again as he did before in the past with the signature twitching of his sad eyes and he turns around. Chucky's arm then leaps up, grabs him around the throat, and he begins screaming as Chucky's laugh is heard, meaning he will return, one day.

4 years later after the conclusion of Seed of Chucky, a now-fixed Chucky arrives mysteriously in the mail to the Pierce house (erroneously referred to as the "Winters" house in the deleted scenes), family home of paraplegic Nica and her mother, Sarah outside the town of Highgate in Vermont. Sarah, not knowing who sent Chucky, throws him in the garbage. Later that night, Nica hears Sarah screaming in pain and finds her dead from a self-inflicted stab wound as Chucky watches from a nearby chair.

The next day, Nica is grieving over the gruesome suicide of her mother when her domineering older sister Barb arrives in town, with her family: husband, Ian; daughter, Alice; and live-in nanny, Jill, to help settle their mother's affairs. Also present is Father Frank, a priest from his local parish of St. Paul's that came to council the family. Alice finds Chucky in the bathroom and develops a friendship with him. After Nica and Alice cook chili for dinner, they leave the kitchen to set the dinner table. In their absence, Chucky pours rat poison into one of the bowls. As night falls, Father Frank and the family sit down and eat. Father Frank leaves as a thunderstorm starts. Emergency personnel arrive at the scene of a car accident and find Father Frank, disoriented from the rat poison, pinned at the throat by the roof of his car. Firefighters remove the car's roof, unintentionally severing his head.

Back at the house, Nica, Barb, Jill, and a half-asleep Ian are watching old home movies. Nica notices a human Charles Lee "Chucky" Ray in one of the movies. Alice comes downstairs and notifies everyone that Chucky is gone. Nica finds the return address from the package Chucky arrived in. She tries to call the number, but the storm is causing on and off blackouts and blocking cellphone signals. Jill puts Alice to bed and starts looking for Chucky. While in the kitchen, Barb comes in and passionately kisses Jill, indicating an affair. Nica returns to the living room and finds Chucky sitting on the sofa next to a two Ian. Nica uses the house elevator to take Chucky to Alice, but a blackout occurs and Chucky cuts her leg with a knife. The power returns and the elevator takes Nica to the second floor where Alice takes Chucky and goes to bed.

After everyone else went to their rooms, Nica goes downstairs and looks up "Chucky Doll Evidence" on the internet, where she reads the stories of his murders and realizes that Chucky is alive. Jill goes to Alice's room, strips down to her underwear, and starts video chatting with Barb in another bedroom next to Ian. While talking in video chat Barb tries to warn Jill that Alice is up (not knowing that is Chucky). Jill looks down and sees Chucky holding a knife. Chucky kicks a bucket of rain water over. The water touches Jill's feet and a power outlet, electrocuting her to death and causing another blackout. Barb goes to check on Alice. A now awake Ian questions who Barb is really checking on, indicating that he put a nanny cam on Chucky and knows about the affair. Barb leaves the room after Ian puts in earplugs to tune her out.

Barb finds Chucky sitting on stairs that lead to the attic. Thinking that Alice is in the attic, Barb picks up Chucky and goes up to look for her. Meanwhile, with the elevator unusable due to the blackout, Nica crawls up the stairs to the second floor. In the attic, Barb notices the knife in Chucky's overalls. She sets Chucky down on a trunk and continues her search for Alice. Barb turns around and sees Chucky sitting on a shelf. She notices that parts of Chucky's face is peeling. Barb peels off the plastic coating on Chucky's face, exposing his stitches and scars from the previous films. Chucky comes alive and gauges out one of Barb's eyes with his knife.

Nica makes it to the attic's stairs. Chucky throws Barb's eyeball down the stairs. Barb then falls down the stairs dead. Chucky makes his way down the stairs towards Nica. Nica gets a wheelchair from the hallway closet and rolls away with Chucky in pursuit. Nica stops at Alice's room and sees that she has disappeared. Nica makes it to Ian and alerts him of the situation. A skeptical Ian wheels Nica to the garage, then goes back to the house to find Alice, instead finding Jill's and Barb's dead bodies. Chucky locks himself in a car in the garage, starts it, and tries to kill Nica with carbon monoxide poisoning. Nica finds a hatchet and smashes a car window to attack Chucky. Ian returns to the garage and sees Nica with the hatchet. Ian, now suspecting Nica of the murders, disarms her. The stress of the entire situation causes Nica to suffer a heart attack and lose consciousness.

Nica regains consciousness. Ian has tied her to her wheelchair and looks at footage from the nanny cam that Chucky is irresponsible for the murders. The footage shows that Chucky is alive and hid Alice in a closet and the affair between Barb and Jill. Chucky comes in and uses Nica's wheelchair to run Ian over. Chucky then uses the hatchet to chop off Ian's lower jaw, killing him. Chucky attacks Nica lodging the hatchet into her knee, but she manages to break out of her restraints and knock out Chucky. Chucky gets back up and Nica uses the hatchet to decapitate him.

Nica turns her back to tend to her wounds. Chucky gets up and reattaches his head. Then he grabs Nica's wheelchair, pushes her down the hall and through the balcony. Nica falls to the ground floor. Chucky walks downstairs and taunts Nica. Nica asks why Chucky is doing this. Through flashbacks, Chucky explains he was an old "friend" of the family. He was in love with Sarah, but she was married to Daniel and pregnant with Nica. Chucky killed Daniel and kidnapped her some time after the funeral. After Sarah rejected him, Chucky stabbed her in the stomach before fleeing from the police. The stab to Sarah's stomach is what caused Nica to be born a paraplegic. The kidnapping led to Chucky's death as a human, setting off the chain of events of his rampage.

The electricity returns long enough for Nica to make it into the elevator. Chucky cuts Nica's fingers before dropping the knife into the elevator. Nica, now holding the knife, urges Chucky to attack her. Chucky lunges at Nica and is stabbed in the back. Nica tries to leave the elevator, but Chucky springs back to life. Officer Stanton, the young policeman who was in Father Frank's parish long before he was present at his death, arrives at the house and hears Nica scream. He enters the house and sees Nica in the elevator, still holding the bloody knife. He looks around and sees Barb's body upstairs while Chucky sinisterly watches from a nearby chair.

Some time later, Nica is found guilty of the murders and sent to an asylum for the criminally insane. As Nica is being wheeled out of court, she taunts Chucky (a piece of evidence) that she is still alive, just like his former victim Andy Barclay which she considers to be "completion anxiety" which is very common in males. The arresting officer takes Chucky and prepares to take it to an unknown person. Officer Stanton sees the plastic bag Chucky is in moving because of his breathing. Before he looks inside, Tiffany pops up in the backseat and slits his throat. Tiffany then mails Chucky to his next target.

Alice, now living with her paternal grandmother, comes home from school. Alice looks for her grandmother, but finds Chucky instead.

She asks where her grandmother is and Chucky replies, "In the cellar". Chucky persuades Alice to play "Hide the Soul". The camera pans away as Chucky says the chant that will transfer his spirit to Alice's body. Before the screen cuts to black, Alice's screaming grandmother pops up on the screen with a plastic bag over her head. The chant failed for unexplained reasons, ranging from Alice's grandmother stopping it to Chucky's soul residing in the Good Guy doll for too long.

6 months later, Chucky is delivered to the now-adult Andy Barclay. When Andy turns his back to answer a phone call from his mother Karen, Chucky cuts his way out of the package. Chucky looks at an old photo of Andy and his mother from when he was a child and an old photo of his old friend and former adopted sister named Kyle, before turning his attention to Andy. Andy (anticipating Chucky coming after him) holds a shotgun to Chucky's head. Andy remarks "Play with this", before pulling the trigger.

4 years after Curse of Chucky, Andy has kept Chucky's head to torture him in revenge for his crimes. After coming home from a date with his girlfriend who breaks up with him over his past, Andy smokes a joint and Chucky asks for a hit and tries to bite Andy to scare him. Andy then burns Chucky who mocks him for getting dumped.

At the remote facility known as Harrogate Psychiatric Hospital where Nica resides after she was recently transferred from Lochmoor State Mental Hospital, a Chucky doll is used in Nica's therapy group and is claimed by a disturbed patient, Madeleine, as her baby. Nica, who has come to believe she was responsible for the murders and imagined Chucky, is unimpressed by the doll. The next day, Tiffany visits Nica to tell her that her niece, Alice, had died of a "broken heart" and gives Nica a Chucky doll that Alice wanted her to have. That night, the doll wakes up, takes a scalpel, and looks for Nica. Chucky comes across Angela, who believes she is dead, and tells him where Nica's room is but she irritates Chucky when she denies he is real and he promises to kill her later. Chucky goes into Nica's room and sees a pool of blood next to her bed after she slashes her wrist to try to commit suicide. The next morning, Nica finds her wrist stitched up and the words "Not yet" written in her blood. Angela is then found dead with her wrist slashed and the words "Chucky did it" written in her blood, leading everyone to believe she committed suicide. Nica realizes the woman she met earlier was Tiffany Valentine, Chucky's girlfriend, and tells everyone Chucky's history as a serial killer of 22 people before being shot by police. Claire, a patient who burned down her house, accuses Nica of killing Angela but Malcolm, who has multiple personality disorder, believes Nica. Nica suspects both dolls are alive somehow and demands Dr. Foley to prove to everyone she is right. He burns the doll's right fingers and nothing happens. Nica asks him to try it on Madeline's doll but she refuses and leaves. While walking in the cemetery, Madeline throws her doll into a grave and Malcolm gets in the grave to retrieve it and it appears Chucky has taken over his body. Claire is about to throw away the other doll but it bites her and she realizes it is alive. Dr. Foley however accuses her of harming herself and he sedates her. The Chucky then uses a compresent tank to shatter the ceiling window above her and the shards decapitate Claire.

Nica, who now realizes Chucky has been real all along and she is not insane, tries to convince Dr. Foley. He decides to hypnotize her to help her state of mind. During the session, it is revealed he has been sexually abusing her and Chucky, repulsed and envious by this revelation, knocks him unconscious with a glass, calling the doctor diabolical. He offers Nica to kill Dr. Foley but she refuses. Andy finds out about the deaths at the mental institution and rushes there to save Nica. He send a Chucky doll with short hair to Dr. Foley with a gun inside it so he can tell the difference. Madeline, who has been struggling to accept she smothered her baby, tries to suffocate her doll and then gives it a burial to accept her baby is dead. Her Chucky doll later emerges from the grave and gets into Madeline's room. She allows Chucky to kill her so she can be with her baby and he shoves his hand in her throat, and pulls out part of her spleen, killing her instantly. He manages to restrain Nica in a body jacket and bring her into Dr. Foley's office. Dr. Foley tries to assault her again and Chucky knocks him out again, torn between killing him or taking notes. He again offers her to kill the doctor but she refuses. Madeleine's doll comes into the room and tells Chucky has arrived and Chucky criticizes how long it took for Andy to show up. Chucky reveals he came across a voodoo spell on the internet that allows him to spread his soul into multiple dolls. He also reveals Alice was one host but was killed when a victim fought back. He then orders Madeline's Chucky doll to wake up the short haired Chucky doll. The three dolls kill Carlos when he walks in on them. The three dolls split up: the short-haired Chucky will kill Andy, Madeline's Chucky will kill anyone else who comes around, and the other Chucky will soon deal with Nica.

Nica asks him to kill her already, but Chucky says he never planned to kill her because he says that there are worst things than death. He performs the voodoo chant to transfer his soul into her body, which gives Nica/Chucky the ability to walk. In Nica's "honor", Nica/Chucky stomps Dr. Foley's face to death on the floor of his office with the red heels he put on Nica. Nica/Chucky finds Malcolm standing over the body of a nurse with a drill machine in her stomach and he claims he killed her because he is Charles. Nica/Chucky denies possessing Malcolm, whom he refers to as a poser. Malcolm admits he just wants to be somebody who matters and is stabbed through the head with the drill machine by Madeline's Chucky doll, who says "at least it was a fun place". The short-haired Chucky appears to Andy and stabs him in the leg but Andy manages to overpower Chucky and grabs the gun from inside Chucky, and shoots him 5 times before stomping his face repeatedly. Nica/Chucky appears and tells Andy shooting Nica/Chucky will also kill Nica. Andy tries to shoot anyway but is out of bullets. The hospital goes on lockdown and Nica/Chucky leaves Andy locked up to frame him for the murders, saying "tag, you're it". Madeline's Chucky doll sits on the sofa and pretends to be a normal doll again (while the soul was still in it).

Nica/Chucky walks out of the hospital and is reunited with Tiffany, who greets him. They share a kiss, with Nica/Chucky saying "well, this is new" and Tiffany replying "works for me". Tiffany mentions how bad she feels for Alice and how nice it was having her around. Nica/Chucky scoffs at this, saying "Nah, fk that kid". Nica/Chucky and Tiffany then begin manically laughing and the rear view mirror shows the Tiffany doll in the back seat is alive as well as they drive off into the night.

Meanwhile back at Andy Barclay's cabin, Chucky sees a woman park her car outside and opened the sliding glass door upon entry, he recognizes her as Kyle, another of his surviving enemies. Kyle replies "Andy sent me. We're gonna have some fun.", before she begins torturing him in retribution for his heinous crimes in the past as Chucky screams in pain.

As Andy still lives, it is highly possible that Andy will escape the asylum and resume his hunt once again.

JASON VOORHEES

Jason Voorhees is a serial killer and the main antagonist of the Friday the 13th franchise. He appears as a posthumous character in the original Friday the 13th, the posthumous overarching antagonist of Friday the 13th: A New Beginning, the main antagonist of every other entry and Friday the 13th: The Game and the titular secondary antagonist/anti-hero of Freddy vs. Jason . He is also the main character of the video game Friday The 13th: Killer Puzzle, along with several comics and novels.

He is a deformed murderer who is known for wearing a hockey mask to cover his deformities and killing those who dare to step foot in Crystal Lake out of vengeance for his mother Pamela whom he witnessed being decapitated. When he was a human, Jason was exceptionally durable and difficult to kill, but he could still feel pain and eventually was brought down by Tommy Jarvis, who continuously hacked away at him with his own machete. However, this would not be the end for years later, he'd be brought back from the dead by complete accident by Jarvis as an undead revenant which granted him supernatural abilities. Jason is also notable for using a machete as his preferred weapon with a close second being an axe, but he also has been known to use just whatever item he finds lying around and even his bare hands.

Jason Voorhees is an indirect antagonist in this film and is only present through flashbacks. When the protagonist Alice met his mother Pamela, she recounted how she and her husband had Jason born as a hydrocephalic, making him physically deformed. Because of this, his mother never took him to school, and was extremely overprotective of him.

Pamela later took a job as a cook at Camp Crystal Lake, where the other campers would frequently bully Jason because of his deformity. Jason drowned when his bullies pushed him into Crystal Lake. The bullies ran off after realizing their actions.

The camp counselors were unaware of what was happening, as they were busy partying and having sex elsewhere at the time. Pamela proceeded to kill many of the camp counselors and campers in later years for vengeance over Jason's drowning. As soon as she finishes recounting his story, Pamela directs her anger towards Alice, viewing her as another camper conniving in the suffering of Jason. Alice denies this, but Pamela doesn't listen to her and violently attacks her. After a violent and bloody confrontation, Alice finally decapitates Pamela.

His first actual appearance (other than a flashback and a dream sequence) was in Friday the 13th Part 2, as the killer seen wearing a sack over his face to hide his deformities. Supposedly, Jason apparently never drowned in the lake and had been surviving all these years as a hermit in the woods. According to legend, Jason stumbled upon witnessing his mother decapitated by Alice, the sole survivor of Pamela's spree. Taking revenge, he tracked down Alice a month later and murdered her with an ice pick to her temple. Since then, Camp Crystal Lake had been off-limits to everyone.

Five years later, he discovered the whereabouts of a nearby training camp within the area of Camp Crystal Lake, and began to murder many of the camp counselors as well as a local named Crazy Ralph, who always warned people about Crystal Lake being doomed. Eventually, he fought two of the remaining counselors named Ginny and Paul inside his makeshift shack, which contained a shrine where his mother's head and clothing were put onto and having bodies of his victims surrounding it. While Jason was distracted into fighting Paul, Ginny managed to slam the machete used by his mother into his shoulder before escaping.

Surviving the events from Part 2, Jason headed down to a nearby store to steal new clothing, and murdering the owner and his wife. Nearby, he then hid inside a barn at a house in the Crystal Lake area, named Higgins Haven. When the inhabitants of the house returned to the area, he once again returned to his killings and murdered many of the inhabitants in the area, including three hostile bikers. During his spree, he managed to take and don a hockey mask from a nearby victim named Shelly.

While fighting the last survivor Chris Higgins, she remembered him as the same man who previously attacked her in the woods two years ago, just before hanging the killer with a noose. When he freed himself and while in the process of finally killing one of the bikers named Ali who had awoken from being unconscious by him, Chris then struck him in the head with an axe, supposedly killing him.

Despite his wound, Jason supposedly managed to survive and revived inside the morgue, where he kills an attendant and a nurse before escaping and setting out to the Crystal Lake again. After escaping, he targeted a nearby rental house owned by a group of teenagers for the weekend, across from a house owned by the Jarvis family.

He once again proceeded to brutally slaughter many of the residents in the area, including a hitchhiker and the older vengeful brother of one of his previous victims, whom had been tracking down Jason since then. After murdering everyone else, Jason continued into targeting the last two survivors, Tommy and Trish Jarvis. In the fight, Tommy manages to distract Jason into shaving his head, resembling Jason at a younger age. While distracted, Trish took a machete and slammed into the side of his head, splitting his head upon falling down into the blade. As Trish and Tommy embrace, he sees Jason's fingers slowly move and continues to hack at his body with the machete.

Although Jason Voorhees did not appear as the killer in Friday the 13th: A New Beginning, he is seen in dream sequences and hallucinations by an adult Tommy Jarvis, five years later since the demise of Jason. Instead, a different antagonist named Roy Burns appeared in the film, using Jason's identity to avenge the death of his son Joey and murdering the nearby residents of a halfway home named Pinehurst, as a copycat killer. Burns was eventually killed and in the process, his true identity was revealed to the characters and audience.

Years later, it is believed by authorities that Jason was cremated, but this is proven false when an adult Tommy finds Jason's burial with his friend Allen Hawes and attempts to burn him. While stabbing at his corpse with a metal pole, lightning strikes at the pole connected into Jason, and soon brings the mass murderer back to life as a strong zombie. Allen attempts to knock Jason unconscious with a shovel, but it shatters to pieces as soon as it hits his head. Jason rips Hawes' heart out while Tommy flees to his car. Jason then dons his hockey mask once again. Jason returns to his vengeful killing spree and murders many of the victims at Camp Crystal Lake (renamed to Forest Green), including the camp counselors, a gravedigger, five paintball players, but spares the little children but had a fascination with one little girl. and killed (once he finally realized that Jason had returned) Sheriff Garris and two of his officers before Tommy used a boulder and chain to chain him to the bottom of Crystal Lake. To finish him off, Tommy and the sheriff's daughter Megan activate a boat propeller's blade and uses it on Jason's face, cutting off part of his mask and breaking his neck.

Jason was accidentally reawakened by Tina Shepard, who used her telekinetic powers in an attempt to resurrect her father, who drowned in Crystal Lake. His chain was snapped, allowing him to return and kill Jane and Michael, whose birthday several people were celebrating at Camp Crystal Lake and most of the people at the party, as well as Tina's mother and her doctor, Dr. Crews, until only Tina and Nick were the only ones left. Tina fought Jason off using her telekinesis, and eventually snapped his mask in two, revealing his hideous zombie-esque face. Eventually, Tina summoned the spirit of her father, who dragged Jason to the bottom of Crystal Lake and chained him there again.

Jason was reawakened by a boat on Crystal Lake when its anchor caught on a power line, shocking him and releasing him from his prison. He killed the boat's inhabitants Jim and Suzy, donning a new mask from then, and stowed aboard the S.S. Lazarus, a cruise ship on its way to New York occupied by several high school graduates. Jason killed all of them as they reached New York, including the teacher Charles McCulloch (who, like Garris, denied Jason's return until moments before his death), leaving only Rennie and her boyfriend Sean. He eventually chased them into the sewer, which flooded with toxic wastes and swept him away, despite the survivors having a hallucination where it transformed him into his child self.

The NYPD notifies the FBI of Jason Voorhees. The FBI, finally aware of his existence, set up a sting operation and successfully managed to shoot him down and blow him to pieces just before he could kill an FBI agent luring him to the shooting spot. However, not even this could kill him by now. His heart lived on, and at the morgue, it hypnotized a coroner into eating it. Jason's spirit possessed the coroner.

In the form of a worm-like creature, Jason's soul transferred to different people to possess them (gruesomely melting and killing his previous host once he leaves them because Jasons rage was too strong for their bodies), and killed several people in an attempt to be reborn through Diana Kimble, her daughter Jessica, or her baby daughter Stephanie, because, as the only remaining blood relatives of Jason, they are the only ones he can be reborn through. Likewise, only Diana or Jessica can truly destroy him by striking at his heart with a mystical dagger. Bounty Hunter Creighton Duke told all this to the film's male protagonist, Steven (Jessica's boyfriend) and Steven told Jessica everything Steven was told by Duke. Jason managed to kill Diana by accident on which he was trying to kill Steven and eventually he managed to discover her corpse at the Voorhees house and was reborn through it.

He then briefly grabbed Jessica in her top before He then killed Duke with a bear hug which crushed him and Jason then went after Jessica and Steven again whom pushed him out the window and then he fought Steven, before Jessica stabbed him in the heart, and he was dragged to Hell. As Steven and Jessica walk off together with their baby, Jason's masks is seen remained on the surface. But Freddy Krueger's hand grabs his discarded mask and pulls it into the ground.

Contrary to what Creighton Duke believed not even this could prevent him from being resurrected, this time not by lightning, but by someone from inside Hell itself. In Freddy vs. Jason, Freddy Krueger brought Jason back to life, disguised as Mrs. Voorhees, so he could kill for him at Elm Street so people would believe that he returned (since their fear gives Freddy his power, and if no one remembers him, he cannot come back). Once Jason spread enough fear around, Freddy was able to return, but Jason did not stop killing, stealing his potential victims from him. So Freddy possessed someone to inject Jason with tranquilizer so he could enter his dreams and kill him.

In the meantime, Lori Campbell and Will Rollins were taking Jason to Camp Crystal Lake so he could fight Freddy and have a home field advantage. Freddy nearly killed Jason before he woke up. When Lori pulled Freddy out of the dream world, Freddy and Jason engaged in a bloody battle, while Freddy landed numerous hits on Jason, they did little more than irritate him and failed to slow him down until the battle moved to the docks where Jason brutally slashed Freddy in submission.

Jason was about to finish Freddy off when Freddy uses his glove to slice Jason's fingers off forcing him to drop his machete. Taking Jason's weapon, Freddy sliced him with both the Machete and his glove and eventually drives the blades of his glove in Jason's eyes, still not able to kill him. The two continue to fight and as the fight progresses Jason pulls Freddy's arm out of its socket and Freddy drives the Machete into Jason's chest. Jason then punches a hole into Freddy's stomach, and the two only stop fighting when Lori sets fire to a large number of propane tanks with gasoline, the resulting explosion sending both of them into the lake.

Freddy emerges a short time later with Jason's machete, to kill Lori and Will, but the two are unintentionally saved by Jason who stabs Freddy with his own severed arm, after which Jason sank below Crystal Lake after Lori decapitated Freddy and threw Jason's machete into the lake and left with Will. However, Jason survived, and walked out of Crystal Lake carrying Freddy's head, which winks at the audience, indicating that he too may still be alive.

Five years after his battle with Freddy. Jason was then captured by the U.S. government in 2008. After many unsuccessful execution attempts, they decided in 2010 that since Jason could not be killed, he must be frozen until they could find a way to destroy him. However, one of the doctors wanted to research his ability to regenerate lost tissue for a profit, but was killed when Jason escaped. One of the government researchers, Rowan, managed to cryogenically freeze Jason, but was frozen in the process when Jason stabbed her through the wall of the chamber. Jason remained frozen until 2455, when some students on a field trip discovered him and Rowan and took them aboard their ship, the Grendel, and headed back to Earth 2 (the original Earth was dead, having experienced either an apocalypse or suffering nuclear fallout). He was thought to be dead, but he woke up and killed most of the ship's crew, including most of the students, Professor Braithwaite Lowe, and Sergeant Brodski's grunt team (though Brodski survived Jason's attempt to kill him). Eventually he fought an android, Kay Em, who blew off his right arm, left leg, a portion of his chest, and his head. However, a nanotechnology medical station brought him back to life and transformed him into an equally unkillable cyborg, Uber Jason, using scraps of metal and cloth around the room. It is unknown whether the machine was malfunctioning or if Jason's soul was manipulating it. Eventually, Jason blew up the ship, and the explosion sent him flying toward the shuttle where Rowan, Tsunaron (the last surviving student), and Kay Em (who, at this point, is only a head because Jason punched off her head during their initial confrontation upon Jason's "upgrade") were escaping. Before he could reach them, however, he was intercepted by Brodski, who somehow escaped the explosion, and knocked down toward Earth 2, where both were burned in its atmosphere by the reentry, seeming destroying the undead killer once and for all. After crashing in a lake, The two teens go in to investigate. As they go, Jason's charred mask is seen sinking to the bottom of the lake, hinting he survived.

MICHAEL MYERS

Michael Audrey Myers (born October 19, 1957), also known as The Shape or The Bogeyman, is a serial killer typically portrayed as an entity of pure evil and the main antagonist of the Halloween franchise. He is the archenemy of Laurie Strode and Sam Loomis.

Michael Audrey Myers was born on October 19, 1957. When he was 6 years old, Michael Myers killed his older sister Judith after having sex with her boyfriend. His parents caught him and was sent to Smith's Grove Sanitarium. His psychiatrist, Dr. Sam Loomis, spent eight years trying to reach him but discovered that he was pure evil and had no discernible motive in killing his sister. Thus, he spent seven more trying to keep him locked away. Just as he was about to be permanently locked up, on Halloween Eve, Michael stole a Smith's Grove car and drove back to Haddonfield. He also killed an industrial worker to wear his grey coat and robbed a store to wear the iconic white mask and buy weapons. The town sheriff investigated the robbery but thought it was just kids making a mess.

Michael soon stalked a young girl named Laurie Strode, and tried to kill her. In the process, he killed her friends Annie, the daughter of the sheriff, Lynda, and Bob. Knowing that Laurie would find them, he removed Judith's gravestone and placed it behind Annie's corpse and also positioned the corpses of the other teenagers in ways that would frighten Laurie. Laurie however recovers from Michael's attacks and stabs him with a coat hanger. Just as she thought Michael was dead, he wakes up but Dr. Loomis arrives and shoots him 6 times, causing him to fall out the window. Dr. Loomis looks down from the balcony but finds out that Michael has mysteriously vanished.

Taking place immediately after the previous film, Michael continued trying to kill Laurie that night and killed many more victims, most of them at Haddonfield Memorial Hospital, but was eventually shot in the eyes by Laurie, and set on fire by Dr. Loomis, who activated several flammable gas tanks and turned on a lighter, causing an explosion that set Michael on fire and supposedly burned him to death. From here, the old timeline splits into two alternate timelines.

Michael was left in a coma. He was sent to Ridgemont Federal Sanitarium until he was arranged to be transferred back to Smith's Grove. However, upon hearing that his sister Laurie Strode had died and her daughter Jamie Lloyd lived in Haddonfield, Michael awoke from his coma, killed the Smith's Grove paramedics and drivers, crashing the ambulance and mutilating their bodies. After the vehicle crashed off a bridge, Michael escaped and stopped at Penney's gas station and murdered the employees. Loomis arrives shortly thereafter in pursuit with a staff car loaned to him by Ridgemont, and upon discovering the victims, sees Michael wearing the mechanic's jumpsuit. Loomis tries pleading with Michael to spare Haddonfield's population with looking for Jamie and take him instead, but when Michael remains silent, Loomis fires at him, but Michael has vanished. Michael responded by driving off in a stolen tow truck, burning the station to the ground in the process and leaving Loomis stranded. Jamie saw him as Loomis finally arrived in town.

He contacted Sheriff Ben Meeker, with the pair of them heading out searching for Jamie, who was trick-or-treating with Rachel. In the meantime, Michael attacked the Haddonfield Police station, murdering Meeker's deputies still there, and threw an electrical technician named Bucky into some high voltage power transformers at a power substation, plunging Haddonfield into darkness. When Loomis reveals Michael has returned home to kill, the truckers of Haddonfield form into a lynch mob to deal with Michael themselves. Meeker and Loomis find Jamie and Rachel and take them to take refuge in the former's house. Unfortunately, Michael had followed them there hiding in the back of the surviving deputy's patrol car, and murders Deputy Logan, Meeker's daughter Kelly, and her boyfriend Brady as he pursues Jamie and Rachel. Rachel is knocked unconscious as they try to climb down from the roof of the Meeker house to escape Michael, and Jamie is then taken to her school by Loomis, only to be attacked by Michael there. He nearly has Jamie at one point, grabbing her by the leg, but a recovered Rachel arrives and blasts Michael with a fire extinguisher, forcing him to let go of Jamie. They are soon met by Earl and his team of truckers, who heard the school alarm go off, and on Rachel's suggestion, they flee Haddonfield, meeting up with the Illinois State Police on their way to Haddonfield to reinforce Sheriff Meeker, who direct them to a substation where they believe they will be safe. However, Michael had gotten aboard the truck, and kills Earl's fellow truckers in Unger, Orrin and Allen Gateway, before brutally ripping Earl's throat open, forcing Rachel to take control of the truck and try to throw him off of it. She eventually throws him off the roof and hitting him straight on while cursing him to die before ramming him. Jamie went over to check her uncle's body, and as he rose once again, Meeker and a team of both the lynch mob and Illinois State Troopers showed up and shot him relentlessly until he fell down a nearby mineshaft.

After being shot at and falling into the mine shaft, Michael escapes being blown up by Sheriff Meeker, the lynch mob, and state troopers when they toss dynamite down the shaft to finish him off by escaping into a nearby creek and slipping back into his coma upon being found by a local hermit. A year later, Michael awoke from his coma, and killed the hermit who had tended to him. Michael returned to Haddonfield, and began stalking Rachel and stabbing her with a pair of scissors, taking revenge on her for the attempt on his life when she ran him down a year ago. When Rachel's friends Tina Williams and Samantha showed up looking for her, Michael followed them to a party. At the party, Michael murdered Samantha and her boyfriend in the barn just as Tina found the bodies of her friends and the police officers sent to protect her after Jamie sensed she was Michael's next target due to the psychic bond she had gained with Michael. Unfortunately, when Jamie and her friend Billy from the Haddonfield Children's Clinic showed up to help Tina, Michael went after Jamie, and Tina heroically sacrificed herself with letting Michael fatally stab her while Jamie was rescued by Loomis, Meeker, and the joint task force of Haddonfield Police and Illinois State Troopers. After seeing Tina's corpse get taken away by the coroner, Jamie agrees to Loomis' plan to capture Michael once and for all.

Sheriff Meeker arranged to using Jamie as bait to lure Michael back to the old Myers house to capture him with a large force of policemen, including a SWAT team. Michael murdered the staff at the Children's Clinic to distract the police, luring Meeker, his deputies, and most of the state troopers back there, leaving only two troopers to protect Loomis and Jamie. Michael then killed the state troopers who had remained with Loomis and Jamie and began chasing Jamie through the attic. He pursued Jamie downstairs, where Loomis shot him with tranquilizers before finally beating him unconscious with a plank of wood before collapsing from a stroke, moments before Meeker and the rest of the police return after realizing they had been lured away so Michael could get to Jamie. Michael was taken into custody at the Haddonfield Police Station, and Meeker made preparation for him to be transferred to a maximum security facility by the National Guard where he would remain until he hopefully died. However, before that could happen, a mysterious Man in Black who had arrived in Haddonfield attacks the station, killing Meeker and his men, and destroying the cell Michael was in, freeing him, to Jamie's horror when she discovers the carnage and her uncle missing from his destroyed cell.

The residents of Haddonfield believed that Jamie and Michael died in the explosion at the police station in 1989. In fact, the mysterious man in black had taken them and had hid them away in an unknown building, and now had impregnated Jamie. Jamie hid her baby at a bus station and fled back to Haddonfield. When Michael forced her off the road, Jamie took refuge in a barn, where Michael found and impaled her on a corn thresher. As the bleeding Jamie told him he could not have her baby, Michael switched on the machinery and watched as his niece was gutted. He then returned to Jamie's vehicle in search of the infant, to find that he was not there.

Meanwhile, relatives of the couple who adopted Laurie Strode have moved into the old Myers house. Tommy Doyle tracked the call to the bus station and discovered her baby, who he named Stephen. Michael returned to his house and murdered the Strodes in search of Jamie's baby, leaving only Danny and his mother Kara alive.

Tommy and Loomis tracked the cult down to the Smith's Grove Sanitarium. As Loomis confronted Wynn, the latter congratulated him on being the first to recognize the unique power of Michael's evil. Michael then continued his search for Jamie's baby, only to be pumped full of drugs and beaten unconscious with a pipe by Tommy. As Tommy, Kara, and the children prepared to leave Smith's Grove for safety, Dr. Loomis decided to stay to attend to some "business". When Loomis returned, Michael was nowhere to be found, his mask is on the floor, and Loomis is heard screaming. An alternate ending has Wynn, dressed as Michael, being discovered by Loomis, before Wynn passes the Mark of Thorn to Loomis, effectively making him Michael's eternal guardian, causing Loomis to scream as he comes to the horrible realization.

The H20 timeline canonizes the events of only the first two films. Michael was not heard from since Laurie Strode had faked her death in an automobile accident, renamed herself "Keri Tate", and became the headmistress at Hillcrest Academy High School and had a son named John. After terrorizing the town, Michael pursued John and his girlfriend to Laurie's house, where the two finally meet each other for the first time in 20 years. Michael killed Laurie's boyfriend and Laurie, John and his girlfriend eventually escape, but afterward, Laurie orders them to escape (and they do so) while Laurie stays behind to fight Michael.

She picks up an axe and arrives back at the school. She finds Michael and enters a final battle with him. After a long pursuit, Laurie eventually stabbed Michael several times and threw him off a balcony. As Laurie prepared to finish off an unconscious Michael, a security guard stopped her, claiming that "he's already dead".

The police come and clean the mess and put Michael in a body bag and put it in an ambulance. Laurie receives the axe, steals the ambulance with Michael's body in the back and drives off with it. Michael is still alive and he escapes the body bag, and again tries to kill her but Laurie slams on the brakes, throwing him through the windshield. He gets up but Laurie runs the ambulance at her brother and the vehicle tumbles down a cliff but she escapes, while Michael gets trapped between it and a tree.

Laurie manages to recover and pick up her axe again and stands in front of Michael. They reach out to each other, but Laurie remembers all of the loved ones that Michael has taken. She pulls her hand back and delivers the final blow and decapitates Michael, finally killing him. Michael's head rolls down and stops. As police sirens are heard in the background, Laurie sighs in relief, now that fear and evil has finally been lifted now that Michael Myers is gone.

Three years later, Michael's death in Halloween H20: Twenty Years Later was revealed to actually be the death of a paramedic. It is revealed that he was not decapitated, but he switched clothing and mask with a paramedic who was killed instead. After unintentionally killing an innocent man, Laurie had been arrested and sent to the Grace Andersen Sanitarium as punishment under belief she killed the paramedic in a state of insanity when she thought it was Michael. She was believed to be in a catatonic state by the nurses but was secretly preparing for her brother's inevitable return. Michael finally appeared on Halloween in 2001, killing two security guards to get to his sister.

Laurie lured him onto the institution, where Michael dangled over the edge of the roof and feigned confusion. Unable to risk-taking another innocent life, Laurie hesitated and attempted to remove Michael's mask to be sure. Michael took advantage of this indecision, grabbing his sister and stabbing her in the back. Laurie defied her brother one last time, kissing his mask and telling him that he would see him in hell before falling off the roof to her death. Later after killing his sister, Michael has begun to kill other people who won the contest to be in the internet reality show Dangertainment. Michael has tried to kill Freddie Harris, Myles "Deckard" Barton, and Sara Moyer but Freddie electrocutes Michael, tangling him up in electrical wiring before carrying Sara out of the burning garage. The Myers house burns to the ground, as Sara thanks Deckard for saving her life.

Michael's body and the bodies of his victims are then taken to the morgue. As the medical examiner begins to examine Michael's body, he awakens.

In this timeline, Michael's background is subtly but significantly changed. He is not Laurie Strode's brother and is not suggested to have any living relatives. Additionally, he was arrested very shortly after the events of 1978's Halloween - the injuries he sustained at the end of that film were presumably too severe for him to continue killing.

Michael was apprehended by Sheriff's Deputy Frank Hawkins, who prevented Dr. Loomis from killing him and had him taken into custody. Michael was then returned to Smith's Grove Sanitarium, where he spent the next 40 years. While he mostly healed from his wounds, he is shown to have permanent damage to his left eye, where Laurie stabbed him with a coat hanger.

40 years after the events of the first film, podcasters Aaron Korey and Dana Haines are doing a documentary based on the 1978 Haddonfield murders. They meet Michael who had since refused to speak for years, After showing Michael his old mask, they leave the Smith's Grove Sanitarium to pay a visit to Laurie Strode, who has a daughter named Karen and a granddaughter named Allyson. Failing to convince her to do an interview with Myers before he was sentenced to maximum security, the bus transferring Michael crashes, and Michael escapes, killing a father and son by snapping their necks. Michael later kills Aaron and Dana at a gas station (and steals an engineer's clothes in order to wear them for himself) and retrieves his mask. Returning to Haddonfield, Michael starts a killing spree, randomly massacring innocent victims, including some of Allyson's friends. Allyson is found by Officer Hawkins and Dr. Sartain, Michael's new doctor. Dr. Sartain murders Hawkins, revealing that he wished for Myers to live so that he could investigate more of his true nature. Michael regains consciousness after being run over by Hawkins and karmically stomps Sartain's head to a bloody pulp.

Myers then heads for Laurie's house, intending to end her as vengeance for the injuries she gave him years ago as well as for bruising his pride. Laurie engages Michael in a fight, ending with Michael getting the upper hand and throwing her out of the window. He then tries to kill Allyson and Karen. The two women make it to the saferoom, and Karen succeeds at grazing Michael. Laurie returns and propels Michael down into the saferoom. After retrieving her daughter and granddaughter, Laurie traps Michael in the saferoom with metal bars and fills the room with gas. She then drops a flare into the saferoom, setting it ablaze. Myers is last seen looking at the survivors with a dissonant expression as the house burns to the ground in a deadly fire. After the credits heavy breathing can be heard implying Michael escaped the inferno.

FREDDY KRUEGER

Frederick Charles Krueger, or publicly better known as Freddy Krueger, is a serial killer and the titular main antagonist of the A Nightmare on Elm Street franchise, and the titular main antagonist of the crossover film Freddy vs Jason . He was a child killer in life, and in death, a malevolent dream demon who killed his victims in their dreams. He eventfully became well-known for the sick pleasure he displays while targeting children.

He was portrayed by Robert Englund.

His biological mother, Amanda Krueger (now known as Sister Mary Helena), was a nun at the old Hathaway House asylum (once renamed "Fairview Hospital") who gave birth to Freddy after she was raped hundreds of times when she was accidentally locked in a cell of a hundred psychotic men in the 1940s a few nights before Christmas. Throughout his childhood, he was sent from orphanage to orphanage, where he constantly endured humiliation by the other children, who thought of him as a freak, even continuously referred to him as the "Son of 100 Maniacs".

He was eventually adopted by an abusive alcoholic, Mr. Underwood, who constantly neglected and physically abused him, until Freddy finally retaliated for all those tormenting years by killing him with a razor blade when he was a teenager.

Freddy then moved to Springwood, Ohio, where he secretly became a child murderer, killing dozens of children on Elm Street. His actions eventually earned him the alias " Springwood Slasher ", where he killed several kids inside a boiler room within an old power plant where he used to work. His signature weapon was a clawed glove. When his wife, Loretta, discovered his secret, he strangled her to death in front of his daughter, Kathryn, who also found out about the murders, but promised she would never tell. However she did in fact tell someone and Freddy was arrested and put on trial. When Amanda found out on the news, she committed suicide. Unfortunately, Freddy was released due to the search warrent being signed in the wrong place, a technicality that prevented the court from convicting him. Enraged by this miscarriage of justice, the furious parents of Springwood formed a lynch mob and tracked Freddy to his boiler room hideout where he was preparing to skip town (though not before celebrating his release by brutally murdering a little girl), and lit the building on fire with torches and molotov cocktails, burning him to death.

However, three Dream Demons approached him before his death, where they made a deal, so that he could come back as a malevolent spirit and continue his killing spree from beyond the grave on the children where their parents cannot protect them; in their dreams. Freddy was made immortal because of this and began a new killing spree, making the murders look like accidents or suicide. After he killed his victims, he would absorb their souls into his chest for power.

From here, Freddy invaded people's dreams, where he would kill them using his clawed glove, or else manipulating the dream world in a way to reflect the victim's fears or personality. Whatever he did to them in the dream world would affect them in the real world.

Freddy's first victim in the film is Tina Gray, whom he killed by slashing her across the chest with his clawed glove. He then stalks Nancy Thompson in her dreams and kills Rod Lane, Tina's boyfriend who was accused for killing her, by hanging him with his blanket. Nancy pulls his hat out of the dream and devises a plan with her boyfriend Glen to catch him, but Glen falls asleep, and Freddy pulls him into his bed and shoots him upward in a fountain of blood, killing him. Nancy eventually pulls Freddy out of the dream world and sets him on fire. However, he kills her mother Marge by smothering her with his flaming body, vanishing her into the bed. Nancy's father, Donald, witnesses this. Afterwards, Nancy destroys Freddy by turning her back on him and taking away his power, however he is still able to temporarily trap her in a dream world where she is trapped in a red and green car with Glen, Tina, and Rod to end the film.

However, Freddy was unable to return so easily, until he invaded the dreams of Jesse Walsh, who moved into Nancy's house sometime after she left. He possessed Jesse on several occasions, at one point killing his coach, Schneider (whom Jesse disliked) by slashing his back in the shower.

Soon, Jesse went to a sleepover at his friend's house, Ron Grady. But when they fall asleep, Jesse awakens and starts screaming and crying in pain as Krueger gruesomely comes out of him. Ron tries to escape but the door is jammed, leaving Ron to get strangled and then stabbed in the torso as Krueger laughes and waves at him. Freddy then takes full possession of Jesse at his girlfriend, Lisa Webber's, house during a party, killing several of the guests. In the end, Lisa is able to get through to Jesse, who fights Freddy from within and burns him to death using his power, releasing Jesse unharmed. However, the ending of the movie implies that Freddy returns; he is seen stabbing Kerry from behind (or from the inside) while she is on the bus with Jesse and Lisa. Whether this is a dream (and by who), or if he was possessing her, and whether or not Jesse or Lisa survived, is unclear.

Freddy soon returns to his old ways of killing people in their dreams. Soon, all surviving teenagers of Springwood - Kristen, Kincaid, Phillip, Taryn, Joey, Will, and Jennifer - were committed to Westin

Hills Asylum, as they were trying to avoid falling asleep. Nancy Thompson begins working there, and Dr. Neil Gordon, another worker, was seeing the spirit of Freddy's mother, Amanda Krueger under her alias "Sister Mary Helena". Freddy soon begins killing everyone one by one. First he uses Phillip's veins to control him like a puppet to make him fall out the window to his death, making it appear as a suicide inside a nightmare Phillip was having. Then he smashes Jennifer's head against the TV yelling one of his most famous lines: " This is it, Jennifer, your big break in TV! ". When Kristen, Neil, and the others enter the dream world to use their powers and fight Freddy, Joey is attacked and trapped by Freddy, putting him into a coma.

The Dream Warriors (Kristen Parker, Taryn White, Will Stanton, and Roland Kincaid) fight Freddy alongside Nancy while Neil and Donald went to the Penny Bros. Auto Salvage junkyard to bury Freddy's bones on "hallowed" ground using holy water, a cross, and prayers to lay his unquiet spirit to rest. Freddy kills Taryn by injecting her with heroin in a knife fight, and then murder Will by stabbing him, as he was unaffected by Will's magic. Kristen, Nancy, and Kincaid manage to rescue Joey, but Freddy is much stronger than before, as it is revealed, he takes the souls of his victims to give him power. When Neil and Donald find the bones, Freddy takes control of them and kills Donald by throwing him onto the tail fin of a car. He then enters the dream world, disguised as Donald, and stabs Nancy to death. However, he is destroyed when Neil buries the bones and throws holy water and a cross on them.

Later that night, after Nancy Thompson's funeral, Dr. Gordon sleeps peacefully in his bed with Nancy's Malaysian dream doll on a dresser next to a dollhouse made by Kristen which frighteningly resembles Freddy's house. One of the dollhouse's windows lights up mysteriously, indicating Freddy's return and the uncertain fate of Dr. Gordon.

Freddy was able to resurrect himself in Roland Kincaid's dream, reemerging from the ground in the junkyard and returning to power. He kills Kincaid by stabbing him, and then pulls Joey Crusel into his waterbed and drowns him. Kristen Parker tries to stay awake, but her mother gave her sleeping pills, so she fell asleep. Freddy throws her into the furnace, but before her death, her power to pull people into the dream world was transferred to Alice Johnson.

From here, Alice begins unintentionally pulling people into the dream world, where Freddy kills them. First, he kills Sheila by sucking the life out of her with a kiss, making it appear as an asthma attack. Then he kills Rick in martial arts combat by stabbing him with his clawed glove (which was being controlled by an invisible Freddy). Whenever Freddy killed someone, although he took their souls, Alice got their power and characteristics. As Alice and her boyfriend Dan attempt to get to Debbie, Freddy gets to her first, turning her into a cockroach and crushing her inside a roach motel-given her worse fear was bugs.

Alice and Dan chase Freddy down (while he delightfully gives them the middle finger gesture), which causes them to crash their car in the real world, nearly killing Dan. He is forced to leave the dream world when the doctors wake him up after he got cut, leaving Alice to fight Freddy alone. As the Dream Master and part of an old rhyme, Alice holds a shard of stained glass window in front of him " Evil will see itself and it shall die ". Freddy is destroyed, torn apart by the souls of his victims, which are then released.

However, Freddy was reborn through the pregnant Sister Amanda Krueger's spirit in Alice's dream. Using Alice's unborn son Jacob to pull victims into the dream world, he kills Dan by fusing him with a motorcycle so he crashes his truck, and then kills Greta by stuffing food in her mouth to make her suffocate, and then kills Mark by sucking him into his comic book, turning him to paper, and hacking him up. Alice fights Freddy again in the dream world, where Jacob informs her that Freddy is hiding inside her. She drives him out, but is unable to defeat him, until Yvonne releases Sister Amanda's spirit from the tower of the abandoned Hathaway House (once renamed as "Fairview Hospital" after Sister Amanda's torturous rape), and she gives Jacob his power, which he uses to revert Freddy back into an infant, which is absorbed by Amanda. Freddy is last seen clawing his way out as Sister Amanda walks through doors into a light.

Soon, all the kids from Springwood were killed by Freddy, who then put the adults into mass psychosis. He is unable to go outside Springwood, using John Doe to get to his daughter Kathryn, renamed Maggie Burroughs. When Maggie takes John (who hit his head on a rock and got amnesia) back to Springwood, three teens named Spencer, Carlos, and Tracy stow aboard and go with them. When they are unable to leave Springwood, they stop at Nancy's old house. Freddy kills Carlos by magnifying his hearing and making his head explode when he repeatedly scratches a chalkboard. He then sucks Spencer into a video game and knocks him down a hole. After learning that Freddy had a kid who was taken from him, John is convinced that Freddy is his father, but Freddy reveals the truth to John as he sends him falling onto spikes. He then enters Maggie's mind, and is able to leave Springwood and enter people's dreams outside Springwood. He attacks Tracy (by appearing to her as her sexually abusive father) and Doc, both of whom survive. When Doc takes out a piece of Freddy's sweater, they decide that he can be killed if he is pulled out of the dream world. Maggie enters Freddy's mind and pulls him out. She fight him, and Freddy's hand is broken and he is pinned to the wall with knives and throwing stars. Maggie stabs him with his clawed glove and sticks a pipe bomb in his chest-killing Freddy once it explodes.

In the 9th film of the Friday the 13th series, the killer Jason Voorhees is destroyed and sent to Hell. Freddy's hand is briefly seen grabbing Jason's hockey mask and dragging it off.

Freddy vs. Jason " Until they figured out a way to forget about me, to erase me completely. Being dead wasn't a problem, but being forgotten, now that's a bitch! I can't come back if no one remembers me, I can't come back if nobody's afraid! I had to search the bowels of Hell, but I found someone, someone who'll make 'em remember. He may get the blood, but I'll get the glory, and that fear is my ticket home. „ ~ Freddy Krueger " Welcome to my nightmare. „ ~ Freddy Krueger as he battles Jason Voorhees in the dream world.

Although Freddy was killed in The Final Nightmare he could still come back to life if he was remembered and feared by the people of Springwood. At some point between the two films, when Springwood was populated with more people, he came back and killed Lori Campbell's mother and drove Mark Davis' brother, Bobby, to suicide by haunting him in his dreams. However, knowing he could return from Hell if anyone remembered him, the town of Springwood went through a process to forget about him, keeping him from coming back. So Freddy searched through Hell until he found Jason Voorhees. After pulling his hockey mask into Hell and giving it to him (as seen at the end of Jason Goes to Hell ), Freddy disguises himself as Jason's mother Pamela Voorhees and brings him back to life-convincing him to kill the people of Springwood, so Jason' killings will be mistaken for those of his, which will make him remembered. 3 murders by Jason lead people to believe that Freddy has returned, and if that was never enough, Mark Davis tells everyone at Lori Campbell's school all about Freddy. With enough fear spread around, Freddy was able to come back from Hell, and stalked Gibb in her dreams, but before he can kill her, she is killed by Jason, and Freddy realizes that Jason will not stop killing. Freddy's only victim in Freddy vs. Jason is Mark, whom he sets on fire and slashed in the face.

Freddy possesses Bill Freeburg when he gets high, and injects Jason with tranquilizers to put him to sleep (Freeburg is killed by Jason in the process). Freddy tried to kill Jason in the dream world, but as Jason was almost impossible to kill, this proved to be quite difficult, until Freddy nearly succeeds in drowning him, but he wakes up at the last second. Lori, Will, Kia, and Linderman take Jason to Camp Crystal Lake to fight Freddy, and after discovering that Freddy killed her mother, Lori pulls him into the real world where he fights Jason in a bloody and epic final battle. Jason is able to get some shots in before Freddy gains the advantage; cutting off Jason's fingers, Freddy takes Jason's machete and slashes him with both machete and clawed glove. When Lori sets the docks and some propane tanks on fire to get her revenge, Jason stabs Freddy with his fingerless hand and then tears off his arm. When the tanks exploded, both slashers are set on fire and sent flying into Camp Crystal Lake.

Freddy survives, however, and then turns his attention to Lori and Will. As he attempts to kill them on the pier, he was stabbed from behind by Jason with his own severed arm, causing Freddy to let go of Jason's machete. Jason then falls and sinks in the lake. Lori then grabs Jason's machete and decapitates Freddy. Freddy's body and severed head then too fall in the lake with Jason and his machete.

The next morning after the two left the 2 demonic murderers for dead, Jason rises up from the lake, indicating that he survived and regenerated. Freddy's head is seen being carried out of the lake by Jason, winking to the audience, followed by his laughter-leaving it up to debate as to whether or not he was truly killed, and what will become of Springwood's fate.

LEATHERFACE

Jedidiah Sawyer, better known as Leatherface, is the main antagonist and mascot of The Texas Chain Saw Massacre series.

He serves as the main antagonist of the first film, the central antagonist of the second and third films, the central antagonist of Texas Chainsaw Massacre: The Next Generation, and the deutertagonist of Texas Chainsaw 3D . He is one of the biggest horror icons, but unlike most of them, is not supernatural in any way. His main weapons are a chainsaw and sledgehammer. He wears a mask made from a person's skin, which he uses to express a personality, and engages in murder and cannibalism alongside his family. It is also notable that director Tobe Hooper has stated that Leatherface kills out of fear, not he is the most recurring villain he still takes orders from his older family members.

He was portrayed by the late Gunnar Hansen, Bill Johnson, R. A. Mihailoff, Kane Hodder, Robert Jacks, Dan Yeager, Sam Strike, and Boris Kabakchiev.

The original film never showed Leatherface without one of his human-hide faces on. Leatherface used to work as the cow killer at the meat factory. Gunnar Hansen, who portrayed Leatherface in the original 1974 film, sees Leatherface as "completely under the control of his family. He'll do whatever they tell him to do. He's a little bit afraid of them.". In the documentary The Shocking Truth, Tobe Hooper portrays Leatherface as a "big baby" who kills in self-defense because he feels threatened. In the first film, Leatherface shows fear when new people enter his home.

Leatherface's family uses the bones of the people he kills (along with some animal bones) to build the inside of their house. They process the victims' flesh into barbecue and chili, which his brother

Drayton, a skilled chef, sells at the "Last Chance" gas station. They also enter human-flesh dishes at cook-offs (according to the sequel, Drayton has won two cooking awards doing this). Aside from Leatherface and Drayton, the Sawyer clan includes several more brothers, a hitchhiker named Nubbins, his twin brother, a Vietnam vet known as Chop Top or Plate Head, a hitchhiking cowboy named Eddie/Tex, a hook-handed man named Tech/Tinker, a deranged pervert named Alfredo/Fred, a tow-truck driver named Vilmer and a redneck know-it-all named W.E. Apart from the brothers, the Sawyer clan includes the supercentenarian Grandpa, the dead Grandma/Great-Grandma Sawyer (whose corpse has been preserved), a wheelchair-bound mother called Mama and Leatherface's daughter (first names unknown).

The Texas Chainsaw Massacre 2, a direct sequel to the 1974 film, featured a more campy and over-the-top atmosphere than the original. Tobe Hooper stated on The Shocking Truth that he wanted to expand on the dark comedy in the original film, as he felt no one truly picked up on this element. In this film, the Hitchhiker is replaced by his hippy twin brother Chop Top (who transforms his dead twin's corpse into a puppet), the cook, Drayton, has become an award-winning chef. Leatherface develops a "crush" on one of his victims, and in one scene, removes the skin from the face of her still-living friend and places it on her to hide her from the rest of his family. At the end of the film, he apparently dies in an explosion after being impaled with a chainsaw in a fight with the uncle of his previous victims from the first film. Leatherface's clan's last name is also revealed in the film when brother Drayton wins a local cook-off, their family name being Sawyer.

Leatherface: The Texas Chainsaw Massacre III, became the second sequel in The Texas Chainsaw Massacre film series. The film was made as a reboot and a sequel, so the audience could interpret it as a direct sequel or as an alternative sequel in a different continuity of the previous two films, though several references are made to the previous two films, including Leatherface having a knee brace from his chainsaw accident at the climax of the first film, brother Alfredo owning a gas station and truck labeled "Last Chance Gas", the family's last name remaining Sawyer from the previous film and the inclusion of several characters from both earlier films.

The filmmakers attempted to make the series darker and grittier (much as the film-makers of the original had intended), but they had to tone it down and change the ending after interventions from the MPAA. New Line released an uncut version to the home-video market in 2003. In this film Leatherface has an extended family and a daughter - possibly the product of a rape. A four-issue comic series based on the film, entitled Leatherface, was created; notably, portions of the comics are narrated by and shown from Leatherface's point of view. Note that horror actor Kane Hodder choreographed the stunts and played the stunt-double Leatherface in the Texas Chainsaw Massacre 3.

Texas Chainsaw Massacre: The Next Generation apparently takes place in its own continuity; its prologue describes the second and third films as "two minor, yet apparently related incidents". The film features Leatherface as a yelping, pizza-eating transvestite involved in an Illuminati conspiracy to provide society a source of horror, and, again, with a different family.

Leatherface returned in the direct sequel to the original The Texas Chain Saw Massacre, Texas Chainsaw, which also serves as a reboot to the franchise. However, Leatherface is the deuteragonist (his cousin Heather Miller is the main protagonist), the main antagonist being Burt Hartman.

The film begins directly after the events of the 1974 film, in which a mob led by Burt Hartman burns the family's house to the ground, and Leatherface becomes the sole survivor of his family except for his baby cousin Edith, also known as Heather, whom a member of the angry mob rescues and smuggles away. Many years later, when Heather returns to the local area with her friends, Leatherface lives in the basement of a mansion belonging to their recently deceased grandmother, who has been caring for him for the past 20 odd years.

Due to her passing away, Heather - as the only identified living blood relative - inherits the mansion. Leatherface kills off Heather's friends one by one, not realizing that Heather is related to him and nearly kills Heather before she escapes. After traveling to the local police station, Heather discovers her ancestry and the fact that Leatherface is her cousin.

Upon discovering he is still alive, Burt Hartman, now town mayor, sets out to kill Leatherface once and for all, and since Heather is a member of the same family (the "Sawyers"), he develops a vendetta against her as well. Leatherface once again attempts to kill Heather before recognizing her birthmark, and realizing his kinship to her. Burt attacks Leatherface; Leatherface ultimately kills Hartman by pushing him down into a meat grinder. Later on, Heather finally reads a letter given to her by her now deceased grandmother, revealing that she simply wanted Heather to take care of Leatherface. His name is revealed to be Jedidiah Sawyer, known as "Jed" for short.

In a post-credits scene, Heather's adoptive parents arrive at the mansion, greedily discussing how they plan to split the assets Heather now owns. Leatherface then shocks them as he answers the door, chainsaw in hand.

Jedidiah Sawyer since his childhood was pushed by his family, to kill using a chainsaw, however he was unable to. After leading a teenage girl named Betty Hartman into a death trap in 1955, her father, sheriff Hal Hartman has Jed committed to a Mental Institution, he was there for almost 10 years. In 1965, he escaped with several other patients from the institution, kidnapping a nurse. During his years in the Institution he became a friend of Bud, they were best friends until he dies on the run. When Jed is trying to escape from Hal Hartman he shoots him to his face, destroying part of his mouth leaving him with the inability to talk. When Hartman puts Jed in the same hole where his daughter died, Verna and her family track him to the place, saving Jed. When Jed is finally home Verna tries to sew Jed's mouth, using a harness to keep his face together but this leaves him deformed. When Hal Hartman is tied on Jed's house he takes the chainsaw and finally kills Hartman. Lizzy, the nurse escapes from Jed's house, when Jed caught her she told him that his mother is crazy, immediately Jed cuts her head with the chainsaw. Later, Jed becomes Leatherface, using Lizzy's face as his first mask.

Leatherface's cannibalistic family consists of his older brothers Nubbins Sawyer, Chop Top Sawyer, and his father Drayton Sawyer. He also has an unnamed grandfather, who is extremely old and frail.

Leatherface's real name is Jedidiah "Jed" Sawyer .

When Sally, Franklin, Jerry, Pam, and Kirk reached their homestead, Kirk and Pam looked for the local swimming hole and stumbled upon the cannibals' house-hoping they could get some gasoline for their van-where Leatherface killed Kirk with a sledgehammer and hung Pam on a meat hook before throwing her into a freezer where she froze to death. When Jerry came looking for them, he was killed by Leatherface with a sledgehammer. He then killed Franklin in the woods with his chainsaw and chased Sally, where Drayton took her to his house to cook her and eat her. When Grandpa failed to kill Sally with the hammer, she ran, but Nubbins the hitchhiker and Leatherface chased after her. Nubbins were much faster then Leatherface and caught up to Sally. Before he could kill her, he was run over by an 18-wheeler and had been too focused on Sally to notice. With Nubbins dead, only Leatherface was left and managed to catch up to Sally. Sally went in the truck and with the driver and he attacked with his chainsaw. The two got out and ran and Leatherface chased after them. Seeing that they weren't losing him, the driver with a wrench, knocking him down and causing him to cut his leg on his chainsaw. Sally managed to take advantage of this distraction and escape on a passing pickup truck while the driver ran away in fear. He was last seen swinging his chainsaw around in frustration due to his victim escaping, his wounds and his Nubbins dead.

After fourteen years, Leatherface reemerged, killing two drunks named Buzz and Rick. Sally and Franklin's uncle Lefty Enright was searching for the cannibals to get his revenge. When he got Stretch to play the deaths on the radio, Leatherface and Chop Top went over to the station to kill her. However, Leatherface fell in love with her. He refused to kill her when Drayton and Chop Top found her, however he did not attempt to stop Grandpa from killing her because was forced to hold her in place. But Grandpa was too old and frail, so Drayton tried to kill her himself, but Lefty entered, armed with three chainsaws. After injuring Drayton, Lefty engaged Leatherface in a chainsaw duel, where Leatherface was impaled by Lefty with his chainsaw. He was still able to fight, but the fight was ended shortly after; Drayton, deranged and having lost a lot of blood, set off a grenade. Leatherface was last seen getting hit by Grandpa with a hammer (he was really aiming for Lefty), knocking him down, before all four of them were killed in the grenade explosion, which narrowly missed Chop Top as he climbed a ladder after Stretch and eventually falls to his death.

This is the only timeline where Leatherface ever dies; he survives in all others.

This was the end of the original franchise, followed by remakes and prequels later on in the years.

IT/PENNYWISE

It (sometimes capitalized as IT ), also more commonly known as Pennywise, the Dancing Clown, is the titular main antagonist of Stephen King's 1986 coming-of-age horror novel It, as well as its 1990 TV miniseries adaptation and the remastered 2017-2019 film duology of the same name. He is the archenemy of Bill Denbrough and the Losers Club.

It is a horrific and malevolent cosmic entity that is billions of years old, spawned in the void of the Macroverse, which is also otherwise known as the Todash Darkness. An unknown number of centuries or even millenia ago, it came to planet Earth to feed. It lives in the sewers of Derry, awakening every 27 years to prey on the town's children, feeding on their fears and using the writhing bright orange lights that comprised his own life essence known as "Deadlights", a dangerous and eldritch form of energy (which is used as a dark magical weapon by another monstrous Stephen King villain known as the Crimson King), to make them "float" before killing and devouring them.

This twisted extra-dimensional entity had a form a human could only comprehend as a giant spider, but It would almost always disguise itself as a clown named "Pennywise the Dancing Clown" to attract children so that it could capture and kill them as they were an easier target. It could also morph into any form it wished, generally based on its victim's fears.

Due to its shapeshifting abilities, the true identity of the creature is never established. It seems to have no real name, gender or identifiable species, thus the creature is only referred to as "It" by it's enemies, although it is part of an obscure race of shapeshifting monsters called by its Gaelic name "Glamours".

It encounters a group of local Derry children collectively nicknamed the Losers Club in 1956. It attempts to devour them, but they not only survive, but manage to hurt, battle and partially defeat It. The Losers Club grow into adults 27 years later, and return to Derry after forgetting everything to battle It once again and kill It.

No mortal knows, or can know, the true form of It. The final physical form It takes is that of an enormous spider, but this is the closest the human mind can understand. What the children actually see is not It's actual form, but its form in the physical realm. The true form of It's exists in an inter-dimensional realm referred to as "Deadlights", existing outside the physical world. Any living being that sees the "deadlights" goes insane almost instantly, or dies. Bill comes dangerously close to seeing the deadlights and the shape behind the shape for a brief moment. He described it as an endless, crawling hairy creature made of orange light.

Throughout the book, It is generally referred to as male, even by itself, calling himself "Mr. Bob Gray" and taking a male form as Pennywise the Clown. However, when confronting It's spider form, the characters find out that It is most likely female, due to its final form in the physical realm being that of a giant female spider which was also pregnant. However, this is not It's true form. Just the true form of the creature in the physical realm which is the closest representation of Its true form, as It's true form is genderless.

The TV miniseries film lacked many elements of It that the novel included. In the novel, It was an eternal entity that was almost as old as time itself. It was the natural enemy of Maturin (The Turtle), who both existed in the Macroverse.

Its awakening was always marked by a great act of violence, and another great act of violence ends Its spree and send It back into hibernation. It committed other crimes not mentioned in the film, such as murdering over 300 settlers some time from 1740 to 1773, as well as a group of lumberjacks between 1876 and 1879.

It also took on many more forms than in the film, such as Dracula, a homeless leper, a giant bird, Frankenstein's Monster, leeches, piranhas, the witch from the classic fairytale Hansel and Gretel, Tony Tracker, the statue of Paul Bunyan, the Gill-man, Jimmy Donlin's mother, a giant eye, Dorsey Corcoran's re-animated corpse and the shark from Jaws .

It is also responsible for deaths of Alvin Marsh, and Beverly's husband, Tom Rogan, once the later goes looking for her when she goes to Derry. Also, in the novel, he appears to the psychotic school bully Henry Bowers as Vic Criss instead of Belch while manipulating the former gang leader.

When It appears to one of the guards at the asylum Henry Bowers is kept at, it takes on the form of an eight-foot-tall Doberman Pinscher, as opposed to a cross between the clown and the shorter different looking Doberman pinscher in the film.

In the novel, Pennywise appeared to Ben as the mummy, and to Stan as the rotting corpses, while in the film it was the other way around. Also, in the novel, It was only able to be stopped when Bill performed the Ritual of Chüd. The book also implies that It may be female, given it laid eggs when in its spider form.

Another detail left out of the film is that It's spider form is not that of its official true form; it is merely the closest representation of its true form that the human mind can comprehend.

Despite being apparently killed by the Losers, there are several hints throughout King's other works that may show that It is still very much alive.

It is mentioned in Dreamcatcher, Insomnia, 11/22/63, and appears as a possible hallucination in The Tommyknockers . The 25th Anniversary Cover for the book shows "PENNYWISE LIVES" written in what appears to be blood.

It was part of the disasters that occurred every 30 years in the main town of Derry.

IT was never against killing children. In fact, it actually preferred to kill children as they were an easier target. That was probably why it chose the form of a clown, a figure that both entertained and terrified many young children. It had razor sharp teeth that it could use to kill people.

As the film progressed, a group of children known as the Lucky Seven (also mockingly referred to as the "Losers' Club" by Henry Bowers) banded together to kill Pennywise and end its murderous reign (after it had killed the brother of one of them) and apparently succeed after they tracked it down to its lair. However, Pennywise, being a lesser-aspect of a higher being, was not going to stay dead forever and it swore revenge on the gang for its defeat before it vanished into nothingness.

30 years later, Pennywise kept its promise and came after members of the gang, who were all adults in the present day, to kill them. That prompted the gang to reform and battle Pennywise again in order to kill it yet again and save themselves from its wrath. IT Also manipulates Henry Bowers disguised as Belch and helps him out of the asylum murdering Koontz in the form of the guard's worst fear, Doberman pinscher.

At the end of the film after JUST saving Mike from dying due to injuries from Henry Bowers, the gang did manage to defeat Pennywise again, but in that final battle, it took the form of a grotesque spider-like monster that was revealed to be its true form rather than the clown disguise (which it used for most of the film). It was killed when they pulled out its heart. After they killed It, the group left IT's corpse to rot and took Eddie's body and Audra, who IT had kidnapped out of the sewers. The miniseries ends shortly later with Mike recovering and planning to find somewhere other than Derry and the other four enjoying successful lives.

It: Chapter One " My grandfather thinks this town is cursed. He said that all the bad things that happened in this town are because of one thing. An evil thing that feeds off the people of Derry. „ ~ Mike Hanlon about It.

Like the novel, It was part of the disasters that occurred every 27 years in the main town of Derry. He is presented as a simple ravenous eldrich horror instead of the enemy of Maturin, who is totally absent of this universe.

It first appears to Georgie and talks friendly wih him to gain his trust. It reveals his true colors when Georgie was about to get back his boat, by ripping off his arm and gragging him into the sewer to finish him.

Mike, escaping from Henry Bowers's gang runs off into an alley and as he walks through a locked door, he hears screaming and pounding. The door opens a little and several burned hands start to come out alongside the cries for help from Mike's parents (who died in a fire when Mike was little). A little later, the hands were hidden and the screaming stopped, but suddenly the door swings open and Mike watches Pennywise murdering a sheep behind plastic curtains.

Stanley is in a synagogue studying for his bar mitzvah. As he walks through the rabbi's office, he observes a painting showing a woman with a deformed face in the style of Amedeo Modigliani. The paint falls off, and when Stan picks it up, the woman is no longer there. When Stanley turns, "IT" manifests as the woman and smiles at him with her fangs, but Stanley manages to run away.

Ben is in the library looking for Derry's story. From a series of articles, he learns that Derry's children have been disappearing under mysterious circumstances for centuries. The book contains a representation of Pennywise and the head of a missing boy in a tree. After observing a red balloon floating towards the library corridor, Ben follows him only to discover an Easter egg that begins to follow the trail down the hall to the basement. When Ben goes down to the basement, he is suddenly chased by Pennywise turned into a headless boy, then the librarian appears to ask Ben what he is doing in the basement, while Pennywise disappears without a trace, leaving Ben totally scared.

It appears when Mike is bullied by Henry Bowers and his gang behind trees, eating a blooding arm. He salutes him by making greetings movements with the arm. Mike is pursued by Patrick Hocksetter in the sewers. The latter, separated from the rest of his friends, gets lost and meets some demonic looking children who make him run, but he reaches a dead end. A red balloon appears before him with the phrase: "I love Derry", when it explodes reveals Pennywise with a bloody mouth. Pennywise immediately brutally murders Patrick.

Later, Eddie is walking back home when he passes an abandoned house on Neibolt Street, he is suddenly frightened by "It" disguised in a leper, causing Eddie to run around the courtyard of the house. Upon reaching a fence, Pennywise tries to lure him with balloons, but horrified Eddie runs under the fence and escapes.

Pennywise then attacked Beverly from the bathroom, by making voices of some children coming from the bathroom and when she goes to observe, the strands of her hair come out of the bathroom and hold her by the neck before a source of blood shoots out of the washbasin and stains the entire bathroom.

Bill is sleeping inside his house when he sees Georgie running to the basement. Surprised, he enters the basement, which is flooded. Georgie appears and invites Bill to join him saying, "We all float here." Georgie repeats the words "You'll float too" until he screams and decomposes. So, Pennywise emerges from the water and tries to catch Bill, but he runs outside.

The children go to Bill's garage where they observe Derry's map through a projector. They discover that all the sewers in the town are attached to the Neibolt Street house, where they believe It lives. The projector then begins to show images of Bill and Georgie with their parents, but with Pennywise's face appearing above their mother. Mike kicks the projector in order to turn it off, but it continues to display images until Pennywise (with a giant size and a very terrifying and disturbing smile) comes off the screen and tries to attack them. But they manage to get out of the garage before the creature can harm them.

The Losers's club goes to the Neibolt house to confront Pennywise. It first attacks Eddie, again in the form of the leper, causing Eddie to fall in the kitchen of the house, breaking his arm in the process. Meanwhile, Bill and Richie try to help him but Richie finds a door, revealing a room full of clown dolls. Richie observes a coffin where he finds a doll of himself. After closing the coffin, Pennywise jumps out of it and utters the phrase, "Beep Beep Richie," attempts to attack him, but Richie manages to flee the room with the help of Bill causing Pennywise to turn his attention back to Eddie, who sees Pennywise exit from a refrigerator and try to attack it. Meanwhile Bill and Richie try to go help him, but they find three doors in which the following bloody phrases are written: "Not scary" in the first, "Scary" in the second and "Very scary" in the third. These choose to open the first door, revealing a girl with no legs. After this Richie panics, but Bill tries to calm him by saying that none of it is real, when they open the second door they discover the clear hallway and hear Eddie's screams in the kitchen asking for help and they run to help him. They get to where Pennywise and Eddie meet and prevent the clown from murdering him. The clown reveals to Bill that he was Georgie's killer, tries to kill them, and suddenly, Beverly appears and sticks a spear into Pennywise's head. However, all three are cornered while Pennywise is willing to murder them. He manages to hurt Ben and runs away from the place.

Henry finds a red balloon in his mailbox. Inside, he finds a box with his father's knife, sent by It. Henry enters his house, where he finds his father sleeping with the television on. A woman with children (all victims of It) appears on the screen, prompting Henry to kill her father. He does so by driving the knife into his neck and letting him bleed to death. Then the kids on TV start singing, "Kill them! Kill them! Kill them!" being followed by Pennywise with a macabre smile.

After that, Pennywise kidnaps Beverly after she killed her father. It write on the wall with blood : "You die if you try". Bill, entering Beverky's house, realizes that Pennywise kidnapped Beverly, so he decides to repair his friendship with Richie, Stanley, Ben and Mike to rescue her.

Beverly wakes up in the sewer, and observes a mountain of objects and all the children killed by Pennywise floating. She tries to leave the place, until Pennywise appears dancing, she finds a way out, but the clown catches her and Beverly admits not being afraid of him. Unfortnuately, Pennywise opens his mouth, revealing the Deadlights inside (if heard correctly, people can be heard screaming "Help!" "Help!") and this causes Beverly to go into a kind of trance.

As the Losers walk down the sewers, Stanley is attacked by It in the guise of the misshapen woman. She bites her head, but the children manage to push her away from him while comforting a traumatized

Stanley.

Finally, the children find Pennywise's lair: where they discover all the children that "It" once murdered floating in daylight under some kind of trance. The group finds Beverly floating and throws her down while Ben kisses her to free her from the trance. Bill watches Georgie emerge from the shadows. Georgie tells Bill that he missed him and that he was waiting for him to come and rescue him. Bill hugs his brother, but he knows he really isn't Georgie, and shoots him in the head with Mike's nail gun. Georgie's body writhes on the floor until it becomes Pennywise. The clown attempts to kill all seven children, but the children fight him until Pennywise catches Bill. Pennywise gives them the option to leave and let him murder Bill or have everyone die together. Bill tells them to run away, but Richie decides not to leave his best friend and runs against Pennywise to attack him. All the children start beating Pennywise (he also fights with them transforming himself into their worst nightmares) with metal things until leaving him powerless and unable to hurt them because they no longer fear him. Before Bill can deliver the final blow, the head of a badly wounded Pennywise begins to crack and the creature whispers: "Fear" before retreating into darkness.

All of the children killed by Pennywise begin to float down as Bill finds Georgie's waterproof jacket. He realizes that his younger brother really is dead and cries while his friends hug him to comfort him for his loss.

1 month later after their eventual triumph against It, Beverly informs the group of a vision she had while catatonic, where she saw them fighting It as adults. The Losers form a blood oath that if this evil that is It should ever revive, they will return to Derry in 27 years and destroy him once and for all. After the other Losers depart one by one, Beverly tells Bill that she is moving to live with her aunt in Portland, Oregon the following morning.

27 years after the events of the first film, It resurfaces when a group of homophobic teenagers beat up and toss a gay man named Adrian Mellon off the bridge. He then slaughters Adrian in front of his lover before presumably using his blood to write a message to Mike about its return. As such, It wasted no time in hunting the children of Derry, such as when it uses empathy to lure a young girl named

Victoria into getting closer to it under the false assumption that he'd help make the birthmark on her face disappear. To further torment Bill, It sends him a skateboard, explicitly letting him know that it was going to go after the young Dean next. Realizing that Dean was heading to the carnival, he chases after him into the hall of mirrors. Unfortunately, It gets the upper hand and gruesomely kills the young boy in front of him. Horrified to have lost another young boy after Georgie, Bill decides to head to the Neibolt house to personally kill It after Henry wounds Mike and Eddie.

After each member of the Losers Club went down their own quests to retrieve artifacts from their pasts to complete the Ritual of Chud, the ritual seems to work when it traps Its Deadlights inside of the vase, but it goes awry. A giant version of Pennywise emerges, revealing that the 7 members of the original natives known as the Shokopiwah tribe who had performed the ritual were immediately slaughtered by It. This version of It is a combination of its default form Pennywise the Dancing Clown and the Giant Spider as described in the book. It then warps the Losers Club into different nightmarish scenarios, but they inevitably overcome their fears. It traps Richie in its Deadlights, forcing Eddie to grab the pole Beverly gave him earlier and attacks Pennywise with it under the belief that it could kill It. Unfortunately, Pennywise impales Eddie with one of its spider-like appendages, swings him around like a ragdoll, and tosses him, leaving him with a large wound in his abdomen.

This one-act proves to be its undoing, however, when the Losers Club realize that in order to defeat it, they had to make it believe it was smaller. Despite its insistence that it was the "eater of worlds," the remaining Losers insult the clown repeatedly until It is forced into a smaller, infantile form. It attempts to lash out at Mike but is too weakened. To its horror, Mike reaches into its chest and grabs its beating heart. It tries to grab it to no avail and is left crying like a baby, its final words being "Look at you… you've all grown up!" with weak laughter.

The Losers each mutually take a hold of the heart and crush it slowly. It reacts in pain until the heart exploded into a pasty substance, killing It and avenging all of the victims It had killed including Georgie. It falls silent as his body turns to ash and the Deadlights vanishes, implying heavily that the Deadlights was his true form. After its death, Richie tries to coerce Eddie's corpse awake, not accepting that he was truly gone til near the film's end after jumping into the lake with his partners. His attempts of taking the body with him, but fails when It's lair and the Neibolt house start to crumble and collapse in response to it's master's demise. The Losers are forced to leave Eddie's body in It's lair and the Neibolt house collapses on itself, sinking into a hole in the ground. After Richie accepts Eddie's death, he writes R and E on this fence shortly later in memory of Eddie.

Battle 16: BILL CIPHER

We regrouped and we were facing Bill Cipher.

Me: It's over for you Bill Cipher! You are finished!

I transformed into my Super Angel-Ebonwu-Phoenix 100,000,000 form.

Bill Cipher: Did you not like playing with your new friends?

Me: (Divine Echoing Fiery Voice) Those douchebags were never our friends and have caused nothing but pain and suffering where they went and they deserve nothing but death and pain and suffering in the Warp for all time. But you will not be going to the Warp. You're gonna be wiped out forever and not be in any part of the Afterlife.

Nico: That's right!

Vince: You have tormented all of Earth and Gravity Falls for the last time!

Laney: And you are never welcome here!

Troy: This time, Cipher, we're defeating you for real!

Megaforce Rangers: Legendary Ranger Mode: Secret 5 Force!

The Megaforce Rangers turned into the 1st power Rangers.

We went at him and I punched him in the face and kicked him all over with incredible fury and fired a massive wave of energy and the power of the blast blew half of the entirety of the planet apart in a massive fiery explosion!

Laney fired massive blasts of green energy and the blasts formed into said things and more and they went at Bill Cipher and exploded with incredible power!

Scourge used the Animatron Cyber Planet Key and it had his 2 extra heads pop up and Cassandra used the Corona Cyber Planet Key and it enhanced her Moon Fire powers 100-fold.

Swoop and Atom Ant used the Animatron Cyber Planet Key and enhanced Swoop's Thermal Sword and Atom Ant's powers 100-fold.

Cybertron Scourge and Cassandra: SUN & MOONLIGHT FIRE OF THE DRAGON!

Scourge and Cassandra fired a massive wave of fire and the blasts formed into both a sun and a moon and turned into dragons.

Swoop and Atom Ant: THERMAL ANT SMASHSLASH!

We fired a massive wave of purple energy and it slammed into Bill Cipher and he was obliterated from existence forever and he wasn't going to the Warp or the Afterlife. He was obliterated from existence forever as if he was never born in the first place. He was gone permanently. But the blast also obliterated the entirety of Planet Kanassa as we went back to Earth.

But back at the estate, something evil was going down.

Sombra: (contacts Reaper) Reaper, this is Sombra. I've successfully copied the files of the contingency plans against Team Loud Phoenix Storm. I'm returning to base now.

Reaper: Excellent. Yes. Soon Team Loud Phoenix Storm will fall! (LAUGHS MALEVOLENTLY)

Sombra did so.

Back with us, everything was back to normal in Gravity Falls and we powered down.

Me: Good riddance!

Dipper: Looks like Bill Cipher is gone for good!

May: What do you say we have a victory party here in Gravity Falls?

Me: Good idea.

We went to a local restaurant and had fun. The world was now forever freed of Bill Cipher.

Dipper: (To the viewers) Bill Cipher may be gone, but I have a feeling that a bigger adventure is coming up soon.

Me: I feel it too.

We had fun before heading home.

---

Another awesome fanfic done!

Bill Cipher was beyond a shadow of a doubt the most dangerous villain ever known in all of the Gravity Falls series. He was pure evil. NicoChan11, JediAvatarOfShinobi, Omegahatchiyak12, XP4Universe and ninjakingofhearts all gave me the ideas for this. Thanks guys. Next up is an epic chapter where we go help the awesome heroes of Overwatch destroy the evil forces of the ruthless terrorist organization Talon and we're going to make sure they all pay for their crimes and more.

See you all tomorrow.

International Heroes of All

At Lynn's Table, Nico is having an awesome date with May and everyone else.

Nico: (to May) May, I'll never get tired of the dates we have.

May: Me neither Nico.

With them were the newest recruits of the Masters of Evil: Ben's enemy ROJO, The Teen Titans enemy, CONTROL FREAK, Static Shock's enemy PUFF and Hulk's enemy Emil Blonsky A.K.A. ABOMINATION!

Rojo: It's gonna be awesome seeing Sockhead again. We made a great team together against Argit before.

Nico: You sure did.

Control Freak: (to the Titans) Remember Creature From Jones Lake, Seven-Gorn-Seven, Off-World Outlaw, and Baron Ryang? Well, expect to see them again in the battles I participate in.

Starfire: Looking most forward to it!

Raven: Awesome.

Abomination: (to Bruce Banner): I know we're going to be moving on to new opponents. But, can I punch the Hulk one last time? (smiles) For old times sake?

Bruce Banner: Sure Emil. Just don't scratch the paint.

Bruce turned into the Hulk and Abomination punched him in the gut with incredible force and knocked the air out of him. Then they laughed.

Puff: (to Maria) Look, Maria. Despite how you left the Meta Breed 2 years ago, it really is good to see you again.

Maria: Same to you as well Naomi. I'm glad you're out of Prison.

Nico: Looks like the Meta Breed is almost all back together.

Puff: It sure is. It'll be just like old times.

---

Later Nico and everyone came back to the estate and they saw that the Masters of Evil were all there.

Shiv: (to Nico) Did you and May just come back from a date?

Nico: Of course we did. Why?

Electro: Dude, we've been trying to contact you guys for hours!

May: Why? What happened?

Robo Blaze: Guys, J.D, lost his powers.

May: (eyes widen) WHAT?!

Firefly: See for yourselves.

Nico turned on the TV.

Katherine Mulligan: This is Katherine Mulligan with a special news report. J.D. Knudson has somehow lost his powers. And he seems to be in pain the likes of which we've never seen before.

Nico: (contacts Eddy) Eddy, I need you to get to the nearest Pokemon store. Ask the owner if they have an antidote the cures Pokemon of poison.

Eddy: (in pain) Sorry, dude. Can't help you right now. I'm in pain right now. I think that jawbreaker I ate an hour ago was bad.

Nico: Was it poisoned?

Eddy: I think it was. I don't know how long-

Nico: Just hang in there! I'll call back soon!

Snake: Dude, how did you know what was happening to-

Nico: (contact Lincoln telepathically) Lincoln, do you read me?

All I could hear from Lincoln was his screams of pain.

Nico: Lincoln, it's Nico! What's going on?!

Lincoln: (in agony) NICO! I CAN'T STOP SHORT CIRCUITING!

Nico: (to Dark Spicer) Dark, contact Vypra and the others! Team Loud Phoenix Storm is under attack!

Dark Spicer: By who?

Nico: By me!

Dark Spicer: What are you talking about Nico?

May: Yeah what are you saying?

Twilight Sparkle: How is this all because of you?

Nico: I'll explain later. Right no we need to round up J.D. and everyone and get them to the infirmary stat!

Naruto: Lets go!

They fanned out and in the park Beetle saw that Lynn was attacking everything and the police were shooting at her.

Beetle: Hey hold your fire!

The Police stopped.

Beetle: Why are you guys attacking Lynn?

Tom Lair: Beetle. Never thought I'd be happy to see you.

Beetle: We can talk about my past crimes later. Now, what the Hell's going on?

Sheila: She was fighting this strange figure when she got hit by a dart. And then, she suddenly started attacking everyone.

Tom Lair: We got the civilians out and the park sealed off but we can't get near her.

Sheila: Look at her. She looks like she's having a seizure or something.

Beetle: You could be right. (uses suit to scan Lynn) Her pulse, blood pressure and respiration are off the charts. If she keeps going at that pace, she's gonna drop dead.

Tom Lair: That's not the worst outcome I can imagine right now.

Beetle: I'm gonna talk her down. Pull your men back.

Sheila: (to the officers) All officers, stand down and retreat to barriers. Repeat, stand down.

Officer 1: Yes ma'am

As Beetle approached Lynn with his scanner out, she saw Joker in his place.

Lynn: You must be the real one. Whatever that weapon is, Joker, it won't work.

Beetle: It's a scanner. Something's happening to you. (realizes something) Did you just call me the Joker?

Lynn fired lava at Beetle but he flew back near Tom Lair and Sheila.

Beetle: (to Tom and Sheila) She thinks I'm Joker.

Lynn started to approach the three of them.

Beetle: Lynn, just listen for a minute. Whatever it looks like, I'm not the Joker. The Joker's dead. Think about it. All those dozens of Jokers you saw, how is that possible?

Lynn: I don't know.

Beetle: I think I do. My sensors have detected poison that's attached to your brain stem. They're broadcasting signals into your visual and auditory centers making you see whatever this new figure wants you to.

Lynn: It could be.

Sheila: A Hallucinogenic Poison? How can that be?

Beetle: It is a Hallucinogenic Poison but this is not like Scarecrow's Fear Gas. Whoever did this knows you'll never quit a fight. You're supposed to keep going until your heart gives out, or you have an aneurysm, or a cop gets lucky and shoots you. I've identified the frequency. But I need you to trust me.

Lynn: Okay! (Grunts) I'll try!

Rojo found Edd.

Rojo: Double D wake up.

Double D woke up and saw Rojo.

Double D: (groans) Rojo? Is that you?

Rojo: (smiles) Long time no see, partner.

Villamax: Are you ok, Double D?

Double D: I think I'll be ok.

Rojo: Sorry about your suit.

Double D: It's ok. I always have a spare one in my room.

Rojo: Good. Lets get you to the infirmary and check you out.

Edd: Okay.

Later Toyman found me on the street.

Toyman: (to me): J.D. Are you ok?

Me: Yeah I'm fine. Thanks, Winston.

Toyman: How is it even possible for you to lose your powers like this?

Me: (eyes widen) The contingency plans! Someone got a hold of them!

Toyman: Contingency plans?

Me: Someone poisoned me! I'll explain about them later.

Toyman: Okay. Lets get you back to your HQ and heal you.

Toyman called a bunch of toy soldiers and they carried me back.

Back at the estate, Nico and the staff of the infirmary administered the antidote for the poison that was killing us.

Nico: I'm glad you're ok, Lucy.

Lucy Loud: Me too. Whoever did that to me knew that vampires hate garlic as well as the perfect way to disable my powers.

Nico: I did this to you. To all of you.

Lucy Loud: What?! (looks at Skulker)

Skulker: (defensively) Don't look at me. I'm just as confused as you are.

Toyman: Nico what are you talking about?

Diabolico: I'm glad you're ok, Peter.

Spiderman: You gave me a Pokemon Antidote to cure the poison, right?

Diabolico: I did. As Nico instructed.

Spiderman: That's interesting to know. It can cure Pokemon of poisoning. But it can also work on poisoning of humans as well. How did Nico know this?

Diabolico: I know just as much as you do. You can ask Nico when we meet up with everyone at the Estate.

Spiderman: Okay.

G1 Snarl: Me Snarl glad you guys ok.

Ed: Well, we almost weren't.

Lana: These attacks weren't a coincidence. They were specifically targeted at our physical and psychological weaknesses.

Lucy: Obviously by someone who knows us very well.

Nico: (sighs)The plans were mine.

Qin: (shocked) Say what, now?

Nico: I've carefully studied every member of Team Loud Phoenix Storm and created contingency plans to neutralize you should that become necessary.

Lily: You've gotta be kidding me.

Nico: Neutralize, not kill. Whoever implemented my plans altered them.

Lori: It's still literally a completely unacceptable breach of our trust.

Nico: The members of Team Loud Phoenix Storm are among the most powerful and potentially dangerous people on the planet.

Leni: You think one of us would go bad?

Nico: Or succumb to mind control. Yes, it's possible. That's why I developed plans for containing any of all members of Team Loud Phoenix Storm should the need ever arise.

Lincoln: None of us would ever do that to you. We've told you this a thousand times!

Nico: Then you're damned fools.

Seeing that this was getting personal, Abomination, Puff, Control

Freak, and Rojo started to walk out of the room.

Ed: Where are you guys going?

Rojo: (Defensively) Hey, the four of us just joined the Masters of Evil today. This argument is getting kinda personal.

Double D: You should stay. You guys are a part of this now. (smiles at Rojo) What do you say? Partner?

Rojo: Yes I'm part of this.

Me: But Nico is right. Team Loud Phoenix Storm's power is completely insurmountable and our power is some of the strongest the entire universe has ever witnessed. Ever since after what happened with the Royal Defenders, Nico has been really on edge with this. So he came up with Anti-Rogue-Team-Loud-Phoenix-Storm Countermeasures to help prevent us from going down the same dark path that the Royal Defenders took.

Lincoln: That's really good and smart thinking.

Laney: I agree. Way to come through for us Nico.

Twilight Sparkle: You guys have really come prepared.

Sunset Shimmer: You sure have. I'm amazed.

Eddy: Personally, I don't have a problem with Nico's contingency plans. But letting them get copied was kinda dumb

Hun Gurr: Did anyone come into the Estate while we were fighting Bill Cipher?

Me: I have a strong feeling they did and I may have a hunch on who it might be. But Nico you better go check your computer just to be safe.

Nico: Right.

Nico went up to his room and checked his laptop and he saw that there was a message that said data breach!

Nico: Oh no!

Nico came back and told us everything.

Me: I know who is behind all this. Talon! We got to get to Overwatch Headquarters immediately. They hacked into Nico's computer and copied his contingency plans and modified them to make them lethal so that they would kill us.

Vince: That's insane!

Ed Cowart: Sombra! She definitely has amazingly good espionage skills and she used the fight with Bill Cipher to her advantage to sneak into the estate and get Nico's contingency plans so that Talon can use them to kill us.

Me: Yeah just what I was thinking. Lets go.

Nico: Can you guys get up?

Lori: What is it to you traitor!?

Me: Lori now is not the time to judge Nico. We have an evil terrorist organization to stop.

Vince: Are you gonna be all right partner?

I got up.

Me: One way to find out.

I fired an energy blast and it hit the wall and exploded. My powers were back and stronger than ever!

Me: I'm back baby! But I don't know much about Talon and we're gonna have to ask Overwatch for more information.

Nico: Okay.

Me: Lets go!

We were off to Europe!

ZURICH, SWITZERLAND

We were in the beautiful and magnificent Swiss Alps of Zurich, Switzerland and it was just as beautiful as ever.

Kabuto (Naruto): Do we even know where Overwatch is located?

Me: It says it's located in Zurich, Switzerland.

Nico: Alright. Time for us to meet Overwatch.

Luan: (glares at Nico) Who asked you, traitor?

Melody (Pokemon): Hey! This isn't Nico's fault!

Me: YEAH! He was just looking out for you guys so knock it off!

We arrived at Overwatch HQ and it was beautiful.

The Swiss Headquarters of Overwatch, presumably located in Zürich, was destroyed during the time the organization was under investigation by the United Nations. Rumor has it that the ensuing explosion was the direct result of a fight between two of Overwatch's most prominent members: Jack Morrison and Gabriel Reyes. Morrison supposedly died, but his body was never recovered.

The Swiss location was also presumably the base of operations for Overwatch's chief medical officer, Angela Ziegler.

Me: Here we are guys.

We saw all of the members of Overwatch all gathered in the courtyard and it was gonna be so cool meeting them all.

Hána Song A.K.A. of South Korea

is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a former professional gamer and a mech pilot who is participating in her country's special force to combat a colossal Omnic's devastating invasion.

's mech is nimble and powerful-its twin Fusion Cannons blast away with autofire at short range, and she can use its Boosters to barrel over enemies and obstacles, or deflect attacks with her projectile-dismantling Defense Matrix or blast her enemies with her Micro Missiles.

is a former professional gamer who now uses her skills to pilot a state-of-the-art mech in defense of her homeland.

Twenty years ago, South Korea was attacked by a colossal omnic monstrosity that rose from the depths of the East China Sea. The massive, lumbering construct caused catastrophic damage to coastal cities before it was driven back beneath the waves. In response, the South Korean government developed a mechanized armored drone unit, called MEKA, to protect urban environments in future engagements with the omnic threat.

The government's fears proved to be well-founded, as a disturbing pattern of attacks emerged. Every few years, the monstrosity would rise from the sea to assault South Korea and its neighbors. The omnic learned from these encounters, often reconfiguring itself in a different form and appearing with new weapons and capabilities. Each incident ended in a stalemate, with the monstrosity defeated but not destroyed.

As the omnic continued to adapt, it eventually disrupted MEKA's drone-control networks, forcing the military to place pilots in the mechs. Scrambling to find suitable candidates, the government turned to the country's professional gamers, who possessed the necessary reflexes and instincts to operate the mechs' advanced weapons systems. Top stars were drafted, including reigning world champion Hana Song, also known as " ." Famous for her elite skills, was a fierce competitor who played to win at all costs, and she had a well-earned reputation for showing no mercy to her opponents.

Seeing her new mission as a game, fearlessly charges into battle alongside the rest of her MEKA unit, ready to spring to her nation's defense at a moment's notice. Recently, she has begun to stream combat operations to her adoring fans, and her growing following has turned her into a global icon.

Orisa the Guardian Robot from Numbani

Orisa is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a guardian omnic who has currently existed for only a month and has already taken the role of her city's protector.

Orisa serves as the central anchor of her team and defends her teammates from the frontline with a protective barrier. She can attack from long range, fortify her own defenses, launch graviton charges to slow and move enemies and deploy a Supercharger to boost the damage output of multiple allies at once.

Built from parts of one of Numbani's short-lived OR15 defense robots, Orisa is the city's newest protector, though she still has much to learn.

Originally put into service before the Omnic Crisis, the OR14 "Idina" line of security robots was built in Nigeria's massive manufacturing omnium. After the war, they were taken out of production, along with many of the other models used during the crisis. Twenty years later, Numbani revived and recommissioned the OR14 program to protect the city from external threats. These new OR15s were deployed for a short time before they were destroyed in an attack by Doomfist.

Following the attack, the program was scrapped, and the civic government sold off the remaining OR15 inventory. Some parts were purchased by eleven-year-old Efi Oladele, a brilliant girl whose early accomplishments in robotics and artificial intelligence had already earned her the Adawe Foundation's "genius grant."

With the approval of her understanding and open-minded parents, Efi spent the bulk of her grant money to acquire one of the decommissioned OR15 bots. She believed that Numbani needed a protector and that an upgraded OR15 could do just that. Efi repaired and reconfigured the robot and installed a personality core that she had designed herself.

She named Numbani's newest hero Orisa.

Orisa has shown that she can be of service to the city, but she is still working toward finding her optimal protocols. The omnic's inexperience can cause her to be an occasional liability. Fortunately, between Efi's willingness to make the necessary modifications and Orisa's adaptive artificial intelligence, both robot and creator have always been able to set things right.

As Orisa starts her career as a guardian, she has much to learn about the world and her functionality. But as long as she is guided by Efi's boundless optimism and her own growing sense of honor and duty, Orisa stands ready to protect Numbani and her creator at any cost.

Reinhardt Wilhelm A.K.A. Reinhardt of Germany

Reinhardt is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is a wandering knight who continues to fight for justice and defend the innocence undeterred by the toll of his age.

Clad in powered armor and swinging his hammer, Reinhardt leads a rocket-propelled charge across the battleground and defends his squadmates with a massive energy barrier.

Reinhardt Wilhelm styles himself as a champion of a bygone age, who lives by the knightly codes of valor, justice, and courage.

Over thirty years ago, Overwatch was founded to counter the threat of the robot uprisings around the world. Reinhardt, a highly decorated German soldier, was inducted as part of the original Overwatch strike team that put an end to the Omnic Crisis. After the conflict's resolution, Overwatch grew into a global institution, keeping the peace in a war-torn world. Reinhardt proved himself to be one of its most stalwart champions.

Reinhardt's unique ethics and larger-than-life persona earned the admiration of his peers and superiors alike. Never afraid to speak his mind, he was Overwatch's most vocal supporter and, when necessary, its harshest critic, providing a constant reminder that Overwatch was meant to be a force for good.

Having served into his late fifties, Reinhardt was faced with mandatory retirement from combat operations. Despondent about being removed from active duty, Reinhardt feared that his days of purpose and glory had ended. As times grew darker and Overwatch came under suspicion of corruption and sedition, Reinhardt could only watch as the cause he had dedicated his life to defending surrendered in disgrace.

Though Overwatch was eventually disbanded, Reinhardt was not content to sit idly by while the world fell to disorder. Once again donning his Crusader armor, he has vowed to fight for justice across Europe like a knight of old, defending the innocent and winning hearts and minds with the promise of better days to come.

Winston the Super Intelligent Genetically Engineered Gorilla from the Moon.

Winston is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is a scientist and fighter who possesses the strength and intellect to venture beyond the limit of humanity.

Winston wields impressive inventions-a jump pack, an electricity-blasting Tesla Cannon, a portable barrier projector and more-with literal gorilla strength.

A super-intelligent, genetically engineered gorilla, Winston is a brilliant scientist and a champion for humanity's potential.

The Horizon Lunar Colony was established as a first step for humanity's renewed exploration of space. Among its residents was a group of genetically enhanced gorillas that were intended to test the effects of prolonged habitation in space.

One gorilla displayed such rapid brain development from the gene therapy that he was taken under the wing of Dr. Harold Winston, who taught him science and inspired him with tales of human ingenuity. The young gorilla passed his days assisting with the scientists' experiments, watching the distant blue world outside his habitat window, dreaming of the endless possibilities that awaited him there.

But his life was thrown into chaos when the other gorillas led an uprising, killed the mission scientists, and claimed the colony for their own. Taking on the name of his beloved human caretaker, Winston built a makeshift rocket and escaped to Earth. There he found a new home with Overwatch, an organization that represented everything he had come to admire about humanity. Winston was finally able to live up to the heroic ideal that had been instilled in him.

Now with the fall of Overwatch, Winston has gone into seclusion, once again cut off from the world he believes in, but longing for the days of heroism to return.

Hammond A.K.A. Wrecking Ball from the Moon.

Wrecking Ball is one of the heroes of Overwatch . He is a resourceful tinkerer with remarkable mechanic skills, who is rolling around the world seeking out his next challenge to overcome.

In one of the many experiments carried out at Horizon Lunar Colony, animals were given genetic therapy to assess their adaptation to extended periods of habitation on the moon. As an unexpected side effect, several of them exhibited exceptional growth in physical size and brain function. While most of the test subjects were gorillas or other primates, there were some exceptions, including a hamster named Hammond.

Like the others, Hammond's intelligence grew, and he became more curious about the world around him. Much to the puzzlement and amusement of the scientists, Hammond would frequently escape into different parts of the moon base. Though they'd always find him and return him to his cell, they never figured out the true purpose behind his nightly escapades. What they didn't know was that Hammond was busy teaching himself the skills of a mechanic, which would soon come in handy.

The colony was eventually thrown into chaos when some of the gorillas rose up against the human scientists and took control. Not all of the animals participated, however, and one of the gorillas, Winston, was making a plan to escape to earth. Hammond sensed his opportunity. He built a makeshift capsule and secretly hitched it to Winston's craft as the gorilla blasted off. As the two entered earth's atmosphere, Hammond broke off and landed in a different location: the wasteland of the Australian Outback.

Hammond modified his escape pod to enter the lucrative mech battle arena of the Scrapyard. Working his way up the ranks, "Wrecking Ball" went from contender to champion, though the pilot's identity remained a mystery to all. Gathering his winnings, Hammond was able to upgrade his mech enough to survive the dangerous trek out of the Junker-controlled Outback.

Now free to travel and do as he pleases, Hammond is exploring the world and finding new adventures along the way.

Aleksandra Zaryanova A.K.A. Zarya of Russia

Zarya is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a former weightlifting athlete who had sacrificed her fame and fortune to serve her country and her people in times of need.

Deploying powerful personal barriers that convert incoming damage into energy for her massive Particle Cannon, Zarya is an invaluable asset on the front lines of any battle.

Aleksandra Zaryanova is one of the world's strongest women, a celebrated athlete who sacrificed personal glory to protect her family, friends, and country in a time of war.

Aleksandra was born in a remote Siberian village that was on the front lines of the Omnic Crisis, which began some thirty years ago. Although Russian forces defeated the robots and shut down their omnium, the region was devastated by the conflict. Only a child at the time, Aleksandra was surrounded by the post-war destruction, and as she grew older, she swore that she would gain the strength to help her people recover.

Focusing on weightlifting and bodybuilding, Aleksandra was identified by the national athletics program as a potential star. She trained extensively, moving up the ranks while representing her country, and was expected to shatter longstanding records in the upcoming world championships.

But on the eve of the tournament, an attack came from the long-dormant Siberian omnium, and her village was thrust into war once again. Aleksandra immediately withdrew from the competition and rushed home to enlist in the local defense forces, sacrificing the life of fame and fortune she might have had.

Now she serves-a symbol to some, a stalwart fellow soldier to others. But for Aleksandra, it is a chance to use her great strength to protect the ones she loves.

SST Laboratories Siege Automaton E54 A.K.A. Bastion of Black Forest, Germany.

Bastion is one of the heroes in Overwatch . It is an omnic wanderer formerly built to be a war combatant, who is now travelling to satisfy its curiosity about nature and leave its horrifying past behind.

Repair protocols and the ability to transform between stationary Sentry, mobile Recon and devastating Tank configurations provide Bastion with a high probability of victory.

Once a frontline combatant in the devastating Omnic Crisis, this curious Bastion unit now explores the world, fascinated by nature but wary of a fearful humanity.

Originally created for peacekeeping purposes, Bastion robot units possessed the unique ability to rapidly reconfigure themselves into an assault-cannon mode. But during the Omnic Crisis, they were turned against their human makers, forming the bulk of the omnics' rebel army. Following the resolution of the crisis, nearly all of them were destroyed or disassembled. To this day, Bastion units still symbolize the horrors of the conflict.

One unique Bastion unit, severely damaged in the final battles of the war, was left forgotten for over a decade. It lay dormant, exposed to the elements and rusting while nature slowly reclaimed it. Overgrown with vines and roots and nested upon by small animals, the robot sat inert, seemingly unaware of the passing of time. That was until one fateful day, when it unexpectedly reactivated. With its combat programming all but lost, it instead displayed an intense curiosity about the natural world and its inhabitants. This inquisitive Bastion unit set out to explore its surroundings and discover its purpose on a war-ravaged planet.

Though "Bastion" appears to be gentle-even harmless, at times-its core combat programming takes over when the unit senses danger, utilizing its entire arsenal to eliminate anything it perceives as a threat. This has led to instances of conflict with the few humans it has encountered, and has driven it to avoid populated areas in favor of the wild, uncharted regions of the world.

Echo of Switzerland

Echo is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is an evolutionary robot programmed with a rapidly adapting artificial intelligence, versatile enough to fill multiple battlefield combat roles.

To chart the origins of the Echo project, it is important to delve into the personal history of Singaporean scientist Dr. Mina Liao, who would later become perhaps best known as one of the founding members of Overwatch. But prior to joining the organization, Dr. Liao was widely considered one of the preeminent experts in the fields of robotics and artificial intelligence, and an employee of Omnica Corporation. There she worked on the team that was responsible for the design and creation of the omnics that would ultimately wage war against humanity during the Omnic Crisis. Ultimately, it was this expertise that led her to be recruited into Overwatch to help stop her creations.

Even that catastrophe was not enough to dissuade Liao of her firmly held belief in the potential artificial life and its power to transform the lives of humanity for the better. She dreamed of improving upon the original omnic designs. These theories would become the foundation of the Echo project. However, due to Overwatch's restrictions on artificial intelligence research and development after the Omnic Crisis, Liao was forced to limit Echo's capabilities. What she created was a multirole, adaptive robot that could be programmed to learn different functions: anything from medical support to construction: but had serious limits to its independent decision making. Critically, Echo had multiple layers of protections, failsafes, and security to keep it under control. Echo was used successfully on test missions alongside Overwatch strike teams, but Overwatch leadership was reluctant to put it into full service.

However, the truth was that Liao had programmed Echo with a powerful, general artificial intelligence that learned by observation. After thousands of hours in the scientist's presence, much of Liao's behaviors (including her speech), were adopted by the Echo robot. This secret that was known by very few, including Blackwatch agent Jesse McCree, who had, at times, been assigned to guard the scientist. When Liao was killed in attack on an Overwatch facility, Overwatch's leadership was reluctant to continue pursuing such a dangerous project, and all development on Echo was shut down, and the robot was placed into quarantine.

Having joined up with the new Overwatch team to defend Paris against the Null Sector incursion, for the first time, Echo is seeing action as a full-fledged team member. But as she is exposed to new people, new ideas, and new situations without Dr. Liao to guide her, no one knows how she might evolve in the future.

Genji Shimada A.K.A. Genji of Japan

Genji is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is a cyborg ninja who has freed himself from his criminal past and the war with his cybernetic body.

Genji flings precise and deadly Shurikens at his targets and uses his technologically-advanced wakizashi to deflect projectiles or deliver a Swift Strike that cuts down enemies.

The cyborg Genji Shimada has made peace with the augmented body he once rejected, and in doing so, he has discovered a higher humanity.

As the youngest son of the master of the Shimada ninja clan, Genji lived a life of luxury and privilege. He had little interest in the family's illegal businesses, and although he excelled at and enjoyed his ninja training, he spent most of his time pursuing a playboy lifestyle. Many within the clan considered the carefree Genji to be a dangerous liability, and they resented his father for coddling and protecting him. Following the clan leader's untimely death, Genji's older brother, Hanzo, demanded that Genji take a more active role in their late father's empire. Genji refused, enraging Hanzo. The tension between the brothers built to a violent confrontation that left Genji on the verge of dying.

Hanzo believed that he had killed his brother, but Genji was rescued by Overwatch and the intervention of Dr. Angela Ziegler. The global force saw Genji as a potential asset in its ongoing operations to combat the Shimada clan. As Genji's injuries left him clinging to life, Overwatch offered to rebuild his body in exchange for his help. He was put through an extensive process of cyberization, which enhanced his natural speed and agility and augmented his superlative ninja skills. Transformed into a living weapon, Genji single-mindedly set about the task of dismantling his family's criminal empire.

But as time passed, Genji felt increasingly at war with himself. He was repulsed by the mechanical parts of his body and could not come to grips with what he had become. When his mission was complete, he abandoned Overwatch and wandered the world in search of meaning. He drifted for many years before crossing paths with the omnic monk Zenyatta. Though Genji initially rejected Zenyatta's wisdom, the benevolent omnic would not be deterred. In time, Zenyatta became his mentor, and under the monk's tutelage, Genji reconciled his dual existence as both man and machine. He learned to accept that although he had a cyborg body, his human soul was intact, and he came to see his new form as a gift and a unique strength.

Now, for the first time in his life, Genji is free. Even he cannot say where his path will ultimately lead.

Hanzo Shimada A.K.A. Hanzo of Japan

Hanzo is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is a mercenary archer who is on the path of redemption to restore his honor and atone for the atrocity he once committed as the heir of a syndicate.

Hanzo's versatile arrows can reveal his enemies or release a volley to dispatch multiple targets. He can scale walls to fire his bow from on high or summon titanic spirit dragons.

Mastering his skills as a bowman and an assassin, Hanzo Shimada strives to prove himself as a warrior without peer.

The Shimada family was established centuries ago, a clan of assassins whose power grew over the years, enabling them to build a vast criminal empire that profited from lucrative trade in arms and illegal substances. As the eldest son of the family's head, Hanzo was bound by duty to succeed his father and rule the Shimada empire. From a young age, he was trained for that responsibility, displaying a natural aptitude for leadership and possessing an innate understanding of strategy and tactics. He also excelled in more practical areas: he was a prodigy in martial arts, swordplay, and bowmanship.

Upon the death of his father, the clan elders instructed Hanzo to straighten out his wayward younger brother so that he, too, might help rule the Shimada empire. When his brother refused, Hanzo was forced to kill him. This act broke Hanzo's heart and drove him to reject his father's legacy, ultimately leading him to abandon the clan and all that he had worked so hard to attain.

Now, Hanzo travels the world, perfecting his skills as a warrior, attempting to restore his honor and put the ghosts of his past to rest.

Jesse McCree A.K.A. McCree of Santa Fe, New Mexico

McCree is one of the heroes in Overwatch. He is an outlaw gunslinger and former gang member who fights for the principle of righteousness.

Using his Peacekeeper, McCree takes out targets with deadeye precision and dives out of danger with eagle-like speed.

Armed with his Peacekeeper revolver, the outlaw Jesse McCree doles out justice on his own terms.

McCree had already made a name for himself as a member of the notorious Deadlock Gang, which trafficked in illicit weapons and military hardware throughout the American Southwest, when he and his associates were busted in an Overwatch sting operation. With his expert marksmanship and resourcefulness, he was given the choice between rotting in a maximum-security lockup and joining Blackwatch, Overwatch's covert ops division. He chose the latter.

Although he was initially cynical, he came to believe that he could make amends for his past sins by righting the injustices of the world. McCree appreciated the flexibility afforded to the clandestine Blackwatch, unhindered by bureaucracy and red tape. But as Overwatch's influence waned, rogue elements within Blackwatch sought to bring down the organization and turn it to their own ends. Wanting no part of the infighting, McCree set off alone and went underground.

He resurfaced several years later as a gunslinger for hire. But while McCree's talents are sought after by parties great and small, he fights only for causes he believes are just.

Jamison Fawkes A.K.A. Junkrat of Junkerstown, Australia.

Junkrat is one of the heroes in Overwatch. He is a demolitionist and an international criminal who is being targeted by law-keepers, bounty hunters and other criminals world-wide for the treasure in his possession.

Junkrat's area-denying traps include a custom designed Frag Launcher that lobs bouncing grenades, Concussion Mines that send enemies flying, and Steel Traps that stop foes dead in their tracks and make them vulnerable to other attacks.

Junkrat is an explosives-obsessed freak who lives to cause chaos and destruction.

The attack on the Australian omnium's fusion core forever altered the landscape of the Outback. After the detonation, the area was transformed into a harsh, irradiated wasteland, littered with debris and the twisted fragments of the ruined facility, and unlivable to most.

But there were some who survived. Calling themselves the Junkers, they scavenged the husk of the omnium and formed a lawless, cutthroat society in its shadow. Junkrat was one of them, eking out a living reclaiming metal and components from the ruins. Like many others, he was affected by the lingering radiation. This touch of madness made him ideal for handling dangerous explosives, a love which he turned into an obsession.

He came to notoriety when he discovered an extremely valuable secret in the bones of the omnium. Though few knew the nature of what he found, he was nonetheless pursued by bounty hunters, gangs, and opportunists wherever he went, until he made a deal with the Junker enforcer Roadhog, who grudgingly agreed to be his personal bodyguard in exchange for a fifty-fifty share of the spoils.

Now, with Roadhog in tow, Junkrat has left the Outback, and embarked upon an international crime spree leaving nothing but havoc and bedlam in his wake.

Mei-Ling Zhou A.K.A. Mei of China

Mei is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a climatologist who is on her own adventure to preserve the environment and ecosystem after waking up from a decade-long cryostasis sleep.

Mei's weather-altering devices slow opponents and protect locations. Her Endothermic Blaster unleashes damaging icicles and frost streams, and she can Cryo-Freeze herself to guard against counterattacks or obstruct the opposing team's movements with an Ice Wall.

Mei is a scientist who has taken the fight to preserve the environment into her own hands.

Though many blamed the planet's escalating, unexplained climate phenomena on the advent of new technologies, the rapidly growing omnic population, and drastically increased consumption of resources, the true cause remained unknown. To find a solution, Overwatch established a series of eco-Watchpoints at remote, critical locations worldwide.

Mei-Ling Zhou was a member of this multiyear initiative. A peerless climatologist, she had introduced cutting-edge innovations in the field of climate manipulation that protected at-risk areas in Asia and beyond. She was assigned to the program's monitoring station at Watchpoint: Antarctica when disaster struck: a sudden, catastrophic polar storm battered the installation and cut it off from the outside world, leaving the facility damaged and the scientists stranded. As their supplies dwindled, they entered cryostasis in a last-ditch effort to survive until a rescue attempt could be made.

But that rescue never came. It was years later when the team's cryogenics chamber was finally discovered. Mei, still in hibernation, was the only survivor. The world Mei awoke to had gone through considerable changes: Overwatch was no more, the serious climate issues had worsened, and none of the eco-Watchpoints were in operation. Any clues that they had uncovered were lost.

Mei has decided to continue her work on her own. Equipped with a portable version of her climate-manipulation technology, she travels around the world, hoping to re-establish the eco-network and track down the causes of the threats to the planet's ecosystem.

Fareeha Amari A.K.A. Pharah of Giza, Egypt

Pharah is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a security captain who yearns to protect the world's peace, like the heroes in her past.

Soaring through the air in her combat armor, and armed with a launcher that lays down high-explosive rockets, Pharah is a force to be reckoned with.

Fareeha Amari's commitment to duty runs in her blood. She comes from a long line of highly decorated soldiers and burns with the desire to serve with honor.

As a child, Fareeha dreamed of following in her mother's footsteps and joining the global peacekeeping force, Overwatch. She enlisted in the Egyptian army, and her dogged persistence and tactical prowess caused her to rise up through the officer ranks. She was a courageous leader and earned the loyalty of all who served under her. With her exemplary record, Fareeha was well placed to join the ranks of Overwatch, but before she had that opportunity, Overwatch was disbanded.

After leaving the army with a commendation for distinguished service, she was offered employment with Helix Security International, a private security firm contracted to defend the artificial intelligence research facility beneath the Giza Plateau. The top-secret facility was touted as vital to the safety of not only the region but countries across the globe. Fareeha gladly accepted the choice assignment and received training in the Raptora Mark VI, an experimental combat suit designed for rapid mobility and devastating firepower.

Under the call sign "Pharah," she works to safeguard the AI installation. Though she mourns Overwatch's passing, she still dreams of fighting the good fight and making a difference on a global scale.

Jack Morrison A.K.A. Soldier: 76 of Bloomington, Indiana

Soldier: 76 is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is a vigilante who aims to bring the enemies who brought down his former organization to the light of justice.

Armed with cutting-edge weaponry, including an experimental pulse rifle that's capable of firing spirals of high-powered Helix Rockets, Soldier: 76 has the speed and support know-how of a highly trained soldier.

Currently the target of an international manhunt, the vigilante known as Soldier: 76 wages a personal war to expose the truth behind Overwatch's collapse.

Soldier: 76 revealed himself in a string of attacks that crisscrossed the globe, targeting financial institutions, shadowy corporations, and secure Overwatch facilities. Though to the outside world his motives are inscrutable, there are those who claim that he is a former Overwatch agent, determined to shed light on the conspiracy that brought down the organization.

While his true identity remains a mystery, he is believed to have been trained as a member of the American "soldier enhancement program." He possesses physical capabilities exceeding those of a conventional soldier's, as well as other augmentations that make him a peerless combatant. In addition, he utilizes a cutting-edge arsenal, much of it stolen in raids on Overwatch installations.

Unrelenting in his search to find those responsible for Overwatch's fall, Soldier: 76 will stop at nothing to bring them to justice.

Satya Vaswani A.K.A. Symmetra of Utopaea, India

Symmetra is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a light-bending architect who weaves her construction in order and perfection to create a better world.

Symmetra utilizes her light-bending Photon Projector to dispatch adversaries, shield her associates, construct teleportation pads and deploy particle-blasting Sentry Turrets.

Symmetra literally bends reality. By manipulating hard-light constructs, she crafts the world as she wishes it to be, in hopes of engineering a perfect society.

Following the Omnic Crisis, the Vishkar Corporation of southern India began the laborious process of creating new, self-sustaining cities to house the nation's displaced population. One such city, Utopaea, was created using radical hard-light technology that enabled its architechs to shape the city's streets, utilities, and living spaces in the blink of an eye.

After she was identified as one of the few capable of becoming a light-bending architech, young Satya Vaswani was plucked from extreme poverty and placed in the care of Vishkar's architech academy, never to return home. Isolated and lonely in her new life, Satya immersed herself in her education and training. She quickly grasped the applications of the technology and was one of the top students in her class. Satya approached hard-light manipulation differently than her peers, with their more procedural, mechanical constructions, instead weaving her constructs in the motions of the traditional dance of her homeland.

Though she was one of Utopaea's top architechs, the Vishkar Corporation saw far greater potential in Satya's abilities. Giving her the moniker "Symmetra," Vishkar sent her on clandestine missions around the world to uphold its corporate interests and expand its influence into other countries.

Symmetra believes her actions serve the greater good in society. But there are times when she wonders whether the control and order she desires are truly best for humanity.

Torbjörn Lindholm A.K.A. Torbjörn of Gothenholm, Sweden

Torbjörn is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is an engineer specializing in weapon design and is determined to keep his inventions from falling into the wrong hands.

Torbjörn's extensive arsenal includes a rivet gun and hammer, as well as a personal forge that he can use to repair his turrets.

At its height, Overwatch possessed one of the most advanced armaments on the planet, which could be traced to the workshop of an ingenious engineer named Torbjörn Lindholm.

Before the Omnic Crisis, Torbjörn had gained notoriety for designing weapons systems used by countries around the world. However, his belief that technology must serve a better vision for humanity put him at odds with his employers, who desired to control his weapons using networked computer intelligence.

Torbjörn had a deep mistrust of sentient robotic intelligence, and while many of his peers wrote this off as paranoia, his worst fears were realized when the robot populations of the world turned against their human creators during the Omnic Crisis. Because of his engineering genius, he was recruited to join the original Overwatch strike team, and his many inventions proved integral to ending the crisis. In the years that followed, Overwatch became an international peacekeeping force, and Torbjörn remained a critical resource for all of its technological needs and signature weapons systems.

But in the aftermath of Overwatch's fall, many of Torbjörn's weapons were stolen or stashed away around the world. Feeling responsible for his creations, Torbjörn is determined to stop them from falling into the wrong hands and wreaking havoc on the innocent.

Lena Oxton A.K.A. Tracer of London, England

Tracer is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a time-jumping adventurer who is always willing to fight for the virtuous in the face of her life-threatening chronal disassociation condition.

Toting twin pulse pistols, energy-based time bombs, and rapid-fire banter, Tracer is able to "blink" through space and rewind her personal timeline as she battles to right wrongs the world over.

The former Overwatch agent known as Tracer is a time-jumping adventurer and an irrepressible force for good.

Lena Oxton (call sign: "Tracer") was the youngest person ever inducted into Overwatch's experimental flight program. Known for her fearless piloting skills, she was handpicked to test the prototype of a teleporting fighter, the Slipstream. But during its first flight, the aircraft's teleportation matrix malfunctioned, and it disappeared. Lena was presumed dead.

She reappeared months later, but her ordeal had greatly changed her: her molecules had been desynchronized from the flow of time. Suffering from "chronal disassociation," she was a living ghost, disappearing for hours and days at a time. Even for the brief moments she was present, she was unable to maintain a physical form.

Overwatch's doctors and scientists were stumped, and Tracer's case seemed hopeless until a scientist named Winston designed the chronal accelerator, a device capable of keeping Tracer anchored in the present. In addition, it gave Tracer the ability to control her own time, allowing her to speed it up and slow it down at will. With her newfound skills, she became one of Overwatch's most effective agents.

Since Overwatch's dissolution, Tracer has continued to right wrongs and fight the good fight wherever the opportunity presents itself.

Ana Amari A.K.A. Ana of Cairo, Egypt

Ana is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a former army sniper who has recently come out of hiding and rejoined the battle in order to protect her loved ones.

Ana's versatile arsenal allows her to affect heroes all over the battlefield. Her Biotic Rifle and Biotic Grenade both heal her allies and damage her enemies; her sidearm tranquilizes key targets, and Nano Boost gives one of her comrades a burst of healing and a considerable increase in power and resiliency alike.

One of the founding members of Overwatch, Ana uses her skills and expertise to defend her home and the people she cares for.

As the Omnic Crisis inflicted a heavy toll on Egypt, the country's depleted and undermanned security forces relied on elite snipers for support. Among them was Ana Amari, who was widely considered to be the world's best. Her superior marksmanship, decision-making, and instincts made her a natural selection to join the Overwatch strike team that would end the war.

Following the success of Overwatch's original mission, Ana served for many years as Strike Commander Morrison's second-in-command. Despite her responsibilities in leading the organization, Ana refused to step away from combat operations. She remained on active duty well into her fifties, until she was believed to have been killed during a hostage rescue mission by the Talon operative known as Widowmaker.

In truth, Ana survived that encounter, despite being gravely wounded and losing her right eye. During her recovery, she wrestled with the weight of a life spent in combat, and she chose to stay out of the world's growing conflicts. However, as time passed, she realized she could not sit on the sidelines while people threatened her city and the innocents around her.

Now, Ana has rejoined the fight to protect her country from the forces that would destabilize it, and most importantly, to keep her family and her closest allies safe.

Jean Baptiste Augustin A.K.A. Baptiste of Tortuga, Haiti

Baptiste is one of the heroes of Overwatch . He is a combat medic who made the shrewd decision to make the world a better place, one bandage… or bullet at a time.

An elite combat medic and ex-Talon operative, Baptiste now uses his skills to help those whose lives have been impacted by war.

Jean-Baptiste Augustin was one of the 30 million children orphaned by the Omnic Crisis. With limited opportunities and resources, he enlisted in the military. The Caribbean Coalition, a pan-island force formed in response to the Crisis, became his new home. Guided by his innate desire to help people, Baptiste chose the path of a combat medic and served in an elite branch of the Caribbean Coalition's special ops.

After his service was complete, Baptiste struggled to find a demand for his unique skills. He turned to one of the few opportunities open to him: joining the Talon mercenary group, one of the many organizations that were poised to profit off the chaos in the war's aftermath.

For the first time ever, Baptiste had a taste of the good life. Talon's missions were easy and paid well, and he put aside some of his earnings to set up a clinic in his hometown. But slowly, his unit's orders escalated in brutality, expanding into assassinations and operations with civilian casualties. Confronted by his team's actions, Baptiste realized he was perpetuating a cycle of violence like the one that had destroyed his own community. He abandoned Talon, disgusted with what he had done and determined to forge a new path for himself.

But Talon would not let him go. Baptiste knew too much, and they sent operatives after him to silence him. Agent after agent came for him, including Baptiste's former comrades. To stay under the radar, Baptiste drifted from place to place, aiding in humanitarian efforts around the globe. The few Talon members who managed to track him down were never seen again.

Now, Baptiste works toward a better world, healing where he can and fighting when he must. He knows that he cannot undo his past- but that making a difference now is what matters.

Brigitte Lindholm A.K.A. Brigitte of Gothenburg, Sweden

Brigitte (brih-geet-teh) is one of the support heroes of Overwatch . She is a skilled metalsmith and mechanic, who accompanies Reinhardt as he wanders across Europe. She is the youngest daughter of Torbjörn and his wife Ingrid.

No longer sitting on the sidelines, Brigitte Lindholm has taken up arms to defend those in need of protection.

The youngest daughter of a weapons designer, Torbjörn Lindholm, Brigitte was the first of his children to show an interest in mechanical engineering. Brigitte spent much of her spare time in her father's workshop, learning the trade and honing her skills. Her aptitude for engineering mirrored that of her father's, but Brigitte's primary interest was in armor fabrication and defensive systems, unlike Torbjörn, who was world-renowned (and perhaps infamous) for the weapons he created.

Everyone expected that Brigitte would continue her apprenticeship and follow in her father's footsteps. But her plans changed due to an influence of another prominent figure in her life, her father's close friend and fellow Overwatch agent, Reinhardt Wilhelm. A close friend of the family and Brigitte's godfather, Reinhardt told Brigitte tales of heroes and chivalry as she grew up. After his retirement and Overwatch's fall, Reinhardt declared that he would become a knight-errant on a quest to bring justice. Before he left on his adventures, Brigitte surprised him by asking to join him as his squire. Reinhardt accepted.

As a squire, Brigitte had many responsibilities, the most important of which was the upkeep of Reinhardt's Crusader armor (a design she was familiar with as the current version was designed by her father). But more and more, she found her main job was taking care of Reinhardt himself, trying to protect him from his overenthusiasm even as his body was breaking down from years of combat.

Eventually, she realized that serving only as a mechanic wasn't enough and that the best way she could aid Reinhardt was to become a warrior in her own right. While Reinhardt trained her in combat, Brigitte began to build her own suit of armor in secret.

Now Brigitte fights at Reinhardt's side to protect him, and any others in need as knight and squire journey to make the world a better place, one battle at a time.

Lúcio Correia dos Santos A.K.A. Lúcio of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Lúcio is a playable hero in Overwatch and one of the original 21 heroes. He is in the role of support. Lúcio is a DJ and freedom fighter hailing from Rio de Janeiro.

Lúcio is an international celebrity who inspires social change through his music and actions.

Lúcio Correia dos Santos grew up in Rio de Janeiro, in a poor and crowded favela that was hit hard by the financial upheaval following the Omnic Crisis. As Brazil began the long process of recovery, he wanted to find a way to lift the spirits of those around him. He found his answer in music and its power to bring people together and even help them forget their troubles, if only for a short time. He performed on street corners, in block parties, and as he got older, at a string of legendary underground shows.

But Lúcio's close-knit community was thrown into chaos when the multinational Vishkar Corporation secured a contract to redevelop large tracts of the city. Lúcio and his neighbors had been told that the development would improve their lives. However, that promise never became a reality. Vishkar imposed controls on the residents in the name of building a more orderly society: enforcing curfews, cracking down on what the company perceived as lawless behavior, and exploiting the populace as a cheap labor force.

Lúcio wouldn't stand for it. He stole Vishkar sonic technology that had been used to suppress the people, and he converted it into a tool to rally them to action. In a popular uprising, they drove Vishkar out of their neighborhoods. Lúcio's leadership made him a star overnight and a symbol for positive social change. His music skyrocketed in popularity. Whereas he had once performed locally, he was now filling arenas across the world.

With his newfound fame, Lúcio realizes that he has an opportunity to make a difference and change the world for the better.

Angela Ziegler A.K.A. Mercy of Zurich, Switzerland

Mercy is one of the heroes in Overwatch . She is a nanobiologist and a field medic who always stays at the frontline of wars and crises around the world to heal the wounded and imperiled.

Mercy's Valkyrie Suit helps keep her close to teammates like a guardian angel so Mercy can heal, resurrecting or strengthening them with the beams emanating from her Caduceus Staff.

A guardian angel to those who come under her care, Dr. Angela Ziegler is a peerless healer, a brilliant scientist, and a staunch advocate for peace.

Ziegler rose to become the head of surgery at a prominent Swiss hospital before pioneering a breakthrough in the field of applied nanobiology that radically improved the treatment of life-threatening illnesses and injuries. It was this expertise that attracted the attention of Overwatch.

Because her parents had been taken by war, Ziegler was opposed to the organization's militaristic approach to keeping global peace. Ultimately, she recognized that Overwatch offered her the opportunity to save lives on a much larger scale. As Overwatch's head of medical research, Angela sought to leverage her work for healing in frontline crises. The result was the Valkyrie swift-response suit, which Ziegler herself piloted on many Overwatch missions.

Despite her contributions to Overwatch, she was often at odds with her superiors and the organization's overarching aims. When Overwatch dissolved, Ziegler dedicated herself to helping those affected by war.

Though she spends most of her time caring for the broken and dispossessed in crisis areas around the world, Dr. Ziegler can be counted on to don her Valkyrie suit whenever innocents are imperiled.

Tekhartha Zenyatta A.K.A. Zenyatta of Nepal

Zenyatta is one of the heroes in Overwatch . He is an omnic guru who wants to prove his purpose of mending the problems between humans and omnics through interpersonal connection and engagement.

Zenyatta calls upon orbs of harmony and discord to heal his teammates and weaken his opponents, all while pursuing a transcendent state of immunity to damage.

Zenyatta is an omnic monk who wanders the world in search of spiritual enlightenment. It is said that those who cross his path are never the same again.

Years ago, following the Omnic Crisis, a group of outcast omnic robots experienced what they described as a spiritual awakening. They abandoned their preprogrammed lives to establish a communal monastery deep in the Himalayas. After many years of meditation on the nature of existence, they came to the belief that they were more than artificial intelligence and, like humans, possessed the essence of a soul.

Recognizing the spiritual equality they held with humans, the monks, led by the enigmatic robot known as Tekhartha Mondatta, sought to heal the wounds caused by the Omnic Crisis a generation earlier and bring humans and robots back into societal harmony. Their message was embraced by millions around the world, and they became global celebrities.
